San Francisco, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Japanese today took serious note of the Mindoro invasion by forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Tokyo's influential newspaper Asahi warned in an editorial, broadcast in Tokyo and recorded here, that an American victory there would give the Yanks "full control of tomorrow's military situation."

It cautioned against minimizing the "fighting spirit of American military leaders and the enemy's ability to maintain their lines of supply."

Japan On Feet In '46, View

Pacific Headquarters, U.S. Army Air Forces, Dec. 18 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Millard F. Harmon expects Japan to be "on her feet and fighting in 1946."

Harmon, commander of the Strategic Air Force, Pacific Ocean areas, directs the Saipan-based Superfortress operations against Japan. He said in an interview that he held no expectation that the B-29 raids would knock Japan out of the war quickly.

"This is no Gilbert and Sullivan war out here," he said. "It's real and it's tough."

Harmon said Tokyo cannot be destroyed by incendiary bombing because the city has a system of block-wide firebreaks.

He described wind and clouds over Japan as more of a hindrance to the Superforts than fighter interception or anti-aircraft fire.

Nimitz Reports 66 Others Damaged By Planes In Three Days

Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 18 (AP)—Three days of sustained naval aerial assault on Luzon Island in the Philippines has cost the Japanese at least 28 ships sunk, 66 others damaged and 462 planes destroyed or damaged.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, announcing this in a communiqué today, told of widespread destruction of Japanese facilities in the key Philippines island as he gave complete reports for the strikes of December 13 and 14 and a preliminary account for December 15.

Lists Ships Sunk

Today's communiqué listed these ships sunk during the three-day period in operations supporting the invasion of Mindoro Island:

One large transport.
Three medium oilers.
Ten cargo ships.
Two landing vessels.
Twelve smaller vessels.

The following were damaged:

Four destroyers.
Two destroyer escorts.
Ten cargo ships.
Twenty-five small cargo vessels.

The communiqué said shipping was attacked "in and around Luzon" but presumably the heaviest concentration was found at Manila.

61 Shot Out Of Air

In the same three days 61 Japanese planes were shot down over Luzon. An additional 208 were destroyed on the ground and 192 damaged. Navy flyers started fires in dispersal areas.

Incomplete figures for December 13 and 14 revealed twenty American planes lost to enemy action, Admiral Nimitz said.

In low-level attacks on military installations and communications, fast, heavily armed American planes strafed and burned eight railroad trains and locomotives and destroyed at least 25 military vehicles.

Liberators attacked targets on Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands on Friday and came back the next day to make the two-day bomb total 112 tons.

B-29s Rip Nagoya Plane Plants; Smash Shipping in Hankow Harbor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — (AP) Up to 200 Superfortress squeezed the Japanese in an aerial nutcracker today, leaving "large fires" at the biggest home island aircraft center and getting "good" bombing results at Hankow, China.

The twin bomber commands of the American 20th airforce struck simultaneously from east and west. Maj. Gen. Curtis Le May's 20th command lashed out from Asiatic mainland bases against the communications and supply center in conquered China and Brig. Gen. H. S. Hansell, Jr.'s new 21st command sent bombers streaking from Saipan in the reconquered Marianas against the great Hatsudoki plant of the Mitsubishi interests at Nagoya.

All Superforts Return

All the B-29's returned from both raids, the War department announced in communiques early tonight giving the first details.

Air opposition over Nagoya was described as "slight" and that over Hankow as "weak." In both cases antiaircraft was reported moderate despite reconnaissance reports that the enemy had installed more guns in the vicinity of Nagoya after a damaging attack last week.

Returning crews at Saipan reported "heavy explosions and large fires in the target area of the Mitsubishi aircraft plant," the communique said.

Targets at Hankow, far up the Yangtse river, were docks and warehouses. Five intercepting planes were reported probably destroyed there, and seven more were damaged.

The separate communiques timed the raids at noon today Japanese time, which would be late last night U. S. time.

The Saipan base of the Nagoya raiders had a report that they were over the target for two hours and that the force was of about the same strength as carried out a destructive attack on the same area Dec. 13.

The official description of both the Nagoya and Hankow raiding forces as "sizeable," however, made it clear that both were major operations.

Japs Admit Damage

The enemy was more specific. The Japanese radio described an 18-hour series of Superfortress

Iran Would Discuss Oil Sales To Russia

Tehran, Dec. 18 (AP)—While press blasts against the Soviets kept Russo-Iranian relations tense, Premier M. Q. Bayatt's Government today proposed that talks be resumed regarding the sale of oil to Moscow, since negotiations for the granting of foreign oil concessions in Iran now are forbidden by law.

The Government said it hoped the Russians would buy oil from north Iran fields "exploited by Iranians wit hthe help of Russian machinery and engineers and money under an Iranian company."

The American and British embassies have refused to comment on whether their governments would accept similar terms for southern Iran.

JAPS BEATEN BACK IN UPPER BURMA

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, KANDY, Ceylon, Dec. 18 — (AP) British 14th army troops, which now hold a line extending roughly from east to west between the Irrawaddy and Chindwin rivers in upper Burma, have cleaned out the last vestige of Japanese domination in a rugged jungle area containing 2,000 inhabited localities, an Allied communique said today.

Knifing across a 100-mile-wide belt of dense hill country east of the upper Chindwin in the vicinity of Indaw, on the important Myitkyina-Mandalay railroad, British advance elements joined hands with units of the royal Scots fusiliers which had been pushing southward, thus consolidating northern Burma's scattered fronts into a single line, the war bulletin declared.

The two forces made contact in the Banmauk area on the eastern slopes of the Mingin range and, during operations which led up to the juncture, the important communications center of Pinlebu, on the Mu river 45 miles east of Sittung, was stormed and taken by the British.

Before the present line-up the 5th Indian division, striking east from the Imphal valley, and the 11th East African division, pushing down the Kalewa valley, had established contact near Kalemyo, about 145 miles southwest of Indaw.

In the northern combat area, the communique said, a task force attacked a Japanese position yesterday northwest of Tonkwa and captured it, killing many enemy troops.

Newly-identified American infantry and artillery units, known as the "Mars Task Force," last were reported operating in the vicinity of Tonkwa, 120 miles north of Mandalay and some 100 miles southeast of Indaw. This force under command of Brig. Gen. John P. Willey of Hampton, Va., is closer to Mandalay than any other Allied unit in Burma.

The communique added that on the 15th Indian corps front in the Arkan hills West African troops have made a new crossing of the Kalapanain river south of Buthidaung and gained some high ground.

Scattered Burma Fronts United

Southeast Asia Command headquarters, Ceylon, Dec. 18 (AP)—North Burma's scattered fronts were united into a single line when the Royal Scots Fusiliers, advaneing toward the south, linked up yesterday with British 14th Army elements pushing toward the east in the jungle area west of Indaw on the Myitkyina-Mandalay railway.

An area containing 2,000 inhabited localities, was freed from the last vestige of Japanese domination by the juncture, Pinlebu, important enemy base and communications center from which the invasion of India was launched last Spring, was captured during the operations leading up to the meeting.

Earlier Juncture

Prior to the present linkup the 5th Indian Division, striking out from the Imphal Valley, and the 11th East African Division, driving down the Kalewa Valley, had made a junction near Kalemyo, which is about 145 miles southwest of Indaw.

American infantry and artillery, known as the Mars Task Force, are now fighting in the North Burma theater and are closer to Mandalay than any other Allied units.

The force last was reported operating in the vicinity of Tonkwa, 120 miles north of Mandalay and about 100 miles southeast of Indaw. It is under the command of Brig. Gen. John P. Willey, of Hampton, Va.

TRIBESMEN HELP YANKS FIGHT JAPS IN UPPER BURMA

MYITKYINA, North Burma, Dec. 18—(AP) For more than 2 1-2 years 5,000 fierce Kachin tribesmen of upper Burma, who love to jump from Allied airplanes, have been parachuting into the hills killing Japanese and rescuing American pilots who were forced to bail out over enemy territory. Something of their story can now be disclosed.

During the past 30 months they have saved the lives of 220 U. S. airmen, killed 3,000 enemy soldiers and taken 35 prisoners, while operating under the command of American Army, Navy and Marine officers. Most of the American officers whose names are withheld for security reasons, and all the Kachins are volunteers.

One of the strangest of all Allied fighting units, it is known as the American-Kachin ranger force—but the Kachins themselves prefer to call it "Mhyprop Phung" meaning "lightning force."

The colorful Kachins, who know every foot of the dense jungle, have destroyed thousands of tons of enemy supplies, burned scores of bridges behind the lines and wrecked more than a dozen trains which were bringing supplies to Japanese frontline troops in north Burma.

In reprisal the Japanese have burned some of their villages, and in some cases have killed all the inhabitants, both young and old. At one time the Japanese ordered all Kachins killed on sight. One enemy report stated that to kill a single Kachin in the mountains would be worth the lives of 10 Japanese.

One reason why the jungle rangers are known as the "lightning force" is because of their rapid movement in operations. Once, after parachuting into Japanese territory, they covered as much as 54 miles in 27 hours to catch Japanese garrisons by surprise.

One American officer serving with the Kachin force has walked 1,200 miles since the middle of last June. Some of the Americans have been behind enemy lines 18 months.

One native leader among the Kachins, who is only 4 feet, 10 inches tall, is Zing Htung Maw, who was able to defend an area of 1,600 miles against the Japanese during the enemy occupation of Burma.

Some Kachins are paid as low as one rupee, or 30 cents American, per day plus their food. They are quick to understand modern arms. Given a machine gun for the first time htey can take it apart, put it back together again and name all the parts in English—all within an hour.

They maintain modern radio communications with Allied headquarters and send and receive messages in English without being able to read them, despite the fact they code and decode all the messages.

Some of the Kachins smoke opium, and all love to hunt. Once when a group was asked how the hunting was that day a spokesman replied they had flushed three tigers, four deer and two American Air Transport command pilots out of the jungle.

Specialists in jungle warfare, they specialize in ambushing with pungi traps. Pungi pits are holes in the ground studded with sharpened bamboo sticks which cause infection to anyone falling on them.

Stilwell's Son Decorated

MYITKYINA, Burma, Dec. 17 (Delayed) (AP).—Colonel Joseph W Stilwell jr. received the Legion of Merit today for "meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services during the Hukawng and Mogaung Valley campaigns." The general's son is assistant chief of staff, G-2, in the northern combat area of the Burma theater.

NEW CHINESE GAINS

Chungking, Dec 18 (A. P.).—Striking down the Kweichow-Kwangsi railroad in Kwangsi province, counter - attacking Chinese forces were less than a mile from Hochih, ninety - five miles from Liuchow, the High Command has announced. Meanwhile, Chinese units that already had outflanked Hochin captured Wuyu, Japanese strong point nine and one-half miles southeast of Hochih.

An appeal to the people of the United Nations, particularly those of the United States, to urge their leaders "to take immediate and effective military measures to fight Japan in China before it is too late," was issued by a group of leading Chinese citizens. Among the signers of the appeal were Dr. Hu Shih, former ambassador to the United States; Bishop Paul Yupin, Vicar Apostolic of Kiating; Lin Yutang, author, and James Yen, director of China's mass education movement.

AMERICANS SMASH 742 JAP PLANES DURING PAST WEEK

Invasion Troops Meet No Resistance on Mindoro Island.

ENEMY CAUGHT NAPPING

Construction Crews Repair Airfields, Yanks Drive Ahead.

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Tuesday, Dec. 19—(AP) Destruction or serious damaging of 742 Japanese warplanes during the past week was disclosed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur today as American invasion troops met no resistance on Mindoro island.

The Japanese planes were bagged by land-based American aircraft and planes operating from Adm. William F. Halsey's Third Fleet.

Repair Jap Airfields

The chief American purpose in seizing Mindoro island is the construction of airdromes from which further to harry the Japanese. Manila is only a half hour's flight from Mindoro. American and Australian construction men were busy putting airstrips into shape.

The communique said the Yankee landing on Mindoro had "caught him (the enemy) completely off balance," and except for a few nuisance air attacks, the Americans were making their scheduled progress.

Invasion of Mindoro has been the easiest major job of the Pacific war. Associated Press Correspondent Elmont Waite, writing from Mindoro, said "the Japanese have offered not the slightest resistance as yet, aside from harassing air attacks by a few planes."

He said the invasion has been moving "swifter than had been hoped." The Japanese at the city of San Jose fled in such haste they left their breakfast bowls of rice and clams still warm.

Six dead Japanese were found the second day of the invasion.

In the drive against the enemy on Leyte island, the 77th Division reached an airdrome west of Valencia Sunday, and continued its push northward.

MacArthur revealed 905 Japanese were counted dead on Leyte in one day. A spokesman said the majority of the casualties were inflicted by the 7th American division, which was liquidating remnants of the trapped Nipponese 26th division.

In support of the American forces in the Valencia sector, P-40 fighter bombers strafed and bombed enemy positions along the road from the Ormoc highway west toward the coast.

Liberators bombed Puerto Princesa airdrome at Palawan, leaving its runways unusable and destroying three parked planes. A coastal vessel was sunk in this area.

Bembers Hit Davao

At Mindanao heavy bombers struck Padada airdrome in Davao, and mediums hit San Roque, destroying buildings and two parked planes. Patrol planes sank a lugger and damaged three small merchant vessels.

Off Borneo's coast a heavy reconnaissance plane sank a small freighter and damaged five more. An enemy plane attempting to take off from Jesselton airdrome was destroyed.

Enemy installations on Halmahera, Boeroe and Amboina were plastered with 48 tons of bombs. In the lesser Sundas air patrols left a coastal vessel listing and afire.

Far-ranging raids also were carried out on New Guinea and the Solomons. Airfields on Rabaul were attacked, leaving runways unserviceable.

American losses continue light, Gen. MacArthur reported.

"The greatest possible care is being exercised to minimize our losses," he said. "Frontal assault methods are being avoided as far as possible and the artifice of maneuver and superior firepower is being exerted to prevent battle casualties. As a result they continue light."

The fast developing incursion of Mindoro island, just south of Luzon, already had enveloped the coastal plain area around San Jose, where the Americans landed virtually without resistance last Friday.

On Leyte, the 77th infantry division made a wide left end run to the west of the Ormoc corridor highway, advancing seven miles north to outflank the Yamashita line. From positions two miles below Valencia, it battled for that headquarters of Gen. Sosaki Suzuki, top-ranking Japanese commander on the island.

Cut Yamashita Line

North of Valencia, the U. S. First Cavalry division advanced two miles in applying pressure from the upper end of the corridor. This gain cut the Yamashita line between Valencia and Mt. Catabaran, which is about 10 miles above Valencia.

The enemy still had not recoiled from the surprise landing on Mindoro and a headquarters spokesman said Monday that resistance continued scant. The success of American carrier planes in destroying and pinning down the Nipponese airforce on Luzon again was brought out by headquarters, which said enemy air activity was "negligible."

(The enemy radio continued its unconfirmed fulminations of the "wreckage of sunken American warships and transports" covering the waters near San Jose. It said "death-defying sallies" were being carried out by special attack groups on the "remnants of enemy vessels."

(A broadcast by Domei, Japanese news agency, told of "an enemy fleet of considerable strength" being sighted in the Sulu Sea south of Mindoro and interpreted this as meaning other Philippine areas would be invaded.)

raids on important war production centers and estimated the Nagoya group at 70 planes. It admitted damage there, where the great Hatsudoki aircraft works of the Mitsubishi interests offers the best aircraft production target in Japan.

The enemy broadcasts, intercepted by the Federal Communications commission, said Nagoya took the weight of the explosive and fire-bombs, but reported Yokosuka and Shizuoka were hit too.

A communique from Imperial headquarters dismissed Nagoya damage as slight, but a Japanese domestic broadcast said "resolute fighting" had been required to put out fires.

Crews returning tonight reported a considerable number of fighters, particularly against the later units, but comparatively few showed any aggression.

Airmen Report Fires

The airmen reported a number of fires in Nagoya's industrial waterfront area. A 20-year-old tail-gunner, Corp. Vincent J. Di Filippi, Brooklyn, N. Y., said he counted 19 columns of smoke along the water front "before some Japanese fighters came in and made me lose count."

Sgt. Clarence Ceres, Harvey, Ill., central fire control gunner in a plane commanded by Capt. Pershing L. Yon, Tallahassee, Fla., said he got in some shots at an enemy fighter from 200 yards.

"I fired all six guns at him—put in 50 bursts and he fell away," Sgt. Ceres said.

Tail gunner Di Filippi said he saw the enemy plane, smoking, roll upward, then dive straight down, streaming fire. Gunner Sgt. Thomas Bonvicini, Bridgeport, Conn., said about eight fighters in all attacked but only this one came close, the others diving out when the going got tough.

Lt. William W. Douds, Columbus, Ohio, co-pilot for first Lt. Stanley Pierce, Los Angeles, counted 30 fighters of which he said seven made passes. He saw one Japanese plane catch fire and roll over.

The great superfortresses in their raids today aimed especially at Nagoya's aircraft factories.

Superforts Hit Nagoya And Hankow

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Japanese war machine felt the sledge blows today of up to 200 Superfortresses, unleashed from separate bases.

The giant craft struck a second time at Nagoya on the Nipponese mainland and at Hankow in Japanese-occupied China. The raiders hit both areas today, Japanese time (Sunday, by the United States clocks.)

Dispatches from Saipan, meanwhile, said photographic reconnaissance of the December 13 blow at Nagoya disclosed damage to the Hatsudoki aircraft factory was greater than first reports indicated. Four large assembling buildings and 22 smaller structures were destroyed or damaged badly.

Results Undetermined

Results of the latest strikes still are to be determined here.

These attacks followed the stepped-up schedule which Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the 20th Air Force, has put into effect against the Japanese.

About 20 or 21 communiques of raids on the Japanese by the Superfortresses have been released, a War Department spokesman said today.

Last Thursday important military targets in Japanese-dominated Thailand were bombed.

Transport Centers Hit

Transportation centers in Bangkok, capital of Thailand, and in Rangoon, capital of neighboring Burma, were hit.

The day before, December 13, a major raid was made on Nagoya. Yesterday's attack was the second in five days on Japan's third largest city with a population of 1,328,084 in 1940.

In the previous Nagoya raid, returning flyers reported the big Hatsudoki aircraft factory was left in flames. Examination of photographs revealed at least 47 direct hits on the factory.

Inflammable City

Superfortresses from Brig. Gen. H. S. Hansell's base in Saipan bombed the Nagoya area in yesterday's two-fisted attack while a sizeable force from Maj. Gen. Curtis Le May's 20th Bomber Command struck Hankow targets.

Nagoya has the largest concentration of airplane and aircraft parts plants in Japan, and is a highly inflammable city.

70 SUPERFORTS ARE REPORTED OVER NAGOYA

Foe Tells of Eighteen-hour Series of Thrusts Against Japan.

SAY NANKING ALSO IS HIT

Washington Declares Hankow Base Is Heavily Blasted Along With Enemy Homeland.

The Japanese today reported an eighteen-hour series of American Superfortress raids on some of the most important war production centers, including a seventy-plane assault on Nagoya, aircraft manufacturing center, which admittedly was damaged.

In a series of broadcasts picked up by the FCC and distributed by the Associated Press, the enemy said that Nagoya took the main weight of explosive and fire bombs dropped but that Yokosuka and Shizuoka also were hit. None of the reports even suggested, however, that any of the gigantic bombers had been shot down.

Imperial headquarters conceded slight damage to Nagoya, but the Tokyo radio declared in a domestic broadcast later that the resultant fires required resolute fighting before they were extinguished.

Feint Toward Tokyo.

B-29 Superfortresses from Saipan feinted eastward, in the direction of Tokyo, then turned around and streaked westward to Nagoya, the Japanese said. They also flew over Osaka, Kobe and Kyoto, but the reports indicated that they dropped no bombs on those cities.

Domei, the Japanese official news agency, also reported that six Superfortresses flew over the vicinity of Nanking without dropping bombs. Nanking is the capital of the Japanese puppet government of China.

The Tokyo radio said that the raids started at 9 o'clock last night, when a single superfort bombed Nagoya. Another one passed over at 4:30 A. M. today. Six hours later eight more appeared, but did not drop any bombs. The big push came at 1 P. M., Domei said, when an unspecified number of the B-29s flew over, "sporadically dropping incendiaries and explosives."

[Earlier the War Department in Washington announced B-29's had hit Nagoya, Japanese industrial center, bombed previously on December 13, and Hankow, China.]

Hot Reception Alleged

The Japanese broadcast, recorded here, said "Japanese fighters and anti-aircraft units are now giving a hot reception to the enemy raiders."

This indicated that the Superfortresses were still on the wing over Nippon at the time of the broadcast.

Photos Show 26 Nagoya Structures Hit In Raid

Twenty-first Bomber Command, Saipan, Dec. 18 [AP—Via Navy Radio] — Superfortresses bombed Nagoya, Japanese industrial city, for about two hours today with approximately the same number of planes which staged the damaging raid of December 13.

After the B-29's took off on today's raid, Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell, Jr., 21st Bomber Command skipper, disclosed that additional photos showed that the Hatsudoki factory in Nagoya was damaged even more than previously supposed in last Wednesday's raid.

26 Structures Affected

He said four large assembly buildings and 22 smaller structures in the factory area were destroyed or badly damaged.

In a prepared statement Hansell said:

"Photographic reconnaissance has confirmed an earlier statement that the Hatsudoki factory of the Mitsubishi aircraft works was heavily damaged in the raid of December 13. Two assembly buildings of 180,000 and 216,000 square feet [illegible] 50 and 60 per cent gutted. It may be assumed that these two structures are completely out of operation at this time.

"Two main assembly buildings of 710,000 and 656,000 square feet are 13.5 and 48 per cent burned out. The more severely damaged of the two buildings is probably out of operation for a considerable period. Twenty-two small structures were destroyed or badly damaged within the plant area."

First Raid In Clear Weather

The initial Nagoya raid was in clear weather, which permitted much better visual bombing than four previous Tokyo attacks.

Despite the camera's tribute to the effectiveness of high-level bombing by the Superfortresses, Hansell cautioned against overoptimism and he reminded that the Hatsudoki plant is far from destroyed.

Reports of clear weather over Honshu today gave promise of good bombing, but reconnaissance showed the Japanese have installed new anti-aircraft guns in the Nagoya area, so the flyers anticipated heavier flak.

Radio, the other a Domei wireless dispatch, were recorded here. They quoted Sadao Iguchi, spokesman for the Japanese Board of Information.

JAP PREMIER, MINISTER CONFER WITH EMPEROR

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Tokyo radio said today that Premier Kuniaki Koiso and Foreign Minister Shigemitsu conferred separately with Emperor Hirohito.

Koiso reported on "state affairs in general," the FCC recorded broadcast said. Later, Shigemitsu was granted an audience to report on "matters under his jurisdiction."

(There was no indication whether these meetings may have been inspired by Japan's deteriorating position in the Philippines, where Americans on Mindoro island are within 145 miles of Manila, or by the increasing tempo of the B-29 raids on Japan.)

33 JAP VESSELS SUNK BY U. S. SUBS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — (AP) Score 33 more Japanese ships for the American undersea raiders.

A Navy communique today reported the new successes of its submarines which are hunting in the far Pacific. The announcement boosts the total of enemy ships sunk by United States submarines to 907, of which 94 were fighting ships.

In this latest tally (the last announcement was on December 4) are twelve combatant ships — a light cruiser, three destroyers, six escort vessels, a mine-sweeper and a mine-layer.

The Navy never announces details of the place or circumstance under which one of its submarines makes a kill, but the categories mentioned in today's communique suggests that enemy convoys furnished most of the targets.

Twenty one of the 33 ships were tankers, merchantmen or transports. Destroyers and destroyer escorts usually are protecting vessels for convoys. The Japanese, hard pressed by their losses at sea, probably also use mine-sweepers and minelayers for escort purposes.

SENATE DEBATES FOREIGN POLICY

Britain's Intervention of Greece, Russia's Role in Balkans Hit.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—(AP) The Senate today debated American foreign policy with a bitterness that spilled over into bipartisan condemnation of Britain's military intervention in Greece and criticism of Russia's role in the Balkans.

With six State department nominations before it as the excuse, the Senate furnished an hour's long preview of what might be expected when it receives a peace treaty.

Otherwise loyal New Dealers criticized the slate of staff appointments President Roosevelt had sent up. Republicans defended the President's right to pick the men he wants. Calls came from both sides of the chamber for an enunciation of American foreign policy.

Seventy-eight year old Hiram Johnson, California Republican who fought the League of Nations, raised a quavering voice to urge the Senate to do something about Greece. There, he said, people were being "shot like dogs" with weapons we provided the British.

A. B. "Happy" Chandler, Kentucky Democrat who girdled the world in an Army bomber, said he didn't want American diplomats who might "follow the British."

Tall Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat, shook his finger at his colleagues and asserted it was not the so-called isolationists, but those who had plugged for this country's early intervention in the war, who were fighting the nominations.

Russia and England, he said, were looking after their own interests first but if "anybody here says he is for America first, he's an isolationist." What could the United States do, he asked, if Russia says she is going to take the Balkans, the Dardanelles and Finland?

Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex.) of the Foreign Relations committee, his sometime irony sheathed in favor of the soft answer, pleaded for quick confirmation of the appointees. Otherwise, he said, the world would think President Roosevelt has "lost his leadership" on foreign affairs.

258,124 Soldiers Lost On West Front

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Invasion operations in France, the lowlands and the German border region cost the army ground forces casualties totaling 258,124 up to D cember 1, the War Department reported today.

The total included 44,143 killed, 189,118 wounded and 24,863 missing.

Air Force casualties were not included in the report. Casualties reported in November amounted to 57,775, the department said, adding that this figure might include casualties from previous months.

ARMY CASUALTIES

Washington, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—The War Department announced today the names of 2,137 United States Army casualties in the European and Mediterranean war theaters.

In all these cases next of kin have previously been notified and have been kept informed directly by the War Department of any change in status.

Included in the list today are the following with their next of kin:

U.S., Britain Relief Parley

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—British and American officials sat down today for discussions which may lead to a review of the entire Allied military and civilian supply programs.

Richard K. Law, Minister of State, headed the British delegation which came to Washington primarily to consult with Secretary of State Stettinius and other officials on relief for liberated Europe.

It was understood that Law will submit proposals which are expected to bring a reassessment of the entire military and civilian supply program throughout Allied nations as well as relief problems.

Political Disputes Cited

He is not expected to go into the high policy differences appearing recently between Britain and the United States over ending of governmental problems in several liberated countries.

It is hoped that he will be able to reach an agreement with American officials on the relief problems which might pave the way for settlement of political disputes.

His visit came at a time when the British are still trying to reach a solution with the embattled Greeks and when they appeared little nearer success than at the beginning of the Athens fighting two weeks ago.

Reply Is Drafted

The State Department also was busy preparing an answer to Prime Minister Churchill's statement on drawing a new map of Poland.

Whatever stand the United States takes on the Polish issue is expected to have considerable effect on the rest of liberated Europe. It is felt that Poland is a test of the extent to which the United States intends to be a factor in European politics.

All-Out Battle On Stettinius' Aides Forms

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Senator Connally (D., Texas), his dander up, asserted today that he will fight for a Senate vote on six State Department appointees "if it takes all winter."

The chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee said he thought a vote could be obtained this week on the nominations headed by Joseph C. Grew to be Under Secretary of State.

Despite reports that opponents will engage in a filibuster in efforts to force President Roosevelt to name recess nominees, Connally said he is determined to hold the Senate in session until it votes on the appointees.

Guffey Plans Four-Hour Talk

"I'm going on with this thing if it takes all winter," Connally said. "That is paraphrasing General Grant somewhat, but I mean business on these nominations."

Senator Guffey (D., Pa.) already has informed the Senate that he wants to speak for four hours on the nomination of Grew. That apparently is part of an opposition move to delay action on the appointments until a quorum of Congress leaves for the holidays.

In the face of this maneuver, Connally said he would insist that the Senate have a quorum present to transact business.

May Go After Absentees

"If it is necessary," Connally said, "we may have to ask the sergeant at arms to bring in the absentee Senators."

Opposition to the nominees centered in an effort to bring up a resolution by Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) which would send all the nominations back to the White House for reconsideration. This resolution was introduced by Pepper on Saturday and officially laid on the table.

Connally said that if Pepper or the three other members of the opposition quartet—Guffey (D., Pa.), Murray (D., Mont.) and La Follette (Pro., Wis.)—attempt to call this resolution up, he will make a point of order.

Opponents May Fail

Under Senate rules, a two-thirds vote is necessary to overrule the Chair's decision on a point of order. There seemed little doubt that the opponents of the nominations would fail to achieve a two-thirds vote if Vice President Wallace or some other Administration supporter in the Chair ruled against the resolution.

There remained, however, the possibility that a great many Senators will go home immediately for the holidays.

If the Senate adjourns sine die without acting on the nominees, Roosevelt could name the same group or any others he chose. They would serve, without pay, until his official nominations were confirmed or rejected by the Senate.

If the Senate decides to go ahead with the nomination's discussions, despite the absence of a quorum, the sergeant at arms would be instructed to bring back to Washington and the Senate floor those members who had started home early.

Similar Trouble Previously

Such strict adherence to the rules has caused trouble previously in the Senate, where members ordinarily object to the sergeant at arms appearing with a warrant which calls for their arrest. But Connally left little doubt that the Administration means to go down the line for the six appointments.

These include, besides Grew, five Assistant Secretaries of State: Archibald MacLeish, W. L. Clayton, James C. Dunn, Brig. Gen. Julius C. Holmes and Nelson Rockefeller.

REMOVAL OF JAPANESE IS UPHELD BY COURT

DEC 17 1944

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — (AP) The Supreme court ruled, 6 to 0, today that the army had a right to remove all Japanese from the West Coast in 1942 because American shores were "threatened by hostile forces."

But the court said there was a difference between the exclusion order and others under which Japanese were detained in relocation centers in the interior. Unanimously, it ordered unconditional release of Miss Mitsuye Endo, American woman of Japanese ancestry, from a relocation center at Topaz, Utah.

The tribunal ruled that the War Relocation authority had no right to detain loyal citizens under the circumstances. It held no military law was involved.

In neither case were broad constitutional questions ironed out.

Ickes Will Expand WRA In Resettling Of Japanese

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Secretary Ickes said today that the Interior Department will expand its relocation program to send resettled persons of Japanese ancestry back to their West Coast homes.

At the same time, he expressed the belief that a large proportion of the more than 35,000 Japanese-Americans relocated in other parts of the country may choose to remain.

Ickes emphasized that there will be no "hasty mass movement" of evacués.

His statement, following the War Department's revocation of the West Coast exclusion order, effective January 2, said it "is the responsibility of every American worthy of citizenship . . . to do everything that he can to make easier the return to normal life of those people. . . .

"They are entitled to their full constitutional and legal rights and perhaps something more than ordinary consideration because they have really suffered as a direct result of the war. In a real sense, these people, too, were drafted by their country. They were uprooted from their homes and substantially deprived of an opportunity to lead a normal life. They are casualties of war."

Relocated By WRA

Of the 110,000 persons of Japanese descent originally evacuated, said Ickes, more than 35,000 have been relocated by the WRA outside the West Coast area.

The great majority of these, he asserted, "have become satisfactorily adjusted in their new locations and will probably want to stay where they are.

"Many of them will doubtless now make arrangements for having their parents and other family members still at the centers come out and rejoin them at their new homes."

There were originally ten centers to which West Coast Japanese were evacuated. Later, one was closed and another was set up as a "segregation" area for those who had expressed preference for the cause of Japan.

NEW CONGRESS TO ACT ON YOUTH TRAINING BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—(AP) The political hot potato of compulsory military training will be sizzling in the hands of the new Congress before the new members get their chairs warm.

The Army wants it. The President also wants something of the sort, but apparently nobody's sure yet what Mr. Roosevelt would like to have along with it.

Veterans organizations are for it but numerous religious groups are just as certain it's bad business.

Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the House Military committee wants it but isn't sure just how many of his colleagues do.

May proposes to hold hearings in January.

War Department Orders Increase Of 20,000 in Induction Quotas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP) The War department announced today that it has asked Selective Service to increase the army's January and February calls from 60,000 to 80,000.

The Department said that since last July it has asked Selective Service for fewer men than the estimated requirements. The deficits were made up by combing Army units to obtain men for field service.

By this method, the Department said the Selective Service call had been held to 60,000 a month, but that it is now necessary to step up the calls by 20,000 a month.

It will be determined later, the Department said whether it will be necessary to continue the 80,000 rate in March and April.

Selective Service meantime announced that all men under 30 who had been rejected for military service since last Feb. 1, except those with obvious physical defects will be reexamined next year.

A Selective Service official said the order already in the hands of local draft boards applies principally to "border line cases."

Selective Service said the Army agreed to reexamine the men to determine whether some of the "border line cases" might be available for general duty. The matter was taken up with the Army after Selective Service noted an increase in the number of rejections of men once found fit for service but subsequently turned down when finally called for induction.

The Army ordinarily gives draftees a second examination if they are called for induction more than 90 days after taking their original examination.

Congress Feels War Toll

Ten Members Already Have Lost Relatives in Battle

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP).—Congress received some facts and figures today showing that the war is striking the lawmakers close to their hearts. Ten members already have lost sons or sons-in-laws, and approximately 190 others have service stars designating a son or a son-in-law in the Armed Forces.

The information was given by Representative Francis P. Bolton, Republican, of Ohio, president of the informal Congressional War Parents Association composed of members with sons or sons-in-law in service.

Roosevelt Choice Is Now Official

DEC 19 1944

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Meeting in their respective state capitals, members of the electoral college today officially elected President Roosevelt to a fourth term.

A total of 432 electoral votes were cast for Mr. Roosevelt, with 99 going to his Republican opponent, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. The popular vote cast for Mr. Roosevelt was 25,611,871 to 22,018,147 for Mr. Dewey, a plurality of 3,593,724.

Two of the electors, John A. Logan, former police chief of Elgin, Ill., and William P. Dapping, managing editor of the Auburn (N.Y.) Citizen-Advertiser, cast their fourth electoral votes for Mr. Roosevelt.

No Action Expected On Postwar Rivers Bill

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—A postwar rivers and harbors bill appeared certain today to die with Congress.

Chairman Bailey (D., N.C.) of the Senate Commerce Committee doubted there is time for final action.

The stumbling block is an amendment making reclamation limitations inapplicable to Central Valley, Cal. The rider was attached by the House, rejected by the Senate.

Bailey said last week he might ask the Senate to reconsider. He said today other matters probably would take up the remaining time.

The bill would authorize navigation, reclamation and hydroelectric projects to cost nearly $500,000,000. It makes no appropriation.

Bailey said a new bill would be offered early in the new Congress.

SALE OF E BONDS WILL TOP QUOTA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—(AP) Ted R. Gamble, war finance director, said today the series E bond goal of $2,500,000,000 in the Sixth [illegible] will be ex-

30.24 - 21355

War loan "undoubtedly ... exceeded when all the money is counted.

He said the sale of E bonds had reached $1,820,000,000 with "hnd-dreds of millons of dollars yet to be tabulated." The bond drive ended Saturday but bond money deposited before Dec. 31 will count.

Today's figures will be the last until the final totals are announced Jan. 2.

Gamble said $18,457,000,000 now is on deposit from the sale of all types of securities—nearly $4,500,000,000 above the $14,000,000,000 quota.

This was a jump of $671,000,000 over the figure announced Saturday and was the biggest day-to-day increase since Dec. 4. Sales to corporations accounted for much of the figure. Saturday was the final day for selling the marketable securities designed especially for corporate investors.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau told a radio audience Saturday night the figure will soar above $19,000,000,000.

Of the $18,457,000,000 in the bag, corporations had provided $14,154,000,000. Individual bond-buyers provided $4,303,000,000, or 80 per cent of their five-billion goal. Gamble said this assures a "substantial over subscription" of the individual quota.

Robert W. Coyne, field director of the Treasury's War Finance division, said retailers are reporting an "amazing" number of persons buying war bonds as Christmas gifts.

COURT RULES ON RAIL CASE

Firemen-Engineer Group Told To Represent Negroes

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen was told by the Supreme Court today it must represent nonmember Negro firemen without race discrimination.

In unanimous opinions by Chief Justice Stone, the court ruled that the Railway Labor Act requires an exclusive bargaining agent for any craft or class to provide such representation.

In another case, the court split, 5 to 4, in upholding action of the National Labor Relations Board in setting aside its certification of an independent union as a bargaining agent.

Sees Obstacle Raised

In this case, the Wallace Corporation, of Richwood, W.Va., was ordered to reinstate 43 CIO workmen with back pay, the minority declared the decision raised an obstacle to "all future bargaining for closed shops."

Justice Black delivered the 5-to-4 decision. Justice Jackson wrote a dissent in which Chief Justice Stone and Justices Roberts and Frankfurter concurred.

The Wallace Corporation, operator of a clothespin and wood products plant, complained that the boards abused its administrative discretion in reopening and setting aside a strike stettlement agreement, an election to choose a bargaining representative, and the board's certification of the independent as the winner over a CIO union.

Unfair Practices Found

After the certification the firm signed a closed shop agreement with the independent. The board later found the concern guilty of unfair labor practices in discharging 43 employes. Most of them, the board said, were denied membership in the independent because of previous adherence to the CIO. The board ordered the independent disbanded and the 43 employés reinstated with back pay.

Two Negro firemen were principals in the railway ruling. Bestor William Steele, working on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, said he and other Negro firemen were discriminated against by the company and the brotherhood.

He cited an agreement between the union and 21 southeastern railroads restricting use of Negro firemen. The union also excludes them from its membership.

Claims Force Was Used

Tom Tunstall, who complained he was forced from his job and succeeded by a white man, also cited the agreement and sued the brotherhood for damages and the Norfolk Southern Railway for reinstatement.

The brotherhood contended that the agreement with the companies was to make railroad operation more efficient and provide competent railroad men.

The court said the law does not deny a union the right to determine its membership, but, in cases where it is the exclusive bargaining agent, it must represent nonunion workers "without hostile discrimination."

Other Court Action

The Supreme Court interceded today in a dispute over expected dismissal of students of the Byrd High School, Shreveport, La., because of their membership in fraternities and sororities.

Fred A. Hughes, H. Clay Garrison, J. Steve Varley and Weyman H. Oden asked the court to stay dismissal of their children until the Louisiana Supreme Court decides a case in which they questioned constitutionality of a State law.

The law delegates to parish school boards the power to prohibit fraternities, sororities and secret societies in the public schools. The fathers said the school would expel or suspend their children January 1 unless the high tribunal acts. They contended their children belong to organizations which hold meetings off the school grounds, out of school hours, and under supervision of parents.

The Supreme Court granted an injunction against dismissal of the students pending decision on the case in the Louisiana court.

FEDERAL SEIZURE OF WARD STORES IS THREATENED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—(AP) The War Labor board made ready tonight to invoke the weapons of seizure or economic sanctions as Montgomery Ward continued to defy WLB directives.

"If we don't hear anything from Ward's by tomorrow morning we will take the next step right away," said Chairman William H. Davis.

The Board had set tonight as the time limit for compliance at Ward plants in seven cities. Davis offered as the only alternative "the usual course" of action in noncompliance cases. The "usual course" would be reference to Economic Stabilizer Fred M. Vinson, necessary preliminary to seizure or economic pressure.

The big mail order house had given no indication that it intended to meet the Board's demands on minimum wages and maintenance of union membership.

Government enforcement action could take the form of seizure by a Government agency—possibly the Commerce department which took over Ward's Chicago plant briefly last Spring in another scuffle with the board. In that case the Government would run the plants in accordance with the terms and conditions of employment prescribed by the board.

In case of seizure the possibility appeared that only the four Detroit stores where the CIO retail employes union has been on strike for ten days might be taken over.

But stores and plants in Chicago, Denver, St. Paul, Portland, Ore., San Rafael, Calif., and Jamaica, N. Y., also are affected by board directives which union representatives testified at hearings last week had been ignored by the company.

Federal operation of all of these plants might follow seizure of the Detroit stores, especially if Sam Wolchok, president of the CIO retail employes, allowed the Detroit strike to spread to the other cities.

Wolchok frankly wanted the government to take over all the Chicago properties, from which the nation-wide Ward network is operated. Directives at issue applied to the printing department and display factory in Chicago.

The union leader would not predict what he would do in the event only the Detroit stores were taken over. Last week he told a news conference, however, that he was "ready for an economic showdown with the company" at its 500 units, even those in which his union lacked a certified majority.

Wolchok conferred today with R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO-United Auto Workers, whose cooperation in the Detroit strikes has been pledged.

Thomas sent a telegram to President Roosevelt, urging immediate seizure of Montgomery Wards.

Vinson could apply sanctions, short of seizure, under Presidential instructions of August 16, 1943. That economic pressure could include control of any war contracts held by the mail order firm, or control of essential materials and of transportation and fuel, if that is possible without impending the war effort.

Ward Pickets Stage Brief Demonstration

Detroit, Dec. 18 (AP)—A brief demonstration in which some 60 pickets sang and marched through aisles of the Grand River store was the only incident reported today in the ten-day strike at the four Montgomery Ward & Co. stores here.

Meanwhile, Circuit Judge John V. Brennan deferred action a second time on a company injunction petition. He explained that in the event the War Labor Board seeks White House intervention the petition would be useless. He said that "we can wait at least another day for the Government to act."

The company sought an injunction restraining the CIO employés' union from interfering with working employés and delivery of merchandise.

The petition was filed following reports of demonstrations last week at the stores in which at least three employés were reported injured.

WILSON TO HEAD AIR FORCE LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 — (AP) Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric company, announced today the formation of the Air Force legaue, a national civilian organization "designed to work for permanently strong and efficient United States air forces."

Wilson, who was elected president of the organization, said the League was sponsored by a group of industrial, commercial and professional men. The League's first year's object, he said, would be to enlist a membership of "at least several million men and women" with a subsidiary organization in each state.

Gen. H. A. Arnold, commanding general of the Army Air forces, in a letter to Wilson approved the League's program, and said:

"There is no work more important to the future welfare and security of our country and to the peace of the world than the creation by public-spirited, disinterested, patriotic Americans of an organization dedicated to the purpose which you have outlined."

"In the year to come," he wrote, "our first line of defense can only be in the air. From now on our security must rest, above all, upon continuing pre-eminence in the air and alertness to the revolutionary developments necessary to that pre-eminence."

Wilson said incorporation papers had been filed in the District of Columbia.

Other officers elected were Col. Howard W. Angus, formerly of the Army Air Technical Command service, executive vice-president, and John E. Bierwirth, president of the New York Trust company, treasurer.

Incorporators of the League were John Russel Young, president of the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia; Dr. George W. Hutchinson, secretary of the National Geographic society, and F. G. Awalt, attorney, all of Washington.

CANADIAN FAVORS STAND OF BRITISH LABOR

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP) M. J. Coldwell, leader of the Canadian Cooperative Commonwealth Federation party, said today he was in favor of the position taken by British labor groups against the policy of the British government in Greece.

"We realize the tremendous difficulties that exist in a country just liberated," Coldwell said at a press conference. "We think of course that the people of a liberated country should be given the right to choose their own government as soon as possible.

"We are most anxious about the situation. Apart from the immediate situation, there seems to be an indication of spheres of influence agreed upon in Europe."

Welders Cut Down Bronze Bust Of Hitler

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Adolph Hitler was cut down to his own size today—by two American welders.

A life-size bronze bust of the Nazi leader, captured in a German embassy in a liberated country, was melted down by Alice Holland and William Hanson before 25,000 workers at a Todd Shipyards (Brooklyn) war bond rally.

The metal will be used in ship construction.

The ceremony took place during lunch hour. Guests included Jean Dickenson, radio singer, and Horace McMahon, movie actor.

DEWEY EYES FOREIGN TREND

Concerned With Critical Turn, Brownell Says

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Herbert Brownell, Jr., Republican National Chairman, said today Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was "much concerned about critical developments in foreign affairs."

Brownell, who held a dinner conference last night with the defeated Presidential nominee, told a press conference they discussed "the failure of the Administration to exercise strong leadership in world affairs."

Sees Failure To Be Ready

"There seems to be a tendency of the Administration to talk about international cooperation, but there is a failure to be ready to act in meeting these tremendous problems that are now facing us in world affairs," Brownell said, adding that the statement was his own and not Dewey's.

Brownell declined to say what specific problems he had in mind. Brownell said he had not decided whether he would continue as national chairman.

Dewey was much interested, Brownell said, in setting up a world organization for peace along lines proposed at Dumbarton Oaks.

Organization For Peace

"I found that Governor Dewey continues to feel that our part in a world organization for peace must call for the best brains and efforts of the leaders of both parties and must not be bogged down in narrow partisanship at any time," Brownell said.

The chairman, back from a month's vacation in Arizona, said he found in his cross-country trip that party leaders were agreed there must be an "aggressive party organization and an affirmative program of action" to prepare for the 1946 congressional election.

"There is a spirit of determination among the leaders and the rank and file of the party," Brownell said, "that such a program be adopted and plans be put into effect promptly."

To Confer With Congressmen

He said he would confer with members of the Senate and House and the national committee as the legislative calendar permitted. Asked if Dewey would attend the conferences, Brownell said, "on some, undoubtedly."

Brownell said his conference with Dewey was along general lines. He conferred today with J. Rusell Sprague, Republican national committeeman from New York.

Home For War Orphans Planned By Lumber Man

Memphis, Dec. 18 (AP)—Eugene Woods, of Memphis, today revealed he is deeding property valued at $300,000 to a Baptist foundation for establishment of a children's home near Ripley, Tenn.

The Rev. Chesley Bowden, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Ripley, said the Memphis lumber man is giving his 2,437-acre plantation near Ripley for establishment of a school where under-privileged children would be educated and taught a trade. He said it would be patterned after the Berry School in Georgia.

Orphaned children from west Tennessee, eastern Arkansas and northern Mississippi will be eligible for attendance regardless of religious affiliation.

"Mr. Woods has in mind particularly the children of veterans who have died in the war," the Rev. Mr.

Bowden said.

In addition to the land and buildings, Woods's deed would include farm implements, live stock and produce.

PAPER FOUND IN CONTEMPT

Miami Herald And Editor Fined For Criticism

Miami, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—Circuit Judges Paul D. Barns and Marshall Wiseheart found the Miami Hearld and John D. Pennekamp, associate editor, guilty of contempt of court today as the result of the publication of two critical editorials and a cartoon.

A $1,000 fine was levied against the Herald and $250 against Pennekamp, with the proviso that the fines did not have to be paid for 30 days, or while an appeal was pending.

See Violation Of Amendments

"We believe their decision is in violation of the First and Fourteenth amendments to the Constitution of the United States, and of the thirteenth section of the constitution of Florida, guaranteeing freedom of speech and of the press, and equal protection under the law," Pennekamp commented on the judges' action. . . .

"We will, therefore, appeal their findings promptly, not only in behalf of the Miami Herald, but in behalf of the basic rights of free speech and a free press generally."

The American Newspapers Publishers Association joined the Herald in defending the suit and sent Elisha Hanson, general counsel, to participate in the hearing before Judge Barns and Wiseheart, who themselves heard the case without objection from the defendants.

Thinks He Acquiesced In Policies Of British

Louisville, Dec. 18 (AP)—Richard H. Hill, law director for the city of Louisville, today said he had telegraphed Senators Barkley and Chandler of Kentucky asking them to oppose Senate confirmation of Brig. Gen. Julius C. Holmes as Assistant Secretary of State.

Hill was a lieutenant colonel with the Allied military government in North Africa, Sicily and Italy from May, 1943, until June, 1944. He now is on inactive status.

In the copy of his telegram made public here, Hill said:

"The British were dominating the whole situation with what in my opinion was an entirely fascist policy and top-ranking American officers were acquiescing.

Saw What Was Happening

"I saw what was happening and feared the situation which has resulted and is now revealed to the public.

"In July, 1943, I tried to communicate with friends in Washington and explain the situation and my fears. My letter was stopped by the censor. I returned to the States in June, 1944.

"The situation had grown much worse. I immediately reported to the military authorities in Washington and also to Senator Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

New Wood Pulp Process Yields Powder For War

East St. Louis, Ill. Dec. 18 (AP)—A new sulphate process for making smokeless powder from low-cost wood pulp used in producing ordinary brown wrapping paper and bags was announced today by the Western Cartridge Company.

John M. Olin, vice president, said the new process has been proven in experimental manufacture of powder from the pulp at Government plants at Radford, Va., and Charlestown, Ind.

Development of the process after ten years of research will relieve America of much of its dependence upon cotton fiber for manufacturing nitrocellulose, the basic material of rifle and cannon powder, Olin said.

Chicago-To-Europe Direct Air Route Seen

Chicago, Dec. 18 (AP)—Envisioning inland Chicago as a great world port for air traffic, Gov. Dwight H. Green told the Illinois aviation conference today that if Illinois citizens are alert "we will have direct Chicago-to-Europe air service shortly after the war is ended."

Chicago, he asserted, has the natural advantage of being "practically as close by the great circle route to the important cities of Europe as is New York or any of the cities on the Atlantic seaboard."

As a major State contribution to the campaign, the Governor disclosed, he will recommend to the 1945 General Assembly the creation of a department of aeronautics.

Gold Star Mother Relights Big Beacon

Chicago, Dec. 18 (AP)—A Gold Star mother last night relighted the world's most powerful beacon, the 2,000,000,000 candlepower light atop the Palmolive Building, which had been blacked out for almost three years.

Mrs. Howard F. Conley, who lost one son in action in the North Atlantic and has three others in service, pressed a button at a war bond show miles from the light. The beacon was shut off after Pearl Harbor.

MYSTERY BALLOON HAS JAP MARKINGS

Incendiary Device Attached To Huge Bag Found In Montana

Kalispell, Mont., Dec. 18 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced tonight that a paper balloon, 33½ feet in diameter, bearing Japanese characters had been found in a mountain region near here.

An official statement said the balloon had attached to its side an incendiary device, apparently intended for destruction of the balloon.

An FBI spokesman gave this explanation of the find:

"On December 11, 1944, a woodchopper named Owen Hill, and his father, O. B. Hill, who had been working in a mountainous forest region 17 miles southwest of Kalispell, Mont., reported to the sheriff's office the discovery of an object which was thought to be a parachute.

Carrying Capacity 800 Pounds

"It was brought into town the next day and the FBI office at Butte was advised. Upon examination, the object was discovered to be 33½ feet in diameter, with a gas capacity of over 18,000 cubic feet and a carrying capacity of at least 800 pounds net.

"The bag itself is of high-grade processed paper. There appeared on the balloon Japanese characters indicating completion of construction at the factory on October 31, 1944. Attached to the side of the balloon was an incendiary device with a fuse apparently intended for its destruction.

"A typical balloon rope structure attached to the flange around the bag ended in an elastic-type cable at the bottom which had been severed. And no determination has been made of the use for which it was intended.

"Prevailing winds on the West Coast have blown strongly directly from the west or northwest in recent weeks, and persons experienced in the use of free balloons report they are known to travel at speeds well in excess of 200 miles an hour.

"The balloon has been turned over to the military authorities who, together with the Navy, checked into the matter with the FBI."

Rising Sun Painted On It

The balloon was found by Rancher Hill and his son while cutting wood in a grove of trees. The balloon apparently had settled into the soft snow at night.

Deputy Sheriff Royal Hopkins said Hill reported the find immediately and Sheriff Duncan McCarthy took a party out to investigate.

"There was a rising run in green painted on it, and there was Oriental printing on it that looked Jap to me," said Hopkins. "It was cream-colored, about 50 feet long and about 150 feet around. The bomb-looking thing—about a foot long—was attached to the balloon and there were several fuses on it."

The balloon was brought to Kalispell and locked in a garage until Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrived and took it to Butte, headquarters for the Montana-Idaho FBI district.

West's Reaction Varied To Lifting Of Jap Ban

San Francisco, Dec. 18 (AP)—Japanese removed from the Pacific Coast early in the war will be permitted to return to their former homes in California, Oregon and Washington after January 1.

Maj. Gen. Henry C. Pratt, chief of the Western Defense Command, announced yesterday that the War Department had decided to revoke its security order, under which the persons of Japanese ancestry were evacuated. The move, Pratt said, was because of "favorable progress of the war in the Pacific, as well as other developments."

Exclusion Provision

Henceforth, he said, they will be excluded only when the Army considers them, personally, dangerous. All persons not specifically excluded will be permitted to return.

Reception of the announcement throughout the West was varied. In Los Angeles, outspoken Mayor Fletcher Bowron declared that if the Government permits the Japanese to return it should send troops to protect them.

"If they come back and start moving war workers to get a place to live, I don't know what the result will be," Bowron said, adding that because of inadequate police facilities "we just can't guarantee them protection."

Warren Urges Caution

Earl Warren, Governor of California, in a formal statement at Sacramento, said the Army's decision had been reached on the basis of the "military situation as it exists today," and appealed for "an attitude that will discourage friction and prevent civil disorder."

It was uncertain how many evacuees would be affected. More than 115,000 persons were affected by the order of March 24, 1942, and it was estimated that there are now about 119,000 under jurisdiction of the War Relocation Authority.

Spokesmen for the Western Defense Command said that lifting of the ban will not mean a sudden return of population, adding further strain to war-taxed housing conditions. They said the WRA is expected to see that the process is gradual, and added that those permitted to return will be carefully investigated.

C. A. Bottolfsen, governor of Idaho, voiced accord with the revocation order. Idaho is the site of the Minidoka Relocation Center, which at one time housed 10,000 Japanese Americans.

"Having proved themselves loyal American citizens, these people should be given every opportunity to return to their homes . . . ." Bottolfsen said.

Yoshito Fujii, chairman of the Minidoka Community Council, told a Seattle Post-Intelligencer representative by phone that the 7,500 Minidoka internees "have been waiting for this day. We long to return to our homes, our farms, our businesses. We feel that we are good Americans. . . ."

At Salt Lake City, Saburo Kido, president of the Japanese-American Citizens League and a former San Francisco lawyer, termed the action "a vindication of the loyalty of the Japanese-American population to the United States."

But at Kent, Wash., Benjamin Smith, president of the Remember Pearl Harbor League, said the Japanese are still dangerous to the war effort, and added that his organization has pledged 500 persons not to sell, lease or rent farms, homes or stores to the returning evacuees. He said that "further steps" may be taken.

An orderly dismissal from the camps was envisioned by the WRA.

At the Topaz (Ariz.) center Director Luther T. Hossman said it would probably be a year before the center is abandoned.

Procedure To Be Announced

Director Leroy H. Bennett, of the Gila River Center at Rivers, Ariz., said the residents won't be returned "immediately" and promised that a detailed announcement of procedure would be made later in Washington.

In the nation's capital, West Coast Congressmen were reluctant to comment. Representative Lea (D., Cal.) said he hoped that many of the Japanese who left the State would stay away. Congressmen from Oregon and Washington said there was still considerable feeling against the Japanese in some parts of their districts.

Representative Sheppard (D., Cal.) said he thought the housing situation in many California areas would retard the return of the Japanese.

Japanese Flags For Cargo Ship

Wilmington, Cal., Dec. 18 (AP)—Something new in the way of cargo ship decorations: 26 Japaanese flags, representing the 26 planes Major Joseph Foss, of Sioux Falls, S.D., shot down, are being painted on the Sioux Falls Victory, which will be launched tomorrow by Calship. The major's wife will christen the vessel.

FILM UNIONS HAVE CONFLICT

Jurisdictions Overlap For Extras Who Do Bit Parts

Los Angeles, Dec. 18 [Special]—The winning by the Independent Screen Players' Union of the collective-bargaining election among Hollywood motion-picture extra players Sunday has produced a serious conflict of union jurisdiction, it appeared today in union, studio and Federal labor relations circles.

Principals in the new SPU and in the AFL Screen Actors' Guild, which lost the election, were in separate special meetings last night and on their conclusion it seemed to interested parties that the National Relations Labor Board, which ordered and conducted the election, must now define or classify exactly those borderline jobs for whom the two unions can bargain.

Until the election, the AFL Guild always had bargained for all players. The new union won extra player bargaining away from the Guild. The new problem resulting from this is: Which union will bargain for those borderline players who do both extra playing and acting? Many do such double work among the 3,000 or more doing principal extra playing.

Borderline Individuals

The AFL union has accepted the election results as to extra playing. But it still believes that it has exclusive bargaining rights for extras, as well as its A or A-J members, when they become "actors"—that is when they do bits, parts, singing, etc.

On the contrary, the new union believes that its jurisdiction covers extras when they do bits, parts, singing, etc.

The new union bases this belief on the fact that the board included those borderline individuals in the electorate that voted Sunday. Some, however, believe that they were merely included to give all in the extra playing business an opportunity to have a voice, as extras only.

The question of demarcation is expected to be settled eventually by the board upon formal request.

Meanwhile, the new union has set up temporary headquarters with Harry Mayo, chairman; Michael Jeffers and Jack Fitzpatrick, principally in charge.

The union is planning a general meeting to select its first official family and to set up a negotiating committee.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 18 (AP).—Sergeant Le Roy P. Diamond, of 647 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, one of the first Marine Corps heroes of the Pacific war, received a belated decoration today. Winner of the Navy Cross for heroism during the early fighting on Guadalcanal, Diamond was awarded the 27 Soldiers Sentenced for Riot Against Italians Serving in U.S.

DEC 17 1944

SEATTLE, Dec. 18 (AP).—Prison sentences totaling more than 200 years were given tonight to twenty-seven Negro soldiers found guilty by a United States Army General Court Martial board of rioting against an Italian service unit at Fort Lawton on Aug. 14.

Three of the defendants were found innocent of additional charges of murder in the death of Private Guglielmo Olivotto, whose body was found hanging in a near-by gully the morning after the riot.

Those cleared of murder charges, however, were convicted of rioting and their sentences were the heaviest assessed by the Court Martial board.

They were Corporal Luther Larkin, twenty-three years old, of Helena, Ark., twenty-five years in prison; Private William G. Jones, twenty, of Decatur, Ill., fifteen years, and Sergeant Arthur J. Hurks, twenty-two, of Houston, Tex., twelve years.

With the exception of a single defendant, the convicted men were sentenced also to dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay in addition to the prison terms. The exception was Corporal Riley L. Buckner, twenty-five, of Houston, Tex., who was sentenced to six months at hard labor and forfeiture of two-thirds of his pay for the period.

In addition to dishororable discharge, loss of pay and confinement, the sentences carried reduction to the rank of private for all non-commissioned officers. There were originally forty-two defendants in the trial, making it the Army's largest court martial of this war. One was dismissed early in the trial, thirteen were found not guilty at the end of the trial and one, Pfc. Roy L. Montgomery, twenty-three, of Greenwood, Miss., is in the hospital with pneumonia. His sentence will be pronounced later.

LONDON, TUESDAY, DEC. 19-(AP)-ROMANCE AS WELL AS ADVENTURE BECKONED WHEN AN ENGLISH GIRL AND A CANADIAN OFFICER PARACHUTED INTO ENEMY-HELD TERRITORY IN FRANCE BEFORE D-DAY TO AID THE MAQUIS.

THE DAILY SKETCH, TELLING THE STORY TODAY, SAID THE GIRL WAS SONIA BUTT, 20-YEAR-OLD FRENCH-SPEAKING DAUGHTER OF GROUP CAPT. L.A.K.BUTT OF THE RAF. THE MAN WAS CAPT.GUY D'ARTOIS OF MONTREAL.

THE SKETCH QUOTED AN UNIDENTIFIED FRIEND OF THE COUPLE AS SAYING: "D'ARTOIS FELT HIS HEART LEAP WHEN HE SAW HER WAVE AND SMILE AS SHE JUMPED JUST AHEAD OF HIM FROM THE SAME PLANE." LONDON, DEC.18-(AP)-BERLIN PROPAGANDISTS HINTED TODAY THAT FIELD MARSHAL VON RUNDSTEDT'S COUNTER-OFFENSIVE MIGHT BE A "PEACE OFFENSIVE" DESIGNED, THROUGH ATTRITION, TO GAIN FOR GERMANY SOMETHING BETTER THAN UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER.

DR.KARL SCHARPING, THE GERMAN RADIO'S CHIEF POLITICAL COMMENTATOR, "IN VIEW OF OUR OFFENSIVE IN THE WEST GERMANY MUST FORCE HER ENEMIES TO GO ALL OUT TO SUCH AN EXTENT THAT THEIR DIFFICULTIES AT HOME, THEIR LOSSES AT THE FRONT AND THEIR GENERAL WEAR AND TEAR WILL NO LONGER WARRANT THE VALUE OF THEIR POLITICAL AIMS. WE MUST MAKE THE STRUGGLE TOO COSTLY FOR THE ENEMY."

GERMAN PROPAGANDISTS ALSO WERE USING THE COUNTERATTACK AS AN ANSWER TO THE "WHERE'S HITLER?" MYSTERY. THE NAVY MILITARY RADIO SAID: "WE CAN TELL YOU NOW WHY HITLER HAS BEEN SILENT. HE IS NOT ILL BUT HAS BEEN BUSY PREPARING THIS NEW OFFENSIVE DOWN TO THE MINUTEST DETAIL."

DEC 17 1944

LONDON, TUESDAY, DEC. 19---(AP)---OBSERVERS IN THIS WAR CAPITAL TODAY WERE IN GENERAL AGREEMENT THAT THE GERMAN COUNTER-POLITICAL OFFENSIVE WAS TIMED CAREFULLY TO HAVE THE GREATEST POSSIBLE EFFECTS ON ALLIED HOMEFRONTS AS WELL AS BEING AN EFFORT TO UPSET GEN. EISENHOWER'S OFFENSIVE PLANS ON THE BATTLEFRONT.

STAGED WHILE BRUTAL CIVIL WARFARE IS GOING ON IN GREECE AND THE RUSSIAN-POLISH QUESTION IS BEING SHARPLY DEBATED, THE GERMANS MAY HAVE STRUCK SOONER THAN THEY ORIGINALLY HAD PLANNED IN ORDER TO REAP THE MAXIMUM ADVANTAGE POLITICALLY BY ADDING A MILITARY SETBACK TO OTHER CURRENT ALLIED PROBLEMS.

THE GERMANS ALSO HOPE, IT IS BELIEVED, THAT LARGE ALLIED CASUALTY LISTS---COMING AT A TIME WHEN A FEW MONTHS AGO MOST OF THE UNITED NATIONS HOPED THE WAR IN EUROPE WOULD BE OVER---MIGHT HAVE A DEPRESSING EFFECT ON HOME FRONTS.

"THE GERMAN PUSH TODAY, UNLIKE THAT OF 1918, IS NOT AN ATTACK BUT A COUNTERATTACK," THE DAILY MAIL SAID EDITORIALLY. "ITS OBJECT IS NOT BY ITSELF TO WIN THE WAR BUT TO PROLONG IT TO A POINT AT WHICH THE ALLIES MAY BE INDUCED TO OFFER TERMS. MORE IMPORTANT STILL, THEIR OBJECT IS TO CREATE FURTHER DISSENSION AMONG THE UNITED NATIONS AND TO DISHEARTEN ALLIED PEOPLES."

THE DAILY MAIL SAID THE GERMANS NOW ARE GIVING US A LESSON WE MUST TAKE TO HEART. THE UNITED NATIONS, IT SAID, MUST "COME TOGETHER, WORK TOGETHER, FIGHT TOGETHER, AS THEY DID IN THOSE DAYS

WHEN THE ODDS WERE AGAINST THEM. WE MUST NOW FIGHT AND WORK HARDER THAN IN THE MONTHS WHEN IT SEEMED THE WAR WAS ALL BUT WON."

THE DAILY HERALD, OBSERVING THAT THE ALLIES ARE BEING TAUGHT A LESSON IN THE HAZARDS OF WAR, ADDS, "IT IS NECESSARY WE DRAW THE RIGHT MORAL X X X THE FULL DEFEAT OF FASCISM REQUIRES A MILITARY VICTORY AND A POSITIVE POLITICAL STRATEGY."

DEC 17 1944

THE DAILY EXPRESS EDITORIALIZED THAT THE ATTACK BY THE ENEMY MAY BE WELCOMED BECAUSE DESTRUCTION OF GERMANS IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN LOSS OF TERRITORY, PROVIDING THE TERRITORY LOST IS NOT BIG ENOUGH TO AFFECT ALLIED PLANS. THE EXPRESS ADVISED CIVILIANS TO EXAMINE NOW THEIR OWN WAR EFFORT "FOR THE ALL-OUT EFFORT TO SHORTEN THE WAR MUST COME NOT ONLY FROM SOLDIERS BUT FROM TECHNICIANS AND WORKERS AS WELL."

LONDON, DEC. 18-(AP)-THE STATEMENT BY SECRETARY OF STATE STETTINIUS OF THE UNITED STATES' POSITION ON THE POLISH FRONTIER QUESTION, ~~XOSWUNISATES IN ADVANCE TO THIS BRITISH GOVERNMENT~~ WAS WELCOMED IN LONDON OFFICIAL QUARTERS AS CLOSELY PARALLELING PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL'S ATTITUDE IN THIS RESPECT:

BOTH THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN, AS A GENERAL PRINCIPLE, ARE NOT PREPARED TO RECOGNIZE TERRITORIAL CHANGES BEFORE THE PEACE CONFERENCE, BUT RECOGNIZE AN EXCEPTION IN THE RUSSO-POLISH DISPUTE COULD MAKE AN ESSENTIAL CONTRIBUTION TO THE PROSECUTION OF THE WAR.

DEC 17 1944

THE STETTINIUS STATEMENT, COMMUNICATED TO THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT IN ADVANCE, WAS HELD TO OFFER NO CONFLICT IN THESE VIEWS:

1. BRITAIN IS URGING A MUTUAL AGREEMENT BETWEEN RUSSIA AND POLAND ON THE CURZON LINE. THE UNITED STATES WOULD HAVE NO OBJECTION TO A SUCH A MUTUALLY AGREED UPON SETTLEMENT.

2. THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT HOLDS STRONGLY THAT PROMPT SETTLEMENT ON THE BASIS OF THE CURZON LINE IS VITAL TO FULL UNRESTRICTED DEVELOPMENT OF THE RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE AGAINST GERMANY THROUGH POLAND AS WELL AS TO FUTURE FRIENDLY RUSSO-POLISH RELATIONS.

THE UNITED STATES WOULD COOPERATE IN ASSISTING THE TRANSFER OF POPULATIONS NECESSITATED BY POLISH FRONTIER CHANGES, PROVIDED THIS HAD THE APPROVAL OF THE POLISH GOVERNMENT AND PEOPLE.

3. THERE WAS NO SURPRISE IN EITHER BRITISH OR POLISH CIRCLES THAT THE UNITED STATES REFUSED TO GUARANTEE THE NEW POLISH FRONTIERS AS THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT IS PREPARED TO DO IN CONJUNCTION WITH RUSSIA. TO HAVE DONE SO WOULD HAVE MARKED A M REVERSAL OF TRADITIONAL UNITED STATES POLICY.

OFFICIAL POLISH REACTION WAS LACKING, BUT IT WAS LEARNED THE STETTINIUS STATEMENT ALREADY HAD BEEN CAREFULLY STUDIED BY MEMBERS OF THE LONDON POLISH GOVERNMENT. ONE POLISH SOURCE WITH CLOSE CONNECTIONS IN THE EXILED GOVERNMENT COMMENTED, "HE MERELY REAFFIRMED WHAT WE ALREADY KNEW WAS AMERICAN POLICY."

LONDON, DEC. 18-(AP)-A NEW TYPE AMERICAN FRAGMENTATION BOMB IS BEING DROPPED ON THE GERMANS IT WAS DISCLOSED TONIGHT BY COL. PHILIP SCHWARTZ, ARMAMENT CHIEF OF THE U. S. AIR SERVICE COMMAND.

THE BOMB IS 265 POUNDS OF TNT WRAPPED IN WIRE.

EXPERIMENTS AMONG BALES OF COTTON SHOWED THE NEW WIRE BOMB GAVE THE GREATEST NUMBER OF DEADLY FRAGMENTS PER SQUARE INCH.

SCHWARTZ ALSO SAID 40 PER CENT OF THE ALLIES' THUNDERBOLTS ARE NOW BE EQUIPPED WITH A NEW ELECTRICAL BOMB RELEASE which GIVES ALMOST TWICE THE FORMER ACCURACY. BEFORE THE DEVELOPMENT PILOTS WERE NOTING WIDE ERRORS IN LOW ALTITUDE BOMBING BECAUSE THEY HAD TO RELEASE THEIR LOADS BY A MANUALLY CONTROLLED LEVER FROM AN AWKWARD POSITION IN THE COCKPIT.

THE GERMANS THREW UP SOME OF THEIR JET-PROPELLED PLANES INTO THE ASSAULT AS WELL AS SOME OF THEIR V-BOMBS, AND BEGAN USING RAILROAD GUNS ON AN INCREASED SCALE TO BOMBARD REAR AREA OF THE NINTH ARMY, TO THE NORTH OF THE FIRST ARMY.

MANY OF THE PARACHUTISTS DROPPED BEHIND AMERICAN LINES ON SATURDAY NIGHT TO HARASS COMMUNICATIONS AS GERMAN ARMOR AND INFANTRY STRUCK THE FRONTAL ATTACKS ALREADY HAD BEEN ROUNDED UP AND THE SEARCH FOR OTHERS WAS GOING ON METHODICALLY.

IN GERMANY, NEAR HECKHUSSCHEID, 19 MILES SOUTHEAST OF MALMEDY, ND IN LUXEMBOURG NEAR VIANDEN, 17 MILES FARTHER SOUTH, AND NEAR CHTERNACH, 13 MILES STILL FARTHER SOUTH, THE GERMANS INFILTRATED MERICAN LINES BUT MADE ONLY SLIGHT PROGRESS.

THE DOUGHBOYS DUG IN AND WITH THEIR TANKS, BAZOOKAS AND RTILLERY, HELD THE GERMANS TO THEIR SLIGHT GAINS OF YESTERDAY.

THERE WAS NO GROUND ACTIVITY AS YET REPORTED FROM THE U.S. INTH AND BRITISH SECOND ARMY FRONTS TO THE NORTH.

OVERSHADOWED BY THE GERMAN COUNTEROFFENSIVE, LT. GEN. GEORGE .PATTON'S THIRD ARMY AT LENGTH HAD SCORED A NOTABLE VICTORY BY SMASHING THROUGH THE PRIMARY SIEGFRIED LINE DEFENSES AT DILLINGEN, THREE MILES NORTH OF SAARLAUTERN.

DIGGING DEEPER INTO THE SIEGFRIED DEFENSES FARTHER BACK, THE THIRD ARMY'S 90TH DIVISION PUSHED FORWARD ANOTHER 300 YARDS TO THE EASTERN EDGE OF DILLINGEN. TEN MORE BLOCKS OF THE TOWN WERE CAPTURED IN THIS FOOT-BY-FOOT PLUGGING.

THE 95TH INFANTRY ALSO GAINED SLIGHTLY IN FRAULAUTERN AND ENSDORF WESTWALL DEFENSES JUST EAST AND NORTHEAST OF SAARLAUTERN.

THE 35TH INFANTRY DIVISION GAINED ANOTHER HALF MILE NORTH OF REICHEIM IN GERMANY, NINE MILES SOUTHEAST OF SAARBRUCKEN, AND OTHER INFANTRYMEN ALSO GAINED A HALF MILE NEAR SEYWEILLER, SEVEN MILES SOUTHWEST OF ZWEIBRUCKEN.

ON THE THIRD ARMY'S RIGHT THE SEVENTH ARMY OF LT. GEN. ALEXANDER M.PATCH BUTTED SQUARELY AGAINST THE SIEGFRIED LINE IN THE WISSEMBOURG GAP BY GAINS ON A 14-MILE FRONT BETWEEN THE RHINE AND THE VOSGES.

MEDIUM BOMBERS PLOUGHED SIEGFRIED PILLBOXES, TANKTRAPS AND WIRE TANGLES BETWEEN OBER-OTTERBACK AND STEINFELD JUST AHEAD OF THE SEVENTH ARMY WHERE THE U.S. 14TH ARMORED DIVISION, NEWLY DISCLOSED IN ACTION, HAD SURGED TO WITHIN 32 MILES OF THE RHINE CITIES OF MANNHEIM AND LUDWIGSHAFEN.

FIVE GERMAN DIVISIONS WERE CONCENTRATED ON A 30-MILE FRONT HERE, AND THE 7TH ARMY WAS FINDING HARD PLUGGING ON ITS LEFT FLANK NEAR BITCHE WHERE FOUR MAIN MAGINOT FORTS--SIMSERHOF, SCHIESSECK, OTTERBIEL AND GRAND HOHEKIRKEL, EACH SURROUNDED BY SIX TO 11 SATELLITE FORTS AFTER THE MANNER OF THE METZ DEFENSES--BLOCKED THE WAY.

ONE OF THE SERIES OF FORTS, FRUNEBURG, HAD BEEN TAKEN.

TO THE SOUTH OF STRASBOURG IN THE ALSACE PLAIN, THE GERMANS WHO HAD REINFORCED THEIR BRIDGEHEAD ON THE WEST SIDE OF THE RHINE, WERE DISCLOSED TO HAVE RECAPTURED MITTELWEHR AND BENWIHR NORTHWEST OF COLMAR AND 13 MILES FROM THE RHINE; DIEBOLSHEIM, EAST OF SELESTAT AND A MILE FROM THE RHINE, AND MOUNT HOHNECK IN THE SCHLUCHT PASS.

THE GREATEST GERMAN PRESSURE WAS BEING EXERTED ALONG A 60-MILE FRONT FROM MONSCHAU SOUTHWARD TO THE REICH FORTRESS CITY OF TRIER.

WHAT APPEARED TO BE THE MAIN ENEMY BLOW CARRIED TO WITHIN 10 MILES OF THE BELGIAN CITY OF MALMEDY, 23 MILES SOUTH OF AACHEN AND 14 MILES WEST OF THE GERMAN FRONTIER. ENEMY INFANTRY AND FROM 30 TO 50 TANKS OVERRAN SOME AMERICAN POSITIONS IN THE AREA OF HONSFELD, TWO MILES INSIDE BELGIUM, AND CONTINUED ON ANOTHER TWO MILES BEFORE

THE ATTACK EASED.

ASSUMING THAT THE AMERICANS IN THIS SECTOR ORIGINALLY WERE AT THE FRONTIER, THE GERMAN ADVANCE REPRESENTS A PENETRATION OF FOUR MILES. HOWEVER, AMERICAN LINES ON THAT LONG-QUIET SECTOR ARE ILL-DEFINED.

GERMAN PARACHUTE TROOPS WERE DROPPED IN FOUR AND EIGHT MAN TEAMS IN TWO CORPS AREAS ON THE FIRST ARMY FRONT AND ALSO BEHIND THE U.S. NINTH ARMY.

THE GERMAN AIR FORCE WAS PAYING A STEEP PRICE FOR THE SUPPORT IT WAS GIVING THE ATTACKING GROUND TROOPS. IN THE FIRST 36 HOURS OF THE ATTACK THE GERMANS HAD 194 PLANES SHOT DOWN WHILE AMERICAN AIR LOSSES BY NIGHTFALL LAST NIGHT TOTALLED 33 FIGHTERS. DEC 17 1944

THERE WERE THREE OTHER PENETRATIONS OF AMERICAN POSITIONS IN ADDITION TO THE ENEMY THRUST TOWARD MALMEDY.

ONE WAS SOME 19 MILES SOUTHEAST OF MALMEDY AT A POINT JUST SOUTH OF THE GERMAN VILLAGE OF HECKHUSCHEID, WHERE THE AMERICANS HOLD A SLENDER STRIP OF ENEMY SOIL. HECKUSCHEID IS FIVE MILES NORTHEAST OF THE JUNCTION OF THE BELGIAN, LUXEMBOURG AND GERMAN BORDERS. IN THIS SECTOR ARTILLERY FIRE BROKE UP AN ATTACK BY 100 GERMAN TROOPS.

A SECOND WAS 17 MILES FARTHER SOUTH, WHERE 150 GERMANS MOVED INTO THE WOODED AREA SOUTHWEST OF THE LUXEMBOURG BORDER TOWN OF VIANDEN.

A THIRD CARRIED INTO LUXEMBOURG SOUTH OF ECHTERNACH, A BORDER TOWN 13 MILES SOUTHEAST OF VIANDEN. ECHTERNACH IS 18 MILES NORTHWEST OF THE CAPITAL OF THE GRAND DUCHY.

IN THE DUREN AREA AT THE NORTHERN END OF THE ASSAULT FRONT THE GERMAN BLOWS WERE NOT ON THE SCALE OF THOSE IN THE SOUTH. GERMAN

ATTEMPTS TO RETAKE MARIAWEILER AND GURZENICH, A MILE AND A HALF NORTHWEST AND A MILE WEST OF DUREN, RESPECTIVELY, WERE REPULSED.

VON RUNDSTEDT, IN AN ORDER TO HIS TROOPS, SAID: "STRONG ATTACKING ARMIES ARE ADVANCING X X X AGAINST THE ANGLO-AMERICANS. I DON'T NEED TO SAY MORE TO YOU. BEAR IN YOURSELVES A HOLY DUTY TO GIVE EVERYTHING AND ACHIEVE THE SUPERHUMAN FOR OUR FATHERLAND AND OUR RUEHRER."

AMERICAN THIRD ARMY TROOPS SMASHED THE PRIMARY SIEGFRIED LINE DEFENSES AT DILLINGEN IN THE WESTERN PART OF THE SAAR BASIN. THE THIRD ARMY ALSO DEEPENED ITS INVASION OF THE SOUTHERN SAARLAND TO TWO MILES BY CLEARING THE ENEMY FROM MEDELSHEIM AND WALSHEIM AND FORCING INTO GERSHEIM. ALL THREE TOWNS ARE NORTHEAST OF SARREGUEMINES.

FATHER EAST FOUR DIVISIONS OF THE U.S. SEVENTH ARMY REACHED THE SIEGFRIED LINE BEYOND CAPTURED WISSEMBOURG, MOVING STEADILY AHEAD AGAINST GRADUALLY STIFFENING RESISTANCE. THEY TOOK SCHWEIGHOFEN, THREE MILES NORTHEAST OF WISSEMBOURG, AND KAPSWEYER, A MILE FARTHER NORTH AND REACHED A POINT ABOUT THREE MILES SOUTH OF BERGZABERN AFTER SWEEPING THROUGH SEVERAL MORE VILLAGES.

THE ADVANCES PUT THE SEVENTH ARMY AS MUCH AS THREE MILES DEEP INTO GERMANY AT POINTS ALONG A 14-MILE FRONT, AND SOME AMERICAN TROOPS WERE ONLY EIGHT MILES WEST OF THE BADEN PROVINCE CAPITAL OF KARLSRUHE.

NORTH OF WISSEMBOURG THE FORTIFICATIONS OF THE SIEGFRIED LINE HAVE A DEPTH OF ABOUT 20 MILES, A FRONT DISPATCH SAID. ELEMENTS OF FIVE GERMAN DIVISIONS PLUS SOME FORTRESS TROOPS WERE FACING THE SEVENTH ARMY IN A 30-MILE AREA STRETCHING NORTHWEST OF LAUTERBOURG.

NEAR THE SOUTHERN END OF THE ALLIED LINE COUNTERATTACKING GERMANS RETOOK TWO ALSATIAN VILLAGES NORTHWEST OF COLMAR AND SURGED BACK INTO A TOWN EAST OF SELESTAT.

ON THE EASTERN END OF THE FRONT, THE 79TH DIVISION NEAREST THE RHINE PROBED BEYOND THE TOWN OF BERG, WHICH IS EIGHT MILES WEST OF THE RHINE CITY OF KARLSRUHE.

TO THE WEST THE 14TH WAS LOOKING INTO THE SIEGFRIED LINE'S DRAGON TEETH SOUTH OF OBER OTTERBACH, WHICH IS TWO MILES INSIDE THE REICH.

SOME THREE MILES NORTHWEST, THE 103RD DIVISION HAD DRIVEN ABOUT FOUR MILES INTO GERMANY--THE SEVENTH'S DEEPEST PENETRATION--AND WAS NEARING THE VILLAGE OF REISDORF.

THE 45TH DIVISION, A FEW MILES FARTHER WEST, FOUGHT INTO NEIDERSCHLETTEBACH AND BUNDENTHAL, BOTH APPROXIMATELY THREE MILES INSIDE GERMANY, WAS APPROACHING RUMBACH, TWO AND A HALF MILES WEST OF BUNDENTHAL.

THE 45TH'S PROGRESS WAS SLOWED BY TERRIFIC FIRE FROM CONCRETE PILLBOXES AND SMALL FORTS DISGUISED AS HOUSES.

U.S. 240-MM AND EIGHT INCHERS WERE SHELLING KARLSRUHE AND RASTATT, ANOTHER GERMAN CITY ON THE EAST BANK OF THE RHINE 13 MILES SOUTHWEST OF KARLSRUHE.

SHELLS LANDED NEAR RASTATT'S RAILROAD STATION AND A COLUMN OF SMOKE SHOT 2,000 FEET INTO THE AIR. THE GERMANS BLEW THE BRIDGE ACROSS THE RHINE TO KARLSRUHE.

AMERICAN ARTILLERY ALSO SHELLED PIRMASENS, GERMANY, 12 MILES NORTH-EAST OF BITCHE.

SINCE THE LANDINGS IN SOUTHERN FRANCE, AUG.15, LT.GEN.JACOB L. DEVERS' SIXTH ARMY GROUP, WHICH IS COMPOSED OF THE U.S.SEVENTH ARMY AND THE FRENCH FIRST ARMY, HAS TAKEN 155,113 PRISONERS, 80,951 OF THEM CAPTURED BY THE AMERICANS AND 74,162 BY THE FRENCH.

A BELGIAN VILLAGE UNDER GERMAN ATTACK, DEC. 18-(AP)-ONE FIGHTING LIEUTENANT WITH TWO ANTITANK GUNS AND THEIR CREWS KNOCKED OUT FOUR GERMAN ROYAL TIGER TANKS TODAY IN A FLAMING STREET BATTLE DURING WHICH FOR SIX HOURS THEY HELD UP AN ARMORED COLUMN SPEARHEADING THE GREAT NAZI OFFENSIVE.

AT DUSK, AFTER AMERICAN REINFORCEMENTS HAD ARRIVED, THE DOUGHBOYS WERE LOCKED IN A DESPERATE HOUSE-TO-HOUSE STRUGGLE WITH ENEMY TANKS AND INFANTRY AS GRAY-BODIED P-47 THUNDERBOLTS STRUCK AGAIN AND AGAIN FROM MISTY SKIES WITH BOMBS AND STREAMS OF BULLETS IN AN EFFORT TO HALT THE SUPPORTING GERMAN COLUMNS.

NIGHT NOW COVERS FRIEND AND FOE AND THE TARGETS ARE DIFFICULT TO DISCERN IN THE DARKNESS PIERCED BY BRIGHT, SPANKING ORANGE ARTILLERY BURSTS AND THE FLAMES OF BURNING HOMES AND VEHICLES. FOR MILES THIS PICTURESQUE VALLEY AMID ROLLING GREEN HILLS IS FILLED WITH BILLOWING SMOKE AND A CHILL MIST.

EXCEPT FOR THE BATTLE WISDOM OF LT.JACK DOHERTY, 27, 27, OF LATROBE, PA., AND THE VALOR OF HIS TWO GUN CREWS, HOWEVER, THIS FIGHT WOULD HAVE BEEN LOST BEFORE IT WAS WELL STARTED AND THIS SURPRISINGLY SPEEDY GERMAN COLUMN MIGHT NOW HAVE BEEN MILES INSIDE AMERICAN LINES, SHOOTING UP REAR AREA OUTFITS TOO LIGHTLY ARMED TO WITHSTAND IT.

THE COMMANDER OF A COMBAT ENGINEER BATTALION WHOSE MEMBERS ARE FIGHTING AS FOOT SOLDIERS WAS AWARDED THE BRONZE STAR ON THE SPOT TODAY BY HIS DIVISION COMMANDER FOR A GALLANT STAND WHICH SLOWED THE PACE OF THE CURRENT NAZI COUNTER-DRIVE INTO BELGIUM.

ALTHOUGH OUTNUMBERED, SOMETIMES AS MUCH AS EIGHT TO ONE, THE ENGINEERS HELD ON TO A CROSSROADS POSITION UNTIL REINFORCEMENTS COULD BE BROUGHT UP AND REMAINED IN THE LINE FOR ANOTHER HALF HOUR UNTIL THE FORCE OF THE ENEMY ATTACK HAD BEEN BLUNTED.

DURING THE ATTACK ENEMY TANKS ROARED INTO THE VILLAGE WHERE LT. HOWARD STEPHENS OF ST.LOUIS, MO., WAS STATIONED WITH PVT.ERNEST SIEGEL OF 2601 HANOVER STREET, RICHMOND, VA., AND SIX OTHER ENLISTED MEN.

THE MEN TOOK TO THE CELLAR WHEN GERMAN ARTILLERY LEVELED THE HOUSE IN WHICH THEY WERE SHELTERED. AFTER THE NAZI AIR COVER WAS BROKEN UP BY AMERICAN PLANES THE MEN WORKED THEIR WAY OUT THROUGH THE BACK OF THE VILLAGE AND UP A RIDGE TO SOME FOX HOLES.

DEC 17 1944

STEPHENS TOLD SIEGEL TO TRY TO GET BACK TO THE UNIT COMMANDER, CAPT.GEORGE YOUNG, WHOSE WIFE LIVES IN PORTSMOUTH, OHIO. SIEGEL FORCED A GERMAN TRUCK TO TURN BACK BY FIRING MOST OF HIS LONE CLIP OF AMMUNITION AT IT AND THEN HAD TO HOLE UP FOR A HALF HOUR TO AVOID ENEMY MACHINEGUN FIRE. HE EVENTUALLY REACHED A RECONNAISSANCE COMPANY WHICH GAVE HIM AMMUNITION AND WALKED THE REST OF THE WAY TO DIVISION HEADQUARTERS.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS NEAR BITCHE, FRANCE, DEC. 18-(AP)-HUGE MAGINOT LINE FORTRESSES IN THIS PART OF NORTHWESTERN ALSACE BEGAN TO CRUMBLE TODAY UNDER THE COMBINED ASSAULT OF YANK DOUGHBOYS AND ENGINEERS EMPLOYING EVERY WEAPON FROM BAZOOKAS TO DYANAMITE.

TWO SECTIONS OF FORT SIMSERHOFF AND EIGHT SECTIONS OF FORT SCHIESSECK WERE OVERRUN BY THE TROOPS WHO HAVE BEEN HAMMERING AT THE POWERFUL PILLBOXES FOR NEARLY A WEEK. BOTH FORTS ARE WITHIN TWO MILES OF BITCHE.

IT WAS NECESSARY TO CAPTURE SOME OF THE PILLBOXES TWO OR THREE TIMES BECAUSE THE GERMANS FILTERED BACK INTO THEM THROUGH TUNNELS.

"IT TOOK 675 POUNDS OF DYNAMITE TO WRECK ONE PILLBOX SO THE GERMANS COULDN'T USE IT AGAIN," SAID CAPT.CHARLES HIBBARD OF PINEVILLE, KY., OF AN ENGINEER BATTALION COMMANDED BY MAJ.CHARLES ALVORD OF MARQUETTE, MICH.

THE MAIN FORTS OF SIMSERHOFF AND SCHIESSECK ARE CONCRETE STRUCTURES 800 YARDS LONG AND 300 YARDS WIDE SURROUNDED BY DOZENS OF PILLBOXES AND SUBSIDIARY FORTIFICATIONS, ALL ON COMMANDING HEIGHTS AND ALL WITH THICK STEEL DOORS AND ALMOST IMPENETRABLE ROOFS. THE GERMANS TRIED UNSUCCESSFULLY TO TAKE THEM FROM THE FRENCH IN 1940.

THEIR FALL WOULD OPEN THE WAY FOR FORCES HERE TO FOLLOW THE OTHER SEVENTH ARMY TROOPS INTO GERMANY.

IN THE WISSEMBOURG GAP, MEANWHILE, 79TH DIVISION MEN PROBED BEYOND BERG ALONG THE RHINE IN THE PALATINATE.

THE 14TH ARMORED DIVISION PENETRATED SEVEN ROWS OF DRAGON TEETH IN THE SIEGFRIED LINE BUT WAS PINNED DOWN BY INTENSE FIRE FROM SIEGFRIED LINE FORTS JUST SOUTH OF OBER OTTERBACH.

OF THE FOUR SEVENTH ARMY DIVISIONS FIGHTING IN THE GAP, THE 103RD INFANTRY MADE THE DEEPEST PENETRATION INTO GERMANY--ABOUT FOUR MILES TO THE VICINITY OF REISDORF.

DEC 17 1944

THE 45TH INFANTRY ON ITS WEST FLANK WAS FIGHTING IN NIEDER SCHLETTENBACH AND WAS APPROACHING RUMBACH AND BUNDENTHAL ABOUT TWO MILES INSIDE THE BORDER.

ONE OF THE CAPTURED SECTIONS OF ONE OF THE FORTS WAS CONVERTED

TO AN AMERICAN COMMAND POST.

PVT. CLARENCE DUEWIGER, 630 HOPKINS ST., BUFFALO, N.Y., SAID IT "HAD SHOWERS IN THE OFFICERS QUARTERS. WE TRIED A BAZOOKA ON THE STEEL BOMR AND ONLY DENTED IT. WE WENT DOWN 19 PLATFORMS BEFORE WE RAN INTO WATER."

PVT. ORAN GAMBLIN, 826 MAPLE AVE., DALLAS, TEX., SAID "THEY WERE THROWING EVERYTHING BUT THE KITCHEN SINK AT US."

LT. DONALD BOURNE, 1714 55TH ST., PORTLAND, ORE., WAS COMMANDING ONE COMPANY MAKING THE ASSAULT.

PVT. JOSEPH BOBACK OF CROSWELL, MICH., CORP. HENRY ROBINETT OF PENDLETON, ORE., PVT. JOSEPH BOONE, 831 BRADSHAW ST., INDIANAPOLIS, IND., AND SGT. WILLIAM FERRIGNO OF CAMDEN, N.J., WERE AMONG THE BOYS TAKING ALL THE GERMANS COULD THROW OUT.

AN ENGINEER PLATOON LED BY LT. JACK CHARLES OF FRUITA, COLO., BRAVED ENEMY FIRE TO GET UP THE FORTRESS OUTLETS AND PLANT DYNAMITE CHARGES IN THE ENTRANCES AND EXITS, SOME OF WHICH WERE 1,000 YARDS FROM THE MAIN DEFENSE POSITION.

OTHER REMARKS BY THE CONGRESSMEN INCLUDED:

REP. JOHN MARTIN COSTELLO (D-CALIF): "THE PEOPLE BACK IN THE UNITED STATES HAVEN'T THE LEAST IDEA OF THE TYPE OF FIGHTING IN ITALY. THAT SHOULD BE CORRECTED.

"IT IS QUITE EVIDENT THAT THERE IS GOING TO BE A LONG, HARD STRUGGLE, IF THE PEOPLE AT HOME KNEW, THEY WOULD BE A LITTLE LESS OPTIMISTIC. THEY WOULD REDOUBLE THEIR EFFORTS. THERE WOULD BE NO SHORTAGE OF AMMUNITION."

(FIELD MARSHAL SIR HAROLD ALEXANDER, COMMANDER IN CHIEF IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, ACKNOWLEDGED IN A STATEMENT LAST MONTH THAT THE ALLIED ASSAULT ON THE NAZI GOTHIC LINE HAD COME TO AN ALMOST COMPLETE HALT IN THE MUD OF THE PO VALLEY AND PEAKS OF THE APENNINES. ALEXANDER'S STATEMENT WAS PROMINENTLY PUBLISHED.

("I CAN'T TELL HOW LONG IT WILL TAKE TO DRIVE THEM OUT," HE SAID, "BUT IT WILL BE DONE." HE DECLARED THAT THE ORIGINAL PLAN FOR ATTACKING THE GOTHIC LINE HAD TO BE ALTERED BECAUSE OF THE WITHDRAWAL OF ALL FRENCH DIVISIONS AND SOME AMERICAN DIVISIONS FOR THE INVASION OF SOUTHERN FRANCE, ADDING "AT NO TIME DURING THE ITALIAN CAMPAIGN HAVE WE HAD ANY BUT A SLIGHT SUPERIORITY IN NUMBERS.")

REP. PAUL SHAFER: (R.-MICH.) "I AM GLAD TO SEE THAT THE MAJORITY AND MINORITY RECOGNIZE THERE IS NOT ENOUGH NEWS GETTING BACK HOME. WE SHOULD BE GIVEN MORE TRUTH BACK HOME. WE HAVE GOT TO GET THE PEOPLE OVER THE IDEA THAT THE WAR IS OVER."

DEC 17 1944

REP. CHARLES H. ELSTON (R-OHIO): "I THINK THE PEOPLE ARE NOT GETTING ALL THE NEWS BACK HOME AND THE BOYS OVER HERE ARE NOT GETTING THE NEWS OF HOME. I THINK SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE TO SEE THEY GET MORE NEWS. I DON'T THINK THE FAULT LIES WITH NEWSPAPER MEN AND WOMEN. SOMEWHERE THERE IS A BLUE PENCIL. I WOULD LIKE TO SEE SOME AMERICAN NEWSPAPER ISSUE EDITIONS IN THE WAR THEATERS."

REP. ARTHUR WINSTED (D-MISS): "A GREAT JOB IS BEING DONE BY ALL. I AM MUCH IMPRESSED BY THIS THEATER."

AUSTRALIAN AND AMERICAN MEN AND HEAVY EQUIPMENT WENT TO WORK ON THE FIELD THE NIGHT OF INVASION DAY--LAST FRIDAY.

THE WORKERS WERE NOT HANDICAPPED BY MUD, SUCH AS WAS ENCOUNTERED ON LEYTE, SINCE THIS IS THE DRY SEASON FOR MINDORO.

THE JAPANESE FLED FROM SAN JOSE IN SUCH HASTE THEY LEFT BEHIND WARM BREAKFAST BOWLS OF RICE AND TINY CLAMS.

GENERAL DUNCKEL TOURED THE PERIMETER OF THE INVASION AREA THE SECOND DAY AND COUNTED A TOTAL OF SIX JAPANESE KILLED. THAT TOTAL HASN'T RISEN SINCE--NOT COUNTING ENEMY PILOTS SHOT DOWN.

LT.JACOB V.EDGE, DOWNINGTON, PA., OF AN ARMY ENGINEERING UNIT, SAID THE UNLOADING OF THE INVASION CONVOY AND THE CLEARING OF THE BEACHES WAS "BEAUTIFUL--THE BEST I'VE EVER SEEN."

THE DAY FOLLOWING THE FIRST INVASION WAVE, THE BEACHES WERE CLEARED. THERE WAS NO CONGESTION--NO PILES OF SUPPLIES, AS HAVE LITTERED OTHER ISLAND BEACHES.

AN AUSTRALIAN AIR FORCE CONSTRUCTION UNIT, WORKING ON THE SAN JOSE AIRFIELD, WAS PICKED FOR THE JOB. IT HAD ALREADY PROVED ITS ABILITY AT DARWIN, AITAPE AND MOROTAI.

THE UNIT INCLUDES A STARTLING VARIETY OF SPECIALISTS, FROM HEAVY MACHINERY OPERATORS TO ARCHITECTS, ENGINEERS, CARPENTERS, MECHANICS, BRICKLAYERS AND LANDSCAPE GARDENERS.

ITS BULLDOZERS WERE AT WORK THE FIRST NIGHT ON THE AIRFIELD.

EVERYWHERE THINGS MOVE WITH EQUAL SMOOTHNESS.

THE FIRST NIGHT CARL F.PLATE, RED CROSS FIELD DIRECTOR, WHOSE WIFE LIVES AT 27 WILSON ST., UNION, S.C., HAD A PHONOGRAPH PLAYING ON THE BEACHHEAD IN AN IMPROMPTU "JAM SESSION" OF POPULAR SWING BAND RECORDINGS.

SWEATING SOLDIERS TOOK TIME OUT FOR HOT COFFEE WHILE THEY LISTENED TO THE MUSIC.

A SMALL ENEMY BOMB WAS THE ONLY INCONVENIENCE.

PLATE SIMPLY MOVED HIS PHONOGRAPH A SHORT DISTANCE ALONG THE BEACH AND STARTED OVER.

ANTIAIRCRAFT BATTERIES ARE NOW PLACED AT ALL VITAL POINTS; DEFENSES OF THE INVASION PERIMETER ARE BEING STRENGTHENED AND PLANES WILL SOON BE LANDING AND TAKING OFF.

THE NAVY'S SPEEDY TORPEDO BOATS ARE PATROLLING NEARBY WATERS, BUT HAVE MADE NO REPORT OF CONTACT WITH ENEMY SURFACE CRAFT. THEY HAVE SHOT DOWN 11 JAPANESE PLANES TO DATE.

SAN JOSE IS A BEAUTIFUL COMMUNITY OF HOMES AND MANY OF THE RESIDENTS APPEAR WELL TO DO. SOME OF THEIR GUEST HOUSES ARE PALATIAL. THEY HAVE SUCH THINGS AS PRIVATE SWIMMING POOLS. THERE'S EVEN A BOWLING ALLEY.

THAT THE P-T SKIPPERS, LT. (JG) G.J.AZARIGIAN, 458 EDGEWOOD, HARTFORD,CONN., AND ENSIGN DUDLEY JOHNSON, KERRVILLE,TEX., FOLLOWED A POLICY OF INVESTIGATING BEFORE SHOOTING, EVEN IN ENEMY WATERS.

DEC 17 1944

THE TWO-MASTED FISHING BOAT HAD SERVED THE AMERICANS AND THEIR FRIENDS AS A GETAWAY CRAFT FROM THE JAPANESE HELD NORTHWEST LEYTE COAST.

RETURNING FROM A NIGHT PATROL, THE P-T BOATS SPOTTED THE UNIDENTIFIED CRAFT, VISIBLE AS ONLY A DARK SHADOW.

LT.AZARIGIAN SAID HE FIRED A FLARE WHICH "LIGHTED THE WHOLE AREA -- THEN I HOLLERED 'WHO ARE YOU?' WHEN I DID THAT ROWS OF HEADS BOBBED UP ALONG THE BOAT'S RAIL. YOU NEVER HEARD MORE HAPPY SHOUTING IN YOUR LIFE THAN WHEN THEY SAW WHO WE WERE."

THE RESCUED SOLDIERS TOLD THE P-T OFFICERS THEY HAD BEEN SENT ON RECONNAISSANCE PATROL DEEP INTO ENEMY TERRITORY ON LEYTE. JAPANESE THEY BYPASSED CLOSED IN BEHIND, CUTTING THEM OFF. THEY ESTIMATED THEY WERE SURROUNDED BY 1,500 JAPANESE.

THE TRAPPED SOLDIERS RAN OUT OF AMMUNITION, FOOD AND WATER AFTER A WEEK IN THE MOUNTAINS. THEIR RADIO SET WAS BROKEN.

FINALLY THEY MADE THEIR WAY TO THE COAST, THEIR ONLY AVENUE OF ESCAPE THE SEA. THERE THEY ENCOUNTERED THE SPANIARDS AND GUERRILLAS WHO TOOK THEM ABOARD THE 70-FOOT FISHING BOAT.

THE CROWDED LITTLE CRAFT WAS ONLY 800 YARDS OFF THE JAPANESE HELD SHORE WHEN IT WAS SIGHTED BY THE P-T BOATS.

"THERE WAS NO WIND," SAID LT.AZARIGIAN, "SO THE SAILBOAT WAS DRIFTING HELPLESSLY.

"IT WAS DAYLIGHT BEFORE WE COULD CARRY ALL OF THEM TO THE P-TS BY DINGHY AND RUBBER LIFE RAFT. WE NEVER EXPECTED TO REMAIN IN THOSE WATERS AFTER DAYLIGHT AND WE WERE REALLY AFRAID ENEMY PLANES WOULD SPOT US.

"IF IT HAD BEEN A FEW WEEKS AGO, WE WOULDN'T HAVE HAD A CHANCE OF GETTING BACK ALIVE," ENS.H.F.NORTON, 3357 BISHOP, TOLEDO,OHIO, AZARIGIAN'S EXECUTIVE OFFICER, SAID.

"IT WAS A STRANGE COLLECTION OF PEOPLE, WITH WOMEN AND CHILDREN AMONG THEM. THEY RANGED FROM BABES IN ARMS TO GRANDMOTHERS.

"WE BROUGHT 55 OF THEM IN. WITH OUR CREW OF 16, THAT MADE JUST ABOUT A RECORD FOR A P-T BOAT LOAD.

"WE SCRAPED TOGETHER SOME FOOD FOR EVERYBODY. THE CREW WENT WITHOUT BREAKFAST TO HELP.

"ONE WOMAN EXCLAIMED AT THE SIGHT OF BREAD: 'I HAVEN'T SEEN BREAD FOR THREE YEARS.'"

21ST BOMBER COMMAND, SAIPAN, DEC.18-(AP)-(VIA NAVY RADIO)-THE FIRST B-29 FORMATIONS ATTACKING NAGOYA THIS AFTERNOON FOUND THE CITY COMPLETELY OBSCURED BY OVERCAST, BUT THEY DROPPED THEIR BOMBS BY PRECISION INSTRUMENTS THROUGH THE CLOUDS.

THE RAIDERS KEPT GOING OVER UNTIL MID-AFTERNOON, HOWEVER, AND THE LAST TWO FORMATIONS FOUND THE CLOUDS DISSIPATED SUFFICIENTLY TO ENABLE THEM TO DROP THEIR EXPLOSIVES VISUALLY.

CREWS RETURNING TONIGHT REPORTED A CONSIDERABLE NUMBER OF FIGHTERS, PARTICULARLY AGAINST THE LATER UNITS, BUT COMPARATIVELY FEW SHOWED ANY AGGRESSION.

THE AIRMEN REPORTED A NUMBER OF FIRES IN NAGOYA'S INDUSTRIAL

WATERFRONT AREA. A 20-YEAR-OLD TAILGUNNER, CORP. VINCENT J. DI FILIPPI, (1037 SIXTY-FIRST ST.) BROOKLYN, N.Y., SAID HE COUNTED 19 COLUMNS OF SMOKE ALONG THE WATER FRONT "BEFORE SOME JAPANESE FIGHTERS CAME IN AND MADE ME LOSE COUNT."

SGT. CLARENCE CERES, HARVEY, ILL., CENTRAL FIRE CONTROL GUNNER IN A PLANE COMMANDED BY CAPT. PERSHING L.YON (CORRECT), TALLAHASSEE, FLA., SAID HE GOT IN SOME SHOTS AT AN ENEMY FIGHTER FROM 200 YARDS.

"I FIRED ALL SIX GUNS AT HIM--PUT IN 50 BURSTS AND HE FELL AWAY," SGT. CERES SAID.

TAIL GUNNER DI FILIPPI SAID HE SAW THE ENEMY PLANE, SMOKING, ROLL UPWARD, THEN DIVE STRAIGHT DOWN, STREAMING FIRE. GUNNER SGT. THOMAS BONVICINI, BRIDGEPORT, CONN., SAID ABOUT EIGHT FIGHTERS IN ALL ATTACKED BUT ONLY THIS ONE CAME CLOSE, THE OTHERS DIVING OUT WHENEVECTHE GOING GOT TOUGH.

LT.WILLIAM W.DOUDS, (457 TORRENCE ROAD,) COLUMBUS, OHIO, COPILOT FOR FIRST LT.STANLEY PIERCE, LOS ANGELES, COUNTED 30 FIGHTERS OF WHICH HE SAID SEVEN MADE PASSES. HE SAW ONE JAPANESE PLANE CATCH FIRE AND ROLL OVER.

THE GREAT SUPERFORTRESSES IN THEIR RAIDS TODAY AIMED ESPECIALLY AT NAGOYA'S AIRCRAFT FACTORIES.

MAJ.WILBUR E.HURLBUTT, GENEVA,N.Y., AND LT.DELBERT BARRON, BORGER,TEX., PILOTING EARLY B-29S OVER THE TARGET, CALLED IT RATHER UNEVENTFUL BOMBING THROUGH THE OVERCAST WITH FEW FIGHTERS AND MODERATE ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE.

DEC 17 1944

LATER FLIERS WHO GLIMPSED THE CITY WERE MORE ENTHUSIASTIC. THEY INCLUDED CAPT.JOHN H.BREWSTER, MANCHESTER,N.H., WHOSE WIFE LIVES AT (45 ST.PAUL'S PLACE) NEW ROCHELLE,N.Y., AND CAPT.JAMES B.LAMPLEY, HENDERSONVILLE,N.C.

BREWSTER SAID "I BELIEVE PHOTOGRAPHS WILL BEAR ME OUT WHEN I SAY THIS IS ONE OF THE BEST BOMBING MISSIONS I HAVE BEEN ON. OUR BOMBARDIER (2ND LT.THOMAS A.CUMMINS, WHEELING,W.VA.) REALLY LAID THEM ON."

LAMPLEY SAID DIFFICULT WINDS MADE IT ONE OF THE LONGEST AND MOST DIFFICULT MISSIONS HE HAS FLOWN.

"THE FIGHTERS WEREN'T BAD," HE SAID. "THERE WAS QUITE A BIT OF ACK-ACK BUT IT NEVER CAUGHT UP WITH US."

2ND LT.WALTER SIWEK, WILLIMANTIC,CONN., FLIGHT ENGINEER FOR CAP.YON SAID HE BELIEVED YOU'S PLANE RAN INTO HEAVIER FIGHTER OPPOSITION THAN THE OTHERS.

FOR TWO HOURS THE BIG PLANES FROM SAIPAN RANGED OVER THE IMPORTANT WAR INDUSTRY CITY IN THE HEART OF THE JAPANESE MAINLAND ON HONSHU ISLAND, DUPLICATING IN NUMERICAL STRENGTH THE DEVASTATING RAID THEY MADE ON THAT SAME TARGET DECEMBER 13.

(AT THE SAME TIME SUPERFORTS OF THE 20TH BOMBER COMMAND, STRIKING FROM AN ASIATIC BASE, BLASTED DOCKS AND STORAGE FACILITIES AT HANKOW, JAPANESE-OCCUPIED CHINESE CITY ON THE YANGTZE RIVER, WITH "GOOD" RESULTS, THE WAR DEPARTMENT SAID. THE CIRCUMSTANCES INDICATED THERE WERE UPWARDS OF 100 B-29'S IN THE RAID. ALL RETURNED TO THEIR BASE. THEY PROBABLY SHOT DOWN FIVE JAPANESE FIGHTERS AND DAMAGED SEVEN OTHERS.

(POSSIBLY 200 OF THE GIANT PLANES PARTICIPATED IN THESE OPERATIONS. THE JAPANESE SAID THERE WERE 70 IN THE NAGOYA RAID AND ADMITTED THEY HAD DONE DAMAGE, INCLUDING THE STARTING OF FIRES WHICH REQUIRED "RESOLUTE EFFORTS" BY AIR RAID DEFENSE WORKERS BEFORE THEY WERE PUT OUT.)

(A LATE WAR DEPARTMENT COMMUNIQUE IN WASHINGTON SAID THE SUPERFORTS STARTED "LARGE FIRES AT THE MITSUBISHI AIRCRAFT PLANT" IN THE NAGOYA RAID. THE CREWS WERE REPORTED AS OBSERVING "HEAVY EXPLOSIONS" IN THE PLANT. ONLY "SLIGHT" AERIAL INTERCEPTION AND "MODERATE" ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE WERE ENCOUNTERED AND ALL PLANES RETURNED.)

DEC 17 1944

WHILE THE SAIPAN PLANES WERE ON THEIR WAY, BRIG.GEN.HAYWOOD HANSELL, JR., COMMANDER OF THE 21ST, REPORTED THAT PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN AFTER THE DECEMBER 13 NAGOYA BOMBING SHOWED GREATER DAMAGE TO THE HATSUDOKI FACTORY OF THE MITSUBISHI AIRCRAFT WORKS THAN HAD BEEN EXPECTED.

TWO ASSEMBLY BUILDINGS OF 710,000 AND 656,00 SQUARE FEET WERE RESPECTIVELY 13.5 PER CENT AND 48 PER CENT BURNED OUT, HE SAID. TWO OTHERS OF 180,000 AND 216,000 SQUARE FEET WERE 70 AND 60 PER CENT GUTTED AND PRESUMABLY PUT OUT OF OPERATION. TWENTY-TWO SMALLER STRUCTURES WERE DESTROYED OR BADLY DAMAGED.

DESPITE THIS PHOTOGRAPHIC EVIDENCE OF DESTRUCTION, HANSELL SAID THE HATSUDOKI PLANT STILL WAS FAR FROM DESTROYED. HE CAUTIONED AGAINST OVER-OPTIMISM.

WEATHER REPORTS TODAY INDICATED CLEAR SKIES OVER NAGOYA, GIVING PROSPECTS FOR MORE PRECISION BOMBING. RECONNAISSANCE, HOWEVER, SHOWED THE JAPANESE HAD INSTALLED ADDITIONAL ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS THERE SINCE THE FIRST BIG RAID.

(JAPANESE REPORTS OF TODAY'S OPERATIONS SAID THERE HAD BEEN AN 18-HOUR SERIES OF SUPERFORT RAIDS, BEGINNING AT 9 P.M. SUNDAY, JAPAN TIME, WITH NAGOYA THE MAIN TARGET. BUT THE BIG PLANES ALSO FLEW OVER OSAKA, KOBE AND KYOTO, WITHOUT DROPPING BOMBS, AND APPEARED OVER NANKING, SEAT OF THE JAPANESE PUPPET GOVERNMENT IN CHINA.

(THE JAPANESE WIRELESS AGENCY SAID THE SUPERFORTS FEINTED TOWARD TOKYO AND THEN TURNED WESTWARD FOR NAGOYA, WHICH IS JAPAN'S GREATEST CENTER FOR THE PRODUCTION OF PLANES AND AIRCRAFT PARTS.

(THE ENEMY REPORTS MADE NO CLAIMS OF SHOOTING DOWN ANY OF THE SUPERFORTS).

DV415PCW

TWENTY-FIRST U.S. BOMBER COMMAND, SAIPAN, DEC.18-(AP)-WO SUPERFORTRESSES GAVE NAGOYA AN UNEASY NIGHT BEFORE TODAY'S SECOND AID IN FORCE BY THE BIG BOMBERS ON THAT IMPORTANT JAPANESE INDUSTRIAL ITY.

ONE B-29, COMMANDED BY CAPT. JAMES M.CAMPBELL, SUMMIT AVE. EXTENSION, GREENSBORO, N.C., BOMBED NAGOYA AT 10:15 LAST NIGHT. THE OTHER, COMMANDED BY LT.PAUL D.BOLTON, 1449 ROLLINS ROAD, TOLEDO, OHIO, BOMBED THE CITY SEVEN HOURS LATER.

CAPT. CAMPBELL SAID HE FOUND NAGOYA MOSTLY BLACKED OUT, WITH ONLY A FEW LIGHTS ALONG THE COAST.

"WE BUCKED AN 180-MILE CROSS WIND, SO STRONG WE SEEMED ALMOST STANDING STILL, AND WERE HELD OVER THE AREA 20 MINUTES," HE ADDED.

"THE JAPS FLICKED ON SEARCHLIGHTS AND THEN TURNED THEM OFF. ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE WAS MEAGER AND INACCURATE.

"WE BOMBED THE CENTER OF THE CITY. EIGHT MINUTES LATER WE BANKED TO THE RIGHT AND I COULD LOOK. I SAW AN AREA HALF A MILE LONG AND 200 YARDS WIDE BURNING IN A STRAIGHT BROAD LINE LIKE A RACE TRACK, WITH A TREMENDOUS FIRE ON ONE END. I COULD SEE IT ALL THE WAY TO THE COAST--ABOUT 50 MILES--BEFORE CLOUDS OBSCURED IT."

ONE OF CAPT.CAMPBELL'S ENGINES STARTED SPUTTERING DURING THE APPROACH TO THE TARGET AND CONTINUED ACTING UP ALL THE WAY HOME.

LT.BOLTON AT 4:45 NEXT MORNING FOUND THE AREA PRETTY WELL CLOUDED OVER BUT MADE A GOOD RUN. ONE GUNNER SAW BOMBS BURST. THE RED GLOW OF FIRES WAS VISIBLE AGAINST THE FIRE STARTED BY CAPT.CAMPBELL'S BOMBS, WHICH HAD PROBABLY BEEN EXTINGUISHED HOURS BEFORE.

Germans Halted On Northern Flank Of Offensive In Monschau Sector; Six Attacks Thrown Back

SOME AMERICANS STAND UNTIL OVERRUN BY TANKS RATHER THAN FALL BACK

Fighting On Front To The South, However, Is Called Fluid And Obscure, With Deep Enemy Penetrations Reported

DEC 18 1944

By J. W. GALLAGHER

South of Monschau, Dec. 19 (AP)—Veteran American troops, flung into one of the war's weirdest battles on a moment's notice, brought the German attack on the northern flank near here to a bloody halt today in a welter of wrecked tanks and dead men.

At least six German counterattacks were smashed.

Farther to the south the situation remained fluid and obscure, with deep German penetrations reported, but in this mountainous pine-covered area, where millions of snow-covered evergreens stand like Christmas trees, the German Elite Guard tank columns have been stopped and hurled back while their flying bombs still thunder overhead.

How it was done is one of the war's most fascinating battle stories.

Held Until Run Over

Some gallant Americans stood fast in their foxholes and allowed tanks actually to run over them rather than retreat. It was one of the most spectacularly courageous actions since a British Coldstream Guard unit in Tunisia two years ago this month fought a German Panzer attack outside Medjez el Bab until the tanks crushed them in their trenches.

Not all the actions in this bitter fighting are of such exemplary bravery, for there are other American formations which are cracking under the onslaught.

It is a front of wild confusion. Often officers and men who have been trapped for days behind the German lines smash their way back to the 1st Army side and bring with them fantastic tales of what they saw. Just as often these stories are greeted with calm disbelief by the tough veterans who have been fighting off the Germans and who now have succeeded in stabilizing this section of the front.

Road Changes Hands

There was a colonel who told us that if we went down a certain road we would be "corpses within an hour." But we drove down that same road for an hour and found the front still an hour away. The highway was as safe as New York's Fifth avenue and just as crowded.

Battles are being fought in the rolling, wooded front along roads on which Belgian refugees peddle one way on bicycles and long lines of guns and tanks go in the other direction.

The ground is snow-pocked, and a slight thaw has sent a steamy fog rising out of the trees, making the whole scene look like a subdivision of Dante's Inferno. Out of the fog come the thunder and whistle of shells. Out of the low-hanging clouds come the drone of hundreds of planes. Whose they are no one knows, because the pilots don't dare drop down for strafing. The clouds touch the top of the trees.

Hospital Overrun, Retaken

An American hospital south of here was overrun by a German tank column which pushed on, leaving some parachutists to load the nurses and wounded onto trucks for transfer to Germany.

Lieut. Col. Charles Horner, of Doylestown, Pa., an infantry battalion commander on reconnaissance, dashed into the town in a jeep. Two American half-tractors followed.

The hospital was recaptured intact in some fast gunplay that outdid any wild west thriller.

"The colonel sized up the situation and started shooting and the parachutists ran for it," declared Major William R. Washington, of Crozet, Va., a member of the small battalion.

DEC 18 1944

Wounded Evacuated Quickly

The wounded and hospital personnel then were evacuated hurriedly and Americans took over the town just in time to shoot up two jeeploads of Germans who drove into town in captured American vehicles.

Then more German tanks appeared, and American troops and tank-destroyers started slugging it out with them. The town now is firmly in American hands.

A few miles south of here, another group of tank destroyers knocked out three of five German tanks that they engaged in a furious three-hour fight.

The German infantry suffered heavy losses today for the first time since their offensive started.

Baltimore Major Quoted

"The pushing days for those Krauts are finished around this sector. If there is any pushing to be done, we will do it," declared Major Albert H. Smith, of 522 Chateau avenue, Baltimore.

American losses also have been heavy, as shown by crowded aid stations. Many men are being picked up after hiding in the woods behind the German lines two or three days.

At one station Sergt. Ronald Johnson, of Creekside, Pa., had just helped two wounded men from behind the German lines.

Caked with mud and weaving on his feet from lack of sleep, he said: "When the attack started, artillery hit our company command post, killing everyone but another fellow and myself. The Germans took us prisoner but some of our boys counterattacked and we escaped into the woods.

30. 24 - 21377

30. 24 — 21377

Made Their Way Back

"We made our way back to our unit—or what's left of it—and the boys dug in again when we were attacked by big German tanks.

"Some of the boys stood right in there fighting until the tanks ran over their foxholes and crushed them.

"I got away again with two wounded boys. By keeping to the woods, I was able to bring them into our lines. That's all, I guess."

In the same station, two weary scouts dozed against the wall. They were Private Walter Malenofsky, of South River, N.J., and Sergt. Edward Stozenback, of 1 Tyrone street, Baltimore, whose unit fought a rear-guard action through territory they had captured only two days before.

"We had captured twelve pillboxes before they hit us and we had to start back, but we destroyed them all as we fell back," Malenofsky said.

"It was all mixed up. We kept fighting and retreating and then fighting and retreating again."

New Attacks Beaten Back

Capt. William Bartlett, of El Paso, Texas, declared: "This front has been stabilized for several miles now. The Germans have launched several counterattacks today, but we have beaten them all back."

The front has been stabilized in this area by Americans going down roads until they met the Germans and then slugging it out. The skirmishes are won by the men who shoot first and the straightest. Where the front has been stabilized it has been done on the spot in blood and steel.

It is apparent that Field Marshal von Rundstedt's attack was cunningly conceived. At first he pushed out small units along a 50-mile front attempting to engage as many American units as possible and then he shot over power punches at several selected spots.

South of here one of these power punches carried forward several miles in the first day. Another was supposed to go through the sector where I am now. It was stopped cold last night and today. Hour by hour, the Germans are finding the going harder.

Armor in Attempt To Stem the Tide

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris —(AP)— The German Christmas counter-offensive on the Western Front assumed the proportions of an attempted major breakthrough last night as the first frontline dispatches trickling through a news blackout disclosed that the U. S. First Army was massing infantry and armor in an effort to stabilize the front.

Despite the Americans' desperate holding fight, the enemy's tank-led battering ram continued probing into Belgium and Luxembourg on a front of approximately 70 miles extending from above Monschau in the north to the vicinity of Echternach in the south.

The Germans apparently were hammering with the same fury that in the first three days of the assault rolled back the First Army at least 20 miles at one point.

Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher said the Nazi advance had been halted south of Monschau yesterday in bloody fighting during which "some gallant doughboys stood fast in their foxholes and let themselves actually be run over by the Nazi tanks without retreating."

But further south the situation still remained fluid and obscure, Gallagher said.

Supreme headquarters maintained its own strict news censorship, but promised a full and truthful account of the reverse on the First Army front would be given the public at the earliest moment consistent with military security.

A front dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent William F. Boni said "General Hodges was throwing all available forces into the effort to stem the "most serious setback to American arms on this side of the world since Kasserine Pass in Tunisia."

Boni said the main German effort had been fairly well channelized and contained on its flanks but that the enemy spearhead still was probing into Belgium, with elements of crack divisions providing the impetus. The press camp was evacuated to the rear during the night.

Late yesterday an emergency call brought a big force of U. S. Flying Fortresses and British Lancasters from British fields to spread 2,000 tons of fragmentation and high explosive bombs on rail and road junctions immediately behind the attacking Nazi forces.

They were forced to bomb through thick ground-clinging clouds and fog which shrouded the blazing 60-mile front and denied the hard-pressed doughboys the invaluable support of fighters and fighter-bombers.

As Von Rundstedt's battering ram smashed into the deeply-dented American line south of Aachen, Allied headquarters imparted only the terse information that "the attack is continuing." This curtain of silence appeared to indicate that the enemy's forward momentum had not been halted. The Germans still were packing the roads with equipment and men.

The German high command declared that Nazi tank forces "have broken through, smashed and dispersed units of the American First Army deep into the enemy rear." Like the Allies, however, the Germans dealt only in generalities.)

Up to last night the only specific clue as to the extent of the German penetration was the report that British Typhoons had attacked a score of enemy armored vehicles "west of Stavelot," a town 22 miles by road from the Reich frontier. Stavelot is 9½ miles southwest of Malmedy and 2 miles from the fortress city of Liege.

Despite the terrific enemy pressure against its right, the First Army sustained its pressure along the Roer River east of Aachen, sending patrols across the stream into the Nazi stronghold of Duren, 20 miles from Cologne.

Fog rolled like grey surf along the Ninth Army front just to the north, while ever-increasing floods in Holland limited the British and Canadians to patroling. Clouds clung to the treetops.

German resistance stiffened markedly all along the Siegfried Line from Luxembourg to Switzerland and it was plain that the Allied winter offensive had been fought to a temporary standstill.

General Patton's Third Army lines remained practically unchanged—his gains dwindled to almost nothing after 41 days of steady advances.

The Seventh Army of General Patch hammered at Siegfried defenses along a 20-mile front westward from the Rhine in the Bavarian Palatinate, but met savage opposition and registered no gains of consequence. The Americans' every move was being furiously and accurately fired upon by Nazi artillery which was registered on every foot of terrain.

German observation planes ranged thickly over the Third Army front with every break in the weather, bombing and strafing American movements and obviously making a supreme effort to prevent any possible transfer of forces to the threatened First Army front.

In Belgium the once-happy civilians who just 10 weeks ago kissed their American liberators were reported standing mute in the village streets, watching the Yanks retreat.

Paris, Dec. 19 (AP) — American doughboys and tanks struck back today at the German counteroffensive that had cut twenty miles into Belgium, while to the north 1st Army patrols had crossed the Roer River barrier into Duren.

American blows to stabilize the front were thrown in as the bold Nazi push probed into Belgium and Luxembourg on a 60-mile front.

The 1st Army maintained pressure on the Cologne front despite the menacing counteroffensive. Just before noon yesterday patrols of the 83d Division's 329th Regiment crossed the Roer and pushed into Duren, stronghold city twenty miles from Cologne. (LONG)

Nazi Success Reported

Supreme headquarters imposed security silence on the powerful German counteroffensive, but a 1st Army dispatch said one German tank thrust below Monschau "had some success in a frontal push," with the Germans being contained on some sectors.

The Germans were striking from above Monschau to near Echternach. The deep plunge into Belgium carried a broad flanking threat to Aachen.

The German onslaught was powered by massed reserves and supported by a new vengeance weapon of an undisclosed type. Supreme headquarters was silent on details of the battle.

20 Miles Inside Belgium

But the Germans at one point were twenty miles or more inside Belgium and 25 miles south and slightly west of Aachen. An air report told of British Typhoons shooting up Nazi armored vehicles "west of Stavelot," which lies eighteen airline miles and nearly 22 by road from the German border.

The 1st Army line had been wedged back fifteen miles or more at this point. The enemy assault driving in at Stavelot may have been launched from somewhere west of the Reich border.

The 1st Army patrols sent into Duren felt out one of the main strongholds on the Cologne plain. The Germans had pulled back to the east bank of the Roer on a broad front above and below Duren after weeks of costly battle.

Heavy Artillery Fire

Heavy German artillery fire fell on the 1st and 9th Army fronts. Ninth Army men in the Linnich area above Duren mopped up the towns of Wurm and Mullendorf.

Along the southern sector of the long Western front, the United States 7th Army hacked at stubborn German resistance along a line running twenty miles northwest from the Rhine. German artillery was extremely active. West of Bitche, 7th Army men battled to overcome two Maginot forts. Two towns were taken in a two-mile gain northwest of Wissembourg.

Farther west the 3d Army mopped up all but the factory district of Dillingen, and cleaned up strongpoints in Roden, suburb of Saarlautern. Small gains were scored east and northeast of Saareguemines.

The crucial battle was centered on the 1st Army sector, and fighting still was heavy and costly.

Here the 1st Army was fighting desperately, with magnificent air support. The Germans swept to Stavelot in a day and a half.

The news blackout was 24 hours old. This was the second time that news silence had been imposed over an Allied reverse—the first was at Arnhem. It was the first time a news ban had been imposed on the American front for reasons other than to mask great United States advances.

Berlin said Hitler himself had planned this recoil drive, upon which may hinge the outcome of the whole Western campaign.

24 Miles From Liege

Stavelot is but 24 miles from the fortress city of Liege, and four and a half miles southwest of Malmedy. The situation at Malmedy and other towns in line of the drive was shrouded in silence.

The circumstances hardly call for easy optimism. The foe's "risk-all" drive could, by a deep wedge, threaten lateral communications between the Allied northern and central fronts. But, on the other hand, the Germans are pushing into a pocket of their own making—a hazard so obvious that Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt, or perhaps even Hitler, must have weighed the danger long before committing the German forces in such strength.

The Germans have tried this same desperate game before—and both were times when Hitler had snatched control from his generals. He attempted it once in Africa and again about a year ago in the Ukraine with the famed but futile "Iron Avalanche" counteroffensive intended to gain back Kharkov and split the Red Army offensive.

Air Power Vital Factor

Against this latest drive, Allied air power may again tip the scales, as it did at Avranches and in the Falaise gap.

The weather was bad today, but it was also bad yesterday when British and American fighter-bombers gave German armor one of its heaviest batterings. Revised United States 9th Air Force figures claimed 112 German tanks, half-tracks and other vehicles destroyed or damaged yesterday, trimming earlier estimates of 95 smashed and 26 destroyed. The British did not report their total for the day.

One pilot described the havoc left from the aerial attacks, made through low clouds and hailstorms, as the greatest destruction of German armor since the battle of the Falaise Gap in Normandy last summer, when the German 7th Army went to its death.

Nazis Lose 46 Planes

Rundstedt was apparently throwing in his whole arsenal. German planes were aloft again by the hundreds along the United States 9th Army front, as well as over the dented 1st Army lines. The Germans lost at least 46 planes, bringing their total losses for two days to close to 200. Eleven American fighter-bombers were missing yesterday.

The 1st and 9th Army fronts were athunder with anti-aircraft fire and the explosions of new type V-weapons which the Nazis hurled against forward as well as rear areas, a front dispatch said. Official censorship did not permit a description of this new weapon.

A British correspondent at the front said the 1st Army was not being pushed back but was "being torn up in battle or not budging."

Meanwhile, from Washington came casualty figures showing that the American offensive in November had been costly. The November casualties were 57,775—almost one fourth of the total American losses on the Western Front since D-day.

1ST ARMY SPLIT, GERMANS SAY

Strong Reserve Forces Still Available, Berlin Asserts

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Berlin claimed tonight that the United States 1st Army had been "cut in two" by the German counteroffensive employing "more than two divisions" on the Western front and said that the attack was planned personally and was being directed by Hitler.

Although a news blackout on military developments was maintained by the Germans as it was by the Allies, Berlin broadcasts to listeners both within the Reich and abroad said that strong German reserves were available to keep up the momentum of the drive despite "considerable losses in the last few months."

"It is clear that more than two divisions have been flung into the attack," a German Army broadcast said, "but how big our reserves are and where they are placed is known only to the Führer and a few selected persons."

Hitler Reported Well

Without giving details, another broadcast said that German armor had cut Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges's army in two and, for the first time, gave definite indication that the idea behind the offensive was to stabilize the entire Western front by beating the Allies to the punch.

The whole secret of Hitler's silence now is revealed, a German announcer told German forces in the west.

"The Führer is excellent," he said. "In all tranquillity we let the enemy guess, lie and provoke because we didn't want to tell the world the reason the Führer surrounded himself with a veil of silence—because he planned and prepared the German offensive during these last days and weeks to the last detail."

Sertorius Comments

Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, German military commentator, asserted that as a result of the counterblows, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would have to use reserves he has been building up for "purely offensive purposes" and added:

"Eisenhower, the man who has been regarded as the prototype of methodical warfare, has been coerced to take improvised methods of defense. Necessarily, he is bound to weaken his assault armies and now draw on them, among them the 1st Canadian and the 2d British armies."

At the same time, the German DNB news agency reported that British forces were preparing to launch a mass attack on the Roer River front in collaboration with the left wing of the 1st American Army.

Withdrawal In South

The German withdrawal from their Siegfried Line positions on the Alsatian frontier between the Rhine and the South Palatinate woods was admitted by Wolfgang Rohbeil, a frontline German war correspondent, who said, "the enemy is closely pressing on our heels with mobile and tank forces."

The Germans still were cautious in predictions on the results of the counteroffensive. The German Army newspaper Front und Heimat said only "Whatever the outcome of this offensive, the aim of which is not known to us, perhaps it has shown us that things are moving. We are about to make a return."

From Berlin

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—The German high command declared today that Nazi tank forces "have broken through, smashed and dispersed units of the American 1st Army deep into the enemy rear."

The broadcast German communiqué said that American tanks hurled against the advancing Germans were repulsed "during a night tank battle."

Attacks Continue

"Our troops continued attacks along the whole front," the communiqué added.

The bulletin declared 24 aircraft were shot down by Nazi fighters and bombers.

Press dispatches received in Stockholm from Berlin declared that the Germans were comparing their current Western front operation with the Russian counterdrive in 1941 that hurled the Nazis back from the gates of Moscow.

"Christmas Offensive"

A German spokesman who made the comparison was quick to add, however, that it could not be considered likely to create such a "turning point" in the fortunes of war as did the 1941 Soviet winter attack.

The Berlin dispatches received in Stockholm were generally cautious, but stressed that the home front was pleased at the news the high command was able to launch a "Christmas offensive" after so many months of bad news.

The announcement coincided with the issuance of Christmas rations of 50 grams (less than two ounces) of coffee and a half bottle of schnapps.

Shell Superiority

A Berlin correspondent for the Stockholms Tidningen reported that the first evidence of something afoot on the Western front came three days ago, when the German military declared its artillery was able to fire more shells than the Allies for the first time since the invasion began.

The correspondent quoted from a recently published German review of the fighting in the West, which declared that the Allies were suffering losses of 6,000 killed and wounded daily, and that the United States 9th Army had won a 15-mile advance at a cost of 300,000 casualties.

NEWS OF 1ST ARMY HELD UP FOR SECURITY

Full Account Is Promised By SHAEF At Earliest Possible Moment

Supreme Allied Headquarters, Paris, Dec. 19 (AP) — The full and truthful account of the reverses on the American 1st Army front will be given the public at the earliest moment consistent with military security, supreme headquarters promised tonight.

The statement was in answer to protests of American and British correspondents against the news blackout imposed on the German counteroffensive in Belgium and Luxembourg.

There was no indication, however, as to how soon any part of the story would be brought into the open, and no likelihood that the restrictions would be removed within the next 24 hours.

Correspondents here were told that the news ban was imposed upon the specific direction of Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, commanding the 1st Army, with the concurrence of supreme headquarters.

Hodges's Approval Awaited

The blackout, it was said, would not be lifted until Hodges agreed that Allied disclosures would not be giving the Germans information on the extent and location of the penetrations, which they might not otherwise know definitely due to the fluid battle and extended communications.

Correspondents expressed the view that it should be possible at least to give an account of the first day's developments in the counteroffensive, declaring it unlikely to assume that the German command was not now fully aware of its gains on Sunday. The question was raised whether continuance of the blackout was now due entirely to security or stemmed in part from actual inability to communicate between SHAEF and 1st Army headquarters.

Nazis Using V-3 Rocket To Aid Offensive in West

Variant of V-2 Is Smaller and Is Fired at Shorter Range

CLEVELAND, Dec. 19 (AP).—Major General Levin H. Campbell, chief of Army ordnance, disclosed today that the new secret German "V" weapon used by the Nazis in their current western front offensive is a variant of the V-2 rocket which bombed London.

At a press conference, General Campbell described the new weapon, which he termed the "V-3 or V-4," as wingless, capable of speed greater than sound, but smaller than the V-2. The smaller size, he said, was for use at much shorter ranges than the V-2.

The ordnance chief said that some of the new rockets, which, like the V-2, soar into the stratosphere, were captured and were under examination by Army experts.

of sleep in a small Belgian home near the still raging battle, Doherty told with wry humor of his epic stand.

Gets Action In A Jiffy

"We moved down to the line after an all-night trip and didn't get into position until 6 o'clock this morning," he said. "The battle started at 6.05, and once we started we kept firing until noon—just as our help came up."

Against this small force of two guns and one infantry company came battering at least a full battalion of German infantry and 22 or more tanks.

"It was still dark and I sent one of my three-inch anti-tank guns across a stream at the edge of the town to try to hold a wooden bridge there. We did hold it until daybreak, when machine gunners drove us away, but we retook it by 8 o'clock—but we lost it again at 9. It was burning when we finally pulled back at noon," Doherty said.

"Their machine gunners and snipers gave us hell from the very start. The Jerries were firing at us from houses which we discovered later were fortified pillboxes.

"We put thirteen direct hits at 800 yards through one house and after we found we were getting trouble from several of them we just cracked down on the whole row. An anti-aircraft outfit helped us spray them and we set six houses aflame.

"At 10 o'clock I got another of my guns up and had both set up in cobblestoned streets 300 yards apart when four Royal Tiger tanks came nosing down the street. We were ready and with the first shots each of my guns set one Tiger ablaze.

"Nobody came out of one tank put a shell squarely through the turret," said Doherty. "Nobody climbed out."

During the fight another Tiger moved up and knocked out Doherty's halftrack and set his jeep on fire. To save his men Doherty ordered them back.

He managed to pull back one gun with the help of Sergt. Louis Celanto, of New Haven, Conn.; his corporal, Gunner Roy Ables, of Cleveland, Tenn., and the rest of the crew.

To protect them, the leading gun commanded by Sergt. Martin Hauser, of Los Angeles, and Gunner Corporal Paul Lanzo, Newark, N.J., continued to engage the well-placed Tiger.

Two Stick By Gun

"Hauser and Lenzo didn't want their buddies killed, so they ordered them to stand flank guard and then stuck by the gun themselves," said Doherty. "They were squarely in the middle of the street and stood exposed to fire, shot for shot with the Tiger, for ten rounds.

"That gave us time to get the other gun away. Then Hauser and Lenzo destroyed their own gun so the Germans wouldn't get it and made their way back afoot six miles to headquarters.

"When he got back our platoon sergeant, Vester O. Lowe, of Sarasota, Fla., raised himself from his bunk and remarked: 'Hitler would be damned unhappy if he knew those two guns which caused so much trouble to his pet tanks were commanded by an Italian and German—Celanto and Hauser.'"

Political Aims Seen In Timing Of Drive

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Observers in this war capital today were in general agreement that the German counteroffensive was timed carefully to have the greatest possible political effects on Allied home fronts as well as being an effort to upset General Eisenhower's offensive plans on the battlefront.

Staged while civil warfare was going on in Greece and the Russian-Polish question is being sharply debated, the Germans may have struck sooner than they originally had planned in order to add a military setback to other current Allied problems.

Effect Of Casualty Lists

The Germans also hope, it is believed, that large Allied casualty lists might have a depressing effect on home fronts.

"The German push today, unlike that of 1918, is not an attack but a counterattack," the Daily Mail said. "Its object is not by itself to win the war but to prolong it to a point at which the Allies may be induced to offer terms. More important still, their object is to create further dissension among the United Nations and to dishearten Allied peoples."

Lesson In War

The Daily Herald, observing that the Allies are being taught a lesson in the hazards of war, added that "the full defeat of Fascism requires a military victory and a positive political strategy."

The Daily Express said the attack may be welcomed in so far as destruction of Germans is more important than loss of territory, providing the territory lost is not big enough to affect the Allied plans.

Nazis Holding French Ports Tie Up Yanks

Paris, Dec. 19 (AP)—German-held pockets at Lorient and St. Nazaire on France's west coast are exerting an influence on the great battle raging in Belgium by tying down thousands of American troops originally intended for that front.

These troops were diverted to the pocket areas as an emergency measure to relieve armored units operating in the marshy country around the two ports.

It was felt that the low terrain was more suitable to infantry than tanks, and the commanding general was told his forces were needed to "clear up a quick job" before being reassigned to the main Allied front.

Enemy Bottled Up

These forces now are bottling up 50,000 Germans who occupied the ports as a part of the general plan to deny all principal French ports to Allied use. Brest and St. Malo have been taken, but the Lorient, St. Nazaire, La Rochelle and Bordeaux areas are still blocked by a total of 100,000 Germans.

Thus at a critical moment in the Reich's history this long-range German plan, conceived before D-day but largely nullified by the swift Allied advance, is paying dividends by immobilizing thousands of United States Army troops.

2 U.S. Anti-Tank Guns Stop Nazis 6 Hours

A Belgian Village Under German Attack, Dec. 18 [AP—Delayed]—Two American anti-tank guns commanded by Lieut. Jack Doherty, 27, of Latrobe, Pa., knocked out four German Tiger tanks in a flaming street battle today and for six hours held up an armored column spearheading the Nazi offensive in this sector.

Doherty and his men, supported only by a single company of doughboys, bore the brunt of sledgehammer thrusts by the vanguard of the German armored smash.

Standing hollow-eyed from lack and only two men got out of the other. They ran into a house and climbed on the roof—so we shot the roof off right out from under them.

"A third German tank came around a corner and both my guns trained on it and hit it simultaneously. The Tiger bounced back just like a man hit square in the nose by big fist. The crew took shelter in a house and we tore it apart with fifteen rounds and wiped them out—and most of the house with them."

The fourth Tiger backed along the road like a blind beetle.

"We finally got a line on it and

30. 24 — 21379

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP).—With the German Army driving back into Belgium, Belgian civilians are hurriedly scrubbing from walls and buildings slogans derogatory to the Nazis, front dispatches said today.

One correspondent told of seeing a man hastily washing from the side of his home a picture of Adolf Hitler receiving a kick in the pants. The Belgians, he said, were stunned by the turn of events.

Himmler Said to Command Germans in Colmar Area

By The Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN SEVENTH ARMY, in Germany, Dec. 19—Heinrich Himmler is personally directing the Germans in the Colmar-Mulhouse pocket and on the Alsatian plain, reports received by the Seventh Army said.

The Gestapo chieftain was said to have come to the Alsatian plain to urge the German forces there to resist as strongly as possible to relieve pressure on the Siegfried Line to the north. The Germans have recently reinforced their troops in this area.

Marshal Rundstedt Reported Wounded

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Stockholms Tidningen said today that Field Marshal von Rundstedt had been "slightly wounded," according to a dispatch reported to the OWI.

The Swedish newspaper said Rundstedt was reported to be dissatisfied with the German offensive in the West because "too large reserves have been lost from the beginning."

"Rundstedt at first definitely refused to start this hazardous offensive, which would demand the entire German army's fighting capacity," the dispatch said.

According to the "German Officers' Opposition," the Swedish newspaper declared, the order for the German counteroffensive was issued by Interior Minister Heinrich Himmler and not by Hitler, as widely published in Germany.

Much Staked on One Card.

Berne, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The German High Command has increased the strength of its western offensive in a gigantic effort to recapture Aachen and drive the Allied forces from German soil, the Berlin correspondent of the Basler Nachrichten said today. The correspondent was permitted to report that much concerning the Nazi counter-offensive, but detailed information was withheld by Military Security Control.

He said there was no doubt in Berlin that "a great deal has been staked on one card," and that "consequently, great results are awaited." Neutral observers agree that if the Allied armies can be pushed back across the German border the Nazi will to fight on will be enhanced.

LUFTWAFFE USING ITS 'GAS' RESERVES

Twenty-first Army Group Headquarters, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The German air force is dipping into its gasoline reserves at the rate of 630,000 gallons a week in the current counter-offensive, and "the Boche will find it difficult to keep up," a R. A. F. officer said today.

But German planes roared in great strength over the American sector yesterday and carried out sporadic hit-run raids on widely scattered British-Canadian sectors in Holland. Supporting the Americans, the R. A. F. flew more than 550 sorties over American sectors, but German flyers repeatedly refused to give battle.

Under the combined American and British air assault, German ground troops are taking a terrible punishment. The state of their nerves was reflected in a captured German order declaring: "The super-sensitivity of our troops to enemy aircraft must be overcome."

So battle-hardened Americans who chased the Germans out of France and fought them on their own soil are taking a hand in a new war well behind the present front lines.

War Against Pilfering

It is a war against pilfering of supplies en route from ports or beaches to the battlelines and the "shock troops" who are beginning to win it are new military police battalions composed largely of officers and men who have recovered from wounds but are not fit for heavy combat.

They are guarding supply trains rolling hundreds of miles to the front.

It has been found that men who themselves suffered shortages at the front as the result of pilfering now are the best watchdogs for the supply trains. Every train departing from a beachhead or port for the front now is "personally conducted" by enough of these MP's to frustrate the various devices used by pilferers.

Credited In Theft Reduction

Hard-boiled, they are given credit for cutting thefts down to manageable proportions. Once these thefts had reached a point where black-market operators got almost a bigger share of some trainloads than did the frontline troops.

The Army has learned that it also needs battle-hardened men where policing jobs call for special tact and understanding.

A considerable number of these new MP's from the frontlines also are assigned to Paris, where frontline soldiers naturally gravitate on leave.

Experienced In Reactions

Because the MP's themselves are experienced in battle strain, wounds and muddy boredom, they know how to handle these men who are eager for relaxation.

The black market, however, provides most of the headaches. There are more angles to it than legs to a centipede.

Bootleg currency is one. The franc officially is valued at 50 to the dollar. But bootleggers are willing to give four or five times that much, while black marketers are eager to trade francs for American cigarettes, soap, coffee, candy and foodstuffs.

Examples Given

As an example of comparative values, I hired a bicycle taxi for what in New York would have been a 50-cent ride. I was given the choice of paying 200 francs ($4) or two package of cigarettes. A cup of American coffee in a Paris café costs 60 frnacs ($1.20).

All this is a tremendous temptation and opportunity for wholesale black marketers whose operations are running into millions of dollars.

A curious sidelight is that 500 franc notes brought in by Allied troops and circulating since D-day already are getting heavy competition from counterfeit notes. One gang was exposed when it tried to bribe a GI to act as a middle man.

Army Fights In Rear, Too, To Halt Thefts In France

Paris, Dec. 4 [AP — Delayed]—Gasoline has been hijacked at the point of a gun on Paris streets as liquor was hijacked in the United States during prohibition.

Pilfering of vitally needed American Army supplies, particularly rations and gasoline, reached such proportions that it seriously menaced military operations.

More Fags For Troops Slated Christmas Eve

Supreme Allied Headquarters, Paris, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Army is playing Santa Claus to its American personnel in the communications zone by increasing its weekly cigarette ration from two to five packages, effective Christmas Eve.

Adding an even brighter note to the military observance of the season was the announcement from zone headquarters that when stocks have reached the necessary level, the normal ration of seven packages a week will be restored.

Paris Pledges Aid to Colonists

Paris, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—Speaking in a dedicatory address as the French radio began regular broadcasts to Indo-China, Colonial Minister Paul Giacobbi declared last night that France intends to give all possible assistance in ousting the Japanese from that French colony.

French News Agency Hit

Paris Socialist Paper Says A. F. P. Keeps Public "Badly Informed"

PARIS, Dec. 19 (AP).—In a front-page editorial today the Socialist "Populaire" demanded more and better news sources than the semi-official Agence France Presse. It argued that the agency is keeping the public "badly informed" on events abroad.

Comparing the pre-war diversity of news sources with what it called a "monopoly in fact" enjoyed by A. F. P., "Populaire" urged greater impartiality and objectivity on the part of the French agency. "Otherwise," it said, "our press is no longer free in every sense of the word."

A. F. P. is supported by the French government, but "Populaire" said that its "monopoly" was an outgrowth of current communications difficulties, not government legislation.

Brig. Gen. Griswold Wins Legion Of Merit

U.S. Strategic Air Forces Headquarters in Europe, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Legion of Merit has been awarded to Brig. Gen. Francis H. Griswold, 39-year-old chief of staff of the United States 8th Air Force's 2d Bombardment Division, headquarters of the United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe announced today.

Griswold, formerly commander of a United States 8th Air Force fighter unit, was decorated for "outstanding services" as head of the fighter group and for his "conception of his responsibilities." The citation said "his sincere devotion to duty contributed directly to the victorious culmination of the great battle fought with the Luftwaffe."

General Griswold has been an air forces officer since 1929 and has been in the European theater since July, 1943. He is a graduate of Ohio State University. His wife and two daughters presently are living in Harrodsburg, Ky. His parents live in Erie, Pa.

REDS ENCIRCLE KASSA SECTOR

Pierce Blockhouse Network Around Slovak Hub

London, Wednesday, Dec. 20 (AP). Bursting through a network of trenches and blockhouses within 9 miles of the Czechoslovak communications hub of Kassa, the Red Army yesterday threw a siege arc around that hinge position of the German defenses and cut the road-rail escape route to the southwest.

The drive on Kassa was the high spot of a day of general advances on a front of more than 80 miles in southern Slovakia and northern Hungary, the Moscow broadcast communiqué disclosed, with gains as much as 8 miles and entries into Slovakia at many new points.

Kill 400 To Take Village

In capturing the village of Senya, alone, 9 miles south of Kassa, the Russians killed 400 Germans and Hungarians and captured more than 2,000, it was announced.

They thrust within 8 miles of the frontier south of Losonc in a series of fighting maneuvers that promised quickly to give them a solid front of 140-odd miles from Kassa on the east to Ipoly-Sag on the west.

Pressing through thick forests in mountainous country, the Russians captured 24 Slovak towns. The closest announced approaches to the city were at Davidov, 18 miles northeast; Dargov and Kerestur, 13 miles east and southeast; Senya, 9 miles south, and Perin, 11 miles southwest.

Thrust Across Border

Twenty miles southwest of Kassa the Russians thrust across the Hungarian border and took the railway station of Turnava and the adjacent highway town of Turna, cutting that chance of escape for the Germans in Kassa.

In advancing on Kassa the Russians announced that on the east and southeast alone they took prisoner 2,044 Germans and Hungarians in the three days ended Monday, and added another 1,600 to the bag Monday in the push into Slovakia south of Losong from the area north of Miskolc, Hungary.

There was no official word of developments in the continuing siege of Budapest or on any other sections of the Eastern front.

A Moscow radio broadcast, however, said the Soviet forces before Budapest had almost completely surrounded the Hungarian capital, while the German radio said a new Soviet offensive was impending in the Lake Balaton area southwest of Budapest, where the 3d Ukraine Army was regrouping for a renewed push toward Vienna.

Nazi Peril Grows In Slovakia

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Russian troops swarmed across the Czechoslovak frontier from northeastern Hungary today on a widening front, threatening early collapse of the entire German salient in eastern Slovakia, between Poland and Hungary.

Driving down out of the Kecske Mountains Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2d Ukrainian Army gained up to twelve miles and poured into the broad Bodva and Hernad River valleys leading to Kassa, the enemy's major east Slovak stronghold.

Two Miles From Escape Route

By yesterday, Moscow said, one of Malinovsky's columns already was within two miles of the Germans' southern highway escape route out of Kassa. Once it is cut the garrison in Hungarian-annexed Kassa would be able to flee only through the patriot-infested Czechoslovak mountains.

By Russian and German account the Red army was closing in on Kassa from three directions. Moscow placed vanguards within fourteen miles on the southwest and eleven and a half miles on the southeast, while Berlin reported other units attacking fifteen miles to the east.

Cross North Of Miskolc

One of the more extensive new crossings of the border occurred in the Horvaty-Janok-Buzita area, 30 miles north of Miskolc and south of the communications center of Moldava. It was here that the Russians, already two miles beyond the border, were approaching the enemy's highway escape route to the west.

The Russians also advanced into Slovakia, in the area of captured Banreve, 23 miles northwest of Miskolc. There they seized the rail station of Kamenec, on the Slana River.

Russian infantrymen were fighting within five and a half miles of Budapest, but there was no official word of new gains there.

PO ES DELAY OVER FRONTIER

Feeling Growing That Commitment Is Not Urgent

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—A feeling is growing in Polish circles here that there is no urgency for Poland's exiled Government to make a commitment on the frontier question, sources close to the Cabinet of Premier Tomasz Arciszewski said today.

This view appeared to be general among Polish officials, who apparently have reached a point where they believe there is little left for them to salvage.

The Government's officially stated view is that there be a "free and independent Poland," but what Arciszewski intends to propose regarding territorial changes is left to speculation.

Premier Issues Statement

the Premier, in a statement issued by the Polish Telegraph agency said:

"We consider the statement by Mr. Stettinius (United States Secretary of State) as a confirmation of the United States' attitude with regard to Soviet intentions toward Poland.

"This attitude has already been previously stated by authoritative American quarters, and also has been previously known to the Polish Government.

"Need For Agreement"

"The Polish Government are glad to welcome the emphasis again laid by Stettinius on the necessity of respecting the principle of mutual agreement among members of the United Nations in important matters of future postwar settlement. It is, of course, understood that mutual agreement is an agreement only when and if it is a voluntary one."

Meanwhile, authoritative British quarters appeared to be taking the view that, while the British and American statements do not differ greatly, they feel that the American announcement was not as emphatic.

These quarters feel that Stettinius could have backed up Prime Minister Churchill more if he had insisted the question be settled immediately.

Pole Estates Reported Divided Among Peasants

Moscow, Dec. 19 (AP) — The estates of 683 former landlords were reported today to have been divided among 53,000 peasants in Lublin province of Poland.

A dispatch said Edward Bertold, assistant manager of the agricultural section of the Polish Committee of National Liberation, made the announcements before delegates to the first peasant congress at Lublin.

Nazis Killed 465,000 While In Lithuania

Moscow, Dec. 19 (AP)—The state committee investigating war crimes in Lithuania said today that 165,000 prisoners of war and 300,000 civilians were killed by the Germans during their occupation of that Baltic republic.

Another execution camp was reported discovered at Porani, five miles from Wilno, Poland.

U.S. Starts New Magazine In Russia

Moscow, Dec. 19 (AP)—Amerika, a monthly magazine designed to acquaint the Soviet people with the United States, has been placed on sale in Russia by the United States Office of War Information.

Printed in the Russian language, the new publication is the first effort by the United States to circulate propaganda in the Soviet Union. British agencies have been publishing a monthly magazine and weekly newspaper for some time.

Ten thousand copies of the United States magazine were turned over to the Soviet book agency and placed on sale yesterday at 3 rubles a copy. The agency will keep 25 per cent of the gross sale profits to cover distribution costs. The magazine is pocket size, the first issue containing 64 pages.

134 ex-Officials Face Arrest in Romania

Bucharest, Dec. 18 (Delayed), (A. P.).—Charged with being war criminals, 134 former Ministers and Deputy Ministers faced arrest today. The Government ordered the arrest of all persons in authority in Romania held responsible for placing the country at war on the side of Germany against Russia.

BIG BOMBERS AID 1ST ARMY

300 Fortresses Bomb Road Junctions In Germany

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—American Flying Fortresses and British Lancasters today bombed German rail and road arteries opposite the United States 1st Army, despite nasty weather that shackled the bulk of Allied fighter strength in France and Belgium.

Some 300 Fortresses scattered more than 1,000 tons of high explosive and fragmentation missles between Trier and Gemund on road and rail intersections crowded with German troops and vehicles being poured into the current offensive.

A small force of Thunderbolts accompanied the bombers and shot down three enemy fighters. American losses were withheld by the United States command because many bombers and fighters were believed to have landed in France due to bad weather.

1,000 Tons On Trier

The four-engine Lancasters of the RAF dumped another 1,000 tons on Trier alone.

From bases in Italy, Fortresses and Liberators of the United States 15th Air Force attacked German synthetic oil refineries at Blechhammer in Silesia for the fourth consecutive day. Other bombers of the 15th attacked targets in the Vienna area and railways in Germany, Austria and northern Yugoslavia.

Supreme Allied headquarters in Paris reported that hundreds of Thunderbolts, Mustangs and Spitfires were unable to get off fog-shrouded fields to get in the battle in support of Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges's 1st Army troops.

Fortresses Bomb Blind

The Flying Fortresses soared miles above the clouds and bombed blind with their "magic eye" radio beams. Yesterday an emergency daylight mission of 500 Fortresses and 600 fighters attacked the Rhine rail centers of Cologne, Coblenz and Mainz—centers feeding Field Marshal Karl Gerd von Runstedt's counteroffensive.

Only a small force of fighters kept the big bombers company yesterday and they might as well have stayed at home. The Thunderbolt pilots could not get down through the heavy cloud bank to strafe or dive-bomb and German fighters could not get up through it.

Some of the B-17s were forced to land at bases in France after they had emptied their bomb bays rather than risk the long trip home in the bad weather.

While the weather restricted aerial activity it did not hamper the round-the-clock assault by German robots which battered the American lines.

Monday, German warships sheltered in the Baltic port of Gdynia, north of Danzig, were attacked by 500 RAF Lancasters which poured more than 2,500 tons of bombs on the remains of the Nazi surface fleet—the pocket battleships Lutzow and Scheer and four cruisers. The attack involved a 1,600-mile roundtrip.

300 Forts Drop Bombs On Nazi Supply Lines

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Three hundred Flying Fortresses spread nearly 1,000 tons of explosives on German supply lines immediately behind counterattacking Nazi troops today. It was the first mission of its kind in the European war.

The British-based heavyweights, crammed with fragmentation bombs and high explosives, struck at three rail and five road junctions on a 50-mile front stretching from Trier north to Gemund.

Nazi Warships Attacked

The daylight blows followed an attack last night by some 300 RAF Lancasters on German warships sheltered in the Baltic port of Gdynia north of Danzig. Other British bombers struck Nurnberg and Munster.

Today was the first time four-engined dreadnaughts had been dispatched in the European war to tackle targets so close behind an enemy counteroffensive. That precision task usually is left to medium or dive bombers.

Transportation Network Hit

The forts, however, were called in with their trainloads of bombs to carpet the vital German transportation network directly serving Field Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt's powerful thrust.

The United States 8th Air Force bombers, accompanied by a small force of Thunderbolts, made the emergency mission through thick clouds and released their loads at the usual operational altitude of about four miles.

First reports said there was no aerial opposition.

British Planes Team Up

Big British Lancasters teamed up in this assault, hurling about 1,000 tons of explosives on Trier.

Heavyweight Flying Fortresses and Liberators tore in from Italy also, with the United States 15th Air Force planes bombing installations at Blechhammer in Silesia, rail yards and other targets in Germany, Austria, and northern Yugoslavia, and an unspecified objective in the Vienna area.

Neither the big bombers nor their escorting fighters from Italy met any enemy fighters. They bombed by instrument. Other planes hit the Germans near the 5th Army front in Italy.

One enemy plane was destroyed in the night operations, which also included attacks on airdromes well behind the German lines. Five British planes were missing.

The night blows followed up an emergency daylight mission by 1,100 Britain-based American planes which bombed the Rhine rail hubs of Cologne, Coblenz and Mainz—centers feeding Field Marshal Karl Rudolph Gerd von Rundstedt's powerful counteroffensive.

The greater part of what remains of the Nazi surface fleet—the pocket battleships Lutzow and Scheer and four cruisers—was the objective of the Lancasters, which carried nearly 2,500 tons of bombs to the Polish Harbor. The British planes made a round-trip flight of 1,600 miles.

The Mediterranean Air Force announced that twenty-three heavy bombers and one other plane were missing from yesterday's widespread American Fifteenth Air Force attacks on oil targets and railyards in German Silesia, Austria and Hungary. Heavy flak as well as twenty to thirty enemy fighters were encountered. Four of the interceptors were shot down.

All But Three Girls Die As Robot Hits Factory

London, Wednesday, Dec. 20 (AP). Tragedy struck among singing girls in a southern England factory recently when a Germen V-bomb exploded in a workshop, killing or injuring all but three, it was reported today.

The girls had just finished recess on the night shift and returned to their machines singing, "You Are My Sunshine."

"Suddenly the place was filled with flames," said Anne Savill, 26. "Debris was falling everywhere, and all the lights went out. I grabbed Margaret Kelly and Vera Houghton who were working beside me, and somehow we made our way out through a gap in the wall. The heat was terrible. Blazing rafters fell among macihnes, setting oil on fire. Behind us we heard the other girls screaming as they tried to scramble over blazing machinery."

Two 8th Air Force Officers Promoted

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Orvil A. Anderson, U.S. 8th Air Force deputy commander for operations, has been promoted to major general, and Walter E. Todd, deputy chief of staff for operations, has been made a brigadier general, it was announced today.

With Lieut. Gen. James H. Doolittle, commander of the 8th, the two men map the 8th's battle strategy, make final decisions on targets to be attacked and dispatch thousands of fighters and heavy bombers every month on missions to Germany.

Anderson, 49, led early experiments in balloon ascensions. In 1935 he and another officer set a record by attaining an altitude of 72,395 feet. A native of Springville, Utah, he has been connected with aviation since entering the Army in 1917 as a flying cadet.

Todd, 37, was born in Gonzales, Texas. He left the University of Texas in 1924 to enter West Point.

The wives of both generals live in Alexandria, Va.

GREEK SHOWDOWN SET IN COMMONS

Labor Party Accepts Churchill Challenge For Debate

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—A showdown on British policy in Greece developed suddenly tonight when it was agreed that a special emergency debate on the issue should be held in the House of Commons tomorrow.

Prime Minister Churchill, who had refused requests to debate the Greek question today, served notice on his critics that if they wanted a showdown it would have to come on a vote of censure, with his coalition government standing or falling on the outcome.

Laborites Call Meeting

The minority Labor party accepted the Prime Minister's challenge and agreed to the debate on the vote of censure.

Churchill himself and possibly Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, are expected to plead the Government's case.

Leaders of the Laborite members of Parliament called a special meeting to draft the party's policy.

Just a few hours before the announcement of the emergency debate Churchill hit back at his critics in a stormy session of Commons, defending the policy of intervention, not only in Greece, but also in Belgium, where, he said, "we are acting upon American instructions."

The Prime Minister declined to give any review of the military situation to Parliament before Christmas in view of security censorship imposed by the military command on the Western front.

"A great battle is proceeding now," he said. "The question of a temporary news blackout on the Western front is one for the supreme commander to settle on the spot, and, of course, I support him."

While this apparently satisfied Britain's lawmakers, the bitter tenor of a barrage of questions directed at Churchill about Greece and Belgium demonstrated clearly the cleavage on diplomatic policy between the Prime Minister and an outnumbered but extremely vocal Liberal faction in Parliament.

Churchill's Points

Churchill made these points:

Intervention in both Greece and Belgium was necessary to prevent violence.

In Greece, "I do not think the situation is deteriorating. I think it has greatly improved"; and, "I am afraid you cannot always stop shooting by saying you would like to stop it."

In Belgium, "we were acting under American instructions" that supply lines be kept open, and Britain "had been right to intervene in putting down disorders on the lines of communications at the request of the supreme commander."

With the Belgian steps this time provoking acrimony, Churchill's critics openly challenged the accuracy of his previous report to Commons on the extent of the Brussels demonstration last month which brought the intervention.

Says He Checked Facts

But the Premier, insisting that he had checked his facts with "the best authorities," bluntly declared, "far from withdrawing anything I said in my speech, I may say that mature reflection—apart from some small details—leads me to reiterate it."

Earlier, when the liberal faction pressed without success for full debate on Greece today, Churchill acknowledged sharp division in Britain on the issue which has caused "heart-searching and criticism."

But he maintained that this division would not be allayed by a new debate and said that only placing of a vote of censure would induce the Government to agree to debate.

Commons To Hold Debate On Greece

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—The House of Commons will hold a special debate on Greece tomorrow, with Prime Minister Churchill expected to speak.

This was announced tonight several hours after Churchill had sidetracked a new effort in Commons to get his comments on the Greek situation. Churchill refused also to give a full-scale review of the war.

Cabinet Ministers agreed to tomorrow's debate after a committee of the Labor party submitted a formal demand.

Belgian Step Defended

In Commons today Churchill was forced into a hot-tempered defense of British troops' intervention in Belgium.

"We were acting under American instructions," he said in upholding use of armed force in last month's riots in Belgium.

Referring repeatedly to General Eisenhower in hitting back at the acid criticism of opposition members, Churchill said "a great battle is proceeding now."

He declined to review the general war situation on the ground that Eisenhower was right in imposing a "temporary news blackout" on Western front developments.

Says Greek Situation Better

He reported the situation in Greece "has greatly improved," but refused to elaborate.

Churchill made it clear earlier that if the House of Commons wanted an immediate review of the Greek situation it would have to come on a vote of censure—a parliamentary maneuver which would mean his Government would stand or fall on the outcome.

The opposition did not appear disposed to accept the challenge on those terms.

Laborite Emanuel Shinwell sought to pin down the Prime Minister on the question of whether establishment of a regency in Greece "is being in any way frustrated or impeded by the attitude" of King George II of Greece.

Shooting Discussed

"I said just now that I had no further statement to make at present on Greece," the Prime Minister said.

"Would not it be wise to advise that all shooting should stop in Greece and that a debate should take place, not here but in Athens?" asked Communist William Gallacher.

"I am afraid you cannot always stop shooting by saying you would like to stop it," retorted Churchill.

Belgians' Part Cited

Opponents of Britain's policy then shifted to Belgium, challenging Churchill's account of precautionary steps taken in November when truckloads of armed insurgents were moving on Brussels from Mons.

Churchill said he checked the ...week with ... cost of the ... nts had been done by Belgian authorities, he said, but "in a few cases Belgian civilians willingly approached British troops to surrender their arms and they were naturally helped to do so." Then he added:

"The attitude of the British military authorities was regulated by instructions received from the supreme military commander. Those instructions were in full accord with views of British Government and we should be glad to share his responsibility."

Says Eisenhower Was There

Churchill said General Eisenhower himself visited Brussels "and gave very decided and clear instructions as to the importance of preserving tranquillity of communications."

"Therefore," he added, "far from withdrawing anything I said in my speech, I may say that mature reflection, apart from some small details, leads me to reiterate it."

Sir Richard Acland, Common Wealth party leader, suggested the Prime Minister should check up on his sources of information, "which seem to be letting him down all over the world."

Exchange Continues

The sharp exchange continued as Churchill recounted his version of a demonstration at the Belgian Parliamentary House.

"I believe there was also an advance by a large crowd on Parliament House, or wherever it was," he began.

"A peaceful demonstration," shouted Sir Richard.

"A peaceful demonstration until you get well mixed up with troops," continued Churchill.

"An unarmed demonstration," broke in Sir Richard.

Churchill answered:

"You don't know who is armed or who is not in these days when a small pistol can be produced from a pocket. At any rate there was firing and very regrettable loss of life."

Bevan Enters Picture

With tempers taut and the House turbulent, Aneurin Bevan, bitter and frequent critic of Churchill, openly scoffed at the Prime Minister's account of the Belgian situation and demanded:

"Will he desist from deceiving the House in this irresponsible manner?"

Amid cries of "withdraw," Churchill snapped back: "I certainly do not ask Mr. Bevan to withdraw. Insults from him are compliments."

Denies Deception Attempt

Then he asserted:

"I repeat that supreme American authorities and British authorities on the spot were extremely anxious about the position in Brussels for four or five days surrounding these events.

"I have not tried to deceive the House. Why should I try to deceive the House? I should certainly not think Mr. Bevan worth trying to deceive."

More News Demanded

Churchill's declaration came after one member observed that newspapers were publishing stories from German sources and asked him "to see that the British press had the fullest information from British sources in regard to British prowess."

"The question of a temporary news blackout on the Western front," said the Prime Minister, "is one for the supreme commander to settle on the spot and we, of course, support him."

Churchill said that for his part he had no intention of bringing up Britain's policy of intervention in Greece before Christmas. He served notice that he would not dodge immediate debate on the issue if challenged, but said it had best come on another vote of censure. The last such vote he won 279 to 30.

In view of the Prime Minister's 279-to-30 victory in his last test of strength on a vote of confidence in Parliament, it did not appear likely that his government would meet defeat on the issue of Greece.

ON JAP ROADS

British Charge 24,000 White Prisoners Died On Job

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Japanese forced more than 60,000 white prisoners to labor under worse-than-slavery conditions to speed through the Thailand-Burma railway and road and then left a monument to 25,000 men who died along the way, the British War Office charged today.

Citing cases of extreme brutality, of sick men carried to work on stretchers, men forced to labor naked in insect-ridden jungles, the War Office declared there also were cases of torture and killing. It added:

"The Japanese themselves erected a memorial at Tamakan to approximately 25,000 men who had died on the railway. Of these less than 1,000 were Japanese, the remainder being represented as English, Australian and Dutch."

Over 60,000 Captives Used

War Secretary Sir James Grigg opened the subject in Commons with an oral statement that "the strongest possible protest" had been made against past conditions existing in Burma and Siam (Thailand)." The number of white prisoners employed was "probably much higher" than 60,000 he said, although he added it was difficult to speak with certainty.

"In addition," Grigg asserted, "many thousands of Asiatics were used and the death rate among them was almost certainly much heavier than among the white men."

Conditions have improved, he said, and are much better in the rear camps. He declared, however, that in building the railway and road, the Japanese proceeded "with all speed and regardless of conditions under which the prisoners worked and of the cost of human life."

Jammed In Cattle Trucks

The War Office then took over with a formal supplementary statement. It said all the prisoners had been forced to travel from Singapore to Thailand in metal cattle trucks—so jammed together for five days and nights that they could not lie down and could sleep only by leaning against piles of materials or one another.

The men then had to march up to 50 miles through disease-infected jungles. Their thirst was such, the War Office said, that they drank from muddy puddles, and at the end of each march were so exhausted they fell to the soggy ground, covering their heads with whatever they could as protection against the mosquitoes.

The prisoners slept 200 to each work camp hut on platforms stretched along each side of a central gangway. They were compelled to work if they could move at all, and some were even carried to their road jobs on stretchers, the statement said.

Some Forced To Work Naked

Since worn-out clothing was not replaced, some had to work naked or in loin-cloths made of rags. The work load was increased until each man had to remove one and a half cubic yards of earth and rock each day—a job the War Office said required up to 14 or 15 hours of labor.

Men and officers were beaten, the statement said, and "other forms of greater brutality were not infrequent." Sometimes the men were given meat to eat, the War Office concluded, but "one pig was supposed to provide for 1,200 men."

In addition, many thousands of Asiatics were used, and the death rate among them was almost certainly much heavier than among white men."

Conditions Cited

Grigg reported conditions improved somewhat after completion of the railroad in October, 1943, but he said:

"I should make it clear to the House that these conditions are far below anything which would be regarded as reasonable for our prisoners of war in Europe."

"Men have, however, adapted themselves and become to some extent inured to these lower standards, while many of the conditions which caused such heavy sick and death rates in jungle camps did not obtain in rear camps to which the men were withdrawn."

Reports Confirmed

Grigg said his report was confirmed by British troops formerly in Japanese hands. The United States Navy rescued these troops from the sea in September.

Japs Work 24,000 Captives To Death, British Say

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—The British War Office asserted today that the Japanese had worked more than 60,000 white captives under such brutal and inhuman conditions that 24,000 of them had died.

The Japanese themselves have erected a memorial to 25,000 men who died in building the Thailand-Burma railway and road, the War Office said. Of the 25,000 men, the War Office reported, fewer than 1,000 were Japanese and the remainder were English, Australians and Dutch.

Inhuman Treatment Reported

The Japanese disregarded completely "the cost in human life," the War Office said. Sick prisoners were even carried to work on stretchers. Severe beatings were administered to officers and men, the statement said, and there were also cases "of torture and killing."

The statement supplemented an oral report to Commons by Sir James Grigg, War Secretary, who said the Japanese used at least 60,000 white prisoners "regardless of conditions under which the prisoners worked and of the cost in human life."

"The figure is probably much higher," he added.

"The great majority were from the United Kingdom or Australia.

Grigg said the protecting powers had been asked to make the "strongest possible protest regarding past conditions in Siam (Thailand) and Burma" and said Britain would continue to press the Japanese to allow all prison camps to be inspected regularly by neutral observers and to make arrangements for Red Cross relief supplies.

Transported In Cattle Trucks

All the prisoners traveled from Singapore to Thailand in metal cattle trucks so crowded that the men could not lie down for five days and nights and were forced to sleep leaning against piles of equipment or against one another, the War Office said.

They were forced to march 50 miles through disease-ridden jungles, so thirsty they drank from muddy puddles, the statement said, and so exhausted they fell to the water-logged ground at the end of each march, wrapping their heads in anything they could find as protection against the mosquitoes.

Forced To Work

The prisoners were forced to work if they could move at all. They were required to move one and a half cubic yards of earth and rock a day—a task sometimes requiring fifteen hours labor. Worn-out clothes were not replaced and some men were reduced to going naked or were clad only in a loin-cloth.

The War Office said the prisoners' rations sometimes included meat, but "the quantities can be judged from the fact that one pig was supposed to provide for 1,200 men."

Lords Learn Of Nazi Role In Madrid

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Spain was "morally occupied" by the Germans in the early years of the war, and Nazi influence directed much of Spain's national life, Lord Templewood told the House of Lords today. He resigned two days ago after serving five years as Ambassador to Madrid.

Reviewing his experiences in the once-hostile Spanish capital, the former Sir Samuel Hoare said that "although Spain was not militarily occupied in those early years of the war, Spain was morally occupied."

He was assigned to Madrid in 1940 with instructions to keep Spain as neutral as possible.

Germans Influenced Press

Speaking as a patient man who endured much, Templewood said: "During the greater part of this time the German armies were on the frontier. German influence pervaded many important sections of the national life. The Germans for instance had great influence with the police and the press."

The conservative, aristocratic diplomat, who has been under fire frequently at home for alleged appeasement of Fascists, carefully refrained from criticizing the regime of the Spanish dictator, Generalissimo Franco.

Templewood confined his criticism to the Germans and the Gestapo who he said spied on him in Madrid, tried to bribe his servants, and stirred up mobs to break windows of the British Embassy while the Gestapo took pictures.

Gestapo Spied On Him

"I have many instances in my own experience of this kind of non-military occupation," the former envoy said. "I had the Gestapo living in the next house looking over the wall between me and them, watching every movement I made.

"I had the Gestapo constantly trying to suborn my domestic staff. I saw the Gestapo taking photographs when riot was stirred up for the purpose of breaking the windows of the British Embassy.

"I saw again what was more sinister. From time to time the Gestapo would seize some man or woman in Spanish territory and take them over the frontier to their death or torture in Germany or one of the occupied countries.

Created Bitter Hatreds

"I had the conviction that this German influence—this terrible German peril—was leaving behind it corruption, bitter hatreds and vendettas and was steadily undermining all the moral standards of life into which it instilled its poison."

Templewood advised against intervening in the interior politics of any country.

"I see at this moment many of my friends here talking airily about general elections and plebiscites," he said. "It may be they are necessary, but let no one think for a moment that in certain parts of Europe today general elections and plebiscites are going to resemble anything like what they would be here."

Warns Of Factional Divisions

He also urged, "let us not divide Europe into definite camps, into reds and whites, Communist and Fascist. This is playing the German game. This is what the Germans are trying to do in Spain and every other country on the Continent."

Templewood spoke enthusiastically of the Russian-British and Russian-French mutual assistance treaties as safeguarding both the east and west against German aggression, but said he wondered whether "within that framework we were moving fast enough to fill in the details."

Nazi Activities In Spain Are Described

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Lord Templewood said today Spain was "morally occupied" by the Germans during the first part of his five-year tenure as British Ambassador to the Franco Government.

"I have had many instances in my own experience of this kind of nonmilitary occupation," he told the House of Lords. "I had the Gestapo living in the next house, looking over he wall between me and them, watching every movement I made."

The former Sir Samuel Hoare, who went to Madrid with instructions to keep Spain neutral, if possible, resigned his ambassadorship recently.

Tells Of Seizures

"I had the Gestapo constantly trying to suborn my domestic staff," he said, "I saw the Gestapo taking photographs when a riot was stirred up for the purpose of breaking windows of the British Embassy.

"I saw again what was more sinister. From time to time the Gestapo would seize some man or woman in Spanish territory and take them over the frontier to their death or torture in Germany or one of the occupied countries.

"I had a conviction this German influence—this terrible German peril—was leaving behind it corruption, bitter hatreds and vendettas, and was steadily undermining all moral standards of life into which it instilled its poison."

Draws Parallel

"Although Spain was not militarily occupied during those early years of war, Spain was morally occupied," he declared.

With German armies on the French-Spanish frontier, German influence pervaded many important sections of Spain's national life, coinciding with a period when Britain's military fortunes were at low ebb, Templewood said.

The diplomat drew a parallel for all Europe from his Spanish experience.

"When the final account is made against the Nazi regime," he declared, "I believe that though the material devastation in Europe is great, posterity will say the worst German crime is this studied destruction of all the moral values of Europe."

Templewood asserted that Europe would drift into an "invertebrate anarchy" unless it could be given "a backbone."

HESS'S CONDITION REPORTED WORSE

London, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The British Press Association today distributed and then withdrew a story saying that Rudolf Hess suffered a leg fracture recently when he jumped over a banister during "a brain storm." In cancelling the story, the press association said the War Office reported there was no truth in the statement that Hess had broken his leg.

Hess's "nervous and mental condition has deteriorated in the last few months," said the withdrawn story.

Hess was Adolf Hitler's deputy until he flew to Britain on a mysterious mission in May, 1941.

The Press Association said its information came from unofficial sources. It reported Hess was often surly and sulky and refused to speak to his guards.

"He has become morbid-minded and these attacks are the culmination of his morbidity," the association declared.

German Counterattacks Force 8th Army Troops To Fall Back

Rome, Dec. 19 (AP)—A savage counterattack mounted by the Germans in an effort to hold their positions on the west bank of the Lamone River northeast of Faenza against a British flanking drive has forced the 8th Army troops to fall back to the northern edge of the town.

Allied headquarters disclosed the action tonight.

The tank-supported Nazi defense appeared to indicate the Germans were having trouble extracting their forces from a 9-mile-wide salient between Faenza and the important road center Bagnacavallo.

The enemy has concentrated much artillery as well as tanks and infantry in the bulge.

The main 8th Army flanking move struck northward from Faenza, but the armored counterthrust forced the British to draw back to the railway tracks skirting the northern sector of the town, the capture of which the Allied command announced Sunday.

The counterattack afforded the Germans only momentary relief, however, as another Allied flanking move was developing 6 miles west of Faenza, where Indian patrols moved out across the Senio River in a drive aimed at the important road junction of Castel Borognese, 7 miles west of Faenza.

Capture of Castel Borognese would put the Indains astride the important Via Emila—Highway 9—and in a position to drive north in an enircling movement aimed at trapping the Germans against the Lamone.

Farther west Polish troops pushed on toward the River Senio, only five and a half miles from Imola, a headquarters communiqué said.

Patrols remained active on the United States 5th Army front.

GREEKS STUDY REGENCY MOVE

Quisling Premier Escapes As ELAS Seizes Prison

Athens, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Greek Government denied officially tonight a report that it had received a telegram from King George II consenting to setting up a regency. Panayiotis Kanellopoulos, Greek Minister of Marine, told a press conference that the regency question would be settled within a few days, but asserted that in the final analysis the Government could "act in a revolutionary fashion"—meaning that the consent of King George II might be immaterial.

ELAS troops fortified the Averoff prison tonight after a strong mortar-and-grenade attack by the Left-wing militia had forced the British garrison and Greek gendarmes and wardens to evacuate the institution.

Quisling Premier Escapes

A widespread hunt was launched by the British, Greek and undoubtedly by the ELAS—militia of the Left-wing EAM political party for Jean Rallis, quisling Premier of Greece during the German occupation, who escaped during the fighting for the prison.

[In London Herbert H. Lehman, director general of UNRRA, announced that the civil war in Greece had compelled the temporary evacuation of a substantial part of the relief mission after several members of the staff had been wounded in the course of duty.]

The ELAS leaders were reported tonight ready to make a fresh attempt to settle their political differences with the Government, and an emissary of the EAM central committee conferred with Gen. Nicholas Plasteras, who recently was mentioned as a possible choice to set up a new government acceptable to all sides. Plasteras led the 1922 Greek revolution.

Said To Want Assurance

It was reported the EAM-ELAS forces were now ready to accept the British proposals that they quit the Attica peninsula, surrender their arms and stop fighting as a preliminary to any discussions for a permanent peace. It was said that before making any final commitment the Left-wingers wanted assurances of certain changes in the political situation.

In addition to Rallis, it was estimated 205 men and 30 women prisoners fled, out of the 475 persons held at Averoff. Most of the prisoners were awaiting trial on political charges.

Saved By Relief Attack

The ELAS attack trapped the British garrison and 115 Greek gendarmes and 149 wardens in the prison. A communiqué from the headquarters of Lieut. Gen. R. M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, said a midmorning relief attack by British troops enabled the imperial garrison, 130 of the Greek gendarmes and wardens and some prisoners to be evacuated.

The fate of those left was not immediately known.

British headquarters said the recapture of Rallis, who took office in April, 1943, and resigned by his own decree the day the German commander fled Athens, was considered a "highest level affair."

Rallis was arrested last October 13 by order of the Government of Premier George Papandreou. In a recent interview he said he assumed the premiership during the Nazi occupation to fight communism.

Attack RAF Headquarters

Another force of ELAS troops estimated at about 600 attacked RAF headquarters at Kifissia, 12 miles northeast of Athens and the trapped noncombatant RAF clerks and base officers thus far were successfully holding off the besiegers.

30. 24 — 21383

Britons said they believed the ELAS were making a special effort to capture the headquarters in reprisal for strafing attacks by RAF rocket-firing Beaufighters and Spitfires.

Scobie's communiqué said the British were sucessfully clearing the ELAS from the main Athens-Pireaus highway and were consolidating their positions astride the route.

ELAS Attack Ousts British From Prison

New York, Dec. 19 — Greek Premier George Papandreou has sent a cable to King George of Greece in London, recommending the appointment of Archbishop Damaskinos, of Athens, as regent, the London radio said today in a broadcast recorded by CBS.

Athens, Dec. 19 (AP)—A strong ELAS attack on the Averoff Prison has forced the British to abandon the bastion. Quisling Ex-Premier Jean Rallis, who apparently escaped during the disorder, was being sought today.

The attack on the prison was made late yesterday. This morning the British launched a counter-thrust to relieve the 115 policemen, 149 wardens and members of the British garrison. A British communiqué said the British garrison and 130 of the Greeks in the prison and "some political prisoners" were successfully withdrawn.

ELAS Fortify Prison

The ELAS immediately began to fortify the prison.

It was estimated that some 205 men and 30 women prisoners of the 475 persons held there, escaped in the disorder. Most of the inmates were awaiting trial on political charges.

The fate of the remainder of the Greek prison attendants and the other prisoners was not immediately known.

All cells were locked when the west wing caught fire from mortar shells.

Hunt For Rallis Intensive

The hunt for Rallis was taken up immediately by the British and Greeks and undoubtedly by the ELAS.

Rallis became Premier in April, 1943, and resigned by his own decree the day the German commander quit Athens. October 13 the 67-year-old lawyer was imprisoned by the Government of Premier George Papandreou. In an interview then Rallis contended he took over the Premiership during the Nazi occupation to combat Communism.

British authorities said the recapture of Rallis was considered a "highest level affair." He was reported to have visited his wife's apartment briefly shortly after his escape.

Meanwhile, RAF headquarters at Kifissia, twelve miles northeast of Athens, was subjected to a stiff ELAS siege with noncombatant RAF clerks and base officers thus far successfully holding out against 600 ELAS troops seeking to halt strafing by rocket-firing Beaufighters and Spitfires.

The British communiqué said ELAS troops were being cleared from the main Athens-Piraeus highway and that Imperial troops were consolidating their positions astride the route.

Elsewhere in Greece, the communiqué said, "there is nothing to report."

War In Greece Impedes UNRRA

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Herbert H. Lehman, director general of UNRRA, announced tonight that the fighting in Greece had forced the temporary withdrawal of a substantial part of the UNRRA mission there after several staff members were wounded "in the course of their duties."

"The decision to evacuate," Lehman said, "was taken by military authorities in the light of the present situation, which made it impossible for the mission to carry out its objectives."

Loans To Greece Reported

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Anderson, told Commons today the British Government had loaned the Greek Government $185,000,000 during the war, in addition to about $71,000,000 in market loans.

BURMA ROAD PUSH MEETS FEW OF FOE

2 Chinese Forces Are About 80 Miles Apart—British Go On Toward Akyab

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, Dec. 19 (AP)—Two Chinese armies, seeking to establish the first overland route to China since 1942, now little more than eighty miles apart, are encountering comparatively light Japanese resistance in their drive to join along the Chinese-Burmese border.

Operating in the rugged strip between the Irrawaddy and Salween rivers, the two forces are slashing toward the town of Namhkam, which is about sixty-five miles north of Lashio, former important station of the Burma Road.

The Chinese force on the western flank is moving in a southeasterly direction from Bhamo, thirty road miles northwest of Namhkam. The army to the east, driving toward Burma from China, is attacking fifty miles northeast of Namhkam, a few miles north of the border town of Wanting.

Road Must Be Repaired

When the two forces meet, the first land route to China since the Japanese stormed into North Burma in 1942 will be opened. However, supply convoys may not roll from India to China for several months after the juncture because the road is damaged.

In Southwestern China an enemy counter-attack was repulsed northeast of Wanting on the China-Burma border, a Chinese High Command spokesman said, adding that on Dec. 15 part of a Japanese force was destroyed in a four-hour battle when Chinese units attacked an enemy strongpoint six miles east of Wanting.

The High Command said Col. Yosimi Hara, commander of the Japanese garrison that held out unde a two-week siege at Bhamo, was killed when Chinese forces captured the town.

A Southeast Asia Headquarters communiqué said British Fourteenth Army advance elements, pushing down the West Burma coast on the Arakan front, had proceeded more than twenty miles southeast of Maungdaw and taken up positions less than thirty miles northwest of the important coastal base of Akyab.

Allied naval ships poured shells into Japanese troop concentrations two miles ahead of the British vanguards, the communiqué said. Heavy bombers raided enemy installations near Andrew Bay, Japanese coastal supply point 165 airline miles southeast of Akyab.

Other heavy bomber formations hit targets on Great Coco Island, north of the Andaman Islands in the Bay of Bengal, and Allied airmen operating in northern Burma destroyed two by-pass bridges, attacked rail and river communications and strafed Japanese airfields.

On the Fifteenth Indian Corps sector of the Arakan front two bridgeheads on the east bank of the Kalapanzin River have been joined and the advance to the east and south continued.

Allies Nearer Maungdaw In Burma Akyab Drive

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Dec. 19 (AP)—Allied vanguards on the West Burma coast are more than twenty miles southeast of Maungdaw in the advance on the important base of Akyab, now less than 30 miles away, a Southeast Asia communique disclosed tonight.

Meanwhile in North Burma little more than 80 miles of road, damaged, but at one time usable by motor, separated two Chinese forces steadily approaching one another from Burma and western China.

When these two armies meet the first land route to China since 1942 will be opened, although supply convoys may not roll from India to China until several months later.

On the Bhamo road the Chinese met comparatively light resistance approximately 30 road miles northwest of Nankham. From China troops moving toward Burma are some 50 miles northeast of Namkham. This force at present is a few miles north of Wanting and also is meeting comparatively light resistance.

On the West Burma coast Allied naval craft shelled a group of Japanese two miles ahead of the vanguards driving down toward Akyab.

Japanese Retreat Slower

CHUNGKING, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Japanese withdrawal in Kwangsi Province in south China appeared to be slowed down tonight as a Chinese High Command announcement said that Chinese forces advancing southeastward along the Kwangsi-Kweichow had taken Pushan, an important height west of Hochih.

The High Command also announced that Chinese troops had made a surprise raid against the enemy northeast of Hingan, which is on the Hunan-Kwangsi railway about thirty-three miles northeast of Kweilin. A number of Japanese were killed and wounded ahd several prisoners were taken, the announcement said.

In Hunan Province to the north Chinese troops operating in the Yoyang area northeast of Changsha intercepted an enemy column from Yuankiang on the southern shore of Tungting Lake, throwing the enemy back the following morning, High Command spokesmen said.

Meanwhile, fighting continued against stiffening Japanese resistance outside the railroad town of Hochih, and one Chinese column knifed farther into Kwangsi Province and established positions within six miles of Chinchengkiang, eighty-one miles west of Liuchow, the High Command announced.

United States planes have supported ground troops and attacked Japanese targets over widely separated sectors in China, Burma, Thailand and French Indo-China.

In a Saturday sweep, four spans of a bridge over the Yellow River north of Chengchow were knocked out. A locomotive and railroad cars also were destroyed in freight yards south of the bridge by fighters and medium bombers of the United States Fourteenth Air Force and the Chinese-American Composite Wing, an American communiqué announced.

On Sunday Liberators under Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's command bombed Japanese naval installations at Cam Ranh Bay, 180 miles northeast of Saigon, on the southern coast of French Indo-China, with unobserved results. Other Fourteenth Air Force planes raided Kengtung in eastern Burma, 240 miles east of Mandalay, and fighter bombers damaged the Wanpahsa bridge in Thailand along the Thailand-Burma border.

Chungking was alerted for nearly three hours tonight as Japanese planes invaded Szechwan Province, apparently seeking reprisals for yesterday's devastating attack on Hankow by Superfortresses and more than 200 Fourteenth Air Force bombers and fighters.

CHINESE ADVANCE ON GOLDEN CITY

Chungking, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The Chinese High Command announced today that Chinese forces driving southeastward into Kwangsi Province were within six miles of the "Golden City" of Chin-Cheng-Kiang, eighty-one miles west of Liuchow, former American air base now in Jap hands.

The city is situated on the Kwangsi-Kweichow railroad, along which the Chinese have been pursuing enemy forces retreating from Kweichow.

The column advancing on Chin-Cheng-Kiang passed south of Hochih, ninety miles northwest of Liuchow, where the Japanese are making stand against another Chinese column.

B-29'S POUND OMURA PLANT

Targets At Shanghai And Nanking Also Bombed

San Francisco, Dec. 19 (AP)—More than ten B-29s raided Japanese-held Shanghai for four hours Tuesday morning (Tokyo time) the enemy radio said tonight in an unconfirmed broadcast. The broadcast made no mention of damage or claims of shooting down any Superfortresses.

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The big Omura aircraft factory on the Japanese home island of Kyushu came in for another blasting from Superfortresses today while other B-29's hit targets at Shanghai and and Nanking on the Chinese mainland.

These new blows in the stepped-up air war aimed at knocking out Japanese sources of airpower and supply lines for the enemy forces in China were reported in a War Department communiqué.

Called Medium Force

China-based B-29's in "medium force"—an expression which usually means about 40 planes—bombed Omura through an overcast with precision instruments. It was the fifth time that Omura, which has a huge aircraft assembly works, has been hit since last July.

"Good to excellent" results were reported for the raids on docks and engineering works at Shanghai and Nanking. The B-29's shot down five enemy fighters, probably bagged three others and damaged an additional nine, although a communiqué said little opposition was encountered.

Meantime checks of air photographs showed that heavy damage was inflicted by strikes 24 hours earlier at Nagoya, Japan's third city, and Hankow, China.

Black smoke rolled up to 1,000 feet above a big airplane plant at Nagoya, a communiqué said, while it was disclosed that more than 250 planes—the largest force ever sent into the air over China—participated in the attack on Hankow.

Interpretations of bomb-strike photos "indicate a concentration of bomb bursts directly on the target," the communiqué said.

Damage "Clearly Extensive"

A dispatch from Saipan by Vern Haugland, Associated Press correspondent, said the photographs showed the Kokui aircraft factory, one of Japan's largest, was hit with "devastating accuracy" in the Nagoya raid.

"Damage to the plant is clearly extensive," Haugland quoted Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell, Jr., commander of the 21st Bomber Command. "This plant was our primary target."

The photographs also indicated a Nagoya shipyard and the power plant serving the sprawling city of 1,300,000 were hit heavily.

The Kokui plant is operated by Mitsubishi, but is distinct from that concern's Hatsudoki plant at Nagoya, which was the principal target of a B-29 raid on December 13. The two plants are about 9 miles apart.

Jap Omura Plant Hit By B-29's

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—China-based Superfortresses today pounded an enemy aircraft plant at Omura on the Japanese home island of Kyushu and attacked targets at Shanghai and Nanking on the China coast.

A War Department communiqué said that results of the attack on the Omura aircraft plant could not be determined because of the heavy cloud cover. The B-29's bombed through an overcast with the use of precision instruments.

"Good to excellent" results were achieved in the raid on docks and engineering works at Shanghai and Nanking, however. Weather over the targets there was clear.

Little Opposition

A medium force of the B-29's from the 20th Bomber Command, possibly comprising 40 planes, carried out the raids. Little opposition was encountered from enemy fighters, five of which were shot down by the B-29 crews. Three more enemy fighters were probably destroyed and nine damaged.

A Japanese imperial communiqué reported that between 30 and 40 Superfortresses bombed Omura in the fifth reported attack on the city since last July.

Large Fire Reported

The communiqué telling of the attacks followed shortly a report that serious damage had been inflicted on the Mitsubishi aircraft plant in yesterday's raid on Nagoya, Japan's third-largest city.

Large fires and smoke columns rising to a height of 1,000 feet were observed in the wake of direct hits on the Mitsubishi aircraft, a communiqué said.

The raiders, numbering probably upward of 100, apparently inflicted "serious damage," the War Department reported.

Superfortress crews reported that they had destroyed two enemy planes, probably destroyed six and damaged three. None of the B-29's was lost to "enemy action," the communiqué said.

Hankow Targets Hit

War Department spokesmen said the Mitsubishi plant struck in yesterday's raid was not the Hatsudoki factory pounded in the first raid on December 13.

The raid at Nagoya, on Japan's principal island of Honshu, was carried out simultaneously with a raid by China-based Superfortresses on the Japanese-occupied city of Hankow in China.

In the Hankow raid docks and warehouses were pounded. The Superforts knocked down five intercepting planes and damaged seven more.

Biggest Air Force In China Takes Part In Hankow Raid

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

A B-29 Base, Szechwan Province, China, Dec. 18 [AP—Delayed]—Huge fires were left blazing along almost the entire length of Hankow's 3-mile-long Yangtze River front area today following a perfectly coordinated assault by virtually every type of operational airplane in the China theater.

The combined power of Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Le May's 20th Bomber Command, Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's 14th Air Force and the Chinese-American composite wing made the strike. The raiders evidently achieved a fine element of surprise.

Opposition Slight

The biggest force of American planes ever sent aloft over China encountered slight opposition despite the heavy concentration of Japanese aircraft based in the Hankow area.

[Official sources in Washington on Monday issued only the bare announcement of the raid.]

Approaching the target area in perfect visibility, more than 250 Superfortresses, Liberators, Mitchells, Mustangs and Warhawks dumped over 1,000 tons of high explosives on shipping installations, railyards and the city's air base—most important Japanese airfield in China.

Carry Maximum Load

The Superfortresses, many of them carrying their maximum load of substantially more than eight tons each, dropped hundreds of tons of incendiaries.

Instead of following the fighters and fighter-bombers over the target, the Superfortresses acted both as wholesale incendiarists and lures for enemy aircraft in a cleverly devised plot to trap Japanese planes into a helpless position for kills by swarms of Chennault's bombers and fighters which swept over Hankow after the unescorted B-29's.

The first Liberators flew over the city 45 minutes after the Superforts, and upon returning to base, reported that a belt of flame was sweeping the dock area. Mustang pilots who flew top cover for the Liberators allowed only five Japanese Zekes to get in two passes at the bombers. Returning airmen described the enemy ground fire as "meager and inaccurate."

Japs' Supply Center

The dual attack centered on Hankow's warehouse district, which supplies the Japanese lifeline to South China and aerial installations in Central China.

But the water front was not the only area blasted by Allied airmen. A strong formation of Liberators raided the city's airfield and fuel storage area, where large fires and secondary explosions followed the bombing.

Every bomb dropped from the B-24's struck the Hankow airfield. Their explosions touched off other blasts on the enemy field, as fires sprang up in gasoline storage tanks.

Incomplete reports from 14th Air Force headquarters show fifteen Japanese planes destroyed in the air and three destroyed on the ground; six probably destroyed in the air, two probably destroyed on the ground; eight damaged in the air and one damaged on the ground.

Heaviest Attack in Asia.

Aboard a B-24 Liberator over Hankow, Dec. 18 (Delayed).—(A. P.).—Hankow, principal supply base for the Japanese drive through south-central China, today received the heaviest bomb-load ever dropped on the Asiatic mainland by the largest force of American planes ever sent into China's skies.

The attack was perfectly coordinated by more than 250 Superfortresses, Liberators, Mitchells, Mustangs and Warhawks from the Twentieth Bomber Command, the Fourteenth United States Air Force and the Chinese-American Composite Wing. More than 1,000 tons of bombs plastered the docks and rail yards at Hankow and the city's airdrome, the most important Japanese airfield in China.

In the briefing six hours ago, Capt. Ross McLeod of New York city, told the Fourteenth Air Force crews that Major Gen. Claire L. Chennault had been wanting to knock out Hankow for a long time. "He thinks this time we'll do it," Capt. McLeod added.

On the basis of ample evidence of the flame-swept, smoke-shrouded docks, and the fire-scorched, smoking airdrome, all discernible from the flight deck of this Liberator, one of the last planes over the target, Hankow was knocked out.

Americans Trap Force Of Japs On West Leyte

Airfield And Enemy Headquarters Town Captured—Mindoro Drive Meets No Opposition

Superfortresses bomb Omura, Shanghai and Nanking . . . Page 5

General MacArthur's Philippine Headquarters, Wednesday, Dec. 20 (AP)—The largest Nipponese organized force still in action on west Leyte has been caught in a trap and no organized resistance at newly invaded Mindoro has yet been encountered in twin battles for the central Philippines.

Headquarters announced today that Gen. Sosaki Suzuki's headquarters town of Valencia and its airfield were captured Monday on west Leyte by 77th Division troops, which have moved 8 miles north above Ormoc.

Caught Between Divisions

Meanwhile, dismounted 1st Cavalry Division troops driving south from the direction of Carigara Bay have seized Lonoy, 6 miles north of Valencia, and in so doing have cut to the rear of forces pinned down by another southbound element, the 32d Division.

The enemy troops caught between the 1st Cavalry and the 32d are believed to comprise the largest organized Nipponese force still in action on Leyte.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today the 77th was "rolling up remnants of the Yamashita Line."

The captured airfield near Valencia had been used as an emergency strip by the enemy. This probably was the first time the Yanks under MacArthur ever won an airfield which would be put to immediate use by their own supporting planes.

The successes give the Americans a major portion of the corridor road from Ormoc to Valencia although isolated pockets of resistance remain to be accounted for.

Negros Airdrome Raided

A total of more Japanese dead were found abandoned on Leyte Island Monday, the communiqué said.

In the Mindoro phase of the campaign, American planes shot down thirteen Japanese aircraft Sunday and Monday.

An airdrome at Palawan, on Negros Island, was hammered with 226 tons of bombs in a raid which destroyed twelve enemy planes on the ground.

In far-ranging raids over the Philippines, Borneo, Celebes, Moluccas, Lesser Sundas, New Guinea, the Bismarck Archipelago and the Solomons, today's communique listed the expenditure of approximately 500 tons of explosives on enemy defenses.

In these activities at least 47 enemy planes were destroyed and probably two others. A small freighter was sunk off Luzon; a 3,000-ton freighter-transport was damaged in the Borneo area; a small enemy vessel was hit off Celebes; three small freighters were either destroyed or heavily damaged in the Lesser Sundas area, and light naval units accounted for three barges off Cebu.

Calatagan airdrome on Luzon Island, the Licanan airfield area near Davao on Mindanao, two airfields on Borneo, and airfields on Amboina and Ceram were bombed.

A Japanese plane raided the American position at Morotai southeast of the Philippines but the communique said the bombs were dropped "harmlessly into the water."

Naval aircraft from carriers tore the greatest hole in Nippon's air arm. Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced at Pearl Harbor that 461 enemy aircraft had been destroyed or damaged in just three days of sustained strike on Manila Bay and elsewhere on Luzon.

Admiral Nimitz's communique told of widespread destruction of Jap facilities and shipping during the aerial siege. At least twenty-eight ships were sunk and sixty-six others were damaged. Later reports may increase the toll.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today that many scores of other Jap aircraft were knocked out of the sky by Army and Navy flyers supporting the amphibious invasion of Mindoro.

Major Richard I. Bong of Poplar, Wis., top American ace, shot one of them down in flames Sunday for his fortieth victory.

Keeping Losses Low on Leyte.

American infantrymen scored impressive gains on Leyte, invaded nearly two months ago. Seventy-seventh Division troops seized an airdrome near Valencia nine miles from captured Ormoc in their drive up the Ormoc Corridor toward a juncture with the Thirty-second Division pressing southward. Thousands of crack Nipponese troops are caught in the squeeze, and the fighting is bloody all the way. In one day 905 abandoned Jap dead were picked up.

Gen. MacArthur made it clear that "the greatest possible care is being exercised to minimize our losses" on Leyte. As a result, they continue light," he said.

The enemy threw aircraft against the invaders, but twenty-three Jap planes were destroyed by anti-aircraft fire and aerial interception, against the loss of only one American plane.

On Mindoro airfields were nearing completion at the island's southern end to bring Manila within a half hour's flying range.

This is the dry season for Mindoro. American and Australian crews putting airfields into condition are not handicapped by mud such as was encountered on Leyte and previous invasion points.

The lack of opposition was puzzling to the Americans. Only six Japanese dead were counted on a tour of the invasion perimeter the second day. Waite reported yesterday that the total had not risen since.

Mindoro Drive Is Easiest Yet

Yanks Meet Few Japs—Enemy Flyers Give Most Trouble—742 Downed in Week.

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—America's easiest invasion job of the Pacific war went ahead at full tilt on Mindoro Island today without the slightest ground resistance as American commanders announced a staggering toll of at least 742 Jap planes put out of action the past week.

PT'S RESCUE YANKS AND LEYTE FUGITIVES

LEYTE, Philippines, Dec. 18 (AP) (Delayed)—Navy PT-boats today rescued twenty-three American soldiers from a fishing boat in which they had fled with seventy-three Spaniards and Filipino guerrillas after having been surrounded by Japanese.

Those rescued in the pre-dawn darkness thanked their lucky stars that the PT skippers, Lieut. (j. g.) G. J. Azarigian of Hartford, Conn., and Ensign Dudley Johnson of Kerrville, Tex., followed a policy of investigating before shooting, even in enemy waters.

The two-masted fishing boat served the Americans and their friends as a getaway craft from the Japanese-held northwest coast of Leyte. The PT-boats spotted the vessel when they were returning from a night patrol.

The rescued soldiers had been sent on reconnaissance patrol deep into enemy territory. Japanese they by-passed closed in behind and cut them off. They estimated they were surrounded by 1,500 Japanese.

The trapped soldiers ran out of ammunition, food and water after a week in the mountains. Their radio set was broken. Finally they made their way to the coast and encountered the Spaniards—men, women and children fugitives from the Japanese—and the guerrillas who took them aboard the seventy-foot fishing boat.

20-Plane Ace Is Killed

Col. Westbrook, of Hollywood, Dies Attacking Japanese Gunboat

AN ADVANCED SOUTHWEST PACIFIC AIR BASE, Nov. 24 (Delayed), (AP).—Lieutenant Colonel

30. 24 — 21385

Robert B. Westbrook, twenty-seven-year-old Hollywood, Calif., air ace with twenty enemy planes definitely to his credit, was killed Nov. 22, while making a strafing run against a gunboat which was escorting two Japanese freighters in Macassar Strait.

He flew his Lightning repeatedly into anti-aircraft fire and he and his wingman knocked out all but one of the gunboat's batteries. Then one of his engines burst into flames and his plane dived into the sea.

Colonel Westbrook flew 367 combat missions from the Solomons to the Indies and the Philippines. In twenty months he rose from second lieutenant to lieutenant colonel and leader of a 13th Air Force squadron.

On the fatal mission the freighters were riddled and the gunboat was left on its side.

Japs' Luzon Loss Rises To 41 Ships

Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 19 (AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz today reported the additional destruction of fourteen ships and small craft in the carrier-plane sweeps over Luzon December 13, 14 and 15, raising to 41 the number of enemy vessels sunk in the three-day attack.

The communiqué revised downward from 66 to 61 the number of vessels damaged.

United States combat losses were placed at 27 planes.

Nimitz And British Fleet Heads Confer

Headquarters, Pacific Fleet, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 19 (AP)—Pacific Fleet headquarters disclosed officially today that discussions are under way here between Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and the staff of the new British Pacific Fleet.

The brief announcement by Admiral Nimitz, five-star commander of the United States Pacific Fleet, said a series of conferences were being held.

Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, G.C.B., K.B.E., is commander in chief of the new British fleet. He arrived recently for the conferences.

On Jap Aircraft Plant

Twenty-first Bomber Command, Saipan, Dec. 19 [AP—Via Navy Radio]—The Kokuki aircraft factory—one of Japan's largest—was hit with devastating accuracy Monday, bombing-run photographs show today.

Bombing through a heavy overcast with precision instruments, many destructive hits were scored on this Mitsubishi plant. It was a tribute to United States precision instruments and bombardier training.

Many Direct Hits Scored

Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell, Jr., commander of the 21st Bomber Command, after making a study of the strike photographs—pictures made during the bombing runs as contrasted with reconnaissance photos made subsequently—said:

"We can now state that many direct hits were scored on the Kokuki plant and that damage to the plant is clearly extensive.

"This plant (on the east side of Nagola harbor and nine miles from earlier raided, sprawling Hatsudoki plant) was our primary target. We will know more facts and figures when photographic reconnaissance pictures are available."

The Hatsudoki factory was a previous B-29 target and is some seven miles inland from the harbor and was not attacked on this raid.

Strike photos taken by later elements which bombed visually showed that earlier elements, bombing by precision instruments through a heavy overcast, hit Kokuki and the shipyard and the Nagoya power plant adjacent to it, burning out two large buildings in the shipyard and probably knocking out the power plant, which is one of the major structures of this type in the Nagoya area.

21 Direct Hits Shown

The bombing of Kokuki was like pin-pointing an area such as Rockefeller Center in New York or Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco.

Kokuki is located on a well-defined spot on the congested Nagoya water front, running from the water's edge back across reclaimed land. The factory covers an area of only 3,200 by 1,400 feet.

One photo showed at least 22 direct hits in the target area by one element. Other photos showed a few bombs landing in the water, most of them in excellent pattern directly across the selected target. Later elements sped over the target at more than 400 mile an hour.

Many Direct Hits Scored

Nimitz Assumes Rank Of 5-Star Admiral

Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 19 (AP) — Admiral Chester W. Nimitz today assumed the five-star rank of United States Fleet Admiral, his headquarters announced.

Nimitz's promotion was confirmed by the Senate December 15, along with similar promotions of Admirals William D. Leahy and Ernest J. King, as a move to give American fleet commanders rating comparable to foreign naval chieftains.

Being commander in chief of the United States Pacific Fleet, Nimitz is Commander of the Pacific Ocean Areas.

FIND 7 JAPS ON SAIPAN

Saipan, Dec. 17 (Via Navy Radio) (Delayed) (A. P.).—Five enlisted men from a B-29 unit went exploring today and brought in seven Japanese who had been hiding in caves since the start of the Marianas campaign—a father, a mother and five children. They had evidently been living on hidden stores.

Pfc. Henry M. Pahnke of Glidden, Iowa, from a point high above the shore saw a child run into a cave. He and his companions—who included Private Fred F. Kessler of 347 New Jersey avenue, Atlantic City—descended the cliff as they peered into the cave the Japanese inside raised their hands. Obeying the soldiers' motions, the father came out followed by his wife and five ragged children. The Japanese showed the soldiers a better path up the cliff.

Several Americans rifled their Christmas packages and gave the children candy, cookies and other edibles. None would eat until the eldest, 8 years old, looked the food over carefully, smelled it, nibbled it and then nodded approval.

Blacklisted Firm Opens Argentine Plane Plant

Buenos Aires, Dec. 19 (AP)—A factory for producing new types of airplanes and gliders for the recently reorganized Argentine Air Force, founded by a company blacklisted by both the British and United States governments, was opened at special ceremonies today.

The company, popularly known as IMPA (Industrias Metalurgicas Plasticas Argentinas) was organized by Fritz Mandl, onetime Austrian munitions manufacturer and former husband of Hedy Lamarr, screen actress.

President Edelmiro Farrell and Vice President Juan Peron were present at the ceremonies. Other IMPA plants produce bicycles, armaments and plastics.

Brazil To Keep Price Of Coffee At Cent A Cup

Rio de Janeiro, Dec. 19 (AP)—Brazilians will continue to pay 20 centavos (1 United States cent) for their indispensable demitasse at the corner coffee shop.

Efforts by coffee-shop owners to raise the traditional price of the Brazilian's cafezinho (little coffee) to 30 centavos are "an extemporaneous pretension and at conflict with the times," the Government's service of supply announced today.

Arevalo Far In Lead In Guatemala Election

Guatemala City, Dec. 19 (AP)—Juan Jose Arevalo, supported by the National Renovation and Popular Front Liberation parties, apparently had clinched election as President of Guatemala today.

With the vote incomplete, Arevalo had three times the ballots of his opponents, Adrian Recinos, former Ambassador to Washington, and Manuel Maria Herrera.

The new President will be inaugurated March 15, when the present revolutionary junta, which ousted President Federico Ponce in October, will retire. Decrees by the junta have limited the presidency to one four-year term, established women's suffrage and mandatory voting by all literate persons, and called for a constitutional convention to write a new constitution before March 15.

Tito's Forces T[illegible] odgorica

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Marshal Tito announced today in a broadcast communiqué recorded here that his Yugoslav Partisan forces had captured Podgorica, an important center in southern Montenegro ten miles from the Albanian border.

JAP CABINET SHIFT

Domei, the Japanese official news agency, said today that Ginjiro Fujiwara, Munitions Minister, has resigned his Cabinet post and that Shigeru Yoshida, director of the regional Mines bureau, appointed his successor.

At the same time Admiral Seizo Kobayashi, former commander in chief of the Combined Imperial Fleet, was made a Minister without Portfolio. Now 68 years old, and a former Governor of Formosa, he has served successively as commander of the Japanese Third Fleet, chief of the Naval Affairs Bureau, commander in chief of the Training Squadron, Vice-Minister of the Navy, commander in chief of the Combined Fleet and member of the Supreme War Council, Domei said.

In another dispatch, intercepted by the FCC and distributed by the Associated Press, Domei said that there is a growing sentiment in various Japanese quarters that the internal government structure should be reformed and strengthened "in the critical period of the war." The recent reshuffling of official posts indicates that the Japanese "government is attempting to strengthen the administrative structure," Domei added.

Senate Comfirms 6 State Dept. Aides; Congress Adjourns

Washington —(AP)— The 78th Congress adjourned last night shortly after the Senate had put a belated stamp of approval on the six appointees to the reorganized State Department.

The appointments were confirmed only after President Roosevelt had personally intervened.

The gavel dropped in the House at 6:59 p. m., and the Senate quit at 8:22.

Rolling roughshod over a noisy but sparse-voted opposition, the administration won overwhelming approval of the nominations of Joseph C. Grew as undersecretary of state and four assistants.

Republicans made it closer, however, for Archibald MacLeish, poetry-writing librarian of Congress, who came through with 3 to 25 approval in what proved to be largely a partisan test.

MacLeish thus becomes assistand secretary of state in charge of cultural and public relations. Some senators described the latter as "propaganda" activities."

Here's how the others ran in the voting to confirm:

Grew, former ambassador to Japan, to be under secretary of state, 66 to 7.

Nelson Rockefeller, formerly coordinator of inter-American affairs, to be assistant secretary in charge of Latin American relations, 62 to 10.

Will L. Clayton, formerly surplus property administrator, to be assistant secretary in charge of economic affairs, 52 to 19.

James C. Dunn, State Department career man, to be assistant secretary in charge of European affairs, 62 to 10.

Brig,. Gen. Julius C. Holmes, formerly attached to General Eisenhower's staff abroad, as an assistant secretary to be the principal administrative officer in charge of organization and personnel, 62 to 9.

Three die-hard Democrats—Senators Pepper of Florida, Guffey of Pennsylvania and Murray of Montana—cast their votes against Grew as a protest to the whole slate which Pepper said was "out of character" with President Roosevelt's policies.

They were joined in the opposition by Progressive LaFollette of Wisconsin and Republicans Aiken of Vermont, Langer of North Dakota and Johnson of California. The 78-year-old Johnson dramatically halted the roll call to announce that while he held nothing personally against Grew he "would not vote to turn the State Department over to the House of Morgan."

There was little formal opposition to Rockefeller, who will move his activities as co-ordinator of inter-American affairs to the State Department.

But the cotton south, as represented by Senator Russell (D-Ga) arose in protest against Clayton, millionaire cotton broker.

Russell arraigned what he called Clayton's "dangerous" views on the farm problem. Senator Chandler (D-Ky) added his opposition to Clayton.

But Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), who was one of those who led the fight which sent the nominations of Clayton, Grew, Rockefeller and Archibald MacLeish back to the foreign relations committee previously, voted for Clayton. He said he was satisfied that the official was opposed to international cartels.

President Roosevelt broke the back o fthe Senate opposition before the voting began. The result seemed a foregone conclusion when he told Senator Pepper in a telephone conversation that if the Senate delayed action now he would submit the same list of names in January.

The President gave him assurance, Pepper tol dthe Senate, that if any of the men involved failed to carry out the Roosevelt policies he would be removed promptly.

With that, Pepper gave up the ghost and organized opposition to the nominees collapsed. But that didn't keep the Senate from talking.

Senator LaFoliette was not willing to give up without making it clear that he was unsatisfied with the "team" of aides that Secretary of State Stettinius had picked.

Asserting that confirmation of the six would "tend to destroy the hope of the American people for a just and democratic peace," LaFollette took the State Department to task for "pious" statements recently issued favoring self determination by peoples.

The events taking place in Europe, the Wisconsin senator said, made it clear to him that the Atlantic Charter had become nothing more than "a scrap of paper."

Senator Nye (R-ND), one of the severest congressional critics of the administration's foreign policies, sang his Senate swan song with a prediction that in another 20 years the country would be "told we must go into another European war to keep Russia from seizing control of the world."

The half-billion-dollar postwar rivers and harbors bill died with the adjournment of the Senate.

Opposition against the measure developed from a House-passed rider exempting the $360,000,000 Central Valley project in California from a 42-year-old reclamation law.

La Follette Objects

Spearheading objection to the rider were Senators La Follette (Prog., Wis.) and Hatch (D., N.M.), who contended it would affect the basic land laws of the country, and should not be handled in a hasty manner.

The two Westerners suggested, instead, that the Central Valley issue be studied by the Senate Irrigation and Reclamation Committee.

Had the measure passed, it faced a possible veto because of opposition of Interior Secretary Ickes to the rider which, he said, would pave the way for land speculation in California.

Fewer than two dozen members were in the House when the adjournment resolution was adopted. The House had spent the entire day marking time, waiting for the Senate to clear the business of Congress.

The last business of the House was to adopt a resolution offered by Representative Michener (R., Mich.) expressing the assembly's thanks to Speaker Sam Rayburn for "the able, impartial, dignified manner" in which he presided over Congress.

Rayburn On Way Home

The Speaker was not at his desk to hear the brief tribute from the Republican spokesman. He left yesterday for his home in Texas and turned the chair over to Representative Cox (D., Ga.).

The Seventy-eighth Congress was highlighted by unprecedented spending and intermittent battling with the White House.

Twice during the two years of almost continuous sessions the President was overridden on vetoes of major legislation. Over his objections Congress wrote into law the Smith-Connally War Labor Disputes Act and the 1944 Tax Act.

The latter measure, a $2,300,000,000 bill which fell far short of Administration hopes, so irritated the President that he wrote Congress a stinging rebuke that precipitated the historic but temporary break between the White House and its Senate floor leader, Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky.

The President fared better on a third major veto, of legislation outlawing the Administration's food subsidy program. The House sustained him in that act.

182 Billions Appropriated

To finance the nation's biggest war and the stepped-up activities of its home-front agencies, Congress approached approximately $182,000,000,000 and boosted the national debt limit to $260,000,000,000 during its two years of work.

While not a record—the Seventy-seventh appropriated approximately $204,000,000,000 — the funds supplied by the Seventy-eighth Congress included the biggest single supply bill of all time, a $59,000,000,000 War Department measure passed in 1943.

To that sum it added $15,000,000,000 this year to rocket the Army's appropriations for the two years to $74,000,000,000.

The Navy received approximately $57,000,000,000 during the biennial period, while other agencies described as directly connected with the war were given an estimated $14,000,000,000.

Despite the huge appropriations, money furnished by Congress dipped downward during the two years, dropping from $115,000,000,000 last year to approximately $67,000,000,000 this year. It was the first sharp curtailment since the war started, and a further drop was sighted for 1945.

War, Taxes Leading Topics

The first session of the Seventy-eighth Congress devoted its time almost exclusively to war matters. With little dissension it extended the Lend-Lease program, provided allotments and allowances for service men's dependents and put pre-war fathers at the bottom of the draft pool.

But on domestic matters it was another story. A major battle developed over the Ruml pay-as-you-go tax plan, which House Republicans backed almost to a man.

It ended in a compromise which the GOP called a 75 per cent victory. Other fights broke out over subsidies, crude oil prices and railway workers' wages.

The second session was interrupted by recesses for the presidential nominating conventions in June and the national elections in November, in which the Democratic party strengthened its slim control of the House.

The second session enacted a tax-simplification program intended to east computation procedures for some 5,000,000 taxpayers. It extended wartime price, wage and rent controls and miscellaneous emergency powers given the President in the Second War Powers Act.

Aids To Servicemen Cited

It wrote legislation expediting absentee voting by service men, providing mustering-out pay and giving veterans job preference, Government-backed loans, unemployment compensation, hospitalization and Government-financed education.

It blueprinted the procedure for settling terminated war contracts, outlined the method of disposing of huge stocks of surplus war material, and created the War Mobilization and Reconversion Administration to chart the transition from wartime to peacetime economy.

Internationally, it again extended the Lend-Lease program and provided for United States participation in the Untied Nations Relief and Rehabilitation program to give aid to liberated nations.

The final major concerted act of the expiring Congress was thumping approval of a bill blocking an increase in Social Security payroll taxes January 1.

These taxes for old-age pensions woul dhave risen to two per cent had not Congress pegged them at one percent, over the President's objections. Although he approved the legislation "reluctantly," the President cited the need for a thorough study of the entire Social Security program by the new Congress.

Battle In 79th Congress Seen

That study, and resulting legislation, may furnish ammunition for one of the major battles of the 79th Congress. Many members want "cradle-to-grave" social security protection.

Another headache facing the incoming legislators is the matter of compulsory peacetime military training. Hearings on peacetime draft bills probably will start before the House Military Committee next month.

Entering the new Congress, Democrats will have a tighter hold on the House, with 243 seats to start, against 190 for the Republicans.

They started the 78th Congress with 222 seats, against 208 for the Republicans and ended it in a 212 deadlock brought about by deaths and resignations.

Guffey Attacks Dunn

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Senator Guffey declared today that James C. Dunn "and his friends in the State Department" had worked for the Franco regime during the Spanish Civil War and "have been following a pro-Franco policy ever since."

Mr. Guffey made his remarks partly in the Senate and partly in an extension he entered for printing in the Congressional Record.

The Senator said that "Mr. Dunn and his friends," at a time in 1937 when Mr. Dunn was a special assistant to former Secretary Hull, advocated successfully before Congress adoption of the arms embargo when the President, Mr. Hull and the then under-secretary of state, Sumner Welles, were in South America.

As a result, he continued, Congress passed the arms embargo prohibiting munitions shipments to aid the Spanish Loyalists and thereby aided Franco who "had all the supplies he wanted from his dictator friends."

Senator Guffey said that Dunn had been "evasive" in answering questions regarding the arms embargo recommendation before the Foreign Relations Committee recently and had argued that he had only followed policies outlined by the President and Congress.

Senator La Follette told the Senate that confirmation of his six nominees would "tend to destroy the hope of the American people for a just and democratic peace," and he took the State Department to task for "pious" statements recently issued favoring self-determination by peoples.

Events taking place in Europe, the Senator said, made it clear to him that the Atlantic Charter had become nothing more than "a scrap of paper."

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, declared that it was high time for Mr. Rooseelt to lay down surrender terms for America's enemies.

"It is the utmost stupidity just to stand by and say that we're for unconditional surrender," Mr. Wheeler said. "As long as we go on demanding unconditional surrender, we are costing the lives of thousands of American boys every day."

His idea, the Montanan continued, was to have the United States dictate the terms of peace—the removal of Hitler and all his satellites, and the establishment of a democratic form of government in Germany.

Unless Marshal Stalin chooses soon to open an offensive against Germany through Poland, Mr. Wheeler said, the whole Allied strategy would have to be changed

F. D. R. Returns From 3-Week Vacation

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt returned today from a three-week vacation at Warm Springs, Ga.

Facing momentous months in the fields of war and Allied diplomacy —plus the beginning of a fourth term and organization of a new Congress—the Chief Executive came back sun-tanned and a few pounds heavier.

During the morning he telephoned Senators Pepper (D., Fla.) and Guffey (D., Pa.), who are bucking his nominations of six top State Department executives.

Other Engagements

He also scheduled engagements with George Messersmith, soon returning to his post as Ambassador to Mexico, and with Acting Senate Majority Leader Hill, of Alabama.

Following a late-afternoon news conference, Roosevelt arranged to see some 60 representatives of the motion-picture industry who will direct the annual "March of Dimes" next month to raise funds to combat infantile paralysis.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early, reminded by reporters that Roosevelt conferred with Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark during a vacation in South Carolina last spring, was asked whether the Chief Executive had had any conferences in Warm Springs.

"No Conferences"

Early said that Secretary William D. Hassett, who accompanied the President, "tells me there were no conferences down there."

Early remarked that the President "looks wonderful and seems to be in grand shape."

He returned from Georgia via Camp Lejeune, on New River, at Jacksonville, N.C., where yesterday he inspected the marine combat reservation. This was his only side trip outside of Georgia during his vacation.

On the drive through the camp with its commandant, Maj. Gen. John Marston, he saw 64 marine war dogs parade with their trainers while T.N.T. blasts went off in simulation of combat explosions.

Roosevelt planned to hold a news conference late today. It will be the first since the special one he called the day he left for Warm Springs, at which he announced the resignation of Cordell Hull as Secretary of State.

For security reasons, news of the trip was withheld until the President was back in the White House. Representatives of three news services accompanied the party.

Signed Over 75 Bills

During his absence, Roosevelt signed more than 75 bills and vetoed a few, kept informed of the European political developments, and reorganized the whole top level of the State Department. All of the executive actions, however, were announced at the White House in Washington.

Despite the heavy routine, the President slept ten to twelve hours every night.

He made two informal speeches. He spoke to the polio patients at a turkey dinner the night of his arrival. Although he talked about half an hour to some 300 people, the speech was officially classed as "off the record."

ROOSEVELT EDITS ACCOUNTS OF TRIP

Washington, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—President Roosevelt turned editor on his way back to Washington from his southern vacation.

By request, representatives of the three national news services who accompanied him submitted their stories on the trip to him for review yesterday after leaving Camp Lejeune, N. C. He suggested a few minor changes.

This has been the custom on several "off-the-record" trips by the Chief Executive.

Camp Lejeune, Jacksonville, N. C., Dec. 18 (Delayed) (A. P.).—President Roosevelt toured this great United States Marine combat training camp for two hour today en route home from his Warm Springs, Ga., vacation. He left with vivid impressions of men training for early overseas duty, of trick drills, and of steel-jawed dogs trained for scout duty under combat fire.

In company with Major-Gen. John Marston, camp commandant, Mr. Roosevelt motored through nearly two-thirds of the 107,000-acre tract. Here are trained officers and men, women's reserves, riflemen and specialists, Negro depot battalions and ammunition companies.

The presidential car stopped nearly a dozen times for Mr. Roosevelt to view various units on parade and to receive honors for the Commander in Chief. The women Marine officers were questioned at length by the President as they were called to the side of his car.

A war dog training company of sixty-four Doberman pinchers and German shepherds put on the noisiest show as they went through their drills amid loud explosions of TNT, part of the routine to accustom them for duty under combat conditions.

Although several loud speakers had been set up at various points in the camp, Mr. Roosevelt limited his remarks to private conversations with officers.

F.D.R. Still Stands On Principles Of Atlantic Charter

Washington —(AP)— President Roosevelt, returning to a capital seething with debate on foreign policy, yesterday declared he still stood on the Atlantic Charter's principles.

He said the charter did not exist as a formal document signed by himself and Prime Minister Churchill but that it was signed in substance.

It was Mr. Roosevelt's first opportunity to use the world sounding board of a White House conference in more than three weeks —he returned yesterday morning from a visit to Warm Springs, Ga.—and he picked his way carefully through a cross-fire of questions dealing chiefly with foreign affairs.

Besides the Atlantic Charter, the conference revolved about these key subjects:

POLAND—The President was told the Washington Evening Star had a headline saying the United States opposes the partition of Poland and the Washington Times-Herald had a headline saying this country supports the partition. "Which do you prefer?" he was asked. He much preferred the Star to the other paper, the President replied.

GREECE—The President was told that British Labor Minister Ernest Bevin had said that at Quebec the President initialed a British plan for stabilizing Greece. Hadn't that been denied at the State Department? Mr. Roosevelt asked. Told it had not, he said perhaps something more polite was said but that anyway it shouldn't have been brought up because it was too contentious.

A GENERAL STATEMENT OF AMERICAN POLICY — An observer said some of Mr. Roosevelt's strongest supporters in Congress as well as some of his strongest opponents were urging that he re-state this country's policy. The President said he didn't think he could comment; that the policy was on the record, and he advised against trying to re-state it.

A ROOSEVELT-CHURCHILL-STALIN CONFERENCE — "Do you welcome and do you foresee" an early conference? he was asked. That was all highly speculative, the President replied. When his questioner said he would like to remove the speculation by going to the "highest source," the President laughed and said, so would he. No definite date for a meeting has been set, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Asked whether he intended to go "right or left" from now on, Mr. Roosevelt said that when he first took office he said he intended to go a little to the left of center and that still stood. Someone remarked that the President had said some time back that Dr. New Deal had been replaced by Dr. Win-the-War. The President repeated he intended to go along a little left of center and that included winning the war. That was not, he remarked, much of an answer.

"Would you call the State Department nominations left of center?" he was asked. Some critics of the selection of Edward R. Stettinius Jr., former head of U. S. Steel, as secretary of state and of his top aides have described them as forming a "millionaire's club."

Mr. Roosevelt replied that he called himself left of center. There were lots of people in the government, he remarked, some to the right and some to the left.

The Atlantic charter came up when Mr. Roosevelt was asked:

"Did Mr. Chufchill sign the Atlantic Charter?"

Nobody ever signed it, the President replied.

"Where is it?" he was asked.

Nobody has one, the President said, adding that the nearest thing to it probably was in the hands of the radio operators on the Cruiser Augusta and the British battleship Prince of Wales.

The charter was released after a sea meeting of the President and Prime Minister in the summer of 1940. Relating how it was composed, Mr. Roosevelt said it was scribbled by various persons; that Sumner Welles, then undersecretary of state, wrote part of it, and then the President's and the Prime Minister's aides were directed to send it to the governments and the press.

Among the points in that charter were:

No territorial changes not in accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned.

Respect for the rights of all peoples to choose their forms of government.

"Isn't it true," he was asked, "that all the United Nations have signed the principles of the Atlantic Charter?"

That was right, the President replied, they signed on Jan. 1, 1942.

Later, his secretary, Stephen Early, showed the document received by radio from the Augusta in August, 1941.

JAPS GET THEIR BOMBS BACK

Washington, Dec. 19 (A. P.). The Japs now are being hit with "Made in Japan" bombs.

Jap bombs captured at Tarawa have been used by the Army Air Forces in attacking islands in the Marianas and Marshall groups, Col. William S. McCulla, ordnance officer from Lieut.-Gen. Millard Harmon's command, reported today.

"Planes of the Seventh Air Force dropped a few duds on Tinian," Col. McCulla said, "so the Japs could see that they were getting their own bombs back."

Paul V. McNutt To Visit Western Battlefront

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Paul V. McNutt, War Manpower Commissioner, will leave shortly for Europe for a first-hand inspection of the Western battlefront, it was learned today.

He will be accompanied by other officials of WMC and representatives of the War Production Board. They are expected to be away two or three weeks.

One reason for the trip is to appraise the munitions supply situation, with special attention on shortage problems.

McNutt has just returned from about a month's stay in Miami, Fla., where he went for treatment of a throat ailment and sinus infection.

7 Tug Masters Decorated

2 New Yorkers and a Jerseyite Won Bronze Star Off Normandy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP).—Admiral Harold R. Stark, commander of United States Naval Forces in Europe, has awarded the Bronze Star Medal to the masters of seven sea-going Merchant Marine tugs. Announcing the awards today, the War Shipping Administration said they were for "meritorious service and courageous devotion to duty" during landing operations in Normandy.

Among the captains decorated were H. Jessey, of 4214 Thirtieth Avenue, Astoria, New York, master of the Moose Peak; C. I. Parkin, Woodbury, N. J., master of the tug Great Isaac, and W. H. Halme, 1033 Third Avenue, New York City, master of the Bodie Island.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—Among 2,677 casualties announced today by the War Department, all based upon prior notification to next of kin, were the following from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut:

Senate Confirms Steinhardt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP).—The Senate today confirmed the nomination of Laurence A. Steinhardt, of New York, to be Ambassador to the government of Czechoslovakia now in London. Mr. Steinhardt was formerly American Ambassador to Turkey.

FLYER DEFIES FIRE IN RESCUE

Saves 20 From Flaming Sea When Japs Sink Tanker

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The pilot of a little seaplane who defied a mass of flames to rescue twenty men as a Navy tanker sank is a hero the ship's captain would like to meet.

His name is not even known to the skipper, P. G. Beck, whose U.S.S. Mississinewa, 23,000-ton auxiliary oiler, went down from enemy action in the central Pacific, surrounded by fire after explosions had ripped her hull.

Taxied To Rim Of Flames

Beck said the pilot "saw our plight and put his plane down in the water. He would taxi up to the rim of flames, throw out a thin line with a floater on it for those struggling men to grab onto, and then tow them to safety."

"He kept on going back, until he had rescued at least twenty men who otherwise probably would have burned to death. I wish I could find out who that pilot was—he just disappeared after his rescue work was done."

Naval men in small boats were at work and about 80 per cent of the approximately 250 officers and men were saved. Next of kin of all those lost have been notified, the Navy said, in disclosing the sinking today.

Built At Sparrows Point

The Mississinewa, built at the Bethlehem plant at Sparrows Point, Md., was commissioned in May, 1944.

She was the 234th American naval vessel listed as lost since the war began. This total includes 186 ships sunk, 38 overdue and presumed lost and 10 destroyed to prevent capture.

The sinking vessel was almost completely surrounded by burning oil after the first explosion and two subsequent ones in the fuel bunkers.

First Blast Rips Bow

All men who were not killed in the explosions went over the side into one narrow channel of free water and swam toward the edge of the flames.

The first explosion ripped the [illegible]w while many of the crew were [illegible]ving breakfast.

Seconds later the forward gas tanks blew up and Beck said flames poured in the portholes "like a giant blow torch."

Only one man, Eugene G. Cooley, a seamen, who was an exceptionally good swimmer, escaped from the forepart of the ship after the initial explosion.

Army Planes In Full Flight Pick Up Human Passengers

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Army airplanes in full flight can now pick human passengers off the ground with scarcely a jolt.

The method, announced today by the Army Air Forces, is based on a pickup idea first used by a rural air-mail service in West Virginia.

As a result of experiments conducted by the Air Technical Service Command at Wright Field, project engineers of the ATSC said the practice had been developed to a point where AAF standardization can be seriously considered.

Washingtonian Was First

The first human pickup was a paratrooper, the late First Lieutenant Alexis Doster, of Washington. On September 5, 1943, he demonstrated the practical use of the new equipment which may make possible a revolutionary means of rescue for stranded AAF airmen forced down in inaccessible locations.

Since then, the feat was successfully accomplished on September 23, 1944, and again October 7.

After the first try, despite its success, engineers concluded the risk was still too high and that the safety factor would have to be improved. Practice was continued on cargo, dummies and live sheep.

First Sheep Was Killed

The first sheep picked up was killed when the harness twisted and the rope strangled it. Changes were effected which made all other sheep pickups successful.

The pickup mechanism includes a reel inside the plane cabin with 185 feet of half-inch Nylon rope. At the free end of the rope is a hook held by a release mechanism. A 10-foot wooden pole hanging below the plane guides the tow rope hook into the pickup loop.

Automatic delayed action brakes and an electric reeling motor weighing a total of 200 pounds complete the airborne mechanism.

In Ground Equipment

Ground equipment includes a special harness fastened to a Nylon loop hung above the ground between two poles.

To the eyewitness, the picked-up subject gains altitude smoothly after an initial vertical ascent of about eight inches. The plane climbs until it is just above stalling speed. With the plane mushing along, the subject hangs almost perpendicularly.

Then the reeling-in begins and the plane levels off. It takes 2 minutes and 45 seconds from the time the man leaves the ground until he is in the plane.

Shock Termed Only Slight

Engineers reported that there was less sensation of shock to the human pickup than if one jumped from a kitchen chair stiff-legged.

Pickups are now made at 130 miles an hour air speed. Experiments will continue with the goal of eventually being able to use faster cargo ships and even fighters.

'41 SHIP RATES HELD TOO HIGH

House Group Cites Profits Of Voyages To Red Sea Area

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—A story of how nineteen steamship lines made profits averaging $300,000 a voyage hauling war cargoes was filed with Congress today.

The information came from the House Merchant Marine Committee in a report which labeled the payments, made with lend-lease funds, "completely out of line."

The committe blamed the Maritime Commission for the situation, saying it had fixed "excessive rates" for the voyages.

The report said two of the lines—the Weyerhaeuser Steamship Company and the American President Lines—have refunded 51 per cent of their profits and that the commission now was trying, with little success, to get back some of the profits from others through court action.

To Suez Via Red Sea

The profits were made, the report stated, on war cargoes hauled in 1941 from the United States to Suez and vicinity via the Red Sea for the British Government.

Ninety voyages were reported made, with profits totaling $26,874,176. In many cases, the committee said, the profit per voyage equaled nearly half the ship's value.

Although not making a detailed criticism of the commission, the committee declared that "at the very time it was fixing the Red Sea rates at a level above that of the going commercial rate, it was taking the position that going rates were excessive and unjustifiably high and was taking steps to reduce them."

Called World Rates At Time

Edward P. Farley, board chairman of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, one of the lines concerned, commented that Government witnesses had informed the committee that the Red Sea rates were world shipping rates at the time.

"Any lower rates would discriminate against those American ship owners whose ships were used for this purpose," Farley said. "It is to the ship owners' credit that they were equipped, ready, able and willing to venture into the hazardous Red Sea area while the United States was neutral."

Nye In Farewell Talk Predicts Third War

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Senator Nye (R., N.D.) said today he was sure that within ten or twenty years "we will be told that we must go into another European war."

Every sign now indicates, Nye said in a farewell speech in the Senate, that following this war Europe is going to be "divided into two great blocs—a Russian bloc and a British bloc."

"Knowing the power of British propaganda," he declared, "we will be told that we must fight another European war "to keep Russia from seizing control of the world."

Defends His Record

The North Dakotan, defeated for re-election, defended his twenty-year record in the Senate and said he did not know whether "we are going to go isolationist after this war." He added:

"But I do know this—that all the elements for an isolationist policy are either here already or rapidly accumulating."

He called the proposed Dumbarton Oaks world security organization a "three-power military alliance," and asserted:

"When World War III comes along, as it certainly will as a result of this attempt to divide up Europe and the Near and Middle East between Russia and England, we will be in it from the first day.

"Purpose Of Commitments"

"As a matter of fact, that is the real purpose of the commitments we are asked to make under the Dumbarton Oaks scheme."

Nye declared there was only one way to keep out of another world war and that was "by minding our own business—by keeping out of these entangling alliances."

HONORS PAID TO 4 HEROIC CHAPLAINS

D.S.C. Presented Posthumously By General Somervell

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Distinguished Service Crosses today were presented posthumously to the families of four chaplains who lost their lives in the Atlantic after giving up their life belts to soldiers when their ship went down.

Lost in the sinking of the troop ship Dorchester, the quartet included a Catholic and a Jewish chaplain who linked arms as the waves closed over the vessel.

Presented By Somervell

Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell, commanding general of the Army Service Forces, presented the decorations in the post chapel at nearby Fort Myer, Va. A sister of the Catholic priest and the wives of the rabbi and the two protestant ministers received the awards.

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Poling, of Schenectady, N.Y., received the award for her husband, First Lieutenant Clark V. Poling, Baptist minister. With her was their 4-year-old son, Clark, Jr. The boy's grandfather, Dr. Daniel Poling, of Philadelphia, head of the world's Christian Endeavor Union, wrote the new noted booklet, "Your Daddy Did Not Die."

Others Given Awards

Mrs. Isadore Fox, of Chicopee Falls, Mass., accompanied by her son, Sergt. Wyatt R. Fox, of the Marine Corps, and daughter, Mary E. Fox, received the award on behalf of her husband, First Lieutenant George L. Fox.

The award to First Lieutenant John P. Washington, Newark, N.J., the Catholic priest, was received by his sister, Mrs. Leonard A. Schwoebel.

Mrs. Theresa Goode, Washington, D.C., received the Cross for her husband, First Lieutenant Alexander D. Goode, who presided at the Washington Hebrew Congregation before the war as a substitute rabbi.

ARMY GETS BULK OF ALL OVERCOATS

Washington, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The largest manufacturers of wool clothing in the country will be frozen to the manufacture of woolen overcoats for the Army on January 1.

The order, issued today by the War Production Board, is effective through April 30, 1945, and requires equal deliveries of the garments through February, March and April.

The action applies to all manufacturers who produced, between July 1 and Sept. 30 of this year, at least 1,750 men's overcoats, or 7,000 men's coats, including overcoats, from wool fabric.

Before being allowed to make civilian men's clothing while the directive is in effect, the manufacturer must meet certain requirements. They are that he accept contracts from the Army to produce a quantity of Army overcoats at least equal to the total numbers of all overcoats made by him from July 1 through September 30, 1944, or equal to 25 per cent of the total number of all coats produced by him in that period, whichever quantity is larger.

One week after the Army delivers the uncut cloth to him, the manufacturer must halt sewing operations on civilian garments unless he has first begun on the Army cloth in quantity sufficient to produce the required ratio of military garments.

The directive was signed Saturday, December 16, but was not publicly announced and did not become general knowledge until copies of the text were filed officially.

Radio Ferry Dispatching Test

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP).—The radio division of the Bendix Aviation Corp. was authorized by the Federal Communications Commission today to experiment in the radio dispatching of car ferries and trains in the Great Lakes area. The company was granted permits for a portable coastal harbor station and two portable-mobile ship stations for radio-telephon

Murray, Green In Clash Over Labor Unity

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Philip Murray, CIO president, and William Green, AFL president, clashed today over the type of unity their labor groups could support in war or in peace.

Both organizations in their recent conventions flirted with the subject of labor unity, and Murray reopened it last night with a letter to Green urging a meeting to work out a broad program of action.

Murray's plan definitely omitted the possibility of a merger—the point on which Green and convention delegates felt strongest. The AFL wants the CIO and John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers to come back to the Federation, from which they departed seven years ago.

"No Prodigal Son Question"

"It is too late in the day merely to talk of labor unity. It is no longer a question of the prodigal son returning to the fold, nor of the disgraced daughter being sent forth into the winter snows," Murray wrote.

The alacrity with which Green leaped upon Murray's offer, which he termed "the same sort of phony functional unity which the CIO has often prated about in the past," evoked no comment from Murray as he left on a vacation.

In Keeping With Convention

This was in keeping with his convention action when he hurdled the AFL leadership, which he described as "frustrated and corroded," with a direct appeal to the rank and file of the AFL and the mine workers to join with the CIO in its program.

Green's group, on the other hand, adopted resolutions authorizing its idling committees on peace negotiations with the CIO and Lewis to resume discussions whenever that seemed feasible.

Green said he interpreted Murray's letter as a "flat refusal on the part of the CIO to accept the American Federation of Labor's appeals for resumption of conferences seeking a united labor movement in America."

War Production Board Staff Chief Resigns

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Resignation of Arthur H. Bunker, of New York city, as chief of staff of the War Production Board was announced today by Chairman J. A. Krug.

Bunker, who had served WPB and its predecessor agency three and one half years gave ill-health as his reason for leaving.

The resignation left a new vacancy in WPB's top command, which Krug recently shuffled by naming H. G. Batcheller his chief of operations and moving Harold Boeschenstein, another WPB veteran, up to the operations vice chairmanship formerly held by Batcheller.

Federal Jury Indicts Merck And Company

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Justice Department announced today a Federal grand jury at Trenton, N.J., indicted Merck & Co., manufacturing chemists, on charges of violating the Food and Drug Act.

The department said the indictment charged that the labeling used by the Rahway (N.J.) company for the crystalline form of the drug "Doryl" was insufficient to guard against improper use, which might result in death.

The Justice Department said that two patients died in a Detroit hospital in November, 1941, almost immediately following Doryl injections. It said that at a coroner's inquest it was established that a nurse had mistakenly given the crystal instead of the liquid form, and that the jury charged that Merck had been "grossly negligent by its mislabeling of the drug."

Postal Work Raise Killed in Senate

Washington (AP)—An objection by Senator Bailey (D-NC) killed in the Senate last night house-approved legislation to increase the pay of most postal employes $400 a year.

Senator Mead (D-NY) sought action on the measure but Bailey made a parliamentary point that it had not been before the Senate sufficient time. Senator Connally (D-Tex.), presiding, upheld the point of order.

Bailey complained that the bill granted uniform increases to all postmasters and employes, regardless of merit.

"It breaks down the line of stabilization," Bailey declared.

Senator Downey (D-Calif) said that the pay hike was "long overdue and well earned."

WARD SEIZURE HELD IMMINENT

Firm's Wage Action Short Of Compliance, WLB Says

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Montgomery Ward's refusal to comply with War Labor Board directives apparently was turned over to the White House tonight. Early seizure of some of the mail-order firm's properties appeared possible.

William H. Davis, chairman of the WLB, and Lloyd Garrison, public member, conferred with Fred Vinson, Director of Economic Stabilization, late in the day.

While there was no announcement as to the reason, there appeared little doubt the conference concerned the Ward case.

Earlier, the WLB reported that it was continuing with the Ward case in the customary manner. . . . That of preparing papers for Vinson's consideration.

Gypsum Seizure Indicated

Meanwhile, eventual seizure of properties of the United States Gypsum Company, also headed by Sewell Avery, board chairman of Montgomery Ward, was indicted.

The United Mine Workers of America asked the WLB to refer to the White House two cases involving alleged noncompliance by Boston and Los Angeles plants of United States Gypsum.

A board member told a reporter that these cases probably will be turned over to Davis with authority to pass them along to Vinson.

The WLB set a deadline of Monday night for Avery to announce compliance with board directives in the Montgomery Ward case. With no direct word from Avery, the board turned to the White House.

Possible Courses For Vinson

Vinson now is expected to dig into the details of the record.

Other Ward units involved in pending cases are in Chicago, Denver, St. Paul, Portland, Ore.; San Rafael, Cal., and Jamaica, N.Y.

Vinson could invoke economic restrictions against the Ward chain with its 500 units across the continent or could pass the file along to President Roosevelt for possible seizure of stores in some or all of the seven cities involved.

The WLB said it learned that Montgomery Ward this morning announced to Detroit area employés that it would increase minimum wages to 46 cents an hour with retroactive pay.

Notices to this effect were distributed to employés as they entered the firm's four retail stores where members of the CIO-Retail Employés' Union have been on strike.

Held Short Of Compliance

The board said that the company's move would still fall short of the compliance order on retroactive pay.

The board ordered retroactive pay from December 7, 1942, compared with the company's intention of dating it from September 1, 1943.

Last spring Ward's Chicago plant was taken over by the Commerce Department when Avery refused to meet the terms and conditions of another board directive.

Then Avery questioned the right of the CIO union to represent his workers.

Now he particularly opposes the union-security issue—WLB orders requiring the company to conduct a check-off of union dues and requiring union members to maintain their union membership for the life of a union-management contract.

Company's New Wage Scale

Detroit, Dec. 19 (AP)—Montgomery Ward & Co. notified employés of its four strike-affected Detroit-area stores today it was placing in effect a minimum basic wage scale which it first offered in 1943 and similar to one which the War Labor Board recommended in May, 1944.

R. W. Rosevear, Detroit-area manager for the company, said pay adjustments would be made retroactive to September 1, 1943, and that checks would be issued to the employés "as soon as the amounts can be figured."

Spokesmen for the United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employés (CIO) said the union would continue its strike until the company agreed to make the wage adjustments retroactive to December, 1942, as directed by the WLB and to comply with other WLB orders.

Some $500,000 is involved in the dispute over the retroactive date, they said.

Circuit Judge John V. Brennan today directed the striking unionists to show cause at a hearing December 27 why they should not be enjoined from interfering with Montgomery Ward employés. The company applied for an injunction last Saturday, charging violence and intimidation of nonstriking workers.

NORDEN SIGHT FIRM INDICTED

Government Charges Output Was Hampered

DEC 20 1944

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Carl L. Norden, Inc., makers of the famed Norden bombsights, was indicted by a Federal grand jury today, accused of conspiracy to hamper output of the war devices which have been credited with playing a major part in American air successes.

Named in two indictments were Theodore H. Barth, president, and Ward E. Marvelle, vice president of the Norden firm; the efficiency survey company of Corrigan, Osburne & Wells; Commander John D. Corrigan, USN, as head of the concern, and Robert H. Wells, vice president.

The indictments further charged a conspiracy designed to force war plants to employ the survey company, specialists in the installation of production control systems.

Norden Not Involved

Carl L. Norden, Dutch-born inventor of the bombsight who recently turned over to the United States Government all patents, models and designs, was not involved, Government officials said, adding that he no longer was associated with the firm.

The Norden firm said later in a statement that the charges were "as utterly fantastic as they are untrue."

"This corporation developed the Norden bombsight, turned the patents over to the Navy, and has not only met but exceeded every production schedule set up by the Navy," the statement continued.

Denies Misconduct

Wells, in another statement, denied any misconduct by himself, the corporation or Corrigan, and expressed confidence that all would be "fully vindicated at any trial."

The first bill accused the four men and the Norden company with conspiracy to impede navy supervisors of production by Remington Rand, Inc., Emira, N. Y., of the bombsight under subcontract with the Norden concern.

Corrigan, Wells and their firm were named in the other indictment which made a similar charge and accused Corrigan of concealing his financial interest in his company and filing false reports of war plant surveys to the Navy.

Under Suspension

Corrigan's navy commission has been under suspension since June when inquiry into the case was started by the grand jury, the Justice Department and the Senate War Investigating Committee. In Washington, the Navy said the question of a court-martial for Corrigan had been held in abeyance pending completion of the grand jury proceedings.

None of the defendants was under arrest when the indictments were handed to Federal Judge Edward A. Conger. The Justice Department said conviction on the charges would mean a miximum penalty of $10,000 fine and two years' imprisonment.

Indictment Language

The first indictment charged that:

Shortly after war was declared the Norden firm, sole manufacturers of the secret bombsight, negotiated a subcontract with Remington Rand to manufacture a component part.

The Norden defendants furnished faulty information to Remington Rand so that Corrigan, in charge of the production management subsection of the Navy's ordnance bureau, could recommend that the plant be taken over by the Navy.

The Navy did this, giving the Norden firm a management contract. Later, the Norden concern and the Elmira plant hired the Corrigan firm, paying it a total of $104,000.

Slowdown Charged

In July, 1943, the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America union (CIO) charged the Norden company with slowdown practices, but Corrigan made a survey for the Navy denying the allegations.

Barth and Marvelle plotted to keep control of production by slowing down output of their subsidiary, the Cardanic Corporation, which failed to fulfill a contract to supply bombsights to the Army Air Forces. The War Department canceled the contract in July, 1943, and the Navy then contracted with the Norden firm, taking the sights which Cardanic had failed to deliver.

Corrigan Charges

The second indictment said:

Corrigan concealed his interests in his company, although purporting to have severed himself from it when he became a navy civilian employé in May, 1942.

Using his navy position to procure private business, he received $109,000 from his firm after his purported resignation.

Corrigan, Wells and the survey firm conspired to force several manufacturing companies to employ the Corrigan concern under threats that adverse reports would be submitted to the Navy.

Among those so coerced were: Bell & Howell, Inc., Chicago; Downington Manufacturing Company, Downington, Pa.; Remington Rand, and Vickers, Inc., Waterbury tool division, Waterbury, Conn.

Called "Vicious Lie"

The Norden company's denial also said that "not only did the Remington Rand Corporation receive the fullest co-operation of Carl L. Norden, Inc., but Remington Rand has repeatedly acknowledged this fact."

"To allege that Carl L. Norden, Inc., and its officials conspired to interfere with war production is to state a vicious lie and is an inspired attempt to cover up the utter failure of Remington Rand, Inc., to produce bombsights acceptable to the Navy in the plant formerly operated by Remington Rand, Inc., at Elmira, N.Y."

The defendants were ordered into Federal Court December 28 to plead to the indictments.

Phone Strike Vote Begins

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Approximately 6,000 long-distance telephone operators employed here by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company began voting today on whether they should strike if they fail to win their demands for a general wage increase of $5 weekly, now pending before the War Labor Board.

The vote continues tomorrow and will be tallied tomorrow night.

Demands Stated

Mrs. Norma Naughton, chairman of Local 101, Federation of Long Lines Telephone Workers, said long-distance operators in New York receive from $20 to $34 weekly. The union is asking, in addition to the general wage increase, that the twelve-year employment period for maximum wages be reduced to nine years.

A company spokesman said the company agreed to cut the twelve-year employment period and referred the proposed wage increase to the WLB. A WLB panel approved the increase and sent its report to Washington, the spokesman said.

Mrs. Naughton said a strike vote was being taken today in Kansas City, with 300 operators voting, and one was scheduled next week in Philadelphia.

Ford Files Demurrers To Election Indictment

Albany, N.Y., Dec. 19 (AP)—The Ford Motor Company filed demurrers in county court today to an indictment alleging it had docked three employés of its Green Island plant for time off to vote election day.

John Broderick, attorney for the company, and three codefendant officials claimed the indictment did not conform to certain provisions of the code of criminal procedure and that the alleged act did not constitute a crime.

Ship Loads U.S. Prisoner Gifts

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 19 (AP).—Christmas packages for American prisoners of war overseas are being loaded aboard the International Red Cross ship Caritas 2d, which arrived here Saturday with 300,000 bundles for German prisoners in this country. In addition to about 500,000 packages for American soldiers, the Caritas will carry clothing, medical supplies and food for liberated nations.

Re-Educate Reich, Rabbis Urge

Chicago (AP)—A re-educated German people "can in time become a worthy member of the family of mankind," the commission on justice and peace of the Central Conference of American Rabbis said yesterday.

"In considering the treatment of a defeated Germany," the statement read, "we as religious leaders first affirm our confident hope that the victorious Allies will be guided by justice rather than by vengeance.

"We believe that a re-educated German people can in time become a worthy member of the family of mankind. We accept, however, the necessity for such effective measures of control as will insure the spiritual and material changes that will prevent Germany from again building up a military machine to threaten the peace of the world."

The commission said it favored "the immediate and speedy trial" in Allied courts of Germans responsible for crimes against civilians and violations of international law.

THE GERMANS ARE WELL ENTRENCHED ON THIS ROUTE, WHICH LIES SOUTH OF THE MOUNTAINS OF CENTRAL SLOVAKIA. THEY HAVE THE BUDAPEST-VIENNA RAILROAD AS THEIR MAIN SUPPLY LINE AND NUMEROUS GOOD ROADS. BY LOUIS P.LOCHNER
LONDON, DEC 19-(AP)-THE GERMAN RADIO CLAIM ACCORDING TO WHICH ADOLF HITLER HIMSELF IS THE MASTER MIND BEHIND THE RUNDSTEDT OFFENSIVE MAY WELL BE A FAIR INDICATION OF THE DESPERATENESS OF THE GERMAN SITUATION. IT MAY ALSO SIGNAL THAT GERMANY WILL BE NEAR THE END OF HER RESOURCES IF GENERAL EISENHOWER'S STRATEGY SHOULD TURN THE PRESENT FORWARD RUSH INTO A CATASTROPHIC ROUT.
USUALLY IT HAS NOT BEEN CUSTOMARY TO CLAIM GLORY FOR HITLER AS THE DIRECTING GENIUS OF A MILITARY UNDERTAKING UNTIL ITS SUCCESS IS ASSURED. IF HIS NAME IS LINKED, THIS EARLY WITH THE RUNDSTEDT OFFENSIVE BY GOEBBELS' STOOGES, THERE WOULD SEEM TO BE A DOUBLE EXPLANATION, ESPECIALLY AFTER HITLER'S WEEKS OF SILENCE.
FIRST, THERE HAS EVIDENTLY BEEN SO MUCH HARMFUL SPECULATION CONCERNING HITLER'S WHEREABOUTS AND STATE OF HEALTH THAT THEY MAY HAVE FELT IT WAS IMPERATIVE FROM THE VIEWPOINT OF FAILING GERMAN MORALE ONCE AGAIN TO PROJECT HIM ONTO THE SCENE IN HIS USUAL SUPERMAN ROLE.
SECOND, THE RUNDSTEDT OFFENSIVE MAY HAVE BEEN CONSIDERED SO HAZARDOUS THAT THE GERMAN PEOPLE, TO HAVE FAITH IN IT, NEEDED THE FURTHER ASSURANCE THAT THE MAN WHO CAN DO NO WRONG WAS PERSONALLY GUIDING GERMANY'S MILITARY DESTINY NOW.
HOWEVER ONE MAY LOOK AT IT, THE INVOKING OF HITLER'S NAME SEEMS AN ACT OF DESPERATION RATHER THAN ONE OF STRENGTH. FOR, ALREADY THE GERMAN RADIO HAS BEEN CAUTIONING THE PUBLIC NOT TO EXPECT TOO MUCH BUT RATHER TO REFLECT UPON THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE STRUGGLE IMMEDIATELY AHEAD.
THE GERMAN PRESS, ACTING UNDER GOEBBELS' ORDERS, HAS ISSUED SIMILAR WARNINGS. IN OTHER WORDS HITLER'S NAME IS CONNECTED WITH SOMETHING WHICH MAY FAIL. IT IS A MOST UNUSUAL PROCEDURE FOR GOEBBELS, WHO CONSISTENTLY HAS REPRESENTED HITLER AS INFALLIBLE.
ASSUMING, AS EVERY AMERICAN DOES, THAT THE RUNDSTEDT OFFENSIVE FAILS, IT WILL BE DIFFICULT TO EXPLAIN TO THE GERMAN PEOPLE THAT THE FUEHRER WAS RIGHT IN HIS PLANNING BUT THE EXPERIENCED FIELD MARSHAL WRONG IN ITS EXECUTION. HITLER THIS TIME HAS STUCK HIS NECK OUT. FAILURE OF THE GERMAN COUNTERATTACK WILL BE HIS PERSONAL FAILURE.
IT MUST BE TAKEN FOR GRANTED THAT THOSE IN CHARGE OF GERMAN PROPAGANDA KNOW WHAT FAILURE OF THE RUNDSTEDT OFFENSIVE WILL DO TO HITLER'S PRESTIGE. IT WOULD, THEREFORE, SEEM A FAIR DEDUCTION THAT THIS OFFENSIVE IS NAZIDOM'S LAST BID FOR A SETTLEMENT SHORT OF EVENTUAL UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER.

THE ONLY INDICATION OF THE GERMAN ADVANCE PERMISSABLE AT SUPREME HEADQUARTERS WAS AN ANNOUNCEMENT FROM THE U.S.NINTH AIR FORCE WHICH SAID THAT BRITISH TYPHOONS HAD ATTACKED 20 GERMAN ARMORED VEHICLES WEST OF THE BELGIAN TOWN OF STAVELOT.

THIS TOWN IS 18 MILES FROM THE GERMAN BORDER IN THE VICINITY OF BUCHHOLZ AND IS 21.8 MILES FROM THE BORDER BY HIGHWAY. IT IS 4 1/2 MILES SOUTHWEST OF MALMEDY AND 24 MILES SOUTHEAST OF THE FORTRESS CITY OF LIEGE.

THE EXACT EXTENT OF THE GERMAN PENETRATION WAS DIFFICULT TO DETERMINE. BEFORE THE PRESENT ENEMY COUNTEROFFENSIVE BEGAN THE FRONT HAD BEEN INACTIVE FOR SOME TIME, AND WHILE THE ORIGINAL LINE GENERALLY CONFORMED TO THE GERMAN FRONTIER IT BULGED INTO GERMANY IN SOME PLACES AND INTO BELGIUM AT OTHERS, DEPENDING ON GEOGRAPHICAL FEATURES. THERE ALSO WAS A CONSIDERABLE NO MAN'S LAND.

THERE WAS NO NEWS FROM LUXEMBOURG BEYOND THE EARLIER DISCLOSURES THAT ENEMY DRIVES WERE AIMED AT THE LUXEMBOURG FRONTIER TOWN OF VIANDEN AND HAD REACHED ECHTERNACH, 13 MILES SOUTHEAST OF VIANDEN.

(THE GERMAN RADIO SAID GERMAN TROOPS HAD CROSSED NORTHERN LUXEMBOURG ON A BROAD FRONT AND WERE NEARING THE BELGIAN BORDER. THIS WOULD PUT ENEMY UNITS ABOUT EIGHT MILES BEYOND POSITIONS FROM WHICH THEY STRUCK THREE DAYS AGO. OTHER ENEMY BROADCASTS SAID FORWARD AMERICAN POSITIONS HAD BEEN OVERRUN FOR 20 MILES NORTHWARD FROM LUXEMBOURG'S NORTHERN TIP).

THE GERMAN COUNTEROFFENSIVE THUS FAR HAD FAILED IN ONE OF ITS APPARENT OBJECTIVES. IT HAD NOT FORCED THE FIRST ARMY TO LET UP PRESSURE ON THE ROER RIVER FRONT WEST OF COLOGNE.

THE AMERICANS CLEARED ROLSDORF, LESS THAN A MILE SOUTHWEST OF DUREN. THE VILLAGE OF LENDERSDORF, A MILE FARTHER SOUTH AND ONLY A HALF MILE FROM THE ROER, WAS ALL BUT CLEARED OF THE ENEMY.

TO THE NORTH NINTH ARMY TROOPS IN LOCAL LINE STRAIGHTENING OPERATIONS AND IN ADVANCES OF ONE TO TWO MILES TOOK WURM AND MULLENDORF AND CLEARED BEECK, NORTHEAST OF GIELENKIRCHEN. GERMAN OPPOSITION WAS LIGHT AND MANY PILLBOXES ACTUALLY WERE UNMANNED.

AMERICAN THIRD ARMY TROOPS HAVE DRIVEN TO THE EASTERN EDGE OF THE FORTIFIED CITY OF DILLINGEN. TO COMPLETE THE OCCUPATION OF THAT CITY IN THE WESTERN PART OF THE SAAR BASIN THE AMERICANS HAVE TO REDUCE FIVE STRONG PILLBOXES.

IMMEDIATELY TO THE SOUTH ANOTHER GERMAN STRONGPOINT IN THE SAARLAUTERN SUBURB OF RODEN FELL. OTHER THIRD ARMY UNITS SCORED GAINS OF A HALF-MILE IN THE SOUTHERN PART OF THE BASIN.

ON A 14-MILE FRONT EXTENDING WESTWARD FROM THE RHINE FOUR DIVISIONS OF THE U.S.SEVENTH ARMY EDGED FORWARD INTO THE GERMAN PALATINATE'S SIEGFRIED LINE DEFENSES. IN FORESTS NORTHWEST OF WISSEMBOURG, THE AMERICANS CAPTURED NIEDER-SCHLETTENBACH AND BUNDENTHAL, BOTH TWO MILES INSIDE GERMANY.

PARIS, DEC 19-(AP)-A NEW PARIS DAILY NEWSPAPER, LE MONDE, SIMILAR IN TYPOGRAPHY AND FORMAT TO THE PRE-WAR LE TEMPS, APPEARED TODAY, BRINGING THE TOTAL NUMBER OF CAPITAL DAILIES TO 17.

MEANWHILE, IN A FRONT PAGE EDITORIAL THE SOCIALIST POPULAIRE DEMANDED MORE AND BETTER NEWS SOURCES THAN THE SEMI-OFFICIAL AGENCE FRANCE PRESSE. IT ARGUED THAT THE AGENCY WAS KEEPING THE PUBLIC "BADLY INFORMED" ON EVENTS ABROAD.

COMPARING THE PRE-WAR DIVERSITY OF NEWS SOURCES WITH WHAT IT CALLED A "MONOPOLY IN FACT" ENJOYED BY AFP, POPULAIRE URGED GREATER IMPARTIALITY AND OBJECTIVITY ON THE PART OF THE FRENCH AGENCY.

"OTHERWISE," THE SOCIALIST ORGAN SAID, "OUR PRESS IS NO LONGER FREE IN EVERY SENSE OF THE WORD."

AFP IS SUPPORTED BY THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT, BUT POPULAIRE SAID THAT ITS "MONOPOLY" WAS AN OUTGROWTH OF CURRENT COMMUNICATIONS DIFFICULTIES, NOT GOVERNMENT LEGISLATION.

BRUSSELS, DEC.19-(AP)-MANY PEOPLE OF WAR-WEARY LITTLE BELGIUM, FEARING A SECOND GERMAN INVASION WITHIN FIVE YEARS, WERE ON THE MOVE AGAIN TODAY WITH WAGONS, TRUCKS AND ANYTHING THAT HAD WHEELS.

TODAY I RODE IN A JEEP FROM HERE TO THE FRENCH BORDER AND EAST TOWARD THE FRONT. I SAW THE OLD, THE YOUNG AND THE VERY YOUNG TRUNDLING ALONG ANCIENT ROADS FROM LIEGE, AND EVEN IF THE AMERICAN FIRST ARMY DOES STOP THE GERMAN COUNTERATTACK, IT IS DOUBTFUL IF MANY OF THESE PEOPLE WILL BE HOME BY CHRISTMAS.

IN ONE PLACE A CIVILIAN OFFERED THE DRIVER OF MY JEEP THREE BOTTLES OF COGNAC FOR A RIDE TO BRUSSELS. COGNAC NOW IS SELLING FOR ABOUT $20 A BOTTLE.

WE SAW ONE COUPLE PAST MIDDLE AGE PEDALLING A TANDEM BICYCLE AND CARRYING EXTRA CLOTHES ON THEIR BACKS. MANY TIMES WE SAW STRONG-BACKED BELGIAN MEN PUSHING TWO-WHEELED CARTS LOADED WITH FOOD AND CLOTHES AND A FEW BELONGINGS WHILE THEIR WIVES LENT A HAND BY PULLING A ROPE ATTACHED TO THE CART. LITTLE CHILDREN WERE STRUNG OUT BEHIND.

BIG U.S. ARMY TRUCKS COMING BACK EMPTY FROM THE FRONT CARRIED LOADS OF CIVILIANS DOWN ONE SIDE OF THE ROAD WHILE ON THE OTHER SIDE AMERICAN DOUGHBOYS WITH RIFLES SLUNG AT EASE GUARDED BRIDGES AND CROSS ROADS.

RUMORS RUNNING THROUGH BELGIUM LIKE FIRE THROUGH TINDER HAVE STARTED THE MOVE FROM THE SOUTHEASTERN SECTOR OF THE COUNTRY. ANOTHER FACTOR OF FEAR IS THAT OF GERMAN PARACHUTE LANDINGS IN THE REAR OF AMERICAN LINES AND MERCILESS USE OF NAZI ROCKET PROJECTILES.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM, DEC.19-(AP)-IT IS OBVIOUS, DESPITE THE INEVITABLE CONFUSION AND FLURRY OF ATTACKS AND COUNTER-ATTACKS, THAT THE ENEMY PENETRATIONS OF THE FIRST ARMY LINE REPRESENT AN ALL-OUT GERMAN EFFORT TO CRACK THE WESTERN FRONT.

IT REMAINS TO BE SEEN WHETHER THESE PENETRATIONS REPRESENT THE ONLY STRONG PUSH AGAINST THE ALLIES OR ARE PART OF A PROJECTED GERMAN PINCER MOVEMENT, BUT THE SITUATION ON THE FIRST ARMY FRONT REMAINED TODAY IN A SEMI-FLUID STATE.

THE ENEMY APPEARED TO BE UNABLE TO WIDEN MATERIALLY THE BASES OF HIS TWIN PENETRATION TRIANGLES, BUT THE POINTS OF THOSE TRIANGLES WERE PUSHING DEEPER INTO BELGIUM.

THAT FIELD MARSHAL KARL RUDOLPH GERD VON RUNDSTEDT WAS DEFINITELY THROWING ALL HIS MIGHT AT GEN.EISENHOWER SEEMED CLEAR, IF FOR NO OTHER REASON THAN THE APPEARANCE OF CERTAIN CRACK GERMAN ELEMENTS WHICH WERE WELL KNOWN TO BE IN RESERVE FOR A "LAST DITCH" DEFENSE OF THE REICH.

OTHER FACTORS SHOWED IT WAS NOT MERELY A FIGHT FOR TIME OR SOLELY AN ATTEMPT TO UPSET PLANS FOR AN ALLIED OFFENSIVE, BUT A FULLBLOWN

ACK IN ITS OWN RIGHT.

THEY WERE CONTINUED UNSTINTED USE OF THE GERMAN AIRFORCE ALONG THE ENTIRE FRONT IN SPITE OF COSTLY LOSSES, CONCENTRATIONS OF ENEMY ARMOR AND MOTOR TRANSPORT IN OBVIOUSLY OFFENSIVE MOTION AND NUMBERS REMINISCENT OF THE FALAISE GAP DAYS, AND COORDINATION OF THE NEW V-WEAPON WITH THE UNLEASHING OF THIS OFFENSIVE.

THERE WAS INDICATION THAT ENEMY ARMORED, INFANTRY AND PARATROOP DIVISIONS IN SOME INSTANCES WERE OUTFITTED WITH AMPHIBIOUS EQUIPMENT FOR RECROSSING VITAL RIVERS, ILLUSTRATING THE EXTENT OF VON RUNDSTEDT'S HOPES.

IN ANY CASE, OUT OF THE MILLING CONFUSION IT HAS BECOME APPARENT THAT VON RUNDSTEDT AND THE GERMAN HIGH COMMAND ARE BOSSING THE FIGHT ---NOT HITLER---AND THAT THEY ARE NOT MERELY COUNTERING ALLIED BLOWS, BUT MAKING A MAJOR EFFORT TO BREAK THROUGH THE WESTERN FRONT.

WITH THE U.S. FIRST ARMY IN BELGIUM, DEC 19-(AP)-WAR HAS COME AGAIN TO BELGIUM, WHICH ESCAPED MOST OF ITS PAINS AND PERILS THE FIRST TIME WHEN ALLIED ARMS WERE IN HOT PURSUIT OF THE GERMAN ARMY RETREATING SWIFTLY TO THE SAFELY OF THE SIEGFRIED LINE.

NOW THE GERMANS ARE ON THE RAMPAGE IN A COUNTEROFFENSIVE THAT IS STRONGLY REMINISCENT OF THE EARLY AMERICAN SETBACKS IN AFRICA. TOWNS THAT APPEARED WELL OUT OF THE WAR FOUR DAYS AGO TODAY ARE IN THE THICK OF THINGS AS ENEMY ARMOR PUSHED FORWARD AND AMERICAN INFANTRY, ARMOR AND WAR PLANES DID THEIR BEST TO THROW A DECISIVE BLOCK ACROSS THE NAZI ADVANCE.

IN A VILLAGE WHERE YESTERDAY GIS STILL LOUNGED CASUALLY IN DOORWAYS CHATTING WITH THE TOWNSFOLK, TODAY THERE WAS AN AIR OF TENSION. CIVILIANS CLUSTERED ALONG THE ROAD IN LITTLE KNOTS WHILE UP AND DOWN THE HIGHWAYS RACED MOTORIZED ARMORED COLUMNS, SOME MOVING FORWARD TO LEND FRESH STRENGTH TO OUR COUNTER-MEASURES, OTHERS HAULING SUPPLY DUMPS AND OTHER INSTALLATIONS OUT OF THE POSSIBLE PATH OF THE ENEMY.

IN RECENT MONTHS THE SOLDIERS AND EVEN THE CITIZENS IN WHAT WERE THEN REAR AREAS PAID LITTLE ATTENTION WHEN PLANES WENT OVERHEAD BECAUSE IT WAS A FOREGONE CONCLUSION THEY WERE FRIENDLY. BUT THE LUFTWAFFE RESERVES HAVE BEEN TAPPED TO LEND WEIGHT TO THIS SUDDEN COUNTERTHRUST AND EACH FORMATION THAT IS HEARD OR SIGHTED NOW DESERVES AND GETS CAREFUL SCRUTINY FROM THOSE ON THE GROUND.

WE WERE PERSUADED TO MOVE THE PRESS CAMP TO A MORE SECURE AREA LATE YESTERDAY AND IT WAS AN EXPERIENCE INVOLVING A WORMS-EYE-VIEW OF GERMAN BUZZ-BOMBS FLARING OVERHEAD, TRACERS STREAKING THROUGH THE SKY AND BURSTS OF HEAVY FLAK LOOKING LIKE SPARKLERS AS AMERICAN GUNNERS TRIED FOR GERMAN PLANES ON NIGHT HARASSING MISSIONS. CONVOYS WERE ON THE MOVE IN A COMPLETE BLACKOUT YET THEY WERE PROCEEDING IN REMARKABLY ORDERLY FASHION.

U.S. NINTH TACTICAL AIR COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, BELGIUM, DEC. 18-(DELAYED)-(AP)-REBOUNDING DESPITE THE SEVERE BLOWS IT RECEIVED YESTERDAY, THE GERMAN AIR FORCE ATTACKED THE U.S. FIRST ARMY AREA ON AN ALL-OUT BASIS AGAIN TODAY, BUT SUFFERED A 15 PER CENT LOSS AT THE HANDS OF MAJ.-GEN.HOYT S.VANDENBERG'S NINTH AIR FORCE.

THE NINTH, SHOULDERING A LARGE PART OF THE BURDEN OF STOPPING THE NAZI AIR-SUPPORTED ARMORED THRUST, DESTROYED 60 PLANES OUT OF 400 SORTIES FLOWN BY THE NAZIS, PROBABLY DESTROYED 16 MORE AND DAMAGED 16. IT LOST SIX FIGHTERBOMBERS.

BRITISH SPITFIRES AND TEMPESTS HEADED OFF ENEMY PLANES ENROUTE FROM THE NORTHEAST.

"THEY DID A MAGNIFICENT PIECE OF WORK, LEAVING A LARGE NUMBER OF OUR FIGHTERS FREE TO OPERATE AGAINST GERMAN ARMORED COLUMNS," SAID COL.LES CROCKETT OF 7016 WINSTON ROAD, CHESTNUT HILL,PA., A NINTH CONTROL OFFICER.

MAJ.-GEN.ELWOOD QUESADA'S NINTH TACTICAL AIR COMMAND WHICH SUPPORTS THE FIRST ARMY DESTROYED 207 ARMORED VEHICLES, MOTOR TRANSPORT AND TANKS. ITS THUNDERBOLTS AND LIGHTNINGS TOOK OFF IN CEILINGS AS LOW AS 600 TO 700 FEET. NERVY PILOTS DIVED THROUGH OVERCAST TO BOMB GERMAN COLUMNS.

"THEY DIDN'T KNOW WHERE THE BASE OF THE CLOUDS WAS BUT THEY DIVED IN ANYWAY, ALTHOUGH REALIZING THEY MIGHT CRASH INTO HILLS," CROCKETT SAID.

THUNDERBOLTS LED BY CAPT.DENNIS CRISP OF LEXINGTON,KY., BOMBED AND STRAFED A COLUMN OF 60 NAZI TANKS, DESTROYING PERHAPS 18 AND DAMAGING 18 MORE.

"WE HIT THEIR COLUMN RIGHT ON THE NOSE," CRISP SAID. "I DIVED AND SCORED DIRECT HITS ON FOUR TANKS. MY WINGMAN SCORED ANOTHER HIT AND THE PILOTS FOLLOWING ME ALSO GOT SOME."

LT.CHARLES J.KENNEDY OF 4023 HAWTHORNE ST., DALLAS,TEX., SAID "WE CAUSED TWO LARGE EXPLOSIONS, EITHER OF AMMUNITION OR FUEL, AND LEFT FOUR BIG FIRES BURNING IN THE ROAD."

ANOTHER NINTH TACTICAL AIR COMMAND SQUADRON FLYING OVER A SOLID OVERCAST WAS LED RIGHT ABOVE A GROUP OF GERMAN FIGHTERS BY GROUND CONTROL RADIO. BURSTING THROUGH THE CLOUDS THEY SURPRISED THE ENEMY AND SHOT DOWN 12 OF THEM WITHOUT LOSS.

METZ, DEC. 19-(AP)-NEARLY A MONTH AFTER ITS LIBERATION BY TROOPS OF LT.GEN.GEORGE S.PATTON, JR.'S THIRD ARMY, METZ TODAY WAS THE PICTURE OF A SADLY WOUNDED CITY GRADUALLY BEING NURSED BACK TO LIFE.

THE NURSING JOB IS A TOUGH ASSIGNMENT BUT IT IS BEING TACKLED BY THE ARMY'S CIVIL AFFAIRS DIVISION UNDER MAJ.S.S.BEAN, FORMER MAYOR OF WOBURN, MASS., COLLABORATING WITH REESTABLISHED FRENCH AUTHORITIES.

THE GERMANS LEFT PILES OF GARBAGE, WRECKED BUILDINGS, AND A LOT OF GERMAN PAPER MONEY, BUT FORTUNATELY THEY WERE IN SUCH A HURRY TO GET AWAY THEY ALSO LEFT LARGE SUPPLIES OF FOODSTUFFS.

THE LATTER HAS BEEN A BIG HELP. THE DETACHMENT'S SUPPLY OFFICER, CAPT.J.KOVAC, 2502 NORTH ROCKWELL, CHICAGO, WAS ABLE TO RELEASE FOR CIVILIAN NEEDS A QUANTITY OF THE CAPTURED SUPPLIES EQUAL TO THREE WEEKS RATION FOR 100,000 PERSONS. INASMUCH AS THE PRESENT POPULATION OF METZ IS ABOUT 70,000 THIS MEANT THE DANGER OF A DRASTIC FOOD SHORTAGE WAS STAVED OFF--AT LEAST FOR THE CRITICAL WINTER MONTHS--WITHOUT DRAWING ON AMERICAN RELIEF SUPPLIES.

UNDER GERMAN OCCUPATION METZ FARED BETTER THAN THE PEOPLE OF INTERIOR FRANCE. THE NAZIS REGARDED METZ AS A GERMAN CITY AND WENT TO GREAT PAINS TO PERSUADE THE PEOPLE TO LIKE IT. THEIR BASIC MEAT RATION WAS FOR EXAMPLE 900 GRAMS (TWO POUNDS) WEEKLY COMPARED TO 250 GRAMS FOR THE INTERIOR.

A LABOR SHORTAGE HAMPERS THE HUGE JOB OF CLEANING UP THE RUBBLE AND REFUSE. THERE ARE THOUSANDS OF REFUGEES IN METZ WAITING A CHANCE TO RETURN TO THEIR HOMES IN THE OUTLYING VILLAGES AND TOWNS BUT THEY ARE RELUCTANT TO ACCEPT EMPLOYMENT FOR FEAR IT WILL DELAY THEIR RETURN TO THEIR OWN COMMUNITIES AND THE JOBS THEY EXPECT TO FIND THERE.

DEC 20 1944

CAPT.L.W.BOYKIN, JR., CAMDEN, S.C., THE DETACHMENT'S PUBLIC UTILITY OFFICER, WAS ABLE TO GET THE CITY'S POWER PLANT GOING WITHIN THREE WEEKS AND NOW ELECTRICITY IS AVAILABLE TO MOST SECTIONS OF THE TOWN. THE WATER SUPPLY HAS BEEN RESTORED ALTHOUGH PRESSURE STILL IS WEAK. SOME TELEPHONES ARE WORKING BUT THE ARMY SIGNAL CORPS LINES REMAIN THE BACKBONE OF OFFICIAL COMMUNICATIONS.

THE RESTORATION OF NORMAL BANKING OPERATIONS AND CURRENCY CIRCULATION ARE PARTICULAR PROBLEMS. THE GERMANS ALLOWED ONLY GERMAN MONEY IN METZ. AS A RESULT THE POPULATION HAS POCKETSFUL OF REICHSMARKS BUT PEOPLE WITH GOODS TO SELL WANT FRENCH FRANCS.

DEC 20 1944

SEVEN BANK OF FRANCE OFFICIALS NOW ARE LIQUIDATING THE GERMAN BANKS PREPARING TO DISTRIBUTE FRENCH CURRENCY IN EXCHANGE FOR MARKS AT THE RATE OF 15 FRANCS FOR ONE MARK. BEGINNING JAN. 1 THEY WILL EXCHANGE UP TO 500 MARKS FOR THE FRENCH EQUIVALENT. A WEEK LATER

THE MARK WILL BE DECLARED OUT OF CIRCULATION. THIS WAY, THEY HOPE, TRADE WILL BE ENCOURAGED.

STREET SIGNS AND SHOP ADVERTISEMENTS STILL ARE IN GERMAN, THOUGH MANY ARE DISFIGURED GIVING NOTICE THIS WILL BE CHANGED SOON.

SO FAR THERE IS LITTLE POLITICAL ACTIVITY IN METZ. THERE IS NO BAN ON PUBLIC MEETINGS BUT APPARENTLY THE PEOPLE HAVE BEEN TOO BUSY TRYING TO SOLVE THEIR PERSONAL ECONOMIC PROBLEMS TO WORRY ABOUT POLITICS. THERE ARE SOME COMMUNIST PLACARDS AROUND.

THE 6 P.M. CURFEW HAS BEEN EXTENDED TO 8 P.M., AND MILITARY POLICE REPORT LITTLE TROUBLE WITH SABOTAGE ATTEMPTS.

THE NIGHTTIME ATMOSPHERE, HOWEVER, STILL IS GLOOMY WITH ONLY ONE THEATER AND ONE CAFE OPEN SO FAR.

A U.S. EIGHTH AIR FORCE BASE SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, DEC. 20-(AP)-THE TAILGUNNER'S COMPARTMENT IN A FLYING FORTRESS IS FITTED WITH A TRAPDOOR IN CASE THE GUY BACK THERE WANTS TO GET OUT IN A HURRY. JUUT TRIP THE DOOR AND PRESTO, DOWN YOU GO.

TAILGUNNER JIMMY TAYLOR'S TROUBLE WAS THAT HE DIDN'T WANT TO GO ANYWHERE, AT THE MOMENT. THAT WAS GERMANY DOWN THERE FOUR MILES UNDER THE CLOUDS AND THERE WAS A LOT OF FLAK IN BETWEEN THE PLANE AND THE GROUND.

THE 22-YEAR-OLD SAN FRANCISCO SERGEANT (2224 VALLEJO ST.) ACCIDENTALLY BUMPED THE HANDLE WHILE SLIPPING ON HIS FLAK SUIT. HE HAS ABOUT AS MUCH ROOM BACK THERE AS A FAT MAN IN AN UPPER BERTH.

"OUT I WENT," HE EXPLAINED, "HEAD FIRST."

TAYLOR'S CHUT SHAGGED AND LEFT HIM DANGLING AND GASPING -- HALF IN AND HALF OUT. HE LOST HIS OXYGEN HOSE.

SOME WAY, HE DOESN'T KNOW HOW, HE GOT BACK IN.

"I PUSHED," HE SAID. "I REACHED OUT TO CLOSE THE HATCH AND THAT'S ALL I REMEMBER."

FOR THE NEXT FEW MINUTES THE TAILGUNNER LAY THERE ON THE CATWALK OF THE LURCHING BOMBER ON THE EDGE OF THE STILL-OPEN TRAPDOOR.

SGT.CLOYD HICKS OF MOUNT UNION, PA., WENT BACK TO SEE WHY TAYLOR DIDN'T ANSWER ON THE INTERCOM. HE BUMPED HIS HEAD -- HARD -- ON THE WAY, BUT FASTENED THE HATCH AND RESTORED THE TAILGUNNER'S OXYGEN AND STARTED WORKING ON HIM.

ANOTHER SAN FRANCISCO GUNNER, SGT. JACK WHITE OF 424 ELLIS ST., WAS DOWN IN THE BALL TURRET GIVING FIRST AID INSTRUCTIONS. HE USED TO BE A MEDIC.

IN THE EXCITEMENT HE LOST HIS OWN OXYGEN CONNECTION AND PASSED OUT. HICKS DISCOVERED THAT HIS "BUMP" WAS A CHUNK OF STEEL FROM AN ACK-ACK SHELL. DEC 20 1944

THERE IS NO TELLING WHAT WOULD HAVE HAPPENED IF THE BOMBS HADN'T BEEN DROPPED RIGHT THEN SO THE PILOT COULD GET DOWN INTO DEEP-BREATHING SPHERES. HE DID, THOUGH, AND EVERYBODY LIVED TO TELL THE TALE.

A REPORT ATTRIBUTED TO BERLIN EARLIER THIS WEEK SAID THAT

HITLER WAS WELL AND ACTIVE, THAT THE STORIES THAT HE WAS "OUT OF ACTION" HAD BEEN PLANTED AND THAT HE WOULD EMERGE AT THE PROPER TIME.

NEUTRAL REPORTS FROM GERMANY INDICATE THAT THE GERMAN ARMY STILL DERIVES GREAT STRENGTH FROM FAITH IN HITLER'S LEADERSHIP, FROM CONTINUED BELIEF AMONG CIVILIANS IN AN ULTIMATE GERMAN VICTORY AND FROM THE CONTEMPT OF NAZI INDOCTRINATED SOLDIERS FOR "DEMOCRATIC DECADENCE" AS WELL AS FROM UNEXPECTED RESOURCES OF MEN AND MATERIALS.

BARI, ITALY, DEC 19-(AP)-MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE MILITARY COMMITTEE WHO AGREED THAT THEIR 25-DAY TOUR OF THE WESTERN AND ITALIAN FRONTS HAD GIVEN THEM THE REALIZATION THAT THE WAR IS NOT LIKELY TO END SOON, WERE BOUND FOR HOME TONIGHT BY PLANE.

WEARY AND LAUGHINGLY DESCRIBING THEMSELVES AS SUFFERING FROM "WAR FAG," THEY RAISED A TIRED CHEER WHEN THEY REACHED THE AIRFIELD NEAR HERE AND SAW THEIR HOMEBOUND PLANES.

THE COMMANDS OF THE EUROPEAN AND MEDITERRANEAN THEATERS HAD TAKEN THE COMMITTEE AT ITS WORDS THAT IT WANTED TO SEE AND LEARN ABOUT THE WAR, AND PUT THE MEMBERS THROUGH A TIGHTLY PACKED SCHEDULE. ON EACH OF THEIR LAST THREE DAYS IN ITALY THEY ROSE AT 6:30 A.M. FOR A LONG, HARD DAY OF TRAVEL AND INSPECTION.

AT THEIR FINAL PRESS CONFERENCE, THE TRAVELING CONGRESSMEN EXPRESSED CONFIDENCE IN OVERSEAS ARMY COMMANDS AND REP. JOHN M. COSTELLO, (D-CALIF) ANNOUNCED THAT ON BEHALF OF THE COMMITTEE HE HAD SENT A MESSAGE TO LT.GEN. JOSEPH MCNARNEY, COMMANDER OF U.S. FORCES IN ITALY, EXPRESING APPRECIATION FOR THE CORDIAL RECEPTION THEY HAD BEEN GIVEN.

REP. J.PARNELL THOMAS (R-NH) SAID THAT THE THREE OUTSTANDING EVENTS OF THE COMMITTEE'S VARIED EXPERIENCES ON ITS TRIP WERE SWEATING OUT A BOMBER MISSION AT AN AIRBASE IN BRITAIN, A TRIP TO THE FORWARD LINES IN THE METZ AREA IN FRANCE AND A VISIT TO THE U.S. FIFTH ARMY FRONT LINES IN ITALY.

THESE, HE SAID, "GAVE US A FIRSTHAND PICTURE OF THE WAR AS THE SOLDIERS ARE EXPERIENCING IT. THAT IS WHAT WE CAME FOR."

THE OTHER MEMBERS OBSERVED THAT THEY HAD HAD AMPLE OPPORTUNITY TO TALK WITH AMERICAN SOLDIERS AND THEY AGREED THAT THE GI'S HAVE NO GRIPES ABOUT FOOD AND CLOTHING, BUT COMPLAINED ABOUT THE CIGARETTE SHORTAGE AND THE SMALL VALUE OF THE FRENCH FRANC. REP.CHARLES H.ELSTON (R-OHIO) SAID THE AMERICAN FIGHTING MAN'S MONEY TROUBLES WERE NEWS TO THE COMMITTEE.

THOMAS SAID HE PLANNED TO SUGGEST THAT AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS ISSUE EDITIONS IN PARIS AND ROME TO GIVE THE NEWSHUNGRY GI'S MORE NEWS OF HOME AND TO PRESENT AMERICA MORE ADEQUATELY TO THE LIBERATED COUNTRIES. ELSTON AND THOMAS ALSO FAVORED THIS PROJECT, PROVIDED THE PAPER IS AVAILABLE.

REP.CLARE BOOTHE LUCE (R-CONN) PREDICTED THAT A NUMBER OF NEWS STORIES WOULD BE BREAKING WHEN THE COMMITTEE GETS HOME.

ELSTON REPORTED THAT THE COMMITTEE HAD ASKED FOR ADDITIONA INFORMATION ON SOME SUBJECTS, INCLUDING OPERATION OF THE ALLIED MILITARY GOVERNMENT. HE ADDED THAT THE CONGRESSMEN WERE IMPRESSED WITH THE ARMY'S EFFORTS TO SAVE MATERIALS AND THE EVIDENCE THAT, WHILE WAR IS WASTEFUL, THE TAXPAYERS' MONEY WAS NOT BEING SPENT WITH UNCONCERN.

DEC 20 1944

THE FIFTH ARMY MADE A GREAT EFFORT TO FACILITATE A TRIP THAT WOULD PERMIT THE COMMITTEE TO SEE WHAT IT WISHED AND YET EASE THE HARDSHIP OF WAR ZONE TRAVEL AND LIVING. TWO AND THREE-STAR GENERALS GAVE THEIR TIME FREELY. CLOSELY GUARDED WAR ROOMS WERE OPEN TO THEM AND THE TRAVELING LAWMAKERS WERE ASKED REPEATEDLY IF THEY HAD ANY QUESTIONS.

MRS.LUCE, SUFFERING FROM EAR TROUBLE WHICH WAS AGGRAVATED BY FLYING, LEFT THE COMMITTEE AT FLORENCE AND PLANNED TO REJOIN IT LATER AFTER A VISIT TO AIRFORCE HEADQUARTERS. WHEN THE WEATHER PERMITTED PLANES TO DEPART FROM BARI, HOWEVER, SHE WAS LEFT BEHIND. SHE SAID SHE MIGHT SPEND CHRISTMAS WITH THE FRONTLINE TROOPS, BUT HER PLANS WERE NOT DEFINITE.

REP.JOHN R.MOONEY (D-N.Y.) WAS ABOARD WHEN THE GROUP LEFT HERE. HE HAD MISSED THE PLANE FROM FRANCE TO ITALY. HE ALSO MISSED THE CONGRESSMEN'S GROUP AUDIENCE WITH THE POPE BECAUSE HIS DRIVER DID NOT KNOW THE WAY TO THE VATICAN. DIRECTED THERE BY A JEWISH SOLDIER, HE ARRIVED LATE AND HAD A PRIVATE AUDIENCE.

DEC 20 1944

MEMBERS OF THE GROUP, DESPITE THE HEAVY SCHEDULE ARRANGED, MANAGED TO SQUEEZE IN INVESTIGATION OF MATTERS THAT INTERESTED THEM PERSONALLY. REP.CLIFFORD DAVIS (D-TENN) VISITED A HOSPITAL IN THE NAPLES AREA WHICH IS STAFFED LARGELY WITH PERSONNEL FROM NASHVILLE, WHILE MRS.LUCE SAW THE WACS ATTACHED TO ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS OF THE FIFTY ARMY.

REP.IVOR D.FENTON (R-PA), WHO AS A DOCTOR WAS INTERESTED IN MEDICAL CARE GIVEN THE TROOPS, REPORTED HE FOUND MEDICAL FACILITIES AND ATTENTION EXCELLENT IN BOTH THE EUROPEAN AND MEDITERRANEAN THEATERS. WITH MAJ.GEN.JOSEPH I.MARTIN, HE VISITED A FORWARD CLEARING STATION AND SAW A DENTAL OFFICE SET UP IN A CAPTURED GERMAN TRAILER WHERE THE FRONTLINE SOLDIERS' TEETH WERE TREATED BY CAPTS.BYRON CORDES OF ST.LOUIS,MO., AND JOSEF STOUPALIK OF GREELEY,COLO.

THE MESSAGES WERE THE FIRST CONCERTED REACTION FROM THE LARG GREEK POPULATION OF EGYPT TO THE DISORDERS IN THEIR HOMELAND. THEY STATED THAT THE DISORDERS AMONG THE GREEK FORCES STATI IN ~~XXXX~~ EGYPT IN ~~XXXX~~ MARCH, 1943, AND APRIL, 1944, WERE INSPIRED BY THE EAM, WHOSE "AGENTS WERE FIFTH COLUMNISTS."

"GREEKS OF EGYPT CONDEMN THESE TRAITORS, A MAJORITY OF WHO ARE GUIDED BY A DESIRE FOR POWER AND LOOT," THE MESSAGES SAID. "THEY DO NOT EXEMPT THE FEW MISGUIDED IDEALISTS WHO, IN AN EFFORT TO IMPOSE THEIR IDEALS BY FORCE, DISREGARD THE COLOSSAL DISASTERS PARALYZING THE GREEK WAR EFFORT."

OF THE SUPERFORT VISIT 45 MINUTES EARLIER.

AS THE PILOT, 1ST LT.GEORGE R.IGNASIAK OF NEW BALTIMORE, MICH., SET THE PLANE ON THE BOMB RUN WE COULD SEE BRIGHT YELLOW AND DEEP RED FLAMES REACHING THE FULL LENGTH OF THE DOCKS.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE WAS SILENCED BY THE TIME WE ARRIVED, ALL BUT A SCATTERING OF SOOTY SMUDGES IN THE SKY FAR AHEAD AND TO THE RIGHT OF OUR COURSE. OPPOSITION FROM THE SIZABLE FORCE OF JAPANESE PLANES BASED AT HANKOW WAS SLIGHT. THE LIBERATORS CAUGHT THE ZEROES REFUELING.

BOMBARDIER ROBERT C.BRANYON DREW THE LINES OF HIS BOMBSIGHT ACROSS THE LONG RUNWAY FLANKED WITH HANGARS, FIELD DUMPS AND OTHER VITAL INSTALLATIONS.

DEC 20 1944

FROM THE TAIL GUNNER, ROBERT E.SOUTHERN OF 6814 PARNELL AVE., CHICAGO, CAME THE WORD: "BOY, DID WE PLASTER THEM!"

BRANYON CONFIRMED THAT HE SAW AT LEAST 10 PLANES IN THE REFUELING LINE. AS WE BANKED AWAY FROM THE TARGET, A LONG STREAK OF SMOKE BILLOWED UP AND EXTENDED THE FULL LENGTH OF THE AIRDROME.

WE HAD BEEN PROMISED FIGHTER COVER BEFORE REACHING THE TARGET AREA. WE SWEATED IT OUT NEARLY AN HOUR AFTER THE SCHEDULED RENDEZVOUS. THE CO-PILOT, 1ST LT.HENRY JOHNSON OF HUDSONVILLE, MICH., REMARKED THAT "IF THOSE FIGHTERS DON'T SHOW UP, YOU MAY GET MORE OF A STORY THAN YOU WANT."

BUT THEY SHOWED UP, COMING OUT OF THE SUN FROM HIGH ABOVE JUST BEFORE WE STARTED THE BOMB RUN. WHEN THE JAPANESE MANAGED TO GET FIGHTERS INTO THE AIR AKTER THE COMPLETION OF THE BOMB RUN, THE FIGHTER COVER DID A GRAND JOB.

STAFF SGT.ANGELO J.BARILLARO, BALL GUNNER OF 336 BROWN AVE., COLLINSVILLE, ILL., CALLED OVER THE INTERPHONE: "YOU SHOULD SEE WHAT'S GOING ON BEHIND. OUR GUYS ARE SWARMING ALL OVER THEM."

"KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE BALL," IGNASIAK CAUTIONED. "THEY'LL BE ON US NEXT."

ONE FIGHTER DIVED PERPENDICULARLY THROUGH OUR FORMATION, THEN CAME UP DIRECTLY BENEATH. BARILLARO FIRED A BURST AND THE ENEMY PEELED AWAY. THAT WAS ALL THERE WAS TO IT.

AS THE "ESKY SPECIAL" RETURNED TO BASE AT DUSK AFTER A GRUELLING 11-HOUR FLIGHT, IGNASIAK TOLD THE GROUND CREW TO PLACE A 33RD BOMB EMBLEM ON THE SIDE OF THE PLANE, INDICATING THE NUMBER OF MISSIONS ACCOMPLISHED. FURLOUGHS ARE EXPECTED AFTER THREE OR FOUR MORE.

THE CREW INCLUDED 1ST LT.WILLIAM L.BRICE, (6429 WAYNE AVE.) CHICAGO, NAVIGATOR; WAIST-GUNNERS EDWARD WILSON, GOLDSBORO, N.C., ALBERT W.RHOADES, (231 REAGAN ST.) SUNBURY, PA.; AND GUNNER S/SGT. LEROY F.SKALECKI, (3158 SOUTH PINE AVE.) MILWAUKEE, WIS.

* THEY WALKED IN LEISURELY, STANDING UP AND SELDOM CROUCHING OR HITTING THE DIRT.

YOU COULD SEE HOW EASY IT WAS WHEN THEY WAVED AT USE WHILE WE CIRCLED LESS THAN 100 FEET OVERHEAD. THEY OBVIOUSLY WERE NOT WORRIED ABOUT THE POSSIBILITY OF HIDDEN MACHINEGUN NESTS AND SNIPERS.

"IT CERTAINLY LOOKS EASIER THAN I EXPECTED," SAID LT. COL. ALEX GUERRY, JR., OF SEWANEE, TENN., WHO WAS AT THE CONTROLS.

DURING THE HOUR A A HALF OVER THE LANDING, I DIDN'T SEE A SINGLE JAPANESE PLANE IN THE AIR. THE ONLY ENEMY PLANES WERE A COUPLE OF WRECKED FIGHTERS ON THE BEACH AND A TWIN-ENGINED BOMBER WITH ITS NOSE IN THE MUD -- ALL VICTIMS OF PREVIOUS ACTIONS.

SIMILIARLY THE ONLY YANK PLANES COVERING THE ACTION WE SAW WERE SIX HELLCATS WHICH ZOOMED ONLY BRIEFLY OVER THE BEACHHEAD, OUR LIBERATOR WAS THE ONLY LAND-BASED PLANE THERE AND WE JUST WERE THERE FOR A LOOK.

PALOMPON, ON THE WESTERN COAST OF LEYTE, IS THE SOLE PORT REMAINING TO THE JAPANESE FOR THE SUPPLY OF THEIR TROOPS TRAPPED IN THE ORMOC CORRIDOR.

THE TRUCKS, CAMOUFLAGED WITH BRANCHES, WERE SNAKING THEIR WAY OVER THE MOUNTAINOUS ROAD WITH SUPPLIES FOR MAIN JAPANESE FORCES INLAND. BUT THE WARHAWKS SPOTTED THEM 15 MILES INLAND AND NONE ESCAPED.

AMONG THEM WAS SQUADRON, 34, WHICH HAS SUNK OR DESTROYED 98,000

TONS OF SHIPPING AND DAMAGED FOUR JAPANESE DESTROYERS AND AN ESCORT VESSEL. PERHAPS EVEN MORE REMARKABLE IS ITS RESCUE RECORD. THE SQUADRON HAS SAVED 266 SURVIVORS OF WRECKED SHIPS AND PLANES. FIVE CATALINAS FROM THIS SQUADRON ON DEC.3 AND DEC.5 PICKED UP [illegible] SURVIVORS OF A U.S.DESTROYER WHICH WAS SUNK DEC.2 AFTER A SORTIE INTO ORMOC BAY.

THE OTHER SQUADRONS HONORED WERE NOS.52 AND 11, WHOSE MEMBERS, THEIR TOUR OF DUTY COMPLETED, HAVE RETURNED TO THE UNITED STATES. ADMIRAL KINKAID PRESENTED THE CITATIONS TO REAR ADMIRAL FRANK H. WAGNER, COMMANDER OF AIRCRAFT IN THE SEVENTH FLEET, WHO WILL FORWARD THEM TO AMERICA.

DEC 20 1944

ON DEC.10, SQUADRON 34'S PRESENT COMMANDING OFFICER, LT. CMDR.VADYM VICTORVICH UTGOFF, (155 BAYPORT AVE.) LONG ISLAND, N.Y., RESCUED TWO NAVAL OFFICERS AND FIVE ARMY AND NAVY ENLISTED MEN FROM UNDER JAPANESE GUNS ON LUZON ISLAND.

UTGOFF HOLDS THE DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS.

THE SQUADRON COMPILED MUCH OF ITS TOTAL OF SHIPPING SUNK IN MASTHEAD NIGHT ATTACKS, BOMBING AT SLOW SPEED.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IN HIS CITATION SAID THE AWARDS WERE MADE FOR "OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE ABOVE THE NORMAL CALL OF DUTY WHILE ENGAGED IN SEARCH MISSIONS AND ANTI-SHIPPING ATTACKS IN THE ENEMY-CONTROLLED AREA OF BISMARCK SEA FROM SEPT.15, 1943 TO FEB.1, 1944."

"DAUNTLESS AND AGGRESSIVE IN THE FULFILLMENT OF EACH ASSIGNMENT, THE GALLANT PILOTS OF SQUADRON 34 CONDUCTED DARING PATROLS, REGARDLESS OF WEATHER IN CONTINUOUS COVERAGE OF THIS AREA--TO DENY THE ENEMY A SEA ROUTE BETWEEN NEW IRELAND AND NEW BRITAIN ISLANDS," SAID THE CITATION, SIGNED BY NAVY SECRETARY FORRESTAL FOR PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

AMONG THE SQUADRON'S OUTSTANDING OFFICERS IS LT.NORMAN L.PAXTON HOLDER OF DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS, WHOSE WIFE LIVES AT 5232 COLONIAL ST., JACKSONVILLE,FLA.

SEVERAL MONTHS BEFORE THE PHILIPPINES INVASION HE DESTROYED A LARGE FREIGHTER IN THE MOLUCCA SEA. ALTHOUGH HIS PROPELLER, WING STRUTS, WING PANEL AND HULL WERE RIDDLED BY ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE, HE RETURNED SAFELY TO HIS BASE.

DEC 20 1944

ADMIRAL KINKAID ALSO AWARDED THE NAVY CROSS TO LIEUTENANT PAXTON. ON THE NIGHT OF JULY 31, IN THE SOUTH MOLUCCA SEA, HE LOCATED A LARGE ENEMY FREIGHTER TRANSPORT, PROTECTED BY TWO ESCORTS. HE ATTACKED IN BRIGHT MOONLIGHT IN THE FACE OF INTENSE ACKACK, AND DESTROYED THE MERCHANT VESSEL WITH TWO DIRECT HITS AND TWO NEAR MISSES. DESPITE DAMAGE TO HIS PLANE HE BROUGHT IT IN SAFELY.

IT IS POSSIBLE BRITISH BATTLESHIPS AND CARRIERS WILL WORK IN DIRECT CONJUNCTION WITH THE POWERFUL UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET.

ABOARD ADM. MCCAIN'S FAST CARRIER FORCE FLAGSHIP OFF THE PHILIPPINES, DEC.17-(DELAYED)-(VIA NAVY RADIO)-(AP)-THE CONTINUOUS, DEVASTATING DAY AND NIGHT CARRIER RAIDS OVER LUZON ISLAND LAST WEEK WERE A PREVIEW OF WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO THE HOME ISLANDS OF JAPAN, VICE ADM. JOHN S. MCCAIN INDICATED TODAY.

"WE CUT THE PHILIPPINES FROM THE JAPANESE EMPIRE LIKE A KNIFE THROUGH A PIECE OF CAKE," THE COMMANDER OF THE FAST CARRIER FORCE SAID. "WE PINNED THEM DOWN COMPLETELY.

"GIVE ME ENOUGH FIGHTER PLANES AND WE CAN GO UP TO THE EMPIRE AND DO THE SAME."

ADM.WILLIAM F. HALSEY, COMMANDER OF THE THIRD FLEET, IN A CONGRATULATORY MESSAGE CALLED THE OPERATION SUPPORTING THE MINDORO INVASION BRILLIANTLY PLANNED AND EXECUTED.

IT WAS PLANNED BY MCCAIN, A LEAN, SALTY, 60-YEAR-OLD ADMIRAL FROM MISSISSIPPI, AND HIS OPERATIONS OFFICER--SLENDER, BALDING, CMDR. JOHN S. THACH OF FORDYCE, ARK.

THEY USED AN OVERWHELMING PROPORTION OF HELLCAT FIGHTER PLANES IN A NEW STYLE OF ATTACK. THE OPERATION CONFIRMED THEIR BELIEF THAT FIGHTERS, ARMED WITH BOMBS AND ROCKETS, COULD TAKE AND HOLD POSSESSION OF THE AIR AS LONG AS THEY MAINTAINED CONSTANT PATROLS OVER THE AIRFIELDS.

THE JAPANESE AIRFORCE WAS VIRTUALLY IMMOBILIZED ON 100 LUZON ISLAND AIRFIELDS AND WAS NEVER ABLE TO GET ANY ATTACK PLANES WITHIN 100 MILES OF THE CARRIERS.

HELLCATS WERE USED EXCLUSIVELY THE FIRST DAY, LAST THURSDAY, AND WITH THEIR BOMBS AND ROCKETS SANK 11 SHIPS, INCLUDING TWO MEDIUM SIZED OILERS.

REVISED FIGURES FOR THE 60 HOUR CONTINUOUS ATTACK SHOWED 62 ENEMY PLANES SHOT DOWN, 217 BURNED ON THE GROUND, AND 192 DAMAGED. TWENTY EIGHT SHIPS, INCLUDING TWO TRANSPORTS, WERE SUNK; AND [illegible]THER CRAFT WERE DAMAGED.

[illegible]HTERS ARE A THACH SPECIALTY. HE HAS DEVISED MANY OF THE NAVY AIRMEN'S FIGHTER TACTICS, INCLUDING THE FAMOUS THACH WEAVE.

MELBOURNE, AUST., DEC. 19-(AP)-DOUBTS SOMETIMES RAISED ABOUT U.S. AIR DESTRUCTION CLAIMS WERE SWEPT AWAY BY THE ROYAL AUSTRALIAN AIR FORCE'S AIR COMMODORE F.R. W. SCHERGER WHO WAS INTIMATELY ASSOCIATED WITH THE FIFTH U.S. AIR FORCE FOR TWO YEARS IN AUSTRALIA AND NEW GUINEA.

IN AN ARTICLE IN THE OFFICIAL RAAF JOURNAL, "WINGS," HE AIR COMMODORE EMPHASISES THAT U.S. CLAIMS ALWAYS VEER ON THE CONSERVATIVE SIDE.

"ONE OFTEN HEARS CRITICAL COMMENT ON CLAIMS OF AIRCRAFT DESTROYED IN THE AIR AND ON THE GROUND OR OF SHIPS SUNK AND DAMAGED" HE WRITES.

"THE HOLLANDIA SHOW WAS A GOOD REPLY. SOME 200-300 AIRCRAFT WERE CLAIMED DESTROYED ON THE GROUND THERE. WHEN WE OCCUPIED THE AREA LATER WE COUNTED NOT 200-300 BUT 472 WRECKED AIRCRAFT.

"IT WAS THE DESTRUCTION OF THESE PLANES WHICH BURIED THE JAPANESE HOPES OF HOLDING NEW GUINEA.

"IT IS ALWAYS WELL TO REMEMBER," HE WROTE, "THAT THE CAMERA CANNOT LIE. NO CLAIM UNSUPPORTED BY PHOTOGRAPHS IS ADMITTED. IF YOU HAVE BEEN PRIVILEGED TO SEE THE PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN IN ATTACKS, YOU'LL KNOW THE CLAIMS ARE REAL.

"NO ONE CAN WIN A WAR BY PULLING HIS OWN LEG AND YOU CAN TAKE IT FROM ME THAT THE FIFTH AIR FORCE HAS BEEN AND IS STILL WINNING."

AIR COMMODORE SCHERGER ADDS THAT THERE IS NO OTHER AMERICAN UNIT TO WHICH AUSTRALIA OWES SO MUCH.

WASHINGTON, DEC 19-(AP)-THE JAPANESE CAME UP WITH THE "COCONUT BOMB" DURING THE INVASION OF LEYTE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

THIS WAS DISCLOSED BY COL. ALLAN L. FELDMAN OF (1004 REGESTER AVE.) BALTIMORE, WHO TOOK PART IN THE INVASION.

THE "BOMB," HE TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE AT THE PENTAGON, WAS INGENIOUS BUT NOT VERY EFFECTIVE. IT WAS FASHIONED FROM A HOLLOWED COCONUT, INTO WHICH THE JAPANESE PUT A HAND GRENADE AND PICRIC ACID.

THE JAPANESE SEALED UP THE COCONUT WITH WAX, THEN LOOPED A CORD AROUND IT AND HURLED THE COCONUT AT AMERICAN TROOP CONCENTRATIONS. IT MADE A "TERRIFIC" EXPLOSION, BUT CAUSED LITTLE DAMAGE, FELDMAN SAID.

JAPANESE IMPERIAL HEADQUARTERS ASSERTED TODAY THAT TWO ALLIED WARSHIPS AND TWO TRANSPORTS WERE SUNK OFF MINDORO ISLAND IN THE PHILIPPI SUNDAY AND MONDAY (TOKYO TIME). TWO OTHER TRANSPORTS WERE "HEAVILY DAMAGED AND SET ABLAZE" BY ATTACKING NIPPONESE AIRCRAFT, THE TOKYO COMMUNIQUE SAID.
THE BROADCAST, RECORDED BY THE FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION, IDENTIFIED THE WARSHIPS AS CRUISERS OR DESTROYERS.
THE ENEMY REPORT WAS WHOLY UNCONFIRMED BY ALLIED SOURCES, LIKE PREVIOUS JAPANESE BROADCASTS WHICH TOLD OF "WRECKAGES OF SUNKEN AMERICAN WARSHIPS AND TRANSPORTS" NEAR THE AMERICAN BEACHHEAD AT SAN JOSE ON MINDORO.

UNDATED B29S (PRECEDE WASHINGTON) (340)
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
CHINA-BASED B29S BOMBED KYUSHU ISLAND INDUSTRIAL TARGETS TODAY IN ANOTHER SUPERFORTRESS BLOW AT THE ROOTS OF JAPAN'S VANISHING AIRPOWER.
A JAPANESE IMPERIAL COMMUNIQUE SAID 30 OR 40 SUPERFORTRESSES ATTACKED OMURA WHOSE BIG AIRCRAFT FACTORY HAS BEEN THE TARGET OF THREE PREVIOUS B29 RAIDS.
THE FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT FROM THE WAR DEPARTMENT IN WASHINGTON SAID MERELY THAT A "MEDIUM FORCE" OF SUPERFORTS FROM CHINA ATTACKED INDUSTRIAL TARGETS ON KYUSHU, SOUTHERNMOST OF THE MAIN ISLANDS OF JAPAN, LESS THAN 24 HOURS AFTER RAIDING HANKOW.
BRIG.GEN. HAYWOOD HANSELL, JR., REPORTED SIMULTANELUSLY THAT HIS SAIPAN-BASED B29S HEAVILY DAMAGED THE MITSUBISHI COMPANY'S BIG KOKUKI AIRCRAFT FACTORY IN YESTERDAY'S ATTACK ON NAGOYA ON HONSHU ISLAND.
MANY DIRECT HITS WERE SCORED ON THE FACTORY, THE BOMBERS' PRIMARY TARGET, HANSEL SAID, AND "DAMAGE TO THE PLANT IS CLEARLY EXTENSIVE." PHOTOGRAPHS SHOWED THE PRECISION BOMB PATTERN SWEPT FROM EDGE OF NAGOYA BAY HARBOR DIRECTLY ACROSS THE PLANT. AT LEAST 22 DIRECT HITS WERE MADE IN THE TARGET AREA BY ONE ELEMENT ALONE.
KOKUKI FACTORY IS ABOUT SEVEN MILES FROM MITSUBISHI'S HATSUDOKI AIRCRAFT PLANT WHICH WAS HEAVILY HIT DEC. 13.
YESTERDAY'S BOMBARDMENT, CARRIED OUT BY PRECISION INSTRUMENTS THROUGH A HEAVY OVERCAST, ALSO SET FIRE TO A NAGOYA SHIPYARD AND PROBABLY KNOCKED OUT THE CITY'S POWER PLANT.
THE WAR DEPARTMENT SAID ALL SUPERFORTS--TOTALLING PERHAPS 200--RETURNED FROM THE DOUBLE STRIKE AT NAGOYA AND HANKOW.
THE IMPERIAL COMMUNIQUE CLAIMED 13 SUPERFORTS WERE DEFINITELY SHOT DOWN OVER NAGOYA, FOUR PROBABLY AND 20 DAMAGED. IT MADE NO IMMEDIATE CLAIM OF DAMAGE IN TODAY'S OMURA RAID BUT INDICATED SUCH A STATEMENT WAS COMING AFTER INVESTIGATION OF "WAR RESULTS ACHIEVED" BY INTERCEPTORS.
JAPAN'S GOVERNMENT-CONTROLLED DOMEI NEWS AGENCY SAID SEVERAL OTHER B29S WERE OVER NORTHWESTERN KYUSHU AND SOUTHERN HONSHU TODAY, APPARENTLY ON RECONNAISSANCE FLIGHTS.
THE BROADCAST, RECORDED BY THE FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION, SAID "TWO OR THREE"SUPERFORTS "RAIDED" YAMAGUCHI PREFECTURE ON THE SOUTHERN TIP OF HONSHU AND THE SOOBAN AREA BETWEEN OMURA AND HONSHU ISLAND. IT SAID THEY "DID NOT DROP ANY BOMBS" AND "FLED TOWARD THE SEA" AFTER "BOLD INTERCEPTION BY OUR AIR DEFENSE UNITS".
ALL RAIDERS, TOKYO SAID, CAME FROM CHENGTU AIRBASE IN WESTERN CHINA.

BETWEEN 30 AND 40 CHINA-BASED SUPERFORTS BOMBED THE CITY OF OMURA TODAY IN A CONTINUING ATTACK ON JAPAN'S AIRCRAFT INDUSTRY, A NIPPONESE IMPERIAL COMMUNIQUE REPORTED.
IT WAS THE FIFTH REPORTED ATTACK ON THE CITY'S INDUSTRIAL TAGETS, WHICH INCLUDE AN AIRCRAFT FACTORY. THE FIRST ATTACK ON THE CITY ON WESTERN KYUSHU WAS MADE JULY 17, THE LAST PREVIOUS NOV. 11.
THE COMMUNIQUE, AS RECORDED BY THE FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION, MADE NO ASSERTION THAT ANY B29S WERE SHOT DOWN BUT INDICATED SUCH A CLAIM WOULD BE MADE LATER.
IT DID CLAIM THAT 17 SUPERFORTS WERE SHOT DOWN IN YESTERDAY'S RAID ON NAGOYA AIRCRAFT PLANTS AND AT LEAST 20 OTHERS WERE DAMAGED. ORIGINALLY TOKYO DID NOT LIST ANY B29S AS DESTROYED IN THIS ATTACK.

THE ENEMY BROADCAST, RECORDED BY THE FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION, CONTAINED NO REPORT ON THE DAMAGE. HEADQUARTERS OF THE 20TH SAID THE RAID, WHICH ALSO TOOK IN NANKING, HIT DOCKS AND ENGINEERING WORKS.
TOKYO RADIO SAID THE SHANGHAI STRIKE BEGAN AT 10:20 A.M. TUESDAY AND WAS DELIVERED FROM HIGH ALTITUDE
NAGOYA, JAPANESE AIRCRAFT MANUFACTURING CITY HARD HIT BY B-29 SUPERFORTRESSES YESTERDAY AND LAST WEDNESDAY, HAS BEEN PLACED UNDER A RIGID NIGHTLY AIR RAID ALERT, THE NIPPONESE RADIO SAID.
A "STATE OF PRECAUTION" WILL EXIST FROM SUNSET TO MIDNIGHT AND A "STATE OF AIR RAID" FROM MIDNIGHT TO DAWN, SAID THE DOMESTIC BROADCAST, RECORDED BY THE FCC.
THE BROADCAST ADDED THAT MILITARY AUTHORITIES IN JAPAN'S CENTRAL AREAS HAD INSTRUCTED THE NIPPONESE PUBLIC ON "HOW TO AVOID OR MINIMIZE LOSSES DUE TO INCENDIARY BOMBS, AND IN THE USE OF WATER FOR FIRE FIGHTING."

15 NAZI DIVISIONS SLASHING INTO BELGIUM THROUGH BREACH IN FIRST ARMY'S LINES; OFFENSIVE GAINING IN FURY, ALLIES SAY

Germans Hurl Fresh Troops Into Advance

By NEDVILLE NORDNESS

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris., Dec. 20.—(AP)—The gigantic German counteroffensive is "the big thing" and is increasing steadily in fury, Supreme Headquarters said late tonight in lifting the blackout of news relating to the savage fighting on the U. S. First army front.

Fourteen to fifteen German divisions—of which five or six are Panzer (armored) divisions—are swarming into the breach of the First army's lines in Belgium and Luxembourg, it was disclosed.

Today fresh infantry waves were fighting behind the armored units which first smashed through the American positions last Sunday and headquarters said the German advances had made considerable progress with more to be expected.

Plans are being made to stem the onslaught, it was stated, but the feeling at this headquarters was that the situation would not be restored this week—or even next week.

Appallingly bad weather today kept Allied air forces on the ground, thus eliminating support which the American troops sorely needed. No heavy bombers could leave their British bases and not a single fighter-bomber got into the air during the day to help the hard-pressed doughboys.

Veteran Nazi Units

Some of the Panzer units spearheading the German drive are first class fighters, veterans of units which faced the Allies at Caen, it was disclosed. They have been reorganized and refitted for this do-or-die German counteroffensive and now are fresh and physically fit.

The Germans infantry divisions are mostly made up of volks grenadiers, Hitler's home guard.

(If at full strength, as seems likely for this carefully prepared German thrust, armored divisions each would number about 10,000 men and infantry divisions up to 15,000, making a total force of up to 200,000 in the first phases of the German assault. The extent of the new enemy forces which dispatches today said were swinging into action was not yet known.)

The fighting was intense and casualties heavy for both sides as the battle swirled through its fourth day on a front of approximately 60 miles.

The initial impetus of the German surge, which penetrated to a distance of 20 miles or more into Belgium in its first day and a half appeared to have been checked in the Stavelot sector by Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' grimy doughboys, but farther to the south the situation remains fluid and the enemy continued to pound deeper into American positions.

Recapture Some Towns

Stavelot, four miles southwest of Malmedy and in the sector where the Germans threw the heaviest weight of their assault, was held tonight by American troops who drove the Nazis from the town street by street. Monschau, on the German side of the border 16 miles southeast of Aachen, also was recaptured by the Americans. Other local successes were reported, although no effort was made to disguise the continuing seriousness of the situation or to indicate that the full force of the German drive had slackened.

The gravity of the German offensive was fully realized at headquarters. But there also was reason to believe that Field Marshal Von Runstedt, in risking all his resources in this surprise assault, might also be laying himself open for a defeat so decisive as to shorten the war if this bold strategy failed.

The Germans are expending vast reserves in their attack and in the end the Allies' immense store of equipment and manpower may turn the Nazi high command's big fling into its last.

Monschau, German town at the extreme northern end of the enemy's assault, was recaptured by counter-attacking Yank troops, who surrounded and presumably seized Nazi forces who had fought into the town. Monschau, 16 miles southeast of Aachen, was the jump-off point for a short-lived American attack last week.

Front dispatches, released in detail through censorship for the first time, disclosed that the main German drive is being made in the region of Stavelot, a key Belgian town 20 miles from the German frontier. Previously it had been known only that the drive had reached this area, and it had not been clear whether this was the scene of the principal push.

Fighting raged today in and around Stavelot, where Lt. Gen. Courtney Hodges' Doughboys, backed by anti-tank guns, beat back four savage German attacks todey.

Stavelot, four miles southwest of Malmedy and on a main invasion route into the heart of Belgium, was reached by the Nazis in the first 36 hours of their bold surprise thrust, but battering rams of armor and infantry had not succeeded in dislodging its grim Yank defenders.

Three times today the Germans hurled everything at the battered town, striking under cover of clinging fog and mist, but each time they were flung back. Tonight the embattled doughboys were reported driving the Nazis from the town street by street in bitter fighting.

American tanks and tank destroyers were smashing at the side of the enemy salient just south of Stavelot and were reported to have made some progress.

Associated Press field correspondents said the enemy offensive was being likened to the final do-or-die punch thrown by the Germans in 1918, which had some initial success but later collapsed. An American officer declared confidently that if the present drive is crushed "the war can be won right here."

Censorship Relaxed

Relaxing its rigid censorship on news of the fighting, Allied headquarters disclosed that the enemy's great Christmas offensive smashed into Belgium and Luxembourg at four points and that by Monday noon the "initial impetus" had carried the Nazi columns from five to 20 miles inside the two countries.

While there still was no delineation of the jagged and fluid fighting front tonight, it was announced that Stavelot remained in American hands, as well as St. Vith and Echternach, two other focal points of the enemy offensive. Several pockets of Americans were reported to have been surrounded near St. Vith, four miles inside Belgium and 10 miles south of Malmedy.

Fast units of "Wildcat" German armor were reported striking boldly through the First army's lines and by-passing numerous towns still held by American forces. These columns—some using captured U. S. Sherman tanks—obviously were trying desperately to seal off big American dumps and thus replenish their own dwindling supplies.

Among 724 German prisoners taken in the first 24 hours of the attack were several hundred parachute troops who were dropped behind the American lines in an effort to disrupt communications, headquarters said. There was an unconfirmed report that some Nazi dead and prisoners were wearing civilian clothes.

Antwerp Goal?

The German prisoners were extremely confident that the offensive would win the war in short order and predicted that Antwerp would be taken within a few days.

(The German radio declared that 10,000 American prisoners had been seized, 200 tanks destroyed or captured and 124 Allied planes shot down since the attack began.)

Low clouds and thick fog continued to deprive the Americans of air support as the great battle approached its climax. German robot bombs, however, fell in unending showers on American positions and rear areas.

Kenneth Dixon of the Associated Press said Hodges' doughboys, hastily dug-in against the assault, were giving everything they've got" and were managing to hold or turn aside some of the Germans' deepest thrusts, but added that "the situation certainly has not improved in the past 24 hours—to say the least."

The main German onslaught was disclosed today to have started across the Belgian border in the vicinity of the village of Honsfeld, two miles inside Belgium and 27 miles southeast of Aachen. Nazi armor then split into two fast-moving columns, with one veering northeast of Malmedy into the vicinity of Butgenbach and the second

Heavy Battles Rage At St. Vith And Malmedy In Belgium

DEC 21 1944

LONG

Paris, Dec. 20 (AP)—United States 1st Army troops have blunted one powerful German drive that lunged twenty miles into Belgium to Stavelot, and recaptured Monschau, a German town seventeen miles to the northeast.

Other American units clung to points three miles from St. Vith, another key Belgian road hub eleven miles southeast of Stavelot, and farther south doughboy forces were being mustered to halt still another penetration that struck across the north tip of Luxembourg, a front-line dispatch said.

The initial impetus of the armor-led Nazi counteroffensive had been checked, although the front was still unstabilized tonight.

Nazis Within 22 Miles Of Liege

The Nazi smash to the vicinity of Stavelot had carried within 22 miles of Liege and bore one of the sharpest dangers to the 1st Army front.

Monschau is at the upper edge of the Nazis' breakthrough corridor.

Heavy battles apparently still raged around Stavelot, St. Vith and Malmedy, five miles northeast of Stavelot—the three biggest road hubs in Belgium's eastern bulge.

A dispatch from the front said Monschau, sixteen miles southeast of Aachen, was retaken after German units that entered the town were surrounded. Monschau was a focal point of one of four German drives.

Yanks Pocketed At Two Places

Stavelot and St. Vith, where some American troops were pocketed, at last reports were still in United States hands.

While the German assault had lost its first speed, there was no reason to suppose the Nazis had not made still further gains beyond their four initial penetrations of five to twenty miles into Belgium and Luxembourg.

But by now Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges's armor and infantry had been thrown into the breach and the Germans were running into a stiffer battle every hour.

[A CBS front-line broadcast reported "the first straight indication that at some points the tide of battle is beginning to change in our favor." The broadcast said that "at several points the Germans made no progress today, and one of the German spearheads was pushed back several thousand yards by one of our veteran divisions."]

Nazi Infantry Following Up Armor

The Germans were pouring infantry in behind the armored columns that penetrated 1st Army lines.

One field dispatch, though, said the 1st Army's situation had been officially termed "definitely better" already last night. It said the American flanks above and below the four-pronged Nazi offensive had begun to harden. American tanks and tank destroyers struck in from these sides.

Supreme Allied headquarters disclosed that by Monday noon the Germans had driven five to twenty miles into Belgium and Luxembourg.

Nazis Trying To Capture Supplies

Field dispatches said that one of the middle columns of the Germans' four was farthest out front and had even outdone the one that reached Stavelot.

The Nazi mechanized forces were making a supreme effort to cut in behind 1st Army supply dumps and capture material that they sorely need. So far, however, they have captured very little, an Army spokesman said.

This officer asserted that the Germans had drained men and armor from other sectors to make their "very bold move." Therefore, he said, if their present counteroffensive is crushed, "the war can be won right here."

Americans repulsed numerous German attacks on the eastern end of the northern flank, two of them before dawn today east of Malmedy "in the corridor where infantry first met the main force of the enemy onslaught," said AP Correspondent William Boni.

Some German Units Surrounded

Some German units which crossed into Luxembourg in the neighborhood of Echternach have been surrounded.

A deluge of flying bombs accompanied the German blows.

United States troops still hold some key towns and pockets in the area through which the Germans have passed.

The Germans were running into increasingly dense defenses thrown together by the 1st Army.

American anti-aircraft gunners claimed more than 200 German planes shot down in three days.

DEC 21 1944

Nazis Report 10,000 Prisoners

[The German high command declared today that more than 10,000 prisoners had been taken in its drive, and said spearheads were still advancing. The Berlin communiqué said 200 American tanks had been destroyed or captured and 124 Allied planes shot down.

["A large part of enemy bases left behind the front were cleaned up," the broadcast communiqué added. "Fighting ensued at many points with single groups of enemy reserves which had been hurriedly drawn up and immediately brought into action."

[The communiqué said German long-range weapons were firing on Liege and Antwerp. American pressure in the Aachen and Saar areas has decreased, it said.]

Germans Using Every Weapon

The partial lifting of the Allied news blackout gave the first official disclosure of the depth and danger of the Nazis' smash, made with all the power of their arsenal—rested on troops, tanks, planes, V-weapons, parachutists and amphibious vehicles.

Dispatches from the front, however, declared Hodges had slammed in both infantry and armor in attempts to stem the onslaught.

In fluid, confused battle, some doughboys fought until they were overrun in their foxholes by tanks. German parachute troopers seized one American hospital, but doughboys rewon it, freeing the captives.

Two Nazi Pincers Drives

One strong German column struck across the border from near Honsfeld—27 miles southeast of Aachen—and then split. One part of it veered to the vicinity of Butgenbach, eight miles northeast of Malmedy. The other part jabbed on to Stavelot, five miles southwest of Malmedy.

The second Nazi drive was a pincers thrust on the important road hub of St. Vith, four miles inside Belgium and about twelve miles below Malmedy. One jaw of this pincers reached Maspelt, four miles south of St. Vith.

Nazis Being Checked

The main German drive was being checked east of St. Vith.

Farther south, the Germans drove out of the Ardennes Forest into Luxembourg on both sides of the border town of Echternach. But, up to Monday noon, they had not gained as much ground in this attack, nor had they taken Echternach. The deepest penetration in this sector was to near Consdorf, five miles southwest of Echternach. Bypassed Americans held grimly to their pockets.

The fourth Nazi penetration was in the Monschau Forest area north of Malmedy.

Perhaps 500 Nazi Chutists

The Germans tried to disrupt the 1st Army's rear communications by dropping parachute troops—perhaps 500—in the crossroad areas west of Monschau. At last reports these and other sealed-off Germans were being mopped up, and the Nazis were almost back to the line from which they started the thrust there.

Dispatches today from both British-Canadian and United States 9th Army headquarters said Nazi patrols had suddenly thrust into Allied lines in the Geilenkirchen area—some 35 miles above the northernmost German push — and heavy mortar fire crashed onto Allied positions.

[Whether this heralded a new Nazi assault in this area, where once the British 2d and United States 9th armies had their junction point or was simply intended to prevent the Allies from moving reinforcements south was not apparent.]

Some German movements were sighted across the Roer River from the 9th Army front.

Nazi Moves On 9th's Front

A 9th Army dispatch said Gerstabbing directly west toward Stavelot.

Second Nazi drive was a pincer thrust upon the important highway town of St. Vith, four miles inside Belgium and some 12 miles south of Malmedy. Some American troops were cut off by this drive, but these Yanks still were holding out in scattered pockets and were barring St. Vith to the enemy. Enemy armor had carried within three miles of St. Vith, which is 10 miles southwest of Honsfeld, and one claw of the pincers cut in as far as Maspelt, four miles southeast of St. Vith.

Southern Push Gains Less

Farther south the Germans drove out of Ardennes Forest into Luxembourg on either side of the border town of Echternach, but this push appared to have gained less ground than those to the north and the enemy at last report had not taken Echternach itself.

The greatest German penetration in this sector was in the vicinity of Comsdorf, 5 miles southwest of Echternach. This push also bypassed pockets of American troops, who were reported holding out.

Near the center of the Western front Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's 3d Army captured 40 more pillboxes and fortified houses in the Saarlautern area for a two-day total of 176, and seized a heavily fortified position in the Gersheim area, 6½ miles northeast of Saareguemines.

A strong Nazi infantry and tank counterattack knocked one of Patton's regiments back in Rheinheim Forest, 3½ miles northeast of Sarreguemies.

30. 24— 21409

man prisoners were extremely confident about the offensive beating into United States 1st Army lines. Buoyed by propaganda, some said this was only the beginning, and that Antwerp would fall in a few days.

Despite foul weather, German armor and truck convoys moving into the Belgium and Luxembourg wedges were hammered by fighter bombers and by a powerful force of British and American heavy bombers yesterday.

Co-ordination of the RAF and United States Air Forces in tactical support of the 1st Army was described as "never better." The British had the dual task of preventing some of the German planes from getting into the battle area and of disrupting Nazi transport.

Evidence Of Purpose

Evidence continued to accumulate that Field Marshal von Rundstedt had not launched the German smash merely to gain time or upset plans for an Allied offensive but was really trying to crack the Western front.

The continued unstinted use of German planes in spite of costly losses, the concentrations of armor and motor transport and the appearance in the line of certain crack German forces known to have been in reserve for a "last ditch" defense of the Reich seemed to indicate Rundstedt's purpose.

One dispatch from the front said the main German effort had been fairly well channelized and contained on its flanks but that some units were still advancing into Belgium.

Another dispatch from Belgium said the Nazis appeared to be unable to widen materially the bases of their two penetration triangles, but the points of those triangles were pushing deeper into Belgium.

DEATH TOLL HIGH AS YANKS BATTLE TO HALT GERMANS

Both Americans and Germans Suffering Heavy Losses in Fighting.

INDIAN STYLE WAR

Pea Soup Fog Aiding Germans, Keeping Allied Airforce on Ground.

By WES GALLAGHER

IN THE STAVELOT SECTOR, Belgium, Dec. 20 — (AP) American troops engaged in trying to stem the German break-through are suffering a big battle price in men and material, but are making the enemy also pay a fearful cost in blood and munitions for his great western front counter-offensive.

Along this sector of the front the German advance has been stemmed and broken and was hurled back this morning when the Germans launched a series of violent attacks at points on a 20-mile front. These blows failed in piles of broken bodies and twisted metal.

One veteran American unit knocked out eight Panther and Tiger tanks in two hours this morning. Farther south, however, the German Panzer advance was showing the professional punch the Nazis exhibited in 1940.

As various units fought their way back to this sector through the German lines, it was beginning to be possible to piece together a picture of the early fighting.

One infantry unit returned to American lines in bits and pieces, but its losses were amazingly small considering that the group claimed to have killed 1,200 Germans. The unit had lost much of its equipment, except for rifles and bazookas.

Another badly-mauled American formation, which bore the full fury of the Nazi assault, claimed to have stopped 60 German tanks in three days. But it, too, had lost a great deal of its artillery and motorized equipment.

Try All Tricks

The Nazi troops are using every trick ever tried during this war. There have been several authenticated cases in the last 48 hours where the Germans used the old trick of waving a white flag like they were going to surrender and then advancing near the American lines to a favorable position, dropping down and opening fire.

Several miles to the south the Germans operated four American Sherman tanks, calling GI's to come up close for support and then opening fire on them with machine-guns.

The weather has been almost as much an enemy to the Allies as the Germans. It is apparent that Field Marshal von Rundstedt picked the time for his attack to coincide with a run of bad weather. Today the weather along the entire front is appalling. A pea soup fog which was almost turned to sleet by low temperatures, clung close to the ground. Automobiles had to drive with their headlights turned on at noon and the roads were slippery from the fog and slimy mud.

It is impossible for the Allied air arm to operate. But two clear days might change the complexion of the battle.

In this weird hell of fog and mud and mountains one of the oddest battles is being fought several miles behind the lines by an infantry force led by Lt. Col. Elisha Peckam of Narragansett, R. I.

"This is a regular Indian war," he said. "My men have a look behind every tree and creep through the woods like Indians to hunt out German paratroopers."

Peckham's forces surrounded 200 last night and attacked this morning, but in the fog the paratroopers escaped despite considerable losses.

"They were getting hungry and running out of ammunition," Peckham said. "We will get them all. We just have to keep chasing them. We rescued 23 of our GI's from a laundry the paratroopers had captured."

Peckham's executive officer, Maj. Samuel Carter of North Attleboro, Mass., said a good number of the German paratroopers had overshot their landings and were found hanging in trees, some with their legs broken.

Peckham said this particular group of paratroopers was from a "new crop." "They all are around 21, in good health and full of fight," he said.

Anti-Aircraft Units' Story

A typical experience of some of the units overrun by the Germans was that of an anti-aircraft outfit which landed in France on D-day and has been fighting ever since.

After being overrun and having to flee in trucks without their equipment, the flak crews organized salvage parties and crept back under machine-gun and artillery fire to salvage some of their guns.

"We got out several half-tracks, but the machine-gun fire drove us away. We were operating ahead of what is now the front line," declared Lieut. John Conroy, New York city.

The unit's chaplain, Lieut. Fred Steen, standing in ankle deep mud with GI's crowded all around him, told how the outfit was originally overrun.

Lost Christmas Packages

"The first we knew we heard shooting and saw German tanks coming down the main street of the town where we were quartered. The colonel crowded us into trucks and we took off. Some of the trucks went up one street while tanks came down another.

"I had a lot of Christmas packages from my congregation and I didn't open them and now the Germans have them. The next time I get a package it's going to be opened on the spot."

Corporal Warren Holden, of Florence, Ore., a bearded GI from the same outfit, was saved because a lieutenant insisted he save the lieutenant's bedding roll.

Hide In Cellar

"I was just putting on my shoes when I heard a burp gun and I finished dressing in a hurry. I was stopped by the lieutenant who insisted I go back and get his bedroll, so I turned around and hurried to his house. I was lucky I did because later I found out that Tiger tanks were coming down the street I was going to take."

Holden had no sooner got in the house and started hunting for the bedroll when another tank came down the street and the rest of the GI's jumped out of the truck and dived into the cellar of the house.

Americans Halt Four Nazi Tries To Get Stavelot

Drive Foe From Key Belgian Town Street by Street in Bitter Three-Day Battle

By Hal Boyle

DEC 21 1944

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS HOLDING STAVELOT, Belgium, Dec. 20 (AP).—American Doughboys, backed by anti-tank guns, repulsed four strong German attacks today as the Nazis tried with armor and infantry to punch into this key townj, one of the chief funnels into Belgium for their offensive hordes.

Their repeated thrusts climaxed a three-day battle, during which Americans thrown into the line to stem the breach torn by German armor drove the Nazis from the village street by street in a bitter struggle.

Surprised by the speed and power of the American counter-blow, the Germans have been trying ever since with every bullet and shell they can throw to gain control of Stavelot, twenty-five miles southwest of Aachen.

Four miles they struck through clinging white mists that filled the whole valley, and four times they were hurled back.

Two-Day Battle on Streets

The following dispatch was filed by Mr. Boyle Tuesday:

A BELGIAN TOWN RETAKEN FROM THE GERMANS, Dec. 19 (Delayed) (AP).—A colonel who fought the Germans all the way from Normandy, slashed one tentacle from Adolf Hitler's advancing forces today after a two-day battle fought in the streets of this small Belgian town.

"They may try to hit us again, but we have knocked them back four times in a row now and I think they may want to take a little time out," said Colonel W. M. Johnson, of Missoula, Mont., whose idea of relaxing after forty-eight hours without sleep was to visit a front line command post.

Outside, a small Belgian tank destroyer banged away at an enemy supply column, and over the next ridge Johnson's doughboys slowly were cleaning the Nazis from the last houses on the fringe of the town.

Thirty-six hours ago the Germans held the whole village, which squats across a roadway they would like to continue using. In flushing the Germans out the colonel's men killed scores of enemy troops and knocked out eleven tanks during repeated armored attacks by the Germans.

"We got here after a forty-eight-hour march," he said.

Hits Enemy at Once

He arrived at the scene of ruin and terror faced with the difficult military problem of fighting in unfamiliar country against an enemy of undetermined strength. The last few miles to the town were lined with thousands of flaming gasoline cans which American supply troops had fired rather than permit the German tanks to capture.

The colonel closed at once with the enemy. By noon his men were taking the first head-on series of German counter-attacks.

"Just a few minutes ago they tried for the fourth time," the colonel related. "You know they're stubborn. But we started dropping artillery shells among their tanks and that broke it up quickly. Each time they attacked with about ten tanks—just little counter-attacks."

The colonel said the Germans used "very little artillery, but plenty of mortar and direct tank fire besides small-arms weapons."

"One thing that pleased us," he said, "was the reaction of the Belgian civilians as we rolled into town. You could tell most of them were glad to see us.

"Last night the Germans tried one of their oldest ruses—to get across the line in captured American vehicles. They attempted to ride over in three American half-tracks and some jeeps and again this morning in three jeeps. We got them all. They were wearing German Army uniforms, although riding in our vehicles.

"During the battle we also retook an abandoned American evacuation hospital and found dress uniforms and Christmas presents. The Germans had been too busy to loot the hospital."

The battalion which spearheaded the American thrust back into the town was commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. Frankland, of Jackson, Tenn., whose outfit also was the first to pierce the Siegfried line in one sector.

This battle, only one action along a fluid battlefield many miles long, has not in itself played a major role in slowing the Nazi offensive toward the Meuse River, but it certainly put a brake on the German advance in its own limited sector.

NEWS BLACKOUT WILL BE LIFTED BY TOMORROW

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, Paris, Dec. 20.—(AP) As protests poured in from almost all the Allied world over the suppression of news of German gains on the Western front, Supreme Headquarters tonight pulled the curtain aside partly and promised a bigger view of the situation tomorrow.

The positions of the German and Allied armies will in the future be made public once daily, it was announced—after a sufficient time lag to make sure the enemy will reap no benefit from the information.

This time lag is expected to be between 24 and 48 hours. Tomorrow's promised disclosures, therefore, will be of positions as they stood yesterday or today.

The Supreme Headquarters answer to critics of the news blackout has been that it was imposed on the basis of opinions of generals directing the fight and that the situation was so fluid that information of the whereabouts of German troops, even if it were days late, might help the enemy.

George H. Lyon, OWI representative at Supreme Headquarters, said tonight that he had been trying for 48 hours to get the army to let the people know what was happening on the battlefield, but without much success.

"In my opinion, the army is making a bigger mistake than it did in the Patton case (the incident of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's slapping a soldier in Sicily)," Lyon said.

DEC 21 1944

"It is following a head-in-the-sand policy, It could tell a great deal more without giving any information to the Germans."

Lyon said he was leaving for Washington Friday and would continue his campaign against news suppression there. He joined war correspondents at last night's press conference in protesting against the blackout.

"Everybody in the World knows this story and is going to print it," he said. "It has leaked over 40 acres. x x x . You say we can't tell the Germans this because they may not know it. The Germans' record in this war is that they have shown themselves to be pretty good soldiers and I think they know what went on Sunday afternoon.

"It seems to me not only foolish, but that it will make us all seem stupid if we don't tell the story. If you continue, then you make them imagine things are worse than they are x x x . I think everyone else in the wold except SHAEF correspondents are permitted to tell the story."

Flyer Says Nazi Trucks Jam Roads Behind Drive

Supreme Allied Headquarters, Paris, Dec. 20 (AP)—The roads immediately behind the German attacking front are lined bumper to bumper with enemy transport of every description, defended by unbelievable quantities of anti-aircraft guns massed especially for this offensive, a United States 9th Air Force flyer said tonight.

The flyer, Capt. Kenneth Dahlberg, of St. Louis, shot down four Messerschmitt 109's yesterday in a furious dogfight just west of Prum.

The German pilots, in contrast with their cautious behaviour of recent months, are aggressive and continue to bore in, he said.

Patch's Troops Repulse Westwall Counter-Attack

Germans Step Up Fire All Along Sector Held by 7th Army

WITH U. S. 7TH ARMY IN GERMANY, Dec. 20 (AP).—Lieutenant General Alexander M. Patch's doughboys beat off a small, sharp German counter-attack among the pillboxes of the Westwall today, where strong resistance stalled American progress into the Reich.

The assault, launched by 150 Nazi infantrymen supported by seven tanks, was aimed at a hill northwest of Wissembourg. The enemy meanwhile stepped up its fire all along this sector of the front, where 7th Army troops already have destroyed at least twenty Westwall pillboxes.

Bitter house-to-house resistance and heavy shellfire forced the Yanks to withdraw from Bundenthal, which is two miles inside the German border northwest of Wissembourg. Farther east along the Rhine, enemy troops also infiltrated back into Berg, after American troops had passed through.

German patrols are continually filtering across the Rhine at night north of Strasbourg in an effort to locate our artillery sites and troop dispositions.

On the left flank, in the Bitche area, the enemy was cleared from two Maginot forts, Simserhof and Schiesseck, but both were under heavy German fire from Westwall positions farther north. In one sector the Westwall American infantry penetrated the network of dragon's teeth fortifications and was cut off for ten hours, not by encirclement, but by furious enemy fire.

German troops are making an equally stubborn stand in the Colmar-Mulhouse salient to the south, where Henrich Himmler is reported master-minding a series of punches against Allied lines. The Germans recaptured Sigolsheim, northwest of Colmar.

U.S. RESERVES USED, REPORT

Germans Claim Capture Of 10,000 Americans

London, Dec 20 (AP)—The German radio claimed tonight that "several" Allied divisions had been rushed from the Aachen and Saar fronts to check Marshal Karl Gerd von Runstedt's counteroffensive and boasted that "according to incomplete data, three to four American divisions either have been destroyed or badly mauled."

The German daily war communiqué claimed that 10,000 prisoners had been taken in the Nazi counteroffensive.

American tactical reserves thrown in on the right wing of Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' 1st Army have been engaged and beaten "in very heavy battles" during the last two days, Berlin claimed.

Aachen, Saar Drives Halted

While giving the names of no towns, the Germans said their Ardennes drive was "ahead of schedule and going strong" in its fourth day. They claimed that German losses were "less than anticipated." The broadcasts said that the drain of reinforcements from the Aachen and Saar sectors had forced the Americans to halt attacks on those fronts.

The German communiqué said that in addition to 10,000 prisoners taken, a total of 200 tanks had been knocked out and 124 Allied warplanes destroyed in combat by the German Air Force.

The communiqué withheld the names of any places overrun by the Nazis but DNB reported dislodging of American troops from the town of Kesternich on the Monschau-Vossenack road.

"Spearhead Advancing"

The high command said American strong points overrun by the Germans "were cleaned up and the attacking spearheads advanced."

The Germans said Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges was rushing reserves into the United States 1st Army front and they were being "immediately brought into action."

The Berlin radio claimed the German Air Force was "very active" despite unfavorable weather, adding that "whenever there was the slightest chance German fighters and bombers went up to support their ground forces."

U.S. Resistance Broken

DNB declared: "German tank and infantry divisions still were advancing swiftly along the whole offensive sector. American troops offered some resistance, which was broken and smashed. The number of prisoners is mounting steadily. The Germans are speedily exploiting their gains."

Berlin emphasized that the German high command enjoyed the advantage of having perfect knowledge of the areas of operation, explaining "they can use all the possibilities of the quickly changing situation in their favor."

To Keep Initiative, Boast

Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, German military commentator, discussing the offensive, declared:

"The German command for the last weeks and months only put into the field the number of soldiers necessary to prevent a major Allied breakthrough. We knew very well that the greatest concentration of troops and machines would be needed on the decisive sector.

"In any case, the battle which was started by the German attack has not by far reached its climax yet. New and bitter battles will be fought and the first offensive phase will be quickly followed by other momentous operations. German leadership and German troops are firmly resolved not to yield the newly gained initiative to the enemy again.

"The uncertainty of the Allied news services is significant, because today they are violently guessing as to our strategic plan, our operative aims, the strength and length of the German offensive front."

Drive Halts Allied Attacks: Berlin

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Berlin radio declared today that the German counteroffensive in Belgium and Luxembourg already had paid dividends by compelling the Allies to halt attacks on other sectors, but said military security precluded full details on the Nazi drive.

The broadcast quoted Adolf Hitler's newspaper, the Volkischer Beobachter, as saying:

"It is certain we are only at the beginning of heavier fighting. The German people, educated by the advances and retreats of this war, view the situation coldbloodedly, realistically and callously. But there is joy in everyone's eye. We are advancing again."

NEW YORKER LIVES THROUGH MASSACRE

With the American First Army, Dec. 19 (Delayed) (A. P.).—The story of German brutality in slaughtering nearly 150 American prisoners in cold blood Sunday afternoon near Malmedy, Belgium, has fired First Army troops with a new measure of hate as they face the Nazi counter-offensive.

Since it first came out, the story has been verified by four more doughboys who somehow survived and separately straggled back to their own lines. These men were:

Pfc. Peter Piscatelli of New York city, Pfc. L. M. Burney, Truman, Ark.; Private Samuel Dodyns, Sandusky, Ohio, and Private Roy B. Anderson, Austin, Ind.

"We were just standing there all bunched up," Private Piscatelli said. "It started when a German tank man fired a pistol into the crowd. He fired again and then all the Germans—the whole gang of them—opened up. They fired their machine guns and mowed our men down. I dropped flat on the ground with my back to them so they wouldn't see me blink. They kept up the firing for about a half hour."

Capt. Marvin R. Denzel of 36 Garden street, West Englewood, N. J., who was one of the first to hear the story from survivors, said: "We'd heard about such things, but kept thinking, 'It can't happen here.' Now we know better."

The official account given out by First Army Headquarters tonight said that the cries and moans of the wounded only brought more shots from the Germans. It said that the first man who made a break for safety was followed by from twenty to twenty-five others, but only fifteen managed to escape.

He Went Out After Tomatoes, But He Got Some Nazis

By Harold V. Boyle

With the American 2d Infantry Division in Germany, Dec. 9 [AP—Delayed]—It all started in a tomato patch.

The brawny artillery corporal only wanted to pick a few fresh tomatoes—but one thing led to another and before he was through he had knocked out a Nazi pillbox, machine guns, and a heavy flak gun.

And Joseph Martino did it all with captured German weapons.

The corporal, a 25-year old, 200-pounder, who used to play high-school football and drive a truck back in New Haven, Conn., was no stranger to heroism. He wears the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart.

But He Wanted Tomatoes

But this day Martino, chief of an artillery observation party, wanted tomatoes, not medals.

He lay with a group of infantry soldiers held up by Germans defending the pillbox strong point. Near by, a lone civilian calmly picked tomatoes, oblivious of personal danger.

Martino could stand it no longer: "If a civilian can pick those tomatoes, I can, too," he said.

And he did. He wormed forward, picked what he wanted and got back safely. Waiting for him with a grin was the battalion commander, Lieut. Col. John M. Hightower, of Las Cruces, N.M.

As Martino started to crawl back to pick some more, Hightower called jokingly. "Why can't you get that flak gun instead?"

"I can do that, too," Martino called back as he disappeared into some bushes. He proved his boast.

He Got Some Help

One doughboy and another artillery man gamely volunteered to help him.

They had to cross a main highway and a high stone wall before they could get at the enemy emplacement. This wall had blocked the artillery, infantry and armed reconnaissance cars. Concentrated fire from the German guns made the highway impassable.

Martino took a chance. He rolled a length of abandoned tile pipe across highway. A rattling burst of enemy bullets and flak shattered it instantly. One of Martino's helpers then decided to drop out of the party.

Martino and his remaining comrade dashed quickly across the road and plunged into the ditch before the enemy could cut loose again.

Mine Exploded

Martino landed in a mine field and one mine exploded.

That experience convinced the other soldier it was useless to try to go on. He stayed in the ditch. Not Martino.

He sighted his first Nazi soldier near the gun emplacement. He was 50 yards away. Martino had only a German pistol, and that was a risky range. So when he found a dead German in a ditch, he took his rifle.

"I was lucky—it was loaded," said the corporal. "I fired, and then there was another good Nazi—a dead one."

Then Two More

Protected by an embankment, Martino quickly covered the 50 yards to the body of the man he had shot and stripped him of two German grenades. He pulled out the pins and dropped the grenades on the enemy gun crews, killing two more men.

The Nazis had enough of this wild one-man army. Five came out shouting Kamerad! Moving up now, the Americans took twenty more prisoners and mopped up the area.

'Nazis Slaying Belgians'

New York, Dec. 20 — Substantiated reports of the murder of civilians by Germans overrunning Belgian villages in the current counteroffensive have been received, Richard C. Hottelet, CBS correspondent, said today in a broadcast from the 1st Army front. "There is no pretense here of conquest," he said. "It is a last desperate blow to inflict pain and get revenge."

RUSSIANS TAKE 13 MORE TOWNS

Reds Gain Up To 5 Miles In Drive Toward Losonc

London, Thursday, Dec. 21 (AP)—The Red Army in advances up to

30. 24— 2141 1

5 miles in southern Czechoslovakia yesterday captured thirteen towns and cracked and outflanked the Germans' strong Slana River line in a drive aimed toward the citadel of Losonc.

The Moscow comuniqué last night and a supplemental elaboration this morning said nothing of the encircling thrust against Kassa, where latest unofficial reports from Moscow had Soviet forces preparing for attacks on the Torysa (Tarca) River fortifications 2 miles outside that communications center.

Rail Junction Town Menaced

Moscow announced, however, that about a battalion (500) Germans were killed in the day's fighting on the front 45 to 60 miles southwest of Kassa and that the Russians were closely threatening the railway junction town of Rimaszombat from the south and east.

Chief of the day's captures was the town of Tornala, 13 miles east of Rimaszombat and a strong point of enemy defenses on the east bank of the Slana River. While the Russians had not yet crossed the Slana, which flows from north to south, they outflanked it on the west by crossing the eastward-flowing Rimava River.

Captured towns included Batka, 6 miles east of Rimaszombat, and Janovcs, only 3 miles southeast. Rimaszombat lies but 17 miles east of Losonc. Russian forces Tuesday reached up from the south about the same distance from Losonc and were rapidly expanding their holdings in Czechoslovakia just north of the Hungarian border.

41,244 Prisoners In 41 Days

Wednesday night's brief communiqué, announcing the drive toward Losonc from the east, said 1,010 German and Hungarian troops were captured Tuesday in that area and that over the whole front Tuesday twelve German tanks were destroyed. In 41 days, the Russian 2d Ukraine Army on that front has taken 41,244 prisoners.

While the communiqué was silent regarding other fronts, Moscow dispatches said Soviet shells were bursting among the fortifications of Kassa. The Paris radio reported that the Russians had taken Kassa, but this was not confirmed anywhere and seemed premature in view of the extensive defenses the Germans have erected around that anchor of their line.

German Units Fight Fiercely

Other Red forces advancing up the Hernad Valley sought to isolate the German garrison at Kassa from the southwest.

German units continued to fight fiercely to maintain their grip on eastern Slovakian communications which run through Kassa, but growing defection among Hungarian troops weakened the entire sector.

Advanced Red troops were reported within easy artillery range of Kassa, which controls railroads running west through Slovakia and north to German supply bases in Poland. The city, situated at the foot of the low Tatra Mountains, has a mixed population of Slovaks and Hungarians, which before the war numbered approximately 84,000.

Steady progress was maintained by co-ordinated infantry thrusts of formations from the commands of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Gen. Ivan Petrov, arrayed east, southeast, south and southwest of the city.

The fall of Kassa might oust the Germans from eastern Slovakia and make it impossible for them to form another line before they reach the approaches to Bratislava, the threshold to Vienna.

Malinovsky menaces the Nazi right flank for more than 70 miles along the southern border of Czechoslovakia.

Little fresh news of other sectors of the Hungarian theater reached here. Budapest remained under close siege, and there were hints that the Russians were preparing to cut the German escape route northwest from the Hungarian capital. Unofficial reports said the single electric railway connecting Budapest with Vienna was under continuous shellfire, but there was no verification from Moscow.

REDS CLOSE IN ON NAZI ANCHOR

Four Columns Converging on Czecho-Slovak Bastion.

Moscow, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—Four Red Army columns were converging in heavy attacks today on the city of Kassa, anchor of the entire German defense system in the mountains of eastern Czecho-Slovakia.

[BBC, in a broadcast heard by NBC, reported Moscow dispatches as saying that Russian forces have broken through almost to the outskirts of Kassa and Soviet guns are shelling the fortifications.]

Advanced forces already were reported within easy artillery range of the old highland provincial center, whose mixed Slovak-Hungarian population before the war totaled about 84,000.

A communique last night announced fall of the village of Senya, only nine miles to the south. Other Soviet columns were boring in from the southwest, southeast and east. Field dispatches reported steady progress.

On the southwest the main German highway-rail escape route was cut. Other routes leading through the mountains of middle Slovakia are reported continually harassed by patriot bands.

8-mile Advances.

The drive for the coveted town was a co-ordinated effort of two powerful Russian forces—Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's second Ukrainian and Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian Army.

The converging columns gained as much as eight miles yesterday, battering their way through strong German fortifications set up in the forested mountains. The drive on Kassa was part of general advances on a front of more than eighty miles above the southern borders of Slovakia and in northern Hungary. The border was crossed at many new points.

Twenty-four towns on the approaches to Kassa fell yesterday.

The highway and rail escape routes for the Germans were cut as the Russians swung across the border twenty miles southwest of Kassa, capturing the railway station of Turnava and the adjacent highway town of Turna.

Under the impact of the Russian drive Hungarian troops were reputed steadily deserting, although they are mixed in with German units and many of their officers have been replaced by trusted Nazis.

The communique made no mention of the continuing siege of Budapest.

Jan Masaryk Criticized By Russian Magazine

Moscow, Dec. 20 (AP)—The magazine, War and the Working Class criticized Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister of the Czechoslovak Government, today for writing about a future Czecho-Polish alliance.

The Soviet magazine was displeased by an article which Masaryk wrote for the weekly publication, The Nation in the United States.

"Mr. Masaryk thinks a confederation would protect the Czechs and Poles from aggression," War and the Working Classes said. "But small countries alone or joined together are not in a position to resist German robber imperialism. Salvation was only brought to the Czech and Polish people by the Red Army. . . .

"Masaryk said Czechoslovakia could rescue itself by its own efforts," it continued. "By this he means a Czecho-Polish confederation. One cannoa congratulate Masaryk upon such protection against aggression."

Red Star On Isolation GroupInU.S.

Moscow, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Russian Army newspaper Red Star said today German agents were attempting, "through reactionary circles in the United States and other countries," to block the formation of an international peace organization and were preparing for a third world war.

The article also said the Germans were seeking to stir up controversies among the Allies over the question of Germany's future.

"In the past few days the Hitlerites have pointed with unconcealed pleasure at the activity of the isolationist elements in the United States who already have started agitation against participation by the United States in a world organization of international security," the article said.

"The Hitlerites watch carefully for American reaction to European developments, especially those events which might threaten the unity of the Allies. But they are not much comforted. A majority of the American press acts ardently in behalf of the consolidation of cooperation between all the Allies and urges realization of the Dumbarton Oaks decisions as soon as possible.

"Dumbarton Oaks took into consideration the errors made by the victorious powers after the first World War. It is very elastic and includes possibilities of further improvement.

Real Security Aim

"The Soviet Union, just as other peace-loving nations, is interested in the conversion of the future organization of peace into a real instrument of international security. The conclusion of the Soviet-French treaty occurred at the moment the German Fascist leaders began to make certain political preparations for aiding Germany for a third world war.

"The struggle of German imperialism against French-Soviet rapprochement always has been a part of the preparation of German aggression."

On the same page Red Star printed the statement by United States Secretary of State Stettinius that the Russian - French pact was not contradictory to postwar security plans.

Red Star Attacks U.S. Isolationists

Moscow, Dec. 20 (AP)—Red Star charged today that "reactionary circles" in the United States were furthering German plans to block organization of international security and to prepare a third world war.

Stettinius View on Poles Is Publicized by Russia

Lublin Sympathizers Welcome It as Aid to Quick Action

MOSCOW, Dec. 20 (AP).—The Russian press and radio gave wide distribution today to Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius's statement that America is not opposed to border settlements through mutual agreement before the end of the war.

Polish political elements here favoring an immediate understanding with the Soviet Union on a common frontier found support in the stand.

Mr. Stettinius's pledge of American assistance if needed in population transfers was particularly welcomed by sympathizers of the Lublin Polish Committee of National Liberation, which has propoesd that Poland annex German territory as far west as the Oder River and East Prussia south of Konigsberg. The Lublin committee envisages the expulsion of all Germans from this area and their resettlement within the post-war Reich.

His plea was entered only a few hours after Churchill, in grim reference to "this dangerous and momentous phase of the war," maintained that Britain, Ruesia and the United States were in "entire agreement about the general aims which bind our alliance," but admitted that "whether there is complete agreement on every aspect of these matters is another question altogether."

Churchill quickly side-stepped argument over whether the accord among the Allies could be applied to "spheres of influence."

One member pointedly asked him whether "he did not agree that there is a danger in implementation of proposals of the Dumbarton Oaks conference if certain powers assign themselves spheres of influence and other powers are not brought into cooperation during the war."

"I think that is a topic that obviously I should not attempt to deal with now," replied Churchill.

'British Bayonets Will Not Impose King on Greeks,' Eden Tells Commons

DEC 21 1944

By ALEX SINGLETON

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(AP) Assuring the House of Commons that Britain's bayonets would not impose a king on the Greeks, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden tonight eased political controversy over Britain's armed intervention after reports of differences among the three big Allied powers had received partial confirmation from Prime Minister Churchill himself.

Eden, apparently giving up hope for an immediate meeting of the Big Three but bent on finding a method of eliminating future misunderstandings, pleaded for re-establishment of quarterly meetings "between the foreign secretaries of the great powers as we used to have to deal with some of last temporarily stilled demand of some left-wing la[illegible]mbers for a vote of censure.

The House rose long after dusk tonight in agreement that it would adjourn tomorrow until Jan. 15.

These were the main points of Eden's explanation of the Greek situation:

1. There was "no question" of Britain's armed intervention in Greece "without consulting our Allies."

2. "We could perhaps have been consured for not having intervened in Athens on behalf of law and order at an earlier date."

3. Britain is "seeking nothing for ourselves in Greece—neither strategic advantage nor economic advantage nor any other advantage of that kind at all."

4. If we had not taken this action there would have been mass starvation all over Greece and members of the Parliament would have come to the government and said, 'what are you doing about all this?'"

5. "We are not trying to impose a right-wing or a left-wing government. All we wish is that the ship should keep an even keel."

6. Lt. Gen. Ronald M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, "refused the help of right-wing organizations against the ELAS and has disarmed them."

7. The British government is not against a regency in Greece. It was, in fact, the British ambassador in Athens who first suggested a regency."

8. "The only criticism that could have been made is that we ought to have brought contingents of the others (Allies) with us as well."

9. Britain is not trying to "impose a king with British bayonets on the Greek People."

10. He and Churchill persuaded King George of Greece to remain in Britain because "we were perfectly conscious that his arrival (in Greece) might be the cause of political controversy which he wants to avoid."

Churchill left the job of pleading the government's case on Greece almost entirely to Eden, entering only in the preliminary sparring that led up to the formal debate.

The Prime Minister had agreed to the necessity for the debate only reluctantly, but apparently was persuaded against his earlier insistence that he would permit it at this time only on the issue of confidence in his coalition government.

Only his severest critics wanted the government to stand or fall on the Greek issue.

Labor leader Arthur Greenwood, admitting his party wanted no vote of censure on the issue, chided Churchill on his "schoolmaster role," mourned the premier's "mistake" and maintained that Britain would "lose her good name" in Europe if she went into each liberated country "as a sort of Gestapo."

The sharpest criticism came from Laborite Aneurin Bevan in a demand for a vote of censure to show that the government's policies were only those of "Tories" and another demand that King George's communications with Athens be cut off to prevent his "intriguing" with his Greek ministers.

Eden stated frankly that the government did not foresee that matters in Greece would turn out as they did "and in a fashion that all of us deeply deplore."

He said that Britain and the Greek government of Premier George Papandreou had obtained from leaders of the ELAS and EAM (National Liberation Front Party) agreement that all guerrilla forces in Greece would be under the National Liberation government and under Scobie's command, that guerrilla leaders would forbid their units to make any attempt to take the law into their own hands and that a national union of all forces would be formed in the interests of the common struggle against the Germans.

The violation of this accord is what led to the trife in Athens, he said.

"We shall use all means at our disposal," he declared, "to try to bring this conflict to an end and to insure that this conflict is not made the excuse for a lasting vendetta either of the right against the left or the left against the right when the conflict is over."

Eden said that Britain's aim in Greece is "to maintain law and order, to establish a Greek government broadly representative of all opinion, including EAM, and to enable that government to establish its authority in all Greece."

The first task, he added, was to get relief and food to the Greek people and the second was to organize free and fair elections. The government wishes to remove British troops from Greece as soon as possible and asks only that order be established "so that the people shall be fed with supplies, the greater part of which we collected with great pains."

DEC 21 1944

Churchill, Eden Stand Firm On Greek Policy

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—Under bitter attack, Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden stood pat in Commons today on Britain's armed intervention in Greece, but Eden urged the quick re-establishment of face-to-face contact among the Foreign Ministers of Britain, Russia and the United States to deal with such problems.

Churchill, opening the debate, admitted that "whether there is complete agreement on every aspect of these matters is a another question altogether" after declaring that there was complete harmony of "general aims" among Britain, Russia and the United States.

Commons was thrown into confusion as shouts came from all sides attacking King George of Greece.

Laborite's Criticism

Dr. Haden Guest, Laborite, asserted, "It is not worth spending the life or the wounding of one British soldier to defend the King's prerogative."

Replying to criticisms in which one Laborite shouted, "There may be civil war in Britain!", Eden said Britain's only error in Greece was in not taking the troops of her allies into that country along with her own.

He said there was no question of Britain's armed intervention in Greece "without consulting our allies."

The Government would "welcome quarterly meetings between the Foreign Secretaries of the great powers as they used to have before to deal with some of these matters," Eden said. "The Prime Minister and I have said over and over again that they would go anywhere."

"Spheres Of Influence"

He denied implications that British policy was dictated by spheres of influence, and said Britain was "seeking nothing for ourselves in Greece—neither strategic advantage, nor economic advantage or any other advantage of that kind at all."

Earlier, Churchill sidestepped the argument over whether the general British-Russian-American accord applied to reported spheres of influence in Europe, declaring this was a "dangerous and momentous stage of the war in which words must be carefully measured."

The British Government "is not against a regency in Greece," Eden said and declared that, so far as he was aware, King George II of Greece would take the advice of his ministers.

King Advised To Accept

Athens dispatches today, announcing that Lieut. Gen. R. M. Scobie had issued an ultimatum to the ELAS threatening to use all arms at his disposal by 9 A.M. tomorrow, said the Greek Government had advised the King to accept a regency.

"We want to bring this conflict to an end as speedily as possible by whatever means can be devised," the Foreign Secretary said.

"I do not know what other decision we could have taken but to go into Greece," Eden said. "We knew there was a risk but I still think the decision was right. . . . If we had not taken this action, there would have been mass starvation all over Greece."

Would Give Up Responsibilities

"Britain, he continued, "will be glad to hand over her responsibilities as soon as we can do so, consistently with our obligation."

He declared flatly that Britain was not trying to "impose the King, with British bayonets, on the Greek people."

It was the British Ambassador in Athens, he added, who first had put forward the idea of a regency.

Opening the full-dress debate, Arthur Greenwood, the Labor party floor leader, said "the Prime Minister has not handled this situation in the way in which it should have been handled."

Called A Test Case

Calling the situation in Greece a test case, he criticized the "tone and words" of Churchill, declaring he had tried to convey the impression that "everyone who was an EAM was a gangster."

But he avoided challenging the Government to a vote and conceded that, now that Britain had gone into Greece "with a perfectly good motive," she had "to see it through."

Laborite Aneurin Bevan touched off the first demonstration when he assailed the threat of General Scobie.

"Would Put House In Shame"

If that were carried out, Bevan warned, it would "put this House in a most shameful position."

"When the Germans were fighting in Greece we said that if Athens were bombed we would bomb Rome. The Germans did not bomb Athens, but we have bombed Athens," said Bevan, who is Churchill's bitterest critic in Commons.

Shouts of protest, however, greeted Bevan's assertion that "Ghurkas are being used in Greece because they are politically backward people and can be relied upon to fire upon the Greek people."

Eden cut in with:

"The overwhelming majority of our troops in Greece at this moment are white troops."

At this point the House broke into an uproar with some members accusing Bevan of raising "the color question."

"Sowing Seeds" Of Wars

Sir Percy Harris, Liberal, said there was "suspicion that the Government is playing the game of power politics and endeavoring to establish a sphere of influence."

"The real danger," he said, "is that all the Allies are maneuvering for position. We are sowing the seeds of future wars."

The first Conservative to swing into the debate, Captain Mott-Radclyffe, who fought with the Greeks against the Italians in 1940, drew cheers with a declaration that "the best service we can render is not to be violently partisan on either side."

Bevan described the opening speech of the leader of his own party, Greenwood, as "very moderate." If the Greek crisis was not solved by the time Commons returned after the Christmas recess, he warned, "Then if the Labor party itself does not put the vote of censure on the Government, some of us will have to make clear that they (the policies in liberated countries) are the policies of Tories alone and not of this House."

Fears Trouble In Britain

"There may be a civil war in Britain then," shouted Laborite Seymour Cocks, who led the last fight against the Churchill Government.

Opening debate on British policy in liberated lands, the Prime Minister said:

"We had a certain task thrown upon us and we are discharging it to the best of our ability."

He asserted that so far as the United States and Russia were concerned he had "not the slightest doubt that the complete and effective co-operation will go on in all aspects of the war."

Pressed as to whether there was "now complete co-operation and accord" between Britain, the United States and Russia on British policy in Greece, Churchill replied:

"The burden of attending to the troubles in Greece has fallen upon Great Britain and we have not so far been able to discharge this task without criticism even here at home, which has added to our difficulties.

"Need Close Association"

"The three great powers are in entire agreement upon the general aims which bind our alliance and we have every need to keep in the closest association in this dangerous and momentous phase of the war."

Before Churchill took the floor, Eden reviewed the requirements that Scobie had laid down to the ELAS forces to evacuate the province of Attica, to order all members in Athens and Piraeus to cease resistance, and to hand in their arms.

"General Scobie made it clear," said the Foreign Secretary, "that as soon as these requirements were fulfilled he would inform Field Marshal Alexander, who would concert the necessary steps to put an end to the present turmoil in Greece and to restore to all Greeks, whatever their opinions, the peaceful enjoyment of their democratic principles."

Says All Conditions Not Met

Eden said a committee of the EAM (National Liberation Front party) agreed on December 16 to withdraw the ELAS forces from Attica, but had not replied to the other conditions for an end of resistance and surrender of arms.

If the EAM accepts the terms of the armistice, Eden said, "then we shall do our best to ensure to the Greek people the government of their choice and free elections as easly as possible."

LONDON, Dec. 20 (AP)—The text of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's statement on Greece in the House of Commons today:

We could perhaps have been censured for not having interfered in Athens on behalf of law and order at an earlier date, but I refute the suggestion made by Mr. [William] Gallacher [Communist] that someone "whispered in the ear" of Papandreou [Greek Premier] to ban a demonstration. He gave the impression the British Minister had whispered, and that is quite untrue.

The European Advisory Commission was set up to agree on plans for the surrender terms of Germany and plans for the occupation of Germany and other enemy states. It was set up on our initiative.

Regarding the general machinery of international collaboration, there is nothing we should welcome more than closer machinery of collaboration than there is now.

DEC 21 1944

Consultation Is Invited

We would welcome quarterly meetings between the Foreign Secretaries of the great powers, such as we used to have before, to deal with some of these matters. The Prime Minister and I have said over and over again that we would go anywhere.

As to the decision to go into Greece, I do not know what other decision we could have taken in the circumstances. We knew there were risks, but I still think that the decision was right. Before we took that decision we did consult our United States allies. We did go there with their agreement. We did tell our decision also to our Soviet ally and they also approved that decision. There was no question of our having done this without having consulted our allies, or by a movement of our own.

The only criticism that could have been made is that we ought to have brought contingents of the others with us as well. The Government, I say quite frankly, did not foresee matters would turn out as they have done, and in a fashion all of us deeply deplore.

For reasons of operational security we did not, before we went to Greece, describe in detail all our plans and intentions, even to our Greek allies. We could not give them a clear answer to many appeals they were making to us to go into Greece. They saw developments and wanted us to drive elements of Germans out. We were unable to describe our plans because we did not want to reveal our military plans.

But as we drew near the date on which we did enter Greece, we did tell them of our plans to some extent and invited their collaboration in respect of the guerrilla bands in Greece.

Early Agreement Recalled

Two leaders, General Saraphis of the Elas and General Zervas of the Edes, were invited to come to Caserta and meet the Supreme Commander and there was drawn up an agreed formula between them, known as the Caserta Agreement. Items in this agreement do show the immense trouble taken to try to get an agreement between all parties, the Greek Government and guerrilla leaders, before we went into Greece at all.

It was agreed to by Mr. Papandreou, as Prime Minister of the Government of all parties, in the presence of Eam leaders, and signed by General Saraphis and General Zervas at a conference presided over by the Supreme Commander, Mediterranean Theatre, and by Greek guerrilla leaders.

The following decisions were recorded as having been accepted unanimously:

1. All guerrilla forces operating in Greece place themselves under orders of the Greek Government of National Unity. The Greek Government places these forces under the orders of General Scobie, who has been nominated by the Supreme Allied Command as the general officer commanding in Greece.

2. In accordance with a proclamation issued by the Greek Government, the guerrilla leaders declare they will forbid any attempt by any units under their command to take the law into their own hands. Such action will be treated as a crime and punished accordingly.

3. In Athens no action is to be taken except under orders of General Scobie. Security battalions are considered instruments of the enemy unless they surrender.

4. All Greek guerrilla forces, in order to put an end to past rivalries, declare they will form a national union to coordinate their activities in the best interests of the common struggle.

In accordance with the powers conferred on him by the Supreme Allied Commander, General Scobie issued operational orders concerning the spheres of various guerrilla forces. [One member asked for the date of this document and Mr. Eden replied Sept. 25.]

At the time the Greek Government was a Government of all parties. There was complete agreement between guerrilla leaders, and in so far as any document expressed agreement, that document did.

No Selfish Motives

Before the actual entry into Greece there was no issue that divided the Greek Ministers among themselves and no issue that divided us from any part of our Greek friends. What was our purpose in going to Greece? We seek nothing for ourselves in Greece. Neither strategic advantage nor economic advantage nor any other advantage of that kind at all. In this action we are taking we have no ulterior motive whatever. I don't know why some members should be always so eager to think that we have some sinister purpose.

Of course, it is true that we have an interest in the Mediterranean. That has never been denied by anyone.

But in respect of this action we took in Greece, we took it only in order to bring food and supplies to Greece because we know the position Greece would find herself in. If Greece was largely a self-supporting country and could provide her people with food, we certainly should not have gone in for this vast organization to try to provide food and supplies for the people of Greece.

If we could not get food in, there was no chance of the Greek people's escaping starvation or of their industries being restarted. Those are the reasons we went into Greece. No one can complain of that. We knew the risks because of disturbed conditions. If we had not done this, there would have been certain mass starvation all over Greece and we would have been asked why we did not do something to help our allies. UNRRA was coming in, but now unfortunately has had to pull out.

[Mr. Eden then gave the figures on one week's supply, ending Nov. 24, as an indication what the British had done in Greece in providing food and other supplies. He said that in Piraeus alone more than 20,000 tons of food were landed and at other places the total was nearly another 20,000 tons.]

Minimum Terms Given

Concerning the matter of terms for an armistice, what is the position? Elas forces undertook to obey General Scobie's orders as agreed.

He has asked that Elas ers in Athens and Piraeus must cease resistance and hand in their arms. It is limited to that area. He has not asked that Elas supporters outside who have withdrawn shall hand in their arms. I fear that is the minimum which must be there, because if arms are left in the hands of members of the public, many in civilian clothes in Athens, over a long period, even when this immediate emergency is over and political division arises, you will have this same thing happening again. I think these terms are the minimum. They apply only in that area.

We have not asked that dissolving of guerrilla bands outside Athens should be done otherwise than by agreement subsequent to the cessation of hostilities. There is no question of leaving security battalions in possession of their arms nor of any right-wing organization in Athens.

I ought to tell the House in fairness that General Scobie some little time ago refused assistance offered to him by a right-wing organization against Elas. General Scobie said these men offered to join with our forces against Elas and he refused and disarmed them. We desire that all should lay down their arms. We are not trying to impose right-wing or left-wing government.

All we wish is that the ship should be on an even keel. We wish that arms should be laid down and we are against reprisals by one side or the other after this event is over, and we shall do everything we can to stop them.

Scobie's New Warning

Aircraft today dropped leaflets containing a warning by General Scobie to civilians in and around Athens and in Piraeus that rebel guns still firing after 9 A. M. tomorrow will be attacked with all arms at his disposal. Guns have for some time been firing at the center of Athens and General Scobie now says he will attack them and he warns the civilian population to get out of the way of the guns.

I do not think that is at all the picture which Mr. Bevan [Laborite Aneurin Bevan] gave. I must say in justice to our commanders that I am absolutely convinced that they used every possible means they could to avoid unnecessary loss of life in this operation.

We were told again today that we were trying to impose a King on the Greek people. It is really not so. We all know the King is still in this country. It is on the advice of the Prime Minister and myself that the King is still here. Very likely he would have taken that decision on his own account. We were perfectly conscious that his arrival might be the cause of political controversy, which he wants to avoid.

That is not imposing a King with British bayonets on the Greek people. We are not against a regency and we were not throwing our weight against a regency.

I had not intended to reveal this but many hard things have been said about our Ambassador in Athens. The first suggestion for a regency was made by our Ambassador in Athens himself. When Mr. Macmillan [Harold Macmillan, British Minister of State in the Middle East] got out there he confirmed the judgment of the Ambassador.

As I understand his position, the King feels that before he can make a decision on a matter of this kind he must get recommendations from leaders of the parties in Greece. The King naturally will be guided by the advice of his Ministers. If this is the desire in Athens, then an expression of the desire can come back to the King.

Not Opposed to Regency

We are not opposed to a regency. I think the Greeks themselves and the leaders of the political parties have a right to express their own opinion, and should express it to the King. Then the King will make his decision on their advice.

I have said we have not the slightest objection to a regency if it is going to provide a solution; on that we must get advice from the Greeks themselves.

[Tom Driberg, Independent: "If the Government can give advice to the King about remaining in this country, cannot they advise him against sending messages to Greece in a form which is hardly likely to promote reconciliation?"]

I do not think that is a reasonable request.

[Dr. Haden Guest, Laborite: "Surely it is not worth spending the life or the wounding of one British soldier to defend the King's prerogative."]

Dr. Guest is most unfair. The King is behaving with concrete constitutional propriety. He has not gone to Greece at our request and his present decision is that he awaits the advice of his ministers and, so far as I am aware, he will take that advice. I have tried to avoid bringing controversy into this. We want to bring this present conflict to an end as speedily as possible by whatever means can be devised.

Relief Efforts Blocked

Apart from the tragic loss of life, we must bring it to an end because otherwise we cannot get supplies in, and there will be tragedy of starvation. With the help of the Red Cross, some supplies have been sent, but they are pitifully small. The population of 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 in Athens are faced with serious threat of starvation and disease. Most of the Greeks are in great need of supplies, which cannot reach them because of the disturbed conditions.

We shall use all means at our disposal to try to bring this conflict to an end and to insure that this conflict is not made the excuse for a lasting vendetta either of right against left or left against right when the conflict is over.

Our aim is to maintain law and order to establish a Greek Government broadly representative of all the opinion in Greece, including the Eam, and to enable the Government to establish its authority in all Greece. The first task of the Government will be to get relief going and food for their people. The second task will be to organize free and fair elections, and if our help is needed our help here will be available. And if our Allies will come and help, their help will be welcomed.

We wish to bring our troops away as soon as practicably possible. We only ask that order shall be established so that the people shall be fed with supplies, the greater part of which we collected with great pains.

This is an unhappy phase in Anglo-Greek relations. For more than 100 years our nations have been friends, though there have been incidents from time to time. I hope this chapter will soon be closed and that there will be once again that friendship in which we have taken pride and that the Greek people—all Greek people—and all our own will be united and friends together.

V-Bomb Speedup Expected

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—The British press warned today that it is possible the Germans may step up their flying-bomb attacks on Britain. New damage and casualties were caused yesterday and last night.

15TH AIR FORCE KEEPS UP RAIDS

Italy-Based Bombers Strike For Sixth Straight Day

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—Flying Fortress and Liberator bombers of the 15th Air Force, based in Italy, smashed at strategic targets in Czechoslovakia, Austria and Germany for the sixth straight day today, but bad weather strangled the Allied British-based fighters and bombers sorely needed to combat German armor in Belgium.

Thunderbolts of the 15th also strafed gun positions and rail lines in the Spezia-Genoa area, struck at the Padua-Mestre district in northern Italy and swung north to the Brenner Pass to cut the railroad at four places south of Trento.

Supply Warehouses Damaged

Several enemy supply warehouses on the Po River estuary also were damaged.

In the bomber raids on German-held territory farther north, Liberators struck near Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, using instruments to drop their loads through heavy clouds, without meeting enemy opposition.

The Fortresses and Liberators also used instruments to bomb the Regensburg area in Germany and Linz; Salzburg and Villach in Austria.

During the six-day offensive, the 15th has put approximately 1,000 planes in the air daily, has flown more than 6,000 sorties and hit targets as far away as upper Silesia and Poland. Its farthest target, Brux, is considerably more than 600 miles from its Italian bases.

Oil production targets at Brux in Czechoslovakia, as well as Blechhammer and Odertal in Silesia, Oswiecum in Poland and Linz in Austria have received steady pounding.

The Luftwaffe has offered opposition on only one day. That was Sunday when about 150 Nazi fighters swarmed up near Blechhammer and 48 of them were shot down.

3-Year Secret Is Out— Royal Palace Bombed

London, Thursday, Dec. 21 (AP)—A bomb crashed through the roof of Buckingham Palace and through the apartment of the Queen in the early days of the London Blitz, but failed to explode, it was disclosed today.

Eight men of the Palace Home Guard unit disposed of the 3-foot-long explosive.

King George yesterday personally inspected this Home Guard unit, every man of whom had kept the three-year secret of the palace bo

DEFENDS BOMBINGS

London, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—Sir Archibald Sinclair, Air Minister, told the House of Commons today that "frankly it is not practical in attacking German targets" to provide airmen with instructions to avoid bombing cathedrals and other buildings of historic and artistic value. Miss Eleanor Rathbone, an Independent, asked why the system was workable in Italy and not in Germany.

Sinclair responded: "Because we are attacking German war industries and transport on large scale and it would be humbug for me to come to the House and say ——" His last words were lost in a chorus of cheers.

V-Weapons Seen Aid To Nazi Morale

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—A high-ranking neutral diplomat reported today that recent conversations with German officials and civilians indicated a substantial increase of morale in Germany, with a growing conviction that hopes for a negotiated peace had been strengthened since the advent of the V-weapons.

Although admitting skepticism, this source said German officials told him Hitler had disclosed to his generals that V-weapons up to No. 10 had been designed by Nazi scientists and were being produced on a mass scale.

"I was told," the informant added, "that Hitler explained to his generals if they could hold on until spring the V-weapons would turn the tide of the war."

He explained these German officials admitted that immediately after the attempt on Hitler's life and the purge that followed, Field Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt was convinced the war was lost and that the home front might crack at any minute.

"Hitler, I was told, called in his generals and went into great detail about the V-weapons, and, after several hours, apparently convinced Rundstedt the war was not lost, but that it could be so developed that a negotiated peace was not impossible," the diplomat said. "The German officials said Rundstedt was a changed man after that, once again taking heart."

Hundreds Of Nazis Riot At British Prison Camp

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—Hundreds of German officers rioted and thirteen escaped Monday night from a prison camp near Penkridge, Staffordshire, it was disclosed tonight.

The prisoners were believed to have been inspired by news of the German counteroffensive. All but one of those who escaped have been recaptured, although two got as far as Liverpool and were about to board a ship leaving England.

Atlantic Charter Search Continues

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—Spokesmen for the Admiralty and 10 Downing street said tonight they were unable immediately to identify or make available for interviews the radio operators President Roosevelt said had transmitted the memoranda of the Atlantic Charter from the battleship Prince of Wales.

The President told a press conference in Washington yesterday that the Atlantic Charter never had been drafted into a document, but existed as a series of memoranda which was turned over to radio operators for transmission at the time of his conference at sea with Prime Minister Churchill.

While one naval source said Churchill usually took along his own radio personnel when he went to sea, the Admiralty said the operators most likely were naval men. The Admiralty insisted, however, that queries as to their identity and whether they survived the subsequent sinking of the Prince of Wales must be submitted in writing.

A naval source said that if there is a copy of the charter memoranda it would be in the Admiralty archives.

Partisans Reported In Zagreb

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Swiss radio reported tonight without confirmation that Marshal Tito's Partisans had broken into Zagreb, main German-held center in Yugoslavia. Tito's communiqué said yesterday his forces were near Zagreb.

FRANCO-SOVIET PACT FAVORED

Eden Says Britain Welcomes It as New Link.

London, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—Britain was kept advised throughout the negotiation of the new Franco-Russian pact and welcomed it as an "additional link between two European Allies," Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced today in the House of Commons. "It seems clear that there is therefore no question of any conflict between the Franco Soviet treaty and the future world security organization which all parties are seeking to establish," he said. The treaty is similar to the Anglo-Russian treaty, he said.

Britain has turned back to the jurisdiction of Haile Selassie large areas of Ethiopia administered previously by British military authorities, Foreign Secretary Eden said in outlining a new Anglo-Ethiopian agreement.

"Sovereignty of the Emperor remains untouched by the new agreement," the Foreign Secretary told the House.

Mr. Eden also told the House that he had found no basis for statements that liberated countries were shunning UNRRA, adding that the whole question of giving immediate relief mainly was one of transportation. When asked if any difficulties had arisen with Yugoslav authorities over UNRRA, Mr. Eden said that arrangements currently were being discussed between the supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean and Yugoslav officials for sending relief "provided by Allied military authorities."

"This arrangement," Mr. Eden explained, "contemplates an early transfer to UNRRA of the responsibility of providing relief in accordance with the common wish of all concerned."

He also told the House that recent Jap successes in China constituted a "grave menace" to that country and that "everything in the power of the Allies will be done" to aid their Pacific war partner.

Offering the Chinese a new expression of confidence "in this fresh trial in their eighth year of war," Mr. Eden affirmed Britain's solidarity with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek "in measures which he and his able American colleagues are taking."

AMERICAN BEER FOR TOMMY ATKINS

London, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—British troops in India, who place beer second only to tea on their list of desires, are to get 1,920,000-quart bottles of American brew. The Earl of Munster, Under-Secretary of State for India and Burma, reported the order today in a white paper. Production in India has been increased more than 300 per cent, but this is not enough to meet the present ration of three bottles per man monthly.

Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons that steps were being taken to increase the ration of cigarettes in the Asiatic theaters.

LONDON POLES MARKING TIME

See No Need for Haste on Frontier Pledge

DEC 21 1944

London, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—A feeling is growing in Polish circles here that there is no urgency for Poland's exiled Government to make a commitment on the frontier question, sources close to the Cabinet or Premier Tomasz Arciszewski said today. This view appeared to be general among Polish officials, who apparently have reached a point where they believe there is little left for them to salvage.

The Government's officially stated view is that there be a "free and independent Poland," but what Premier Arciszewski intends to propose regarding territorial changes is left to speculation. The Premier, in a statement issued by the Polish telegraph agency, said:

"We consider the statement by Mr. Stettinius (United States Secretary of State) as a confirmation of the United States' attitude with regard to Soviet intentions toward Poland. This attitude has already been previously stated by authoritative American quarters, and also has been previously known to the Polish Government.

"The Polish Government are glad to welcome the emphasis again laid by Stettinius on the necessity of respecting the principle of mutual agreement among members of the United Nations in important matters of future post-war settlement. It is, of course, understood that mutual agreement is an agreement only when and if it is a voluntary one."

Reuter Head Backs Free-Press Plan

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—Pledging the support of his organization for an "honesty in news between nations" program, Christopher Chancellor, general manager of Reuter, asserted today that a world-wide system of free news agencies would do much to make permanent the coming peace.

Writing in the Christmas issue of World's Press News, Britain's foremost newspaper trade magazine, Chancellor praised a freedom-in-international news plan sponsored by Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press.

Three World Agencies

He named the Associated Press, the United Press and Reuter as the only organizations which could be termed "world news agencies," and said all three "have pledged themselves to work for the establishment of certain standards in the international news business."

"The three world news agencies," he said, "are the most potent factors today in keeping the news streams of the world clear. They feed news to the newspapers in every country on the globe.

"A world-wide system of free news agencies—independent, impartial, reporting the news of their own countries and the rest of the world with no other motive than to supply the truth—can do much to insure the permanence of the coming peace."

Definition Of Term

Chancellor said an effort was now under way to establish a definition of the term "news agency," adding that "it should be an honorable term with a closely defined meaning." Many propaganda agencies were masquerading under this title, he said.

Asserting that a world news agency must report objectively and eschew nationalism he said of Reuter that "we are not purveyors of British news; news cannot be British or American—it is an international commodity and the aim of Reuter is to be a clearing house for truth."

British Army Dismisses Officer in Triangle Case

He Had Arranged With A.T.S. Woman to Bear His Child

LONDON, Dec. 20 (AP).—Lieutenant Herbert Leak, twenty-nine years old, has been dismissed from the British Army as a result of his arrangement with an Auxiliary Territorial Service woman to become the mother of his child, it was announced today. The charge was "improper association."

The dismissal was ordered by a court martial which last month heard Leak testify that his wife, who was unable to have a child, suggested that he enter relations with Private Betty MacFarlane, a telephone operator in his anti-aircraft battery. Leak said that Private MacFarlane, whose husband is serving overseas, had volunteered to bear a child for him and that they had relations but once.

Mrs. Leak, confirming this testimony, said she had been looking after the A. T. S. woman, who was dismissed because of pregnancy.

Briton Likens Yank Voices to Tin Whistles

DEC 21 1944

London, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—Criticisms of "Hollywood conceptions of life" and praise of the British "quality of voice which makes English sound like a flute against the American tin whistle" were heard today in a Commons discussion of British versus American films in world markets.

Major Henry Adam Proctor declared, "We have been for many years in this country getting a very raw deal from American producers, and the whole of the American film industry has dealt very harshly with products made in this country.

"This is due," he said, "to the fact that financiers in the industry, and especially American controllers, see to it that the English film will not be a competitor with American production. We are equal to the Americans in direction, script, writers, and actors, and we have that peculiar quality of voice which makes English sound like a flute against the American tin whistle."

Discussing an amendment to a quota order which would increase moderately the number of British films, Ellis Smith said he believed the Board of Trade "too pessimistic about future prospects for the British film industry."

"The world cannot run on Hollywood conceptions of life," he continued. "I am concerned about the effect of many films from Hollywood on the lives of our young people."

Earl Winterton declared, "I view with some alarm the way in which films of alleged educational character come from America."

He said it was not good for children to be shown films when they cannot understand the language.

Americans And Nazis Battle Bitterly In Tossignan Area

Rome, Dec. 20 (AP)—American forces south of Bologna are engaged in bitter fighting with German troops in the Tossignan area, while Polish and Indian troops have virtually wiped out all enemy resistance south of Senio River on the eastern end of the Italian battle front, the Allied command reported today.

American patrols which slipped into Tossignan reported that heavy barricades had been erected in all of the streets of the town, and that strong Nazi patrols guarded all roads in the vicinity.

Limited Gains North Of Faenza

Operations of the Polish and Indian troops of the 8th Army ended two weeks of stubborn fighting by the Nazis to hold their positions in the Senio area.

Northeast of Faenza other British 8th Army forces made limited gains against a 9-mile-wide German salient bulging into Allied lines between captured Faenza and Bagnacavallo. The Germans have concentrated a large force of troops and much artillery and mortar equipment in the area and were grimly holding on to their positions on the west bank of the Lamone River.

In The Adriatic Sector

A number of prisoners were taken in the area as Nazis struggled to extricate their forces from the bulge which is threatened by two flanking movements—one from British troops in Faenza and another from other 8th Army troops six miles west of the town.

Along the Adriatic coast, British patrols penetrated deeply into Nazi lines toward Valli di Comacchio Bay north of Ravenna. A number of prisoners were taken.

Allied forces pushing westward from Ravenna were closing in on Bagnacavallo, 10 miles distant.

Fighter-bombers of the Allied Mediterranean Air Force attacked enemy positions and gun emplacements in northwestern Italy during the day in support of the ground operations, the communiqué said.

Allies Clear Senio Area

Rome, Dec. 20 (AP)—Polish and Indian troops of the 8th Army have virtually cleared all enemy forces from the area south of the Senio River and west of the main Bologna-Rimini highway, where the Nazis have been putting up a stubborn fight for two weeks, Allied headquarters announced today.

Strong German resistance held other 8th Army units to limited gains north and northeast of Faenza. Headquarters disclosed last night that a savage enemy counterattack in that area had forced Allied troops to fall back to the northern edge of the highway city.

Hold Nine-Mile Salient

The Germans still hold a nine-mile-wide salient between Faenza and Bagnacavallo to the north.

On the 5th Army front in the mountains below Bologna there were no appreciable changes in position, the communique said.

Heavy bombers of the United States 15th Air Force attacked oil refineries yesterday in Germany and rail yards in Germany, Austria and Yugoslavia.

Sforza Rejects Washington Post

Rome, Dec. 20 (AP)—Count Carlo Sforza, who was disapproved by Britain as Foreign Minister of the Italian Government, declined today an offer by Premier Ivanoe Bonomi to appoint him Ambassador to the United States.

"I would be too greatly displeased if I became the cause of new discussions," Sforza said in refusing, although he said his "first impulse" had been to accept "because the moving memory of the three years I passed there in the service of Italian liberty gave me the certainty of being useful to our country."

CLARE LUCE STAYS BEHIND IN ITALY

Bari, Italy, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—Members of the United States House Military Affairs Committee were en route home today by plane after a twenty-five-day tour of the battlefronts.

Representative Clare Boothe Luce (R.-Conn.), who had been suffering from ear trouble induced by air travel—remained behind. She said she might spend Christmas with the frontline troops.

Representative J. Parnell Thomas (R.-N. J.) said that he plans to suggest that certain American newspapers print editions in Paris and Rome to give the doughboys more news of home and to present the United States more adequately to the liberated countries. Representative Charles H. Elston (R.-Ohio) said he favored this project provided paper is available.

SCOBIE ULTIMATUM ISSUED IN ATHENS

BARBER

Cease Firing Or Face All-Out Attack Today, ELAS Warned

30·24— 21415

Athens, Dec. 20 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. R. M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, announced tonight that as of 9 A.M. tomorrow any ELAS batteries still firing in Athens and Piraeus will be attacked "with all the arms at my disposal," and warned civilians to put 500 yards between themselves and leftist gun positions.

Jean Rallis, the pro-Nazi former Premier who escaped from the Averoff prison two days ago after ELAS guns pounded the buildings for twelve hours, was arrested tonight.

In leaflets captioned "Urgent Warning" and dropped from RAF planes, the British commander announced that he intends to use machine guns, rocket weapons, bombs, land artillery, mortars and naval bombardment on an all-out scale in an effort to silence insurgent guns which have been active for ten days.

Political Developments Hinted

Earlier there had been signs of an impending political development when men using megaphones in some ELAS-held areas announced that regular leftist forces soon would withdraw from Athens and Attica, and that only reserve troops would surrender their arms.

There also was an announcement that "there will follow certain political developments which will insure the liberties and rights of the Greek people."

Informed quarters believe this may be taken as a leftist move to prepare the public for ELAS acceptance of British terms. In this connection it was understood that mediators had been notified by leftist leaders to stand by and be ready to take their answer to Scobie.

King George's Reply Awaited

The British commander's leaflet warning followed capture of RAF headquarters northeast of Athens by ELAS fighters who overran the station after a gun and dynamite assault. A British broadcast reported that "a relief column arrived too late to save the headquarters, but managed to save a big proportion of the men."

Meanwhile, the people of Greece awaited announcement of a reply from King George II in London to learn whether he will accept a recommendation that the nation's leadership be turned over to the regency of Archbishop Damaskinos.

Signed Only By Premier

It was stated tonight that Premier George Papandreou sent a telegram advising the King to accept the regency of the Archbishop over his own signature and members of his Cabinet were not signers of the message.

Some of the Cabinet members, particularly the Rightists and Royalists, are inclined to agree with the Minister of the Mercantile Marine, Peter Rallis (not related to the quisling Premier), who told the foreign press tonight that the present situation did not warrant "such radical measure as setting up a regency."

Apparently Rallis has sent previous telegrams to the King advising him against a regency.

Thus, even in Papandreou's Government there is dissension, for the Liberal ministers favor a regency of the Archbishop.

The attitude of the Rightist Ministers of the coalition Government is that the Communists should be opposed in whatever stand they take and that setting up a regency would be regarded by the Leftists as a sign of weakness in the Papandreou Government, a further concession in a situation which they think has arisen as a result of making too many concessions already.

Government observers are reported to believe that if the monarch agrees to the recommendation of the Archbishop's regency, which has been made to him also by the elderly Greek Liberal leader, Themostikles Sophoulis, that Gen. Nicholas Plastiras probably will become commander in chief of the Greek forces.

Svolos Reported For Truce

A source who has proved consistently reliable, more reliable than most of Papandreou's ministers, reported, meanwhile, that Alexander Svolos, of the EAM, former Minister of Finance, visited ELAS headquarters this afternoon to exert his influence in favor of accepting Scobie's truce conditions.

Svolos seemed convinced, this source said, that a letter from the ELAS command would reach Scobie tonight or tomorrow.

The Communist newspaper Rizospastis claimed two other prisoners who fled Averoff prison with Jean Rallis during the siege had been captured and put to death. It was reported they were Gen. George Bacos, former Minister of National Defense, and George Pirounakis, Minister of Supplies during the German occupation.

The rearrest of Rallis by Greek civil police in the home of friends in the fashionable Kolonaki district was uneventful. The former Premier seemed none the worse for his adventures during the ELAS siege of the prison and afterward.

He had sent word that he was willing to surrender after being at large and the object of widespread search for 48 hours.

Although he had a day's growth of beard and his hat was pulled down over his face, it was noted that his monocle was still securely screwed in his eye.

Attack Threat To ELAS

Rome, Dec. 20 (AP)—Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the United States 15th Air Force struck today for the sixth successive day against strategic targets in Czechoslovakia, Austria and Germany.

Athens, Dec. 20 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. R. M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, announced his determination tonight to carry the fight to ELAS forces and warned civilians in Athens that Leftist guns firing upon the city after 9 A.M. tomorrow would be attacked "with all arms at my disposal."

[A BBC broadcast quoted Scobie as saying the ELAS would be attacked with aircraft, naval guns and rocket weapons as well as other forces.]

Scobie's proclamation followed the fall of British RAF headquarters after a gun-dynamite assault by ELAS forces.

DEC 21 1944

Rallis Still Free

The pro-Nazi former Premier, Jean Rallis, who fled Averoff prison two days ago, after twelve hours of a heavy ELAS siege, remained at large, despite a widespread search.

But the Communist paper Rizospastis said two others of the escaped prisoners, Gen. George Bacos, former Minister of National Defense, and George Pirounakis, Minister of Supplies during the German occupation, had been captured and executed.

Regency Anticipated

Impending political developments largely dominated the scene, however, with the probability of an early acceptance of Archbishop Damaskinos as regent.

A telegram from Premier George Papandreou's Cabinet to King George II in London recommended that the rule be turned over to Damaskinos as regent. Themistokles Sophoulis, elderly Greek statesman, sent a similar message, and the assent of the King was awaited.

British In Two New Drives In Burma Gain 15 To 18 Miles

D. GROVER

Calcutta, Dec. 20 (AP)—British troops opening up two new drives in Burma have slashed 15 and 18 miles, respectively, through Japanese defenses under strong Allied air support, front dispatches disclosed today.

One column advanced 18 miles southeast from the Gawlaik sector to the vicinity of Pyingaing against negligible enemy resistance. This force is striking east from the Kaleymo area south of Tiddim in the Chin Hills.

A second force is driving south from the town of Pinlebu in the hills between the upper Chindwin river and the Irrawaddy. It has advanced 15 miles toward the road-hub town of Shwebo, which is 140 miles northwest of Mandalay.

Within 35 Miles Of Akyab

Meanwhile, two more villages have been occupied in widely scattered sectors of the jungle war zone, and advance patrols on the Arakan coastal plain are now within 35 miles of the port of Akyab, said a communiqué issued at Southeast Asia Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon.

Along the West Burma coast, West African units of the British 14th Army have occupied Kandaung, six miles southwest of Buthedaung in the Mayu Hills, and troops of the British 36th Division, operating in the Gangaw range west of the Irrawaddy river, have taken Kanbaung, 12 miles south of Indaw, the communiqué said.

In the northern combat area near Bhamo, American units of Brig. Gen. John P. Willey's task force engaged in a strong patrol action near Tonkwa, 120 miles north of Mandalay.

British patrols have reached a point 8 miles east of Shwegyin, in the Indaw-Katha region and, west of the Chindwin River, Lushai scouts—natives of a mountainous district of Assam—killed a party of Japanese 30 miles south of Kalewa in the Chin Hills, the headquarters announcement said.

Allied Air Activity

United States 7th Bomber Group heavies and 10th Air Force fighters yesterday attacked Japanese Army headquarters and the station at Maymyo on the Mandalay-Lashio railroad. Other Allied planes bombed an enemy troop concentration and started many fires in a village near Pinlebu.

The communiqué added that medium bombers caused large oil fires near Magwe, on the Rangoon-Mandalay railway, while escorting fighters strafed river craft on the Irrawaddy.

Bombers heavily raided the main Japanese supply base at Taungup, on the coast below Akyab.

NEW GAINS IN BURMA

Kandy, Ceylon, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—Allied patrols advancing down the West Burma coast toward the important Japanese base of Akyab have reached positions more than twenty-one miles southeast of Maungdaw, a southeast Asia communique said today. West African troops have occupied Kandaung, six miles southwest of Buthedaung.

In the northern combat area American units of the Mars Task Force engaged in a strong patrol action near Tonkwa, and troops of the Thirty-sixth British Devision occupied Kanbaung, twelve miles south of Inbaw.

Japs Face Aerial Flame-Bomb

Myitkyina, North Burma, Dec. 20 (AP)—The United States 10th Air Force is using a new, homemade flamebomb against the Japanese in Burma. It is a fighter plane belly-tank, filled with the same liquid used in flame throwers, which spreads sheets of flame over wide areas.

Allied Bombers Block Burma Road With Landslides

DEC 21 1944

Chungking, Dec. 20 (AP)—The stepped-up air offensive over China's scattered battlefronts overshadowed ground activities tonight as Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer's headquarters announced successful raids on Japanese shipping at Hong Kong and blocking of the Burma Road by landslides started by United States bombs.

Speedy P-51 fighter planes of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's 14th Air Force have swept over Hong Kong's water front and sunk one large enemy tanker and probably a Japanese destroyer and two large freighters. They also destroyed two enemy fighters in the air and three on the ground at near-by Kaitak airdrome.

Hankow Still Burning

In western China, P-38 fighter-bombers attacked sections of the Burma road near the town of Wanting on the China-Burma border yesterday causing landslides which made the road impassable.

A P-51 pilot swept over the important Japanese base at Hankow on a reconnaissance mission yesterday and found the city still burning from the fierce Monday daylight attack by 20th Bomber Command Superfortresses and planes of the 14th Air Force and the Chinese-American Composite Wing.

This pilot destroyed a Japanese bomber over the Hankow airdrome and an enemy fighter when he was intercepted by four planes. While returning to base, he was intercepted by twelve enemy fighters over the Wuchang airfield, southeast of Hankow. He destroyed one and returned safely.

13 Planes Bagged At Hankow

Mustang pilots destroyed thirteen Japanese planes during the big Hankow raid and seven others probably were destroyed or badly damaged. Yesterday, pilots of the Chinese-American Wing bombed the Pengpu railyards northwest of Nanking, and at Hwaiyuan, 15 miles to the west, they destroyed three locomotives.

In the ground fighting in South Central China, Chinese forces driving southeastward along the Kwangsi-Kweichow railroad continued to attack Japanese positions outside Hochih and made slight gains against determined enemy resistance, the Chinese high command said.

Yank Flyers Bomb Ships At Hong Kong

Chungking, Dec. 20 (AP)—A large Japanese tanker was sunk and an enemy destroyer and two large freighters were probably sunk in a bombing attack by P-51's yesterday at Hong Kong, Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer's headquarters announced today.

The Mustangs destroyed two enemy fighters in combat over near-by Maitak airdrome, the communiqué said. Three Japanese planes caught on the runways were also destroyed and one was damaged.

Hankow Still Afire

The pilot of a Mustang in a dawn reconnaissance flight found Hankow still burning from the fierce attack Monday by Superfortresses and P-51's. He destroyed an enemy bomber over the Hankow airfield and knocked down one of four Japanese planes that attacked him.

Thirteen Japanese planes were destroyed by Mustangs in the Monday raid on Hankow, and seven others were probably destroyed or badly damaged.

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 20 (AP)—Chinese troops, advancing southeastward along the Kwangsi-Kweichow railway, continued attacking Japanese positions outside Hochih, making slight gains, the Chinese High Command announced today.

Japanese units offered determined resistance. Earlier it was announced that the Chinese had taken Pushan, an important height west of Hochih.

In western China American P-38 fighter bombers attacked sections of the Burma Road near Wanting on the China-Burma border yesterday, causing landslides that made the road impassable, Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer's headquarters announced tonight.

An American communiqué said the first revised totals from the United States Fourteenth Air Force raid, Dec. 18, on Hankow disclosed that forty-two enemy aircraft were destroyed, of which twenty-one were shot down in combat. The remainder were destroyed on the ground. Twenty-four probably were destroyed and twenty-two were damaged. Five American aircraft were missing.

Jap Airbase Blasted.

A United States Fighter Base in Western China, Dec. 19 (Delayed)—(A. P.).—Brig.-Gen. Russell S. Randall's Mustangs, flying in support of the Superfortresses of the Twentieth Bomber Command, destroyed thirteen Japanese planes and probably destroyed or damaged seven others in the raid Monday on enemy installations in the Hankow area, a check today showed. Reconnaissance photographs showed huge fires burning through Hankow's docks and warehouses, believed jammed with material for Japanese troops in China and the Philippines.

China Denies U.S. Threat

Chungking, Dec. 20 (AP)—Foreign Minister T. V. Soong denied today that the United States had threatened, after the recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell from the China theater, to withdraw its establishment in China, including the United States 14th Air Force.

"In practice," he said, "I've never found anybody wishing to cut off his nose to spite his face."

"See Eye To Eye"

The Foreign Minister in an interview avoided a direct answer to the question whether the United States ever had requested or demanded the appointment of an American as commander in chief of the Chinese armies.

"On all such matters we see eye to eye," said Soong, who is Acting Premier. "Such questions would be decided purely on grounds of military expediency."

Silent On Negotiations

Questioned about negotiations with the Chinese Communists in the north, Soong declined to disclose what stage had been reached.

Soong said he had no information concerning the plans of Mrs Chiang Kai-shek, but "as soon as she has recovered I'm sure she will return to China" from the United States.

JAP'S YAMASHITA LINE SMASHED BY YANKS ON LEYTE

HUTCHESON

Enemy No Longer 'Capable of Integrated Defense' Says MacArthur.

DEC 21 1944

PINCER TIGHTENED

Additional 1,541 Japanese Dead Counted by Advancing Americans.

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, PHILIPPINES, Thursday, Dec. 21—(AP) The battle of Leyte island is "rapidly drawing to an end," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today, announcing the complete destruction of the once-powerful Japanese Yamashita line on the northwest shoulder of the island.

The scattered enemy defenders' last group supply route was lost when Yanks surg- th up the single corridor roa n Ormoc, overran Libongao w a road forks off to the Nipponese supply port of Palompon.

The enemy's "cohesion is now completely broken," the communique said, "and he is no longer capable of an integrated defense."

Small remnants of the Japanese forces have been broken into isolated groups and are able to resist only temporarily and at isolated points.

Scattered Japanese forces are fleeing toward Palompon on Leyte's northwest coast, the only port remaining in enemy hands.

Pincers Tightens

Destruction of the Yamashita line in the Ormoc corridor was accomplished when the 77th division, New York's own, advanced four miles north from Valencia, Japanese headquarters whose seizure was announced Wednesday, and took a road junction at the same time the First Cavalry division drove south from Lonoy.

The cavalry seized Kanango and approached to within a mile of the 77th, completing the deadly squeeze play on the Japanese.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported counting another 1,541 Japanese dead Wednesday.

The enemy also has lost six months supplies to the onrushing Doughboys, making his supply problem more crucial.

The Japanese now are "incapable of an integrated defense" and able to resist only temporarily at isolated points, the communique said.

There was no enemy ground opposition on Mindoro which American forces reinvaded without resistance last week. It was the fifth consecutive day in which no Mindoro opposition had been reported.

The enemy continued air harassing of the Americans on Mindoro, and lost nine planes by anti-aircraft fire, including five bagged by P-T boat gunners.

Arms And Food Seized

The huge stockpile of supplies seized on northwest Leyte by the Americans included artillery weapons, a vast store of small arms ammunition, many machine guns and grenades, about a ton of land mines and great quantities of food.

Explaining destruction of the Yamashita Line, a headquarters spokesman said the so-called line was a series of defensive positions extending up the Ormoc highway and flanking the mountains. Capture of those positions constituted elimination of the line, the spokesman said.

The 32d American Division continued its pressure from the north. The main Japanese resistance was west of the Ormoc highway, but it was not integrated.

American planes ranged far and wide again, damaging or destroying four freighters and six barges, and plastering enemy airdromes with bombs. Three American planes were lost in the operations.

Japanese installations, including supply dumps, airfields and bivouacs, were hit from Amboina to northern Halmahera in the Moluccas, and, on Timor, the Fuiloro airdrome was blasted and runways cratered.

Capture of Valencia, the enemy headquarters about midway up the corridor from Ormoc, and piercing of the defense line at Lonoy, six miles north of Valencia, were reported by headquarters Wednesday.

The 77th Infantry division—New York's own—took Valencia in a wide flanking movement after advancing north from Ormoc. They left the highway somewhere below Valencia for their wide swing westward, thus leaving a body of Japanese isolated south of Valencia.

The First Cavalry Division, which had been probing southward through the mountains on the east side of the corridor, knifed into the Yamashita line at Lonoy. This operation severed the line, trapping enemy forces south and north of Lonoy.

Bearing down from the north was the 32nd Infantry Division, exerting pressure on the Nipponese segregated north of Lonoy. It was believed that this enemy force represented the largest element of organized resistance in the corridor. There was no indication of its size.

Yank liberation forces on Mindoro, 225 airline miles northwest of Leyte and within a half hour's flight of Manila, expanded their positions on that newly invaded island without enemy interference. Wednesday's communique reported for the fourth consecutive day that enemy ground resistance had failed to develop. It had been negligible to the landings, nearly a week ago.

[A Tokyo broadcast heard in San Francisco by NBC said Nipponese air units were attacking a 30-ship Allied convoy off San Jose. There was no claim that any of the vessels had been sunk or damaged.]

Yanks Closing Trap on Leyte

Capture Jap Headquarters Town of Valencia, Roll Up Remnants of Yamashita Line.

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—Converging American forces after seizing the Jap headquarters town of Valencia, together with an air field intact, drove forward north and south today in an effort to tighten a noose around the largest organized enemy force still fighting on west Leyte Island.

Seizure of Valencia, about eight miles north of the strategic American-held port of Ormoc, was disclosed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur today. As the Seventy-seventh Division smashed into the city, the First (dismounted) Cavalry swung in a flanking drive from the direction of Carigara Bay and captured Lonoy, six miles north of Valencia.

Valencia Airfield in Use.

In so doing, they cut behind a strong Jap force already pinned down by the Thirty-second Division, and thus the enemy troops of unestimated number were entrapped between the two American divisions.

The Seventy-seventh already has placed the Valencia airfield in use, and it is providing another base for American planes which have been harassing Jap shipping and supply columns in a campaign of attrition.

After capturing Valencia the Seventy-seventh pressed northward, and Gen. MacArthur said it was "rolling up" remnants of the once-powerful Yamashita Line which has been cut to bits by the Americans in the last few days.

Jap casualties continue high, Gen. MacArthur reporting that an additional 1,484 enemy dead were found abandoned Monday. Twenty-two Japs were captured.

Mindoro Yanks Still Gain.

Valencia was the headquarters of Gen. Sosaki Suzuki, directing Jap operations on Leyte. There was no indication where he and his staff had fled; pernaps to Palompon on Leyte's west coast, the sole port now remaining in Jap hands.

American troops continued to operate without ground interference on Mindoro, northwest of Leyte, which they invaded last Friday. Gen. MacArthur reported that thirteen Jap planes attacking American positions on Mindoro were shot down, with the loss of one American fighter.

American fighters and bombers continued their sweeps, and in a series of actions accounted for forty-seven enemy planes. One Nipponese freighter was sunk and five damaged. Three enemy barges were destroyed.

Pfc. And Horse

Leyte, Philippines, Dec. 5 [AP—Delayed]—Pfc. Marion West, former cowboy and rodeo star of Weed, N.M., wrangled himself a captured Japanese horse to become the first mounted military policeman on Leyte.

West, on a looted saddle, now gallops past jeeps and other mechanized equipment to unjam traffic jams.

Iwo Jima And Marcus Raided

United States Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 20 (AP)—American bombers struck Monday at Iwo Jima and Marcus islands, chief bases for Japanese attacks on the Superfortress airfield on Saipan, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

The 100-ton bomb attack on Iwo Jima by the Marianas-based Liberators, escorted by Lightning fighters, was the 12th consecutive daily strike against the small island on the B-29 road to Tokyo and the 15th blow of the month. The Lightnings shot down one enemy plane and strafed ground targets.

Liberators of the Strategic Air Force had hit Iwo Jima, only 750 miles south of Tokyo, on the previous day, starting fires among installations and on the airstrip.

Marcus Airstrip Bombed

The attack on Marcus Island, 727 miles northeast of Saipan, was the first since December 12. The principal target was the airstrip.

The Liberators weathered moderate anti-aircraft fire, and all returned safely, the communiqué said.

Fighters and bombers of the 4th Marine Aircraft Wing and Fleet Air Wing 2 attacked Maloelap atoll Monday, in one of the heaviest in many months of neutralizing raids against bypassed enemy positions in the Marshalls.

Marine Corsairs bombed and strafed storage areas on Babelthuap Island in the Palaus also on Monday.

NIMITZ AND FRASER CONFER IN PACIFIC

Pearl Harbor, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander in chief of the new British Pacific Fleet, conferred today with Admiral Chester N. Nimitz, commander of the United States Pacific fleet, on plans to extend the sea and air blockade of Japan.

The conferences began some days ago, but just have been disclosed. It recently was reported from Melbourne that Fraser's fleet alone was capable of challenging the entire Japanese fleet.

It was considered possible that British battleships and carriers will work in direct conjunction with the powerful United States Pacific Fleet. Australian warship units joined the United States Seventh Fleet in operations which covered Gen. Douglas MacArthur's return to the Philippines last October while carrier planes of the United States Third Fleet blocked off enemy air and naval interference between the Philippines and Japan.

High Army Officers Fly From Alaska To Hawaii

DEC 21 1944

Alaskan Department Headquarters, Anchorage, Alaska, Dec. 20 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Delos Emmons, Alaskan Department commander, disclosed today that the first land-based overwater flight from the Aleutian Islands to Hawaii was made recently by an army Liberator, with Maj. Gen. Davenport Johnson, 11th Air Force commander, as pilot.

The plane bore other high-ranking officers who attended Pacific strategy conference with Admiral Chester Nimitz.

The plane took off from Adak, in the Aleutians, and made the trip in thirteen hours.

3 B-29's Bomb Tokyo, Setting Fires In City

HAVILAND

Twenty-first Bomber Command, Saipan, Dec. 20 [AP—Via Navy Radio]—Three Saipan-based Superfortresses bombed Tokyo before dawn today.

They found all of Honshu, the main island of Japan, blacked out in expectation of the return of B-29's on nightly flights to report the weather over Japan. Two B-29's bombed Nagoya early yesterday, some twelve hours after the second major Superfortress raid on that city.

The first of today's Tokyo attacks by Superfortresses was commanded by Lieut. Wilfred N. Lind, of Minneapolis, which struck at 2.06 A.M.

Saw Ten Blasts

The crew saw ten bomb blasts, followed by fires covering a large square area.

Anti-aircraft was meager and two night fighters that came up kept their distance.

Nine minutes later, Capt. Harold F. Schramm, of Coral Gables, Fla., saw fires in the industrial area. He released his bombload and started thirteen new blazes of medium size. He said he saw a few searchlights and six bursts of flak, but no fighters.

Bomb Bay Doors Stuck

The third B-29, commanded by Lieut. Everett P. Abar, of Concord, N.H., got over Tokyo and found the bombbay doors stuck and all guns inoperative. In the meager anti-aircraft fire Abar saw a few phosphorous bombs, the first reported dropped over Tokyo by defending Japanese planes. He finally got the doors open and bombed a small island down the coast. Night fighters attacked his plane 20 to 30 times. Their tracers came in from all directions but none got close to the defenseless Superfortress.

The previous night a B-29 under the command of Lieut. Harold E. Sargent, of Waymart, Pa., bombed Nagoya's suburb of Shimonoshiki, three miles southwest of that city, touching off a large explosion, with blue-green flames roaring to 1,000 feet.

CANADIAN LEADERS FOR NEWS FREEDOM

4 Major Party Heads Approve Inclusion of Clause in World Peace Treaties

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (AP)—Approval by the Canadian Parliament of inclusion of a freedom-of-news clause in world peace treaties appeared certain today on the basis of statements to The Canadian Press by the leaders of the four major parties in the House of Commons.

From a high source it was indicated that Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, might make a declaration in favor of world freedom of news when he speaks in the annual debate on foreign affairs early next year. This would open up the subject, which would then be touched upon by the other party leaders who usually speak in the debate.

In a statement today Mr. King said the matter of protecting news freedom by international compact "is receiving carfeul attention from the Government" and is also being examined by other Allied Governments.

The other three leaders — John Bracken, Progressive Conservative; M. J. Coldwell, Cooperative Commonwealth Federation, and John Blackmore, Social Credit — went emphatically on record as in favor of news freedom being written into the peace treaties.

The leaders' statements followed the Sunday broadcast by Senator W. A. Buchanan, President of The Canadian Press, calling on Parliament to declare for a freedom-of-news clause in the peace treaties.

News Freedom Backed By 4 Canadian Leaders

Ottawa, Dec. 20 (AP)—National leaders of the four major political parties in Canada hold that world-wide freedom of exchange of news is essential to the well being of mankind, they made known in statements to the Canadian Press, released today.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, said protection of news freedom by international compact "is receiving careful attention from the Government."

Statements Solicited

John Bracken, leader of the Progressive Conservative party; M. J. Coldwell, leader of the C.C.F. party, and John Blackmore, leader of the New Democracy party, went emphatically on record for news freedom being written into the peace treaties.

The leaders' statements were solicited in order to ascertain parliamentary opinion on freedom of news.

Prime Minister King, expressing a hope for early removal of wartime censorship, said:

"I believe that freedom of exchange of international news is essential for informed opinion on international affairs and that this is indispensable to the maintenance of peace. I . . . trust that in the postworld no government will attempt to insulate its people against the free flow of news into and from its national boundaries.

"I believe, too, that all who are interested in the freedom of news should give careful consideration to the importance of equal transmission facilities."

Pope Addresses War Sufferers

DEC 21 1944

New York, Dec. 20 (AP)—A special Christmas message from Pope Pius XIII to prisoners of war, internees, refugees and all "who are suffering from this prolonged conflict" was broadcast last night by the Vatican radio.

The text of the message, as broadcast in German, French, Italian and Polish, follows:

"To our beloved sons, prisoners, internees and refugees, and to all who are suffering from this prolonged conflict, and who on all paths of this world continue on their way, suffering, mourning and weeping: May the Savior of mankind grant you strength—He who giveth freedom after agony so long endured, He the only and Omnipotent Regenerator of downtrodden humanity.

"The message of peace—sent forth anew unto a sorely tried world—the message of peace proclaimed by the angels on the fields of Bethlehem will be to you a sure omen for the approaching end of your sufferings and a harbinger of life renewed and rejuvenated through fertile works of charity and goodness. That all this may find fulfilment, we extend to you, as a token of Divine mercy, our Apostolic benediction."

Jap Admiral Nagumo 'Enrolled Among Gods'

San Francisco, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Tokyo radio said tonight that Buddhist funeral rites were held in the Japanese capital today for Admiral Chuichi Nagumo, killed last July on Saipan Island, where he commanded Nipponese forces, and his spirit "was eternally enrolled among the gods."

The funeral oration, said the home broadcast recorded by the FCC, was delivered by Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai. Admiral Shigetaro Shimada, of the Supreme War Council, acted as chairman.

Nagumo was the admiral who led the December 7, 1941, attack on Pearl Harbor.

New U. S.-Ecuadorian Treaty Under Discussion

Economic and Military Pact to Safeguard Panama Canal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—The United States and Ecuador are now discussing terms of a military-financial agreement looking toward mutual co-operation between the two countries in both spheres during the present and post-war eras.

The agreement would be designed to assure the United States continued use of Ecuador's air and naval bases at Salinas and on the Galapagos Islands for the defense of the Panama Canal and the continent.

In return, the United States would grant Ecuador a $15,000,000 loan for port construction, agricultural development work, additional road building and other projects.

This loan would be in addition to one already agreed to by the United States Export-Import Bank for $5,000,000 for road building purposes and for much needed improvements in the water supply system of Guayaquil, Ecuador's principal port and city.

Galo Plaza, Ecuadorean Ambassador to Washington, is now in Quito and is said to be discussing the proposed agreement in great detail with the government.

Congressmen Back from Warfront Will Confer with Stimson Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 — (AP) Congressmen inspecting the American battlefronts in Europe "found things in excellent condition," Rep. Costello (D.-Calif.) said tonight.

"Morale is very high," reported the Californian who is acting chairman of the group which alighted at the national airport tonight after four weeks abroad. "They are doing an exceptionally fine job."

The congressmen, members of a sub-committee of the House Military committee, declined generally to talk for publication pending a conference tomorrow with War Secretary Stimson and army officials.

Those reached agreed, however, with a statement of one of their number that "there is nothing startling to report."

Costello said there appeared to be no critical shortage of supplies, although commanders in the battle zones "naturally would like to have more of everything, especially artillery and ammunition."

"They opened the books and showed us everything," said another member.

Fifteen of the 17 who left Washington last month returned, leaving two of their group in Europe.

Rep. Merritt (D.-N. Y.) was stricken with pneumonia and remained in Paris while Clare Boothe Luce (R.-Conn.) was in Florence, Italy. Half a dozen of the group were suffering from severe colds.

Roosevelt Receives New Cuban Envoy

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt today received the credentials of the new Cuban Ambassador, Senor Dr. Don Guillermo Belt, and an invitation to "spend his next vacation in Cuba."

The Ambassador told reporters with a smile that it was "a military secret" whether the President would accept the invitation.

3 More Libertys for Greece

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—The War Shipping Administration said today it had approved a request of the Greek government for the allocation of three more Liberty ships. This makes a total of ten Libertys allocated to the Greeks. The vessels will be chartered to the Greek government, registered under the Greek flag, then chartered to the W. S. A. for operation with Greek crews. Actual ownership of the vessels remains vested in the United States.

Army Planes Will Begin Carrying Civilians Jan. 1

State Department Certification Required of Passengers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—The War Department announced today that the air transport command on Jan. 1 will begin carrying civilians on a limited basis. Fares will be comparable to commercial air line rates.

Before civilian passengers will be permitted to use A. T. C. planes, the Department said, the State Department must certify their trips are in the nation's interest.

Civilians will not be carried, the Department emphasized, in cases where their transportation will interfere with or delay the movement of military personnel or cargo, nor will they be accepted as passengers when commercial facilities are available.

NAVY CASUALTIES

Washington, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—The Navy Department announced today the names of 266 casualties in the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard which makes a total of 79,408 casualties reported by the Navy since Pearl Harbor. Of this total 30,494 are reported dead, 35,130 wounded, 9,298 missing and 4,486 prisoners of war. Included in the list today are the following with their next of kin:

AIR ACCORD PUT UP TO CONGRESS

Washington, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—It will be up to the new Congress to implement the agreements reached at the recent international aviation conference in Chicago. This announcement was made today by Senator Connally, (D.-Tex.) after the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which he is chairman, had conferred behind closed doors with Undersecretary of State James C. Grew.

Senator Connally told a news conference: "The committee and Mr. Grew agreed there would be nothing done about making interim administrative agreements onthis matter until early in January when Congress is back and we can consider it at length."

There were reports of sharp discussion within the committee as to whether ultimate action should take the form of a treaty, which would require a two-thirds Senate majority for ratification, or of an executive agreement, which could be approved by a simple majority of both houses.

Senator Connally himself took the stand that any international undertaking which imposes a continuing obligation on the United States should be considered in treaty form.

Under the agreements reached at Chicago, an international civil aviation organization would be established and means provided under which nations might exchange air privileges.

ARMY THEFTS STIR CONGRESS

Probe Urged In Hijacking Of Gas, Food In Europe

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—Reports that thefts of gasoline and food from supply lines has been a serious problem for American armies in Europe brought talk today of a congressional investigation.

Both Senate and House committees evinced interest in press dispatches saying pilfering of supplies reached such proportions at one time as to menace military operations, but had since been curbed.

Dispatches have told of instances of American soldiers selling supplies and of gangsters "hijacking" them for resale on the black market.

Committee To Report

Representative Thomas (D. Texas), acting chairman of the House Military Committee, said the question of an inquiry probably would hinge on reports brought back by a subcommittee which has been inspecting battlefront conditions.

Members of the group returned here tonight by air and Acting Chairman Costello (D., Cal.) said they found "things in excellent condition." He said there appeared to be no critical supply shortages.

Members generally declined comment pending a conference tomorrow with War Department officials.

"The committee members who toured Europe probably will have some information on this subject when they return," Thomas said.

Today, however, the War Department said it had no information on the extent of pilfering or hijacking, referring all queries to the European theater. It said it had no information indicating lack of supplies had hampered the Allied defense against the current German counteroffensive.

Chairman Mead (D., N.Y.) disclosed two members of the Senate War Investigating Committee are going to North Africa after Christmas and intend to discuss the pilfering problem with army authorities there.

Senators Burton (R., Ohio) and Tunnell (D., Del.) will make the trip.

Thefts In North Africa Cited

Mead said the principal purpose of the Burton-Tunnell expedition will be to check on the "cleanup" after the North African campaign but that they would look into the pilfering problem, which also was present in North Africa.

He said the committee had no present intention of investigating the situation in Europe but that any recommendations Burton and Tunnell brought back would be passed on to the proper authorities.

At recent hearings by Mead's committee, Col. Fred C. Foy, director of purchases for the Army Service Forces, acknowledged that shortly after the landings in Europe as high as 30 per cent of some cigarette shipments into that area had gone astray.

Foy said stringent action by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had held losses to not more than ten per cent in any subsequent instance.

Gas Hijacked In Paris

A delayed Paris dispatch, dated December 4, by Wade Werner, Associated Press correspondent, said gasoline had been "hijacked" at the point of a gun in Paris streets and that thefts of supplies at one time "reached a point where black-market operators got almost a bigger share of some trainloads than did the front-line troops."

Such losses have been cut down to "manageable proportions," Werner added, by new military police battalions.

As long ago as September, the Army Provost Marshal's office in Paris announced arrest of 27 American soldiers in a campaign against black-market operations.

One soldier truck driver, accused of selling a load of gasoline, was found to have 51,000 francs on his person.

In October the Army newspaper

Stars and Stripes quoted a supply officer at the Normandy base section as saying pipelines and truck convoys bound for the front were being looted of thousands of gallons of gasoline and tons of rations.

Roosevelt Gives Yule Greeting To All in Service

Military Chieftains Also Send Messages to Men on Behalf of the Nation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—President Roosevelt and members of the high command sent Christmas greetings today to men and women of the armed forces throughout the world.

"On behalf of a grateful nation," said Mr. Roosevelt's message, "I send to the men and women of our armed forces everywhere warm and confident good wishes this fourth Christmas of war. On Christmas Day, more than on any other day, we remember you with pride and with humility, with anguish and with joy. We shall keep on remembering you all the days of our lives.

"It is therefore with solemn pride that I salute those who stand in the forefront of the struggle to bring back to a suffering world the way of life symbolized by the spirit of Christmas."

In another message addressed to ill and wounded fighters, the President said:

"With a deep personal sense o obligation I welcome the privileg of sending to you this Christma Day a message of admiration an affection. You have given of you blood and health to restore t Christmas its meaning and t make the spirit of Christmas gen uinely prevail throughout th world.

"It takes courage to fight on battle front and it takes courag to fight from a hospital bed. W would not cheapen your hours o heroism by wishing you a 'Merr Christmas,' but we wish you t know that we are with you i spirit, in comradeship and in faith.'

Military leaders, including Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson Navy Secretary James V. Forrestal, General George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific commander in chief, also sent Christmas messages to service personnel throughout the world.

Mr. Stimson expressed the "admiration of a grateful nation for your courage and fortitude." General Marshall sent the nation's thanks "for the victories of recent months, for the magnificent work and sacrifices of the men in the field."

Mr. Forrestal said, "Your efforts have brought us all nearer to the day of victory—to the day when we shall again know 'Peace on earth.'"

And Admiral Nimitz said, "We may look forward to this New Year assured that it will see new and more powerful blows dealt the enemy and that it will bring us closer to victory and peace. . . . That is the priceless gift you are earning for your loved ones."

Admiral Ernest J. King, Navy commander in chief, in another Christmas message, said it was unnecessary to detail progress fighting men have made during the last year—"you have fulfilled every expectation. Our enemies are harassed on all fronts," he continued.

"While we are all pleased with our successes to date, we must be realistic about the future. We hope next Christmas may be celebrated in peace; but if not, I am confident that you will continue your efforts to achieve complete victory as early as may be."

Army on Air Christmas Eve

Greetings from Soldiers in Battle Areas To Be Heard Over N. B. C.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—Christmas greetings from service men and women around the world will be brought to the home folks on the Army radio hour Christmas Eve. The broadcast, over National Broadcasting Company stations, will carry greetings from soldiers in the Arctic Circle, the South Pacific, China, Germany, the United States and many other countries. Wounded men will broadcast from the Christmas-bedecked hospital train in the United States.

An attempt will be made to pick up the voice of the only American on Norfolk Island in the South Pacific. He is Technical Sergeant Wilbur V. Lynam, of Rensselaer, Ind., who operates the Army airways communication system transmitter there.

STETTINIUS TELLS DEPARTMENT PLANS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20—(AP) Secretary of State Stettinius made public today his plan for tightening administration and speeding up his department's work.

At the same time, he disclosed that he is going to make more changes and ask Congress for increased appropriations so he can enlarge the department.

The organization was made public just after Under-Secretary Joseph C. Grew and four new assistant secretaries took the oath of office in an unusual and informal mass ceremony.

The word Stettinius and his new aides kept repeating when they spoke of the changes was teamwork—reflected in the reorganization chart which eliminated divided responsibility and places all the work under what Stettinius called his eight generals in the field.

These are:

Legal advisor Green H. Hackworth, assistant secretary William L. Clayton in charge of economic affairs, assistant secretary Dean Acheson for Congressional relations and international conferences, assistant secretary James C. Dunn in charge of political affairs outside the western hemisphere, assistant secretary Nelson A. Rockefeller in charge of American Republic affairs, special assistant Leo Pasvolsky in charge of international organization and security affairs, assistant secretary Archibald MacLeish in charge of public and cultural relations, and assistant secretary Julius C. Holmes in charge of administration.

Holmes, who now is in Paris cleaning up his job as assistant to General Eisenhower, will return and take the oath next month.

Two new aides were appointed. Charles E. Bohlen now the department's top Russian expert who accompanied President Roosevelt to Teheran and Cordell Hull to Moscow, will have the new job of liaison officer with the White House.

Stettinius also brought Wilder Foote over from the foreign economics administration as an assistant. While he has no direct charted connection with press relations, Foote is expected to play an important part in Stettinius public relations.

Stettinius Hints New Changes

In Bureau

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—Secretary Stettinius unveiled his modernized State Department setup today as his hard-won team of new assistants was sworn in.

In the reorganization crossing lines of responsibility were cleared away and the Under Secretary, Joseph C. Grew, was relieved of detail jobs. Stettinius and Grew will work together as a unit.

More Changes Hinted

The Secretary told reporters it was his aim to bring the best qualified men in America into the department and to make it the best possible arm of the Government to cope with difficult tasks ahead. Further changes are in prospect, he indicated.

Throughout his explanation of how departmental machinery has been revamped the teamwork theme was constantly emphasized.

Grew and four assistant secretaries were sworn in by Associate Justice Stanley Reed of the Supreme Court after a battle in the Senate over their appointments. The fight ended last night after President Roosevelt insisted they were the men he wanted for the jobs.

Holmes Still In Paris

One of the five new assistant secretaries was absent from today's ceremony. He is Brig. Gen. Julius C. Holmes, who is now in Paris finishing up his job as deputy to General Eisenhower. He will return here January 15, Stettinius said.

In a formal statement dealing with the reorganization, Stettinius said:

"No stone will be left unturned to make the department strong and fully equipped to discharge its responsibilities in the future."

Today's changes, he added, "should not be considered as a final answer to the department's needs."

New Funds Proposed

"Further improvements which will require additional executive personnel and increased appropriations still remain before us," he said.

He noted that during the past year 190 executives were added to the department, which he called a "considerable infusion of new blood."

Stettinius also disclosed the appointment of Avra Warren, Ambassador to Panama, as director of the Office of American Republic Affairs under Assistant Secretary Nelson Rockefeller, replacing Norman Armour, who has been named Ambassador to Spain.

Pasvolsky Remains

Leo Pasvolsky was continued as special assistant to the Secretary and put in charge of a consolidated office to deal with postwar problems and the organization of a world-security agency.

The reorganization provides for what Stettinius called eight generals in the field. These are the offices of the six asistant secretaries, including Dean Acheson, in charge of congressional relations and international conferences, and the offices of Pasvolsky and Legal Adviser Green H. Hackworth.

All the work of the department was put under these men with exception of five special asssistants to Stettinius and four advisers and consultants carried over.

Army Rejects Offer From Retiring WASPs

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Army Air Forces has turned down an offer from disbanding WASPs of the 6th Ferrying Squadron at Long Beach, Cal., to continue flying service for $1 a year.

The air forces said the offer was appreciated but that enough men pilots are available to carry on the ferrying operations which the women civilian pilots had been performing.

Air forces headquarters said it had not received a similar offer from WASPs at New Castle, Del., but that they would get the same reply.

MALONEY IS HEAD OF COMMITTEE TO SPEED CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 — (AP) A special joint committee of senators and representatives set out today to lift Congress out of the snuff-box-and-wig era.

Its aim is to transfrom the lawmaking group into a modern, smooth-working organization.

"But please don't call it streamlining," pleaded Senator Maloney (D.-Conn.), named chairman at today's organizing session. "I don't like that word."

Creation of the committee, long advocated by Maloney and Rep. Monroney (D.-Okla.), was one of the last acts of the 78th Congress which adjourned yesterday. Monroney, a tall, youngish, former newspaper man, was named vice chairman.

As its first move, the committee of 12 decided to send out a circular letter to all their colleagues suggestions for improvement of the present cumbersome machinery.

They will procede slowly and cautiously, though. Both Houses are jealous of their traditional duties and perquisites. Certainly, it is agreed, there will be no such drastic recommendations as abrogation of seniority rules which determines committee chairmanships, or of the right of the Senate to indulge in unlimited debate.

The concurrent resolution which set up the committee directs it to make "a full and complete" study of the organization and operation of Congress and to recommend improvements designed to strengthen Congress, simplify its operations and improve its relationship with other branches of the government.

The study will include—but will not be limited to—the organization and operation of both Houses and the relationships between them, the employment and pay of personnel by the members and the various committes, and the structure and relationships between those committees.

One thing most of the members want is more adequate staffing of committees by experts in the subjects which come under their respective jurisdictions. Many lawmakers belong to six or more committees, and cannot be familiar personally with every detail of legislation that comes before them.

A request for billions of dollars, for instance, may come to one of the appropriations committees. The members must rely in the main, on the testimony of the people who want the appropriation. They have no definite assurance that it is not too large or, for that matter, large enough.

"It actually costs more to run the bureau of Indian Affairs in the department of the interior than it does to finance all the operations of Congress," Maloney tells his friends.

"This is perfectly ridiculous. By spending a reasonable sum to give our committees the expert assistance they should have, we could save the taxpayers millions—maybe billions of dollars."

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt, on past performance, may well leave zigzag tracks in trying to guide his Administration slightly left of center.

In the future, he told a news conference yesterday, he is going right along edging to the left, just as he said he had been doing for 11½ years.

How far left and right he may swing in the process of holding to a general path challenged the imagination of Washington prophets.

Imprint Of Liberalism

It is on the basis of past performances that the tacking and veering may be expected. For, while the New Deal unquestionably bears an imprint of liberalism in most American minds, it also has had moments when it impressed those minds otherwise.

It attempted a revolutionary reorganization of the Supreme Court. It tried to purge Congress of men the President labeled too conservative.

It instituted broad social changes—wage-hour regulation, deposit insurance, social security, work relief.

Previous Zigzagging

Yet it put or retained in office—and here is where some of the zigzagging came in during the past—men like Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, a wealthy Texas financier, and moneyed Joseph P. Kennedy, who served in various capacities, including a tour as Ambassador to London.

And, at the moment, Roosevelt has just won what was in many respects the strangest tiff he ever had with Congress.

Aligned against him were down-the-line New Deal senators, fighting his nominations for half a dozen top men in the State Department.

Called Too Conservative

The reason they fought was that they considered the appointees as a group too conservative, too much the representatives of big business or Wall Street.

Bearing some of these seemingly paradoxical factors in mind, politicians, economists and diplomats now are trying to define "left of center" and to apply the definition to events at home and in international affairs.

Politicos and economists would like to know exactly in what direction Roosevelt may move to convert America from war to peace—whether there will be amazing innovations paralleling those brought to bear against the depression of the 30's.

30. 24 — 214 19

Coming Parleys Eyed

Diplomats would like an idea of the precise route he will follow in forthcoming talks with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin and in parleys that finally shape the peace.

They would like to know whether he will resist resolutely any power or territorial grabs by Allied nations, whether he will uphold steadfastly the right of small countries to determine their own governments and have a say in what their boundaries shall be.

Urges Study Of Revenues

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—A Republican tax-study committee today urged an immediate "critical examination" of all Federal revenues to help Congress prepare for a postwar tax program.

'44 SPENDING HITS NEW HIGH

Consumers To Pay 97 Billions For Goods And Services

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—American consumers are ringing up a new spending record this year.

The Commerce Department estimated today that $97,000,000,000 will have been spent for goods and services in 1944. That's six per cent bigger than last year. It's more than half again as big as 1939 spending, which totaled $61,700,000,000.

There's a war on. But the department said enough civilian goods were produced in 1944 to satisfy most consumer wants. There were "some inconveniences but no hardships."

Increase In Quantity

Rising prices account for some of the increased spending, but not all. The actual quantity of goods and services bought this year has been somewhat larger than in 1943.

Civilians spent $2,000,000,000 more for food than they did last year, even though prices averaged slightly less than in 1943, according to the Commerce Department report.

Less Durable Goods

The consumers laid down nine per cent more money for clothes than in 1943, but since there was a seven per cent rise in prices, the quantity was little changed.

As for durable goods, like furniture and autos, the quantity sold was ten per cent less than last year. But consumers spent about the same for the goods, because of price rises. Furniture, especially, got more expensive, said the department, but even with higher prices, less money was spent for furniture.

It was increasingly harder to buy some items in 1944, such as radios and low-priced children's clothing. Such items either weren't being made, or were produced in insufficient volume and stocks were getting low.

There were "temporary shortages" in certain other items, like high-grade meats and cigarettes.

Note On Christmas Buying

"The unprecedented Christmas buying of the last quarter of the year may seriously deplete stocks of many items such as men's and women's underwear, rayon hose, and men's shirts," says the report.

Consumer spending for service continued to rise during 1944, but not quite so fast as in the other war years. Most of the increase was the result of higher prices—notably for domestic help.

Also, "while the quantity of services increased slightly over the war period, the quality deteriorated steadily and substantially."

WINTER WHEAT PROSPECTS GOOD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 — (AP) The nation may be headed for another billion bushel wheat harvest in 1945.

The Agriculture department reported today that the winter wheat crop has gotten off to such a favorable start this fall that harvest next summer may total 761,591,000 bushels.

This estimate was determined, the department said, from factors now measurable, such as the reported condition of the crops as of December 1, and rainfall and temperatures to date.

To be added to the winter wheat is production from spring wheat seeded next spring. While no estimate of spring wheat production can be made at this time, officials said a 300,000,000-bushel crop was possible.

A billion bushels would be more than ample to meet expected needs during the 1945-46 season. Next year's production will be supplemented by reserves from this year now are expected to total about 400,000,000 bushels next July 1.

This year's harvest gave 764,073,000 bushels of winter wheat and 314,574,000 of spring wheat—a total 1,078,647,000 to top all records.

ELECTION QUIZ INDICTS KAMP

House Group To Hear Gallup In Spending Inquiry

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—A grand jury indicted Joseph P. Kamp today on charges of failing to produce records of the Constitutional Education League, Inc., for a House committee investigating 1944 political campaign spending.

The indictment of the New Yorker was returned as the Campaign Expenditures Committee concluded its inquiry into another organization—the American Democratic National Committee—and announced it will meet informally next week to hear Dr. George C. Gallup, conductor of the Gallup polls.

List Of Donations Required

Kamp, acting chairman of the Constitutional Educational League, was indicted for alleged failure to produce records showing the league's contributions of $100 or more, a report required of all political campaign organizations.

He appeared before the committee September 20 but withheld the records on his contention the organization is not a partisan political group. The committee cited him for contempt.

Chairman Anderson (D., N.M.) said Gallup would appear before the committee next week at his own request.

His appearance will supplement a recent examination by committee investigators of the Gallup poll methods of sampling pre-election voting sentiment.

O'Connor Before Committee

John J. O'Connor, executive director of the American Democratic National Committee, active in the recent campaign, appeared before the congressional committee today for an inquiry into the finances of that organization.

Chairman Anderson said O'Connor was called in because the committee did not regard his campaign financial statement sufficiently detailed to meet legal requirements.

FEDERAL HIGHWAY MEASURE SIGNED, PRAISED BY FDR

DEC 21 1944

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP) President Roosevelt signed today a bill authorizing a $1,673,250,000 federal contribution toward a $3,173,250,000 three-year postwar highway program.

And, in an accompanying statement he praised Congress for having made possible advance planning of "needed facilities on a sound basis." Mr. Roosevelt added:

"Now it becomes a challenge to the states, counties and cities which must originate the specific projects and get the program ready for construction after the war ends.

"It is likewise a notice to the 44 state legislatures which convene in 1945 that the highway program will require their prompt and vigorous attention."

States would supply $1,500,000,000 on a 50-50 matching basis to become eligible for the larger share of the federal money authorized by the bill.

The federal cash still has to be appropriated, however.

Mr. Roosevelt noted that the legislation made several important changes in national policy for highway development. He commented on the authority for designation by state and federal governments of an inter-regional highway network.

He said the measure also "gives practical recognition to the transportation problem of our cities by extending federal aid to projects in urban areas which will reduce traffic congestion and accidents."

The President, observed additionally, that substantial authorizations were included for farm-to-market roads serving rural populations and that funds were authorized on a matching basis with the states for beginning, at least, "the huge task of replacing or rebuilding the main roads on our federal-aid system which are being worn out by the heavy burden of wartime traffic."

FILM EXTORTION APPEALS DENIED

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 — (AP) The convictions of seven men charged with attempting to extort more than $1,000,000 from the motion picture industry under threats "to close every theater in the United States" was upheld today by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Six of the defendants, sentenced to 10 years imprisonment and fined $10,000 each, had been described by the government as members of the old Al Capone gang in Chicago. The seventh was a former Newark, N. J., labor official, who was sentenced to seven years and fined $10,000.

They were Louis Campagna, 44, Philip D'Andrea, 52, Francis Maritote, 50, Charles Gioe, 39, Paul De Lucia, 46, and John Rosselli, 39, all of Chicago, and Luis Kaufman, 50 former business agent of the Newark local of the International Alliance of Theatrial Stage Employes (A.F.L.).

"The evidence connected all the accused with the undertaking," the court's opinion said. "They were a ruthless and grasping crew of blackmailers. The crime struck at the very heart of civilized society."

The court said the fabric of the government's case "was woven out of the testimony of two accomplices, William Bioff and George E. Browne."

Browne, a former president of the I.A.T.S.E., and Bioff a West Coast labor racketeer, now are serving prison sentences on extortion charges.

The opinion said that Bioff and Browne were minor union leaders in Chicago in 1935 when they began to extort money from independent film exhibitors. The Chicago defendants demanded a share of the spoils and succeeded in having Browne elected president of the union, the court said.

STRIKE IS APPROVED BY N. Y. OPERATORS

NEW YORK, Dec. 20—(AP) Officials of local 101, Federation of Long Lines Telephone workers, Independent, announced tonight a majority of the 6,000 long distance operators in New York had voted to strike if the War Labor Board fails to approve a $5 weekly wage increase.

In compliance with the Smith-Connally act, officials said, the strike would not go into effect before 30 days.

Operators favoring the strike handle only interstate calls. They do not include local or intrastate operators, who would not be effected.

Former Minister Arrested By FBI as German Spy Aide

DEC 21 1944

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 20.—(AP) A former New Jersey minister, whose name and address in secret ink allegedly were found on a German saboteur who landed from a submarine on the Atlantic coast two years ago, was held in $30,000 bail here today at arraignment on charges of violating the sabotage, censorship and foreign agents statutes.

The arrest of Emil Ludwig Krepper, 60, Newark, was announced earlier today simultaneously at Washington by the Department of Justice and at Newark by acting U. S. Attorney Thorn Lord.

The Justice department said Krepper had been instructed to establish himself in this country as a contact for German spies, and his arrest was the climax of more than two years of investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation from a clue—a white pocket handkerchief—found on one of the eight German saboteurs who landed from a submarine in June, 1942.

The handkerchief, the Justice department said, contained the words, "Pas. (Pastor) Krepper, Route 2, Rahway, New Jersey," and an unsuccessful attempt to locate Krepper through the message was made by one of the saboteurs caught in New York.

One indictment alleges Krepper conspired with Walter Kappe, identified by the FBI as a director of the Nazi Sabotage school in Berlin, and his wife, Bertha Krepper, "to injure, interfere with and obstruct the national defense of the United States," and "to use a code and other devices" to conceal messages from censorship.

A second indictment charges that about December 19, 1941, Krepper sent a code message, "which was intended to be delivered to the enemies of the United States in Germany."

The third bill charges the ex-minister acted as a German agent without notifying the secretary of state.

Federal authorities said the conspiracy was to be carried out by Krepper who was to establish himself as a United States citizen and then provide lodging and other facilities for Nazi secret agents, keeping in touch meanwhile with his wife and Kappe in Germany.

Krepper received a regular salary from the German government which made payments to his wife in Berlin, Federal authorities said.

Secrecy Lifted On Gadget For Training Bombardiers

The device, known as the A-6 Bomber Trainer and brought into production only four months ago, already is in use in may of the AAF's bombardier schools and in addition, overseas, is the means of giving fighter and bomber crews up-to-the minute previews of their run to any scheduled target, on the basis of "spot" reconnaissance photos.

Brainchild Of Army Major

The trainer is designed primarily to prepare AAF airmen for using the Norden bombsight. The brainchild of Major Eduard McKaba, of the Midland (Texas) Army flying school, it can simulate bombing missions with a wide variety of targets.

Briefly, it is to the bombardier what the link trainer is to the pilot, a portable, life-size model of a bomber nose complete with bomb-rack controls, switches and instruments.

A moving terrain area recorded on film is projected upward through a small hole in a 6-by-8-foot screen—placed below the bomber—onto an overhead mirror and back to the screen where, thus enlarged, it "unrolls" to the bombardier exactly as would the earth, were he flying over it.

Speed Co-Ordination

The direction of the terrain's travey is co-ordinated with the position of the bomber at any speed from 125 to 250 miles an hour and at altitudes from 2,000 to 20,000 feet. Such outside influences as engine noise, temperature and drift can be introduced, the latter for its effect not alone upon the course of the "plane" but upon the "bombs" as they fall.

The bombs are represented by a series of tiny lights to the left of the bombardier as he crouches over his bombsight. The "bombs" are releasable, as they would be aloft, singly, "in train" or in salvo.

Hits Are Recorded

So complete is the simulation that hits are recorded by tiny pin points of flashing light on the screen below. Thus the student bombardier can check his marksmanship, with the aid of his instructor who can halt the strip at any time to point out errors of calculation or judgment. Indicative of the A-6's precise operation, these lights show up only after an interval of seconds corresponding to the time it would require a real bomb to fall from the assumed altitude.

The A-6 was described by Paul C. Rodgers, president of Burton-Rodgers, Inc., its manufacturer here, as the first device of its kind.

WASPS IN OFFER TO FERRY PLANES

NEW CASTLE, Del., Dec. 20—(AP) The Wasps are disbanding today, but Mrs. Betty Gillies, squadron leader of the 2nd ferrying group, new castle army air base, and her 42 charges volunteered their services to the government to ferry planes within the United States for $1 a year.

"There is still a terrific job to do," Mrs. Gillies said. "We will have to be replaced by boys who should be overseas."

The woman's airforce service pilots disband under an Oct. 3 order by Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the Army Air forces.

"We have sent telegrams to the President, to General Marshall and the press," Mrs. Gillies said "offering our services."

Mrs. Gillies said she understands the 6th group at Long Beach, Calif., has made a similar offer but that she does not know the plans of the other two groups, the 5th at Dallas, Tex., and the 4th at Romulus, Mich.

AWAIT U.S. MOVE IN STORE STRIKE

Pickets Continue Activity in Montgomery-Ward Dispute.

DETROIT, Dec. 20. — (AP) Strikers at four Montgomery-Ward stores in the Detroit area ended another day on picket lines today with both strikers and management awaiting Federal intervention in the 12-day-old dispute.

Reports from Washington indicated that Economic Stabilizer Fred M. Vinson was engaged in a lengthy meeting with members of the War Labor Board WLB referred the strike to Vinson Monday after the company had declined to accept WLB edicts to settle the dispute.

A question of union jurisdiction was injected into the Detroit situation today when an AFL spokesman wrote to President Roosevelt asserting that the Retail Clerks Union (AFL) had a majority of workers at two of the four stores.

The claim was promptly denied by officials of the United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store employes, CIO, who declared they won an election at the four stores two years ago to determine a bargaining agency.

CIO officials said the strike was called after the company declined to accept WLB edicts that it grant wage increases, back pay, seniority provisions and maintenance of membership clauses to its workers.

The Ward company said the "real issue arises from a WLB attempt to impose upon Ward's a closed shop in the form of maintenance of membership."

IN THE STAVELOT SECTOR, BELGIUM, 11:30 P.M., DEC. 20-(AP)-AMERICAN TROOPS BEARING THE BRUNT OF AN ATTEACK BY AT LEAST 13 GERMAN DIVISION ARE SUFFERING AND INFLICTING THEIR GREATEST SINGLE-BATTLE LOSSES OF THE WAR ON THE WESTERN FRONT.

THIS NORTHERN FLANK HELD FIRM TODAY AS A NEW SERIES OF GEMAN TANK AND INFANTRY ATTACKS SHATTERED IN BLOODY WAVES VAINLY TRYING TO BREACH THE POSITIONS HELD BY THE AMERICAN VETERANS.

TO THE SOUTH, HOWEVER, ELEMENTS OF FIVE GERMAN ARMORED DIVISIONS AND EIGHT INFANTRY DIVISIONS SURGED FORWARD IN NEW ADVANCES, WITH THE END NOT IN SIGHT.

MORE AMERICAN TROOPS ARE INVOLVED IN THIS STRUGGLE THAN IN ANY SINGLE BATTLE OF THE WAR. THEY ARE OPPOSED BY THE MOST POWERFUL PUNCHING FORCE THEY HAVE YET ENCOUNTERED. THE PRICE ON BOTH SIDES IS HEAVY.

THE STRUGGLE THUS FAR DWARFS THE TWO OTHER MAIN AMERICAN SETBACKS, AT KASSERINE PASS IN NORTH AFRICA AND AT THE RAPIDO RIVER IN ITALY.

ALONG THIS SECTOR X X X SECOND RAPH.

ADD IN STAVELOT SECTOR-GALLAGHER-XX HOUSE

FOR THE REST OF THE DAY, THE GI'S PEERED OUT OF THE CELLAR WINDOW WHILE TANKS AND GERMAN HALF-TRACKS ROLLED BY. THAT NIGHT THEY MADE A RUN FOR IT AND REACHED THE AMERICAN LINES.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, PARIS, DEC. 20-(AP)-SUPREME HEADQUARTERS PARTLY LIFTED TODAY THE SECURITY NEWS BLACKOUT ON PROGRESS OF THE GERMAN OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE U.S. FIRST ARMY LINE, AND THE FULL ACCOUNT OF REVERSES ON THAT FRONT HAS BEEN PROMISED THE PUBLIC AT THE EARLIEST MOMENT CONSISTENT WITH MILITARY SECURITY.

DEC 211944

HEADQUARTERS PERMITTED THE DISCLOSURE THAT THE GERMAN COUNTEROFFENSIVE HAD PENETRATED FIVE TO 20 MILES INTO THE AMERICAN LINES IN BELGIUM AND LUXEMBOURG UP TO NOON MONDAY.

LAST NIGHT HEADQUARTERS, IN RESPONSE TO PROTESTS OF AMERICAN AND BRITISH CORRESPONDENTS, SAID THE BLACKOUT WOULD BE LIFTED WHEN GEN. COURTNEY H.HODGES, U.S. FIRST ARMY COMMANDER, AGREED THAT ALLIED DISCLOSURES WOULD NOT GIVE THE GERMANS INFORMATION ON THE EXTENT AND LOCATION OF THEIR PENETRATIONS, ON WHICH THEY THEMSELVES MIGHT NOT HAVE DEFINITE INFORMATION.

CORRESPONDENTS HAD EXPRESSED THE VIEW THAT IT SHOULD BE POSSIBLE TO GIVE AN ACCOUNT, AT LEAST, OF THE FIRST DAY'S DEVELOPMENTS IN THE NAZI DRIVE. THEY CONTENDED IT WAS UNLIKELY THE GERMAN COMMAND WAS NOT NOW FULLY AWARE OF ITS SUNDAY GAINS.

WITH THE U.S. NINTH ARMY, DEC. 20-(AP)-SHELTERED FROM ALLIED AIR POWER BY STORMY SKIES, THE GERMANS HAVE SHOVED ARMORED PENETRATIONS DEEP ALONG SOME POINTS OF A 60-MILE FRONT AND HAVE MANAGED TO CONSOLIDATE THE BASES OF THEIR MAIN THRUSTS.

BY GIVING EVERYTHING THEY HAD, EMBATTLED DOUGHBOYS, HASTILY DUG IN BEFORE THE STEELY ENEMY SPEERHEADS, MANAGED TO HOLD OR TURN ASIDE SOME OF THE DEEPEST THRUSTS.

THE SITUATION HAS CERTAINLY NOT IMPROVED IN THE PAST 24 HOURS, HOWEVER, AT LEAST ON THE U.S. FIRST ARMY FRONT. THE NINTH ARMY FRONT REMAINS MOSTLY QUIET EXCEPT FOR ARTILLERY FIRE.

THREE ALLIED TACTICAL AIR COMMANDS, POISED TO HELP FURTHER PROGRESS OF THE GERMAN PANZERS, MANAGED TO FLY 900 SORTIES TUESDAY--FAR BELOW THEIR NORMAL SCALE--AS THE WEATHER TO PLAY INTO GERMAN HANDS. ALLIED SORTIES TODAY WERE FEW AND INEFFECTUAL AS A LOW CEILING AND POOR VISIBILITY PERSISTED.

THE GERMAN AIR FORCE ALSO WAS LARGELY IMMOBILIZED YESTERDAY A. TODAY, AND THERE WAS A BREATHING SPELL FROM THE GERMAN BUZZBOMBS AND ANOTHER NEW WEAPON TODAY.

ON THE FIRST ARMY FRONT THE ENEMY CONTINUED, HOWEVER, TO EMPLOY CRACK ARMORED UNITS AND ELITE INFANTRY TO GIVE THE SHARPEST POSSIBLE POINT TO THE PENETRATIONS.

WITH THE U.S. FIRST ARMY IN GERMANY, OCT. 8-(DELAYED BY CENSOR)-(AP)-EVEN BEFORE THE ATTEMPT ON HITLER'S LIFE LAST JULY THERE WAS GROWING CONCERN AMONG THE NAZIS OVER LARGE-SCALE CORRUPTION WITHIN THE RANKS OF THE GERMAN ARMY WHICH IT WAS BELIEVED MIGHT UNDERMINE CIVILIAN MORALE AND HAVE "DECISIVE CONSEQUENCES FOR THE OUTCOME OF THE WAR."

THIS WAS LEARNED FROM TWO CAPTURED ENEMY DOCUMENTS WHICH REFLECTED ENEMY CONCERN OVER DISAFFECTION WITHIN THE ARMY AND ALARM OVER THE HIGH RATE OF OFFICER CASUALTIES WHICH UP TO JAN. 20, 1944, TOTALLED 113,069--INCLUDING 33 GENERALS KILLED, 39 WOUNDED AND 25 LISTED AS MISSING.

BOTH DOCUMENTS GAVE A REVEALING PICTURE OF THE DIFFICULTIES WHICH THE NAZIS ARE FACING IN TRYING TO FIND COMPETENT AND TRUSTWORTHY OFFICER MATERIAL. SINCE THESE DOCUMENTS WERE WRITTEN THE PROBLEM IS EVEN MORE ACUTE BECAUSE OF THE NUMBER OF OFFICERS CAPTURED OR KILLED BY THE ALLIES IN THE DRIVE THROUGH FRANCE, BELGIUM AND HOLLAND.

THE FIRST DOCUMENT WAS COMPILED FOR THE ADJUTANT GENERAL AND THE SECOND DISCLOSED SOME OF THE CONCLUSIONS REACHED.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL CONCLUDED "PARTICULAR CONCERN IS AT PRESENT FELT OVER CASES OF CORRUPTION ON THE LARGEST SCALE EXTENDING INTO THE HIGHEST RANKS. SUCH CASES ARE APT TO INFLUENCE THE ATTITUDE AND MORALE OF THE PEOPLE AND HAVE DECISIVE CONSEQUENCES FOR THE OUTCOME OF THE WAR.

"ALL CASES OF CORRUPTION WILL BE BROUGHT BEFORE A CENTRAL COURT IN BERLIN EVEN FOR MEMBERS OF FORCES IN THE FIELD."

WITH THE U.S. NINTH ARMY IN GERMANY, DEC. 20-(AP)-THE MAJOR ENEMY PENETRATION OF ALLIED LINES ON THE WESTERN FRONT WAS MADE IN THE EIFFEL FOREST AND THE BELGIAN BORDER ALSO WAS CROSSED AT CONSDORF NEAR ECHTERNACHT.

SOME OF THE AMERICAN FIRST ARMY ELEMENTS WERE SURROUNDED.

NEWSMEN NOW ARE PERMITTED BY CENSORSHIP TO REPORT ALSO THAT ENEMY ARMORED ATTACKS WITHIN THREE MILES OF ST. VITH IN BELGIUM COMPLETED A PINCERS MOVEMENT WHICH SUCCEEDED IN CUTTING OFF OTHER YANK TROOPS, WHILE THE ENEMY ALSO REACHED MAASPELT TO THE SOUTH.

ALONG THE ENTIRE FIRST ARMY FRONT AFFECTED BY THE PENETRATIONS, THE SITUATION WAS BOTH CONFUSED AND SERIOUS.

WHILE THERE WAS ONLY SMALL LOCALIZED GROUND ACTIVITY ON THE CENTER OF THE AMERICAN NINTH ARMY FRONT, GERMAN POWER CONTINUED BUILDING UP MILES BEHIND THE ENEMY'S PENETRATIONS INTO BELGIUM. THE LARGEST ENEMY GAINS WERE SAID TO BE 18 TO 20 MILES WEST OF THE BORDER IN THE VICINITY OF STAVELOT.

THE VERY FACT THAT A SPOT NEWS TIME-LAG POLICY HAS BEEN IMPOSED ON FIELD CENSORS BY HIGHER AUTHORITIES TESTIFIES SUFFICIENTLY TO THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE SITUATION, BUT SINCE SOME FACTS HAVE BEEN PERMITTED TO GO THROUGH THERE IS INDICATION OF IMPROVEMENT.

PRESUMABLY STORIES SUMMARIZING THE FIRST ARMY FRONT SITUATION ARE BEING WRITTEN AT REAR HEADQUARTERS. UNFORTUNATELY, THE NEWSMEN THERE ARE UNABLE TO CHECK THE SITUATION THEMSELVES AND MUST ACCEPT WHAT IS TOLD THEM WITHOUT BEING POSITIVE THEY ARE GETTING ACCURATE INFORMATION.

METZ, DEC 20-(AP)-THE MECHANIZED WAR THAT SWEPT ACROSS THIS GION OF FRANCE LEFT ITS MARK ON FIELDS, FARMS AND PASTURES AS WELL UPON CITIES AND TOWNS.

APPROXIMATELY A MONTH HAS ELAPSED SINCE MOST OF THE DEPARTMENT MOSELLE, OF WHICH METZ IS THE ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER, WAS LIBERATED OM THE GERMANS. BUT CROPS ARE ROTTING IN MANY FIELDS FROM WHICH NES HAVE NOT YET BEEN REMOVED.

MANY THOUSANDS OF HORSES, COWS, SHEEP AND OTHER LIVESTOCK WERE LLED BY SHELLFIRE. THEIR CARCASSES, STREWN OVER THE FIELDS AND ADSIDES, STILL ARE A FAMILIAR FEATURE OF THE LANDSCAPE. RUINED RM BUILDINGS ADD TO THE PICTURE OF DESOLATION.

ARMY CIVIL AFFAIRS OFFICERS ESTIMATE THAT IN ORDER TO RESTORE RICULTURE IN THE MOSELLE DEPARTMENT IT WILL BE NECESSARY TO BRING CK TO THE LAND ABOUT 120,000 FARMERS--OR FIND SUBSTITUTES FOR EM.

PARIS, DEC. 20-(AP)-THE FRENCH CONSULTATIVE ASSEMBLY TODAY PREPARED TO OPEN DEBATE ON THE FRENCH-SOVIET ALLIANCE AMID AUTHORITATIVE REPORTS THAT THE MOSCOW CONFEREES HAD AGREED ON MUTUAL SUPPORT IN PROJECTED AMPUTATIONS OF GERMAN TERRITORY ON BOTH THE EAST AND WEST

IN EVENTUAL PEACE SETTLEMENTS.

ASSEMBLY MEMBERS WHO HEARD FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGES BIDAULT'S REPORT ON THE TREATY IN A CLOSED SESSION OF THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE YESTERDAY SAID FRANCE CONSENTED TO RETRACING OF THE SOVIET-POLISH FRONTIER ALONG THE CURZON LINE AND GIVING TO POLAND GERMAN TERRITORIES EAST OF THE ODER IN COMPENSATION FOR TERRITORY SHE WOULD LOSE TO RUSSIA ON THE EAST.

RUSSIA, IN TURN, THEY SAID, PROMISED TO SUPPORT FRENCH CLAIMS TO THE RHINELAND AND RUHR INDUSTRIAL BASIN IN WESTERN GERMAN. THIS TERRITORY, ACCORDING TO THE MOST PREVALENT FRENCH VIEW, SHOULD BE CUT OFF FROM THE REICH AND SET UP AS AN INDEPENDENT STATE UNDER FRENCH AND BELGIAN SUZERAINTY.

MEANWHILE, THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE TURNED DOWN A MOTION BY LOUIS SAILLANT, PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL RESISTANCE COUNCIL, PROVIDING THAT FRANCE PROPOSE A SIMILAR ALLIANCE WITH BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES. THE COMMITTEE SAID THE MOMENT WAS NOT OPPORTUNE.

BIDAULT SAID, ACCORDING TO THE ASSEMBLY MEMBERS, THAT THE RUSSIANS WANTED THE FRENCH TO SUBSCRIBE TO A TRI-PARTITE TREATY WITH BRITAIN AND THE SOVIET UNION, BUT THAT GEN. DE GAULLE HAD INSISTED ON A SEPARATE PACT. BIDAULT WAS QUOTED AS SAYING DE GAULLE PROMISED TO NEGOTIATE A FRENCH-BRITISH ACCORD AS SOON AS POSSIBLE AFTER HIS RETURN TO PARIS.

THE FRENCH DELEGATION, CITING FRANCE'S HISTORICAL INTERESTS IN THE BALKANS, RAISED THE QUESTION OF A GREEK SETTLEMENT. PREMIER STALIN, HOWEVER, REPLIED THAT THIS WAS OF MORE INTEREST TO BRITAIN, WHILE MOSCOW WAS OVERSEEING EVENTS IN BULGARIA AND ROMANIA, IT WAS REPORTED.

DE GAULLE IS EXPECTED TO MAKE A STATEMENT TO THE ASSEMBLY REGARDING THE TREATY TOMORROW. IT IS BELIEVED CERTAIN THE ALLIANCE WILL RECEIVE ASSEMBLY APPROVAL.

MOSCOW, DEC. 20-(AP)-THE IRANIAN OIL CONCESSIONS ISSUE WAS DRAGGED IN THE OPEN AGAIN TODAY BY THE SOVIET MAGAZINE WAR AND THE WORKING CLASS, WHICH COMPLAINED OF DISCRIMINATION AGAINST THE SOVIET UNION BY "THE TEHRAN REACTIONARY CLIQUE."

"THE SOVIET UNION WANTS TO HELP THE OIL INDUSTRY OF IRAN AND DOES NOT PLOT AGAINST HER NATIONAL INDEPENDENCE AT ALL," THE ARTICLE SAID.

THE MAGAZINE SAID THERE WERE ULTERIOR MOTIVES BEHIND THE LAW PASSED BY THE MAJLIS (IRANIAN PARLIAMENT) DEC. 2 FORBIDDING OIL NEGOTIATIONS WITH ANY FOREIGN POWERS.

IT SAID THE LAW, PASSED WITH "UNPRECEDENTED HASTE," SHOWED THAT STATEMENTS BY IRANIAN AUTHORITIES THAT THEY MERELY WANTED TO POSTPONE SIGNING CONCESSIONS UNTIL AFTER THE WAR WERE "HYPOCRITICAL AND UNFAIR" AND THAT THE TRUE AIM WAS TO PROTECT "THE MONOPOLY HOLDING ACTIVE CONCESSIONS."

ASSERTING THAT BRITISH, AMERICAN AND DUTCH COMPANIES HAD NEGOTIATED FOR IRANIAN OIL CONCESSIONS SINCE 1923, THE ARTICLE DECLARED:

"AT PRESENT, THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN PRESS TRY TO REPRESENT THE HISTORY OF IRANIAN OIL NEGOTIATIONS AS IF THESE WERE STARTED BY THE SOVIET SIDE WITHOUT CONSULTATION WITH THE GOVERNMENTS OF BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES. BUT IT CAN BE SEEN THAT THE INITIATIVE WAS TAKEN BY AMERICAN AND BRITISH COMPANIES AND NEGOTIATIONS WERE CARRIED ON WITHOUT CONSULTATION WITH THE SOVIET UNION. IT IS CLEAR THAT THE POLICY OF FORMER PREMIER SAED'S GOVERNMENT TOWARD THE SOVIET UNION WAS DISCRIMINATORY."

(A REPORT FROM TEHRAN THIS WEEK SAID THAT THE NEW IRANIAN GOVERNMENT HAD PROPOSED TO THE SOVIET UNION THAT NEGOTIATIONS BE STARTED FOR THE SALE OF IRANIAN OIL TO RUSSIA BY IRANIAN-OWNED FIRMS.)

U.S. 14TH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN CHINA, DEC. 19-(DELAYED)-AP)-AJ.GEN.CLAIRE L.CHENNAULT SAID TODAY MONDAY'S RAID ON HANKOW BY UPERFORTRESSES AND LIGHTER BOMBERS WHICH DROPPED MORE THAN 600 TONS F INCENDIARIES AND EXPLOSIVES PROBABLY WAS THE GREATEST SINGLE ERIAL BLOW EVER STRUCK THE JAPANESE ANYWHERE.

THE 14TH AIR FORCE COMMANDER SAID IT CERTAINLY WAS THE HEAVIEST UN EVER MADE AGAINST THE JAPANESE IN CONTINENTAL OPERATIONS. HE ECLARED IT NOT ONLY MARKED A TURN IN THE STRATEGY OF THE AIR WAR IN HINA, BUT WAS A SUPREME EXAMPLE OF THE COMMAND TEAM-PLAY UNDER THE EW CHINA THEATER SETUP.

EXPRESSING HIS VIEWS IN AN INTERVIEW, CHENNAULT SAID PLANS FOR HE ATTACK WERE DRAWN UP BY MAJ.GEN.ALBERT C.WEDEMEYER, AMERICAN OMMANDER IN CHINA. EXECUTION FELL TO THE 14TH AIR FORCE AND THE OTH BOMBER COMMAND.

CHENNAULT SAID HANKOW HAD BEEN THE HUB OF THE JAPANESE EFFORT FOR HE LAST SIX YEARS. HE EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT THE BOMBING WOULD AVE AN "APPRECIABLE EFFECT" ON THE PRESENT JAPANESE CAMPAIGN IN OUTH CHINA, BUT SAID IT WOULD NOT STOP IT.

"I THINK WE HURT THEM BADLY YESTERDAY," HE DECLARED. "I AM SORRY T HAD TO BE A CHINESE CITY, BUT WE TRIED TO SPARE THE CIVILIAN OPULATION AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE."

THE 14TH'S LOSSES WERE FOUR FIGHTERS MISSING. CHENNAULT SAID ALL OF THE B-29S RETURNED SAFELY TO THEIR BASE.

A B-29 BASE IN CHINA,Dec. 21-AP  The U.S. 20th Bomber command sent a medium force of superfortresses on a long mission today to Japan and Eastern occupied China,where the B-29's dropped firebombs and explosives on previously attacked targets at Omura,Shanghai and Nanking.

This mission came within a few hours after the incendiary blow on Hankow.

Omura,where a Japanese naval plane victory was bombed in earlier missions,was obscured by an overcast and instrument bombing was used

Favorable results were known to have been obtained on the Shanghai docksides and storage areas and the Nanking railway installations. There was good visibility at both places.

The superfortresses undertook the long run over land and sea several hours after completing a raid upon Hankow,where they dropped a mixed cargo of explosivies and incendieries.

Over Shangai the Japanese again resorted unsuccessfully to the use of sulphurous smokebombs,dropped by a formation of high-flying fighters. One such bomb exploded near a B-29 named "Superstitious Aloysius"

Among those aboard "Superstitious Aloysius" were 1st Lt. Shellie Green, 24,co-pilot from Sarasota,Fla. who was on his 11th mission,and 1st Lt. Edwin Mann,26,flight engineer from 2191 Erie St.,North Kansas City,Mo., who was flying on his 20th mission.

Mann said the bomb exploded near the wing and he thought some burning substance hit the plane and rolled off.

Flight officer Joe D. Herbert,25,Dublin,Texas,was among the fliers participating in the Omura raid. It was his third visit to that target.

21ST BOMBER COMMAND, SAIPAN, DEC 20-(VIA NAVY RADIO)-(AP)-LT.EDWARD W.CUTLER, COMMANDER OF A B-29 WHICH WAS MAKING A WEATHER STRIKE ON NAGOYA, TOLD TODAY HOW THE ONE-TIME BAD BOY OF HIS OUTFIT HELPED SAVE THE LIVES OF AT LEAST FOUR CREW MEMBERS WHEN THEY WERE THREATENED WITH SUFFOCATION AT HIGH ALTITUDE.

THE PURPOSE OF THESE WEATHER STRIKES IS TO REPORT TO HOME BASE (SAIPAN) THE WEATHER ENCOUNTERED AND TO CARRY A BOMB-LOAD, FREQUENTLY CONSISTING OF INCENDIARIES, TO THE TARGET AREA.

LT.CUTLER, OF (121B HUNTING TERRACE APTS.) ALEXANDRIA, VA., SAID THAT ON THE NIGHT OF DECEMBER 18-19 THE HERO OF HIS OUTFIT WAS HIS RIGHT GUNNER SGT.ROBERT W.WYMAN EL CAJON, CALIF., "WHOM I HAD CRITICIZED SEVERELY FOR LAZINESS WHILE IN TRAINING AND WHO, WHEN THREATENED WITH BEING WASHED OUT, IMMEDIATELY CHANGED AND BECAME ONE OF THE BEST LADS IN THE OUTFIT."

AS THE PLANE (NAMED "BOBBYSOX" FOR HIS WIFE), APPROACHED HONSHU, THE LEFT GUN BLISTER UNACCOUNTABLY BLEW OUT WITHOUT WARNING THROWING THE LEFT GUNNER CPL.ELMER HENDERSHOT OF FAIRMONT, W.VA., AGAINST THE BLISTER. HENDERSHOT SAVED HIMSELF FROM BEING BLOWN OUT BY HOLDING ON TO A WIRE AND CATCHING HIS FEET IN THE WINDOW LIPS.

THE PLANE BECAME DEPRESSURIZED INSTANTLY EASING THE SUCTION FORCE BUT HENDERSHOT'S OXYGEN HOSE WAS PARTLY RIPPED FROM THE CONNECTION.

"HENDERSHOT STARTED TO CRAWL BACK INTO THE PLANE AND THEN WHEN WYMAN SAW THE TROUBLE," SAID LT.CUTLER, "HE REMOVED HIS OWN OXYGEN MASK AND PULLED HENDERSHOT BACK TO HIS STATION AND GAVE HIM AN OXYGEN BOTTLE.

"MEANWHILE, HE PHONED ME THAT EVERYTHING WAS OKAY AND TO GO AHEAD OVER THE TARGET.

"I SENT MY WEATHER OBSERVER LT.PAUL RABINOWITZ OF YONKERS, N.Y., BACK TO HELP HENDERSHOT. RABINOWITZ PASSED OUT WHEN THE OXYGEN BOTTLE HOSE FELL OUT AND WYMAN AGAIN LEFT HIS OWN EQUIPMENT AND REPLACED THE HOSE AND GOT RABINOWITZ ON HISFEET.

"ELECTRICAL SPECIALIST CPL.HAROLD W.LAPLANTE (1217 HARDING PARK) BRONX, N.Y., HEARD WHAT WAS GOING ON AND BROUGHT A MASK INTO THE GUNNER'S COMPARTMENT BUT HE FAINTED WHEN THE OXYGEN BOTTLE GAVE OUT. WYMAN REVIVED HIM.

"WYMAN, AFTER THE THIRD TRIP AWAY FROM HIS OWN MASK, WAS PRETTY SHAKY AND HE PHONED ME SAYING WE HAD BETTER TURN BACK.

"IT WAS HARD TO GET THROUGH AND I WAS SHORT OF OXYGEN WHEN I STAGGERED INTO THE GUNNERS' COMPARTMENT AND POINTED TO MY MOUTH.

"WYMAN STUCK THE HOSE IN MY MOUTH AND REVIVED ME.

"I RETURNED TO MY POST AND DROPPED DOWN. MY INDICATED AIR SPEED WAS 325 MILES AN HOUR."

NEW YORK, DEC. 20-(AP)-LT. GEN. BREHON B.SOMERVELL, COMMANDING GENERAL OF THE ARMY SERVICE FORCES, SAID TONIGHT THAT "ONE OF THE MAJOR, IF NOT THE MAJOR, ADVANTAGES THAT WE HAVE OVER THE JAPANESE IN THE SUCCESSIVE CONQUESTS OF THE ISLANDS OF THE PACIFIC IS OUR ABILITY TO MAKE THOSE ISLANDS INTO MAJOR MILITARY BASES."

SOMERVELL TOLD THE METROPOLITAN SECTION OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS THAT THE ARMY HAD BUILT INSTALLATIONS VALUED AT MORE THAN $11,000,000,000 AND HAD TRAINED 700,000 ENGINEER TROOPS, OF WHICH MORE THAN 500,000 WERE OVERSEAS.

HE SAID THAT THE ALBERT CANAL IN BELGIUM, BADLY DAMAGED BY THE GERMANS, HAD BEEN REPAIRED AND WAS IN USE AND THAT MORE THAN 130 AIRFIELDS HAD BEEN CONSTRUCTED IN FRANCE.

TA1043PEW

(ADVANCE) (WX)' NEW YORK, DEC.20-(AP)-LT.GEN.BREHON SOMERVELL SAID TONIGHT THAT WAR DEVELOPMENTS OF THE ARMY ENGINEERS AND PRIVATE ENTERPRISE "WILL DO MUCH FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF ENGINEERING SCIENCE IN THE YEARS AHEAD."

THE COMMANDER OF THE ARMY SERVICE FORCES REVIEWED THE WAR ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE ARMY ENGINEERS IN A SPEECH TO THE METROPOLITAN SECTION OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS.

"TO BE SURE, IN THE ARMY WE HAVE BEEN CONFRONTED WITH SPECIFIC NEEDS FOR WHICH WE HAD TO PROVIDE DEFINITE SOLUTION," SOMERVELL SAID. 'MANY OF THE CONDITIONS OF WARFARE ARE FORTUNATELY ABSENT FROM MOST PEACETIME ENDEAVORS. HOW FAR OUR SPECIFIC EQUIPMENT ACHIEVEMENTS WILL BE USEFUL IN CIVILIAN ENDEAVOR MUST AWAIT LATER DETERMINATION."

ONE OF THE DEVELOPMENTS CITED WAS THAT OF PORTABLE PIPELINES FOR THE MOVEMENT OF GASOLINE AND OTHER PETROLEUM PRODUCTS.

"THESE PIPELINES PASSED THE ACID TEST OF BATTLE IN NORTH AFRICA AND HAVE BEEN A VITAL FACTOR IN OUR ADVANCE ACROSS FRANCE," HE SAID. "IN NORTH AFRICA THEY WERE LAID AT THE RATE OF 20 MILES A DAY; IN FRANCE THIS RATE WAS CONSIDERABLY EXCEEDED."

RESTORATION OF THE ALBERT CANAL IN BELGIUM AND HOLLAND AFTER ITS WRECKING BY THE GERMANS, REBUILDING OF A FRENCH RAILROAD LINE IN 48 HOURS TO PROVIDE A MILITARY SUPPLY LINE AND REHABILITATION OF THE PORT OF CHERBOURG WERE LISTED AS THE ENGINEERS' GREATEST ACHIEVEMENTS IN EUROPE.

"IT IS IN THE PACIFIC, HOWEVER, THAT THE ENGINEERS HAVE FACED THEIR GREATEST CHALLENGES," GENERAL SOMERVELL DECLARED.

"IT SEEMS TO ME THAT ONE OF THE MAJOR, IF NOT THE MAJOR ADVANTAGES THAT WE HAVE OVER THE JAPANESE IN THE SUCCESSIVE CONQUEST OF THE ISLANDS OF THE PACIFIC IS OUR ABILITY TO MAKE THESE ISLANDS INTO MAJOR MILITARY BASES. WITH OUR CONSTRUCTION TROOPS, CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT AND MODERN CONSTRUCTION METHODS WE CAN AND DO MA AN ISLAND OR A KEY POINT ON THE COAST OF NEW GUINEA CAPABLE OF SUPPORTING A MUCH SUPERIOR FORCE AND A MAJOR BASE FOR FUTURE ATTACKS

"WHAT HAS SO FAR BEEN ACCOMPLISHED IS OUTSTANDING. BUT I WOULD LIKE TO CLOSE WITH A WORD OF WARNING. THE JOB IS BY NO MEANS FINISHED. PLENTY OF HARD WORK, PLENTY OF FIGHTING STILL LIES AHEAD OF US BEFORE THE ULTIMATE VICTORY IN THIS WAR IS WON. AS THE TEMPO OF THE WAR INCREASES, THE TROOPS OVERSEAS DEMAND MORE AND MORE FROM US HERE IN THE UNITED STATES. THE PRODUCTION OF THE NECESSARY TOOLS FOR FINAL VICTORY IS FAR FROM AN ACCOMPLISHED FACT. WE NEED MORE PRODUCTION. WE'LL NEED IT DOWN TO THE VERY END. BUT NO MATTER WHAT THE EMERGENCY IN THIS COUNTRY, MILITARY OR CIVIL, THE ENGINEERS HAVE ALWAYS COME THROUGH. THEY WILL COME THROUGH IN THIS ONE."

THE CLERGYMEN, THE REV. THEODORE C. SPEERS, MODERATOR OF THE NEW YORK PRESBYTERY, AND RABBI WILLIAM F. ROSENBLUM. PRESIDENT OF THE ASSOCIATION OF REFORM RABBIS OF NEW YORK, MADE THE STATEMENT DURING AN INTERVIEW AT HEADQUARTERS OF THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF CHRISTIAN AND JEWS.

SPEERS ADDED: "NO ONE COULD BE LONG AMONG THESE MEN WITHOUT BEING MADE AWARE OF A GROWING RESTIVENESS AND INDIGNATION AT THE NEWS OF STRIKES AND THE REPORTS OF HIGH WAGES AND LUXURY SPENDING THAT GET THROUGH TO THEM."

"THEY CANNOT UNDERSTAND STRIKES," ROSENBLUM ASSERTED, "THE SLOWNESS WITH WHICH BOND DRIVES ARE PUT OVER, NOR THE SUDDEN OPTIMISMS WHICH MAKE PEOPLE BELIEVE THE WAR WITH GERMANY WILL BE OVER THE NEXT WEEK OR THE NEXT MONTH."

WASHINGTON, DEC 20-(AP)-A REPORTER'S SEARCH FOR A FEATURE STORY THREE WEEKS AGO HAS NOW DEVELOPED INTO THE DISCLOSURE BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT THAT THE ATLANTIC CHARTER DOES NOT EXIST AS A FORMAL DOCUMENT.

THE REPORTER, TOM REEDY OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, WROTE ON NOV. 28 THAT NOBODY THEN AT THE WHITE HOUSE, LIBRARY OF CONGRESS OR THE STATE DEPARTMENT SEEMED AT ALL SURE WHERE THE CHARTER WAS.

REEDY SUGGESTED AN AD IN THE "LOST AND FOUND" COLUMN.

SENATOR CHANDLER (D-KY) READ THE STORY AND RAISED THE QUESTION IN THE SENATE.

MR. ROOSEVELT HELD HIS FIRST NEWS CONFERENCE SINCE NOV. 27 YESTERDAY AND TOLD INQUIRING REPORTERS THAT THE NEAREST THING TO AN ORIGINAL PROBABLY WAS IN THE HANDS OF RADIO OPERATORS WHO TRANSMITTED THE CHARTER TERMS FROM A 1941 ROOSEVELT-CHURCHILL MEETING IN THE ATLANTIC.

IT WAS COMPOSED BY SCRIBBLES BY VARIOUS PERSONS, THE PRESIDENT SAID, AND NOBODY EVER SIGNED IT.

A STATEMENT TO THE PRESS QUOTING THE COMPOSITE TEXT AND RELEASING IT WAS SIGNED "FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT" AND "WINSTON S. CHURCHILL."

MR. ROOSEVELT SAID HE STILL STANDS BY THE CHARTER PRINCIPLES. THESE, AS RELEASED, INCLUDED THE RIGHTS OF ALL PEOPLES TO CHOOSE THEIR OWN FORMS OF GOVERNMENT AND TO BE SUBJECTED TO NO UNDESIRED BOUNDARY CHANGES.

FEATUREMAN REEDY HAS AN ANGLE: IF WASHINGTON EVER GETS BOTHERED BY ROBOT BOMBS, THEY WON'T HAVE TO TAKE THE ATLANTIC CHARTER OUT AND HIDE IT.

"THE ATLANTIC CHARTER CAME ALONG AS A DYNAMIC TO OPPOSE THE DYNAMIC OF THESE NEW ORDERS (JAPO-HITLERISM). IT CONVEYED THE SUGGESTION OF COUNTER REVOLUTION, AND IT IS ONLY BY COUNTERREVOLUTION THAT REVOLUTION CAN BE SUPPRESSED.

"THE DOMINATING SPIRIT OF THE ATLANTIC CHARTER IS CONCERNED NOT WITH SELF-DETERMINATION BUT WITH THE RECOGNITION OF THE INTERDEPENDENCE OF ALL PEOPLES LIVING TOGETHER IN PEACE AND JUSTICE. THE NEED TO PARTITION POLAND AS THE REAL CRUX IN THE MATTER. BRITA AND THE U.S. TOGETHER HAD BEEN BACKING THE ANTI-PARTITION LONDON POLES OVER THE LONG PRECIOUS MONTHS OF BATTLE. THE U.S., IT WAS FELT, TOOK THE BRITISH LEAD.

ALMOST BY CUE, STETTINIUS DECLARED AMERICAN AGREEMENT TO THE PROPOSED WESTWARD CHANGE OF POLAND'S BORDERS: EASTWARD TO THE OLD CURZON LINE, WESTWARD PROPORTIONATELY OVERLAPPING PREWAR GERMANY.

POLES HERE AND IN LONDON WHOOPED IT UP FOR JOY. AMBASSADOR JAN CIECHANOWSKI RUSHED TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT, PROFUSELY THANKED STETTINIUS FOR DECLARING THAT THE UNITED STATES "STANDS UNEQUIVOCALLY" FOR A FREE, INDEPENDENT POLAND.

EUROPEAN DIPLOMATS WENT AROUND WASHINGTON SECRETLY EXPRESSING THE FEELING THAT THE LATEST MOVES WOULD BE INTERPRETED IN THEI OWN COUNTRIES AS "ATLANTIC CHARTER BANKRUPTCY."

IN A CITY OF "DOUBLE-TALK" AND SHRUGGING SHOULDERS, WASHINGTON OFFICIALS KEPT WONDERING--AND WAITING TO SEE.

MAYBE SOON, THE RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE WOULD START IN POLAND, NOW THAT LUBLIN HAD GOTTEN WHAT IT WANTED. BUT WHO COULD TELL--ABOUT ANYTHING?

GERMANS SMASH 32 MILES THROUGH BELGIUM, CUT VITAL ALLIED HIGHWAY SOUTH OF LIEGE

Biggest Battle Of War Raging On West Front

NORDNEWS

DEC 22 1944

PARIS, Dec. 21.—(AP) The unchecked German Winter offensive rolled 32 miles through Belgium and slashed a vital Allied highway 18 miles south of the Belgian fortress of Liege in what was described today as the greatest battle involving American or British troops in this war.

A second and equally menacing drive swung southwestward and rumbled three-fourths of the way across the tiny duchy of Luxembourg to a point 48 miles from Sedan at the French frontier. Vanguards were 10 miles from the Belgian road center of Bastogne.

Only on the flanks in Luxembourg on the south and in the Malmedy-Stavelot sector on the north had the German advance been halted. One enemy armored spearhead, the bulk of a panzer division, was being ground to bits in a trap of steel near Stavelot.

Big Drive Continues

The initiative remained definitely in the hands of the enemy. Supreme headquarters, reporting German advanced positions as of noon Tuesday, gave no hint that the drives had spent their momentum.

Many American formations have been badly mauled, supplies have been consumed and lost, and the Doughboys in the trenches see in the German drive a reverse which may prolong the war many months.

One American counterblow on the north narrowed by nine miles the 55-mile wide neck of the German bulge into Belgium and Luxembourg.

The valiant fight of the Doughboys, a U. S. First army staff officer declared, had bought time in which countermeasures to check the German rush could be prepared.

(A German broadcast, declaring five Allied divisions had been com-

YANKS BLOCK DRIVE IN NORTHERN SECTOR

But Enemy Still Gains to South and West—Liege Highway Cut—Americans Tighten Gap at Foe's Rear.

Paris, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's armor and infantry had driven thirty-five miles westward into Belgium to a point about fourteen miles south of the fortress of Liege up to noon Tuesday, it was disclosed at Supreme Headquarters today.

DEC 22 1944

But veteran First Army formations, rushed up to the northern flank of the deep German salient, stopped the Germans cold today in their effort to push northward, and badly mauled large tank units in a heavy engagement.

Other American forces, hurried into action along the German north flank at Monschau, chopped nine miles into the base of the German salient.

[Late this afternoon the Associated Press declared in a dispatch from London that heavy Lancaster bombers of the Royal Air Force, escorted by fighters of the Ninth United States Air Force, today battered the German West Wall garrison town and railway center of Trier. Well inside the German border, Trier is twenty-six miles northeast of the city of Luxembourg, and is a main supply point supporting the German offensive. This news was considered important, giving a hint that the weather, which for days has grounded the Allied air forces, is at least breaking up.]

Nazi Drive Is Fanning Out.

Meanwhile, the German drive was reported fanning out south and west of St. Vith, farther south, in the most potent threat. This drive appeared directed toward Sedan, scene of the Germans' 1940 breakthrough which ended disastriously for the Allies at Dunkirk.

Coupled with this drive were advances by two Nazi columns, three-fourths of the way across Luxembourg.

One column, as of noon Tuesday, had carried four miles from the frontier town of Vianden to just ea[st] Wiltz, ten miles east of Bastogne and forty-eight miles northeast of Sedan. Wiltz is twenty-eight miles north of the city of Luxembourg. The other was in the vicinity of Clervaux, seven miles northeast of Wiltz.

Nazis Cut Two Deep Wedges.

Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's massive winter rush across Allied lines of communication had developed into two deep wedges as massive formations of from five to six armored divisions and eight to nine infantry divisions poured into a wide breach under the concealment of fog and cloud.

The deepest German thrust was fourteen miles west of Malmedy. where tank columns cut the Liege-Bastogne-Arlon road Tuesday and reached the village of Werbomont. The other was the thrust to Wiltz in Luxembourg on the same day.

The second deep wedge had been driven three fourths of the way across Luxembourg. This drive farther south seemed to be directed toward Sedan, scene of the 1940 breakthrough.

DEC 22 1944

That Was At Noon On Tuesday

This drive carried fourteen miles from the frontier town of Vianden to just east of Wiltz, ten miles east of Bastogne and 48 miles northeast of Sedan. Wiltz is 28 miles north of the city of Luxembourg. A parallel German column was in the vicinity of Clervaux, seven miles northeast of Wiltz.

Those were the positions at noon Tuesday.

Supreme headquarters still did not permit up-to-the-hour disclosures of German positions, and field dispatches quoted "good authority" on the 1st Army front as saying the German drive was not likely to be checked this week although the northernmost prong of the German attack had been stemmed.

Fog Cuts Visibility To Fifty Yards

First Army reinforcements rushed to the scene by Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges since Saturday, when the German offensive began, had succeeded in stopping any northward push from the line running through the American-held towns of Monschau, Butgenbach, Malmedy and Stavelot, front-line reports said.

But the German drive was reported turning south and west of St. Vith, farther south, in the most potent threat.

American tank destroyers going into the attack in a fog that limited visibility to 50 yards fought a great engagement today outside Stavelot, and smashed the efforts of pletely amashed and that seven others were in retreat, asserted the "steamroller offensive" was driving toward the Meuse valley, which is some 35 miles west of advanced enemy positions reported today.

(One Berlin military commentator said the Third army had rushed up into southern Luxembourg.)

Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt had hurled up to 15 divisions—probably more than 150,000 men—including five or six armored divisions, into this desperate offensive which was badly upsetting the Allied time-table for the conquest of Germany.

V-Bombs Blast U. S. Lines

V-bombs rained down on Allied positions and rear base areas, a slackening of the main drives was interpreted in late dispatches as only pauses for regrouping and fresh blows, and uneasiness had spread among civilians all the way back to the Belgian capital.

Fog shrouded the front, keeping Allied air might aground. Only one sortie was attempted. RAF Lancasters blasted the German west front garrison and railway town of Trier back of the Luxembourg front.

The powerful northward drive, traveling 30 miles in three and a half days, reached the hamlet of Habiemont, 18 miles south of civilian-evacuated Liege, Supreme headquarters said.

A report from British-Canadian headquarters declared a German armored column had reached Werbomont, about two miles farther west and astride the all-important lateral highway leading from Liege to Bastogne, four miles inside Belgium west of the Luxembourg frontier.

The German communique, claiming a total bag of 20,000 prisoners, asserted that this highway had been cut "on a broad front" in a push through the Ardennes forest, and that American supply columns had been caught "and rolled over by German tanks." It claimed 136 American tanks were destroyed.

The broad Luxembourg push threatened to become as serious as the thrust across Belgium.

(The Federal Communications Commission reported that the radio in the Duchy's capital city of Luxembourg, which went off the air yesterday, did not begin its scheduled broadcast period today. Advanced German columns last were reported about 14 miles from the city.)

By Tuesday noon the Germans who entered Luxembourg near the northeast border town of Vianden had fought 12 miles west to a point just east of Wiltz and to near Clervaux, seven miles to the northeast.

Wiltz is less than 48 miles northeast of Sedan, where a breakthrough in 1940 unhinged the Maginot Line, and is 10 miles west of the key road center of Bastogne.

Included in the German forces were veterans of Normandy, who took a mauling at Caen and since had been regrouped and refitted.

Reports from the front said that some Germans, presumably English-speaking, had been caught in American uniforms—a violation of international law which subjects them to death before a firing squad.

More Paratroopers Dropped

More paratroopers were dropped well behind the American lines and were adding to the difficulties of American attempts to form up for the counterblows that must be dealt to check the German rush.

Fields crawled with German armor and roads were jammed with German transport, moving under cover of the fog in the sort of soupy weather on which the German high command obviously relied when it mapped the surprise counteroffensive.

The Germans appeared to be throwing everything in men and weapons into this push.

What it amounted to was perhaps a battle to the death of the German army, but it was being fought on the fields of the enemy's choosing.

For security reasons, Supreme headquarters was giving the ground situation on the U. S. First army front only once daily with a 48-hour time lag.

On both flanks American resistance had stiffened, and Associated Press Correspondent Hal V. Boyle told of a battle to the death outside Stavelot with a trapped German force of 60 tanks and 200 vehicles.

Yanks Blow Up Bridges

A bridge across Ambleve river was blown by American engineers to prevent retreat or supply and then, fighting through dense fog, the Americans turned their anti-tank guns on the trapped forces.

Thirty tanks were knocked out along with at least 50 vehicles, and Boyle said the survivors were "turning in churning circles of ruin." American artillery shattered an attempt today to come to the relief of this force.

Large German armored infantry forces also were encircled by Doughboys who climbed miles across the snow-topped forested ridges and knifed through the enemy's exposed flank.

Reinforced elements of Lt. Gen. Courtney T. Hodges' First army had stemmed the northward thrust and were [illegible]g along the northern flank [illegible]e running through Malmedy and Stavelot.

Fierce fighting was raging for Malmedy, five miles northeast of Stavelot, but the Doughboys still controlled the town.

On the extreme northern flank, American forces who rewon Monschau regained several nearby villages, including Rocherath, nine miles to the southeast, which cut the base of the German bulge in Belgium and Luxembourg to 46 miles.

On the southern flank, 46 miles south of Monschau, American forces still held the Luxembourg border town of Echternach, and at last reports they no longer were surrounded.

A German thrust southwest of Echternach had made some progress beyond Consdorf, which is 14 miles northeast of the little Duchy's capital.

A German pincer attack on American forces cut off at St. Vith, 10 miles southeast of Malmedy, had made little progress up to noon Tuesday.

Yanks Battle Fiercely

A First army staff officer said the American troops had fought magnificently through the first six days of the German counter-offensive, had blocked one enemy thrust, stemmed another and had gained invaluable time in which to marshal forces against the deepest enemy penetrations.

On the Third army front, the Americans after nearly two weeks of bruising battle drove the last German from the heavily-fortified city of Dillingen in the western Saarland.

German resistance was rising, however, on the U. S. Seventh army front to the east. The Americans were forced to withdraw from Nieder-Schletternbach, five miles northwest of Wissembourg, and from Bundenthal, a mile and a half east.

At the eastern end of the front, the Americans were approaching Buchelberg, strongly-defended base in a clearing in Bien Wald forest.

German resistance still was savage in southern Alsace, where the French were able to make only limited gains five miles northwest of Colmar.

German armor to break through and rescue the remnants of 60 Nazi tanks trapped near the embattled village.

Nazis Use Captured U.S. Tanks

Blazing round after round, the Americans destroyed five American Sherman tanks and a tank-destroyer that had been captured and manned by the Germans.

"We have destroyed approximately 30 of their 60 tanks and knocked out about 50 of 200 supply vehicles caught with them," the commander there reported.

The new German attack, made on the fourth successive day they have attempted to rescue the trapped tank outfit, was made less than two miles southeast of Malmedy, the funnel through which the Kaiser poured his armies toward Liege in August, 1914.

At the same time other veteran American units swung into positions along the northern flank of the Nazi salient.

Yanks Drive Nine Miles Into One Wedge

An important success was reported from the strengthened north wall along the German salient.

Americans who had already recaptured Monschau in Germany drove nine miles southward and captured Rocherath and several near-by villages in an attack that cut the neck of the German salient down to 46 miles. It had been 55.

Nevertheless, the German drive by Tuesday noon had proceeded westward and reached Hoyemont, fourteen miles west of Malmedy and ten miles beyond Stavelot.

More German parachutists were dropped Monday night, this time in the area just south of Hoyemont.

Nieder Schlettenbach Lost

St. Vith, bypassed by the Germans, was still in American hands at noon Tuesday, as was Echternach on the Luxembourg border to the southeast.

Echternach was reported no longer completely surrounded, although the Germans had gained more ground in the Consdorf area to the southwest.

Meanwhile furious fire from the Siegfried Line's pillboxes, thickly overgrown by underbrush in the six years since their construction, drove 7th Army Americans out of Nieder Schlettenbach, five miles northwest of Wissembourg in the sector north of Strasbourg.

Patch's Men Gain Farther East

Nieder Schlettenbach, entered four days ago, is a mile and a half east of Bundenthal, from which the Americans withdrew yesterday.

Farther east, however, Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's doughboys approached Buchelberg, three miles north of Lauterbourg on the Palatinate border, and neared the halfway mark in their progress through the Bienwald Forest.

The Germans' Own Claims

[The German communiqué declared today that besides cutting the Liege-Bastogne highway, the Nazis had taken 20,000 prisoners in their offensive. The highway from Liege to Bastogne was cut "on a broad front," the communiqué said, without specifying where.

["Enemy supply columns moving toward the Meuse River were caught up with and overtaken by German tanks. Freshly brought-up American units were split up into single groups and did not succeed in checking our advance," the broadcast communique said.

[Advance German units have "penetrated into the Ardennes," it added.

"136 Tanks Knocked Out"

[Americans in the Schnee Eifel Forest in Germany, "far behind the front, were either wiped out or taken prisoner yesterday. Seven thousand Americans were captured," the communique asserted.

["In yesterday's fighting, 43 tanks and armored vehicles as well as 50 guns were captured and 136 tanks were knocked out."

Planes Entirely Grounded

The low clouds and fog for the second day kept Allied air forces on the ground and robbed Hodges's army of its best chance of pulling down the German offensive to a complete halt immediately.

With the fields crawling with German armor and roads jammed with German transport, the weather was a tragedy for Allied air power. Only six Allied planes got off the ground yesterday.

3d Army Clears Dillingen

South of the 1st Army sector, the 3d Army of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., hacked deeper into the Siegfried Line after penetrating its primary defenses by finally clearing the Germans out of all Dillingen, three miles north of Saarlautern.

The 7th Army, in slow going, drove the Germans out of two Maginot Line forts — Simserhoff and Schiesseck, one and two miles west of Bitche—and hammered at Siegfried Line defenses in the Wissembourg Gap near the Rhine after penetrating seven lines of dragon's teeth.

The French in the Vosges advanced a mile south of Lake Noir, thirteen miles west of Calmar, and reached Les Hautes Huttes.

Nazi Power Called Surprise

The stand of the Germans all along these other fronts had stiffened surprisingly, considering the fury they had concentrated in their new drive, and apparently was intended to tie up Allied forces that might otherwise be shifted to the Belgium-Luxembourg sector.

Considerable Nazi movement was observed around Linnich and Lindern, north of the 1st Army sector. Rundstedt was throwing in everything he had—from five to six armored divisions specially trained for the breakthrough task to Volksgrenadiers—reported to make up the bulk of the eight or nine infantry divisions following the Panzers.

Eisenhower Schedule Ruined?

There was a feeling at Allied headquarters that it might be days before the assault could be brought to a stop and weeks before the damage could be repaired, with General Eisenhower's winter offensive schedule torn to shreds.

While it may be the death battle of the German army, coming out into the open in a last blaze of offensive power, the Germans were making it one of the bloodiest struggles of the whole war for both sides.

Nazis Mass More Armor

In a single area due east of Butgenbach, ground and air forces knocked out 28 tanks before the weather closed in. But Rundstedt's armor was still out in strength and operating in groups of 20 and 30.

Fresh massings of armor for new attacks on key objectives were reported this morning.

The Germans intensified their use of V-bombs against Belgian targets to interfere with American supply and reinforcement movements, but the main weight of this barrage fell on Belgian civilians.

Setback Is Americans' Greatest

Despite the American reverse—already the greatest suffered in two years of fighting in Europe and Africa—there was some tendency among military men to welcome the German attack. A belief prevailed that "This was it"—the big battle that could eventually lead to final victory.

There was no doubt that the Germans were expending vast reserves, and a defeat of the attacking forces could be so decisive as to shorten the war materially.

Masses Of Nazi Transport

An American flyer said last night that the roads just behind the German front were lined virtually bumper to bumper with Nazi transport of every description. Unbelievable numbers of anti-aircraft guns, apparently massed especially for this offensive, guard the German supply lines, he said.

The pea-soup fog that clung close to the ground and kept Allied bombers down made things so dark that vehicle lights had to be used at noon.

AMERICANS CRUSHING TRAPPED NAZI FORCE

30 Out of 60 Tanks Wiped Out in Vise—German Onslaught Believed to Have Passed Its Crest in Northern Sector.

DEC 221944

By HAL BOYLE.

Outside Stavelot, Belgium, Dec. 21, 2:30 P. M. (A. P.).—American tank destroyers today smashed repeated attempts by German armor to break through and rescue remnants of a Nazi force of sixty tanks trapped near this embattled village.

Letting go with blazing round after round through a thick mist, the anti-tank gunners destroyed five captured American Sherman tanks manned by German crews which were spearheading a fresh drive to crash through the American positions between Stavelot and Malmedy.

The new attack was launched about a mile and a quarter southeast of Malmedy, the funnel through which the Germans poured their armies toward the great city of Liege in August, 1914.

Chopping Trapped Force to Bits.

Before the Nazis retreated, the American artillery had shattered their columns and killed scores of their infantry who had counted on the fog to enable them to surprise the American outposts.

In addition to capturing five tanks, the American anti-tank gunners knocked out one of their own tank destroyers that had fallen into German hands.

As the enemy tried frantically for the fourth straight day to battle through to the rescue of the large panzer force bottled up near Stavelot, American infantry and tank units continued methodically to cut this trapped enemy outfit to pieces.

"We have destroyed about thirty of their sixty tanks and have knocked out about fifty of 200 supply vehicles caught with them," said Lieut.-Col. Steward L. Hall of 125 Lincoln avenue, Newark, N. J.

trymen who climbed miles across snow-topped and forest-crowned ridges to knife through to the enemy's exposed flank. They swept down from the northern hills and opened fire on Nazi columns that were fighting savagely but could find no way to escape.

Yanks Catch Enemy's Flank.

Large forces of German armored infantry also were being reduced in close-range battles by American infan-

The Germans attempted to pull back through Stavelot and across the Ambleve River. But this route had been closed two nights ago when Capt. James Rice of Richmond, Cal., and fourteen of his combat engineers blew up the only bridge across the turbulent stream in this sector. Thus the Germans were trapped by the river on the south and east, by an impassable terrain on the north and by the American defenses on the west. The surrounded units, representing a big part of an armored division, were rushing about in churning circles of ruin.

Nazis Try to Use Swimmers.

"They are still trying to send infantry swimmers across the river near Stavelot and trying to win a bridgehead so they can build another bridge, but our [illegible] troops are shooting them in the water," said Col. Hall.

The Germans moved tanks and infantry into the Malmedy area last night, but were driven out by crack American infantry divisions, Col. Hall continued, adding: "They attacked from the same general area today and managed in the mist and fog to penetrate in small strength to a position in the vicinity of Malmedy. They overran one platoon of our infantry and some anti-tank guns—using captured American tanks. But our artillery and tank destroyers were reported to have driven off the attack by 1 P. M.

"They have been accumulating American equipment and uniforms for some time, and some Germans were specially trained to use this equipment. The Nazis feel this gives them the advantage of surprise."

Sees Enemy Push Past Its Crest.

Col. Hall emphasized the advantage to the Germans of the continuing bad weather. Even artillery Cub spotting planes which can fly in snow and sleet were held on the ground by today's fog.

"In this fog the enemy can move his armor almost to the front line before we can see him," he said. "This enables him to mass his forces and have local superiority at a selected point. But we are killing Germans, and that is the way to end the war."

The bottling up of this northern tentacle of the German offensive began when an American infantry outfit, rushing hurriedly into position, collided four nights ago with the then most advanced German armored column at a small village near Stavelot. Next day the Nazis attacked and drove the Americans back two miles. That was the highwater mark of the enemy drive in this northern sector.

The Americans then braced and counter-attacked and drove the Germans out of the small village where they had originally met.

Stavelot, a town of 5,100 inhabitants built around a Benedictine Abbey founded in A. D. 651, lies in a picturesque wooded ridge country. Nearby Malmedy, with a population of 5,300, was originally part of an independent territory of Malmedy-Stavelot, but fell to Prussia in 1815. Malmedy was awarded to Belgium in 1920, but the population is still strongly Germanic. Today it is guarded by American guns.

How They Blew Up Bridge.

The bridge across the Ambleve which Capt. Rice and his combat engineers blew up, trapping the German tank force, was built in 1770—a stone arch having a span of sixty feet in the clear.

"We had never had to destroy a bridge before because we never knew before what it was to be on the defensive," Capt. Rice said. He used a half-ton of dynamite in destroying the structure.

"We went down to inspect the bridge during the afternoon," he said. "While we were looking it over the Germans opened up on us with tanks and machine-guns, and I had to crawl around a corner so fast I lost my helmet. It was too hot a place to work in by daylight."

So Capt. Rice assembled his men just before dark, loaded them on a dynamite truck, drove to the last corner before the bridge and parked until Nazi observers in the hills beyond the river no longer could see the area.

"When it was completely black we carried fifty-pound boxes three blocks down the street," he went on. "There was a lot of glass and debris in the street. To keep the Nazis from hearing any noise we had artillery throw a smoke shell into the town twice a minute for fifteen minutes. The smoke also gave us further cover.

"By the time the last shell landed we had the dynamite in place. We set four thirty-second fuses. We only needed one, but we wanted to be certain it would go off. Then we pulled the fuse igniters and ran like hell down the street.

A Beautiful Explosion.

"After we had run one block and dived into a building, that bridge blew up like a Roman candle. It was a beautiful explosion—knocked out windows for three blocks.

"Stores on one side of the bridge crumbled like a landslide out into the streets and made a perfect roadblock—and also we had a thirty-foot gap in that bridge. No Jerry tank can broad-jump that far.

"As the bridge blew up the Germans awoke and for twenty minutes they plastered the whole area with tank and machine-gun fire."

Capt. Rice said his men were glum on the way back.

"As soon as the bridge blew up they all started cussing," he said. "They figured that when we start kicking the Jerries back into Germany somebody will give us the job of putting that bridge back together again."

Those who helped destroy the span included Sergt. Harry Harriman of Elizabeth, N. J.; Private Edwin Hess a medi, of Richmond Hill, Queens, and Private Gino D. Lanno of Vineland, N. J. Company B.

They started firing before the Germans reached midstream. More than 50 per cent of the attackers never reached this side. Those that did soon were disposed of.

The enemy tried a new trick of

U.S. Forces Have 'Good Hunting' As Nazis Seek to Cross River

DIXON

BEYOND STAVELOT, Belgium, Dec. 21.—(AP) A lot of courageous guys who perished while attacking across rivers all the way from the Volturno in Italy to the Moselle have been avenged here on the bloody banks of a fast flowing mountain stream named the L'Ambleve.

All along this northern flank of the enemy's armored thrust into Belgium, the Yanks are doing more than holding the line to keep it from spreading. Fighting through fog, snow and mud, they are cutting down crack German tanks and infantrymen by the hundreds and are braced to cut down more.

But the river crossing gang didn't get a chance to reverse the old story of such crossings throughout the war. This time they waited on the opposite bank and literally slaughtered the attackers while they still were splashing in midstream.

"Good hunting" was the grim report a battalion sent back to headquarters after more than 24 hours of using every type of ammunition available, and good hunting it was.

L'Ambleve runs between Stavelot and Malmedy and the cold, clear stream still forms the front tonight on this little sector of the German flank. The only enemy troops on this side of that cold river some 20 to 50 yards wide are dead, wounded or captured Germans.

It was the night before last when crack enemy troops first tried to storm across the stream. On the opposite bank lay a unit which made bloody crossings of such streams as the Vire, Seine, Maas and the Wurm since coming overseas.

"Always before they laid on the other side and cut us down," said Maj. Warren C. Giles, of Athens, Tenn. "This time we laid and waited. It was like shooting ducks off a pond."

Up there where Capt. Robert L. Spiker, of Morgantown, W. Va., had Company B poised waiting, it was not quite that simple. Fog lay heavy on the river banks so the boys hugged the water's edge and waited. The first thrust came at striking farther down but once again was thrown back. It was daylight then and Capt. Spiker—"a rugged little guy," according to Lt. Grover C. Twiner, of Natchez, Miss.—pulled Company B back from the bank to give them a wider sweep for their weapons.

Again and again through yesterday and last night, the enemy diehards tried crossings. But Company B boys—the same gang that cracked a heavily defended sector of the Siegfried Line Oct. 3—did not intend to give ground.

They pulled heavy weapons up to a point overlooking the crossing site. Underfoot there was deep mud and snow. Sometimes the fog dimmed targets down below but then the riflemen handled the situation alone. They used most of their carbine ammunition and yelled for more. Until it came they fitted grenade throwers to their rifle barrels and hurled grenades in the midst of the attacking Germans.

The Yanks threw everything down on the Germans — mortars, machine-gun fire and they even called in a nearby artillery unit. If the fog sometimes impaired their aim, it also concealed them from the river crossers—just as it did for the luckless 36th division boys at the Rapido river in Italy almost a year ago.

"We burned out machine-guns on them, even some rifles," said Lt. Twiner, "but still some got across the river. They piled up on this side. During pauses the boys mopped out areas where a few managed to get across. Then they got set for the next time. Hell, they even used bazookas on the Germans when we ran out of other kinds of ammunition."

As he spoke, another report came into the command post. It was "still good hunting."

Bridge Built In 1770 Blasted To Slow Foe

Stavelot, Belgium, Dec. 20 [AP—Delayed]—The Belgians built the bridge in 1770, the Germans crossed it three days ago in their offensive and last night fifteen American combat engineers blew it up—a job which was a big factor in halting the Nazi forward thrust in this sector.

The bridge was a 60-foot brick and stone span over the Ambleve River.

It was the first bridge ever blown up by Capt. James Rice and his men.

"We went down to inspect the bridge during the afternoon," Rice said. "While we were looking it over the Germans opened up on us. It was too hot a place to work in by daylight."

So Rice assembled his men just before dark, loaded them on a dynamite truck, drove to the last corner before the bridge and parked until Nazi observers no longer could see the area.

Smoke Shells Laid Down

"When it was completely black we carried 50-pound boxes three blocks down the street," said Rice. "There was a lot of glass and debris in the street. We had artillery throw a smoke shell into the town twice a minute for fifteen minutes.

"By the time the last shell landed we had the dynamite in place.

"Then we pulled the fuse igniters and ran like hell down the street.

"Like Roman Candle"

"After we had run one block and dived into a building, that bridge blew up like a roman candle.

"Stores on one side of the bridge crumbled like a landslide out into the streets and made a perfect road block—and also we had a 30-foot gap in that bridge.

"As the bridge blew up the Germans awoke and for twenty minutes they plastered the whole area with tank and machine-gun fire."

GREATEST BATTLE OF WAR REACHES CRITICAL PERIOD

GALLAGHER

WITH AMERICAN ARMIES IN GERMANY, Dec. 21 — (AP) The bloody, boiling struggle now in progress on the U. S. First army front is the greatest single battle in which either American or British troops have been involved during this war and the initiative still is definitely in the hands of Field Marshall Karl Gerd von Rundstedt.

This immense battle is constantly growing in size, with both sides throwing in tens of thousands of men every few hours, but the fighting still is largely being played to von Rundstedt's tune.

Stopped on Flanks

Only on the flanks in Luxembourg in the south and the Malmedy-Stavelot front in the north has the German advance been halted.

It is going to be a black Christmas on the Western Front whether or not the drive is checked. Many formations have been badly mauled, supplies have been used up and lost, and the Doughboys in the trenches see in the German drive a feat of arms which may delay the end of the war many months.

It seems apparent that the American armies have been outgeneralled but not outfought in the first days of this attack. Individually and collectively, the junior officers and fighting men in precarious positions have risen to surprising heights.

There undoubtedly are multiple reasons for the American setback and it is going to take weeks and perhaps months to assess them truly. It was not due, however, to any shortage of men and material in the broad sense.

The Allies have a superiority in men and materials along the Western Front and no instance has come to light to date where the defeat of any particular unit was caused by running out of ammunition or personnel shortage within the unit.

The Germans had superiority at the point of attack and picked the place for the assault with care and cunning. Such superiority is always essential for a successful attack and is a fundamental of warfare. It is up to the opposing armies to dope out ahead of time the German intentions and to take all reasonable precautions to meet them.

Reaches Critical Period

Hard fighting Doughboys and tank crews were striving mightily today to take the initiative away from the Germans and in some sectors were succeeding, but von Rundstedt's offensive bulged deep into Belgium and the fierce struggle reached the critical period.

Von Rundstedt is committing more of his reinforcements to spur on his drive, and it remains to be seen whether the German offensive will be halted or break out afresh.

If the offensive grinds to a halt in the face of the furious Doughboy defense, the battle will pass from the crucial into a new phase where Gen. Eisenhower can take steps to regain the initiative.

The weather continued to perform like a life-long member of the Waffen SS (Elite Guard), with a thick fog hugging ground level and nullifying Allied air superiority.

Although surrounded for four days, some American formations still are fighting hard in the St. Vith area, four miles from the Belgian-German frontier, while enemy armored columns race around them.

A slight lifting of the censorship blackout allowed disclosure that the Germans had reached Habiemont, 30 miles into Belgium a few miles southwest of Spa.

Other spots permitted to be mentioned as German penetration points were Wiltz and Clervaux about three-fourths of the way across northern Luxembourg, and Consdorf, five miles inside the little Duchy to the southeast.

NAZI BROADCAST CLAIMS 20,000 U.S. PRISONERS TAKEN

R. WHEELER

LONDON, Dec. 21—(AP) The German High command announced today that counter-attacking Axis troops pouring into Belgium had cut the great Liege-Hastogne highway "on a broad bront" nearly 30 miles west of the Reich frontier, and that a bag of 7,000 American prisoners taken Wednesday had swelled the total to more than 20,000.

The Germans did not say where they had cut the Liege-Bastogne north-south highway, but a dispatch from British-Canadian Western Front headquarters said the Germans had reached Werbomont, on that highway 11 miles west of Stavelot and approximately 30 miles west of the German frontier. Werbomont is 18 miles south of Liege and 65 miles southeast of Brussels.

Tear Gap in Line

With restrained enthusiasm and cautious warnings of the danger of American flanking attacks on the big German salient, Berlin radio accounts said the Germans had torn a 62-mile-wide gap in the center of the Allied Western front and that "through this breach German panzer assault wedges are streaming toward the Meuse" river, 35 miles west of the Liege-Bastogne highway.

The Nazi high command communique said American supply columns "moving off toward the Meuse were caught up and rolled over by German tanks."

"Freshly brought up American formations were split into individual groups without the enemy being able to halt our advance," it added.

In Wednesday's fighting the Germans said their troops destroyed 136 American tanks and captured 43 tanks and armored vehicles and 50 guns.

Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, Transocean news agency correspondent, said "enemy efforts to check the German advance in the Ardennes forest by means of rashly-flung-in motorized units has so far not resulted in establishment of a coherent front able to stop us."

DNB agency quoted a German military spokesman as saying that Nazi forces had completely crossed the northern part of Luxembourg, south of the Stavelot-Werbomont sector, and that "the fighting takes place mainly on Belgian soil."

Another German propaganda broadcast claimed that four American infantry divisions and two American tank divisions had been mauled or destroyed "mainly in vary fierce fighting on the northern sector," and declared that Allied reserves being rushed into the area were being smashed by fast German tank formations and motorized infantry.

Drive Toward Liege

Perhaps implying that the fortress city of Liege is one of the German objectives, Sertorius commented, "it is interesting to note that the German communique only mentions London and Antwerp being subjected to our long range (V-2 rocket bombs) fire while on the previous day Liege also was on that list."

Sertorius said the Allies now were attempting to thrust against both flanks of the German penetration, from the Aachen area on the north and from northern Lorraine on the south.

A German foreign office spokesman was quoted as observing that "the first phase of the German Winter offensive now is gradually being superseded by a second, with coming battles of attrition between two enemy armies equipped with the best and most modern weapons."

The Nazi commentator Ernst Von Hammer boasted that the German army was in a position to match the Western front offensive with a strong drive in the east.

"The German offensive in the west, launched by well-equipped forces so far held in reserve, has not the slightest influence on the fighting in the east," he stated in one Berlin broadcast.

"The German Eastern armies are in position to come out with some surprises here as well. The Russian large-scale offensives have been reckoned with for the last few months and the necessary steps have been taken."

German Communique.

London, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—The German High Command declared today that Nazi spearheads had cut the Liege-Bastogne highway, which runs twelve miles west of Stavelot, and taken 20,000 prisoners in this week's offensive.

It was cut "on a broad front," the bulletin said, without specifying where the road was crossed. A penetration to Stavelot, twenty miles inside Belgium, has been the deepest announced by the Allies.

"Enemy supply columns moving toward the Meuse River were caught up with and overtaken by German tanks. Freshly brought up American units were split up into single groups and did not succeed in checking our advance," the broadcast communique said.

Advanced German units have "penetrated into the Ardennes," it added.

Americans in the Schnee Eifel Forest in Germany "far behind the front were either wiped out or taken prisoners yesterday. Seven thousand Americans were captured," the bulletin asserted.

Some German Failures

WITH THE UNITED STATES 1ST ARMY, Dec. 21 (AP).—The valiant troops of the 1st Army, fighting the Germans at every turn since the enemy offensive started, have provided invaluable time in which to marshal necessary forces against the deepest penetration of the American lines, a staff officer said today.

The initial onrush of the Germans has been slowed down during the last twenty-four hours along a part of Lieutenant General Courtney H. Hodges's 1st Army front.

There is every likelihood that the enemy drive already has lost valuable time and in at least two instances has fallen short of immediate objectives.

One was the failure to seize the key highway network in the area south of Monschau and another was the failure to capture any of the American gasoline dumps. Both were necessary to a successful execution of the German campaign.

Because of the fuel shortage in the Reich and the failure to seize American gasoline, during the last two days German tanks repeatedly have been found abandoned by roadsides—stalled only because of lack of gasoline.

There was another failure in the mission of some 500 paratroopers. They dropped in the woods adjacent to a vital road junction at night and expected to find armor linking up with them within forty-eight hours at the most. Instead, they sat in the woods five days until they got disgusted and decided to fight their way back to the German lines. A few were captured early, and the rest now are surrounded and being eliminated.

7th Army Forced Back Across River

With U.S. 7th Army in Germany, Dec. 21 (AP)—Seventh Army troops biting into the Siegfried defenses, pillbox by pillbox, have run up against the fiercest resistance since they jumped off November 13.

Fire from the Siegfried Line forced an American withdrawal today from Nieder-Schlettenbach, 5 miles northwest of Wissembourg, to the west bank of the Lauter River.

The town, entered four days ago, is a mile and a half east of Bundenthal, from which the 7th withdrew yesterday.

Three tank-supported counter-attacks were beaten off overnight south of Reisdorf, which is less than two miles east of Neider-Schlettenbach.

Approaching Buchelberg

At the eastern end of the front, the Americans are approaching Buchelberg, a strongly defended village in a clearing of the Bienwald.

One division in the thickly wooded Haardt Mountains just west of the Wissembourg Gap into the Saar and Palatinate were able to seize only 17 pillboxes in the last 36 hours.

The pillboxes are strongly constructed and cleverly placed to catch the attackers in crossfire and they are being attacked with concrete-piercing shells.

15 To 20 Miles Deep

The Siegfried Line in this sector is in three belts totaling 15 to 20 miles in depth.

Along the forward edge at which the 7th is hacking are anti-tank obstacles—dragon's teeth of concrete, curved steel rails, ditches—with mine fields supporting obstacles. The general plan is to canalize movement to the strongest positions.

Snow has added to the difficulties of the Haardt Mountain fighting. Some troops are in combat above the clouds in the snow-swept mountains.

Two American Hospitals Overrun By Germans

A Belgian Village, Dec. 19 [AP—Delayed]—A major in the Medical Corps said today two American hospitals had been overrun by the German advance.

"In the first one we got our patients and our own people out all right, but we lost all our equipment," he said. "We don't know what happened to the second hospital the Germans took. So far no one has come back. We just don't know yet."

Some medics were in the line of 50 men which one German armored column ordered into a field and then machine gunned, he said.

The major, who could hear German guns booming in the distant hills, ordered all his own "walking cases"—men with sore throats, colds, upset stomachs and jangled nerves—out of the fighting zone in readiness for the arrival of wounded.

Pay Roll Officer Keeps a Jump Ahead of Nazis

Takes $1,400 to Town Held by Foe, but G. I.s Save Him and the Cash, Too

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN LUXEMBURG, Dec. 21 (AP).—Delivering the company pay roll is ordinarily a routine job, but not when a surprise German counter-offensive is on.

Lieutenant Richard McConnell, of Ithaca, N. Y., headed for a village northeast of Luxemburg last Saturday with about $1,400 in francs, not knowing that the Germans had launched a large-scale offensive a few hours before and had overrun the town to which he was going.

He found the village streets deserted. There were shots from the buildings. He leaped from one side of the jeep and his driver jumped from the other. But in every building he ran into he found Germans. So, like a sensible man, he surrendered with his bulging cash bag.

The German sergeant in charge of the detail which captured him was interested in the money. But when McConnell explained what it was for, the German, evidently with a German's habitual respect for rank, handed the bag back.

Then the sergeant decided to march McConnell back down the street to a German lieutenant. But he made an unfortunate choice of routes, since the street led right past the hotel which was the only sizable building still held by Americans in the town.

Lieutenant Joe Miller, of West Haven, Conn., one of the officers in the hotel with about thirty-five men, described the scene from then on like this:

"We saw eight Krauts coming down the street with Lieutenant McConnell in front. We knew if we fired haphazardly they probably would shoot him. But the men inside the building began calling softly to each other, 'I'll take the first one closest to him,' 'I'll take the next one' and so on.

"Then the men opened up and on the first volley we killed six of the eight. McConnell and the two Germans hit the ditch and then ran into a small shed near our hotel. Unfortunately for the Germans, they picked a shed where we had some men and a tommygun. Our men killed one of them and wounded the other, while the lieutenant made his way into our hotel with all the cash."

Eisenhower's Christmas Greetings To Services

General Eisenhower's Advanced Command Post, Dec. 21 (AP)—General Eisenhower extended personal Christmas greetings today to men representing the American, British, Canadian and French armies, the United States and British navies, the American Army Air Force and the RAF.

The American representatives included Sergt. Charles Helferich, a tankman, of New York city; Driver T/5 Troy Lofties, of Ardmore, Okla., and Boatswain's Mate 1/c Daniel Scrima, of Pittsburgh, of the Navy.

MP's Nab 4 Nazi Saboteurs In Jeep

Somewhere in Belgium, Dec. 21 (AP)—Six alert military policemen today captured four German soldiers in American uniforms who were driving a jeep loaded with enough dynamite a blow up a strategic bridge and handicap seriously the movement of United States armored columns up to stop the German breakthrough.

The sextet was praised by the brigadier general commanding this area and were recommended promptly by their commander, Capt. Eugene Halliday, of Tacoma, Wash., for the Bronze Star.

The four would-be saboteurs—three lieutenants and one sergeant—will be shot as spies. One is a native of Brooklyn, N.Y.

LONG UNDERWEAR SAVES THE DAY

With the Second Infantry Division Inside the Siegfried Line, Dec. 13 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Caught without snowcapes by an early winter storm, one group of ingenious doughboys camouflaged their dark, drab uniforms by donning long white woolen underwear. It hid them from snipers.

"We painted our helmets white and put on oversize underwear drawers and shirts over our regular uniforms," said Corporal John K. Smith of Louisville, Ky.

mantled fusilage on the second floor of a brick Dutch house. The wings and tail were on the ground outside. The engine was on the floor below, beside a seated, very frightened old lady.

Before telling how it happened, this is to inform Lieut. Goff's home town neighbors on Ogden avenue, Ashland, N. J., that the pilot, whom a passing American ambulance driver found sitting in his cockpit with a brick in his lap and a dazed look on his face, is "O. The old lady is O. K. too, but her house isn't.

It started two miles above ground east of Aachen, where Lieut. Goff spotted a free-for-all between a group of Lightnings and Messerschmitts. The airman decided to bring his Thunderbolt into the fray, maybe too enthusiastically.

"But, using full manifold pressure, I blew a cylinder, and the engine cut out. I started to bail out, but, being close to the enemy's lines, I decided to ride the ship in. I tried to land in an open field but I overshot it, clipped the top off some trees and came down on the house.

"Sure was the closest I ever came to the pearly gates. If I had seen such a narrow escape in the movies I would have said 'Impossible!'"

The house walls mainly collapsed but the floors stayed up, long enough for Private Clifton Plaster of Patrick Springs, Va., driving past in a providential ambulance, to get there and lift Lieut. Goff out of the wreckage, which had, meanwhile, caught on fire.

French-Soviet Pact Approved

Paris, Dec. 21 (AP)—France is determined to help form a world peace organization in which she expects the United States to take the leading role, Gen. Charles de Gaulle told the Consultative Assembly today at the conclusion of debate on the new French-Soviet alliance.

Following a statement from de Gaulle, chief of the provisional government, on the recent negotiations leading to the signing of the twenty-year alliance, the Assembly approved the pact which now is ready for ratification by the French Cabinet.

Security Body Essential

"France cannot conceive a victory without a world security organization nor without an alliance with London," de Gaulle said. "A real international organization is necessary and in this organization who could be first in rank if not the United States, whose efforts in the western theater and in the Pacific are enormous?" he added.

Earlier, Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said France intends to help mount guard on the Rhine after the war to keep the Rhineland and Ruhr industries out of German hands. He also declared the French nation intends to help Poland expand westward into Silesia and East Prussia.

Means Of Mutual Defense

The Minister, who signed the pact for France, asserted that the Franco-Soviet accord would be a means of mutual defense and added that the Russians and French had agreed to territorial revisions in both the east and the west.

"We agreed to the acquisition by Poland of East Prussia and Silesia," he said. "This concession corresponds in our way of thinking to territories in which Poland would be persuaded to abandon."

This apparently was a reference to Russia's proposed acquisition of former Polish territory up to the Curzon Line. During the conferences at Moscow, the French, traditional protagonists of the Poles, promised to support the Russian case for the old Curzon Line, according to reports received here.

Bidault said the Rhineland question was for all the Allies to work out within the European Advisory Commission, but "it is certain that it will be our forces and those of other liberated countries which will stand watch on the Rhine."

"The industries of the Ruhr Valley," he said, "will no longer work for the Prussian war machine, but first of all for reconstruction of the damages caused by Germany."

The Minister did not specify whether France wanted these industries under French or international supervision. He implied that the Russians would support the French claim to sovereignty over, or occupation of, the left bank of the Rhine. Reports on the Moscow conferences have said that the French desire to establish a separate state under French protection embracing roughly both banks of the Rhine.

French Public Warned Of Fifth Columnists

Paris, Dec. 21 (AP)—French military authorities issued a warning today to the population against German fifth columnists and saboteurs dressed in Allied uniforms and carrying Allied identity cards.

The warning said infiltrations of such Nazis already had occurred along the Luxembourg front and declared, "the French public is placed on guard against them."

RUSSIAN FORCES NEAR BIG RAILWAY CENTER OF LOSONC

Nazis Report Reds Open New Thrust to Take Besieged Budapest.

THREATEN OUTSKIRTS

Powerful Soviet Army Sweeps Ahead in Drive Through Slovakia.

DEC 221944

LONDON, Friday, Dec. 22—(AP) Russian forces yesterday drove to within 14 miles east of the big Slovak rail city of Losonc (Lucenec) as Berlin announced that 100,000 Soviet troops had hacked out gains southwest of Budapest in a new offensive aimed at taking that besieged capital from the rear and opening the most direct invasion route to Vienna.

Moscow did not confirm the new drive which Berlin said was launched by ten rifle divisions of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine army on a 40-mile front between Lake Balaton and the west bank of the Danube after nearly two weeks of intense Red army preparation.

Reds Threaten Outskirts

Tolbukhin's forces, already linked with Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine army elements within 14 miles of Budapest's southwestern outskirts, were threatening the big junction city of Szekesfehervar, Berlin disclosed. They last were reported within six miles of that bastion guarding the invasion highway through the Bakony mountains.

In southern Czechoslovakia Malinovsky's northern wing, capturing prisoners at the rate of more than 1,000 daily, seized 30 more localities, including the eight-way road and rail center of Rimaszombat (Rimavska Sobota), on the Kassa-Losonc highway 16 miles northeast of Losonc.

At Rimaszombat the Russians were 16 miles inside Central Slovakia, and in a position to drive northward into the mountainous interior in an effort to cut off German garrisons based on the East Slovakian stronghold of Kassa, 63 miles to the northeast.

Feled (Feledince), five miles southwest of Rimaszombat, and a junction on the Kassa-Losonc railway, also fell to the Russians who pushed on three miles and seized Hodejov, 14 miles from Losonc.

In northern Hungary other units captured 50 localities, crossing the Matra and Bukk mountain ranges on a winding 50-mile front southeast of Losonc, and gaining up to 12 miles from previously reported positions.

Reds Free Railway

They freed a railway running from Eger across the Bukk range to the Miskolc-Losonc line, seized half of another spur line jutting southward from Banreve on the Slovak border with the capture of Odz, and left the Germans only two means of escaping from a narrowing bulge along the border.

These escape routes were along the Hatvan-Losonc railway from menaced Kisterenye, 23 miles southeast of Losonc, and along the Tarna river from the area of Petervasara, a road junction 11 miles east of Kisterenye.

The Russians were only one mile south of Kisterenye junction after capturing the village om Maconka, and were three miles south of Petervasara with the capture of Terpes. Tarnalelesz, four miles northeast of Petervasara, also fell to the Soviet Alpine units.

At the top end of this mountain front the Russians took Hangony, only a mile from the Slovak frontier and seven miles southeast of captured Feled.

Moscow said Malinovsky's troops took 1,490 more German and Hungarian prisoners Wednesday, making an announced total of 42,734 in the last 42 days.

Only a 35-mile arc remains to be closed on the western side of two-thirds encircled Budapest.

The German High command communique said the resumed offensive was supported by "many bombers," adding that "bitter fighting is in progress."

Red Pressure Mounts

The German army bulletin also reported that Russian "pressure is mounting" northwest of Budapest between the big Danube bend and the southern frontier of invaded western Slovakia—another avenue of invasion toward Vienna, Austrian capital.

Below Budapest the Russians were reaching for the vital supply lines behind the Hungarian capital. The big immediate objective, Szekesfehervar, is 32 miles southwest of Budapest, and last big obstacle to Russian troops before the little Hungarian plain leading to Vienna.

Beyond Szekesfehervar lies a network of highways and rail lines funnelling into the Danube gate on the Austrian frontier. Skekesfehervar is only 72 miles from the Austrian frontier and 15 miles southeast of Vienna.

One Nazi commentator said that strong Russian formations also were preparing to cross Lake Balaton to the Tihany peninsula in an effort to crush the Szekesfehervar garrison from the rear. The peninsula, on the west bank of the lake near its center, reaches to less than a mile from the eastern side.

"The Germans so far have been able to weaken the enemy assault by concentrated artillery fire," the Berlin radio said, but it declared that nevertheless penetrations of the German lines were made, "some" of which were sealed off.

"The Germans launched a strong counter-attack with tanks and assault artillery which forced the Russians to regroup," the broadcast continued. "So far the enemy has not engaged any motorized troops."

New Red Drive In Hungary Reported

London, Dec. 21 (AP)—The Berlin radio reported today "the Russians have launched their long-expected offensive between Balaton Lake and the Danube" in Hungary.

The broadcast declared ten Russian rifle divisions were thrown in the attack and that the Germans had launched a strong counter-attack with tanks and artillery, "which forced the Russians to regroup."

Such a drive apparently would be aimed at completing encirclement of Budapest by thrusting up west of the city.

Berlin acknowledged some "local penetrations," but said they had been sealed off.

DEC 221944

Two Strongholds Menaced.

Moscow, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—The Red Army pushed the Germans back on a 125-mile front in southern Slovakia today and battled with battered Nazi garrisons on the outskirts of the strongholds of Kassa and Rimaszombat.

Soviet columns last night were on three sides of both these heavily defended southeastern Slovakian towns which control highways and railways connecting with direct routes to Bratislava, Vienna and Prague to the west.

In advances up to five miles, a communique said, the Russians captured thirteen towns in the Rimaszombat area in a drive aimed at the key citadel of Losonc, seventeen miles westward. Chief of them was Tornala, thirteen miles east of Rimaszombat and a strongpoint of formidable enemy defenses on the east bank of the Slana River.

Latest reports had Soviet forces preparing a climactic attack on the Torysa River fortifications two miles outside Kassa.

Reds Gain in Danube Bend.

Front reports said the great battle raging further to the west, north of the Danube bend, was going favorably for Red Army troops struggling for other routes westward toward Bratislava and Vienna.

The German High Command was reported throwing in large numbers of reserves and new air units in an effort to check the Soviet push, which threatened to spill out across the Danube and block escape routes from beleaguered Budapest.

The southeastern Slovakia Soviet drive appeared almost certain of throwing the Nazis out of Kassa and Rimaszombat within the next few days. Capitulation of the towns would loose the Nazi hold from a huge segment of eastern Slovakia, if not all of it.

An Izvestia report from the Slovakian battlefront said hard winter weather had set in. Ski men—both German and Russian—were taking a more active part in the fighting.

In forty-one days, the war bulletin said, the Russian Second Ukraine Army has taken 41,244 prisoners in fighting along the Hungarian-Slovak border.

RAILWAYS CHIEF OUSTED BY REDS

Moscow, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—L. M. Kaganovich was relieved of his post as Commissar of Railways and Communications today and Ivan V. Kovalev was named as his successor. Kaganovich was appointed vice-chairman of the council of people's commissars.

The order of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet announcing the changes did not say whether Kaganovich would lose his place as a member of the powerful Politburo, but the move was generally regarded as a demotion.

Kaganovich, who was 51 years old last month, had been Commissar of Railways since 1943. On Nov. 5, 1943, he was honored by being named a hero of Socialist labor. Previously he had been awarded the Order of Lenin.

Lublin Poles to Establish Provisional Rule Soon

London Regime Assailed as 'Outside the Pale'

MOSCOW, Dec. 21 (AP).—The semi-official Polish news agency Polpress reported today the National Council at Lublin soon would take action on "the unanimous demand of the Polish people" for conversion of the National Liberation Committee into a provisional government.

The agency quoted a Lublin newspaper story which said, "the people want to establish officially that no other authority can exist in Poland . . . The emigre government (in London) is outside the pale of any aspirations of the Polish people."

Tires Buried on Route Power New Soviet Truck

Car Invented Using No Rails, Trolley or Batteries

MOSCOW, Dec. 21 (AP).—Tass, the Soviet news agency, announced today the invention of a noiseless transport operating on a high-frequency current without a trolley, rails or storage batteries.

One such vehicle has operated successfully for a year in a Moscow machine factory, pulling a one-ton load along a roadway underlain with high frequency wires. (From this description it appeared the vehicle was equipped with some kind of induction motor.)

"The high-frequency vehicles are fed by a current emitted from wires laid underground," Tass said. "By means of a pickup frame an electrical motor mounted on the vehicle takes in the current, which is converted through an ordinary rectifying radio bulb from alternating into direct current.

"Soviet scientists expect that within a few years passenger cars and trucks powered by high frequency current will become an ordinary feature of urban life, supplanting less comfortable transport."

Stalin Marks Birthday But Without Fanfare

MOSCOW, Dec. 21 (AP).—Josef Vissarionovich Djugashvili, better known to the world as Premier Josef V. Stalin, celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday today with a complete absence of official fanfare.

Although the Soviet Union took no formal notice of the occasion, telegrams from all over the U. S. S. R., as well as from many of the world's capitals, poured into the Kremlin.

Neither press nor radio made any mention of the occasion, but, like Washington's Birthday in the United States, the date is known to every Russian.

[With one exception Stalin's birthday never has been an occasion of public observance, The United Press noted. In 1939 the Soviet newspapers devoted a special issue to the Premier's life and achievements and to tributes from close co-workers.]

BOMBERS STRIKE AT COLOGNE, BONN

Allied Planes Pound Trier, Weather Continues to Stall Attacks.

LONDON, Friday, Dec. 21 — (AP) RAF heavy bombers struck into Germany last night in a twin blow against freightyards at Cologne and Bonn, on the Rhine 20 miles south, after other British Lancasters had made a daylight attack on the German railway town of Trier.

Weather continued bad and even the daylight raiders, which dropped an estimated 1,800 tons of bombs, were forced to use night bombing instruments to reach their targets through the heavy fog.

Fighters Hit Trier

U. S. Ninth air force fighters rose from their bases on the continent to accompany the 200 British heavyweights to Trier, 26 miles northeast of Luxembourg city. The Lancasters, essentially night attackers, returned home without loss.

U. S. Eighth air force Fortresses and Liberators — equipped for day bombing only — again were grounded as the British heavies took advantage of their night-raiding apparatus to brave the murky weather that has stopped almost all air support for Allied troops attempting to stem the German drive.

Meanwhile, Italian-based U. S. 15th air force heavy bombers hammered rail targets at Rosenheim, 35 miles southeast of Munich, rounding out seven straight days of blows at southern German communications.

The American heavies — also forced to bomb by instrument through the cloud cover — were from the same wing, commanded by Brig. Gen. Hugo P. Ruch, of New Providence, Pa., which has hit this area throughout the week to cut the flow of enemy troops and supplies, particularly those directed toward the Italian and Hungarian fronts.

Thunderbolts raided the Bologna battle sector and the Brenner Pass, cutting the Brenner feeder line south to Verona at two places.

U.S. Planes Hit Rail Targets At Rosenheim

London, Dec. 21 (AP) — United States 15th Air Force heavy bombers struck rail targets today at Rosenheim, 35 miles southeast of Munich, rounding out seven straight days of blows at southern German communications.

The Italy-based bombers were from the same wing, commanded by Brig. Gen. Hugo P. Rush, of New Providence, Pa., which has hit throughout the week to hamper the flow of enemy troops and supplies, especially toward the Italian and Hungarian fronts.

Thunderbolts raided the Bologna battle sector and Brenner Pass, cutting the Brenner feeder line south to Verona at two places.

London, Friday, Dec. 22 (AP). The Swedish radio reported today that "large numbers of foreign aircraft" passed over Swedish territory from the west to the east, indicating that German strongholds in the Baltic were under attack again.

London, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—The Germans continued to batter southern England with V-bombs last night while pressing their offensive on the western front. A Government announcement reported both casualties and damage.

BRITISH COMMONS RAPS GREEK KING IN HEATED DEBATE

LONDON, Dec. 21 — (AP) The chance that Britain may ask American-Russian aid in settling Greek political woes arose today along with a demand in Commons that the British government "invite" King George of Greece to remain here until his erstwhile subjects decide whether or not to take him back in to the fold.

Lord Samuel told the House Lords Britain probably would have to resort to some sort of "interallied action" to settle the Greek situation. He contended "there is no reason why Great Britain should be called upon to bear this burden alone."

The liberal leader's assertion came after a member of his party, Lord Faringdon, sharply assailing Britain's armed intervention, cautioned that "mutiny" may arise among British Tommies detailed to quell civil strife in Greece.

The Eton-educated Lord's contention, plus his claim that the British terms for peace in Greece were conditions of "surrender" rather than of armistice, drew a stern rebuke from Lord Samuel and cries of "monstrous" from his colleagues in the usually sedate and placid chamber.

But the Greek monarch remained on the pan in both Houses of Parliament.

In Commons, Tom Driberg (Independent) unsuccessfully sought government assurances that King George be asked "to state publicly that he has no intention of returning to Greece until after the question of monarchy has been settled by a free plebiscite." He contended that such a plebiscite "might be prejudiced" by the King's premature" return.

Deputy Prime Minister Clement P. Attlee refused however, to go beyond Eden's statement yesterday in which the foreign secretary said himself that he and Churchill had advised the King to stay in London on the grounds that return now might cause political disturbance.

In Commons the suggestion also was advanced that the British arrange a week's Christmas truce in the Greek fighting, drawing from Eden a quick quip: "Our object is not to stop it for a week but to obtain a final solution of this business."

Meanwhile creation of a United Nations commission to supervise elections in liberated lands was advocated by another member of Parliament on behalf of the government. Attlee said he could see "no advantage of a general commission," but that Britain would be willing to give some assistance to countries other than Greece "if asked."

Debate in the House of Lords was sharp. Lord Faringdon suggested that "the King of Greece did not deserve and was in fact an unsuitable recipient of the respect and authority with which the British government has invested him."

"I think there can be no possibility," he added, "that the King has hardly any personal support in Greece. The Greek people inevitably hold against him that it was he who brought in dictatorship in Greece and who maintained the dictator Metaxas in power."

Peer Warns Of Mutiny

London, Dec. 21 (AP)—Lord Faringdon, assailing Britian's intervention in Greece, declared today that mutiny might arise among British troops detailed to quell civil strife there.

Cries of "monstrous" greeted his statement in the House of Lords. Lord Faringdon once served on a committee to investigate Britian's nonintervention in the Spanish civil war.

"I should not be surprised," he told Lords, "if our commanders had not already met with cases of men who show the greatest unwillingness to fight the Greeks and who may have refused to bomb Athens.

Condemns Speech

"It may be this will go further and we shall have a mutiny among men in Greece and a refusal to fight the Greeks."

Lord Samuel asserted there would be "universal condemnation" of Faringdon's speech, and added: "Such language ought not to be used in this house." The leader of the Liberal party in Lords, Samuel declared: "I am sure that on further consideration Lord Faringdon will regret he has been betrayed into these remarks."

King Under Attack

Lord Samuel said Britain probably would have to resort to some "interallied action" to settle the Greek situation and asserted that "there is no reason why Great Britain should be called upon to bear this burden alone."

King George II of Greece came under attack in Lords after a similar flareup in Commons against him.

Faringdon suggested the King "did not deserve and was in fact the unsuitable recipient of the respect and authority with which the British Government have invested him."

Terms "Unacceptable"

"The Greek people," he said, "inevitably hold against him that it was he who brought in dictatorship in Greece and who maintained Dictator Metaxas in power."

Farindgon argued that the armistice conditions advanced in Athens by Lieut. Gen. R. M. Scobie were "clearly unacceptable."

"They are terms of surrender," he said. "I hope he may be directed to withdraw these terms and offer terms which are more acceptable."

In Commons the Government declined to give any assurance that the Greek King would be asked to remain in London until the Greeks decided whether they wanted him back.

Tom Dryberg, an Independent, asked Prime Minister Churchill whether he would invite the King "to state publicly that he has no intention of returning to Greece until after the question of the monarchy has been settled by a free plebiscite of the Greek people, and that he is willing, meanwhile, that a regent acceptable to all parties should be appointed."

Anwering for the Government Clement R. Attlee, Deputy Prime Minister, said he had nothing to add to the statement made yesterday by Foreign Secretary Eden.

Eden said the King was remaining in London on the advice of Churchill and himself. He revealed also that the British Government had taken the lead in advocating a regency.

Dryberg argued today there was danger that a plebiscite "might be prejudiced" by the premature return of the King.

This drew from Sir John Wardlaw Milne, Conservative, the retort that such a request from the British Government "would be a most unwarranted interference with affairs of the Greek people."

Shouts Of Protest

"We have interfered more than that," broke in Laborite Emmanuel Shinwell.

Shouts of protest arose when Edith Summerskill, Laborite, inquired whether "it is proposed that the wishes of one man—the King of Greece—shall be allowed to stand in the way of a settlement."

Laborite George Strauss broke in to ask: "Is this not the time when the British Government could interfere with very great benefit in the Greek situation?"

Despite the new outburst, Attlee declined amplification, saying that there had been "considerable opportunity for discussing these matters yesterday."

The British press, expressing satisfaction over Eden's explanation of British intervention in Greece, urged improved machinery for diplomatic collaboration between the three great powers. The Times warned:

"As defeat of Germany draws near—and the utmost attainable success of the enemy's present offensive could do no more than defer it—it would be idle to pretend that omens for future unity are all auspicious."

Need For Meetings Cited

Saying American opinion "belongs overwhelmingly to the universal school of thought," the Times asserted that "it is inclined too readily to condemn political regionalism as 'power politics' . . . and economic regionalism as 'discrimination.'"

The Times contended that "to strengthen and perfect machinery of collaboration through regular meetings of leading representatives, whether heads of government or foreign ministers, is a duty which can no longer be safely neglected."

Discussing steps in Greece, the Yorkshire Post commented: "We hope American and other critics will now see how far their emotions led them astray from facts."

M. P.'S CRITICIZE POLICY IN BALTIC

London, Dec. 21 A. P.).—Britain's policy toward the Baltic states came under attack from two Conservative members of the House of Commons today, but a foreign office under-secretary, George Hall, declined to agree with a contention that the people of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania had been left in the lurch. Sir Herbert Williams asked if Russia's absorption of those countries was "in conflict with the principles of the Atlantic Charter and our agreement with the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics." He also asked the Government to explain "why we have left these peoples in the lurch."

"I don't know that it can be said that they have been left in the lurch," Mr. Hall replied. "Since 1940, no government in these territories has sought, or, indeed, been accorded, recognition by the Government."

He did not answer when another Conservative, Maurice Petherick, declared that the three Baltic countries had been under Russian domination for something under 100 years, and asked if "you will see to it that what is condemned in the case of Germany will not be condoned in the case of Russia."

100 LST'S IN BRITAIN HAVE CHRISTMAS TREES

A U. S. NAVY BASE IN ENGLAND, Dec. 21.—(AP) Each one of a hundred American LST's in this harbor was brightened tonight by a Christmas tree, complete with all the trimmings, donated by a grateful Englishwoman.

It's Mrs E. R. Barrows' way of saying "thank you" to the Fred Fitzgeralds of 1 Pendleton place, Lexington, Va. They have provided a home for her grandchildren, Nigel, 11, and Jennifer, 9, since the aerial battle of London. Mrs. Barrows' estate has an abundance of Christmas trees.

"My grandchildren write glowing tales every week of the splendid hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald and their neighbors," said Mrs. Barrows, a hearty woman in her fifties, "and I just couldn't resist this year trying to repay the Americans in some way for their kindness."

U. S. Flyers Aid Victims Of V-Bomb in England

15 Search Houses and Rescue Baby Buried in Debris

A U. S. 8TH AIR FORCE STATION, England, Dec. 21 (AP).—Fifteen American airmen divided into squads and went from house to house searching for injured and giving first aid in an English town recently when a V-bomb landed.

Lieutenant Ashley L. Hamory, of Peekskill, N. Y., found a baby completely covered with plaster. He bathed it carefully, made a boric solution and washed its eyes. The infant cried lustily for a few minutes, then went to sleep.

Corporal Leslie H. Maxwell jr., of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was chased out of one house by a hysterical woman wielding a broom, but the rest of the Americans met unfailing calmness and courtesy from the disaster victims.

SPANIARDS GET MORE 'GAS'

Monthly Ration in Madrid Goes From 5.25 Gallons to 6.6

MADRID, Dec. 21 (AP)—Madrid motorists received notice today of an increase in monthly gasoline rations from 5.25 gallons to 6.6 gallons (25 liters) beginning in January for those with average cars of six to ten horsepower.

While gasoline supplies to Spain have not increased since the Allies' petroleum embargo was lifted last June, the Government has improved its rationing system. Agricultural needs have decreased since harvest time.

Another official bulletin suspended for two more months the Government's order of Sept. 23 requiring foreigners employed in executive or technical capacities in companies concerned with public services to quit their jobs. The deadline for resignations was moved forward to Feb. 28, giving American employes in the Spanish telephone company two months' grace.

GERMANS MAKE 13 THRUSTS IN VAIN

Two Canadian Regiments Foil Foe's Attacks In Italy

Rome, Dec. 21 (AP)—Two Canadian regiments have thrown back thirteen German counterattacks within nine hours against their bridgehead across the Naviglio Canal, just north of Bagnacavallo and some fifteen miles inland from the Adriatic coast, it was announced today.

The two units—the Carleton and York Regiment and the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment—were congratulated by Lieut. Gen. Sir Richard L. McCreery, commander of the 8th Army.

"The fierceness of enemy resistance clearly shows the importance of the ground to the enemy," he said.

Upper Jaw Of Pincers

The Canadian bridgehead forms the upper jaw of an Allied pincers which threatens the enemy's entire Lamone River salient north of Faenza, and yesterday's tank-led Nazi attacks were of an almost desperate nature.

While the Canadians were hurling back the Panzer thrusts, New Zealand troops hammered a deep dent into the southern flank.

The "Kiwis"—old specialists in night attacks—lashed out in darkness and cleared the Germans from the east bank of the Senio River to a point three miles north of the Bologna-Rimini highway. They took over 100 prisoners.

Three Villages Seized

Other 8th Army troops crossed the Lamone River at two points near Ronco and seized the villages of Formellino, San Silvestro and San Piero Laguna just north of the highway.

The American 5th Army front stretching from southeast of Bologna to the Italian west coast remained relatively quiet, though there were many patrol clashes. It was disclosed that the American 751st Tank Battalion had destroyed more than 100 German Mark IV tanks since the start of the Italian campaign.

Allies In Italy Repulse Tanks

Rome, Dec. 21 (AP)—German forces are throwing heavy tank-led counterattacks against the Canadian bridgehead across the Canale Naviglio, northeast of Faenza, but the Canadians are holding fast despite the ferocity of the thrusts Allied headquarters said today.

There was sharp action in the sector last night, during which the Canadians took 40 prisoners.

Other 8th Army troops crossed the Lamone River at two points near Ronco, occupied Formellino, a half mile north of the Bologna-Rimini highway, and joined additional units north of Faenza in seizing San Silvestro and San Pietro Laguna.

River Bank Cleared

At the same time, New Zealanders cleared the east bank of the Senio River for three miles north of the highway.

South of the highway the action was confined to patrol operations.

The counterattacks at the Canale Naviglio bridgehead, north of Bagnacavallo, were blunted by two Canadian outfits—the Carleton and York Regiments—which smashed thirteen Nazi assaults in nine hours.

Praised By General

The Canadians received personal congratulations from Lieut. Gen. Sir Richard L. McCreery, commander of the 8th Army, for "capturing and holding the bridgehead against repeated infantry and tank counterattacks."

It was disclosed that the 751st Tank Battalion, commanded by Major C. J. Madden, Des Moines, Iowa, is in action on the Appennine front. This battalion has been in Italy since the start of the Italian campaign and has destroyed more than 100 German Mark IV tanks.

ELAS UNDER FIRE, ULTIMATUM ENDS

British Tanks and Rocket Planes Attack Greek Leftists.

ATHENS, Dec. 21 — (AP) British tanks and rocket-firing fighter planes shelled and strafed ELAS concentrations north of Athens today upon expiration of the 9 a.m. ultimatum in which Lt. Gen. Ronald M. Scobie warned the Greek Leftists he would use every available weapon in an effort to restore order.

Sherman tanks climbed the high, monastary-topped Likabettus mountain, their 75-mm guns shelling and scattering ELAS groups around Averof prison and the military academy.

R.A.F. fighters pin-pointed other troublesome positions, and at Omonia Square tank-supported parachute troop patrols made a series of sorties.

A billet of the U. S. AAF Transport Command rocked with the concussion of shell blasts as the troops demolished a snipers' nest in the square, whose buildings are just behind the Cosmopolite hotel quarters of the American airmen.

It was not immediately clear how much effect Scobie's warning had on the ELAS forces. Nor was there any further word of political developments toward a truce.

A communique issued by Scobie's headquarters said:

"Progress continued to be made clearing insurgent forces from Athens and Piraeus. Prisoners and weapons were captured.

"In the remainder of Greece the situation remains unchanged. "The calling up of age groups by the Greek government decree for the national guard battalions of Athens is meeting an enthusiastic response."

BRITISH PLANES AND TANKS MOVE AGAINST GREEKS

Gen. Scobie Attacks After Ultimatum He Sent Leftists Expires.

Athens, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—The British opened a tank assault against ELAS concentrations today after expiration of an ultimatum from Lieut.-Gen. R. M. Scobie that the insurgents stop fighting. Rocket-firing fighter planes joined in the attack.

Sherman tanks climbed monastery-topped Likabettus Mountain and sent 75-mm shells crashing into ELAS positions around Averoff prison and the military academy.

Gen. Scobie's ultimatum, which expired at 9 A. M., had warned that any ELAS forces continuing to hold out would be attacked "with all the arms at my disposal."

At Omonia Square, tank-supported parachute troop patrols made a series of sorties, demolishing a sniper's nest and taking numerous prisoners.

The billet of the United States Air Force Transport Command rocked with the shell blasts as buildings behind the requisitioned Commopolite Hotel were plastered.

A routine communique issued by Scobie at noon said further prisoners and weapons had been captured and that progress had been made in clearing the ELAS troops, the militia of the EAM or National Liberation Front, from Athens and Piraeus.

[NBC quoted a Reuters dispatch to BBC today as saying this morning that British troops had cleared a third of Athens of ELAS militiamen.]

Jean Rallis, the pro-Nazi former Premier who escaped from the Averoff prison two days ago when the insurgents stormed the building, was recaptured last night.

A reply was awaited from King George II in London on whether he would accept or reject a suggestion that the nation's leadership be turned over to Archbishop Damaskinos as regent. It was stated last night that Premier George Papandreou had advised the King by message to accept such a regency. Some Cabinet members, however, are understood to oppose such a move.

Red Cross To Aid Troops Visiting Holy Land

Jerusalem, Dec. 21 (AP)—The American Red Cross has arranged to accommodate between 500 and 600 United States soldiers of all ranks from the Persian Gulf area, Egypt and other parts of the Middle East, visiting the Holy Land during Christmas leave, it was announced today.

The Red Cross planned to arrange for soldiers the opportunity to attend Christmas Eve services at the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem.

BRITISH CAPTURE WUNTHO IN BURMA

CALCUTTA, Dec. 21—(AP) Remnants of three Japanese divisions fell back down the Myitkyina-Mandalay railway in Burma today, offering only slight opposition to pursuing British troops who occupied the rail town of Wuntho, 135 miles north of Mandalay.

The Japanese apparently were making a full withdrawal into southern Burma, it was stated in field dispatches received here at headquarters of the Allied land forces of southeast Asia.

To the east, near the China-Burma border, the 30th Chinese division in an encircling movement captured three villages about 30 miles north of Namhkan, where the Japanese are expected to make their last stand in defense of the old Burma road, it was announced in the daily communique issued at Southeast Asia command headquarters at Kandy, Ceylon.

The Japanese defended the three-village area furiously for more than a week, and an American observer highly praised the Chinese for their victory. Booty included 100 rifles, 15 machineguns and many carts of artillery ammunition. It was estimated that 200 Japanese were killed.

A field dispatch said there were indications that the branch road from Bhamo in Burma to the old Burma road might be opened soon. Small Japanese forces have been holding out in Bhamo for several weeks, but they are surrounded by Chinese troops and the town has been bypassed.

A unit of the American "Mars" task force operating in the broad valley north of Mandalay was reported to have killed 152 Japanese in a series of skirmishes since Dec. 9. American casualties were called "extremely light."

It was believed that the Japanese in that sector might attempt to establish a line near Shwebo, about 50 miles up the railroad from Mandalay.

Indian troops pushing down the Burma west coast were reported making good progress south of Maungdaw.

American and RAF planes continued to attack Japanese communications and troops over a wide area. Medium bombers yesterday destroyed a railway yard at Prinmana, a junction on the Mandalay-Rangoon line. One Allied craft was missing.

British Occupy 2 Burma Towns

Calcutta, Dec. 21 (AP)—British troops pushing down the Myitkyina-Mandalay railroad have occupied Wuntho, 135 miles north of Mandalay, and Nankan, fifteen miles farther northeast, while the Japanese continued an apparent withdrawal southward.

Field dispatches and a Southeast Asia Command communiqué told the details:

Remnants of three enemy divisions fell back into the broad valley running north from Mandalay, offering little opposition to the British.

Three Villages Taken

Farther east, the Chinese 30th Division captured three villages near the Bhamo-Nam Kham road, killing 200 Japanese. Nam Kham, 30 miles to the south, is the next largest town in the Chinese path, and the Japanese may make a last stand there to defend the old Burma road.

Indications were reported that the section of the Bhamo branch road to the old Burma road may soon be opened for strikes southward.

A field dispatch said one American infantry and artillery unit of the Mars Task Force fighting in North Burma near Tonkwa, 120 miles above Mandalay, had killed 152 Japanese in a series of skirmishes since December 9. American casualties were said to be extreme[illegible]t.

YANKS PLAN RAIDS ON JAPS IN CHINA

CHUNGKING, Dec. 21 — (AP) The Chungking radio broadcast insistent appeals to Chinese civilians today to evacuate Japanese-held cities along the China coast and elsewhere in advance of impending major blows by the American air force.

Maj. Gen. Robert B. McClure, U. S. chief of staff in the China theater, accompanied the appeal with an announcement that American planes would bomb every Japanese-held supply port on the China mainland with "the maximum tonnage of bombs and the greatest number of planes which can be obtained."

Chinese civilians also were urged to quit immediately the principal cities of Manchuria and Formosa and to avoid travel on any Japanese-controlled train, ship or motor vehicle. McClure said U. S. planes also would drop leaflets warning the Chinese that the air onslaught was coming.

It is hoped, McClure said, to continue combined raids such as the joint attack on Hankow by Superfortresses and by smaller planes of the 14th U. S. air force. He said joint American-Chinese staff meetings where being held frequently and that the war against the Japanese was proceeding with increased smoothness.

Today's Chinese high command bulletin said Chinese troops were still battering at the important railway town of Hochih, 95 miles west of Liuchow and 135 southeast of Kweiyang. Another Chinese force was said to have by-passed Hochih and reached the vicinity of Chinchengkiang, on the railway 15 miles farther east.

Since they began their counter-drive the reinforced Chinese had knocked the Japanese back approximately 75 miles from the high-water mark of the enemy's push up the Kweichow-Kwangsi railway toward Kweiyang and Chungking. More than 100 Japanese were reported killed yesterday.

Mustang fighters of the Chinese-American wing were giving the Chinese ground forces active support, bombing and strafing Japanese positions and transport in the Hochih area. Other Mustangs destroyed four locomotives yesterday on the Peiping-Hankow railway.

All-out Air War Ahead.

Chungking, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—American airmen will bomb every Japanese-held supply port on the China mainland with the maximum tonnage of bombs and the greatest possible number of planes, Major-Gen. Robert B. McClure, American chief of staff in the China theater, said today.

He told correspondents that the Americans hope to continue combined raids, such as the joint attack on Hankow by Superfortresses and planes of the Fourteenth United States Air Force and Chinese-American Composite Wing.

Gen. McClure also declared that Gen. Chen Cheng, the Chinese Minister of War, had given the Americans his support in a struggle to provide adequate food for the Chinese troops at the front. Among the reasons for the fine showing of the Chinese troops in Burma, he said, was the simple fact that they had had enough to eat.

Asked by a Chinese correspondent about the extent of American aid to China, he replied that from a military viewpoint it was the maximum that the United States can give at present.

Chinese Forces Near Hochih

Chungking, Dec. 21 (AP)—Chinese troops are closing on Hochih, important Kweichow-Kwangsi railway town 95 miles west of the fallen, former United States airbase of Liuchow, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

The Chinese were battering at the city yesterday, the high command said, and on the day before had slain more than 100 Japanese near the city.

Meanwhile, Chinese units which had bypassed Hochih on the south reached the vicinity of Chinchengkiang, on the railway fifteen miles further east.

In improving weather, the United States 14th Air Force was out in strength to support the Chinese advance. Supply lines all the way from Tungting Lake in northern Hunan province to Liuchow and northwestward along the Lung River Valley were lashed by American airmen. In the Hochih area of the Lung Valley, P-51's struck at enemy troop concentrations. Chinchengkiang also was bombed.

Wang Po-chun Dies In Chungking

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Wang Po-chun, 50, Chinese State Councilor and President of Great China University, died yesterday in Chungking, the Chungking radio reported today in a broadcast recorded by the FCC. Wang, born in Hsingyu, Kweichow, and educated in Japan, was Chinese Minister of Communications from 1928 to 1931.

Marine Court Team Bougainville Champ

(Basketball as it is played by American fighting lads in the South Pacific is described in this dispatch by Sgt. Jack Slocum, Marine combat correspondent, formerly of the New York Mirror.)

BOUGAINVILLE (delayed) — (AP) A Marine Air group, lone leatherneck representative in a league that consisted of 18 Army teams, recently completed its season with 48 victories out of 50 starts to win the basketball championship of Bougainville.

After receiving a plaque, emblematic of the title, the local quintet beat another Marine team which held the titles of Green island and Espiritu Santo, and now they claim the championship of the Solomon islands, New Hebrides group and Bismarck archipelago.

Basketball on Bougainville is a serious, difficult and sometimes dangerous pastime. The flattened dirt and coral courts have contributed numerous turned ankle patients to the sick bay. And on one occasion, the shelling of the Japs into our perimeter necessitated the calling of a game at the end of the first half.

Credit for the Marine team's victory is unanimously given to Cpl. Fred G. Campbell, 24, Herrin, Ill., player-manager with eight years of basketball experience. Campbell spent many hours training his players.

"Basketball out here is a ball-handler's game," Cpl. Campbell reports, "and is almost void of good dribbling. You can't dribble a ball in and out of gullies and through mud.

"There are not two similar backboards on the island and they range from wooden boards that are two feet square to banyan trees that feature grooves. On one such court we played all rebounds to the left and not once were they wrong.

"The customary leather ball used at home has proved itself useless out here. It rains nearly every evening and the game can proceed through the downpour when a rubber ball of the same dimensions is employed. Other than being a bit more springy, there is little difference.

"Perhaps the biggest change comes from our playing four eight minute quarters instead of 20-minute halves. No man alive could keep running for 20 minutes in this climate. We tried it once and didn't play for a week.

Chinese-American Team Salvages Bogged B-29

A SUPERFORTRESS BASE IN WESTERN CHINA—(AP) Salvage of a B-29 bogged on an unused airstrip only 17 miles from the Japanese lines along the Yellow river brought a demonstration of teamplay between Chinese and Americans.

In the first night raid on Nagasaki, the Superfortress ran into navigational and weather difficulties and barely made the strip which was so soft the plane was stuck in a deep hole.

For 13 days, Chinese forces guarded the strip while Flying Tigers ranged overhead, bagging 36 enemy planes in the covering operations.

Meanwhile, Chinese and Americans worked together to bring in gasoline and repair material for the airstrip. Chinese crews buried 4,500 railway ties on the strip to form 300 feet of hard surface and filled holes with rock.

The plane was stripped of all possible removable equipment and four of her crew flew it back to home base after repairs had been made by American units.

All operations were carried forward almost under the noses of the Japanese and preparations were made for complete destruction of the plane in case enemy patrols broke through.

Capt. Stanley Brown, the pilot, made the emergency landing with two motors out from enemy action over the Nagasaki target. He was uncertain when he landed whether he was in friendly territory.

YANK PLANES.

USING FIELD ON MINDORO

MacArthur Also Reports Closing Of Pincers On Japs On Levte

General MacArthur's Philippine Headquarters, Friday, Dec. 22 (AP). American fighter planes are flying against the Japanese from a newly constructed airdrome on Mindoro Island, less than 150 miles from Manila, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

The announcement that the new field on Mindoro's southwest coast is in use marked attainment of the primary objective in the landing on the island a week ago today.

11 Jap Planes Shot Down

Its importance, both to the Americans and the Japanese, was demonstrated as the enemy sent 29 planes against installations there Wednesday. Eleven of the raiders were downed in fierce aerial combat with American Lightnings and Thunderbolts. One American fighter plane was lost.

[In a broadcast from the Philippines, George Folster, of NBC, said the Mindoro air bases pose a greater menace to the Japanese than those on Leyte because the heavy rains which have hampered Yank flyers on Leyte are not so prevalent on the western side of the Philippines.]

The communiqué also announced that the 10th and 24th Army Corps, in a nutcracker move, have formed a junction in the Ormoc corridor on Leyte.

North And South Drives Meet

Closing of a so-called "pincers" on the northwest coast, means that the 1st American Cavalry Division from the north and the 77th Infantry Division from the south have joined their advance units. The Japanese, particularly on the east side of the road, were striving desperately to keep a gap open so they could slip through to the west in the direction of Palompon, their remaining escape port.

But the Nipponese were well scattered. While there is still stiff fighting ahead by isolated pockets, their destruction continues. An additional 2,032 enemy dead were counted in the Ormoc corridor Wednesday.

A 6,000-ton freighter transport was set afire by Catalina flying boats off Mindoro's northwest coast.

Attack Luzon Targets

American fighter planes, continuing their attacks on Luzon Island targets, smacked Batangas, damaging three planes parked on the airdrome and barges in the Batangas river.

United States air patrols swept widely over Japanese-dominated islands of the western Pacific from the Philippines southward to Timor and New Guinea, sinking or damaging several small ships, barges and luggers, bombing airdromes and other enemy installations.

New Ireland was attacked heavily in one of these operations. Dive bombers dropped 54 tons of explosives on buildings at Kavieng and another 57 tons on airdromes, supply facilities and troop concentrations on the Gazelle Peninsula of New Britain, and at Bougainville, in the Solomon Islands.

The end of the battle for Leyte—first major Philippine island invaded by American liberation forces—was imminent.

It was this fight which Japanese militarists viewed as "the decisive battle for our homeland," the Tokyo radio and Japanese Domei news agency said more than a month ago.

Japs Boasted of Victory

Japan's toughest general—Tomoyuki Yamashita, conqueror of Malaya and Singapore—was then appointed commander in the Philippines. He boasted he would demand "unconditional surrender" from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

MacArthur gave him a reply in his Thursday communique, saying the fall of Leyte was rapidly approaching. Yamashita's forces on the island were cut into isolated remnants, able to resist only temporarily. Their defenses in the Ormoc corridor were completely destroyed. The capture of the highway junction of Libungao snapped any hope of being supplied through the west coast port of Palompon.

Other Yank liberation forces continued without enemy ground resistance their conquest of Mindoro island, separated from the main island of Luzon by the narrow Verde passage. Enemy air resistance constituting the only opposition since the landings a week ago, was declining.

American air power ranged out over the northern Philippines and off-shore areas in support of the Mindoro operation. Heavy bombers blasted Legaspi, northwest of Mindoro, starting large fires and causing explosions.

A long range patrol attacked a Japanese convoy in the south China sea 300 miles west of Manila, said Friday's communique. A medium sized freighter-transport was damaged by direct hits.

Line Formed At Great Cost

Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, who boasted that his success at Singapore would be repeated on Leyte against MacArthur, had formed that line at heavy cost with reinforcements landed from bomb-blasted convoys before the loss of Ormoc.

Yamashita's "cohesion now is completely broken and he is no longer capable of an integrated defense," today's communiqué said.

"The small remnants of his forces, divided into isolated groups, are able to resist temporarily only at independent points.

"Scattered elements are fleeing toward Palompon in an endeavor to reach the northwest coast of Leyte."

Libongao Captured

Libongao, where the Palompon road feeds into the corridor, was seized by the United States 77th Infantry Division, captors of Ormoc. A mile to the north, dismounted 1st Cavalry Division troops captured Kanango in a three-mile push south from Lonoy. Some of the enemy's isolated groups are squeezed between the 1st Cavalry and the 32d Infantry Division further north.

The demoralized Japanese abandoned sufficient artillery, small arms ammunition, machine guns, grenades, land mines and food stores to have served them for six months.

The Japanese, who try to conceal the extent of their losses by carrying away their dead, abandoned 1,541 "during the day," the communiqué said.

Enemy Lost 90,000

Enemy losses in the Leyte campaign, including more than 30,000 drowned at sea in aerial destruction of reinforcement convoys, recently were placed by headquarters at close to 90,000.

A Japanese convoy far to the west of Manila was spotted by a single patrol bomber which damaged a 6,000-ton freighter-transport.

[Clearing the path for more B-29 raids on Japan—those attacks, MacArthur has said, are diverting enemy airpower from the Philippines—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced at Pearl Harbor a 100-ton bombing of Iwo Jima.

[That enemy base in the Volcano Islands, midway between Tokyo and the B-29 bases on Saipan, was pounded Monday (United States time) by escorted Liberators. Lightnings shot down one enemy plane.

[It was the twelfth straight day Iwo Jima has been hit and the fifteenth time this month. Also on Monday, Liberators raided Marcus Island, a base from which the B-29s can be spotted while flying to Tokyo.]

U.S. Conquest Of Leyte Is Almost Completed

MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Dec. 21 (AP)—American conquest of rugged Leyte Island—the outcome "will decide the fate of the Greater East War," Japan's Premier Koiso said December 12—neared accomplishment today.

"The battle is rapidly drawing to an end," announced Gen. Douglas MacArthur two months and a day after he returned to the Philippines October 20 with amphibious forces, landing on Leyte's east coast.

Situation On Mindoro

On Mindoro Island—"There was no enemy ground activity and his air action was light," today's communiqué said. Nine raiding planes were downed.

[Tokyo radio said the Yanks had sought to cover reverses on Leyte by the invasion of Mindoro].

Disaster was depicted for the Nipponese on mountainous northwest Leyte. That decisive battlefield is crossed north and south by a single corridor road from Pinamopoan to Ormoc and linked by a supplementary road to the west coast at Palompon.

Two American divisions slashing south from Pinamopoan and a third pushing north from Ormoc have fought to within a mile of a juncture along the corridor road, "thus completing destruction of the Yamashita line."

NEW BRITAIN MARINE FIRST ASHORE ON LEYTE

LEYTE, Philippine Islands, (undated)—(AP) A dispatch by Captain Earl J. Wilson, a Marine corps public relations officer, reports that Major General Ralph J. Mitchell of New Britain, Conn., was the first Marine airman ashore in the Philippines after General MacArthur's invasion.

General Mitchell arrived during the early phases of the Leyte landing and served as operations officer of the combined air activities at Leyte field for the first several days after it passed into American hands.

AMERICAN BOMBERS HIT MARIANAS, VOLCANOS

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 21—(AP) Japanese bases from the Palau to Iwo Jima, 750 miles south of Tokyo, were hit by American bombs Tuesday, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

For the 13th consecutive day, Liberators of the strategic airforce made the Marianas-to-Volcano islands run to blast the airstrip and installations on Iwo Jima.

Marine corps Avenger Torpedo planes attacked Yap, 322 miles northeast of American-occupied Peleliu island in the Palaus. Marine fighters destroyed a number of enemy small craft at Sorsorol islands, southwest of the Palaus, and bombed and strafed storage areas on bypassed Babelthuap island.

Isolated Rota island, north of Guam, and Japanese holdings in the Marshall islands received aerial poundings Tuesday, Nimitz communique said.

15 Superforts Raid Iwo Jima

San Francisco, Dec. 21 (AP)—Radio Tokyo said today that Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands, 750 miles south of Tokyo, was raided Wednesday (Japanese time) by fifteen Superfortresses accompanied by Lightnings. This is the thirteenth consecutive day raid.

Almost simultaneously, Radio Tokyo reported a raid by British planes on Sabang, on the northwest tip of Japanese-held Sumatra. The planes, said Radio Tokyo, were "probably carrier-based."

The broadcast, intercepted by the Federal Communications Commission, claimed that two Lightnings were shot down over Iwo Jima. The broadcast was not confirmed by Allied sources.

Army Supply Ship Lost

Headquarters Alaskan Department, Dec. 21 (AP)—Army authorities said today no lives were lost when a storm forced abandonment of an army supply ship of 3,700 tons off Cold Bay, Alaska, December 15. Efforts to salvage the vessel are being made.

Yugoslavs Take Town Southwest Of Belgrade

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Yugoslav Partisan forces of Marshal Tito have captured the Drina River town of Zvornik after many days of bitter fighting, the new Yugoslav Telegraph Service said today. Zvornik is approximately 80 miles southwest of Belgrade.

The dispatch, recorded here, quoted a Partisan communiqué as saying Yugoslav units had crossed the flooded Drina with ferry boats and overcome "strong fortified German lines on both banks of the Drina."

POPE IN BROADCAST TO WAR PRISONERS

Pope Pius XII broadcast a special Christmas message last night to prisoners of war, internees and refugees and "all who are suffering from this prolonged conflict."

The text of the message, as broadcast by the Vatican radio in German, French, Italian and Polish and recorded by the FCC, follows:

"To our beloved sons, prisoners, internees and refugees, and to all who are suffering from this prolonged conflict, and who on all paths of this world continue on their way, suffering, mourning and weeping: May the Saviour of mankind grant you strength—He Who giveth freedom after agony so long endured, He the only and omnipotent Regenerator of downtrodden humanity.

"The message of peace—sent forth anew unto a sorely tried world—the message of peace proclaimed by the angels on the fields of Bethlehem, will be to you a sure omen of the approaching end of your suffering and a harbinger of life renewed and rejuvenated through fertile works of charity and goodness. That all this may find fulfillment, we extend to you, as a token of divine mercy, our apostolic benediction."

Great Jap Tunnel Nearing Completion

The Japanese Domei News Agency said today that a mile-long tunnel connecting the main Japanese island of Honshu with Kyushu to the south will be completed by December 30, according to the Associated Press. The Domei report, monitored by the Federal Communications Commission, stated that work on the tunnel began May, 1938.

B-29'S ATTACK MUKDEN PLANT

China-Based Bombers Strike At Aircraft Factory

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Superfortresses, fighting through "moderate to strong" air opposition, today bombed a Japanese aircraft plant at Mukden, Manchuria—the third enemy airplane factory to be blasted this week.

In the air battle, two of the force of about 60 B-29's were lost and 33 enemy fighters were hit. Crewmen reported on their return to China bases that fifteen enemy planes certainly were destroyed, seven probably destroyed and eleven others damaged.

Bomb By Visual Method

A War Department communiqué said the Superfortresses used visual bombing methods and "struck the target with good results."

"The weather was clear, but haze and smoke obscured part of the bombing results from the B-29 crews," it was added. "The enemy's anti-aircraft fire was meager.

The Japanese radio reported that B-29's also bombed Dairen, principal port of the enemy's Manchurian puppet state, but there was no mention of this in the American communiqué.

Radio Tokyo said three or four Saipan-based B-29's flew over Honshu, main Japanese island, last night and early today but did "absolutely no damage." It also belatedly reported that Iwo Jima, in the Volcano Islands, was bombed by about fifteen Superfortresses on Wednesday.

Third Major Raid In Week

Today's Mukden raid was the third major one by China-based B-29's this week. On Monday, they hit Hankow, China. On Tuesday they bombed an aircraft plant at Omura, Japan. Saipan-based Superfortresses bombed still another Japanese aircraft factory at Nagoya, Japan, Monday.

An indication that the problem of getting gasoline in quantity to China bases has been pretty well solved was seen in the fact that the China-based B-29's are now able to carry out raids with such frequency. It was disclosed some time ago that a pipeline had been completed from bases in India to a point in northern Burma, thereby shortening the haul for planes which have flown gasoline into China. There has been no disclosure as to whether this pipeline has been extended.

B-29 Force Hits Airplane Plant In Manchuria

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Superfortresses hit a Japanese aircraft plant in Mukden, Manchurio, today with "good results" although two of the big B-29s were lost.

Fifteen enemy planes were destroyed, seven probably destroyed and eleven damaged in the combat with the enemy airforce which a 20th Air Force communique said put up opposition "moderate to strong."

Plane Plant Is Target

Target of the attack, the communique said, was the Manchuria Airplane Company.

The B-29's used visual bombing.

The communiqué said the planes hit Mukden in "substantial force," indicating that up to 60 craft participated.

30 Planes, Japs Say

Enemy broadcasts placed the size of the raiding force at about 30 planes and said the bombers were over both the Mukden and Darien areas for more than 50 minutes.

The Japanese radio also said three or four Superforts flew over Honshu, Japanese home island, last night and early today but caused "absolutely no damage."

First Attack Since Dec. 7

In the 20th Bomber Command's last attack against Mukden on December 7 the giant planes netted their biggest bag of enemy aircraft. Sixty-three Japanese planes were shot down or damaged when the Superforts bombed an aircraft plant and other military objectives at Mukden.

This encountered "from weak to strong" air opposition and resulted in "unobserved to excellent bombing results," a communiqué said. Three B-29's were lost in the earlier raid.

Many Steel Works

Manchuria—Japan's "arsenal of greater East Asia—has many important steel works, shipyards and other war industries. Producing such vital raw materials as steel and coal, Manchuria has sizable stockpiles of petroleum, rubber, tin and other recently looted wealth for the Japanese armies.

Today's smash coincided with the Chungking radio's assertion that a great American aerial offensive is to be launched against Japan. This forecast came two days after the record 1,000-ton bomb smash at Japanese installations at Hankow, China, and the second major Superfort raid against Nagoya, Nipponese industrial center.

NAZI OFFENSIVE CAUSES RESURVEY OF ARMS OUTPUT

WPB Chairman Krug Predicts Greatly Increased Demands on Production.

STIMSON CONFIDENT

Claims War May Be Shortened Should the German Attack Fail.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP) Germany's powerful counter-offensive led government officials tonight to resurvey arms production plans on the basis that heavy fighting may continue in Europe for a year or longer.

Against this dark possibility, however, Secretary of War Stimson set another—the possibility that the war may be "definitely shortened" if the Nazi effort can be crushed.

Increase in Arms Output

But even if the Stimson-foreseen possibility should prove true, it appeared certain that the present rate of arms production must be stepped up because of the enormous losses of materiel in the current heavy fighting. This would mean further delay in increasing production of civilian goods.

WPB Chairman J. A. Krug told a news conference that "greatly increased demands on production" would result from the Nazi counterthrust.

"If General Eisenhower had been able to break through the West wall promptly, the equipment we had under procurement would have been sufficient," he said.

"He hasn't been able to, and it looks as if it may take quite a long time. We must get ready to fight the kind of war we've been fighting in the last two months for the next year or as long as it takes."

Stimson, at his news conference, strongly implied that he expects the German lunge to fall short. The Secretary compared it with the desperate drives of the same enemy in 1918 which were beaten and followed quickly by the war's end.

With little to lose, he said, the Nazi High command chose to gamble some of its troops "rather than await the inevitable end of a slow defensive." The possibility exists, he conceded, that the counteroffensive might develop so as to gain for the Germans "a few months extension of time" before they are called "to an accounting for the misery they have inflicted upon the world."

Stimson said that Allied countermeasures against the German drive naturally are under way, but declined to give details on grounds of military security. He appealed for "restraint and patience at a moment when the stakes are high."

He expressed the "utmost confidence" in General Eisenhower, Supreme Allied commander, and his aides.

To the Krug and Stimson observations, Rep. Costello (D-Calif.) added his view that Germany may be able to lash back again and again. Costello headed a group of House Military committeemen who returned last night from a long inspection of European fronts.

While there is no question of ultimate Allied victory, it will not "come quickly," Costello told reporters, adding "we saw no indication anywhere that Germany is on the verge of cracking."

Krug said it appeared that it might be necessary to re-equip Lt. Gen. Courtney Hodges' First army which has borne the brunt of the Nazi offensive, and announced restoration of part of the last aircraft production cut-back.

Revision of the 1945 aircraft program now calls for an output of 78,227 planes, a boost of 2,617 over the last reported goal.

While Army and Navy fighters account for most of the increase, Krug said the already steep schedule for B-29 Superfortresses was "increased significantly" for the war against Japan.

"It is quite possible that further increases over those announced today may result from studies of reports currently coming in from the battlefronts," he added.

Krug reported "very favorable progress" in meeting the critical military programs including big guns and shells and heavy trucks and tires, but reported these new developments on the production front:

1. Tire producers have been asked to report by Jan. 2 how much each can absorb of a desired military tire increase of six million tires a year. What the industry cannot handle, Krug said, will be thrown into a new plant—or more than one plant—to be built for the purpose.

2. New plant facilities apparently will have to be built to make high-tenacity rayon cord and carbon black, as part of the tire expansion.

3. A "rather drastic order" will be issued in the next few days, requiring cotton yarn producers to deliver their output to manufacturers of cotton duck for tents. This in turn may affect adversely those tire makers who are using cotton cord.

Five of WPB's top officials will leave for Europe shortly, the chairman announced, to survey military needs. They are Harold Boeschenstein, operations vice chairman; William Y. Elliott, vice chairman for civilian supply; James Folger, vice chairman for field operations; Joseph D. Keenan, vice chairman for labor production, and Maury Maverick, vice chairman for smaller war plants.

Krug appealed to management and labor to prevent, if possible, a lapse of munitions production in the approaching holidays. Christmas is "the official holiday," Krug said, and the effect on output would be serious if workers laid off on both Christmas and New Year's and the Sundays preceding those holidays.

Production Increase Seen

Samuel W. Anderson, vice chairman of the War Production board, said it is not yet clear just what new production demands will develop from the heavy expenditures of war materials in the current fighting.

But armament problems "as difficult as the ones we have now" are certain, Anderson told a news conference, adding:

"The present military situation in Europe will come back and hit us between the eyes in various ways, at present unknown."

Anderson is the official who signed the recent order freezing production of civilian goods at present levels.

"The purpose of the freeze is to see that rising civilian production does not interfere with urgent munitions output," he said. "I haven't any idea how long it will last, or how long we will have critical shortages in war materials."

Anderson explained that the freeze will not be allowed to prevent increases in vitally needed civilian production.

"It sets up a strong presumption against increases, but not an absolute bar," he explained. "Some programs probably will be brought up. We know we want more textiles and we'll try to increase them."

LACK OF SUPPLIES SEEN CAUSING U. S. REVERSES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP) Plentiful, fast-flowing supplies from the homefront to Americans fighting in Europe might have prevented the powerful German counteroffensive, Rep. Brooks (D-La.), member of the touring House Military Affairs committee, said today.

If supplies had kept up with them, American troops might have reached Berlin in their first, crucial thrust into Germany, declared the Louisianian, who returned with his colleagues yesterday from a month's trip to European battlefronts.

Lack of munitions in Allied hands at the front, Brooks said, allowed the Germans a respite in which to build up their current counter blow.

Stimson Gives Nazi Push Views

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War, expressed today the possibility that the war may be "definitely shortened" if the present Nazi offensive can be crushed.

Stimson, at his news conference, strongly implied that he expects the German lunge to fall short. The Secretary compared it with the desperate drives of the same enemy in 1918 which were beaten and followed quickly by the war's end.

With little to lose, he said, the Nazi high command chose to gamble some of its troops "rather than await the inevitable end of a slow defensive." The possibility exists, he conceded, that the counteroffensive might develop so as to gain for the Germans "a few months' extension of time" before they are called "to an accounting for the misery they have inflicted upon the world."

Countermeasures Under Way

Stimson said that Allied countermeasures against the German drive naturally are under way, but declined to give details on grounds of military security. He appealed for "restraint and patience at a moment when the stakes are high."

He expressed the "utmost confidence" in General Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander, and his aides.

To the Krug and Stimson observations, Representative Costello (D., Cal.) added his view that Germany may be able to lash back again and again. Costello headed a group of House Military Committeemen who returned last night from a long inspection of European fronts.

While there is no question of ultimate Allied victory, it will not "come quickly," Costello said, adding, "we saw no indication anywhere that Germany is on the verge of cracking."

RUSSIA PROMISES WINTER OFFENSIVE

Informed Sources Say Drive Will Be Aimed at Heart of Germany.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 — (AP) Russia has assured the Allies that a powerful Red army winter offensive is coming up.

When it comes, informed sources said tonight, it will disclose a new alignment of Red Army forces spearheaded toward the heart of Germany.

While it probably will not have any immediate effect on the distant western front, where the U. S. First army is the main target of a Wehrmacht counter-offensive, the Red army drive on the eastern front is calculated to hasten the eventful collapse of Hitler's forces.

Soviet sources said the Red army high command had gone so far as to communicate to the Americans and British the date for the start of its offensive. This could not be confirmed in American military quarters, but there is strong evidence that the Allies know of and are counting on the new Russian push.

One such indication was Secretary of War Stimson's remark to a news conference today that "the German high command must be prepared to meet the Russian winter offensive, wherever it may strike."

Prime Minister Churchill, speaking to the House of Commons last Friday, asserted: "I know nothing of their intentions, but speaking only of what is obvious to anyone who studies war maps, Russian armies will probably during the early part of next year traverse large areas of Poland."

Either Churchill was covering up military knowledge he already possessed, informed sources indicated, or since then, some word has come to the Allies from Moscow.

The date and place of the projected offensive remain military secrets.

The most fruitful location for a Russian attack appears to be the Polish plain, extending directly west into Germany.

The time is already one month later than the start of the great 1942 Russian winter offensive from Stalingrad, a delay explained by the fact that the Polish plain freezes later than the Russian steppes.

The lineup of Russian armies has been a mystery since last summer when the Leningrad front, three Baltic, three White Russian and four Ukrainian fronts, from north to south, were in action.

Current activity in the Balkans has been limited to single fronts, or army groups, while those farther north, already far advanced from the White Russian, Baltic and Leningrad regions from which they drew their designations, have been re-grouping.

The forthcoming winter offensive, judging by previous actions, will involve probably three army groups for the original breakthrough, with expanding movement bringing in up to six army groups.

The promised Red army offensive will answer a rising demand in this country for Russian action, reminiscent of the 1942 clamor in Moscow for a "second front."

Clare Luce Stranded in Fog, Missed Boat, Colleagues Say

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP) Clare Boothe Luce got stranded in the fog in Italy, colleagues confided today, and that is why she missed the boat back from Europe.

Earlier reports that an earache detained the blonde Connecticut representative were erroneous, said members of the House Military committee.

Mrs. Luce failed to turn up yesterday at National airport when other committee members returned from a four-week inspection tour of European battle areas.

Mrs. Luce, her colleagues explained, left the main group at Rome to make a one-woman inspection of the 12th Airforce headquarters, quite a distance away. The main group flew to the Adriatic coast, and Mrs. Luce was to have rejoined it at Naples.

However, a heavy fog blocked her plans to fly to Naples and there was no other way for her to meet the main group in time. So the rest of the committee left without her.

"It wasn't an earache at all," one of the group said. "She simply got lost in the fog and missed the boat."

Front Supplies Ample, House Mission Says

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—House members back from Europe left the definite impression today they found adequate supplies at the fronts, although more ammunition could be used.

Hoarse and travel-weary fifteen members of the Military Committee returned last night by army plane and arranged today to tell Gen. George C. Marshall and Secretary of War Stimson of their four weeks' inspection tour of battlefronts.

Supply Setup Praised

Although bound by a self-imposed censorship not to discuss in detail what they had seen until they had talked with army bosses the returning legislators left these impressions with interviewers:

American troops want for nothing, including cigarettes, gasoline and supplies of all kinds; their morale is high, although they want to get the war over with quickly; the supply organization, from buttons to tanks, is, as one member put it, "just simply amazing and will be recorded by history as the greatest job of its kind ever undertaken."

Within Rifle Shot

The Congressmen said that they saw everything there was to see, including the supply lines in the rear and the fighting at the front, and were within rifle shot of German soldiers at Duren, on the Western front.

As acting chairman of the returning group, Representative Costello (D., Cal.) summed up the trip by saying the committee "found things in excellent condition."

"They are doing an exceptionally fine job," he added.

"They have everything they need," said another member. "The job of providing supplies has been handled superbly. There could be more heavy ammunition, but there is no critical shortage of it. There seemed to be plenty of gasoline."

Got The Lowdown

"We really got the lowdown," commented another. "They were almost overanxious for us to have the real facts."

Representative Brooks (D., La.) said the committee was "satisfied" with things in general, although "some shortage" of shells was noticeable.

30. 24 — 21443

On one occasion, Brooks said, the group was less than a mile from a German lookout post when a Signal Corpsman commented that "if we had enough shells we could get that lookout."

"The war is a good deal tougher than the American people think it is," he added.

DAVIS BACKS AIDE IN NEWS DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP) Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, today supported one of his aides who had protested against a news blackout on Germany's counter-offensive.

George Lyon, OWI representative at Supreme Allied headquarters in Europe, recently joined war correspondents in complaining about the failure of headquarters to make news available.

Davis today told reporters that he regretted "this argument got out into the public," but added:

"From here it seems that Mr. Lyon was right."

Davis remarked that the policy of headquarters in releasing news now has been modified considerably.

Davis sat in at a news conference with Edward Barrett, director of OWI overseas operations, who had just returned from Europe.

Davis told reporters that psychological warfare has proved "extremely worthwhile," and that the Allied story "has made an impression on German soldiers."

He said this was shown by the interrogation of prisoners, and that the full effect of Allied psychological warfare "will show up when a certain breaking-point" is reached.

French Envoy Ready to Leave

WASHINGTON Dec. 21 (AP).—Henri Hoppenot, who has represented the provisional government of France here for the last fifteen months, said good by today to President Roosevelt preparatory to leaving soon for Paris. His place is being taken by Henri Bonnet. Hoppenot said he would go to New York to spend a few days, then laeve for Paris. He added: "I leave full of love for your country and hope for the co-operation between your country and my country, which is certainly one of the bases for peace and freedom."

GREATER UNITY IS URGED BETWEEN UNITED NATIONS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 — (AP) Growing demands on both sides of the Atlantic today for closer Allied political cooperation set American officials studying possibilities for improved consultation machinery.

Linked to a plea from British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden for more regular meetings of top Allied statesmen was a feeling that steps should be taken now to fill the gap between the end of European fighting and establishment of a world peace agency.

Only continuous channel for exchange of views outside of normal diplomacy at present is the European Advisory commission. The EAC, however, deals almost exclusively with plans for Germany and has no authority of its own. It can only make recommendations.

Expansion of the EAC or formation of some new group to take its place when Germany collapses is expected to come up for discussion at the next Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting. Some officials think, however, that steps to tighten Allied political lines must be made before the Big Three get together late next month or early in February.

One possibility is that Secretary of State Stettinius may go to England to talk over Anglo-American policy and confer on closer coordination.

Actually, postwar problems already are confronting the Allies in liberated countries. British difficulties in Greece have called the attention of diplomats here to the need for regular high policy talks.

In the House of Lords, Lord Samuel said today the British might have to resort to some sort of "interallied action" to settle the Greek crisis. He said there was "no reason why Great Britain should be called upon to bear this burden alone."

The official American attitude has been to keep hands off the internal political quarrel, but to attempt to eliminate some causes of the strife by rushing in relief supplies. Unofficially, it was learned, the American ambassador in Athens, Lincoln MacVeagh, has been trying to help the British and Greeks find a solution.

Stimson Sees No Allied Rift

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—War Secretary Stimson said today he does not believe the United Nations are losing their solidarity.

He expressed this view in answering a question whether the timing of the German counteroffensive was connected with reports of dissension among the Allies and with reports of Allied supply shortages. The Secretary declared there is no evidence that either report had anything to do with the drive.

Stimson Omits Casualties

Tells News Conference Reports Are Not in From the Fronts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP).—Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson, omitted at his news conference today his usual weekly report on Army casualties. He said that the casualty figures had not yet been received from the fronts.

It had been expected this week's tally probably would include some reports on casualties in November in the opening of the winter offensive against Germany.

MEN WHO RADIOED CHARTER UNKNOWN

221344

Washington, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—A search of Navy records has failed to disclose the identity of radio men aboard the cruiser Augusta who transmitted the Atlantic Charter from scribbled notes.

The Navy said today that any of a considerable number of radio men normally assigned to a ship that size could have handled the notes which President Roosevelt has said never were placed in formal style during his historic meeting at sea with Prime Minister Churchill.

The Navy agreed too, with the British Admiralty, that some men who were aboard the cruiser at that time might since have become casualties on other assignments.

London dispatches said that even if the Admiralty determines that the three radio men who sent their copy from the British battleship Prince of Wales still are alive, their identities must remain a top secret. The Prince of Wales was sunk by Japanese planes off Malaya three days after Pearl Harbor.

34 LEADING ACES LISTED

Bong Heads Group, McGuire Second, Gabreski Third

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—A list of 34 fighter pilots who shot down fifteen or more enemy planes was issued tonight by Army Air Forces. Major Richard Bong, of Poplar, Wis., tops the group.

The list covered scores up to December 15. Bong, therefore, was recorded for 38 planes destroyed, although dispatches from the Southwest Pacific since then have run his score up to 40.

Major Thomas B. McGuire, of San Antonio, Texas, like Bong a member of the 5th Air Force in the Southwest Pacific, is rated second high man with 30 planes. Third on the list is Lieut. Col. Francis S. Gabreski, of Oil City, Pa., an 8th Air Force pilot who became a prisoner of war while on a mission over Germany. His score was 28.

Procedure For Scoring

The air forces announcement explained the procedure for scoring. Originally, claims of enemy planes destroyed were based on observation by the pilot or by supporting witnesses. An enemy plane was listed as destroyed only when it was seen to burn in the air or its pilot seemed to bail out.

Since January, 1943, Army fighter planes have been equipped with gun cameras which provide positive proof of whether and where the enemy aircraft is hit. To claim a positive victory, a pilot's camera must show the crash or the mid-air explosion of the enemy plane or that its pilot bailed out.

Others Listed As Aces

The other fighter pilots listed among the high scores and the number of planes they destroyed:

MAJOR ROBERT S. JOHNSON, Lawton, Okla., 8th Air Force, 27 planes.
MAJOR GEORGE E. PREDDY, Greensboro, N. C., 8th Air Force, 24.
CAPT. DON S. GENTILE, Piqua, Ohio, 8th Air Force, 23.
MAJOR GERALD T. JOHNSON, Eugene, Ore., 5th Air Force, 23.
MAJOR FRED J. CHRISTENSEN, Watertown, Mass., 8th Air Force, 22.
COL. NEEL E. KEARBY, Dallas, Texas, 5th Air Force, now listed as missing in action, 22
COL. GLENN E. DUNCAN, Houston, Texas, 8th Air Force, is missing in action, 21½.
CAPT. JOHN J. VOLL, Goshen, Ohio, 15th Air Force, in Italy, 21.
MAJOR WALKER M. MAHURIN, Fort Wayne, Ind., 8th Air Force, 21.
MAJOR JAY T. ROBBINS, Collidge, Texas, 8th Air Force, 21.
LIEUT. COL. ROBERT B. WESTBROOK, Hollywood, Cal., 13th Air Force, Southern Pacific, 20.

LIEUT. COL. DAVID C. SCHILLING, Traverse City, Mich., 8th Air Force, 19.
COL. DAVID L. HILL, Victoria, Texas, 14th Air Force, in China, 18½.
CAPT. JOHN T. GODFREY, Woonsocket, R.I., 8th Air Force, a prisoner, 18.
LIEUT. COL. HERSCHEL H. GREEN, Mayfield, Ky., 15th Air Force, 18.
CAPT. DUANE W. BEESON, Boise, Idaho, 8th Air Force, 18.
MAJOR WALKER CARL BECKHAM, Defuniak Springs, Fla., 8th Air Force, a prisoner, 18.
MAJOR DON M. BEERBOWER, Hill City, Minn., 9th Air Force, in European theater of operations, 17½.
CAPT. JAMES S. VARNELL, Charleston, Tenn., 15th Air Force, 17.
CAPT. CYRIL F. HOMER, Sacramento, Cal., 5th Air Force, 17.
MAJOR EDWARD CRAGG, Cos Cob, Conn., 5th Air Force, missing in action, 17.
CAPT. GLEN T. EAGLESTON, Alhambra, Cal., 9th Air Force, 16½.
LIEUT. COL. WILLIAM N. REED, Marion, Iowa, 14th Air Force, 16½.

LIEUT. COL. RICHARD E. TURNER, [illegible], Okla., 9th Air Force, 16.
MAJOR SAMUEL J. BROWN, Tulsa, Okla., 15th Air Force, 15½.
MAJOR BILL HARRIS, Springville, Cal., 13th Air Force, South Pacific, 15.
C. T. RICHARD A. PETERSON, Alexandria, Minn., 8th Air Force, 15.

Fractional figures are given where more than one pilot helped in downing an enemy plane.

Stettinius Trip To London Is Indicated

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—The possibility arose today that Secretary of State Stettinius might go to London as a preliminary to a Big Three meeting.

British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden called for a re-establishment of "quarterly meetings of foreign secretaries" of the great powers in the House of Commons yesterday.

The British have clearly shown for some time their ardent wish to have a high Allied conference on their home ground, and it seems out of the question that Marshal Stalin would be willing to travel that far to meet President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in England.

Differences Bared

The flareups in Greece and Italy bared differences in Anglo-American policy toward liberated Europe, which both sides have expressed their interest in talking out.

Churchill told Commons that the Allies agreed on general aims, but that "whether there is complete agreement on every aspect of these matters is another question altogether."

Whether Stettinius will travel to London before the Big Three conference depends on Roosevelt, say well-informed sources.

Reorganization of the State Department with the new under secretary and assistant secretaries is expected to take much of the detailed tasks off Stettinius's shoulders, however, so that he can get away more easily.

May Meet Russians

In addition to the purely Anglo-American problems, it is considered possible that Stettinius may meet with Russian diplomats in London to lay the groundwork for Allied agreement on the question of voting procedure in the world peace agency.

This problem has been left open and authoritative quarters are convinced that a United Nations conference, which Washington is anxious to hold as soon as possible, could not be called until it is settled.

British anxiety to hold a conference on their own island was considered primarily a matter of prestige. There have been several demands from Parliament that the next meeting be held in the United Kingdom, which Churchill echoed in his last speech.

State Department Rally

Stettinius held a rally of State Department employés to meet his new top aides and hear a rousing pep talk.

The workers trooped down to Constitution Hall and took their seats while the Marine Band played.

Addressing everyone as members of his team, Stettinius charged diplomats and secretaries alike to take up where the armed forces leave off and "wage peace as we wage war." "Every day we are fighting battles for peace every bit as important as the battles of the war," Stettinius said.

First Such Gathering

It was the first time that the entire State Department staff of 2,500 employés had been brought together. Stettinius presented to them five men who, he said, were "second to none I know in character, ability and integrity."

They are Under Secretary Joseph C. Grew and assistant secretaries Nelson Rockefeller, Will L. Clayton, James C. Dunn and Archibald MacLeish.

ARMY CASUALTIES

Washington, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—The War Department announced today the names of 2,845 casualties in the European Area.

In all of these cases the next of kin have previously been notified and have been kept informed directly by the War Department of any change in status.

Included in the list today are the following with their next of kin:

Most Men To Infantry

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, the army ground forces commander, said today that the infantry is well past its stepchild days and now is getting not only the most but the best of manpower.

A new "profile system" of assigning draftees is credited with the improvement.

The Army, seeking to meet the changing conditions, put aside, several months ago, the original system of supplying the ground forces with men almost entirely on a numerical basis.

221944

Quota Under Old System

Under this system, a quota was fixed for ground forces—chiefly infantry—and whatever men were left after the Air Forces had made its draft on the pool were available for the other branches of the Army.

The new system classifies men both on their physical condition and mental co-ordination, a "profile" of their general adaptabilities for combatant and noncombatant service.

Lear, army ground forces commander, said:

"A high percentage of the top profiles go into the ground forces today—most of them into the infantry.

"The reason is that under the principle of first things first, it was necessary to place the Air Forces into operation ahead of the large masses of men on the ground who must fight for the final decision.

"Now that it has arrived at that stage, the final-phase force—the infantry—is getting the preference."

NEW 'G' SUITS HELP AIRMEN IN COMBAT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)

"G-suits" are the latest togs for Army and Navy fighter pilots.

Both services gave out this bit of military fashion news today, the Army announcement going into some detail on the garments designed to keep fliers from "blacking out" in steep dives and other maneuvers.

The Army's "G-suit"—the "G" is for gravity—is a pair of high-waisted pneumatic pants with built-in suspenders and girdle, and air bladders over the abdomen, thighs and calves.

The idea is to keep the blood from piling up in the lower extremities, and help the heart pump blood to the brain.

Compressed air from the plane's vacuum system inflates the bladders. Automatic valves control the pressure in relation to the gravity pull.

The War department said men wearing the suit had been captured by the enemy, so that news of it can be given out without harm.

The Army called its suit an improvement over one previously used by the Navy.

The Navy said when a fighter pilot makes a pass at an enemy the blood may be pulled away from his brain for 20 or 30 seconds under a pressure three or four times his weight. In pulling out of a dive he may for a few seconds under a pull eight or nine times the force of gravity. The Navy added:

"Under these circumstances his brain soon becomes foggy and his sight blurred. He is a 'sitting duck' for enemy pilots."

The announcement came shortly after the Canadian Air force disclosed that it has developed an anti-blackout suit. The Canadian outfit has been described as a thin rubber suit with a lining into which water or air is pumped before the flier goes into action.

'DOGGONED MAD' OVER BURIAL NOTE

Veteran Hikes From Arizona To Washington To Protest

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—A twice-wounded veteran of World War I has hitchhiked here from an Arizona veterans hospital to protest against a letter to his mother discussing burial plans "in the event of your son's death."

Fred Wesley Thomas, 44, said the letter was written from the Veterans Administration office at Whipple, Ariz., and made him "so doggoned mad" that he left the hospital and returned to his Passaic (N.J.) home where he found his mother "ill from worry." From there he came on to Washington.

Congressmen Come And Go

Thomas added that when he informed hospital officials of his intention of protesting in Washington about the letter and what he termed "deplorable treatment" of veterans in the hospitals, he was told "remember there'll always be a veterans hospital but congressmen come and go."

Before entering the hospital a year ago because of heart trouble, Thomas said, he worked as a locksmith in Knightstown, Ind.

Thomas told his story to Representative Wilson (R., Ind.), who termed it "proof of the deplorable conditions in veterans hospitals." Wilson said he intended to introduce legislation to provide additions to city and county hospitals throughout the nation for exclusive use of veterans.

A spokesman for the Veterans Administration declined immediate comment.

"According To Regulations"

Whipple, Ariz., Dec. 21 (AP)—Dr. Grover C. Daniel, manager of the Veterans' Hospital here, said today that Fred Wesley Thomas, 44-year-old former patient, had asked officials to notify his mother regarding veterans' death benefits after he learned he was critically ill of a heart ailment.

"The letter was in the usual form and written according to regulations," Dr. Daniel asserted. "It outlined the rights to which Thomas is entitled as a veteran and what benefits were available to next of kin in the event of his death."

Naval Ordnance Expansion Bill Signed

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed legislation today authorizing a $50,000,000 expansion in naval ordnance production facilities.

The House Appropriations Committee said in its report on the measure that increased requirements of the Army Air Service for rocket bombs would exhaust previous authorizations for new facilities.

Roosevelt Signs Bill Extending War Powers

Increase in Congressmen's Allowances Also Approved

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP).—President Roosevelt today signed legislation extending through 1945 the extraordinary powers voted him by Congress at the outbreak of war.

The bill—a renewal of the second war powers act which cradles the authority for industrial priorities, rationing, food control and other emergency war activities—was rushed through the closing days of the Seventy-eighth Congress. Without its approval, the Administration's authority for war regulations would have ended with the close of this year.

He also signed a bill increasing the amount of money Congressmen can spend to staff their offices. The measure raises from $6,500 to $9,500 the annual clerk hire amount for members of the House and authorizes the Senate to raise maximum salaries of committee experts from $4,500 to $5,040. In addition it adds $4,020 for the clerk hire allowance of Senators from states of 4,000,000 or less population and $5,040 for Senators from larger states.

Ickes Defends Stand On Jap-Americans

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Interior Secretary Ickes said today that loyal Japanese-Americans will have the "full force of the Government behind them" in their efforts to reestablish themselves as American citizens.

At his news conference he said the War Department had rescinded the West Coast exclusion order recently because "it was the proper time to do so." He said most Japanese-Americans, with the exception of those in the Tule Lake segregation center had set an "astonishing record for loyalty."

"There has not been a single case of sabotage," he added.

IckesShuns'Anti-Franco' Rally

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP).—Interior Secretary Ickes said today he has declined an invitation to speak at what he described as "an anti-Franco" meeting in Madison Square Garden Jan. 2. "I would like to express my opinions of the gentleman (chief of the Spanish government)," Ickes told his news conference, "but because of my official position I do not believe that I should do so." He did not say who invited him to the New York meeting.

One Of 8 Soldiers Wants Little Business Or Farm

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—One out of every eight soldiers at home and abroad wants to operate a little business or farm after he leaves the Army, a War Department survey showed today.

Under the "GI Bill of Rights," veterans may borrow up to $4,000 to obtain a farm or business with the Government guaranteeing half of the loan.

INDUCTION MACHINERY STOPPED FOR HOLIDAYS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP) The Army will suspend its draft induction machinery for Christmas and again for New Year's.

The War department announced today that on December 24 and 25 and again on December 31 and January 1 "there will be no pre-induction physical examinations, no inductions of Selective Service registrants and no transfer" of inductees to their stations.

Paul Porter Sworn In As Chairman of F.C.C.

To Hold Post Until Nomination Is Sent to New Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP).—Paul Porter, Democratic National Committee publicity chief during the fall campaign, took the oath under a recess appointment today as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

The White House said Mr. Porter was given the temporary appointment so he could have the benefit of the experience pending resubmission of his formal nomination to the new Congress convening next month. The Senate in the Congress just adjourned failed to act on the original nomination. The post formerly was held by James Lawrence Fly, who resigned.

FDR'S CHRISTMAS PLANS REVEALED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP) A scroll of President Roosevelt's D-Day prayer for victory over the "unholy forces of our enemy" was his Christmas gift today to White House employes.

More than 300 executive office employes, guards and servants were given their presents early so President and Mrs. Roosevelt might enjoy their own yuletide quietly with their only daughter and a few grandchildren. None of the four uniformed sons will be at the Presidential fireside.

As workmen began putting in place the wreaths, mistletoe and poinsettias, for the holiday decorations, the President and First Lady received first more than 250 members of the office staff.

Besides a handshake and oral greeting, each received a 21 by 14 inch scroll, engraved in black, gold, red and blue letters that began "D-Day prayer by President Franklin D. Roosevelt from the White House, June 6, 1944," and ended "Christmas, 1944—from FDR."

Each employe also was given a Christmas card with a picture of the White House on it and the following: "With Christmas greetings and our best wishes for a Happier Nineteen Forty-five. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt."

Later in the day members of the White House police force, chauffeurs, cooks, maids and other employes of the living quarters were similarly greeted in the big mirrored east room. A huge tree trimmed with white streamers, white lights, and imitation snow was the immediate magnet for their children. Toys and candy were piled high beneath its branches.

Guests for the family dinner Christmas Eve—followed by the Presidential reading of Dickens Christmas Carol—and for stocking hunting the following morning will be:

The Roosevelt's only daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger and her three children, Eleanor, Curtis and Johnny; and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and her children, Franklin D. III and Christopher.

The customary community Christmas tree exercises will be held in the south grounds, beginning at 4:15 Eastern War Time Sunday. The public is invited to watch the lighting of a huge live Norway spruce.

At 5:15 p.m., the President will broadcast a Christmas message to this group, the nation, and the armed forces all over the world.

ALLIED POLICY IS DEBATED

Town Hall Speakers Argue O "Hands-Off" Attitude

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Representative John M. Coffee (D., Wash.) said tonight "it would appear that Churchill favors bringing back to Italy the House of Savoy, King Peter to Yugoslavia and Kin George to Greece."

Sir Norman Angell, 1933 Nobel peace prize winner, debating with Coffee and others in Town Hall the subject, "Should the Allies Maintain a Hands-Off Policy in Liberated Countries?" contended that a universal hands-off policy was fraught with many difficulties.

Discussing the Polish question, Angell asked whether we should "proclaim high principles and then make it clear that we are going to do just nothing about them so far as Russia is concerned?"

"Disastrously Destructive"

"Far from helping political morality, that kind of attitude is disastrously destructive of all political sincerity and honesty," Angell said in his prepared address. "Yet that is about what we—especially we liberals this last few weeks—have done.

"Both in Britain and the United States the most savage and violent attacks have been concentrated on Churchill as though it were his government that had partitioned Poland, replaced its Government, suppressed three republics, banished great sections of their populations to the Arctic.

"The effect of this concentration of blame upon Churchill and the virtual exoneration of Russia has been to make all but impossible Churchill's task of attempting by negotiating with Poland to save something from the wreck of Poland".

Other Speakers

Coffee said in his prepared address that "the liberated peoples of the world must not be cheated of their opportunity for freedom now" and declared: "No nation should undertake to boss another."

"We, in America, are not fearful of the common people," he said. "We in America, are not eager to ressurrect the effete monarchies of Europe, unless the majority of peoples in the liberated countries insist on the restoration of kings."

Other speakers on the program, broadcast over the Blue Network (8.30-9.30 P.M., E.W.T.), were Authors Frank Kingdon and Jay Allen.

Allen's Retort

Dr. Kingdon said "it is our business to set peoples free, and then to let them work out their own destinies through the exercise of their freedom."

Allen said "hands-off by one and you'll have hands-on by others."

CONGRESS LEADERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(AP) Republican leaders of the Senate and House conferred today with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., and mapped plans for vigorous opposition party.

The all-day meeting was the first of a series to be held on party policy and put Dewey, the G.O.P. presidential nominee who was defeated in November, in an active role as titular leader of the party.

Those who conferred with Dewey and Brownell in Dewey's suite at the Hotel Roosevelt were Senator Kenneth S. Wherry of Nebraska, Republican whip; Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Massachusetts, Republican minority leader; Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan, chairman of the Republican Senate Conference; Senator Wallace H. White, Jr., Maine, Republican Senate floor leader; Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio, chairman of the Republican Steering committee in the Senate; Representative Roy O. Woodruff, Michigan, chairman of the House Republican Conference, and Representative Charles A. Halleck, Indiana, chairman of the National Republican Congressional committee.

The meeting, held quietly, followed Brownell's announcement earlier today that the Republican National committee would meet Jan. 22 in Indianapolis "to authorize a vigorous, progressive, all year-round program of party activity."

Although there was no official statement of the objective outlined today, one source described it as "the building of a firm foundation for political expression of 22,000,000 American voters." That figure approximated Dewey's popular vote.

Dewey and the conferees, it was learned, discussed the formation of a continually functioning national organization and coordination of the views and activities of Republican leaders in both houses, the National committee and Republicans generally.

Cushing Bids Company Heads Help Heal 'Broken Lives'

BOSTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—American employers can become "true craftsmen" in helping to mold the "broken lives" of American service men wounded in action, Archbishop Richard J. Cushing said today.

The head of the Catholic Archdiocese of Boston, appearing before the Boston Chamber of Commerce in his first public address since his recent elevation, said it would be "the most natural temptation" to turn away men who came back maimed in body, but he asked the members to remember that "a handicap may often be the incentive that will drive them on to even greater accomplishment than they might otherwise have achieved."

The Archbishop said that the historian Francis Parkman could write only six lines a day, because of an eye affliction, that Charles Darwin wrote the "Origin of Species" during forty years of ill health and that Robert Louis Stevenson, "dogged by tuberculosis, could have become a sour cynic throwing his pen away in futile disgust."

ARCHBISHOP HAILS WRITERS' METTLE

Boston, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—American employers can become "true craftsmen," Archbishop Richard J. Cushing said today, in helping to mold the broken lives of American service men wounded in action. The head of the Roman Catholic Church in New England told the Boston Chamber of Commerce in his first public address since his recent elevation: "It will be the most natural temptation to reject" men who come back maimed in body, but he asked the members to "remember that a handicap may often be the incentive that will drive them (the veterans) on to even greater accomplishments than they might otherwise have achieved."

The Archbishop said that Francis Parkman, the historian, could write only six lines a day, because of an eye affliction, that Charles Darwin wrote his epoch-making book, "The Origin of Species," during forty years of ill health, and that Robert Louis Stevenson, "dogged by tuberculosis, could have become a sour cynic, throwing his pen away in futile disgust."

Army Pipe Lines Product Of Accidental Discovery

Research Man Got Idea for Tubes Watching Rolling Mill

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio, Dec. 21 (AP).—Twenty years ago J. R. Freeze, a research man for the American Rolling Mill Company, watched a strip of thin steel come out of a rolling mill and curl until it formed sort of an open, spiral tube.

This strip had to be flattened again before it could be used—but Mr. Freeze wondered if he couldn't make pipe that way. And that was the beginning of the "pipe line to Berlin."

This "invasion pipe" or "portable pipe line" now carries petroleum products from rear areas to the front lines in Europe, Saipan, Burma and other war zones.

Mr. Freeze devised an automatic welding machine that sealed the edges together until the metal looked like a soda straw with a continuous spiral ridge re-enforcing it.

DEC 221944

When the war started the Army told Armco to start making this lightweight pipe, six inches in diameter and weighing only 150 pounds. A section then could be carried by two men and laid into a line with a socket wrench, plus a shovel if it was to be buried.

Mr. Freeze, manager of Armco's fabricating division, says the pipe now is being turned out at the rate of ninety inches a minute here and in numerous other company plants.

In the field Army engineers are installing it almost in the shadow of advancing troops—some times at a speed of seventy miles a day. The pipe, which got its first real test in North Africa, has been used in increasing quantities ever since.

"Three Messerschmitts wrecked the left side of our plane and the right side was turned into a shambles shortly afterwards by scores of another B-24's fragmentation bombs, four of which stayed sticking in the wings and stabilizer until we returned to our base," recalled the Bridgeport sergeant at the AAF redistribution station here. Fortunately, none of these bombs exploded.

The plane, with Sgt. Swetz suspended in its ball turret, had entered the bomb run over the enemy airdrome when three ME's attacked it from the tail.

"They made only one pass but wounded our right and left waist gunners, shot out our oxygen system, wrecked my ball turret and completely shot up the left side of the bomber," said the Bridgeport gunner.

"We continued on our run and had failed to notice that another Lib was directly over us, but became very much aware of the fact at 'bombs away'.

"We were caught in a cascade of 240 fragmentation eggs dropped by the Lib above us. Some hit our wings and bounced off, others went right through, and three stayed sticking in the wings and one imbedded itself in the stabilizer. Our plane was a mess, but we were all thankful that the bombs hadn't fallen far enough to be fused. That would have been bad," the Sergeant pointed out.

This damage added to that inflicted by the Messerschmitts knocked the bomber out of formation and it steadily lost altitude.

"We tossed out all our ammunition and guns and flak suits," explained the Bridgeport gunner, "and halted the bomber's fall at 9,000 feet. At this altitude we made it safely back to Italy, where we landed on an emergency field. Our pilot was given the Silver Star for bringing the ship back."

PARLEY HELD ON POLL TAX

Southern Editors Told Negroes Would Not Control Elections

Atlanta, Dec. 21 (AP)—A group of Southern editors and writers was told today by an Oklahoma Negro newspaper man that removal of voting restrictions in the South would not be accompanied by attempted domination of elections by members of his race.

Addressing an inter-racial conference sponsored by the committee of editors and writers of the South at a leading hotel, Editor Roscoe Dunjee, of the Black Dispatch at Oklahoma City, said if voting bans are removed "the Negro will join the white people in the South in doing the things that ought to be done in a democracy."

Speaker after speaker attacked enactments of eight Southern States setting up payment of the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting and other laws and practices described as a deterrent to Negro voting.

Nothing Up Their Sleeves

"We have nothing up our sleeves in calling this meeting, but I realize that attempts to discredit us are possible," said Chairman Mark Etheridge, publisher of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier Journal.

"I will be frank; our purpose is simple. Legislatures in seven of the eight poll-tax states will meet shortly and we frankly hope that this meeting will put useful information in the hands of editors and others who will do something about it."

Etheridge asserted that "I propose to continue coming to Atlanta whenever worth-while matters are up for discussion whether or not eight Negroes attended the all-day conference called by the committee, described as an informal and unaffiliated group.

Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia advised the committee upon receipt of an invitation that he was unable to attend. The Governor went to south Georgia to a friend's funeral. He has called for a separate study of the poll-tax question by Southern leaders.

Says It Is Vote Tax

Editor Jennings Perry, of the Nashville Tennessean, ripped into poll-tax restrictions with a statement that "something artificial has come between the people of the South and the ballot box."

"The poll tax is a vote tax—the price you have to pay to cast your ballot," he said. "It is a cost price fixed upon a priceless right. There is no question of right or wrong in this matter as the right to vote is fundamental in a democracy.

"I can no longer go on telling the people who may read my newspaper that we have a democracy in Tennessee."

1ST DIVISION MARINES RETURN FROM PACIFIC

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21 (AP) Battle weary Marines of the First Division, 1,539 in number, plus 37 wounded, arrived with 140 Navy casualties and an undisclosed number of Army personnel on a large transport here today from a rest camp in the Pacific.

These veterans, most of whom are from the East coast with a few Southerners among them, left the United States in April, 1942 and participated in the battles of Guadalcanal, Cape Gloucester and Peleliu, their last major operation.

The Red Cross served milk and cookies at the pier and presented each with a gift.

"That's the first fresh milk we've seen since Australia in 1943," one of the Marines exclaimed. The detachment, last of the ablebodied Marines to be evacuated from Peleliu, will go by troop train to the San Diego redistribution center. From there they will be given furloughs and sent home.

The Marines were virtually unanimous in describing the battle of Peleliu as "grim business."

"We saw Jap machine gunners chained to their pill boxes with only their right arms free," said Pfc. Bernard W. Martin, 20, of 133 Bailey St., Lawrence, Mass.

Navy's Christmas Gifts To Fly to South Pacific

Giant Liberator Bomber Loaded With Hard-to-Get Items

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 21 (AP).—Santa Claus's 1944 model sleigh—a giant Navy Liberator bomber loaded with thousands of Yule gifts, Christmas trees and decorations is ready for a flight to the South Pacific to brighten Christmas Day for Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

Loading of the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation plane was completed today through the combined efforts of Convair's maintenance department, the United Service Organizations, Office of Price Administration and Red Cross.

Included in the hundreds of packages are such hard-to-get items as 2,400 straight pins, 144 assorted safety pins, 180 assorted needles, a dozen scissors, countless games and other articles needed by American fighters.

Money for the gifts and trees was raised by the company maintenance department, augmented by a gift from the company. The U. S. O., O. P. A. and Red Cross helped to buy the items.

The returnee is the son of John Swetz, of Bridgeport. A veteran of 51 missions with the 15th Air force, he wears the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters and the ETO ribbon with three campaign stars. He entered the service in January, 1943, and was sent overseas in May, 1944.

LONDON, DEC. 21-(AP)-BRITISH ADMIRALTY OFFICIALS DUG INTO THEIR SECRET FILES TODAY TO DETERMINE WHETHER THE THREE BRITISH WIRELESS OPERATORS WHO TRANSMITTED THE HISTORIC ATLANTIC CHARTER MEMORANDA FROM THE BATTLESHIP PRINCE OF WALES WERE LIVING OR DEAD.

THE BATTLESHIP WAS SUNK BY JAPANESE PLANES OFF MALAYA DEC. 10, 1941.

BESIDES PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL, THEIR AIDES AND A HANDFUL OF HIGH-RANKING NAVAL INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS, WIRELESS OPERATORS WERE THE ONLY PERSONS TO SEE THE ACTUAL SERIES OF MEMORANDA SIGNED BY THE TWO LEADERS AND KNOWN AS THE ATLANTIC CHARTER.

EVEN IF THE ADMIRALTY FINDS THAT THE THREE BRITISH OPERATORS SURVIVED THE SINKING OF THE PRINCE OF WALES, THEIR IDENTITIES MUST REMAIN SECRET, A SPOKESMAN SAID. WHAT THE ADMIRALTY SOUGHT TO DETERMINE FIRST WAS WHETHER THE OPERATORS WERE OF THE REGULAR COMPLEMENT OF THE BATTLESHIP OR WERE AMONG THE PRIME MINISTER'S OWN RADIO PERSONNEL.

A BRITISH NAVAL SOURCE SAID THAT IF THERE WAS A COPY OF THE CHARTER MEMORANDA, IT WOULD BE IN THE ADMIRALTY ARCHIVES UNDER A FILING HEAD MARKED "MOST SECRET," AND THAT ONLY CHURCHILL COULD ASK FOR ITS RELEASE.

ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT WES GALLAGHER, IN A FRONT DISPATCH, EXPRESSED THE VIEW THAT TWO DAYS OF CLEAR WEATHER MIGHT CHANGE THE ENTIRE COMPLEXION OF THE BATTLE.

IN A DISPATCH SENT LAST NIGHT AT 11:30 FROM THE STAVELOT SECTOR OF BELGIUM, HE SAID THE STRUGGLE "THUS FAR DWARFS THE TWO OTHER MAIN AMERICAN SETBACKS, AT KASSERINE PASS IN NORTH AFRICA AND AT THE RAPIDO RIVER IN ITALY."

DEC 221944

"MORE AMERICAN TROOPS ARE INVOLVED IN THIS STRUGGLE THAN IN ANY SINGLE BATTLE OF THE WAR," GALLAGHER WROTE. "THEY ARE OPPOSED BY THE MOST POWERFUL PUNCHING FORCE THEY HAVE YET ENCOUNTERED. THE PRI ON BOTH SIDES IS HEAVY."

HE SAID THE AMERICANS HELD FIRM YESTERDAY AGAINST A SERIES OF GERMAN ATTACKS ON THE NORTHERN FLANK OF THE GERMAN OFFENSIVE FRONT AROUND STAVELOT, 22 MILES SOUTHEAST OF LIEGE, BUT TO THE SOUTH THE ENEMY "SURGED FORWARD IN NEW ADVANCES, WITH THE END NOT IN SIGHT."

THERE WAS NO WORD ON THE PRESENT DEPTH OF THESE ENEMY PENETRATIONS. IN THAT AREA THEY WERE SAID TO HAVE RACED 18 OR 20 MILES INTO BELGIUM IN THE FIRST DAYS. GALLAGHER SAID STAVELOT WAS RECAPTURED YESTERDAY.

ALL ALONG THE LINE THE GERMANS WERE USING EVERY TRICK IN THEIR BAG. GALLAGHER SAID THERE HAD BEEN SEVERAL AUTHENTICATED CASES OF GERMANS WAVING WHITE FLAGS, ONLY TO OPEN FIRE WHEN AMERICANS PREPARE TO ACCEPT THEIR SURRENDER. SOME GERMANS WERE FOUND IN CIVILIAN CLOTHING. OTHERS USED CAPTURED SHERMAN TANKS TO APPROACH THE AMERICANS.

GERMAN PARACHUTE TROOPS DROPPED DEEP IN ALLIED TERRITORY AT THE BEGINNING OF THE OFFENSIVE STILL WERE GIVING TROUBLE. ONE AMERICAN COMMANDER SAID HIS MEN WERE FIGHTING A REGULAR INDIAN WAR--CREEPING THROUGH THE WOODS AND LOOKING BEHIND EVERY TREE.

ALTHOUGH THERE WAS NO DELINEATION OF THE JAGGED AND FLUID FIGHTING FRONT, INFORMATION RELEASED YESTERDAY SAID ST.VITH AND ECHTERNACH, TWO FOCAL POINTS OF THE ENEMY OFFENSIVE, REMAINED IN AMERICAN HANDS. ST.VITH IS FOUR MILES INSIDE BELGIUM. ECHTERNACH LIES ALONG THE GERMAN-LUXEMBOURG BORDER. AMERICANS WERE REPORTED SURROUNDED AT A NUMBER OF POINTS.

(GERMAN BROADCASTS DECLARED LAST NIGHT THAT "SEVERAL" ALLIED DIVISIONS HAD BEEN RUSHED FROM THE AACHEN AND SAAR FRONTS IN AN ATTEMPT TO STEM THE NAZI ADVANCES).

GERMAN SUCCESSES ALSO WERE REPORTED LAST NIGHT ON THE U.S. SEVENT AND FRENCH FIRST ARMY FRONTS.

A COUNTERATTACK FORCED THE AMERICANS TO WITHDRAW FROM [illegible] BUNDENTHAL, TWO MILES INSIDE GERMANY NORTHWEST OF WISSEMBOURG. THE GERMANS ALSO INFILTRATED BACK INTO THE TOWN OF BERG NEAR THE RHINE.

THE FRENCH LOST THE TOWN OF GOLSHIEIEM, NORTHWEST OF COLMAR, ON THE RHINE PLAIN. SOME 35,000 GERMANS STILL IN THAT POCKET WEST OF THE RHINE IN FRANCE WERE BELIEVED TO BE FIGHTING UNDE THE PERSONAL COMMAND OF GESTAPO CHIEF HEINRICH HIMMLER.

BUT MCCONNELL'S EXPERIENCE WAS ONLY ONE OF THE SCREWY ONES PRODUCED IN A HURRY WHEN THE GERMANS LAUNCHED THEIR FIRST MAJOR COUNTERATTACK SINCE AVRANCHES. TAKE CAPT. GLENN W.ZARGER, OF CHAMBERSBURG, PA., FOR EXAMPLE, BATTALION EXECUTIVE OFFICER WHO WAS SURROUNDED TWICE IN TWO DAYS. HERE'S HIS STORY:

"ON SATURDAY I WENT DOWN TO G COMPANY AND AFTER I GOT THEIR I FOUND WE WERE SURROUNDED. WE SAT TIGHT AND LATE THAT AFTERNOON SAW ABOUT 14 YANKS COMING ALONG THE ROAD WITH SOME JERRIES BEHIND THEM. AT FIRST WE COULD NOT TELL WHO HAD MADE PRISONERS OF WHOM, BUT SOON IT APPEARED THAT ABOUT 40 TO 50 KRAUTS HAD ABOUT 15 TO 20 OF OUR BOYS PRISONER AND WERE TRYING TO USE THEM AS A SHIELD TO TRY TO GET BACK TO THEIR OWN LINES.

"WE WAITED UNTIL THEY WERE ABOUT 30 YARDS AWAY AND LET THEM HAVE IT. WE KILLED A DOZEN OR MORE WITH THE FIRST VOLLEY AND THE REST OF THE GERMANS AND THE AMERICAN PRISONERS DIVED FOR DITCHES."

CORP. JOHN BIELECKI, OF LONG ISLAND CITY, N.Y., ONE OF THOSE PRISONERS, TAKES THE STORY ON FROM THERE:

"WHEN G COMPANY OPENED UP, WE ALL DIVED BEHIND A STONE WALL ON THE SIDE OF THE STREET TOWARD THE MILL WHERE THE YANKS WERE. WE LAID THERE FOR ABOUT TWO HOURS WITH OUR GUYS FIRING OVER OUR HEADS ONE WAY AND THE GERMANS FIRING BACK FROM THE DITCHES.

"OUR MEN KILLED PLENTY OF THEM WHILE WE SWEATED IT OUT BEHIND THAT WALL PROTECTED FROM OUR OWN FIRE BUT NEVER SURE WHEN THE GERMANS ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE ROAD MIGHT OPEN UP ON US FOR SPITE."

BUT AFTER THIS FIGHT HAD RAGED NEARLY THREE HOURS, SOME AMERICAN TANKS CAME ALONG AND DROVE THE GERMANS AWAY AFTER PERHAPS 30 HAD BEEN KILLED BY ABOUT 35 YANKS IN THE MILL WHO HAD ONLY THREE MEN WOUNDED.

AFTER THE TANKS HAD DRIVEN THE ENEMY AWAY, BIELECKI AND HIS COMPANIONS REJOINED THE AMERICANS.

THE WHOLE WAR IN THESE PARTS SINCE THE GERMANS LAUNCHED THEIR ATTACK ACROSS THE SAUER (CQ) RIVER HAD A STRANGE QUALITY ABOUT IT. AMERICAN UNITS HAD BEEN GETTING SURROUNDED REGULARLY BUT ERE GETTING OUT OF THESE SITUATIONS AND KILLING MANY GERMANS IN THE PROCESS.

FOR EXAMPLE, LT. RICHARD L.COOK, OF PORTAGE, WIS., WAS A PLATOON LEADER IN A TOWN SURROUNDED BY THE FIRST THRUST. HE SAID:

"THE GERMANS SWARMED ALL OVER TOWN AND JUST DID NOT SEEM TO HAVE GOOD SENSE ABOUT THE WAY THEY EXPOSED THEMSELVES. FOR THE FIRST THREE DAYS THEY MADE NO DIRECT ATTACKS ON US BUT THEY KEPT CROSSING STREETS AND MOVING IN AND OUT OF BUILDINGS WITHOUT SEEMING TO CARE. WE KILLED THEM BY THE DOZENS. I AM SURE WE KILLED MORE THAN 100 BETWEEN SATURDAY AND TUESDAY AND UP TO THAT TIME OUR CASUALTIES WERE ONE MAN WOUNDED. ON TUESDAY AFTER THEY BEGAN TO PUT THE PRESSURE ON I MADE A RUN OUT OF TOWN IN A JEEP AND AS FAR AS I KNOW, WE ONLY WERE FIRED ON BY ONE TANK."

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, PARIS, DEC 21-(AP) IT WAS ANNOUNCED OFFICIALLY LAST NIGHT THAT HEREAFTER POSITIONS OF GERMAN AND ALLIED ARMIES WILL BE MADE PUBLIC ONCE DAILY--AFTER A SUFFICIENT TIME LAG TO MAKE SURE THE ENEMY WILL GET NO BENEFIT FROM THE INFORMATION.

THE DECISION WAS ANNOUNCED AFTER PROTESTS FROM ALMOST ALL THE ALLIED WORLD OVER RECENT SUPPRESSION OF NEWS CONCERNING GERMAN GAINS ON THE WESTERN FRONT.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS EXPLAINED THE NEWS BLACKOUT HAD BEEN IMPOSED BECAUSE OF THE FLUID MILITARY SITUATION AND THE BELIEF BY ALLIED GENERALS THAT INFORMATION ON TROOP POSITIONS, EVEN IF IT WERE DAYS LATE, MIGHT HELP THE GERMANS.

IT WAS INDICATED THE TIME LAG IN ANNOUNCEMENTS HENCEFORTH PROBABLY WOULD BE BETWEEN 24 AND 48 HOURS.

BY WILLIAM F.BONI (370)

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS BLOCKING A GERMAN SALIENT, DEC 20-(DELAYED)-(AP)-I SET OUT TODAY TO TRACE A FEW OF THOSE RUMORS WHICH ALWAYS POP UP WHEN THERE IS AN ENEMY COUNTEROFFENSIVE OR EVEN COUNTER ATTACK, AND INSTEAD WOUND UP AMONG SOME OLD FRIENDS. I FOUND THEM WITH THEIR PARTICULAR SITUATION WELL IN HAND.

THEY WERE HOLDING ONE-HALF OF THE NORTHWEST CORNER OF THIS PARTICULAR GERMAN SALIENT, ONE WHICH WAS ACHIEVED BY ARMOR WHICH DROVE TO STAVELOT BEFORE ENCOUNTERING A STIFF CORNER BEING HELD BY ANOTHER SEASONED OUTFIT WHICH, WITH THE AID OF TANKS, IS HANGING ON TO STAVELOT AND ALSO HELPING TO PUT SERIOUS DENTS INTO THIS PRONG OF THE PANZER ATTACK.

IT WAS RATHER A SURPRISE TO FIND THIS UNIT SO EASILY, SINCE THERE WERE TWO VILLAGES IN BETWEEN WHERE, ACCOORDING TO SOME REPORTS, THERE SHOULD HAVE BEEN CONSIDERABLE SCRAPPING WITH ROVING BANDS OF GERMANS. INSTEAD, ABOUT THE ONLY ACTIVITY THERE WAS THE WITHDRAWAL OF SUPPLIES FROM A SECTOR OF POSSIBLE, IF NOT ENTIRELY LIKELY, FIGHTING.

IN A COMMAND POST SET UP IN A MODEST FARMHOUSE JUST OFF THE ROAD I FOUND LT.COL.WALTER F.WINTON OF NASHVILLE TENN., MAJ.THOMAS B.KETTERSON OF HOUSTON, TEX., AND CAPT.IRVIN BUSHMAN OF 3355 DESOTO AVE., CLEVELAND HEIGHTS, OHIO.

WINTON MAPPED OUT THE SITUATION, SHOWING HOW TROOPS HAD GONE INTO THE LINE, MET THE GERMAN PANZERS HEADON WITH SOME SUCCESS AND WERE ATTEMPTING TO THROW ENEMY ADVANCE ELEMENTS BACK ACROSS A BEND IN THE AMBLEVE RIVER.

THE FORWARD COMMAND POST WAS A COUPLE OF MILES UP THE ROAD CLOSER TO THE GERMANS. WE TOOK OFF FOR THERE IN HOPES OF HAVING A WORD WITH THE GENERAL. BUT WHEN WE GOT THERE CAPT.KARL R.PRICE OF MIDDELSBORO, KY., EXPLAINED THE GENERAL WAS IN CONFERENCE WITH REGIMENTAL COMMANDERS ON FURTHER PROGRESS OF THE BATTLE WHICH WE COULD HEAR UNROLLING FARTHER UP THE VALLEY.

ON THE RETURN TRIP WE SAW ANOTHER INCIDENT TYPICAL OF THE CURRENT

SITUATION. IN A SMALL TOWN I NOTICED TWO YANK SOLDIERS WITH RIFLES TRUDGING ALONGSIDE A CIVILIAN WHO APPARENTLY WAS THEIR PRISONER.

WE ASKED THEM WHAT WAS UP AND THEY EXPLAINED THE MAN WE THOUGHT WAS THEIR PRISONER ACTUALLY WAS GOING TO POINT OUT WHAT HE CLAIMED WAS GERMAN SOLDIER IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES. THE BELGIAN TOOK THEM TO A CROSS STREET WHERE THREE BELGIAN POLICEMEN WERE CHATTING AMICABLY WITH TWO CIVILIANS. THE BELGIAN SINGLED OUT ONE OF THEM.

THE SOLDIERS ASKED A QUESTION OF ONE OF THE BELGIAN POLICEMEN. HE NODDED HIS HEAD TOWARD THE SUSPECT, SHRUGGED HIS HOULDERS AND SAID: "NO, HE IS ONLY A REFUGEE FROM SAIT VITH."

BUT THE AMERICANS WERE TAKING NO CHANCES. THE LAST WE SAW THEY WERE MARCHING THE MAN BETWEEN THEM IN THE DIRECTION OF MILITARY POLICE HEADQUARTERS.

A U.S.PHOTO RECONNAISSANCE BASE IN FRANCE, DEC.13-(DELAYED)-(AP)-TWO CREWMEN HEROICALLY SACRIFICED THEIR LIVES RECENTLY BY RIDING A FLAK-CRIPPLEE NIGHT PHOTO RECONNAISSANCE HAVOC PLANE TO A CRASH LANDIN IN THE MISTAKEN BELIEF THEY HAD A WOUNDED GUNNER ABOARD.

THEY WERE LT.GORDON HULSE, 138 MELROSE AVE., NEEDHAM, MASS., PILOT, AND LT.WILLIAM LEAVENWORTH, 1000 SOUTH GRANT AVE., CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., NAVIGATOR AND PHOTOGRAPHER.

UNKNOWN TO THEM, THE GUNNER, SGT.CLAUDE H.WHITEMAN, PLYMOUTH, IND., ACTUALLY WAS NOT WOUNDED BUT HAD SAFELY BAILED OUT AS THE PLANE FLUTTERED BACK TOWARDS ITS BASE ON ONE GOOD ENGINE AND SPLIT IN HALF WHEN IT WAS FINALLY GROUNDED AT THE BASE.

HULSE AND LEAVENWORTH COULD HAVE BAILED OUT BUT THEY THOUGHT WHITEMAN WOULD BE UNABLE TO GET OUT OF THE PLANE.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE HAVOC'S FILM SHOWED THE CREW ON THEIR FATAL MISSION HAD UNCOVERED 14 GERMAN ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN POSITIONS.

PATTON'S ARMY SLOWS DOWN NAZI ADVANCE WITH FIERCE TTACK ON SOUTHERN FLANK; GERMANS MASSING ARMOR FOR NEW BLOWS

DEC 23 1944

ENEMY OFFENSIVE POUNDS 40 MILES ACROSS BELGIUM

NORDNESS

Assault Bursts Through Luxembourg Cutting Allied Supply Routes.

DRIVE ON SEDAN

Brunt of Fighting Shifts to Flanks, Situation Stabilized.

PARIS, Dec. 22.—(AP) The violent German Winter offensive spent much of its force today after pounding 40 miles across Belgium in seven days, bursting through Luxembourg and rolling up near Arlon, only 10 miles from the French border 40 miles east of Sedan.

(Late German broadcasts said that a "fierce" attack from the south by Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army today "succeeded in slowing" the advance and that the brunt of the fighting had shifted to the flanks.)

Field dispatches reporting that the enemy advance had slowed down, said, however, the Germans were believed massing armor for renewed blows and Gen. Eisenhower called on Allied armies to turn the whole "great gamble" into the enemy's "worst defeat."

Drive Sweeps Ahead

Supreme headquarters and field dispatches gave this picture of the sweep of the German drive from Tuesday noon—when the Germans were 32 miles inside Belgium—to Wednesday noon, keeping events of the last 48 hours under a security blackout:

NIGHT

The most powerful wedge of Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's offensive slashed through Luxembourg and by late Wednesday had cut major roads north, south and east of the key road center of Bastogne, inside Belgium four miles west of Luxembourg's border.

This force then lanced on 13 miles northwest across the Ourthe river to La Roche, 32 miles inside Belgium and about 15 miles south of the northern flank west of Stavelot. Heavy fighting raged at La Roche.

German armor which by-passed Bastogne headed on west for an undisclosed distance.

In the break through Luxembourg, an American force was encircled at Wiltz, in the northern part of the duchy line miles east of Bastogne. The Americans still held out inside the town. The Germans had been reported nearing Wiltz Tuesday.

DEC 23 1944

A dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Edward D. Ball, still covering the situation up to Wednesday, reported there was brisk fighting in the areas of Bastogne and Arlon, important Belgian city on the Allied supply route leading down from Antwerp through Liege and Bastogne.

Spread of the fighting to Arlon broadened the front deep inside Belgium to some 50 miles.

Situation Is Stabilized

The situation was officially reported stabilized on the southern flank Wednesday around Echternach, in eastern Luxembourg near the German border, and one front dispatch said the threat to the little duchy's capital seemed to have subsided.

Advanced German forces were reported Tuesday to be about 14 miles northeast of the capital, and the push toward Arlon [illegible] day put the Germans about 13 miles away on the west.

All these developments were up to Wednesday noon.

On the basis of today's up-to-the-minute dispatches it appeared that the pace of the German advance westward also had been slowed, and that American lines were holding firm on both the north and south flanks.

Front dispatches describing the Germans' point of deepest penetration as 40 miles and reporting the slow-down of the enemy offensive apparently described the situation as it exists tonight.

On the extreme north flank in the Monschau sector, some 16 miles southeast of Aachen, furious fighting flared over the muddy, snow-covered hills and dispatches told of a massing of enemy strength in this area.

Roving German detachments, some times powered by more than 30 tanks, still were spearing through soft spots into rear areas despite heavy costs, but it appeared that the enemy high command was pausing and gathering strength for renewed blows.

Some of the heaviest fighting raged today on the northern flank east of Malmedy—along the route the Kaiser's armies struck on 1914—where for 24 hours the Germans banged without success against a Doughboy wall the that refused to give an inch.

Nazis Lose 200 Tanks

Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher said that this stubborn defense was slowly breaking the back of the German offensive and that at least 200 enemy tanks had been knocked out in the last five days, with reports far from complete.

The report that the enemy's offensive—which has brought the Allies own Winter drive to a halt—had lost a great deal of its force came from British-Canadian headquarters, which first reported yesterday that the push carried 32 miles inside Belgium up to Tuesday noon.

(The German communique tended to agree with this estimate in reporting that advanced elements had thrown several bridgeheads yesterday across the Ourthe river, seven to 12 miles beyond the Liege-Bastogne highway. This road was cut Tuesday at Werbomont, 32 miles inside Belgium.)

It would be premature to say that Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's scheme had failed, if he hopes to sweep across the Meuse river, some 65 miles west of the Belgian border, as some quarters believe, Associated Press Correspondent Roger Greene reported from British-Canadian headquarters.

But while he pauses to get his second wind, the Allies are gaining time, and time is a vital factor when every day sees Eisenhower's counter measures becoming stronger.

Flanks Hold Firm

Generally speaking, the northern flank was holding firm as veteran American troops moved into the lines, and the southern flank's situation was slightly improved although still confused.

Gallagher, reporting the bruising battle in the Malmedy sector, said the Germans had been hammering at a vital "elbow" east of there for 24 hours.

SS (Elite Guard) troops moved in to the attack at 5 a.m. today, he said, and by noon 19 German tanks had been knocked out in an area less than a mile square.

A captured trooper told Doughboys "the Germans are going to give Antwerp to Hitler as a Christmas present." To which one battle-grimed Doughboy replied: "the Fuehrer sure as hell is going to be disappointed."

DEC 23 1944

(Late Berlin broadcasts, reporting heavy fighting around Wiltz, in northern Luxembourg, and Consdorf to the southeast 14 miles from the duchy's capital, indicated this flank was being stabilized likewise. Supreme headquarters reported the Germans reached these points Tuesday.)

Clearing skies enabled the R.A.F. to fly more than 100 sorties, blasting German gun positions and strafing ground troops in support of the embattled Americans.

A front dispatch from AP Correspondent William F. Boni said that southwest of St. Vith — four miles inside Belgium in the path of the German offensive where American formations have been cut off—55 enemy tanks were knocked out in the last 24 hours.

(A Berlin broadcast claimed the capture of St. Vith).

Another front report said the Germans lashed out in an attack on a new sector 20 miles south of the city of Luxembourg, which would

Eisenhower, in his f ... rder of the day since the German ... opened their offensive last Saturday, summoned Allied armies "to destroy the enemy on the ground, in the air, everywhere—destroy him."

"The enemy," he said, "is making his supreme effort to break out of the desperate plight into which you forced him by your brilliant victories of the summer and fall."

Supreme headquarters issued an official denial that German parachute troopers had been dropped near Paris in the current offensive, but the announcement did not specify whether enemy agents might have reached the capital area by other means.

Supreme headquarters also announced that the Germans were laying down long-range artillery fire on the big Graves bridge, between Arnhem and Eindhoven, which feeds Canadian troops of the Nijmegen salient in Eastern Holland.

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Germans' winter offensive slowed down today after a 40-mile penetration of Belgium, field dispatches reported, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower called upon all his armies to administer a crushing defeat.

[The German high command said several spearheads crossed the Ourthe River, which at one point in its meandering course is seven miles west of Werbomont, the deepest previously announced point of the enemy's dagger-like wedge. At this point the river is about 30 miles from the Meuse at Namur and about sixteen miles south of Liege, also on the Meuse.

[The Ourthe is about 40 miles inside Belgium.

[The Germans also told of heavy fighting on both their flanks. They named the localities of Butgenbach and Lagleize, four miles northwest of Stavelot, as focal points on the north. Consdorf, southwest of Echternach, and Waldbillig, three miles northwest of Consdorf, were listed as centers of attack on the south.]

Eisenhower declared Field Marshal von Rundstedt had made a last great gamble in coming out of his fixed defenses and called upon every man under his command to turn the opportunity into the enemy's "worst defeat."

The offensive "will completely fail," he declared.

Rundstedt's "Last Great Gamble"

Supreme headquarters still imposed a 48-hour delay on announcements of the actual positions. The next announcement from headquarters was not to come until late this afternoon at earliest, up to Wednesday moon and it was to cover developments only up to Wednesday night.

But dispatches from the British-Canadian Army Group today reported the 40-mile penetration and said Rundstedt's smash had lost much of its momentum in the last 48 hours.

Another Associated Press reporter "with American armies on the Western front" said Rundstedt's mass breakthrough appeared blunted, at least temporarily, and that his armored spearheads were being forced to turn aside and slow down this morning.

Two Allied "Soft" Spots Penetrated

The same dispatch said, however, that groups of 20 to 30 Nazis tanks were able to make penetrations at two "soft" spots and that other roving bands of armor and infantry often did much damage behind Allied lines before they were wiped out.

The main direction of these random thrusts apparently was westward, with the hurriedly reinforced American north wall on the German flank turning aside all Nazi efforts to curl behind the main 1st Army positions in the Aachen area.

An apparent broadening of the German thrusts to the south was also reported, with one action developing at a point described as twenty miles south of the city of Luxembourg. Ten enemy tanks and two companies of infantry were involved in the action and were repulsed.

[This would be in or near the 3d Army front, apparently in the direction of Thionville above Metz.]

Situation In South Still Confused

The general situation on the south flank of Rundstedt's thrust was described as improved but still confused.

In the center of the battle area, an entire SS division was making a frontal attack on St. Vith, near the German border, which had been bypassed on two sides by German spearheads.

[The Germans declared St. Vith had fallen.]

Rundstedt was reported to be massing armor in the heart of his salient southwest of St. Vith, along with infantry and sizable forces of bicycle troops, with which he possibly intended to renew his punch.

Eisenhower said the German counteroffensive "may give us a chance to turn his great gamble into his worst defeat."

DEC 23 1944

Allies Make Speed Marches

Along the German north flank Allied forces had swung into action after speed marches across snow-topped mountains. Fierce tank battles had been fought, and cool veterans of river crossings all the way from the Volturno in Italy to the Moselle in France had mowed down waves of Germans attempting to force the turbulent Ambleve River. This north flank was firm.

Both sides were pouring tens of thousands of men into the critical phase of the battle every few hours as the intensity of the fog-shrouded conflict mounted.

[The German radio said the German high command had adopted a policy of secrecy like the Allies' and called it a "battle of silence."]

Fighting through fog, snow and mud, the Americans were cutting down Germans by the hundreds—and also taking heavy losses.

Fifty-five Nazi tanks were destroyed southwest of St. Vith yesterday, field dispatches said, when groups of roving armor were trapped here and there. However, these groups were often doing much damage.

Sixty Nazi Planes Seen North Of Metz

The tenor of front-line dispatches suggested that the German attack south of Luxembourg was one such roving mission. Third Army dispatches, however, said 60 German planes were spotted north of Metz last night.

The main axis of the German thrust was apparently still westward, with the Germans vainly endeavoring to curl their armored spearhead northward.

Unless Rundstedt succeeds in fanning out behind the main part of the 1st Army to the north shortly, it is possible that he will be confronted with a great weight of men and material bearing down on his right flank.

Some Nazi Supply Lines Cut

Already one Allied counteraction in the Monschau area, northern hinge of the German line, had cut nine miles into the German salient, reducing its base to 46 miles.

This attack had cut across some of the German supply lines from the road center of Schleiden. But the lines to the likely main bases of the German drive, such as Stadtkyll, Prum, Bitburg and Trier, were intact.

Elsewhere on the long Allied front almost no activity was reported.

Saar Front Quiet

The British-Canadian front remained quiet, as did the Saar River front of the 3d Army.

The 7th Army, fighting along the Wissembourg Gap near the Rhine, was up against a fifteen to twenty mile thick Siefried belt, and some of Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's men were fighting above the clouds in the Haardt Mountains in efforts to reduce pillboxes with walls made of six feet of concrete and one foot of armor.

Germans Drop More 'Chutists

More parachutists were dropped by the Germans, this time a few miles southwest of Habiemont, the westernmost point of penetration so far officially reported, an Allied communiqué said. This may have been near Werbomont, where dispatches said a Nazi force had cut the Liege-Bastogne highway.

One pocket of 500 parachutists was wiped out near a vital road junction after five days of fighting. The 'chutists had expected to be reinforced by German armor in 24 hours.

[A Blue network radio correspondent said this was southeast of Eupen, a Belgian communication center about ten miles behind the Allied lines.]

No-Prisoner Order Reported

Illustrating the ferocity of the German drive, one front-line correspondent said the commanding general of an SS division had instructed his troops to take no prisoners during the offensive except a few officers for questioning.

The weather continued to favor the Germans. Thick fog clung closely to the ground yesterday. Snow and mud made conditions even worse.

Allied aircraft, which might turn the tide of battle, were kept largely in idleness. RAF heavy bombers resorted to their night raiding technique, however, and dropped an estimated 1,800 tons of bombs through the fog in a daylight attack yesterday on the German town of Trier, an enemy supply funnel 26 miles northeast of Luxembourg city. The British flyers returned last night to the Rhine cities of Cologne and Bonn.

Although many American formations have been badly mauled and their supplies used up and lost, the Allies retain a superiority in men and materials along the Western front, said Associated Press Correspondent J. W. Gallagher. He expressed the view that the 1st Army setback did not result from any shortages of either men or material.

London, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—A German military spokesman said tonight that a "fierce" southern flank attack by Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army had "succeeded in slowing down" the Nazi offensive.

DNB, the German official news agency, dramatically interrupted its transmission of an operational message from the eastern front to flash this report of the opposition to Field Marshal von Rundstedt's advance.

Earlier the German High Command had said: "Our spearhead advanced further to the west and established several bridgeheads across the Ourthe River."

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Dec. 22—(AP) Gallantly resisting American troops already have done much to foil the Germans' "great gamble" in Belgium and Luxembourg, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared today in a fighting exhortation to his Allied armies to "destroy the enemy on the ground, in the air, everywhere—destroy him."

In his first order of the day since the Nazis blasted through the First army's lines last week end, the Allied commander-in-chief told his men that "the enemy may give us a chance to turn his great gamble into his worst defeat."

Hits German Methods

He charged the Germans with using "every treacherous trick to deceive and kill you," and called upon every Allied soldier to "rise now to new heights of courage, of resolution and of effort." The Allies, he declared, could not be content merely with repulsing the Nazi onslaught, but must crush the enemy.

Following is the text of the order:

"The enemy is making his supreme effort to break out of the desperate plight into which you forced him by your brilliant victories of the Summer and Fall.

"He is fighting savagely to take back all that you have won and is using every treacherous trick to deceive and kill you. He is gambling everything, but already in this battle your gallantry has done much to foil his plans. In the face of your proven bravery and fortitude, he will completely fail.

"But we cannot be content with his mere repulse.

Sees Chance for Big Defeat

"By rushing out from his fixed defenses the enemy may give us the chance to turn his great gamble into his worst defeat.

"So I call upon every man of all the Allies to rise now to new heights of courage, of resolution and of effort. Let everyone hold before him a single thought—to destroy the enemy on the ground, in the air, everywhere—destroy him!

"United in this determination and with unshakable faith in the cause for which we fight, we will, with God's help, go forward to our greatest victory.

Eisenhower's Order Of The Day

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP)—Following is the text of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's order of the day:

The enemy is making his supreme effort to break out of the desperate plight into which you forced him by your brilliant victories of the summer and fall. He is fighting savagely to take back all that you have won and is using every treacherous trick to deceive and kill you. But we cannot be content with his mere repulse.

By rushing out from his fixed defenses the enemy may give us the chance to turn his great gamble into his worst defeat. So I call upon every man of all the Allies to rise now to new heights of courage, of resolution and of effort. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"despite the desperate attempt of American leadership to master the situation."

Saying that the main brunt of the fighting now is on both flanks of the German drive, the broadcast declared that "particularly bitter fighting is raging on the southern flank where German spearheads, pushing toward the southwest had to defend themselves against fierce counterattacks by several divisions of the American Third army. The Americans admittedly have succeeded in slowing down the German advance by this flanking action."

Reiterating a claim that seven American divisions had either been destroyed or mauled, the radio named them as the Fourth, 28th and 106th infantry, the Seventh, Ninth and Tenth tank divisions and the 101st airborne group.

Earlier tonight, Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, German military commentator, said Von Rundstedt's "Winter offensive" was meeting with continued success and claimed that swiftly moving panzer divisions and motorized infantry were establishing bridgeheads on the west bank of the Ourthe river.

Part of the winding Ourthe is about seven miles west of Werbomont on the Liege-Bastogne highway, and is approximately 40 miles west of the Belgian border.

The Germans made no secret of the bloody fight being waged by the Americans along the entire front and acknowledged there was "very heavy fighting" on the northern and southern flanks. Another Berlin broadcast claimed the capture of St. Vith, important lateral communications hub behind American lines.

All the German radio reports said that pressure on the German flanks was bought by Gen. Eisenhower at the price "of sorely-needed combat divisions previously intended to bolster attacks on the Saar and Ruhr areas." A German communique claimed that on the Saar the Americans "had to evacuate bridgeheads near Dillingen and Ensdorf in order to release more formations."

"Eisenhower's dispositions show he is trying to remove the threat with available combat divisions," said the German military spokesman. "But he obviously is incapable of bringing up reserves from distant back areas to stop the fiery steamroller of German divisions.

"The tempo of German operations testifies this is no old-style offensive," the spokesman said. "The massive, unbroken wave of German divisions, fully screened on all flanks, has broken loose. For the time being, there is nothing to indicate just when the time will be ripe for a changeover from this compact form of warfare."

The German reports said the heavy flank actions "bear the mark of an all-out battle particularly on the northern flank of the German attack near Elsenbornnbut, Genbach and Lagleize." On the southern flank, Berlin said the Germans were engaged in very heavy fighting against forces near Waldbillig, Consdorf and Scheidger. These American forces, brought up from the Saar, have been reinforced continuously during the last 24 hours, broadcasts said.

Berlin claimed 25,000 American soldiers, including the commander of the Seventh garrison, have been taken prisoner, adding "the number of killed, and wounded American soldiers is many times the number of prisoners."

GERMANS REPORT DRIVE SLOWED BY FLANKING ACTION

R. WHEELER

LONDON, Dec. 22—(AP) A German military spokesman broadcast tonight that a "fierce" southern flank attack by Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army had succeeded in slowing down the German offensive.

The spokesman asserted, however, that, although slowed, Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt managed to gain some further ground against the American First army to the west and established several bridgeheads across the Ourthe River.

Part of the course of the winding Ourthe is about seven miles west of Werbomont on the Liege-Bastogne highway, which is the deepest German penetration reported by the Allies, and about 40 miles west of the Belgian border.

"All enemy attempts to hold our attacks in southern Belgium were smashed yesterday," said the Nazi communiqué.

"Allied Troop Shifts Forced"

The capture of St. Vith and its garrison was claimed.

Surprise attacks in central Luxembourg are also continuing successfully, the communiqué declared.

German successes, it said, have forced "enemy withdrawal of strong formations from other assault fronts."

Ensdorf Withdrawal Claimed

The Berlin radio said some of Allied forces shifted to meet the German threat were from the 3d Army sectors, where advanced American positions east of the Saar had been abandoned.

All the 3d Army's "available units have most probably been shifted to the threatened northern sector," said the broadcast, which asserted that one position east of the Saar that was abandoned was Ensdorf, near Saarlautern.

Prisoners taken by the Germans have mounted to 25,000, Berlin said. This was 5,000 more than claimed yesterday.

The broadcast admitted, however, that the fighting west of Stavelot was growing increasingly "hard and bloody."

The radio declared that General Eisenhower had thus far been unable to "create a coherent defense front in the Ardennes," where the German offensive has made its deepest penetration, and said the battle in that area was continuing with unabated fury.

The broadcast failed, however, to give any details concerning the progress of the fighting, declaring:

"The sole German comment on the sixth day of this gigantic battle of attrition is: A battle of silence."

The Germans acknowledged a setback on the French 1st Army front. They said the French had hurled two or three divisions into an assault aimed at cracking the Nazi lines northwest of Colmar and were making some progress.

200 Nazi Tanks Knocked Out Since Start of Counterattack

By WES GALLAGHER

MALMEDY SECTOR, Belgium, Dec. 22—(AP) American GI's who will not give up an inch nor surrender appeared today to be slowly breaking the back of the German Winter offensive by exacting appalling losses in German personnel and equipment.

Far from complete reports record the destruction of more than 200 German tanks so far.

Hammer Yank "Elbow"

For the past 24 hours Von Rundstedt has been hammering the Doughboys' vital defense "elbow" just east of here with tanks and infantry. A captured Nazi soldier told the Doughboys:

"We Germans are going to give Antwerp to Hitler as a Christmas present."

"The Fuehrer is sure going to be disappointed," one grimed infantryman observed.

This command post in a cellar is shaking to the thunder of artillery, both outgoing and incoming. Our guns are smashing at violent SS attacks a short way down the road. They started at 5 a.m. today and it is now noon. In those seven hours 19 German tanks were knocked out in an area less than a mile square. And this is just the focal point of one attempt to break through the northern flank of the German salient.

A high officer in the staff directing the battle on this sector of the front estimated 150 German tanks have been knocked out in the past five days. Another report from a unit which has been surrounded several days reported the destruction of 55 more of Von Rundstedt's panzers.

This toll came from only a fraction of the forces engaged on the sixty-mile wide breakthrough front.

American losses have not been light, but are small compared to those suffered by the Germans.

Prisoners are few. The SS is fighting to the last and the Doughboys are not surrendering. In the heavy snow which fell last night some of the most savage fighting of the war was taking place today on mountain slopes laden with thousands of dazzling Christmas trees.

Behind the lines it was estimated 500 parachutists who dropped at the start of the offensive now have been practically liquidated. The end came this morning when some Nazi parachutists sent word they needed medical attention and were ready to surrender.

Parachutists Wiped Out

American officers described Von Rundstedt's parachute attempt with regular troops as "completely abortive." This force did not include German soldiers dropped behind the American lines in American uniforms for the purpose of sabotage.

"We have been killing hundreds of them," Lt. Col. Robert F. Evans of Davenport, Iowa, a veteran from one battle-experienced force, declared. "It has been the three most satisfying days since we started fighting and that was a long time ago."

DEC 23 1944

Evans explained the German tactic was to attack several points with several hundred men and about a dozen tanks trying to find a soft spot at each point.

"Right now they are using about 30 tanks and several hundred men near this hill trying to get in behind it," Evans continued. "We suggested to the commander in the area that he withdraw to more advantageous ground, but he flatly refused. He is staying right where he is, although the Germans have infiltrated into the town where his command post is, and while he is directing the main battle, his headquarters guard is cleaning up the Germans outside the front door."

As the colonel finished Capt. Carl Oelze, Cleveland, Ohio, put down a telephone and said, "the colonel reports 19 of those tanks are knocked out and smoking and the German infantry is almost wiped out."

The weather in the last 24 hours has been too bad even for Hitler to make use of. When the breakthrough was first made German tanks went running wild on main roads and had little to fear from mud and the clouds which kept off an air attack. But now their advance is slowed and they must take to the fields and secondary roads to try to outflank the Doughboys' positions.

Tanks Stick in Mud

As a result the German tanks are now sticking in the mud and becoming sitting ducks for artillery. A heavy snowfall is covering this fighting front with three inches of white, furnishing an outline against which dark tanks and line against which dark tanks an uniforms stand out as targets.

Yesterday a 45-ton Panther tank waddled through a weak spot to a roadblock where it met an armored car under the command of Sgt. Francis DuFran of Stamford, Conn. Although an armored car attacking a Panther tank is like a mouse kicking an elephant, DuFrane started to maneuver his car when it bogged down. Undaunted, the sergeant with two others, Pvt. Jesse G. Alexander, Jr., of Derry, N. H., and Sgt. Sidney S. Haszard of Needham, Mass., grabbed bazookas and hid in a hedge.

When the Panther crew saw the armored car they shot a hole clear through it and then came closer to investigate. At this point DuFrane's bazookas cut loose. The Panther's armor was too thick to be pierced, but its gun was crippled. The tank hastily backed down the hill and started for its own lines.

The three GIs were so angry at having their armored car knocked out that they took after the tank on a run, carrying their bazookas. They pursued it a mile and a half, never quite getting close enough to shoot before they ran into the German lines and had to give up the chase.

behind them.

Today we completed the withdrawal from Berdorf, 17 miles northeast of Luxembourg city, as well as from Echternach, on the border, and stabilized lines inside the Duchy parallel with the Sure river which forms the border in this area.

The Germans used a few tanks inside Echternach, but in this sector they hadn't been extensively employed by the enemy, perhaps because heavy woods and steep hills combine with the mud to tie them to the roads where their offensive value is greatly diminished. Nazi infantrymen have been using infiltration tactics persistently to encircle American positions, but so far have been able to make an encirclement stick only in Echternach and much of our small garrison managed to slip through the ring even there after killing an amazingly large number of the attackers.

With northern Luxembourg overrun by the returning invader, the familiar scenes of 1940 are being reenacted with refugees fleeing in wagons, on bicycles and afoot.

This evacuation naturally was impromptu at first, but now is being organized by the Americans who are expediting the movement to rear areas and clearing civilians from towns behind the present lines.

These refugees which I have seen streaming along the roads in all sorts of vehicles jammed with all sorts of household effects from featherbeds to pianos seem to be strangely calm and collected, lacking any signs of hysteria. This presumably is because they feel, as the American soldiers do, that this is only a temporary setback and however bitter it may be to leave home at Christmastide it is not the hopeless sort of a departure some made in 1940.

This comparative optimism is particularly apparent among those leaving towns still inside American lines because many feel their homes will escape occupation by the enemy.

In the city of Luxembourg itself there is a crop of rumors about parachutists—none of whom has been officially reported in this area—and some uneasiness through the city.

It seems apparent now that the main effort is not being directed toward Luxembourg, although it is a fat psychological prize, but along the attack routes farther north.

Nazi Threat to Luxembourg City Subsides as Yank Forces Rally

By LEWIS HAWKINS

WITH AMERICAN FORCES NEAR ECHTERNACH ON THE LUXEMBOURG-GERMAN FRONTIER, Dec. 21—(Delayed)—(AP) The threat from the northeast to Luxembourg city which developed swiftly last Saturday morning seemed definitely to have subsided today as American defenders rallied quickly from their initial surprise.

Striking across the Sure river from the Siegfried defenses opposite Echternach the Germans moved up to three miles into Luxembourg within the first few hours of the dawn attack, and then were only about 15 miles from the capital of the Duchy.

Several American units were surrounded in this eruption along a front which had long been somnolent and for 48 hours it appeared to be touch-and-go whether the Nazis were going to recapture a liberated capital for the first time. But while infantrymen rallied and consolidated their lines, more infantry and armor were shoved in

BARE KNUCKLES AGAINST ARMOR

Yanks Rout Nazi Column With Bazookas And Grenades

By HAROLD V. BOYLE

Somewhere in Belgium, Dec. 22 (AP)—American infantry men fighting a powerful German armored column at close range with bazookas and hand grenades today sealed off the Western exit to the Ambleve River pocket after a slambang 48-hour battle.

During the struggle, the Americans destroyed eleven Nazi heavily armed vehicles, killed 120 of the enemy and took 26 prisoners.

"Our boys practically beat them back with their bare knuckles," said Lieut. Col. Warren Williams, of Sanford, N.C., describing the battle which kept large enemy forces from escaping across the Ambleve River.

One Of Bitterest Of The War

In midafternoon the remainder of the pocketed enemy column was fighting fiercely for its life across the narrow river. The wintry hills are ringing with the reverberating crack of tank and artillery fire and on the other side of the Ambleve you can see towers of smoke from bursting shells.

The battle to halt the enemy's armored thrust in this sector has been one of the bitterest engagements of the European war—one in which American infantry men, rushed in to halt the spreading Nazi advance, had to beat back a more numerous enemy equipped with heavier arms.

"They are first-rate German troops we met—the best they have," said Williams.

Streets Bear Marks Of Battle

The streets of this quiet Belgian village beside the turbulent Ambleve bear unmistakably the marks of the fierceness of the struggle.

Dead Germans sprawl grotesquely by the side of shattered vehicles where they had fought savagely even after being driven from their weapons. The vehicles knocked out were three .20-mm. flak guns, several half-tracks, a reconnaissance car with an .81-mm. mortar, two towed 105-mm. guns and two self-propelled guns.

"We cracked into them at night at the edge of this village and had to fight them with anything we had," said Williams. "We had a couple of tank destroyers, but our men knocked off most of these vehicles by going in with bazookas and hand grenades. We did not even have a single heavy machine gun with us when the battle started."

Flak Wagons The Worst

As we drove into town between lanes of smashed German artillery and the silent, ripped bodies of the mist-wet enemy dead, the doughboys who had taken the town from these slain men were being relieved.

In that line was Sergt. Al Vrabac, of Kansas City, Kan., who commanded the bazooka men whose sacrificial valor perhaps more than any other single factor was responsible for smashing the enemy drive.

"These three flak wagons were giving us the most trouble," he said. "They set them up right in the middle of the street and turned them against us. I had six bazookas when this thing started—now I only got two. But we knocked out those guns."

"Tossed Grenades Into Them"

"After the bazooka men shot holes in the vehicles, we ran up and tossed grenades into them and killed the German crews," said Sergt. Samuel D. Crenzo, of Ossining, N.Y. "One of our guys wiped out one gun crew with a grenade. Then he was wounded, but he went ahead and pulled the pin out of another grenade and gave it to his buddy to throw at another German half-track."

All the soldiers said their victory was due to the splendid leadership in the field of Lieut. Col. Willard E. Harrison, of Norfolk, Neb., whose wife now is living in San Diego, Cal.

A "Combat-Happy" Colonel

"He is combat happy—that guy," said Sergt. Michael Jalowey, of Woonsocket, R.I. "But he is the best colonel in the whole army."

Jalowey said the fighting was the most intense for a single action he had been in in four campaigns.

"I never missed a day in Africa, Sicily, Italy or Normandy—but this was the roughest I ever saw. When they pinned us down on those hard streets with those 20-mm. ack-ack guns bearing down on us, I didn't see how we could make it."

With Jalowey were Corporal Victor Parisi, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y.; Pfc. Harry McLaughlin, of Millinocket, Maine, and Corporal John Buhlman, of Detroit.

Want U.S. Flying Bombs in Action

GALLAGHER

WITH THE AMERICAN NINTH ARMY, Dec. 21.—(Delayed)—(AP) American troops being pounded by Adolf Hitler's V-weapons want to know when we are going to start tossing a few flying bombs back at the Germans.

"If we build better flying bombs than the Nazis why aren't we using them?" is the way one soldier put it after reading a story in the Yank newspaper "Stars and Stripes" to the effect that the American "Doodle" is better than the Germans V-bomb.

Weapons Are Powerful

American fighting men know the German secret weapons are no toys and cannot be dismissed with a shrug. Arguments that the weapons are indiscriminate do not impress the man in a foxhole, who may stop anything from a machine-gun slug to a 14-ton rocket.

To him it is all a question of accuracy. The rifle is more accurate than artillery, and artillery is more accurate than the flying bomb. But all have their place.

During recent weeks American and British troops in rear areas have been attacked by V-1's, V-2's and the latest V-weapon — which has been likened to heavy artillery. American troops who hear them droning overhead toward rear areas would like very much to hear them going the other way.

It is now no secret that flying bomb attacks upon London came closer to disrupting that great city's life than the 1940 air blitz ever did. The German attempt failed only because the Nazis did not have the air force to protect their bases and eventually had them over-run.

One of the main objectives of the American Air Forces is to choke Germany to death by paralyzing the Ruhr. As a result of the current German offensive the Ruhr certainly is no closer to our ground forces than it was three months ago. Many more months of hard fighting are in prospect before it feels the weight of Allied guns. At the same time winter is curbing the Allied air forces. But the worse the weather the better the flying bomb works, and every part of the Ruhr could be within range of Allied flying bombs. In all the world there probably is no better target for flying bombs than the German's jampacked industrial centers. Furthermore we have the planes to protect launching sites from aerial attack.

Psychological Effect Great

The value of the flying bomb is one-half damage and one-half psychological effect.

No factory can maintain full production with the workers' ears cocked for the drone of flying bombs night and day. Air raids, no matter how violent, end sometime, but the flying bomb offers a continuing menace around the clock, subjecting the populace to unending strain.

These psychological factors are recognized by men at the front, who have undergone artillery bombardment for days on end and know what it does to the nerves.

Roars Orders to Front Lines and Stems Attack of German Armor.

By HAL BOYLE.

An American Command Post Near Malmedy, Dec. 21 (Delayed) (A. P.).—If the Germans ever bust through this defense line they'll have to ride right over one of the most belligerent generals in the United States Army.

And if he ever heard any one say he was bossing a "defense line" he would skin them alive.

When the Germans tried to take advantage of heavy fog this morning and slice through American positions between Malmedy and Stavelot to relieve a large Panzer force trapped west of Stavelot, this General didn't sit in his room sifting various reports and weighing possibilities.

He moved right into the middle of his intelligence and operations staff and grabbed a field telephone leading to his most forward fighting men. And when this General gives commands things begin to happen. He is chunky and powerful and when he hollers it is hard for a listener to believe that his ordinarily slow, drawling voice could carry such an impact.

The General takes every forward German step anywhere along the American front as a personal insult. As for his own front—he simply won't concede the Nazis are punching at him. His theory is that his job isn't to halt Germans—it is to kill them or drive them back to Berlin.

When he had restored the situation to normal—that is, his men had killed some dozens of Nazis, destroyed five enemy-manned tanks and beaten away the rest of the attacking force—he relaxed long enough to give his battle philosophy "Hell, they aren't attacking me. I am attacking them. It's a defensive-offensive. We aren't just sitting here waiting for them."

Nazi Spies Enter U.S. Lines In Yank Garb

By Harold V. Boyle

Near Stavelot, Belgium, Dec. 21 [AP — Delayed] — German spies were inside the American Army's front lines today.

A captain and three privates wearing American uniforms drove along a forest road in a jeep. They halted near Capt. Fordyce Gorham, of Coudersport, Pa. Gorham, like all other soldiers, had been warned to watch for enemy troops or spies dressed in American garb.

But Gorham was busy with his own battlefield problems. He noted only that the man in the front seat wore a mackinaw and helmet with captain's bars, and that the other three soldiers—apparently privates—wore sweaters and carried rifles and carbines.

"Looking For My Tanks"

"I'm from blank corps," the strange officer said pleasantly. "I'm looking for my tanks. Have you seen some go along that road to the next village?"

"I hear some have, but you can't get across the river because the bridge is out," Gorham replied.

"How are things going?" the other captain asked casually.

Gorham gave him the usual army answer to such a question:

"All fouled up."

"Patton Has Broken Through"

30. 24 — 21457

"Well, I've heard some good news," the stranger said. "General Patton has broken through. In the last 24 hours he has broken way into the German lines with four armored divisions. He captured 11,000 prisoners and destroyed 250 vehicles."

"Whoopee!" Gorham shouted. "He's loose again!"

After a half-hour's conversation the stranger started to leave then stopped and asked—"Gotta cigarette?"

He lit the borrowed cigarette and drove away.

Things Begin To Pop

A little later, things began to pop. At the very edge of the front Private Theodore Watson, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was standing behind a stone farmhouse as American tank destroyers approached to engage a Nazi tank that had been firing into Yank positions.

Suddenly two jeeps sped up the road. From one jumped the men who had talked to Gorham a short time before. Four other men, also masquerading as American soldiers, jumped out of the other vehicle.

Watson, who is a medic and carries no weapons, became suspicious. And when he heard one of the strangers call to another in a heavy, worried German accent "Where is it?" he felt sure he was right.

"They're Germans!"

Jumping out he pointed to the eight men and yelled to doughboys in foxholes. "They're Germans!" The eight men, who apparently had been looking for the Nazi tank to guide them back to their own positions, took off like deer for the Germans lines.

"Shoot them, they're Germans!" Watson shouted. But because the fleeing men wore American uniforms the doughboys hesitated. They fired just as the eight men reached a woods, and wounded one of the Germans and two American soldiers near by. However, all eight Germans escaped.

When Gorham learned of the incident he recalled his own encounter with four of the spies and exclaimed ruefully:

"I'm a boy from the hills, and this time I was taken in by city slickers. Me—who's supposed to know about things like that!"

Anti-tank Forces Battled Eight Hours Against Germans Trying to Relieve Trapped Tanks.

By WILLIAM F. BONI.

Malmedy, Belgium, Dec. 21 (Delayed) (A. P.).—American infantrymen who from 4 A. M. until well into this afternoon were fighting German tanks close at hand heard on the radio the other day that the First Army had retaken Malmedy. They think that's queer — because they'd never lost it.

The unit was commanded by Lieut.-Col. Howard Greer of Baltimore. His adjutant, Capt. Charles Pritchard of Nelsonville, Ohio, told how troops under Capt. Joseph Reaser, Gettysburg, Pa., assisted by an anti-tank platoon under Lieut. Roy N. King, Lexington, Ky., fought to a standstill a superior German force whose tanks at one point fired at point blank range.

The Germans launched the attack well before dawn and found the going heavier than they had expected. They rolled off and swung into line again.

Making the most of dense mist and ground fog they wheeled tanks up for direct fire and finally forced the anti-tank platoon, which was the only link between the town and the troops, to pull back to high ground.

For six to eight hours Reaser's troops fought, although cut off from the rest of unit. Germans infiltrated though their lines at a few points and three or four tanks managed to bust through and overrun their 3-inch tank destroyers and some 57-millimeter anti-tank guns.

But King's anti-tank gunners, though their main weapons were lost, kept the Germans away—at the same time firing at enemy armor with bazookas. From batteries on the eastern side of town artillery liaison officer Captain Richard Trouth, Cincinnati, Ohio, called for all available supporting fire.

At the moment of greatest tension when it appeared the Germans would crash into Malmedy itself, Pritchard mustered headquarters clerks—communications platoon men from the message center, and others—and marched them down to take up frontline positions. Just then armored infantry from a supporting unit arrived and the headquarters personnel went back into what Pritchard smilingly described as "mobile reserve."

Mobile Reserves, incidentally, also is the name of a cute white pup with one black eye, which is the unit mascot and the property of Capt. Ralph Kerley, Houston, Tex., unit executive officer, who picked up the dog in France—where he also picked up the Distinguished Service Cross.

All this time men of Reaser's company and King's platoon were firing away at the Germans with all they had. Anti-tank gunners without their anti-tank guns managed to knock out one tank with bazooka fire, while supporting fire put four others as well as some American Mark X tank destroyers out of commission. Of the five tanks kayoed four were American Shermans.

As we were sitting there discussing the scrap, which had ended only shortly before with the Germans thrown back to their original lines, Operations Officer Capt. Edward Hill of 75-50 Kessel street, Forest Hills, N. Y., and myself heard that telephone communication finally had been restored.

A wire crew under Pvt. John Coen of Sandusky, Ohio, from the communications section run by Lieut. Jack Gollust of Cleveland, had turned the tables on the Germans by infiltrating their positions to get the line through.

Hill said that the prisoners told us their objective in attacking first was to seize the bridge. When that failed they swung over west with the aim of overrunning our artillery positions which had been raising havoc with interdicting fire on German supply lines, especially at crossroads.

The town itself, from what we could see of it, was carrying on with reasonable normalcy though perhaps a bit quieter than usual. As we came rolling downhill on a muddy back road and into the main street there was a woman busily scrubbing her front step.

Our guides were a towering former New York State trooper, Capt. Melvin Handville, Syracuse, N. Y., and Signal Corps Photographer Lieut. Thomas Daniel.

Along the road we noticed that a good number of machine guns were set up at odd corners, there men with bazookas and others were digging gunpits and foxholes.

Since there was no German artillery fire—so far that has been one supporting weapon they have lacked in the counter-offensive—we didn't think much about it. That is, until we got into the town and Handville said: "That road was under enemy machine gun fire last night."

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP)—Supreme headquarters issued an official denial today of a report current in Paris almost since the start of the German counteroffensive that Nazi parachute troopers had landed near the French capital.

"No paratroopers whatsoever were dropped in the vicinity of Paris," the statement said.

3 Nazis Trapped in Town They Believed Captured

Paratroopers Enter Monschau, Find Americans Waiting

AMERICAN 1st ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Dec. 22 (AP).—Ill, hungry and disgusted, three German paratroop officers were captured when they walked into Monschau after hearing a Nazi propaganda broadcast say that the town was in Nazi hands.

"You Americans are too bloody obstinate," sighed one of the Germans as he was taken off to an American Army hospital to be treated for pneumonia and trench feet. The officers and several hundred men had been dropped in the Monschau area almost a week ago, at the start of the German offensive.

Most of them were rounded up quickly. Others donned American Army uniforms or Belgian civilian clothing. Numbers of these have been caught. Still others—like the captured paratroop officers—had hidden out in woods for days, not knowing where to go next, because of the fluid nature of the lines.

Massacre Verified

With the U. S. First Army, Dec. 21 [AP—Delayed]—Films taken from a captured German photographer have provided verification of recent front-line accounts of the massacre of American prisoners by Nazi machine-gunners.

Developed by the United States Army Signal Corps, the films proved to be pictures taken after the massacre and showed the bodies of American troops lying where they were mowed down. That they were not ordinary battle casualties was indicated by the absence of equipment which American troops always carry into action.

All the bodies had been stripped of belongings—in several cases even of shoes.

40 Belgians Shot

An American Command Post Near Stavelot, Dec. 21 [AP—Delayed]—A wounded Belgian farmer related today another instance of Nazi brutality in the present counteroffensive.

Two nights ago he came into an American forward command post from the hamlet of Parfondroy.

He told Lieut. Henry Schmitz, of New York city, that 100 Nazi SS (Elite Corps) troops had entered his village and rounded up 40 persons, among them himself and two women, herded them into a barn, machine-gunned them and then set fire to the barn.

He was shot through the leg, but with the help of a friend, managed to reach American lines.

"We haven't much reason to doubt his story," said Schmitz. "You see, the two women were his mother and his sister."

Canadian Front Shelled

PARIS, Dec. 22 (AP).—Supreme headquarters announced today that the Germans were laying down long-range artillery fire on the big Graves bridge between Arnhem and Eindhoven which is used by the Canadian troops in the Nijmegen salient in eastern Holland. The bridge, captured by American air-borne troops late in September, appeared to be a target for German railway guns twenty miles away, a Canadian 1st Army artillery officer said.

Montgomery Issues Christmas Message

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery made no reference to the changed situation on the Western front in his annual Christmas message to his British and Canadian troops today, but reaffirmed the resolve "to continue the contest with stout hearts and with determination to conquer."

"Today we sing Christmas hymns, full of hope and steadfast in our belief that soon we shall achieve our hearts' desire," the message said.

Quotes Scriptures

Recounting Allied successes since the landings in Normandy, he said, "We must not fail to give praise and honor where it is due," and quoted from the Scriptures: "This was the Lord's doing and it is marvelous in our eyes."

"Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace and good will toward men—this is what we are fighting for, that is what we desire: on earth peace, good will toward men," he said, concluding:

"I wish all of you good luck and a happy 1945. We are all one great team. Together, you and I, we have achieved much. And together we will see the thing through to the end."

German Radio Urges Belgians To Flee Homes

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—An enemy radio station began broadcasting to Belgians today urging them to leave their homes.

Obviously intended to complicate the Allies' military task by jamming the roads with civilians, as in 1940, the announcer told the Belgians:

"Leave your homes and flee. German armies are using horrifying new weapons. Not a single human being will remain alive in sections where these weapons will be used."

Belgians Asked to Keep Working.

London, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—The Belgian Government appealed today to all war workers to give up their Christmas and New Year holidays. The Brussels radio asked Belgians to work "for the war above all."

Swiss See Last Gamble

BERN, Switzerland, Dec. 21 (Delayed) (AP).—Swiss press comment on the German offensive in the west reflects a belief here that the drive is a last desperate gamble by the Germans to stave off impending defeat.

A leading editorial in "Die Weltwoche," of Zurich, describes the offensive as "a retarding movement" that can only delay but not alter the outcome of the war.

Nazi 'V-1½' Weapon Called Flying Shell

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 22—The Germans' new secret weapon in use on the Western Front was described here as "not V-3 or V-4, but V-1½."

Apparently is a barrage weapon, it takes the form of a self-propelled shell, it was said. It has been described in front dispatches as a small V-2 rocket.

Classifying it as V-1½ might indicate that it has some features of Both V-1, the flying bomb, and V-2, the long-range rocket.

French Plants Supply Needed Items To Allies

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP) — Reviving French industries now are supplying hundreds of items to the Allied air forces on a reverse lend-lease basis, Col. Melvin C. Smith, chief of the procurement section Air Service Command, said today.

Smith disclosed that American strategic and tactical air forces already had received 2,225,000 cubic feet of hydrogen gas for use in weather squadron drift balloons, and 3,500,000 feet of film for wing cameras.

French factories also have supplied the air forces with mattresses, stovepipes for pyramid tents and various items of radio equipment and electrical appliances.

Goebbels Has Suez Canal Stock, French Disclose

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP)—Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels has been holding 100 shares of Suez Canal stock, a French Government decree disclosed today.

The decree sequestered all dividends from Suez Canal shares. The money will be held in escrow pending settlement of the shares' ownership, it was believed.

The ownership of the Suez Canal has long been a financial mystery. For a half century the securities have been a gilt-edge investment, so remunerative that speculation in them was world-wide.

Of the effective 800,000 shares at last reports, the British Government was holding 353,024. The others were scattered all over the globe.

French Liberation Bond Sales Top 3 Billions

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP)—Empire-wide purchases of "national liberation" bonds totaled 155,000,000,000 francs ($3,100,000,000), Finance Minister Rene Pleven told Frenchmen tonight in a broadcast.

More than 75 per cent was paid in currency, thus fulfilling the Government's objective of reducing excess currency circulation. The balance was paid in older bonds.

Pleven described this response as "magnificent," compared with the 1918 liberation loan which drew only 22,200,000,000 francs.

Franco Is Reported Seeking A Republic

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP)—Spanish Republican circles reported tonight that two emissaries of Franco's regimé had arrived in Paris to negotiate a transitional government leading to restoration of a Republic. There was no confirmation of this report from Franco sources.

The delegates were said to have crossed the frontier three days ago, instructed by Falangist leaders to make contact with Miguel Maura, one-time Interior Minister in the Spanish Republic.

The Spanish Embassy here said it knew of no such delegation, and Maura was unavailable for comment.

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP)—Angelo Chiappe, former prefect of the Gard Department, was sentenced to death today for collusion with the enemy, the French agency reported. He is the brother of Jean Chiappe, former Paris police chief.

GERMANS REPORT REDS OPEN MIGHTY DRIVE IN LATVIA

HERCHER

Claim Assault Comes as Prelude to All-Out Winter Offensive.

LOSONC THREATENED

Soviet Troops Launch New Push to Capture Besieged Budapest.

LONDON, Saturday, Dec. 23—(AP) Berlin said last night that 270,000 Russians, including ski troops supported by strong tank and plane formations, had begun "a big push of extreme operational importance" against 30 Nazi divisions pocketed in snowswept Latvia as a prelude to an imminent general Winter offensive by the Red army.

A Moscow dispatch early today also said the long Eastern front was stirring into action with strong Red army patrols probing German positions and sub-zero temperatures hardening the soil to create conditions in which the Russians in the past have won some of their greatest military successes.

Strike With New Equipment

Red Army men have been issued all-Winter equipment. Familiar white-robed skimen are once more in the lines; tanks have been winterized and men marshalled in strategic areas. It is believed the Red army shortly will strike the Germans from Latvia on the Baltic sea through East Prussia and Poland down to the already active Czechoslovak-Hungarian front, said the dispatch.

In Czechoslovakia meanwhile the Russians drove to within nine miles of the important rail center of Losonc (Lucenec) and to within six miles of a secondary junction near the Hungarian frontier, thus threatening to trap a sizeable force of Germans routed from the Hungarian Matra mountains by other Soviet units attacking up from the south.

Berlin predicted a general large-scale Winter offensive "in the near future" as part of the Allied master plan of finally crushing Germany from the east, west and south, and said the Soviet Latvian command already was undertaking to sweep up an entire Axis army left there to menace the Soviet flank jutting into East Prussia.

The Northern strike was launched Thursday at the same time that Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine army in Western Hungary began a new drive southwest of Budapest in a double effort to surround the Hungarian capital and crack open a direct invasion route to Vienna.

Reds Drive on Budapest

Russian troops already have stabbed to within two miles of Szekesfehervar, big bastion 32 miles southwest of Budapest and 115 miles southeast of Vienna, Berlin said. This would represent a four-mile advance from Soviet positions two weeks ago.

Berlin also told of Soviet gains northwest of Sahy (Ipolysag), 34 miles northwest of Budapest, where Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine army is threatening to break out into the Bratislava plain at a point within 85 miles of the Slovak capital and 115 miles due east of Vienna.

The two Red army operations, not yet confirmed by Moscow, formed a great pincers aimed at taking Budapest from the rear and shattering intermediate German formations on both sides of the Danube between the Hungarian capital and the Austrian frontier.

Far to the northeast of Budapest other units of Malinovsky's army were converging on the big Slovak rail centers of Kassa and Losonc, and were cleaning out the last German formations clinging to the Hungarian mountains just below the Slovak frontier.

Moscow's communiqué announced the capture of seven localities in southern Slovakia, including Husina, 9 miles east of Losonc, and only 6 miles northeast of the important secondary rail junction of Fulek (Fil'akovo), where the railway from Hatvan in northern Hungary joins the Kassa-Losonc line.

Seizure of either Fulek or Losonc would trap a sizable German force being hurled out of Hungary on a 26-mile arc south and southeast of Fulek. In this lower sector the Russians seized ten localities, including Kisterenye, a junction on the Hatvan railway 18 miles south of Fulek and 22 miles southeast of Losonc.

Petervasara, 11 miles east of Kisterenye, and Disznod, 20 miles northeast of Kisterenye, also were taken, leaving the Germans only a small strip of northeastern Hungary below the escape gap at Fulek.

Important Action Suggested

In this area the Russians took 1,755 prisoners Thursday, the bulletin said.

No mention of the Latvian offensive or the drive southwest of Budapest was made by Moscow, but the bulletin said that Russian troops had wrecked 101 German tanks and shot down 68 planes during Thursday, suggesting important action in other sectors besides the Slovak-Hungarian border area.

Berlin said a crushing aerial bombardment opened the Latvian attack. It was followed by a 90-minute artillery barrage in which the Russians fired 170,000 shells into German dugouts. Then 27 Soviet divisions sprang forward on a 22-mile front south and southwest of Saldus road junction.

With this great concentration of men on such a narrow front the Russians pierced German lines at several points to a depth of a mile or more. "Counterattacks by mobile reserves smashed the Soviet offensive spearheads," Berlin claimed.

Col. Ernst Von Hammer, Axis radio commentator, termed it the "third defensive battle" of the Courland peninsula of northwestern Latvia where the Germans hold a 5,000-square-mile area north of a line running from the west Latvian port of Liepaja through Saldus to a point on the gulf of Riga 22 miles northwest of captured Riga.

"The battle continues with great momentum," Von Hammer said, with the Russians using powerful armored formations on the frozen terrain.

Action Is Confirmed

Saldus is 53 miles northeast of Liepaja and about the same distance southwest of Russian-held Riga, Latvian capital. It is 18 miles northwest of Auce, another strategic junction town which Berlin declared last month the Russians had taken in the "second successful Courland defensive battle." Moscow never has confirmed that action which Berlin classified as a brief but powerful offensive which was stopped after "negligible" Soviet gains.

Premier-Marshal Joseph Stalin has estimated that 30 German divisions are trapped in northwestern Latvia. Clearance of the area is necessary to secure the north flank of the Red army units anchored 20 miles inside German East Prussia farther south.

Berlin broadcasts reflected growing uneasiness about the general situation on the Eastern front which now is frozen hard and suitable for a Soviet mobile campaign by tanks and motorized infantry.

Von Hammer reported "reconnaissance in force" by Soviet units both in East Prussia and in Poland, and predicted the opening of the big—and perhaps last—Soviet Winter offensive "in the near future."

REDS REPORTED OPENING DRIVE SOUTH OF RIGA

Berlin Says 27 Divisions of Russians Are Used in Latvia Blow.

London, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—The Berlin radio said today the Russians, in a new attack in the long-dormant northern sector, had hurled twenty-seven divisions against the Germans on a twenty-two-mile front south of the Latvian town of Saldus (Frauenburg), about sixty miles southwest of Riga and approximately the same distance from the Baltic coast.

Assault divisions supported by tank formations and preceded by a terrific artillery bombardment of approximately 170,000 shells in ninety minutes opened the attack, Nazi military commentator, Nazi Military Commentator Ernst von Hammer said.

Drive Wedge Deeper.

Moscow, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—Russian shock troops wedged deeper into Southern Slovakia today while new operations by two powerful Russian Army groups threatened to seal off beleagured Budapest from the west.

Units of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine Army drove to within fourteen miles east of the big Slovak rail city of Losonc (Lucenec), seizing thirty more localities, including the important communications center of Rimaszombat, on the Kassa-Losonc highway.

Fall of Rimaszombat opened an important gateway into the Matra Mountains and brought relief within sight for an isolated force of Slovak Patriots estimated at 25,000.

The Germans admitted alarm over the resumption of Soviet pressure on the west side of the Danube in the vitally strategic zone between Budapest and Lake Balaton, where Marshal Feodor Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine Army paused early this month to build up greater striking power.

The new strike by Tolbukhin's forces, already linked with elements of the Second Ukraine Army, would be to blast through the German flank riveted on positions southwest of the Hungarian capital and on the fortress city of Szekesfehervar.

The Germans also confessed nervousness over Red Army attacks in the vicinity of the Great Bend in the Danube northwest of Budapest where the river veers west toward Austria.

They freed a railway spur of the Miskolc-Losonc line and seized part of another spur jutting southward from Banreve on the Slovak border, substantially narrowing the German escape routes from the Hungary-Slovak frontier area.

Malinovsky's troops took 1,490 more German and Hungarian prisoners Wednesday, making an announced total of 42,734 in the last forty-two days.

Reds Plan 90 New Cities

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Moscow radio declared today that plans already under way for the construction of 90 new cities in the Soviet Union to replace those shattered by war. More than 1,000 architects have been put to work drawing up preliminary plans.

Coblenz And Bingen Rail Yards Bombed In RAF Night Attack

H-SCHAM

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—RAF Lancasters and Halifaxes tonight blasted the Rhine railhead cities of Coblenz and Bingen, supply distribution centers for Field Marshal von Runstedt's attacking armies. Coblenz has large freight yards and is on a rail line from the Rhine to the Trier and Luxembourg areas. Bingen is a junction city on an important railway leading to the industrial Saar Valley.

The RAF also was out during daylight hours, and flew more than 100 sorties over the northern sector to aid American troops by attacking German forces and gun positions. Although the RAF was able to take advantage of a break in the weather, American flying bases were closed in, and both British and Italian-based United States heavies were grounded.

Oil Plant Fired

The daytime lull was the first time in weeks that German skies were clear of American bombers.

British bombers set fire to a large synthetic-oil plant at Politz, 85 miles northeast of Berlin, last night following three assaults on German cities which are used as supply bases for Field Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt's counteroffensive. Trier was attacked in dense fog late yesterday afternoon. Soon after dark Halifaxes and Lancasters struck at Cologne and Bonn. From four missions three bombers are missing.

During the Trier raid 9th Air Force Thunderbolt dive-bombers attacked through clouds prior to escorting the RAF heavies over the target.

Weather Still Bad

However, the weather was still unfavorable for the employment of Allied air superiority against the German Army, and the German radio, up to midday, had only one report of Allied planes over the Reich.

A small formation of fast bombers—probably mediums—were in the Munich-Augsburg area of southern Germany, the German broadcast said.

To achieve an element of surprise, the RAF bombers flew a roundabout route which took them 2,000 miles before returning to base from Politz. The bombs were dropped from clear skies over the oil plant, and the formations were on their way home before any German fighters arrived on the scene. Pilots reported seeing fires and explosions.

V-Bombs Still Fall on England

LONDON, Dec. 22 (AP).—The Germans continued their V-bomb attacks against southern England last night. Damage and casualties were reported.

BRITAIN FACES BLEAK CHRISTMAS

SINCLAIR

DEC 23 1944

LONDON, Dec. 22—(AP) Christmas cheer? Not here.

This sixth yuletide since the war began will in many ways be Britain's bleakest. Quietly reserved confidence in ultimate victory is the peoples' only consolation for grim tidings from the front.

This had been Britain's Christmas of hope.

Not too many months ago her tired and troubled men and women thought they could celebrate the season with all the joviality of old, believing that the war's end would be near, if not a fact.

That hope is gone now.

Long queues outside the news stands reflect the public's hopes and fears over the turn of war.

In musty old pubs — now hung with mistletoe—discussions centered on the German push. That is equally true in many a British home that was a billet for an American soldier before the invasion.

The general gloom is as grey as London's fog.

It is true that many old customs will be kept alive. That is the Englishman's way.

The Englishman has planned something for the children so that they, at least, may escape for a day the sorrow, sufferings and separation which will be the lot of the adult world.

Christmas dinners will be a bit better this year. There is a little more meat, a few oranges. A handful of nuts.

There will be few turkeys. They have been gobbled up in the black market.

What cheer there is will be as scarce as it is synthetic. The bottled variety is anywhere up to $25 a fifth.

Christmas carolers troop through the blacked-out streets, past homes broken by war.

But the words that come through the darkness — "peace on earth, good will toward men"—are freighted with ironic unreality.

20,000 Jews In Labor Camp Slain By Nazis

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Polish Government-in-exile said today the Germans had massacred 20,000 Jews in a forced labor camp at Plaszow near Cracow.

A spokesman quoted a report from underground channels which said the Germans also liquidated Jewish forced labor camps at Skarsysk, Starachowice, Pionki and Ostrowiec.

Fifty-five men, women and children out of the 200 inhabitants of the Italian village of Madonna del'Albero, five miles south of Ravenna, were massacred by Nazi S. S. troops on November 24, according to an overseas dispatch reported today to the Office of War Information.

The dispatch said that Lieut. H. N. Acker of Toronto, a signals officer of the Canadian First Division, revealed the massacre after talking to the remaining villagers. Lieut. Acker, the dispatch said, arrived at the village as the last thirty-one of the victims were being prepared for burial. The Germans were angry, the villagers said, because they suspected some of the men had gone to the Allied lines with information.

NEW DRAFT OF MEN

KASISCHKE

LONDON, Dec. 22 — (AP) Britain tonight ordered a new draft, plus transfers from the RAF and the Navy and a stricker comb-out of its "desk soldiers," to raise quickly 250,000 more men for its armies.

The new call-up which is in addition to the regular conscription schedule, was announced by Prime Minister Churchill's office as the Berlin radio said Gen. Eisenhower was drawing reinforcements from the British army group to help the Americans check the German Western Front counteroffensive.

An official announcement said the move was being made "in order to sustain and nourish our armies in the line" in the "coming months."

The builk of the new men will be obtained by a new draft of civilians, the announcement said, but it added that extra soldiers also would be gained by transfers to the army from the navy and the RAF and by combing the administrative services and "static forms of defense" for still more.

It was assumed that the RAF defensive forces could spare men now since beating the German air force and the robot attacks, and that others would come from ground defenses.

Spokesmen would not say what the Navy could spare, but its tasks in European waters are known to have been lightened by decimation of the Nazi surface fleet and by progress of the battle of the Atlantic.

When asked whether the new call-up was a direct result of this week's Western front reverses, a military spokesman said it was a "matter of considered government policy" rather than an emergency measure.

The spokesman later added: "Tonight's announcement is regarded by the government as an important statement eloquent of Britain's resolution in the prosecution of the war."

The civilian call-up will be the first big task for the new director general of manpower, H. C. Emerson, whose appointment was announced earlier tonight. The post had been vacant about a month since the appointment of Sir Godfrey Ince as permanent Secretary to the ministry of labor and national service.

Officials declined to say whether the new call-up would necessitate a relaxation in age limits or other draft rules, or reveal the estimated number of men now in British armies.

BRITAIN TO DRAFT 250,000 MORE MEN

London, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—The British will draft 250,000 more men for the army in coming months than had previously been planned, Prime Minister Churchill's office announced tonight.

A large part of those in the new call-up will be taken from civilian jobs, the announcement said. But some personnel will be transferred to the Army from the Navy and the R. A. F. Administrative services also will be combed for men.

Tokyo Reports Yanks Get Red Cross Parcels

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Tokyo radio said today that the first Red Cross parcels sent by way of Siberia to American prisoners in Japan and Manchuria are being distributed.

The broadcast said the next shipment would go to prisoners in the Philippines.

Goebbels to Speak Tomorrow

Dr. Krupp Said Arrested

Zurich, Dec. 22 (AP)—Dr. Krupp Von Bohlen, head of the Krupp armament firm, and one of his two daughters, together with her husband, have been arrested by the Nazi authorities for defeatist utterances, travelers from Germany said today.

NAZI ADRIATIC FRONT BREAKS

Canadians Reach Senio River, Capture Bagnacavallo

Rome, Dec. 22 (AP)—German resistance northeast of Faenza on the Adriatic has broken under fierce pressure by Canadian troops who smashed forward to the [illegible] River on a broad front and captured the town of Bagna[illegible]

Allied headquarters announced today.

The enemy was broken north of Bagnacavallo, which is 8 miles northeast of Faenza, and the Nazi command was battling stubbornly to extricate troops, tanks and guns from a bulge pinned on the west bank of the Lamone River. Other 8th Army units maintained heavy pressure on the southern flank.

Piles Of Stores Captured

Evidence that the Germans were arranging for flight was seen in piles of equipment and stores seized by the Canadians who entered Bagnacavallo, a strategic highway center 9 miles west of Ravenna on the main route to Bologna.

The bag of prisoners was increasing hourly as the Canadians, paced by tanks, drove 3 miles through the counterattacking enemy, crossed the Fosso Munio, a narrow stream, on a 2,000-yard front and crashed onto the east bank of the lower Senio River in the vicinity of Fusignano, 12 miles west of Ravenna.

In what was left of the German salient between Bagnacavallo and Faenza, the Allied command reported the situation was "more fluid." It was apparent that this term was to describe the hasty enemy efforts to pull out of danger without having to sacrifice too much heavy equipment.

5th Army Meets Artillery Fire

Fifth Army patrols to the west probed German positions south and southeast of Bologna, running into a concentrated artillery fire in all sectors. On the right these patrols tangled with extensive enemy patrols and German machine-gun fire in the vicinity of Tossignano, on the main Imola-Florence highway.

In the bulge northeast of Faenza, the Germans were under continuing strong pressure from troops driving from the southwest. Eighth Army troops thrusting from the south end of the Naviglio canal bridgehead reached the road town of Abbadesse and cleared it of the enemy. They captured many prisoners and seized two complete artillery observer posts.

Twenty Locomotives Destroyed

Thunderbolt pilots of the United States 12th Air Force destroyed 20 locomotives, 10 railroad cars and 37 vehicles in German-occupied northern Italy yesterday and made 21 cuts in railway tracks in the Treviso and Udine areas, and two more on the Brenner Pass line.

One mission, led by Lieut. Elmer L. Belcher, of Roanoke, Ala., and Dempsey E. Ballard, of San Antonio, Texas, blew two holes in a bridge 15 miles west of Mantua, then went to Lake Legano, where the raiders damaged 25 pontoons and destroyed six motor vehicles.

In a mission near Treviso, Capt. Frederick Michel, of Spring Lake, N.J., and Lieut. James D. Dailey, of Ponca City, Okla., wiped out one locomotive, damaged 16 more and blew open 20 railway cars with machine-gun bullets.

CANADIANS GAIN ON BOLOGNA ROAD

Rome, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—Canadian troops, smashing forward across the Senio River against fierce enemy resistance, have captured the town of Bagnacavallo on the road to Bologna, Allied Headquarters announced today.

Bagnacavallo is eight miles north and slightly east of the captured Bologna-Rimini highway stronghold of Faenza, and is nine miles west of Ravenna on the main highway from that Adriatic city of Bologna.

Aided by tactical Air Force operations closely co-ordinated with the ground fighting, Eighth Army units had expanded their bridgehead over the Canale Naviglio on a broad front opposite Fusignano, two miles north of Bagnacavallo.

Fifth Army operations south of Bologna and the Bologna-Rimini highway were confined to patrol activity.

New Canadian Chief in Italy.

Rome, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. Harry Wickshire Foster, former commander of the Canadian forces in the Aleutian campaign, has been appointed commander of the First Canadian Division, now on the Italian front line, succeeding Major-Gen. Christopher Vokes.

ITALY JAILS GENERALS

Rome, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—Gen. Rissando Pentimalli and Gen. Ettore del Tetto, convicted of failing to defend Naples against the Germans in the days following the Italian armistice with the Allies, were today sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment. Their week-long trial produced no startling disclosures.

The Germans occupied Naples in a few days and subsequently used the city as a base of operations against the Allied armies battling at Salerno.

Cornelia Tanzi, 36-year-old poet and artist identified in court as once a mistress of Benito Mussolini, was convicted of collaboration with the Germans and sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment.

Many of Rome's bohemians testified at the trial. The defendant read a book of her own verse entitled "Oh, My Lord."

Defense counsel, announcing an appeal, said the only real charge against the poet was that she had a short-lived affair with Mussolini before the outbreak of the Ethiopian war.

Off-Record Press Talk Made By Clare Luce

Rome, Dec. 22 (AP)—Representative Clare Boothe Luce (R., Conn.) held an off-the-record press conference today at the American Red Cross Officers Club.

She intends to spend Christmas at the front and leave shortly thereafter for the United States.

RUNS GIANT PORT KITCHEN

GI Has 'Supervised' Some 2,996,400 Quarts Of Soup

Naples, Dec. 12 [AP—Delayed]. Since the United States Army took over in November 1943, this port has handled nearly 8,000,000 tons of shipping.

Lieut. Col. Paul F. Loizeaux, of Towson, Md., port labor control officer, said that one month the port surpassed the tonnage handled in the port of New York. The harbor facilities have handled up to 14,000 tons daily.

Much of the supplies destined for the Italian front comes through this, the second largest port in the Mediterranean in peacetime. Supplies also are transshipped to Marseilles and North Africa from here.

Keeps Family Busy

Colonel Loizeaux, 40, is the son of Alfred S. Loizeaux, former electrical engineer with the Consolidated Gas and Electric Company here, who lives in Towson. His mother is dead.

The officer and his wife have two children, Herbert, 13, and Peter, 10, and Mrs. Loizeaux said he keeps the entire family busy answering his letters. He writes her every day and each boy every other day.

Colonel Loizeaux was born in Schenectady, N.Y. He was graduated from the Johns Hopkins University in 1926 and as a member of the Reserve Officers Training Corps was called into active service with the Army in January, 1941. He had been employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company here.

5th Army, 12th Air Force To Play in Spaghetti Bowl

By SID FEDER

SPAGHETTI BOWL HEADQUARTERS, Italy, Dec. 22.—(AP) This will serve to introduce the Spaghetti Bowl, a football game.

It is going to be played New Year's Day between a team from the 5th Army and another from the 12th Air Force.

DEC 23 1944

We can't tip you off to just where it's going to be played because Jerry might be listening but it's coming off in an honest-to-gosh stadium that seats between 25 and 25,000 customers.

Right now the two teams are rounding into some kind of shape and the workout fields are more "hush hush" than a ward room where they plan an amphibious landing.

The Army coach is Capt. Lou Bush who came out of the Massachusetts state backfield to do some baseballing for the Boston Braves and such minor league outfits as Asheville, Columbus, Rochester and Memphis before Uncle Sam called his signal.

Maj. George A. (Sparky) Miller, former center for Indiana (1935-37) who went back to the Hoosiers after as assistant to Bo McMillin, is bossing the Air Force.

Bush is putting a lot of confidence in Sgt. Cecil Sturgeon, a 235-pound tackle for North Dakota State and the Philadelphia Eagles, before coming over here as an M.P. and Sgt. Dwight Reed, who used to toss his 220-pounds around at end for Minnesota.

Against them you hear such Air-force names as Cpl. Arthur Faircloth, a tailback from North Carolina State, Sgt. Robert Geier, ex-University of Cincinnati end (1939) and Sgt. John D. Ramsey, All-Lone Star conference lineman at Sam Houston State Teachers in '40.

Helping out Miller with the Air-force Bridgebusters are Capt. Edward A. Schultz, a Pittsburgh end in the late 20's, and Capt. Walter Daly, former Penn fullback.

Working alongside Bush for the 5th Army booby-trappers are Lt. Bob White, infantryman out of the Indiana backfield; Arthur Remke, a signal officer who used to take signals at Georgetown in '41 and Charley Henke, a guard on the Texas Aggies Sugar and Cotton Bowl clubs of '39 and '40. They'll be playing coaches.

BRITISH GET ELAS TRUCE PROPOSALS

Greek Leftists Reported Demanding New Government

Athens, Dec. 22 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. R. M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, tonight received a reply from the Left-wing ELAS group to the British terms for the cessation of hostilities. The ELAS answer is reported to be a new three-point proposal and was signed by three members of the ELAS committee.

The ELAS message—delayed for four days because of the heavy street fighting—is being considered at British headquarters. It will take considerable time to translate the lengthy letter, it was said.

Rightist Chief Complains

Meanwhile, Gen. Napoleon Zervas, chief of the Rightist EDES, charged that 15,000 to 20,000 ELAS were invading his territory in Epirus, but the Greek capital itself was quieter today as British mopping-up operations continued. A British officer commenting on the situation said: "We have rounded a difficult corner."

Tanks patrolled the Omonia Square region. An office building in that area—a favorite snipers' position—was set afire.

As ELAS-British negotiations continued, the Papandreou Government tonight denied a report that King George had communicated any decision on the regency question.

The new ELAS truce proposal was unofficially understood to agree to Scobie's terms, including disarmament and withdrawal of ELAS forces from Athens and all Attica, providing there would be a simultaneous formation of a new government.

It was understood that the ELAS would propose to disarm to an Anglo-Greek commission, rather than to the British forces with whom they have been engaged in bloody fighting.

Archbishop's Statement

Meanwhile, a tentative acceptance of a regency was made by Archbishop Damaskinos, of Athens, in an interview with the newspaper Elephteria.

The Archbishop said, "I believe the idea of state may be strengthened and this should be the main idea of a regency. I, therefore, consider I have no right to turn a deaf ear to the voice of my country."

The dispatching of the new ELAS note was reported after hope virtually had been abandoned for settlement of the grave political dispute before Christmas.

It remained uncertain whether the British and the Greek Government would accept the new proposals as the basis for negotiations. Scobie previously had demanded that the ELAS followers lay down their arms as a prerequisite to further negotiations — a demand the ELAS rejected.

Massing On Dhriskos Ridge

General Zervas reported to the British that a large body of ELAS already had overrun eight villages in his territory, from which they ejected all EDES supporters, and that they now were massing on Dhriskos Ridge, overlooking his headquarters town of Yanina.

British liaison officers are known to have been with Zervas's forces, but there was no indication the British had supplied the Rightist guerrillas with military equipment.

Continued British attacks with tanks and rocket-firing Beaufighters appeared to be liquidating ELAS opposition in southern Athens and the near-by port of Piraeus. Following up his declared intention of swiftly cleaning up ELAS resistance, Scobie sent landing forces across the main harbor in western Piraeus in assault boats today.

Tommies Run Into ELAS Fire

The Tommies effected a landing, but ran into stiff resistance from ELAS machine guns and mortars in warehouses and industrial buildings.

ELAS forces appeared to be pulling out of the southern suburbs of Athens, where their communications lines were endangered, and regrouping to the north and northwest. British Sherman tanks in the foothills of Mount Likabettus shelled these ELAS concentrations, while Beaufighter rockets blasted ELAS-held Averoff Prison, demolishing its main block.

3,000 Prisoners Shipped Away

British headquarters announced that 3,000 ELAS prisoners had been sent by sea to an undisclosed destination and that 1,000 others remained under guard in Greece. The International Red Cross reported that the ELAS had evacuated an unstated number of British prisoners into the mountains.

Civilians living in zones controlled by the British were served over 100,000 meals yesterday. Recruiting for the Government's new national militia began in Piraeus, and officials said they expected 2,000 enlistments.

Big ELAS Army Reported On The Move

Athens, Dec. 22 (AP)—An ELAS Army 15,000 to 20,000 strong was reported today to be moving in on territory held by Rightist guerrillas of Gen. Napoleon Zervas's EDES in strife-torn Greece.

Zervas informed British authorities that the Leftist ELAS forces already had entered his territory in Epirus and were massing on Dhriskos Ridge, overlooking the town of Yanina, which has been his headquarters.

The British said Zervas charged that Albanians were among the force threatening the EDES territory.

Prisoners Evacuated

Evacuation of 3,000 ELAS prisoners by sea to an undisclosed destination was reported earlier by British headquarters while Lieut. Gen. R. M. Scobie's troops were mopping up the port of Piraeus.

British troops were reported extending the area under control in southern Athens against light resistance.

Another 1,000 ELAS prisoners remained under guard. British headquarters emphasized that the total of 4,000 military captives included only those taken in battle.

Recruiting Begins

Greek police, under British supervision, were weeding out innocent civilians from additional groups of prisoners.

Unloading operations at the port of Piraeus started again. British headquarters said 700 union stevedores have been employed and an official added that "numberless" applicants volunteered to help the Tommies unload.

Recruiting for the Papandreou Government's new national militia commenced in Piraeus this morning. Officials said 2,000 enlistments were anticipated.

New Assault Landing

These developments came as a new assault landing was carried out across the main harbor on western Piraeus and reinforced troops swept through the dockyards.

Stiff resistance developed from ELAS strongpoints in the northern basin of the harbor. ELAS machine gunners and mortar positions, holed up in industrial plants and warehouses, thus far succeeded in preventing a linkup of British detachments clearing to the left and right of the harbor.

British Reported Welcomed

[An Allied headquarters communique issued in Rome said civilians in the cleared areas have received the British troops enthusiastically and that over 100,000 meals were served yesterday to civilians living in controlled zones.

[Headquarters said a large delegation headed by the mayor of Piraeus visited British authorities and tendered their thanks.]

"ELAS Planned Revolt"

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Daily Telegraph, in an Athens dispatch, today quoted Greek Premier George Papandreou as saying he could "produce proofs" that revolution had already been decided upon by the ELAS before the December 3 rioting which set off the Greek civil strife.

"I deplore the loss of life among the crowd December 3," Papandreou was quoted as saying. "I deny this loss of life was the cause of insurrection. I deny police fired the first shots. The revolution already had been decided upon. I can produce proofs."

"Great Favor"

The newspaper quoted the Greek Premier as declaring that Britain never had done Greece a greater favor than this December when "she stood up on behalf of an unarmed government representing the great majority of the country, against an armed minority bent on imposing Nazi-like tyranny."

"We are defending Greece against terrorism. There are Left-wing leaders in America and Britain who are against us. I protest their misapprehension."

JAPS TO GIVE UP NORTHWEST BURMA

CALCUTTA, Dec. 22—(AP) As U. S. 10th air force pilots wrecked further enemy bridges, frontline dispatches indicated today that the Japanese had decided to give up northwest Burma and fall back to a defense line around Mandalay.

Field reports offered mounting evidence that the enemy was in general retreat from the town of Indaw in a quarter circle southwest to Gangaw, on the Myittha river. Only rearguard pockets are left for delaying action, said dispatches received here at headquarters of the Allied land forces of southeast Asia.

In the northern combat area the "Burma bridge busters"—the 490th medium bomb group—have knocked out eight more Japanese bridges, five of them railroad spans. Other formations of American planes streaked over the wild, 450-mile jungle stretch between Lashio and Moulmein, plastering Japanese troops, vehicles, supplies and defense works almost without opposition.

P-47 pilots also accounted for a railroad bridge, and several ferry landings were left burning fiercely after raids on Japanese communications along the Irrawaddy river north of Mandalay.

In the ground fighting, British 14th army troops have struck south from the captured town of Wuntho on the Myitkyina-Mandalay railroad and occupied Kawlin, a communique from Southeast Asia command headquarters at Kandy, Ceylon, announced. Kawlin, eight miles south of Wuntho, was taken against slight Japanese opposition, the communique said.

Near the west Burma coast the town of Rathedaung, on the east bank of the Mayu river about 25 miles north of Akyab, was shelled by Royal and Indian naval units supporting the Arakan offensive.

On the Chindwin front Allied forces have slashed 17 miles east of Shwegyin on the Shwegyin-Yeu road, it was announced. The communique reported steady progress had been made elsewhere by other 14th army troops.

The Chinese 30th division consolidated yesterday's gains along the Bhamo-Namhkam road, and patrols of the American mars task force were active west of the village of Tonkwa.

Japs Seen Yielding N.W. Burma

Calcutta, Dec. 22 (AP)—Front-line reports supplied mounting evidence today that the Japanese are giving up northwest Burma as a bad job and falling back on a defense arc around Mandalay.

Advices from the field indicated the enemy was in general withdrawal from Indaw in a quarter circle southwest to Gangaw on the Myittha river, with only rear-guard pockets left for delaying action.

Jap Base Shelled

Royal and Indian naval units supporting the Arakan offensive shelled the Japanese base at Rathedaung, on the east bank of the Mayu river on Burma's coast, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia Command headquarters announced in Kandy, Ceylon.

British troops driving south along the Myitkyina-Mandalay railway in pursuit of remnants of three Japanese divisions have pushed eight miles beyond captured Wuntho and occupied Wawlin, a communique said. The British were meeting only slight opposition.

Allied Forces Advance

On the Chindwin front on the west Allied advance forces have progressed seventeen miles east of Shwegyin, on the Shwegyin-Yeu road. Steady progress was reported elsewhere.

Planes of the United States 10th Air Force's 490th Medium Bomb Squadron knocked out eight bridges, five of them railroad spans. In an air assault on Japanese communications above Mandalay Allied airmen left several ferry landings burning.

CHINESE THROW RESERVES INTO HOCHIH BATTLE

CHUNGKING, Dec. 22—(AP) Reinforcements were brought up to bolster stiffening Japanese resistance at Hochih tonight, the Chinese High command announced, and observers here believed the enemy had decided to try to hold the Kwangsi town as one of its strongpoints screening the China Indo-China corridor.

"Severe fighting" was in progress around the South China railway town, a Chungking radio broadcast said, adding that Chinese units to the east of the town were "fighting to regain" the nearby railroad town of Chinchengkiang. Hochih, a key point in the Kwangsi region, is 95 miles northwest of Liuchow.

If the Japanese High command has decided to hold the town, military observers felt Chinese troops now storming the outskirts from three directions would have great difficulty dislodging the enemy garrison.

The Chigking broadcast, quoting a Chinese high command spokesman, said that although the Japanese had brought up "strong reinforcements" at Hochih, the "crisis" in the Kwangsi-Kweichow area was "over, at least for the time being."

Praising what it described as "effective" American air support now being given to the Chinese counter-offensive in Kwangsi, the Chungking broadcast reported that U. S. fighter planes had bombed Kwaiyuancheng and Liuchow, as well as enemy troop concentrations north of Pingcheng, and fuel and supply dumps along the Kweichow-Kwangsi railroad.

An American communique said five Japanese aircraft were destroyed yesterday when P-51s attacked an airdrome at Tsinan, 150 miles south of Tientsin on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad. The U. S. pilots were intercepted by from 10 to 20 Japanese planes.

On the same day B-25s and P-51s of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's Chinese-American wing bombed railroads and a bridge at Minkiang, 120 miles north of Hankow on the Peiping-Hankow railroad. A 40-car train was strafed and set afire.

American pilots supporting Chinese ground action in Lung valley attacked Japanese troops in a ravine north of Chingchengkiang and bombed and strafed fuel and storage areas along the Kweichow-Kwangsi railroad.

Fourteenth Air force Liberators blasted the Kowloon dock area at Hongkong, Fort Bayard on the Liuchow peninsula, and enemy installations at Samah bay on Hainan island, the southernmost part of China, the U. S. communique

Japanese installations in the Hanoi, Langson, Lucnam areas were bombed and strafed by P-51s. In the Burma sector, fighters and bombers hit enemy troop concentrations and road transport near Wanting, on the China-Burma border. No Allied planes are missing.

SAY JAPS MOVE FACTORIES TO ASIA

Chungking, Dec. 22 (A. P.). Because of increasing American air raids upon Japan Japanese authorities have conscripted large numbers in North China to help move war factories from the Japanese mainland to Manchuria, Chinese informants said today.

Thirteen factories of military importance have already been transferred, they declared.

JAPANESE FORCES PREPARE FOR U. S. LANDINGS ON CHINA

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH

KUNMING, China, Dec. 22—(AP) Japanese withdrawal without a major engagement on the Kweichow-Kwangsi front indicates the enemy is completely preoccupied with preparations for resisting possible Allied landings on the China coast.

Instead of risking a drive deeper into the Chinese interior and a chance of knocking out American support to China which is destined to hit its stride with the opening of the Ledo-Burma road, the enemy seems concerned with consolidating a defense in depth between the east and south China coastlines and a line of land communications from Hankow to Hanoi which would extend roughly through Changsha, Hengyang, Kweilin, Liuchow and Nanking.

Enemy Threat Over-Assessed

The enemy threat to Kweiyang now appears to have been over-assessed—not that the Japanese could not at one time have driven to the Kweichow capital, but rather that their more immediate practical objective was attained by temporary possession of the Tuhnan branch of the Kwangsi railway system.

With fairly new rails taken from that branch line northwest of Liuchow they are now believed to have enough to close the gap at the southern end of the mainline between the Yungning-Ningming railhead just northeast of Langson and across the border from French Indo-China.

Being opportunists, it was somewhat surprising that the Japanese, finding virtually no resistance, did not shove further toward Kweiyang than they did. Even tentative possession of Kweiyang, which lies on one of the two most important highway junctions in free China and near the other, would have paid off for them.

Withdrawal Understood

The causes for the Japanese withdrawal are understood fully, according to American observers whose opinions I solicited during recent trips to the China front. The least of these, it was unanimously held, was Chinese resistance.

In the first place, the Japanese never contemplated such a deep penetration of China when they started their thrust northwestward from Liuchow. The enemy troops were neither clothed nor equipped for a conquest of Kweichow's cold and forbidding mountains even if a normal supply line could have been maintained.

The collapse of Chinese resistance in Kwangsi, however, was an inviting factor and the Japanese went somewhat beyond the advance called for under their rail-gathering plan. However, Chinese reserves who were better-armed and better-clothed than their Kwangsi comrades, were in the Kweiyang region.

The effect these reserves had upon the situation was more in the nature of a potential threat than anything else. The Japanese never closed with them, or vice versa.

Observers expect the Japanese to halt at some prepared defense line far enough from Liuchow and their main line of communications to cushion any actual Chinese counter-offensive. Meanwhile, the Japanese high command is expected to find other uses for its vast pool of troops in southeast China.

There are many places yet to be occupied if the enemy is to consolidate in the southeast against possible American landings.

This apparent strategy of the Japanese does not necessarily mean they will not try to crack American supply and air force establishments in southwestern China, but it does seem to limit any attempt along that line to offensive operations from French Indo-China.

Japs In Allied Guise Bomb Kunming Gardens

Kunming, China, Dec. 22 (AP)—Two Japanese bombers pretending to be Allied transport planes flew into the traffic pattern over the United States Army air base last night and attempted to bomb the field. Their explosives hit near-by vegetable gardens.

This was the first time in a year that the Kunming area was bombed.

Leyte Jap Escape Port Under Artillery Fire

Yank Infantry Advances 3 Miles Toward Palompon In Move To Cut Off Fleeing Foe

DEC 23 1944

General MacArthur's Philippine Headquarters, Saturday, Dec. 23 (AP)—The United States 77th Infantry Division has advanced three miles west of the Ormoc corridor on the mountain road toward Palompon, escape port for the embattled Japanese remaining on Leyte Island, General MacArthur announced today.

Palompon, which is on the western coast of the northwest shoulder of the island, is under Yank artillery fire. Japanese remnants fleeing from the corridor are trying to cut their way through to Palompon.

Mopping Up In Other Areas

Mopping up continues in other areas near the corridor, where the door has been slammed shut on the Nipponese after destruction of their defense lines.

An additional 1,546 enemy dead were counted on Thursday, headquarters said.

The enemy air force continued its raids on American ground positions on Mindoro, far to the northwest of Leyte, and lost nine planes, seven to fighters and two to ground fire. Two American fighters were lost in intercepting the attack. Enemy ground opposition still had failed to develop on Mindoro.

Jap Air Activity Increasing

Nipponese aerial activity has increased sharply since completion of American airfields on Mindoro, which is within 30 minutes' flight of Manila, on Luzon to the north.

Liberator bombers, possibly based on Mindoro, splattered Panay, Negros, Cebu and Masbate Island airdromes with 1,000-pound missiles.

MacArthur has reported 12,873 enemy dead found abandoned on Leyte in the last seven days. This average of 1,839 daily considerably exceeded the estimate of 1,500 enemy casualties daily which he made in his December 15 report on casualties for the first 55 days of fighting in the Leyte-Samar campaign.

American warplanes based on Leyte shot down two Nipponese planes in the Leyte Gulf area.

Tempo Of Luzon Raids Rises

The new Yank bases on Mindoro have accelerated the tempo of the aerial invasion of Luzon.

Clark Field, near Manila, was harassed by heavy bombers, the communiqué said, causing fires and explosions. It was the fourth consecutive day of attacks on Luzon.

A hundred tons of bombs were dropped on airfields on Cebu and other Visayan islands, ripping up runways and destroying or damaging thirteen Nipponese planes. Heavy raids also were made on airdromes at Davao and Zamboanga, to the south.

Dutch Airmen Attack Convoy

Two Liberator bombers hit petroleum refineries at Miri and near Balikpapan, on Borneo, Wednesday. Medium bombers of the Netherlands Air Force attacked an enemy convoy of two freighters and a destroyer in the Banda Sea the same day. Striking at masthead height, the Mitchells sank one freighter and strafed the second. Hundreds of Japanese troops were seen swimming from the burning freighter as it settled.

Heavy bombers braved adverse weather to fly the 2,200-mile round trip to Java, where they damaged the Malang airfield with 24 tons of bombs. Dispersal areas were hit and eight parked planes destroyed or damaged.

Air Raids In Other Areas

The usual neutralizing raids were carried out against the Wewak area of New Guinea, New Zealand, New Britain, and Bougainville.

[Radio Tokyo said in an unconfirmed broadcast Friday that 39 "enemy" planes raided Luzon that morning, smashing at Clark Field, and at Legaspi, on southeastern Luzon.]

On Leyte Island, across the archipelago to the southeast, the remnants of a once powerful Japanese garrison were in the last desperate throes of resistance. They were being hounded by American infantry men and guerrillas as they fled westward into the hills toward Palompon from their shattered defenses in the Ormoc corridor.

Pockets Being Eliminated

A junction of the 10th and 24th Army Corps sealed off the corridor, leaving only pockets of resistance. These were being eliminated. Nipponese elements cutting their way westward were making a futile effort to reach Palompon, a possible escape port.

The end was in sight on Leyte after a campaign of more than two months, lengthened by typhoons that turned the island's roads and trails into a quagmire, bogging down all operations.

Favored by dry weather and continued lack of ground resistance, the Yanks on Mindoro consolidated their positions amid a sharp increase in enemy air activity. Stung by the new power of the American air arm flying from Mindoro fields, the Nipponese were striking back furiously at ground installations. An attack by 29 enemy planes, 11 of which were shot down with a loss of one American fighter, was reported by headquarters yesterday.

MacArthur's Christmas Prayer

General MacArthur's Philippine Headquarters, Saturday, Dec. 23 (AP). Gen. Douglas MacArthur today issued the following Christmas prayer to his command: "It is my Christmas prayer that merciful God will continue to preserve and protect the members of this fine command and return each and every one of you safe and well to your beloved homes."

MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Dec. 22 (AP)—Yank pincers have snapped shut on the hapless Japanese on northwest Leyte, and pocketed Nipponese troops are being destroyed while American planes range over the Philippines from a new base on Mindoro, less than 150 miles south of Manila, headquarters reported today.

Climaxing a laborious fight north and south along the Ormoc corridor road, the 10th and 24th Army Corps fought to a juncture near the point where a supplementary road forks west to the enemy escape port of Palompon.

Attempts To Slip Through

Scattered Japanese units are trying frantically to slip through gaps from the east and get to Palompon. Today's communique reported that an additional 2,032 enemy dead have been counted.

On Mindoro, which has the advantage of being on the western side of the Philippines, where torrential rains do not fall as they do on Leyte, the air base completed in five days already is demonstrating its importance. The communiqué said Mindoro-based planes had downed 11 of 29 enemy raiders Wednesday at a cost of one plane.

Although the invasion of Mindoro put the Yanks on an island less than ten miles from Luzon, no sizable enemy ground resistance has ever been reported and today's communiqué specified inactivity.

Freighter-Transport Sunk

A 6,000-ton Japanese freighter-transport was spotted off the northwest coast by a reconnaissance Liberator which bombed the vessel and set it aflame.

Luzon's Batangas airdrome was attacked by fighter planes; other fighters ripped into airdromes on Negros; and Cagayan airdrome on Mindanao was raided. Eight Nipponese planes were destroyed or damaged on the ground. Off Mindanao, four coastal vessels were sunk. A 2,000-ton cargo ship and three small freighters were damaged off Borneo.

At Pearl Harbor, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced that the enemy airbases at Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands were raided by Liberators Tuesday, United States time, for the thirteenth straight day. These bases are midway between the B-29 airfields on Saipan and targets on Japan.

Yanks Close Pincers On Japs On Leyte

San Francisco, Dec. 22 (AP)—Tokyo reported the death of another Japanese admiral today—the eighty-first since May 1. The Domei news agency, in a broadcast recorded here, said the newest naval casualty was Rear Admiral Tomojiro Kaneoka. Details were not announced.

YANKS PUBLISHING TABLOID FOR JAPS

Leyte, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—Publication of a newspaper for isolated Japanese troops was begun today by the American Psychological Warfare Branch. A weekly two-page illustrated tabloid will be delivered from the air and by artillery, printed in Japanese with pictures illustrating the good treatment accorded the Japanese on American-occupied Saipan.

The Psychological Warfare Branch explained that the purpose is to break the enemy morale by disclosing the truth. A spokesman said that many Japanese think Germany is winning the war and have not heard of any Japanese defeats since Attu.

The initial issue carried headlines about the Mindoro and Ormoc landings by American troops and the earthquake and Superfortress blows at the Japanese homeland. The paper is under the direction of Lieut.-Col. Claude E. Hawley, a former professor at the University of Florida.

Third Of Captured Jap Ammunition U.S. Made

Leyte, Philippines (AP)—Soldiers fighting the Japanese here know what it's like—how the enemy must feel—to have American-made bullets whine and shells crash about them. DEC 23 1944

One third of the ammunition captured in Japanese dumps in the early phases of the Leyte campaign was manufactured in the United States.

It had been seized by the Japanese when they invaded the Philippines early in the war.

A majority of the Japanese garrison of Leyte was found to be armed with .30-caliber, model 1917 Enfield rifles, originally made for the United States Army.

An American 75 mm. field gun was discovered, when the mud-brown Japanese paint was rubbed off, to bear the colorful crest of a Filipino regiment.

B-29'S AGAIN BOMB NAGOYA

HAVELAND

Raiders Beat Off Horde Of Jap Fighter Planes

DEC 23 1944

Twenty-first Bomber Command, Saipan, Dec. 22 (AP)—A good-sized force of B-29's bombed Nagoya, Japan's aircraft center, again today through a thick overcast and ran into heavy anti-aircraft fire and a horde of defending fighter planes.

Precision instruments helped to overcome the handicap of the overcast and the bombardiers expressed confidence their loads of explosives found a mark. Gunners caught sight of parts of the city through holes in the clouds.

It was the third time in ten days that the Superfortresses had flown 1,400 miles from Saipan to plaster the Nagoya area.

None Lost To Enemy Action

[In a communiqué issued in Washington at midnight, the War Department said none of the attacking planes was lost to enemy action. The attack was centered on a Mitsubishi aircraft plant.

[The Superfortress crews, fending off Japanese fighter planes, probably destroyed five enemy planes and damaged four.

[Results of the raid, accomplished by precision instruments, were unobserved, the communiqué said, due to the overcast. Both the fighter opposition and antiaircraft fire were described in the communiqué, issued by the 20th Air Force headquarters as moderate.]

Strongest Fighter Attack Yet

The first planes over the city today met heavy ack-ack but few enemy fighter planes. As in previous raids, the later Superfortress formation fought off hordes of Japanese fighters but little ack-ack.

"It was the strongest fighter attack we have had yet," said Major Robert Fitzgerald, of Ridgewood, N.J., a plane commander. "They were sitting out there waiting for us."

Another commander, Capt. Jav J. Brown, and his bombardier, First Lieutenant Norman Ek, of Chicago, estimated 150 enemy fighters were in the air.

Brown's copilot, Second Lieutenant Robert Sollock, of Rule, Texas, said there were 50 in the immediate vicinity of his formation and twice that many in the distance.

Jap Planes "Everywhere"

"You've seen those airplane models dangling from the ceiling of a ready room," said Sollock. "Well, this looked just like that, with Jap planes hanging everywhere."

Second Lieutenant George H. Timson, navigator, of Silvis, Ill., and Second Lieutenant Donald D. Chapman, flight engineer, of Arlington, N.J., said enemy planes were coming in from all angles, some very aggressively.

[Japanese broadcasts reported about 100 planes participated; that they didn't do much damage, and that ten of them were shot down.]

Raid A "Return Engagement"

The Hatsudoki factory of the Mitsubishi aircraft works, principal target of earlier Nayoga raids, presumably was hit again, since today's raid was described by Brig. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, Jr., as a "return engagement."

More than 670,000 square feet of the factory's roofage was burned off in a previous raid, December 13, reconnaissance reports said, and today's operations possibly were supposed to put the finishing touches to the destruction.

The Hatsudoki factory is one of Japan's foremost producers of fighters and bombers. Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell, Jr., commander of the B-29 base here, has described it as "the Paterson [N.J.] works and Hartford works combined."

Raiders' Confidence Rising

The B-29 crews here report their confidence is increasing and that their bombing accuracy will continue to improve with the experience gained on each mission.

[Japan's Domei news agency broadcast that today's raiders "dropped bombs and incendiaries at random" and that "our damage was light."

[Similar statements were made by the Japanese after the other raids, although subsequent to the December 13 strike on the Hatsudoki factory the Tokyo radio reported war plants were being moved underground for safety.

[Today's Nipponese reports said the Superfortresses attacked in waves for an hour and a half, hitting the Prefectures of Shizuoka, Aichi and Osaka on the east coast of Honshu Island; that one plane raided Fukushima Prefecture north of Tokyo and that another pentrated the Tokyo vicinity but met fierce ack-ack and fled without inflicting damage.]

B-29's Attack Targets On Honshu

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Superfortresses resumed their attacks on Japan's home production centers today, attacking industrial targets on the island of Honshu.

The planes were in sizable force, indicating that up to 100 participated.

The attack was carried out by B-29's of Brig. Gen. H. S. Hansell's 21st Bomber Command based on Saipan, a War Department communiqué said.

No More Details Given

Additional details were not released. The text of the communiqué:

"A sizable force of B-29's from Brig. Gen. H. S. Hansell's 21st Bomber Command based on Saipan today, December 22, Japanese calendar, attacked industrial targets on the Island of Honshu, Japan, Gen. H. H. Arnold in his capacity as commanding general of the 20th Air Force announced at the War Department.

"Additional details will be announced later."

Saipan Account

[A dispatch from Saipan said the target was Nagoya and stated that formations kept going over the target area for two hours and a half.

[Since December 13, more than 670,000 square feet of the roofage of the Hatsudoki factory of the Mitsubishi aircraft works have been burned off. Today's raid may have been designed to finish off the target which General Hansell had earlier called "The Paterson (N. J.) works and Hartford works combined."—they are big American aircraft works.

[This morning's takeoff was in clear weather, but it was likely that some B-29's would not be able to bomb visually because of the frequently covered Honshu coastline and that they would have to employ precision instruments.

[The flyers report their confidence is increasing and they predict that with experience gained from each mission there will be a steady improvement in their bombing accuracy.]

Today's strike was the second in five days by Saipan-based Superforts against the principal island of the Japanese archipelago. Gen- eral Hansell's planes bombed an aircraft factory at Nagoya Monday.

B-29's from Asiatic bases hit still another Nipponese aircraft factory at Omura Tuesday following a strike Monday at Hankow, China, principal port of supply for imperial forces operating in south-central China.

A third Japanese airplane factory at Mukden, Manchuria, also was blasted this week by B-29's flying from China bases.

In Monday's blast at Nagoya heavy damage was inflicted on this third largest Japanese city, a War Department communiqué reported.

HAVELAND

Enemy Says Luzon Is Bombed—Manila's Airport Given as One Target.

Headquarters, Twenty-first United States Bomber Command, Saipan, Dec. 22 (A. P.) (Via Navy Radio).—A sizable force of B-29 Superfortresses today attacked Nagoya for the third time in ten days. The first of the gigantic bombers over that huge aircraft manufacturing center bombed through an overcast in the early afternoon, and other formations kept coming over for two hours and a half.

Brig.-Gen. Emmett O'Donnell Jr. of Jamaica, L. I., commander of an operational organization, described the raid as a return engagement.

The takeoff was in clear weather but it was likely that some of the Superfortresses would not be able to bomb visually but would have to employ precision instruments.

[In a broadcast communique recorded by the FCC, Japanese Imperial Headquarters said that about 100 Superfortresses attacked Nagoya. At Washington, the Associated Press adds, the War Department indicated that up to 100 planes took part. On the other hand, the Tokyo radio declared that thirty - nine Allied planes today struck Luzon, concentrating on Legaspi and Clark Field, Manila; and that "more than ten" Mustang fighters raided Canton and Hongkong.]

Aimed at Vital Factory.

Since the December 13 attack on the Hatsudoki factory of the Mitsubishi Aircraft Works at Nagoya, more than 670,000 square feet of its roofage has been burned off. Today's raid may have been designed to finish off that target which Brig.-Gen. Haywood Hansell Jr., commanding the Twenty-first, has described as "the Paterson (N. J.) works and Hartford works combined." This plant is instrumental in the production of Japanese bombers and fighters, and is two and a half miles east of the famous Nagoya Castle and eight miles north, inland, from the Kokuki water front plant which was bombed on December 18.

Gen. Hansell announced on December 18 that in addition to the heavy damage dealt on December 13 to four main assembly buildings, twenty-two smaller structures were destroyed or badly damaged within the Hatsudoki plant.

The flyers here report that their confidence is increasing and that with the experience gained from each mission there will be a steady improvement in their bombing accuracy.

TO Superforts Downed, Japs Claim

San Francisco, Dec. 22 (AP)—About 100 Superfortresses attacked the aircraft city of Nagoya today, a Nipponese imperial communiqué reported a few hours after the United States War Department announced that Marianas-based B-29's had bombed industrial targets on the Japanese home island of Honshu.

The Nipponese communiqué claimed ten B-29's were shot down.

A Domei news agency broadcast, recorded here, said "the enemy raiders dropped bombs and incendiaries at random."

Nagoya Called Main Target

An early Domei dispatch said the Superforts attacked in waves for an hour and a half, hitting the prefectures of Shizuoka, Aichi and Osaka on the east coast of Honshu. Nagoya, whose two big Mitsubishi aircraft plants have been heavily bombed recently, was described as "their main target area." It is in Aichi prefecture.

The Imperial communiqué made the customary Japanese claim that "our damage was slight."

"Heavy Ground Fire"

Domei said "heavy ground fire from our anti-aircraft artillery as well as body-crashing tactics of our intercepting fighters are believed to have accounted for many enemy aircraft."

The Kokuki aircraft plant in Nagoya, one of Japan's largest, was hit with devastating accuracy by B-29's Monday. The city was again bombed before dawn Tuesday by two more Superforts.

The Mitsubishi company's Hatsudoki factory, seven miles away, was so badly damaged in a raid December 13 that Tokyo radio reported war plants were being moved underground.

Incendiaries Dropped

In a broadcast after today's Nagoya raid the Tokyo radio said one enemy plane raided the eastern shores of Fukushima prefecture, north of Tokyo, dropping incendiaries without causing damage.

Still another Tokyo broadcast said a B-29 from the Marianas base (Saipan) penetrated the vicinity of Tokyo last night but that it met fierce anti-aircraft fire and fled without inflicting damage.

Iwo Jima Blasted Again.

Pearl Harbor, Dec. 22 (A. P.). Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced that the Japanese air bases at Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands were raided on Tuesday for the thirteenth consecutive day. These bases are midway between the B-29 airfields on Saipan and the B-29 targets in Japan. Liberators dealth Tuesday's blow, the Admiral declared in a communique last night.

NOTED R.A.F. PLANE ON WORLD FLIGHT

Montreal, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—The Liberator Commando of the R. A. F. Transport Command has arrived in San Diego, Cal., on the last leg of the first round-the world flight ever to be made from Canada, Transport Command headquarters announced today. Thus far she has covered 24,652 statute miles in an actual flying time of 5 days 1 hour and 9 minutes. The average speed was slightly more than 203 miles an hour.

From Montreal, she flew to London and thence to Cairo, Ceylon, Perth, Sydney, Auckland, Fiji, Honolulu and San Diego, skippered by Wing Commander W. H. Biddell of East Grinstead, Sussex, England.

Throughout the flight the Commando carried a maximum pay load of Government-sponsored passengers, war freight and mail. Among the passengers from Sydney was Leading Seaman Leonard Williams of Birmingham, England, who was transferred at San Diego to a Montreal-bound plane to make connections for the United Kingdom and his home where his wife and two children are gravely ill.

It was the Commando that carried Prime Minister Churchill to Tehran for his conference with President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin.

Canadian Casualty Announced.

Submarine Sunk, Japs Claim

San Francisco, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Japanese Domei news agency reported today that Nipponese planes sank an Allied submarine in the western Pacific. The broadcast was without Allied confirmation.

NAZIS SEEN READY TO MEET RED DRIVE

30. 24 — 21463

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 — (AP) It may be weeks or months before the promised Russian grand offensive produces any effect on the Western Front, military men said today.

In their opinion, the German High command has "budgeted" its men and materials for each of its fronts—the Western, Eastern and Italian—and would not shift troops until a "critical stage has been reached."

Assuming that the projected Russian offensive on the Eastern front succeeds in breaking through the Nazis' line, this "critical stage" might be reached when the Russian forces roll up to the border of Germany proper.

If the Soviet armies strike from the Vistula river in Poland, they would have to advance westward almost 200 miles before hitting the German border.

Even then, it was said, the German High command hesitate to shift forces from the Western front —assuming that the Western front by that time is not even more menacing than the eastern.

It was pointed out that although troops had crossed the German border at some points in the west, there is nothing to indicate that the German command has pulled any forces from the east, even for the big counteroffensive now under way.

Speculation on the area of the Soviet offensive centers largely on the Vistula front, where the broad Polish plains offer favorable ground for use of large masses of Russian cavalry and mechanized equipment.

The Germans apparently have established strong defenses along the Vistula. Behind it, east of Lodz, is a north-south line of high ground on which secondary defenses may have been anchored.

As an alternative to a strike from the Vistula, the Russians might push against East Prussia with the objective of clearing the Baltic coast as far west as the border of Germany proper. German defenses in East Prussia, however, are believed to be far stronger than in the Vistula area. Another unfavorable factor to any action in that vicinity is the threat poised by the German pocket in north Latvia.

Russia has promised to meet the rising Allied demand for more action by hurling three army groups against the Germans on the Eastern front.

The forthcoming offensive as it expands probably will involve up to six army groups and its route may well be across the broad Polish plain directly into Germany.

Starting Date Revealed

The Red Army high command has informed the United States and Britain of the offensive's starting date, Soviet sources in Washington said.

Although mounted to speed Germany's defeat, the promised Red Army drive probably will not affect immediately the Western front where the Wehrmacht in a slashing counteroffensive is advancing into Belgium.

The Russian offensive has been delayed, it was said, by the fact that the Polish plain freezes later than the Russian steppes.

The initial onslaught will involve some three army groups. As the drive expands the Russians plan to employ up to six army groups. Although the Allies are counting on the projected winter smash, the Russian drive propably will not affect at once the western front.

Soviet sources in Washington say the Russian offensive has been delayed by the fact that the Polish plain freezes later than the Russian steppes.

Reds Promise Allies New Drives For Reich

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Soviet

NAZI DRIVE BARES NEW SUPPLY NEEDS

Washington, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—Germany's surprise counter-offensive today posed these harsh possibilities for the United States home front:

1. A war extending many months beyond the time once believed necessary to crush the Nazis.
2. Continued shortages of civilian goods.
3. Possibly larger draft calls.
4. Demands for more and more military supplies. American factories may be called on to re-equip the entire American First Army, which is bearing the brunt of the German winter attack.

A War Production Board official summed up the probable repercussions of the present European military situation thusly: It "will come back and hit us between the eyes in various ways."

War Secretary Stimson notes one bright possibility, suggesting that this mighty Nazi smash might parallel the Germans' supreme bid for victory in 1918. The 1918 offensive fell short of its objectives and was followed by imminent German collapse.

The Red armies will unleash a mighty winter offensive against the Germans, perhaps through Poland straight into the heart of Nazidom, the Russians have promised the Allies.

NAVY DISCLOSES NAMES OF 2 SHIPS LOST OFF LEYTE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—(AP) Two American warships lost off Leyte in the Philippines were identified by the Navy today as the destroyer Mahan and the destroyer transport Ward.

Loss of the two ships, which raises to 236 the number of naval losses since the war started was announced Dec. 8 by Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur. They were not identified at the time.

At that time he reported the vessels were heavily damaged by aerial torpedoes. Their crews were removed and the ships then were sunk by our own forces, he said.

There was no loss of life on the Ward, which had an outstanding war record including the sinking of a Japanese submarine early on December 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor day. Built during the last war, the Ward at that time was constructed in 17 1-2 days, setting a world's record for destroyer building.

The Mahan was built in 1933 and had participated in many landing actions throughout the Pacific area.

Next of kin of the casualties aboard the Mahan which carried a crew of approximately 170 men have been notified, the Navy said. The number of casualties was not disclosed.

Lieut. Richard E. Farwell was commanding officer of the 1,090 ton Ward, which had a normal complement of about 125 men. Farwell's address is San Diego, and his wife now lives at San Diego. He commanded the Ward in action in the Solomons off New Guinea during participation in landings at Biak and in actions in the Philippine area including bombardments and landings at Moratai and Leyte.

Cmdr. Ernest G. Campbell, a native of Portland, Oregon, whose wife now lives in Chevy Chase, Md., was skipper of the 1,450 ton Mahan. Engagements in which the Mahan participated included bombardment of Finsch Hafen, New Guinea, several engagements with enemy aircraft, and action in the New Britain and Admiralty areas before she was assigned to escort service in the Philippines.

NAZIS BURN HOMES IN NORTHERN NORWAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—(AP) The Germans are carrying off or destroying all food and burning all buildings as they retreat from northern Norway, the Norwegian ambassador said today.

In that sub-polar climate, "indescribable suffering" has resulted for the population, Ambassador Wilhelm Morgenstierne said in a statement.

"The inhabitants, old and young, men, women and children, are either left in the snow, darkness and cold, without shelter or food, or crowded into small boats under such conditions that many die from exposure and exhaustion."

The Ambassador said the Russian troops which crossed the Norwegian border in October are "doing everything to help" in the districts they have occupied, and that the Swedes are dropping food and clothing from the air but that such aid is necessarily limited.

Morgenstierne called the German action one which "in cruelty and horror ranks with the worst crimes committed by the Huns in this war."

Trench Feet Outdo Cooties As War Evil

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP) — Last war it was the cooties—this time it's trench feet the boys at the front cuss most.

And they're not only griping about it, a congressman-doctor just back from the trenches said today, but many of them are being laid up as casualties because of this affliction which affects circulation of the blood.

Serious Problem

"Last war we griped about trench feet, too, but it actually has become a serious problem this time," Representative Fenton (R., Pa.) told a reporter.

"It bothers the boys now a lot more than most of the shortages. In some serious cases gangrene has even set in."

Fenton is a physician who was elected to Congress six years ago. He served with the Army Medical Corps in France in 1917-18. He toured the European battlefronts this month with several other house Military Affairs committeemen.

Not Infection

Trench feet, he said, is a "circulatory disturbance" in which the blood does not flow properly and freely to the capillaries of the feet. Swelling results and it can be very painful. He stressed it is not an infection such as athlete's foot.

Chief cause of the affliction is lack of exercise, when a man is confined to a foxhole or trench for a long period. Poor-fitting shoes or infrequent changes of footwear increase the hazards.

ARMY CASUALTIES

Washington, Dec. 22 (A. P.).—The War Department announced today the names of 1,714 casualties in the European and Mediterranean war areas.

In all these cases the next of kin have previously been notified and have been kept informed directly by the War Department of any change in status.

Included in the list today are the following with their next of kin:

CORRESPONDENTS GET PURPLE HEART AWARDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 — (AP) Navy Secretary Forrestal today approved awarding of the Purple Heart decorations to three war correspondents killed or injured in Pacific war action. They are:

Jack Singer, international News Service; (posthumous); Charles H. McMurtry of the Associated Press, and Joe James Custer, United Press.

Singer died from wounds suffered when the aircraft carrier Wasp was sunk in the South Pacific, Sept. 15, 1942. A certificate and an engraved medal will be sent to his widow, the Navy said.

Both McMurtry, chief of the Associated Press bureau at Honolulu, and Custer will receive Purple Heart medals, authorization to wear a ribbon and in civilian clothes to wear lapel buttons representing the award. Custer was blinded in one eye in the sinking of the cruiser Astoria in a night engagement on Savo island, Aug. 8-9, 1942.

McMurtry was badly burned about the hands and face aboard the aircraft carrier during the battle of Santa Cruz in 1942. A flaming Japanese bomber rammed into the signal bridge on which he stood, missing him by less than eight feet and killing seven others nearby.

WAR DEPARTMENT ISSUES VIEWS ON YOUTH TRAINING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(AP) The War department favors strictly military universal training for purely military purposes, in contrast with President Roosevelt's suggestion of training with educational and social aspects.

The Department, it was disclosed today, has stated its policy in a circular recently distributed to officers. The circular endorses such training "for the one and only reason that without such a program the continued security of our national life and institutions can no longer be assured."

It adds: "There will be no place in a sound universal military training program for activities that are non essential to the task of preparing our young men for combat."

The views expressed in the circular are a reiteration of those previously outlined by department officials in speeches and before congressional committees.

President Roosevelt was asked at a press conference last month for his ideas on universal training.

He expressed hope that the new Congress would enact a compulsory, one-year training law; said that the degree of training would be up to the legislators; commented that there are lots of things a boy could do for his country; that there are different ideas on what constitutes military training; that cooking might be military training or might not, and so might carpentry.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters that it would be a good thing to build up youths, mentioning the physical benefits to those who served in the prewar civilian conservation corps.

The War department circular says the belief that the sole reason for universal military training is national defense represents "the considered and unqualified opinion of all the foremost military leaders of our nation today."

It makes three arguments in support:

"America probably will be the initial objective of the aggressors in any next war and the first engagements of that war will quite possibly be fought in our own homeland.

"Universal military training is absolutely essential in any practicable plan that can be considered adequate to insure the future security of our nation. x x x

"Universal military training will be our preparation for the next war."

The only alternative to this program would be to maintain a standing army and national guard of sufficient strength to meet all requirements for the first year of a total war, the Department says. It adds that such a plan would be "wholly impracticable" and the cost "prohibitive."

A year of training would be necessary, the Army says, adding: "We know that if we devote less time to the training of men who are to constitute units ready for combat, we shall be guilty of sending those men to battle without an average chance of survival and success."

Trainees under the universal program would be dispersed through air, ground and service units of all types to provide a "properly balanced force capable of sustained offensive or defensive operations immediately following mobilization day," the circular says.

FDR HOLDS LENGTHY MEETING WITH CABINET

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—(AP) President Roosevelt and his cabinet held an unusually lengthy meeting today, but there was no indication to what extent the German counter-offensive figured in the deliberations.

Secretary of War Stimson stayed an hour after other cabinet members left.

"Were you able to give him any encouraging report on the situation on the Western front?" a reporter queried.

"I hope so," Stimson replied. "I'm not stampeded on that at all."

He said, however, that it was "another matter" which kept him later than the other cabinet officers.

The cabinet meeting did not start on time at the scheduled hour of 2 o'clock, but it was one of the longest in months. Stimson did not depart until 5:45.

Aims Of Charter Still Valid, F.D.R. Says

Washintgon, Dec. 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today he thought "the objectives of the Atlantic Charter are valid as when they were announced in 1941."

He permitted direct quotation of that point during a news conference discussion of the Charter—which he said on Tuesday "never existed as a formal document."

A reporter had remarked that some people thought the Charter was losing its purposes or was slipping away and that he would "like to hear what the President thinks."

Cites Other Documents

The President would have preferred to think it over for a while, Mr. Roosevelt replied, but he said that through the years certain documents had seemed to maintain a good deal of importance, some affecting public thinking on objectives of a better world.

The objectives of the Atlantic Charter still stand, the President said, just as do objectives of documents which go back many centuries.

The objectives in some instances have never been obtained, Mr. Roosevelt continued, but they still are good. People don't live up to all the Ten Commandments and all the doctrines of Christianity, he went on, but they still are something pretty good to shoot at.

A Place In History

The President said he was not comparing the Charter with the Ten Commandments or the Christion religion. But, Mr. Roosevelt said, he thought the Charter would take its place in history as a major step forward—just as Wilson's Fourteen Points constituted something we all would like to see attained. They, too, he said, were a step toward a better life in the world.

[President Wilson's Fourteen Points listed peace objectives in World War I.]

Answers In Negative

Asked whether he was implying that "you are as far from attaining the ends of the Charter as the world a thousand years ago . . ." the President interrupted to halt the question with a negative.

The world, Mr. Roosevelt said, goes by peaks and valleys, although on the whole the curve is upward. Human life is on a better scale than it was a thousand years ago, he said, but we still have a long way to go and we still have to work for it.

Commander Tunney Named To New Post

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Commander James J. (Gene) Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion, is going to spend more time with the fleet in carrying on the Navy's physical-training program.

The Navy announced this tonight in disclosing that Tunney has been appointed special assistant to Vice Admiral Randall Jacobs, Chief of Naval Personnel, with complete charge of physical training.

The former boxing champion heretofore has held the title of "Officer in Charge, Physical Training Section of the Bureau of Personnel."

Tunney will be succeeded in his old post by Lieut. Com. C. M. Farrington, former director of athletics at George Washington University, Washington.

SHIPBUILDING BEING STUDIED

Construction Change Planned After July 1

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Construction of merchant-type ships will continue at the present high level during the first half of 1945.

Disclosing this today, a spokesman for the Maritime Commission said consideration is now being given to the size of the shipbuilding program for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The White House, the joint chiefs of staff, the Maritime Commission and the Budget Bureau are participating in conferences on the program for the next fiscal year.

Program Under Way

Recommendations of the joint chiefs of staff on the needs for new construction are expected to be the determining factor in deciding the construction schedule after July 1.

The program for the first half of the year already is under contract, and will not be changed materially as a result of Germany's counteroffensive or other military factors, it was said.

Merchant shipyards now are turning out vessels at a rate of approximately 18,000,000 deadweight tons annually, although production in the current calendar year may fall somewhat below this figure. Failure of the shipyards to meet last year's record of more than 19,000,000 deadweight tons is due in a large measure to the shift away from slow Liberty ships to slower-building vessels, such as the Victory ship and types for the military services.

Assault Ships

This shift away from the Liberty will continue in the first half of 1945, and by July 1 all outstanding contracts are scheduled to be completed. The commission is not expected to let any new contracts for the Liberty, and shipyards now building this vessel are expected to be put to work on other construction or turned into repair yards.

Production in the next few months will include large numbers of vessels for the armed forces, particularly assault transports and assault cargo ships. An increasing number of transport types also are on the schedule.

FDR Asks War Workers to Stick To Jobs for Our Fighting Men

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(AP) President Roosevelt asked the American people today for a Christmas present for the fighting forces. It is to stick on the job and turn out the supplies they need.

The President told a news conference there was nothing he could add to the press dispatches on the heavy fighting in Europe but that a lot of people had asked him what those at home could do for the fighting forces at this Christmas time.

He picked up a paper from his desk and read:

"We can best help the Christmas season of our fighting men if we carry on our respective tasks, doing those things which will contribute to winning the war at the earliest possible moment.

"Therefore, I urge that each of us resolve to keep on the job and maintain the steady output of supplies needed by our men on the fighting fronts."

The conference developed another lengthy discussion of the Atlantic Charter which the President disclosed earlier this week was never drafted as a formal document which he and Prime Minister Churchill signed.

Today's was initiated by a reporter's request for comment on what he said was a feeling by many people that "we are getting away from the purposes" of the charter.

Mr. Roosevelt said he thought "the objectives of the Atlantic Charter are as valid as when they were announced in 1941" and lent emphasis to this statement by authorizing its direct quotation.

He went on to say that many documents through the years have affected public thinking and helped the world advance even when their objectives were not fully attained.

PLASMA BILL IS SIGNED

President Approves Transfer of Some to Health Agencies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed legislation today which would authorize the transfer to Federal, State and local public health authorities and non-profit hospitals of 49,850 units of dried plasma and 29,200 units of frozen plasma.

The blood was collected by the American Red Cross and turned over to the Public Health Service for the treatment of casualties resulting from enemy action within the United States, Alaska and Puerto Rico. It will deteriorate if not used.

The Surgeon General can release any amount of the plasma he deems proper, if the agency which gets it will pay the transfer costs.

WLB REOPENS LOW-PAY ISSUE

Substandard Wage Case To Take In Other Industries

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—The whole issue of substandard pay was reopened before the War Labor Board today.

Labor members of the WLB demanded a floor at 72 cents an hour.

Public members went part of the way with a suggestion of 55 cents, but Chairman William H. Davis said that that figure was proposed "only as a basis for discussion" in the case at hand.

The board has been granting boosts to 50 cents, and in some cases ordering them, for correction of "substandards of living."

Not Limited To Textiles

Textile wage cases now before the board were the immediate issue, but the labor members said their proposal was not limited to that industry.

The public members' tentative figure was submitted in a form that could make it a general precedent.

Labor members in a statement on their stand asserted that the board had "refused to attack this [substandard] problem in a forthright fashion" and has "evaded the issue and sought to circumvent or postpone an adequate solution by creating wholly unsatisfactory administrative stopgaps."

Issues Statement

Emil Rieve, general president of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), issued a statement in which he said:

"If the public members of the board seriously are proposing to set 55 cents an hour as a minimum wage in the cotton textile industry they are obviously blind to the cold realities of the situation that now face the country.

"The public members of the board have before them tested statistics which show that in order to live even on the bare subsistence level defined by the WPA in the depth of the depression in 1935, a worker with a wife and two children to support now needs 72 cents an hour or $28.80 a week.

"Would Ignore Need"

"The public members of the board would completely ignore this need and say in effect:

"'You will have to get by on $22 a week.' The proposal would be ludicrous, if it were not so tragic."

Critical shortages in war-necessary cotton textiles, Rieve said, are due to low wages in the industry.

72-Cent Plan Tabled

Davis said the 72-cent proposal submitted in the form of a resolution, had been "tabled."

Other WLB officials said the labor members probably would insist on that figure in determining the minimum wage rate in the textile cases.

In their "across-the-board" resolution, the labor members said that evidence obtained from a study of subsistence budgets shows that 72 cents is necessary for a wage earner to maintain a family of four.

Terms Problem Evaded

They declared the WLB persisted in evasion of the substandard rate problem "despite presidential assurances, despite powers granted in statutes and executive orders, despite its own brave words that action would be taken to meet the problem of eliminating the problem of substandard living."

Davis said the 55-cent rate suggested by Dr. George W. Taylor, the board's vice chairman and public member, was submitted merely as a point on which to start discussions. He said the public members, including Taylor, were not committed to that rate.

Davis explained that in discussing such cases, the board as a routine policy designates a public member "to put into writing something which will form the basis for discussion of details of the case."

"Always Changed"

None of these discussion documents, such as Taylor submitted, has ever come out of final discussion in the form in which it was presented, Davis declared.

The Taylor suggestion, in addition to laying the 55-cent floor, would increase the minimum rate for all textile employés by 5 cents an hour. New England mills have a minimum of 52 cents, which would be boosted to 57.

The International Textile Workers Union (CIO) has asked a 60-cent hourly minimum and a 7-cent premium pay for the third shift.

PASSENGER CAR TIRE OUTPUT

ORDERED CUT

WPB Official Says More Truck Casings For Military Use Planned

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—A sharp reduction has been ordered in the output of passenger-car tires in the first quarter of 1945 in an effort to increase production for the armed forces.

James F. Clark, director of the War Production Board's rubber bureau, announced today that about five million passenger-car tires will be produced in the first quarter, a slash of approximately 1,650,000 from present production levels.

Clark said the action made it "very apparent" that "A" card holders must get along with their present casings "for a good part of 1945."

DEC 23 1944

More Military Tires

The reduction is even more drastic in the light of previously scheduled increases for the first quarter. About 8,000,000 passenger-car tires might have been produced in the first three months of next year under the old schedules.

Clark said a diversion of manpower and conversion of facilities from production of passenger-car tires to military types was necessary in view of heavy requirements by the armed forces.

He estimated today's action would make possible expanded production of military tires, in addition to output already scheduled, at a quarterly rate of 350,000 in the critical A-5 classification, and make it possible to eliminate an existing deficit. These tires are used on medium-sized army trucks.

New Rationing Quotas

W. J. Sears, assistant director of the rubber bureau, said he believed the reduced production level would be sufficient to keep "essential cars running."

New rationing quotas, based on the reduction schedule, probably will be announced over the week end by the Office of Price Administration.

In December 2,000,000 passenger-car tires were released for rationing, an increase of 150,000 from November. As of December 1, a backlog of 750,000 approved applications remained unfilled but this is expected to be reduced to about 550,000 by January 1.

Tire Conservation Urged

Clark said "B" and "C" motorists cannot expect to receive as many new tires as had been expected, and urged them to conserve their existing tires "in every way possible."

The reduction in passenger-car tires will be brought about through allocation of cotton tire cord and fabric, previously unallocated.

Dewey Is Invited To Inauguration

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP) — Now it's up to Thomas E. Dewey alone as to whether he goes to the White House.

Defeated for the Republican nomination in 1940, and for the Presidency itself in 1944, it looked until today as though the New York Governor might never see the inside of 1600 Pennsylvania avenue.

President Roosevelt himself expressed a desire to have the 48 Governors at his fourth inaugural January 20, his first to be held at the Executive Mansion.

On Invitation List

Dewey and his 47 colleagues were placed on the invitation list promptly.

There was some talk in the inauguration committee about the wisdom of relaxing the travel restrictions even for the Governors. It was decided, however, that few of those from afar would make the trip.

The committee hasn't made up its mind yet whether to invite the members of the Democratic National Committee.

Bulging as usual, the Capital might not be able to offer much in the way of lodgings.

12-To-15-Minute Ceremony

The ceremony itself will be prosaic. Senate Secretary Edwin A. Halsey, who also is secretary of the inaugural committee, said it would be over in 12 to 15 minutes.

The President's speech will probably be a five-minute affair.

Everybody has to stand on the White House lawn. If the weather is like most Januarys around here, bring your boots.

F.D.R. Slaps At Columnists

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt described columnists today as an unnecessary excrescence on our civilization—but he quickly declared Mrs. Roosevelt's newspaper column is different.

The First Lady writes mostly a diary, he explained to a news conference.

The question of columnists arose this way:

A reporter said there has been some discussion of joint chiefs of staff to handle political and economic matters for the Allies. He asked whether anything like that was contemplated.

Mr. Roosevelt replied that he thought columnists suggested it.

"I'm not a columnist and I wrote it," remarked James Wright, of the Buffalo Evening News.

All he could say, the President replied, is that columnists are an unnecessary excrescence on our civilization.

"But you've got one in the family," burst out Elisabeth May Craig, who represents Maine newspapers.

Mr. Roosevelt laughed with his audience and said that was perfectly true. But, he said, Mrs. Roosevelt's column is a little bit different because mostly it's a diary.

RIFT DENIED BY HANNEGAN

Story Of Discord With President "Untrue," He Says

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic National chairman, today denied—and President Roosevelt dismissed as something he wouldn't care to discuss—a published story of discord at a meeting between the two.

At his news conference, the President was asked about the story, published in the Chicago Sun, and replied that he did not think he wanted to comment on stories of that kind.

Through the Democratic National Committee, Hannegan issued a statement later calling the report "patently and wholly untrue."

Published Account

The published account said that during the President's recent vacation Hannegan visited him at Warm Springs, Ga., to discuss the party chairman's political future.

It called the atmosphere of the meeting "none too friendly."

The story said Hannegan after the successful fourth-term campaign had confidently expected to be made Postmaster General. Frank C. Walker decided to stay on in that position, however, the story continued, and Hannegan probably will remain as chairman.

"Totally Untrue"

The Postmaster Generalship, a Cabinet post, has been by custom the reward of the party chief.

The published story said the three news men who accompanied Mr. Roosevelt were forbidden to mention Hannegan's visit because the Chief Executive was in Warm Springs "off the record."

Hannegan's statement said:

"The statement is patently and totally untrue. Our alleged conversation and the subsequent conference with the President were most cordial and friendly. There were no controversies and the Postmaster Generalship was never even mentioned.

Another Story Denied

"The President knows my views in regard to public office and I understand his position. Without going into details, I may state that our talks, apart from the usual holiday pleasantries, were in relation to purely political matters."

Hannegan also denied another published story that he planned to open a Washington law office.

OPA ASSAILED OVER CATTLE

Senators Warn Against Ceilings On Live Cattle

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Imposition of ceiling prices on live cattle, a group of western senators said today, would result in premature selling of animals, a reduction in meat supply and confusion among producers.

The sixteen senators expressed unanimous agreement that such ceilings would be "completely unpractical" and would be impossible to enforce because of lack of manpower.

The senators held a two-hour closed conference with War Food and Price Administration executives to discuss the meat problem.

New York Problem Cited

Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), serving as spokesman, told reporters afterward that the problem, such as prompted New York and New Jersey butchers threaten to close their shops if OPA rules are not revised, might be eased if there was less talk about live ceilings.

Contending ceilings would lead to premature sale of cattle, O'Mahoney said:

"It would do the consumers in New York no good to have 40,000,000 head sold at an average weight of 600 pounds each, instead of 35,000,000 head at 1,000 to 1,100 pounds."

An order calling for ceilings is reported to be on the desk of Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson, but there was no indication of its terms.

O'Mahoney declined to go into this phase of the situation, saying he had not been authorized by the OPA to disclose any details.

Senator Butler (R., Neb.) said:

"Producers' costs have advanced terribly and they cannot absorb any further rollback of prices.

Retail Price Rise Suggested

"Any proposed increased packer subsidy will not reach the producer or feeder. It may be OPA should permit some increase in retail prices of meat, the same as it has allowed in other lines."

Cattle feeders, Butler said, "are in for a terrible headache" if the change contemplated by the OPA becomes effective.

O'Mahoney said the attitude of the senators at the meeting was that nothing should be done until producers or their representatives have an opportunity to present their point of view in Washington.

"If they don't do that," Senator Wherry (R., Neb.) said, "there is going to be an impact that will raise hell."

France Pays Gold To Belgian Bank

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—The transfer of $223,292,833 in fine gold from the account of the Bank of France to the account of the National Bank of Belgium was announced today by John Foster Dulles, counsel for the Belgian bank, who said the action ended litigation based on the transfer of Belgian funds by France to the German Reichsbank.

Dulles said that during the litigation, which the Belgian bank began in 1941, approximately $500,000,000 in gold on account with the Federal Reserve Bank for the Bank of France was attached by the Belgian bank. The attachment was the largest ever made, he said.

Reached U.S. Supreme Court

The case was settled by agreement last October. Instituted in New York Supreme Court, it had reached the United States Supreme Court.

"After the liberation of France," Dulles said, "prompt steps were taken by the Bank of France to assure that the relations between the two central banks would be on that basis of mutual confidence which had long prevailed between them."

Dulles, who was Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's foreign affairs adviser in the presidential campaign, said the litigation was based on events during the Winter of 1939-40, when the Belgian bank intrusted its gold to the Bank of France for safekeeping.

After France was invaded, he said, the French shipped the gold to Dakar, and when the Bank of France came under control of the Vichy Government the gold was flown to Marseille, delivered to the Reichsbank and later sent to Germany.

Calls Shipment 'Outrageous'

Dulles described the shipment to Germany as "outrageous" and said one of France's major items of business after its liberation was to make a settlement with Germany for the gold.

The Bank of Belgium has agreed, he added, to help the Bank of France "recover from the German Government or the Reichsbank" all the gold.

Phone Operators Send Notice Of Strike Vote

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—Formal notice of the strike vote of long distance telephone operators here was approved today by the executive board of the Federation of Long Lines Telephone Workers (Ind.), which will forward the notice to Washington.

These operators are employés of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

C. T. Deats, vice president of the federation, said the notice was sent by its New York city local, 98.3 per cent of whose members voted in favor of a strike to obtain a $5 weekly wage increase.

Must Wait 30 Days

Under the terms of the Smith Connally Act, the local must wait 30 days from the day Government agencies receive the strike notice and then vote again, with balloting arranged by the labor board.

The local claims 3,700 members among the 6,000 long-distance operators in the New York city area.

Meanwhile, a strike vote among 12,000 employés of the New York Telephone Company, including local operators, has been ordered by the general executive committee of the Traffic Employés Association (Independent).

GOP Headquarters On Full-Time Basis

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—Operation of the Republican party headquarters on a full-time basis has been agreed upon by GOP leaders.

In an all-day conference yesterday Herbert Brownell, Jr., Republican national chairman, and Senate and House party leaders recognized Thomas E. Dewey, defeated presidential candidate, as active titular head of the party. Dewey was present.

Subjects Listed

The meeting was said to have discussed the following subjects:

1. Establishment of a national organization for a vigorous, continually functioning opposition party.

2. Co-ordination of views and activities of Republican leaders in Congress, the national committee and others.

3. Building of a firm foundation for political expression of the 22,000,000 voters who balloted for the party in the presidential elections.

Martin At Session

Conferring with Dewey and Brownell were Senator Kenneth S. Wherry, of Nebraska; Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Massachusetts, Republican minority leader; Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan, chairman of the Republican Senate Conference; Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio, chairman of the Republican Steering Committee in the Senate; Representative Roy O. Woodruff, Michigan, chairman of the House Republican Conference, and Representative Charles A. Halleck, Indiana, chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee.

New Type Destroyer; Placed In Commission

Boston, Dec. 22 (AP)—The U.S.S. Southerland, a new type 2,200-ton destroyer, was placed in commission at the Boston Navy Yard today by Rear Admiral Felix Gygax, USN, commandant of the First Naval District.

Named in honor of the late Rear Admiral William Henry Hudson Southerland, USN, of New York city, the new destroyer will be commanded by Commander Russell C. Williams, USN, of Norfolk, Va. His executive officer will be Lieut. Com. Edward Muhlenfeld, USN, of Baltimore.

The U.S.S. Southerland was launched at the Bath Iron Works, Inc., Bath, Maine, on October 5. The vessel was sponsored by Mrs. Edmund Richardson, of Washington, D. C., daughter of Admiral Southerland.

Cruiser Oklahoma City Placed In Commission

Philadelphia, Dec. 22 (AP)—The light cruiser Oklahoma City, built at the Cramp Shipbuilding Company, Philadelphia, was commissioned here today.

Capt. Charles R. Hunt, Pasadena, Cal., who commands the ship, told her officers and men: "It is up to us to give the Oklahoma City the best we have, that she may join the fleet eager and able to carry out her share of the work set to be done."

DEC 23 1944

Rear Admiral Milo F. Draemel, commandant of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, told the men: "You are somewhat akin to a football squad out for its first practice. As it is with the football team so it is with a ship. Teamwork gives you confidence—confidence in yourselves, confidence in your shipmates, confidence in the fighting strength of your ship."

OTHER DISPATCHES SAID THAT THE GERMAN ATTEMPT TO THRUST NORTHWARD IN BELGIUM HAD BEEN FOILED LARGELY BY HEAVY FIGHTING ALONG A MOUNTAIN STREAM NAMED THE L'AMBLEVE WHICH RUNS BETWEEN STAVELOT AND MALMEDY. THE GERMANS FIRST TRIED TO CROSS THE STREAM TUESDAY NIGHT. BUT IN THAT AND SUBSEQUENT ATTEMPTS THE ONLY NAZIS TO REACH THE AMERICAN BANK WERE QUICKLY CAPTURED OR KILLED.

BY WILLIAM F.BONI

WITH THE U.S. FIRST ARMY, DEC. 22-(AP)-SINCE THE GERMANS OPENED THEIR MASSIVE WINTER OFFENSIVE THEY HAVE BEEN TRYING DESPERATELY TO CRACK THE NORTHERN LINE ALONG WHICH THE AMERICAN DOUGHBOYS ARE CONTAINING THEM.

WHEN THE EARLY MORNING MIST CLEARED ABOUT 10 A.M. TODAY THERE WERE 28 WRECKED ENEMY TANKS ALONG ONE SECTOR OF THE FRONT. THAT IS A SAMPLE OF THE INFENSITY OF THE FIGHTING.

ELEMENTS OF GERMAN DIVISIONS HAVE TAKEN A CRACK AT THIS SOLID AMERICAN SHOULDER THAT IS HOLDING THEM SHORT OF THE VALUABLE ROAD NETWORK THEY SEEK, AND TANGLING THEIR COLUMNS ALONG ROADS IN REAR AREAS FOR LACK OF SPACE TO MOVE AHEAD.

THOSE DIVISIONS HAVE TAKEN HEAVY CASUALTIES AND IN THE MOST RECENT FIGHTING THEY HAVE MADE VIRTUALLY NO PROGRESS, EVEN THOUGH THEY NOW ARE SUPPORTED BY CONCENTRATIONS OF ARTILLERY WHICH WERE LACKING IN THE OPENING PHASES OF THE ASSAULT.

DURING THE FIRST DAYS OF THE ENEMY'S PENETRATION, ARTILLERY AND THE AIR FORCE WERE THE AMERICAN FIRST ARMY'S TWO STRONGEST DEFENSIVE WEAPONS AND THE ONES IN WHICH THE FIRST COMMANDED THE GREATEST SUPERIORITY.

BUT UNTIL THE CLOUDS BROKE FOR A FEW HOURS TODAY, THE AIR FORCE HAD BEEN TIED TO THE GROUND BY FOG AND MIST FOR THREE DAYS, WHILE FIELD MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT WAS ABLE TO BRING UP GUNS.

THESE GUNS, RANGING UP AT LEAST TO 150-MM, ARE SUPPORTING THE INCESSANT HAMMERING AT AMERICAN TROOPS PENNING THE GERMANS SOUTH OF MALMEDY AND STAVELOT.

THERE WAS A HEAVY SNOWFALL IN THIS SECTOR DURING THE NIGHT. WHEN THE HAZE LIFTED, THE HULKS OF SMASHED AND BURNED-OUT TANKS STOOD PLAINLY AMID THE SURROUNDING WHITE.

THOSE 28 ARE ONLY PART OF THE BAG TAKEN BY VETERAN UNITS WHICH HAVE BEEN FIGHTING SIDE BY SIDE ALMOST THROUGHOUT THE WEEK--ONE OF WHICH HAD TO CALL FOR ARTILLERY FIRE WITHIN 100 YARDS OF ITS OWN COMMAND POST TO HALT GERMAN PANZERS ON THE SECOND MORNING OF THE DRIVE.

INTO THIS FIGHTING ALSO HAS GONE THE CONFUSING EFFECT OF HAVING THE GERMANS USE AMERICAN UNIFORMS, JEEPS AND SHERMAN TANKS.

LT.COL.WAYNE WOOD, SAN ANTONIO, TEX., OF ONE OF THE DIVISIONS INVOLVED, TOLD HOW AN ARTILLERY COMMANDER LOOKED OUT OF HIS OPERATIO POST, CAME BACK AND SAID: "HELL, HOW COULD YOU KNOW WHAT WAS WHAT WHEN THERE WERE THREE TO FOUR OF OUR VEHICLES IN LINE SUDDENLY FOLLOWED BY TIGER TANKS?"

IT WAS AT 7 A.M. SUNDAY THAT THIS DIVISION SENT OUT WORD TO ITS UNITS ALREADY STRIKING WELL INTO MONSCHAU FOREST THAT THEY WOULD HAVE TO FALL BACK TO GUARD AGAINST AN ENEMY THREAT COMING UP FROM THE SOUTH.

THREE HOURS LATER, GERMAN TANKS WERE INTO A SMALL TOWN, HELD A RAILWAY BRIDGE AND WERE FOLLOWED ALMOST IMMEDIATELY BY HALF-TRACKS AND OTHER PERSONNEL CARRIERS WHICH UNLOADED INFANTRY. THE INFANTRY BEGAN COMBING THROUGH THE TOWN.

TROOPS MANAGED TO BLOW UP A GASOLINE DUMP, BUT QUARTERMASTER PERSONNEL HAD TO ABANDON A FAIR SUPPLY OF RATIONS AND OTHER STORES WHEN THE ONCOMING GERMANS FORCED THEM TO TAKE OFF TO THE NORTH.

DIVISION COMMAND POST WAS IN A NEARBY VILLAGE AND TWO TANKS AND HALF-TRACKS DROVE TO WITHIN 300 YARDS OF IT. ALL HEADQUARTERS PERSONNEL WERE IN THE FIRING LINE, AND WOOD REPORTED THAT A COOK AND A DRIVER MANNING AN ANTITANK GUN STOPPED ONE TANK DEAD WITH THEIR FIRST SHOT. OTHER HEADQUARTERS PERSONNEL CHOPPED DOWN ESCAPING CREWMEN WITH 50-CALIBER MACHINEGUN FIRE.

A TANK DESTROYER UNIT WHICH BARELY HAD SWUNG INTO LINE KNOCKED OUT A SECOND GERMAN TANK, AND AS A HALF-TRACK ROLLED UP IT WAS SMASHED AMIDSHIPS BY ANOTHER ROUND. AGAIN MACHINEGUNS CUT A CLEAR SWATH THROUGH THE RANKS OF DISPERSING GERMAN INFANTRY.

A FORMATION OF FIVE TANKS WAS SPOTTED MOVING NORTHEAST CLOSE TO THE COMMAND POST. THE FIRST ARTILLERY RANGING SHELL LANDED 50 YARDS FROM HEADQUARTERS. THEN THE FIRST SALVO FELL SQUARE ON THE TARGET, WRECKING ALL FIVE.

ANOTHER GROUP OF FIVE COMING ALONG BEHIND SAW THE TRAIL BLAZERS BURNING AND TRIED TO TURN AROUND IN THE ROAD, BUT THEY TOO WERE CAUGHT BY ARTILLERY.

SOME GERMAN TANKS DID MANAGE TO GET INTO THE VILLAGE, WHICH WAS RETAKEN FROM THE GERMANS YESTERDAY, AND AS THEY ROLLED THROUGH THE MAIN STREET GI'S IN SECOND FLOORS OF THE HOUSES DROPPED FIVE-GALLON GASOLINE CANS ON TO THE TANKS, SETTING A NUMBER ON FIRE.

THE DIVISION COMMAND POST WAS SAVED FOR A SECOND TIME FROM BEING OVERRUN WHEN AN INFANTRY BATTALION CAME INTO LINE JUST AS GERMAN INFANTRY WAS GETTING SET TO LAUNCH AN ATTACK. IT WAS UNDER FIRE FROM GERMAN 88'S BUT THIS WAS SILENCED TO SOME EXTENT BY COUNTER-BATTERY FIRE.

BY THOBURN WIANT

WITH THE U.S. SEVENTH ARMY, DEC. 22-(AP)-THE GERMAN BREAKTHROUGH ON THE U.S. FIRST ARMY FRONT APPARENTLY IS A MORALE-BUILDER FOR MANY GERMANS FIGHTING ON THE SEVENTH'S FRONT HERE.

UNTIL THE BREAKTHROUGH MOST GERMAN PRISONERS FELT THE WAR WAS OVER FOR THEM AND ABOUT OVER FOR THE REICH. IN THE PAST FEW DAYS THE PRISONERS' ATTITUDE SEEMS CHANGED. NOW MANY ADMIT THEY DO NOT KNOW EXACTLY HOW THE BREAKTHROUGH IS TO BE EXPLOITED, BUT FEEL THAT IF ANYTHING CAN WIN THE WAR FOR THE REICH THAT OPERATION WILL TURN THE TRICK.

THE GERMANS' FIERCE RESISTANCE, INCLUDING COUNTERATTACKS IN THE COLMAR-MULHOUSE POCKET, IS MORE UNDERSTANDABLE IN VIEW OF THE ENEMY'S SUCCESS ON THE FIRST'S FRONT. AFTER THE FRENCH AND AMERICANS ON THIS SECTOR BROKE THROUGH TO THE RHINE RIVER AND STARTED MOPPING UP THE ALSATIAN PLAIN THE GERMANS IN THE COLMAR-MULHOUSE AREA BEGAN TO RETREAT ACROSS THE RHINE OVER THE NEUF-BRISACH BRIDGE. THEN AROUND DEC. 1 THE RETREAT HALTED AND THE GERMANS BEGAN FLOCKING BACK FROM THE REICH INTO THE ALSATIAN POCKET.

GERMAN COUNTERATTACKS THEN DISLODGED THE FRENCH AND AMERICANS FROM SOME TOWNS. GESTAPO CHIEF HEINRICH HIMMLER HIMSELF VISITED THE POCKET, EXHORTING THE GERMANS TO RESIST TO THE UTMOST. GERMAN FORCES WERE BUILT UP TO ABOUT 35,000.

AT FIRST THE GERMANS' RESISTANCE IN THE COLMAR-MULHOUSE POCKET SEEMED DESIGNED TO TIE UP MANY DIVISIONS IN THAT AREA AND PREVENT THEM FROM JOINING OTHERS HACKING THE FRINGE OF THE SIEGFRIED LINE.

THE BREAKTHROUGH OF THE FIRST ARMY FRONT SHED ADDITIONAL LIGHT ON THE GERMANS' POCKET OPERATION. WHEN THE BREAKTHROUGH STARTED IN THE NORTH THE GERMANS IN THE POCKET AREA CEASED ACROSS-THE-LINE BROADCASTS. THERE WERE OTHER SIGNS THAT THE POCKET OPERATION MIGHT BE SERVING A SECOND PURPOSE--AS A RED HERRING FOR THE BREAKTHROUGH.

THE GERMANS' POCKET OPERATION ALSO IS SERVING A THIRD PURPOSE, PURELY POLITICAL. THE POCKET, WHICH IS ABOUT 25 MILES LONG EXTENDIN IN WIDTH FROM THE VOSGES TO THE RHINE, IS THE LAST LINK GERMANY HAS WITH ALSACE, WHERE THE NAZIS BENT BACKWARDS TO DO A SUPERLATIVE PROPAGANDA JOB.

THE GERMANS DROPPED LEAFLETS AT STRASBOURG AND ELSEWHERE SAYING "WE ARE COMING BACK."

SOME ALSATIANS FROM THE BEGINNING OF THE FRENCH-AMERICAN LIBERATI WERE SKEPTICAL ABOUT THE FUTURE. THE POCKET OF RESISTANCE MADE OTHERS DUBIOUS. THEN THE BREAKTHROUGH IN THE NORTH MADE EVERYONE THINK.

A FEW ALSATIANS CONFIDED TO THIS CORRESPONDENT THAT THEY HAD THEIR BAGS PACKED.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM, DEC22-(AP)-ELEVEN AMERICAN SOLDIERS HAD TO STRANGLE THEIR PET DOG TO KEEP HIM FROM GIVING AWAY THEIR HIDING PLACE TO THE GERMANS.

EIGHT SIGNALMEN AND THREE OTHERS, CAUGHT IN A TOWN WHEN GERMAN AR SWEPT THROUGH, HID FOR TEN HOURS IN THE CELLAR OF A HOUSE OCCUPIED B ENEMY ARMORED TROOPS.

WHEN A GERMAN OFFICER IN DRESS BLOUSE AND AN ENEMY EXLISTED MAN WALKED INTO THE CELLAR "TUFFY", A PINT-SIZED BROWN PUP, KEPT QUIET, AND THE CROUCHING SOLDIERS WERE NOT SEEN IN THE DARK.

SHORTLY THEREAFTER THE PUP BEGAN TO BARK PLAYFULLY. AFRAID TO RISK THEIR LIVES BY REPEATEDLY TRYING TO KEEP HIM QUIET, ONE SOLDIER REACHED OUT IN THE DARK AND QUIETLY CHOKED "TUFFY".

THERE WAS A LONG SILENCE AS THE MEN RECALLED HOW THEY HAD ADOPTED "TUFFY" AS A WOBBLY PUPPY WEEKS AGO.

THE MEN WERE IN THE HOUSE AND WERE JUST SITTING DOWN TO BREAKFAST WHEN THE ARMORED FORCES BROKE INTO TOWN . AS MACHINEGUN FIRE BEGAN SP THE HOUSE THEY DIVED INTO THE CELLAR.

BLACK UNIFORMED CREWS OFTWO PANZER TANKS BROKE IN, SEARCHED HASTILY AND THEN SAT DOWN AND ATE THE SIGNALMEN'S BREAKFAST.

"THERE WAS NO WAY OUT SO WE JUST SAT TIGHT IN THE CELLAR," SAID TECH.SGT.JACK MCCLURE, OF 708 HOUSTON ST., SHERMAN, TEXAS. "WE WERE DIVEBOMBED BY OUR OWN PLANES AND RAKED BY OUR OWN ARTILLERY BUT IT WA MUSIC TO OUR EARS."

DURING THE DAY, AS MANY AS 18 GERMANS WANDERED ABOUT UPSTAIRS, ATE AMERICAN RATIONS AND SMOKED THE SIGNALMEN'S CIGARETTES WHILE BELOW THEY WERE AFRAID TO LIGHT UP FOR FEAR OF BEING CAUGHT.

ONCE ONE NAZI RAKED THE STAIRS AND CELLAR DOOR WITH A MACHINE PIST ANOTHER LOOKED IN THE BASEMENT WINDOW AND PASSING TANKS PEPPERED THE BUILDING WITH SCATTERED FIRE.

DURING THE DAY THREE OTHER AMERICANS SLIPPED INTO THE CELLAR

SANCTUARY--A COMBAT ENGINEER WHO HAD HIDDEN FOR HOURS IN THE SNOW, A DOUGHBOY LOST FROM HIS UNIT AND AN ACK-ACK GUNNER. THEY SLIPPED IN UNDER THE VERY NOSES OF THE NAZIS.

SPLITTING INTO TWO GROUPS, THE YANKS MADE A BRWAK FOR THEIR OWN LINES AFTER DARK. AS THEY LEFT THEY SAID THE NAZIS STARTED TO BURN DOWN THE TOWN AND BLOW UP CAPTURED AMMUNITION. THE MEN HIKED MILES THROUGH THE MUD, SLUSH AND WATER AND ONCE, WHILE CRAWLING ACROSS A CREEK ON A SLIPPERY POLE, SGT. ROBERT E. STANCLIFF, OF 171 EDGAR ST., WOODBRIDGE, N.J., SLIPPED AND FELL IN THE WATER WITH A LOUD SPLASH.

THEY WAITED FEARFULLY BUT THE NAZI OUTPOSTS HAD FAILED TO HEAR I' FINALLY, THEY SAW PATROL AHEAD AND HESITATED. WERE THEY FRIEND OR F(

"ARE YOU AMERICANS," DOUBTFULLY CALLED T/5 JOSEPH L.HILL, OF 116S CLAY ST., BOWLING GREEN, KY.

"NO, WE ARE YANKS," CAME THE ANSWER.

AND SOUTHERNER THOUGH HE IS, THAT WORD HAD A WELCOME RING IN HILL EARS. THEY WERE SAFE.

OTHER SIGNALMEN WERE T/3 JAMES A.CAMERON, 1000 SOUTH WALNUT ST., INGLEWOOD, CALIF., T/4 NATHAN SHARNEY, OF 745 WESTGATE ST., ST.LOUIS MO., T/4 RAYMOND B.MILLER, OF HELENA, MONT., AND T/5 ADAM P.KULIG, 931 SARATOGA ST., UTICA, N.Y.

IN AMERICAN OCCUPIED BELGIUM, DEC. 20-(DELAYED)-(AP)-THIS IS BELGIUM TODAY, WITH HER TIDY INDUSTRIAL TOWNS AND ROLLING HILLS ONCE AGAIN THREATENED BY GERMAN ATTACK:

YOU CAN SEE THE FEAR OF THE TEUTON IN ALMOST EVERY EYE. WOMEN, YOUNG GIRLS AND OLD MEN CHEER AND WAVE TO EACH TROOP TRUCK AND TANK MOVING TOWARD THE FRONT. WHEN A CONVOY IS HEADED THE OTHER WAY THEY GLANCE AT EACH OTHER WITH MUTE, QUESTIONING LOOKS THAT SEEM TO ASK WITHOUT WORDS, "HAVE THE GERMANS BROKEN THROUGH?"

BELGIAN CIVILIANS CLUSTER TOGETHER ON EVERY STREET CORNER IN A VILLAGE NEAR THE FIGHTING ZONE. WHERE THE LONG COMBAT COLUMNS HALT MOMENTARILY, SOMEONE CALLS OUT IN BROKEN ENGLISH, "ZEE BATTLE! HOW GOES IT? BETTER, YES?"

IN MOST CASES THE TROOPS JUST SHAKE THEIR HEADS SILENTLY WITHOUT ANSWERING. THEY HAVE BEEN WARNED OF SPIES AND ENEMY AGENTS WHO MIGHT BE TRYING TO PICK UP INFORMATION THIS WAY.

YET THE ONE THING THAT AMAZES YOU IS HOW SPEEDILY WORD OF A GERMAN ADVANCE GETS AROUND. EACH GROUP OF GOSSIPERS HAS HALF A HUNDRED UNCONFIRMED RUMORS---BUT ON THE OTHER HAND, SOMETIMES THEY CHAT WITH ASTONISHING KNOWLEDGE OF MILITARY EVENTS WHICH ARE TAKING PLACE 75 MILES AWAY. IT MAKES YOU WONDER HOW ANY BATTLE SECRET CAN BE KEPT. ALL BELGIUM IS AN EAR--AND A VOICE SPREADING RUMORS.

THE TROOPS HAVE LOST MUCH OF THE BOYISH EXUBERANCE WITH WHICH THEY CHASED THE GERMANS ACROSS BELGIUM THREE MONTHS AGO. THEY RIDE TO BATTLE NOW WITH GRIM AND SERIOUS FACES. THERE IS LITTLE TALK NOW OF HOW SOON THE WAR WILL END, AND JESTS ABOUT "HOME BY CHRISTMAS" BRING ONLY TIRED SMILES.

CHILDREN STILL STAND BY THE ROADSIDE SHOUTING "ALLO," BUT THE SHOWERS OF CHEWING GUM AND CANDY ARE FEW NOW. THE TROOPS ARE TOO PREOCCUPIED. AT ONE INTERSECTION A SMALL BELGIAN BOY PLAYING SOLDIER STRUTS PAST CARRYING A WOODEN SWORD AND WEARING THE INNER LINING OF AN AMERICAN HELMET.

THE ROADS ARE GRIMY AND MUDDY AND FILLED WITH ENDLESS TRAFFIC. THEY ARE LINED AGAIN WITH GROUPS OF FRIGHTENED REFUGEES. EVERYONE CURSES THE WEATHER BECAUSE IT KEEPS ALLIED AIR POWER FROM SMASHING AT ENEMY TRANSPORT AND TROOP CONCENTRATIONS. MANY SHOPKEEPERS BOARD UP THEIR WINDOWS AND CLOSE SHOP. SOME SOLDIERS SNATCH KISSES FROM BELGIAN GIRL FRIENDS BEFORE THEIR UNIT PULLS OUT. THEY KISS OPENLY AND NO ONE FROWNS. THERE IS NO TIME FOR COYNESS.

3o 24 — 21469

TANK AND TRUCK RETRIEVER VEHICLES ROAR PAST WITH THEIR RED LIGHTS FLASHING "KEEP OVER" AS THEY HAUL BACK VEHICLES WHICH HAVE BEEN KNOCKED OUT IN BATTLE OR IN ROAD ACCIDENTS. IN AN ORCHARD TWO GREAT PITS SURROUNDED BY FRESH EARTH MARK NEAR MISSES BY GERMAN BOMBERS WHICH TRIED TO WIPE OUT A COLUMN OF MEDICS. BY THE ROADSIDE LIE TWO BLANKET-COVERED FORMS WITH THEIR HELMETS BY THEIR SIDE. THERE ARE LARGE RED CROSSES ON THE HELMETS SHOWING THE TWO MEN WERE MEDICS. THEY HAD STARTED TO RUN, BUT FLYING BOMB FRAGMENTS CUT THEM DOWN.

EVERYTHING IS MOVING. THERE IS NOISE EVERYWHERE LEADING UP TO THE FIGHTING ZONE. AT THE EDGE OF THE BATTLE ITSELF THERE COMES A STRANGE SILENCE. THEN THE LULL IS ENDED BY THE SOUND OF CRASHING GUNS AND A BATTLE OF SMALL ARMS FIRE.

BELGIUM IS ONCE AGAIN A WORLD BATTLEFRONT.

PARIS, DEC.22-(AP)-THE NEW FRENCH-RUSSIAN 20-YEAR ALLIANCE WAS SENT TO THE FRENCH CABINET TODAY FOR WHAT WAS EXPECTED TO BE CERTAIN RATIFICATION FOLLOWING ITS APPROVAL YESTERDAY BY A UNANIMOUS VOTE OF THE CONSULTATIVE ASSEMBLY.

AT THE CONCLUSION OF YESTERDAY'S DEBATE ON THE PACT, WHICH IS DESIGNED TO CONTAIN GERMANY BETWEEN EUROPE'S MOST POWERFUL POST-WAR COUNTRIES, GEN.CHARLES DE GAULLE DECLARED FRANCE WAS DETERMINED TO HELP FORM A WORLD PEACE ORGANIZATION IN WHICH SHE EXPECTED THE UNITED STATES TO TAKE A LEADING ROLE.

"A REAL INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION IS NECESSARY AND IN THIS ORGANIZATION WHO COULD BE FIRST IN RANK IF NOT THE UNITED STATES, WHOSE EFFORTS IN THE WESTERN THEATER AND IN THE PACIFIC ARE ENORMOUS," DE GAULLE SAID.

REACTING TO HIS STATEMENT THE CONSULTATIVE ASSEMBLY ADOPTED A RESOLUTION CALLING FOR COMPANION PACTS WHICH WOULD BUILD UP TO THE WORLD SECURITY ORGANIZATION.

DE GAULLE'S APPEARANCE BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY WAS GREETED WITH ENTHUSIASTIC APPLAUSE.

"THE WORLD IS BEGINNING TO REALIZE," HE SAID, "THAT IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO SETTLE THE GREAT PROBLEMS OF THE WORLD WITHOUT FRANCE. PERHAPS SHE IS ALSO BEGINNING TO REALIZE THAT VICTORY CANNOT BE GAINED WITHOUT FRANCE. IN BOTH SPHERES FRANCE ASSUMES FULL RESPONSIBILITIES."

EARLIER, FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGES BIDAULT TOLD THE ASSEMBLY FRANCE INTENDS TO HELP MOUNT GUARD ON THE RHINE AFTER THE WAR TO KEEP THE RHINELAND AND RUHR INDUSTRIES OUT OF GERMAN HANDS. HE ALSO DECLARED THE FRENCH NATION INTENDS TO HELP POLAND EXPAND WESTWARD INTO SILESIA.

DURING THE RECENT CONFERENCES IN MOSCOW WHICH CULMINATED IN THE ALLIANCE, THE FRENCH WERE REPORTED TO HAVE PROMISED TO SUPPORT THE RUSSIAN CASE FOR THE OLD CURZON LINE IN POLAND.

MOSCOW, DEC 22-(AP)-COL.PIOTR KILOMEITZEV, WRITING IN RED STAR, THE RED ARMY'S NEWSPAPER, TOLD THE RUSSIAN PUBLIC TODAY THAT THE GERMAN BREAKTHROUGH ON THE WESTERN FRONT "CANNOT RADICALLY ALTER THE SITUATION."

THE COMMENTATOR ATTRIBUTED THE ENEMY'S INITIAL TERRITORIAL GAINS TO THE SUDDENNESS OF THE OFFENSIVE IN A SECTOR TO WHICH, HE SAID, THE ALLIES "OBVIOUSLY DID NOT PAY MUCH ATTENTION AND WHICH WAS PROTECTED BY LIMITED FORCES."

KILOMEITZEV SAID THE ALLIES HAD ADOPTED MEASURES FOR LOCALIZATION OF THE BREAKTHROUGH AND ADDED THAT THE NEXT FEW DAYS WOULD SHOW WHETHER THE ALLIES INTENDED TO UNDERTAKE AN IMMEDIATE COUNTERBLOW OR TO WAIT UNTIL SUCH A BLOW COULD BE COORDINATED WITH ATTACKS IN THE DIRECTIONS OF COLOGNE AND THE RUHR VALLEY.

MOSCOW, DEC 22-(AP)-PRAVDA ATTACKED ARGENTINA TODAY AS AN "ASYLUM OF HITLERITES," DECLARING ITS RULERS CONTINUE TO AID GERMANY AGAINST THE UNITED NATIONS.

"THIS AID CAN BE SEEN IN THE INCESSANT SUPPLIES OF FOOD AND WAR MATERIALS SENT VIA SPAIN TO GERMANY, AS WELL AS THE FREEDOM OF ACTION GIVEN HITLERITE AGENTS AND SPIES IN ARGENTINA," SAID THE ARTICLE, SPREAD OVER FIVE COLUMNS ON THE COMMUNIST PARTY NEWSPAPER'S FOREIGN PAGE.

PRAVDA SAID ARGENTINE LEADERS PERSIST "IN FOLLOWING WHAT ONCE WERE HITLER'S GRANDIOSE PLANS FOR GERMAN DOMINATION OF LATIN AMERICA.

"HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS ALREADY HAVE BEEN TRANSFERRED TO ARGENTINA BY GERMANY CRIMINALS," PRAVDA DECLARED.

IT QUOTED AMERICAN NEWSPAPER OPINION AS BELIEVING THAT BRITAIN HAD NOT MANIFEST SOLIDARITY WITH AMERICAN ACTIONS AGAINST ARGENTINA BECAUSE OF BRITISH FINANCIAL INTERESTS IN THE SOUTH AMERICAN COUNTRY AND BRITAIN'S NEED FOR MEAT.

21ST BOMBER COMMAND,SAIPAN,DEC 22 (AP)-(VIA NAVY RADIO)-- WHEN ONE OF HIS B-29S FAILED TO RETURN FROM A NIGHT WEATHER STRIKE MISSION AGAINST NAGOYA, LT.COL.ROBERT HAYNES OF HERMOSA BEACH, CALIF., A SUPERFORTRESS UNIT COMMANDER, SOUGHT PERMISSION TO SEARCH FOR IT.

BASING HIS SEARCH LARGELY ON HUNCH AND LUCK, BE FOUND THE SURVIVORS ON TWO RAFTS A HALF HOUR AFTER HIS TAKEOFF -- TEN MEN AND ALL UNINJURED. BUT TWO OTHERS HAD DROWNED.

THE AIRPLANE COMMANDER OF THE DOWNED B-29, LT.RICHARD A. EWING (3209 SOUTH 87 STREET) PHILADELPHIA, SAID: "WE WERE MUCH MORE FORTUNATE THAN WE EXPECTED TO BE IN DITCHING OUR PLANE IN THAT ROUGH SEA WITHOUT INJURY, AND TO GET PICKED UP BY OUR OWN SKIPPER WAS UNADULTERATED LUCK."

THE PLANE'S NOSE AND TAIL BROKE OFF WHEN IT HIT THE WATER, DEC. 19 AT 5:45 A.M. ALL TWELVE GOT OUT AND CLUNG TO TWO RAFTS.

"ONE OF THE MEN WHO WAS LOST," SAID LT.EWING, "WAS A SUBSTITUTE VOLUNTEER TAIL GUNNER. AFTER 15 MINUTES ON THE RAFT WHEN WE WERE ALMOST SWAMPED BY WAVES, HE TRIED TO SWIM TO A THIRD RAFT. I CALLED HIM BACK BUT HE FIGURED ONE RAFT COULDN'T HOLD US MUCH LONGER. THAT'S THE LAST WE SAW OF HIM.

"THE OTHER MAN LOST HIS GRIP AND DISAPPEARED UNDER THE PLANE'S WING."

EWING SAID THAT THEY WERE OVER HONSHU FOR AN HOUR IN WIND WHICH SLOWED THEM DOWN TO 50 MILES AN HOUR.

"OUR BOMBS TOUCHED OFF A BIG EXPLOSION A MILE INLAND -- MAYBE AN ARSENAL OR AN ELECTRICAL PLANT. THEN WE SMELLED AN ELECTRICAL FIRE AND OUR GUNS AND THE INTERPHONE WENT OUT AND OUR COMPASS AND OTHER EQUIPMENT FAILED. WHEN ONE ENGINE CUT OUT, WE KNEW WE HAD TO DITCH THE PLANE."

HE SAID: "ONLY MY RADIO OPERATOR, S/SGT.KENNETH L.MASTERSON, (116 SOUTH 39TH ST.) LOUISVILLE, KY., AND I WERE FULLY CONSCIOUS AFTER WE CRASH-LANDED. THE OTHERS WERE HALF OUT FROM SHOCK AND SWALLOWING SALT WATER.

"LEFT GUNNER SGT.OTIS HOWELL JR. OF OAKLAND, CALIF., SUPPOSEDLY CAN'T SWIMG BUT IN HIS EXCITEMENT HE SWAM TO OUR RAFT."

THE RAFTS HAD ONLY SIX PINTS OF WATER AND IN THE ROUGH SEA, HE SAID, THEIR CHANCES OF LASTING WEREN'T GOOD.

COL.HATES SIGHTED THEM AT ABOUT 11 A.M. AND STAYED OVER THEM FOR THREE HOURS UNTIL THEY WERE RESCUED BY A DESTROYER, ABOUT 130

MILES NORTHWEST OF SAIPAN.

OTHERS RESCUED WERE LTS.JACK JACKNESS (2130 73RD ST.) NEW YORK CITY, AND WENDELL EMMETT, SALEM, ORE.; 2ND LTS.FRED R.SPIES, RIVERSIDE, CALIF.; AND ROBERT J.MOORE, SAN JOSE, CALIF.; SGTS. U. S. Forces Strike Northwest of Luxembourg as Germans Push Closer to Sedan—

SS Unit Badly Mauled—News Blackout Is Lifted

NORDNESS DEC 24 1944

Paris, SUNDAY, Dec. 24 — (AP) — American relief columns, swinging up through Luxembourg and Southeastern Belgium in their first effective counter-action, have bitten into the southern flank of the German penetration which now has reached Libramont, only 23 miles northeast of historic Sedan, Allied Headquarters disclosed last night.

With clearing skies the world's mightiest air force also sung into action with 4,500 sorties against the German vasion columns, cutting destructive swaths through eir ranks and hammering their rear bases.

Allied Headquarters, lifting a 48-hour time lag on front news, gave this report of the situation:

Striking north of the city of Luxembourgh and also north of Arlon, 13 miles northwest of Luxembourg, American troops have dented the German southern flank.

A front dispatch covering this action through Friday morning said the Luxembourg counter-action was sprung north of Mersch, eight miles above Luxembourg City. Although this dispatch was censored it contained these perhaps significant words:

"It is obvious that in the eight days since the Germans threw the dice in what probably a their last big gamble the Americans have had time to reform their forces."

SS Division Mauled

Encouraging news also came from the northern flank where Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher said that Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt had been forced to pull back one of his crack SS (Elite) divisions because it was so badly mauled by hard-fighting doughboys in the Malmedy sector.

The Germans left more than 1,000 dead in the snows below Malmedy, Gallagher said, and a hard freeze setting in had the Yanks grouped around small bonfires across the battle-ridden fields and cross roads. Hundreds of Hitler's youthful troops are snow-covered lumps, dead in the no-man's land between the lines in that area, the dispatch said.

The Americans, however, have lost Stavelot, five miles southwest of Malmedy, headquarters disclosed, and also confirmed the German announcement that St. Vith, 12 miles southeast of Stavelot, had been taken by the Germans.

Masses of German armor were reported pushing the Americans back slowly from St. Vith toward Vielsalm, nine miles to the west and seven miles south of Stavelot. Shaef described this action, where the Americans were trying to prevent a link-up of major German columns, as one of the epic stands of the war. The Americans slugged it out toe to toe, and are still fighting with great courage, but are slowly being pressed back by superior forces.

Nazis Still Determined

In the Malmedy sector the Germans still were trying to gather enough strength to break through and widen their penetration, headquarters said.

In their western penetration one German spearhead in a 10-mile advance has reached Marche, 22 miles north of Libramont, and 23 miles southeast of Namur.

A front dispatch said that by Friday morning the Germans also had cut a highway northeast of Hotton, five miles northeast of Marche and 23 miles south of Liege. Heavy fighting was reported between Hottot and Soy, three miles to the northeast.

Headquarters said there was considerable enemy pressure south of Marche on the highway to Laroche, but there was no indication of a continued retreat of American troops.

The extent of the American counter-attacks north of Arlon and Mersch was not given, but it appeared to be in the nature of a large-scale operation, and front dispatches said that vapor trails of the supporting aircraft ranging the frosty skies were as thick as plough furrows.

At the southeastern end of the enemy's offensive bulge there was no change in the situation. The Americans still hold a stable line in the Echternach sector although the Germans have widened the base of their salient to Diekirch, five miles southwest of Echternach.

A dispatch from this area said that the American relief drive from the south, if it makes any major advance, will menace the entire southern German flank. It said, that although the war was a swift and fluid one an early end of the war is possible if Gen. Omar Bradley's men can meet and checkmate the daring German thrusts.

In the first good flying weather in three days, every type of American and British plane surged over the battle sector in Belgium, Luxembourg and Western Germany, loosing a deadly hail of bombs and bullets with ravaging effect.

178 Planes Destroyed

Incomplete figures showed that a total of 178 enemy planes had been destroyed and 17 tanks and armored vehicles knocked out. A total of 194 motor transport, 71 railroad cars, two locomotives, and seven gun positions also were destroyed and five rail arteries cut.

Added to these impressive figures was the death of many German troops caught under the wings of the Allied planes sweeping over snow-covered roads where the enemy was firmly silhouetted, and the undoubted havoc caused by shattered communications.

In some of the fiercest air battles of the war with hundreds of German planes which also took advantage of the clear weather, the Allied airmen rampaged over a wide front between the invasion area and the Rhine River. The heavy bombers, more than 400 American and 100 R. A. F., concentrated on rear bases and rail junctions in Germany.

The U. S. Eighth Air Force reported the loss of three heavy bombers and 13 fighters. The Ninth's losses were not yet reported.

Four hundred U. S. heavy bombers and 100 R. A. F. Lancasters dumped nearly 2,000 tons of explosives on rail lines and communication centers in the Trier area, feeding the enemy front and Kaiserslautern back of the Saar.

One force out of the 700 fighter-bombers that flew in escort knocked out 12 tanks and armored vehicles and more than 30 trucks in the battle area.

DEC 24 1944

Planes Join Battle

R. A. F. Spitfires, Tempests and Typhoons joined the battle, attacking road-clogging convoys with such effectiveness that horsedrawn traffic enroute to the front went into hiding, a dispatch from British-Canadian headquarters said.

German armor which encircled the Belgian highway center of Bastogne broke into the important highway center Thursday, a front dispatch said. American planes dropped supplies to the surrounded troops today.

Supreme headquarters was silent on German broadcasts that Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army had driven so hard against the Southern flank that the entire von Rundstedt push westward had been slowed.

It presented a far more encouraging picture of the crucial fighting eddying around St. Vith and declared that as of noon Thursday the vital triangle formed by St. Vith, Malmedy and Stavelot held firm on the north flank of the enemy lines.

The St. Vith wedge, which splits the two big westward drives, held after three days of furious attempts by the enemy to overwhelm it and unite his forces.

It was one of the fiercest and most successful struggles in the U. S. First Army's week-long struggle to stem the grey-green waves sweeping out of Germany.

Yank Line Holds

Without success von Rundstedt hurled the full force of his armored forces against dug-in American tanks and infantry, trying to drive them from a high plateau and ridge between St. Vith and Vielsalm, nine miles to the west.

(Instead of reports of advances, the enemy high command communique told of 14 strong American relief attacks being warded off yesterday in the Stavelot sector.

(It reported that the Americans were thrown back on both sides of the Ourthe River yesterday in the push toward the Meuse, but it had said the day before that bridgeheads had been planted along the stream).

The Germans in Northern Luxembourg Thursday overwhelmed Wiltz, where an American force had been surrounded. They stabbed into Bastogne, nine miles west, but the doughboys still held the town.

There was no report of enemy progress near Arlon, 22 miles south of Bastogne, where the Germans Wednesday were reported fighting some ten miles from the French border.

Nor was there anything further of a second push to La Roche, 14 miles northwest of Bastogne.

Tip of Wedge Cut

Associated Press Correspondent William F. Boni reported for the first time that the tip of a wedge which the Germans had driven to Habiemont, dues west of Stavelot and 18 miles south of Liege, had been cut off by the Americans.

The Germans, however, had succeeded in bringing up artillery and were trying to blast a hole in the lines of the doughboys who had stopped von Rundstedt's first steel wave. By Thursday the Germans were pouring in tanks for another try.

Farther east, the Germans were fought to a standstill near the villages of Bullingen and Faymonville, five miles east of Malmedy.

Supreme headquarters described German losses in manpower and equipment as unquestionably high. German prisoners—and there were few of them so far—conceded that their losses were bloody.

There was no attempt to minimize American losses. Groups as large as a battalion had been overwhelmed. Some still held out inside the German lines. Hoping to be rescued by counterblows.

Elsewhere along the front, the Allied Winter offensive was stalemated.

Ensdorf Evacuated

Supreme Headquarters said the Third Army had withdrawn from Ensdorf, at the Saarlautern bridgehead across the Saar River in the Western Saar Basin.

It added that German broadcasts saying American bridgeheads had been abandoned at Dillingen, three miles north of Saarlautern, and at Saarlautern itself were unfounded.

Hundreds Of Bombers Hammer At Still-Gaining Germans

DEC 24 1944

Paris, Dec. 23 (AP)—Allied air might lashed fiercely today in a break in the weather at Nazi armored columns, dealing repeated bomb smashes against the German offensive tide that by Thursday noon had reached within 29 miles of Sedan.

Preliminary reports indicated that effective blows had been delivered by hundreds of heavy and fighter bombers at Field Marshal von Rundstedt's drive. Bad weather for a week had tied down the

30.24 — 21479

Allied air arm, but today its weight was thrown into the balance.

Supreme headquarters and field reports disclosed that the Germans were only 29 miles from Sedan by Thursday noon after a 40-mile drive through Luxembourg and into Belgium and had entered the bypassed Belgian road hub of Bastogne.

Two Nazi Forces Kept From Joining

To the northeast, a dug-in United States tank force at last report still held its own in a terrific three-day battle just west of St. Vith, 4 miles inside Belgium.

This furiously fought stand was keeping the deep, dangerous central German wedge split from the northern thrust that had struck beyond Stavelot. The Germans hurled the full force of their armor into attempts to merge the two penetrations.

It was one of the fiercest—and supreme headquarters said one of the most successful—battles of the week-long fight to check the Nazi onslaught. The American armored force was fighting on high ground between St. Vith and Vielsalm, 9 miles to the west.

Germans Report "Ferocious" U.S. Onset

[A DNB broadcast said fresh American forces were thrown into the fight on the northern side of the German thrust with the intent of cutting off the German salient.

["German forces were forced to the defensive temporarily, but regained the initiative at noon yesterday and captured a number of important heights and occupied large areas," the broadcast said.

[Americans put up "a most bloody and ferocious battle" for a number of towns, it added.]

"The Weather We've Been Praying For"

Rundstedt's strong central wedge had battered 18 miles beyond Bastogne to St. Hubert, 29 miles northeast of Sedan and scene of the 1940 German breakthrough into France. That was 48 hours ago. Subsequent events had not yet been disclosed.

Bright sunshine lit the snow-clad battlefields—"the weather we've been praying for" as one pilot said. Up to noon today, one tactical air force reported twelve tanks and armored vehicles knocked out and more than 30 trucks destroyed, and the air assaults continued through the afternoon.

Twenty-nine German planes were downed in three dogfights near Trier, Coblenz and Euskirchen. Five Thunderbolts were lost over the two former towns.

400 Planes Drop 1,500 Tons Of Bombs

This afternoon 400 big United States bombers hammered German positions with 1,500 tons of explosives. Fighter bombers strafed German columns moving into Belgium.

Waves of German fighters bunched in tight formations of 40 and 50 were tackled by American fighters and by nightfall at least 84 Nazi planes had been shot down.

Railroad yards, junction points and columns of German tanks and trucks, silhouetted in the bright sunlight against the snow-covered ground, afforded perfect targets for the 400 Flying Fortresses and Liberators from Britain and their 700 fighter escorts.

Besides the railyards at Ehrang, near Trier, and Kaiserslautern, three road junctions squarely behind the attacking Germans were bombed.

DEC 24 1944

Yanks Give Up Ensdorf

Supreme headquarters kept silent on German broadcasts saying Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's 3d Army had been hurled northward into counterattacks on Rundstedt's southern flank and had slowed the Nazis there.

Headquarters disclosed that 3d Army troops had withdrawn from Ensdorf in the southeastern section of Saarlautern, but German reports that United States bridgeheads at Saarlautern and Dillingen had been abandoned were described as unfounded.

[Today's German communiqué said the Saar town of Dillingen had been retaken by the Nazis and the right bank of the Saar River cleared "on a broad front." This followed German reports Friday of United States pullbacks on this 3d Army front, indicating that Patton may have delivered a hard punch northward.

First Army Reported Shifted

[A still later Berlin broadcast today said that while Patton was hitting the lower base of the Nazi breakthrough 1st Army forces had been drawn from the Aachen sector to hammer the upper end of Rundstedt's corridor.]

Tremendous losses in men and equipment were being suffered and inflicted by the Americans. United States units as strong as battalions were reported cut off at undisclosed points, with some wiped out to the last man.

Bastogne is on a main highway running south from Liege. Farther south a third Nazi wedge was reported to be threatening Arlon, on the same highway 22 miles below Bastogne and 39 due east of Sedan.

German Communique

[Today's German communiqué declared strong Nazi forces were "pursuing dislodged United States units" on both sides of the Ourthe River in Belgium.

[The German command yesterday asserted that several bridgeheads had been established across that winding river, without disclosing the locations.

[Americans made as many as fourteen "relief attacks" on the northern edge of the German breakthrough between Elsenborn and Stavelot, but all were beaten back, the broadcast communiqué added. Elsenborn is 13 miles east and somewhat north of Stavelot.

[Four new Allied divisions are striking at the Nazis' northern flank and the fighting there is mounting in violence, the German news agency DNB said today. Reuter heard this broadcast.]

St. Hubert is 13 miles southwest of Laroche, an area where the Germans had crossed the Ourthe River at one place.

By latest accounts, the stiffened American defense was holding on the northern penetration front in the St. Vith - Stavelot - Malmedy wedge. The last Allied communiqué said all three towns were still in American hands.

Associated Press Correspondent Harold V. Boyle, in the field, reported that the tip of the northern German wedge which had penetrated as far as Habiemont and Werbomont had been cut off by Americans along the Ambleve River a short distance west of Stavelot.

Nazis Bring Up More Artillery

In the whole wedge, however, the Germans had brought up supporting artillery in an attempt to blast out the lines of doughboys who had fought Field Marshal von Rundstedt's first wave to a stop. The Germans were pouring in more armor for a second try.

New German attacks east of Malmedy, near the villages of Faymonville and Bullange, were fought to a standstill.

The Germans had lost 200 tanks in five days' fighting around Malmedy.

Both flanks of the German breakthrough—at Monschau on the north and near Echternach on the south—were still regarded as firmly held.

Nazi Losses Called High

Supreme headquarters said German losses in manpower and equipment were unquestionably high. Fifty-five tanks or assault guns were known to have been knocked out in a single salient on the Wiltz front, and 28 more were wrecked in the fight for Malmedy, where 200 had previously been knocked out. German prisoners—not many of whom had yet been taken—said their losses in killed and wounded had been very high.

Writing from 21st Army group headquarters, Associated Press Correspondent Roger D. Greene said it would be premature to say that Runstedt's scheme had failed, if he hopes to sweep across the Meuse River, some 65 miles west of the Belgian border, in the first rush.

"But it was clear," this dispatch continued, "that the Allies were gaining important time, and that with every passing day General Eisenhower's countermeasures were growing stronger."

Picture Given From Field

Field advices gave this picture of the situation on the northern flank: In the Monschau sector, 16 miles southeast of Aachen, furious fighting flared over the muddy, snow-covered hills and there was a massing of German strength in that area.

On the southern flank the situation was officially reported stabilized Wednesday around the Luxembourg border city of Echternach.

A front-line dispatch by Associated Press Correspondent Edward D. Ball said the Nazis were checked in the areas of Dickweiler, 2¼ miles southeast of Echternach; Osweiler, 1½ miles to the southeast, and Berdorf, 3 miles west.

In a dispatch dated Thursday, Associated Press Correspondent Lewis Hawkins said the Americans had completed their withdrawal from Berdorf and Echternach.

Nazis Claim 25,000 Prisoners

Ball said that the Germans had rolled up to the area of Arlon, only 10 miles from the French border and 40 miles east of Sedan. The spread of the fighting to Arlon broadened the front deep inside Belgium to about 50 miles.

[A Berlin broadcast last night claimed the capture of St. Vith, in Belgium, less than 4 miles from the border. It claimed that 25,000 American soldiers, including the commander of the St. Vith garrison, were taken prisoner and added that "the number of killed and wounded American soldiers is many times the number of prisoners."

[The German high command claimed that advanced German elements has established several bridgeheads across the Ourthe River but did not say exactly where. Presumably one, at least, was in the vicinity of Laroche and was gained by the southern spearhead.]

Nazi Moves Now Understood

In a dispatch from the United States 7th Army, Thoburn Wiant wrote that the counterattacks being made by the Germans in the Colmar-Mulhouse pocket are more understandable in view of the enemy's success on the American 1st Army front.

After French 1st and American 7th Army troops broke through to the Rhine and started mopping up the Alsatian Plain, the Germans in the Colmar-Mulhouse area began to retreat across the Rhine over the Neuf-Brisach bridge. Then around December 1 the retreat halted and the Germans began flocking back from the Reich into the Alsatian pocket.

In the pocket area yesterday the French repulsed counterattacks at Mittelwihr, 5 miles northwest of Colmar. Other French units occupied La Chapelle, 6 miles west of Colmar, but the town was under violent shelling.

American 7th Army troops still held to the fringe of the Siegfried Line in the Palatinate against scattered artillery fire.

[German patrols 30 to 40 strong swarmed across the Maas River at more than half a dozen points in daylight yesterday and during the night, a Reuter correspondent at 21st Army Group headquarters reported. The crossings, made in assault boats along the northern stretch of the river and at Venlo, were "baiting parties," he said, sent to identify Allied positions and learn their strength. All of the patrols were driven back across the river with casualties.]

NAZIS TRUMPET SUCCESS TALES

Eisenhower Forced To Divert His Armies, Berlin Says

London, Dec. 23 (AP)—German broadcasts trumpeted claims today that General Eisenhower had been forced to drain manpower from his entire Western front in an effort to halt Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's offensive in the north.

While asserting that weakened American forces were retreating to the south, the tone of the Berlin broadcasts indicated Nazi propagandists might be getting ready to disclose the offensive had been slowed or even halted.

One commentator after another spoke of "fierce battles" and of "throwing back repeated counterattacks." The high command's communiqué was headed by a paragraph saying "our troops warded off strong enemy relief attacks up to fourteen times" in the Stavelot area.

DEC 24 1944

Germans "Hotly Pursuing"

"The American 3d Army continued to evacuate its Saar bridgeheads because General Patton had to move his forces to threatened areas on the northern sector of the vast front," said Transocean. "German troops are hotly pursuing the retreating Americans."

A later Transocean broadcast claimed that Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's 7th Army "started to evacuate a number of pillboxes on the Alsace-Palatinate border" yesterday morning.

Berlin claimed that "the Americans have withdrawn large numbers of troops from the Aachen sector."

Both the Nazi radio and the German communiqué emphasized a claim that the long-surrounded garrison at St. Nazaire, on the coast of the Bay of Biscay, had opened an attack and occupied 80 square kilometers (30 square miles) of territory.

Berlin "Leaving Enemy Groping"

Throughout the day the Germans withheld up-to-the-minute news—whether good or bad.

"The German aim is to leave the enemy groping about in the dark," said one of the military commentators. Capt. Ludwig Ser-torius.

"They (the Americans) are now attacking in a south-north direction, but in vain. The next few days undoubtedly will see increased attempts on the part of General Eisenhower to transform his improvised defense into a methodical counterattack or counteroffensive."

The Fighting Around Stavelot

German commentators generally claimed the fiercest fighting was around Stavelot, on von Rundstedt's northern flank. Sertorius reporting that Allied tank attacks "are carried out with suicidal tenacity."

The German communiqué said that on both sides of the Ourthe River German forces were pursuing dislodged United States units.

Far to the south the Germans claimed the recapture of Dillingen, on the Saar River, and announced repeated crossings of the Saar in Patton's territory.

Nazis Resort To Old Trick

The Nazis resorted to an old trick of the 1940 Blitzkrieg days, broadcasting what it claimed was a report from a Belgian radio urging citizens to evacuate a number of cities, including the industrial center of Charleroi. Refugee-choked roads would hamper Allied military traffic.

Sertorius said the winter offensive already had proved its worth by forcing the Allies to break off their own drive.

Calling von Rundstedt's thrust a "daring enterprise," he added:

"But it must not be forgotten that it has an intact West Wall to fall back on."

1,000 Germans Die in One Mile Of Belgian Soil

Elite Guard Division Hits a Stone-Wall U. S. Line, Is Forced to Pull Back

IN THE MALMEDY SECTOR, Belgium, Dec. 23 (AP).—Leaving more than 1,000 dead in an area of a single square mile, the German command had to pull back a battered Elite Guard division today that had been mauled by American soldiers for the last five days.

The Allied air forces struck at the extended German tentacles for the first time since the enemy offensive started.

During the night the entire complexion of the front changed on this vital north flank. Hard-freezing weather put a firm crust on fields and roads that were slush twelve hours ago. The skies cleared and thousands of Allied planes roamed the battle area.

The cold was so sharp that soldiers behind the actual front grouped around small bonfires in fields and at crossroads.

Hundreds of the Hitler Youth organization did not feel the cold, however, for they lay dead, with white snow dotting their gray-clad bodies in no man's land between the hulks of some thirty tanks that lay just over the hill from here.

Supplies Flown to U.S. Troops

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, Dec. 23 (AP).—American planes dropped supplies to troops in the Bastogne area of Belgium today. Pilots of Thunderbolts escorting the C-47 transport planes said the relief craft went in low and dropped their supplies accurately by parachute.

SAYS NAZI WOMEN TRY TO TRAP YANKS

London, Dec. 23 (A. P.).—English - speaking German women, equipped with knives, are being dropped by parachute inside the American lines, according to the Daily Telegraph's Paris correspondent who quoted reports from an area near the First Army front.

Seven women are said to have been arrested and to have confessed that their mission was to seduce American soldiers and then kill them, the correspondent said.

U. S. Strikes at Southern Flank

WITH AMERICAN FORCES, Dec. 23 (AP).—Announcing the first American counterblows from the south, the 12th Army Group said today that American forces had cut into the lower flank of the German penetration, with gains north of Mersch, in Luxemburg. Mersch is eight and a half miles north of the city of Luxemburg.

The exact gains or exact locations of the advances were not disclosed.

A report covering action up to the early hours of Friday also said that enemy forces had reached Mohret, in southeastern Belgium, six miles southwest of Bastogne and thirty-three miles northeast of Sedan.

The enemy cut the road northeast of Hotton, which is on the west bank of the Ourthe River eight miles northwest of La Roche.

Patch Sends Yule Greetings To His Army

With the U.S. 7th Army, Dec. 23 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch sent the following Christmas message to his men today:

"This year many of you will be spending your third Christmas far from your homes and your loved ones. You have become accustomed to living among strange foreign surroundings during past Yuletime seasons. It is not expected that this year will be very different and I cannot wish for you the impossible—that you will pass a merry day. I can merely extend my thanks and appreciation for your splendid achievements in speeding the day when we can be reunited with our families so we may once more say, 'Peace on earth, good-will toward men.'"

Belgian Father's Christmas Feeling

Somewhere in Belgium, Dec. 22 [AP—Delayed]—On open Christmas letter "to General Eisenhower and his brave warriors" was published in a local newspaper today.

It was written by a Belgian father. It concerned American soldiers who cheerfully shared tidbits from their ration kits with pale-faced Belgian children begging gum and candy.

"We are anguished at the thought you may return home thinking of our children as beggars," the writer said.

"For almost four years when they asked us for everything childhood dotes upon we have had to tell them 'later.'

"When they asked us more precisely when this 'later' was coming we told them 'after the war ends.'

"When they wanted to know when the war would end, we could only say, 'When the Americans come.'

"That is why all of them go out to you in full confidence, as if to Father Noel (Santa Claus)—because Father Noel never regarded them as beggars."

Officer Is Decorated For Aid in Picking D Day

Col. Yates Gets Medal for His Weather Forecasting

LONDON, Dec. 23 (AP).—Colonel Donald Yates, of Bangor, Me., received the Legion of Merit today for his part in deciding what day should be D Day.

Lieutenant General Carl Spaatz, commander of the United States strategic Air Forces in Europe, pinned the medal on Colonel Yates at a ceremony during which five other flyers were decorated.

Colonel Yates's "good judgment, skill, sound leadership and reconciliation of differences" in forecasting the weather for June 6 won him the award.

"The value of his advice since has been proven," the citation said, "as the day selected for the Continental assault probably was the only day during the month of June on which the operation could have been launched."

Gen. Kane Gets Air Command

UNITED STATES AIR SERVICE COMMAND HEADQUARTERS IN EUROPE, Dec. 23 (AP).—Brigadier General Clarence Kane, of San Diego, Calif., and Fairfield, Ohio, has been made commanding general of the Air Service Command for Europe, succeeding Major General Hugh Knerr. General Knerr continues as deputy commander for United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe.

U.S. Nurses Remain Cool, Calm Under Buzz-Bomb Raids

Somewhere in Belgium, Dec. 22 [AP — Delayed] — United States Army nurses are weathering the heaviest buzz-bomb attacks of the war with a calmness that causes some rear echelon soldiers to think twice before ducking into a corner everytime they hear a V-1 overhead.

Dozens of bombs are falling in some areas in Belgium day and night, smashing houses to bits and causing casualties, yet the nurses go about their duties as though they were working in a peaceful hospital back home and the explosions were only the backfire of trucks.

"Cool And Collected"

After observing the attitude of her fellow nurses at a general hospital in the buzz-bomb zone Lieutenant Angela Brinker, of Richmond, Ind., said:

"I think it is remarkable how cool and collected most of them are, especially when women are thought of as having hysterical tendencies.

"It seems to me the smart thing for everyone to do it to go on about their business and don't think about it. When your turn comes, that's it.

"These bombs make you realize you are just another person and that life hangs by a thread, but I had rather go my normal way and keep thinking that is the last one over rather than wait for the next one to come along.

"Frightened At First"

"We were frightened a little at first, but it is only natural to get used to it after being around here for a while."

Lieut. Lois Beck, of Lebanon, Ind., said the noise "wakes you up at night, like last night when four or five seemed to land awfully close, but when you realize the chances are small that you'll get it, there is not much cause for alarm."

"The London air raids," she said, "were more frightening."

Miss Beck has been overseas sixteen months and said she liked Belgium "very much, because I have been able to get a lot of shopping done and had my first ice cream here since leaving the States."

West-Front GI's To Have 'White Christmas'

London, Dec. 23 (AP)—A heavy snowfall along the Western front has guaranteed a White Christmas for America's fighting men, but in that respect alone will it be like the traditional Yuletide. A great proportion of the doughboys will be fighting for their lives.

Some have the prospect of spending Christmas surrounded by Germans, others of wielding guns in counterattacks designed to drive the enemy back into Germany.

As on Thanksgiving, turkey has been taken to the front for every United States soldier. But not all will get it on Christmas Day. Most of those in the actual line will eat the usual canned rations. Their turkey will be saved and they will have Christmas dinner when they come out of battle.

Germans Capture Turkey

Some Germans may feast on American Christmas turkey, too, for they have captured much material in their winter offensive and it is probable that Yuletide items were included in the booty.

Hundreds of thousands of Christmas parcels from home already have reached the troops in France. But some soldiers are complaining they have received none—and declare they must have been lost or stolen.

The Christmas dinner planned for each soldier of the British 2d Army consists of canned chicken, fig pudding, a box of cigarettes and candy, and a small flask of rum.

In Britain, many English families will share their holiday rations with Americans far from home. In Birmingham alone more than 500 Americans will be entertained in private homes.

The Army has decorated mess halls with evergreens. The Red Cross is planning dances and other entertainments.

The Yanks themselves are playing Santa Claus in a big way. An example is one United States hospital where the patients have donated their own candy and other gifts for a party at which 700 British youngsters will be feted. Similar events will take place in France, Belgium and Holland.

There's Christmas caroling, too. One group of 40 American army men and women is traveling London singing carols in underground shelters and on the streets. British choirs are singing at American hospitals, airfields and camps.

For several hundred British children this will be the first Christmas at home in four years. They returned recently from wartime stays in Canada and the United States.

American officials immediately called this to the attention of the French Government and in future all civilians charged with similar offenses will face a French military tribunal.

Officers say the losses have not affected the great battle now raging in Belgium and Luxembourg one way or another. Maj. Gen. Henry Benton Sayler, chief ordnance officer in the European theater of operations, reported the thefts had no bearing on the current military situation.

Hundreds of Americans

At 8 A. M. today in just one detention barracks in Paris 1,308 Americans were under arrest and more than half of these are charged with misappropriation of Government property.

In another detention cage are 181 enlisted men and three officers charged with selling a trainload of cigarettes, soap and other supplies to the black market. They were members of two battalions operating a railroad. They will face a general court the first week in January.

"This group sent over $200,000 in Post Office money orders and cashier checks back home," said Col. E. G. Buhrmaster, provost marshal of the Seine base section, of Schenectady, N. Y. "Every one of them had between $5,000 and $6,000 on him when I picked them up."

But the big theft is in gasoline

Hundreds Of U. S. Soldiers Held For Hijacking Of Gas In France

Paris, Dec. 23 (AP)—Thousands of gallons of American gasoline intended for the Allied war machines at the front are being hijacked daily and fed into the French black market.

Cigarettes and post exchange supplies as well have been stolen in carload lots—mostly by American soldiers—and sold at fantastic prices. Hundreds have been arrested.

A tightening of the French Government's attitude toward the French black market agents involved has been promised. At least 5,000 unauthorized automobiles have been taken from civilians who were unable to disclose the source of their gasoline.

Two Soldiers Get Life

Two American enlisted men were sentenced to life imprisonment by a general court in November for selling Government property to black market agents. Implicated in the same offense was a French civilian. Tried before a French civil court, the Frenchman was let off with a fine of 1,200 francs ($26).

and the losses by pilferage run into hundreds of thousands of gallons a week.

"This place is getting to be like Chicago in the days of Al Capone," Buhrmaster said. "They hijack trucks right off the road. They drive a car between the last couple of trucks in a convoy, stick a gun in the driver's belly and tell him to vamoose.

"Then they sell the truck for 250,000 francs. Under the German evaluation this was only $1,500, but at the American rate of two cents to the franc it amounts to $5,000. Our evaluation of the franc is the basis of the black market."

Major Sent $36,000 Home

Buhrmaster said one major had sent $36,000 home in a short time. A corporal was reported to have sent $1,200 in five days and two other enlisted men sent $2,600 and $2,000 home within a few days.

30. 24 - 21481

"Many of these kids were never in any kind of trouble before, but they saw all this easy money and couldn't resist the temptation to get into it," Buhrmaster said.

General Sayler commented that "people don't steal bullets and tanks, because they can't dispose of them."

"The only 'hot' items on the ordnance list are watches and field glasses," he said. "We caught one soldier who stole 300 watches and he's in the penitentiary. But our firepower supplies are untouched."

A high-ranking communications officer said that the thefts of gasoline occurred hundreds of miles behind the combat zone. He said fuel levels in the combat area were satisfactorily high and that even the figure of hundreds of thousands of gallons lost weekly was only a fractional part of one per cent of the available supply.

2,000 Vehicles Stolen

In the Paris area alone the theft of military vehicles has topped the 2,000 mark, but the majority have been recovered.

In a normal week's activity between December 14 and December 21 military police in the Seine section recovered 41,700 packages of cigarettes and 2,120 cans—five-gallon containers—of gasoline.

"I am absoluely sure the recent cigarette supply breakdown was due to black market activity," one officer said. "The black market price is 150 francs a package and during the shortage here the price never varied. The black market had plenty."

Military police said they believed pilferage had been drastically curtailed in recent weeks by rigid control of supplies and measures against theft. All railroad trains are escorted by military guards with instructions to shoot to kill.

Oil pipelines, supply dumps and convoy routes are guarded.

But in Paris alone between 800 and 900 soldiers still are being arrested weekly for one offense or another.

3 Spies, Acting Like Yanks, Executed

Paris, Dec. 23 (AP)—The first German spies captured in American uniform during the Nazi counteroffensive were executed today, supreme headquarters announced. One officer candidate and two noncommissioned officers were put to death by a firing squad.

The Germans were described as part of a group trained to impersonate Americans, and admitted they were assigned to reconnoiter the condition of bridges and roadways along the Meuse.

They were caught by United States military police at Ayawaille 11 miles southeast of Liege in Belgium, wearing American uniforms and armed with American weapons. They were driving an American truck.

The spies were executed after a court-martial.

Following is the text of the announcement:

"The first execution of German spies captured in American uniforms during the current German counter-offensive took place today when one officer candidate and two non-commissioned officers met death before a firing squad after conviction by an American military court.

"Part of a group trained to impersonate Americans in order to locate and sabotage communications, the Germans also admitted that they were trying to reconnoiter the condition of bridges over the River Meuse and of roads leading to these bridges. They were to radio these reports back to their headquarters.

"The three Germans were arrested by the American Military Police at Aywaille when they failed to produce proper identification. They were wearing American uniforms and were armed with American weapons. They were driving an American quarter-ton truck. The prisoners admitted they were trained for espionage and sabotage behind the American lines and said they wore German parachute troopers' suits over their American uniforms to hide their mission from their own troops. They took off these garments and posed as Americans after they passed through the German lines. The executed men were Officer Candidate Guenther Billing, 21; Naval Signal Service Sergt. Manfred Pernass, 23, and Corporal Wilhelm Schmidt, 24.

SOVIETS SMASH WESTWARD IN DANUBE VALLEY

Red Army Troops Gain 16 Miles in Drive Toward Vienna

London, Dec. 23—(AP)—A hard-fighting Russian thrust westward above the Danube River in Hungary has gained as much as 16 miles and placed Red Army troops within 100 miles of Vienna and 72 of Bratislava, Moscow disclosed tonight as action flamed on the Southeastern front in many sectors.

The Soviet communique ignored a German radio announcement that Red Army forces had entered the southern and eastern suburbs of beleaguered Budapest in a new frontal assault, but described heavy fighting at distances northeast, north, northwest and southwest of the Hungarian capital.

Nine Towns Won

The drive towards Bratislava and Vienna through mountainous, wooded country below Ipoly Sag and north of the Danube, captured nine towns and reached the barrier of the Ipoly River on a 10-mile front down to its confluence with the Danube, Moscow disclosed. The Russians were virtually on the river for another 10 miles right up to the Ipoly Sag area.

The German DNB Agency in a late broadcast conceded that the Russians actually had crossed the Ipoly and had reached the valley of the Hron (Gran) River a dozen miles farther west on former Czechoslovak territory.

Berlin, purposely obscure about the exact location of this action, claimed a German counter-attack had cut off this Soviet wedge and encircled an isolated Russian grouping of troops.

The Moscow communique announced, without giving place names, that "in the area north of Ipoly Sag (Sahy) our troops successfully repulsed counter-attacks of large formations of enemy tanks and inflicted heavy losses in manpower and equipment."

Among the Hungarian towns which the Russians listed as captured along the Ipoly River was Tolges, 100 miles southeast of Vienna and but 72 from Bratislava, capital of the German puppet state of Slovakia.

Renew Offensive

Southwest of Budapest, on the front between the Danube and Lake Balaton, the Russians announced they had again gone on the offensive in the area of the city of Szekesfehervar and were now engaged in heavy fighting with large enemy tank and infantry formations.

In northeast Hungary, where the enemy now is pinned in a sack-shaped strip of territory about 30 miles long by 15 in depth, Moscow's communiqué announced capture of eleven towns in a 25-mile-long ring at distances of 20 to 25 miles south and southeast of Losonc.

Moscow's communiqué said that in northeast Hungary Friday the Soviet 2d Ukraine Army had maintained its 1,000-a-day prisoner average by capturing 1,050 German and Hungarian officers and men.

As an indication of the bitter nature of the fighting all along the fronts, Moscow announced that on Friday 107 German tanks had been knocked out. This made a total of 208 in two days.

Officially, the Russians continued to ignore both the Baltic front, where the Germans have said a new Red Army drive is in progress, and the Budapest battle, which the Germans insisted was nearing a climax.

Russians Enter Outer Suburbs Of Budapest

London, Dec. 23 (AP) — Russian forces have broken into Budapest's southern and eastern "outer suburbs," the German broadcast said tonight, declaring that "the battle for the Hungarian capital is nearing its climax."

The thrusts into the city's outskirts were said by German reports to be a part of a massive triple offensive whose outer prongs are aimed at complete encirclement of the capital.

Spreads Action

According to German broadcast reports, this renewed Budapest drive brings large sections of the Eastern front in Hungary, Slovakia and Latvia into flaming action.

The Nazi accounts say that Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky has regrouped and resupplied his forces for an all-out drive to cut off the capital and that other forces southwest of the city have scored advances.

101 Nazi Tanks in One Day.

Moscow, Dec. 23 (A. P.).—An official Soviet announcement of the destruction of 101 German tanks in a twenty-four-hour period ending Thursday night gave realistic support today to German reports that the Red Army's great winter offensive is getting under way.

The fact that the long eastern front now lies under hard, firm snow, with deep freezes, offers the Russians just the kind of weather needed for their slashing attacks. Throughout the war they have always commenced their biggest winter operations in just such weather and temperatures.

The Soviets are better equipped than the Germans and the record shows conclusively that they are consistently able to outfight them when the cold sets in.

The Russian High Command did not say where the Nazis suffered this huge loss of panzers. The Germans, however, reported that a mighty force of 270,000 winter-hardened Russian troops was on the move in snow-swept Latvia, where an estimated thirty Nazi divisions are pocketed against the Baltic.

Further official reports of these huge tank losses would mean that a terrific panzer battle is going on somewhere and the sector is not likely to be Slovakia, for it is a mountainous country not suited for tank operations.

There was a likelihood that large-scale fighting was taking place in the five-mile wide strip between the Ipoly and the Gran rivers, north of Budapest, although the High Command was saying nothing about it.

Berlin broadcasts described the Soviet surge in Latvia as "a big push of extreme operational importance."

Reports here early today said the long eastern front was stirring into action.

Red Army units at the southern end of the front drove to within nine miles of the important Slovakian rail center of Losonc (Lucenec), threatening to engulf a sizable force of Germans pushed from the Hungarian Matra Mountains by another Russian drive up from the south.

The communique announced the capture of seven Slovak localities east of Losonc and ten others in northern Hungary southeast of the city, including the sixway rail junction of Kisterenye. In this area the Russians took 1,755 prisoners Thursday, the bulletin said.

700,000 SLAIN IN LWOW CAMP

Soviet Report Says Himmler Ordered Tortures

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 23 (AP)—A Soviet extraordinary state commission investigating war crimes reported today that 700,000 persons, including an undetermined number of citizens of the United States and Britain, had been killed by the Germans in three camps in Lwow province, Poland.

The report did not list the names of the Americans and Britons, nor did it give any further details concerning them. The victims of all nationalities were said to include both civilians and prisoners of war.

Washed Stairs With Tongues

Writers, artists and musicians were made to wash the stairways of one seven-story building with their tongues and then were compelled to pick up garbage with their lips, the report said.

In another incident, the report related, the commander of one of the camps, the Yanov camp, threw two 4-year-old children into the air and shot them to amuse his own 9-year-old daughter.

The committee said it was also established that at the three camps —Yanov, Sitadel and Lisenitz—the Gestapo devised the "human icicle" treatment, which consisted of putting bound prisoners into barrels of water and then placing the barrels outside in below-zero temperatures, with guards standing over them, until they became frozen in ice.

Say Himmler Took Part

Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo chief, was said to have participated directly in the crimes, visiting the camps several times for personal ...ection.

...s a result of this," the report ..., "the Lwow atrocities of the ...rman monsters were distinguished by particular 'refinements.' ...hey bear the mark of the personality of Himmler himself."

The German Government, said the report, systematically sent to the Lwow camps prisoners of war and civilians of foreign states from concentration camps in Germany, and then tortured and killed them.

The victims were said to have included Ukrainians, Poles, Czechoslovaks, Yugoslavs, Americans, Britons, Netherlanders, Italians and citizens of other states, including many Jews. The reports were confirmed, the commission said, by numerous statements of Soviet citizens and also by French prisoners of war who had been confined in the camps and were liberated by the Red Army.

Children For Targets

The commission reported that "children were selected and given to detachments of the Hitler youth as targets for shooting practice."

One French witness was quoted: "In the camp where I arrived September 3, 1942, Englishmen were killed by slow degrees. There was only one water tap in this camp for 12,000 people. Prisoners were allowed to use it for only four or five hours a day.

"German guards terrorized us. For the smallest fault we were threatened with death. We were not allowed to drink water. We starved. In the morning we could hardly stand on our legs. We got 200 grams (7 ounces) of bread a day. The soup was just water. We slept on the ground. There were fleas and bugs everywhere."

War Prisoners Died

In one camp for war prisoners, the report said, nearly 3,000 prisoners died of dysentery in the four months from August through November, 1941, and nearly 5,000 prisoners died through a typhoid epidemic.

"In one execution ground in a forest more than 200,000 people were killed," the report said.

The commission reported that 136,000 Jews were confined in one ghetto camp, and that 130,000 were killed in this camp from September 7, 1941, to June 6, 1943.

On special order of Himmler and an S.S. (Elite Guard) major general named Katman, thousands of corpses were said to have been exhumed in June, 1943, and then burned and the ashes sifted by special machines to recover 110,000 kilograms (about 121 tons) of gold from watches, teeth, etc.

700,000 Slain At Lwow By Nazis: Russ

London, Dec. 23 (AP)—The Moscow radio said today an extraordinary Soviet commission had established that nearly 700,000 persons, including an undetermined number of Americans and British from German prison camps, were tortured and slain in the Nazi extermination camp at Lwow.

The broadcast, recorded here by the Soviet monitor, said an additional 200,000 persons were killed in another Nazi camp at Janow. And that children were slaughtered in target practice.

Number Not Given

The broadcast did not make clear whether the British and Americans were prisoners of war or civilians and did not state their number.

Relating eyewitness descriptions of the most horrible terror-tactics, the broadcast said the commission had established Heinrich Himmler's direct participation in the Lwow atrocities. It said the Gestapo chief visited Lwow, in the eastern part of what was pre-war Poland, several times. It was overrun by the Russians some time ago.

Confirmation Claimed

The broadcast said the commission's report was confirmed by numerous statements of Soviet citizens, as well as by French prisoners who were liberated by the Red Army.

"Children were selected and given to detachments of Hitler Youth as targets for shooting practice," the commission said.

Many Frenchmen and Englishmen also were killed by slow degrees in a camp at Rava Russkaya, the report said. A Frenchman was quoted as saying that when he arrived at the camp in September, 1943, there was only one water tap for the use of 12,000 prisoners, and the prisoners were allowed to use it only a few hours a day.

Deliberate Epidemic

The report said a typhoid epidemic was introduced in one camp by deliberately putting typhoid sufferers among healthy prisoners. It took 5,000 lives, the commission said.

The report described special measures taken on Himmler's orders in June, 1943, when thousands of corpses were exhumed and burned and the ashes sifted by special machines. By this means, the report said, 110,000 kilograms of gold was recovered and sent back to Germany.

The commission said a special school had been established at Lwow to train cadres for exhuming bodies and burning them. Later the sites were camouflaged with trees and bushes.

Romania Assassination Plot

MOSCOW, Dec. 23 (AP).—The Moscow radio reported a dispatch from Bucharest today describing an attempt by two members of the land owners class to kill Romanian Vice-Premier Peter Groza at a theater.

Soviet Casey Jones Acclaimed By Press Throughout Russia

Moscow, Dec. 23—(AP)—Locomotive engineer D. A. Dolgikh of Tula was acclaimed throughout the Russian press today as a sort of Soviet Casey Jones.

The story which promises to turn into a saga of the Soviet railroads began at Tula, a town just down the line from Moscow.

Dolgikh's engine was pulling a lot of important cars and was scheduled for a quick run into Donbas. Just before departure time, however, engine trouble developed.

The engineer quickly discovered a broken part in the firebox.

The fireman observed that to fix it meant the entire firebox would have to be cleaned, a process which would take hours.

Dolgikh, with an eye on his watch and the schedule, shook his head and said there was not time.

The engineer picked up shovels full of coaldust and covered the fire. He then drenched himself with ice-cold water and hopped into the firebox, press accounts of the incident related.

He ripped out the broken part, did a quick repair job and hopped back out.

"Give her the steam and let her roll," he said, apparently none the worse for his experience.

The train got to its destination and Dolgikh won a valuable prize.

AIR BATTLES RAGE AT FRONT

171 German Planes Shot Down By American Flyers

London, Dec. 23 (AP)—The might of Allied air power was thrown in today over the snow-covered Western front in an attempt to check the German drive into Belgium and Luxembourg as more than 400 heavy bombers and more than 1,000 fighter-bombers pounded Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's lines.

In some of the fiercest air battles of the war at least 171 enemy planes were shot down by American fighters and bombers which escaped with much smaller losses. Three heavy bombers and 13 fighters were reported missing by the United States 8th Air Force, based in Britain.

[A report to Allied headquarters in Paris said incomplete figures showed a total of 178 enemy planes had been destroyed.]

Nazi Fighters Swarm Up

Three hundred planes of the United States 9th Air Force based in France shot down at least 29 of the German fighters which rose by the hundreds to protect the German supply lines. The 9th's losses were not reported here.

Meanwhile, RAF Lancasters battered targets in the Rhineland, and their escorting Mustangs and Spitfires strafed ground targets and shot down one German.

The Luftwaffe fought frantically against the American airmen, who had been waiting anxiously three days for clearing weather to lend a hand to the hard-pressed ground forces on the Western front.

Americans Carry Brunt

The Americans carried the brunt of the air attacks, more than 400 heavy bombers hitting railyards near Trier and just west of Mannheim and rail junctions along the front betwee Coblenz and the Belgian border, while rocket-firing fighter-bombers gave escort and struck at the German spearheads.

Today's attacks were officially described in an e8th Air Force communiqué as "designed to disrupt the movement of German troops and material to sectors where the enemy offensive has reached into Belgium and Luxembourg."

Results "Fair To Good"

"Fair to good" results were obtained as the bombardiers dropped their loads visually. Seven hundred Britain-based fighters of the 8th Tactical Air Force escorted the heavyweights, while 300 France-based 9th Air Force planes concentrated on German tank columns and other vehicles.

First reports said that at least twelve German tanks were known to have been knocked out, and 30 trucks carrying supplies to the front were destroyed.

Marauders joined the Lightning and Mustang pilots in the strafing of German armored and infantry columns.

The American heavy bomber strike was during mid-day, and later 100 RAF Lancasters escorted by Spitfires and Mustangs battered the garrison and rail town of Trier itself. During the night, the RAF bombers also attacked rail yards at Coblenz and Bingen, situated strategically on the Rhine behind the German spearheads thrusting into Belgium. Six German fighters were shot down and three British planes lost.

Ammunition Train Blown Up

RAF Mosquito fighter-bombers also got in several licks at German transport behind the Belgian battlefront during the night, blowing up one entire freight train loaded with ammunition.

The Germans used their best pilots, who attacked in waves of 40 to 50 planes. For the most part the Germans kept away from the bombers and attempted only to keep the fleet American fighters away from German invasion columns.

German flak was only moderate, returning pilots said, the Nazis relying chiefly on their revived fighter force to cover their attacking ground troops.

Eagerness to get at von Runstedt's army was prevalent at Air Force headquarters. Given good weather, the airmen believed that a "few more cracks" at the Germans could put enough strain on the enemy's supply lines to turn the tide.

LUFTWAFFE GIVES BATTLE AS ALLIES ATTACK OFFENSIVE

Waves of German Fighters Tackle American Flyers —84 Nazis Downed.

London, Dec. 23 (A. P.).—Hundreds of war planes attacked the German counter-offensive today despite fanatical Nazi opposition as the weather suddenly broke in Allied favor.

Waves of German fighters bunched in tight formations of forty and fifty were tackled by American fighters, and by nightfall at least eighty-four Nazi planes had been shot down by Thunderbolt, Lightning and Mustang pilots of the American Eighth and Ninth Air Forces.

Railroad yards, junction points and columns of German tanks and trucks were silhouetted in bright sunlight against the snow-covered ground, affording perfect targets for some 400 Flying Fortresses and Liberators from Britain and their 700 fighter escorts.

Besides the railyards at Ehrang, near Trier, and Kaiserslautern, part of the 1,500-ton bomb load of the big planes fell on three road junctions squarely behind the counter-attacking Germans.

Returning pilots said most targets were hit visually as the snow and mist which has shrouded the German advance for days cleared and a brilliant sun shone on the battlefield. Attacks on all objectives were rated "fair" to "good" by United States Strategic Air Force officers after interviewing returning airmen.

First pilots returning to Britain said the German air force was up in strength and that the skies were ablaze with dogfights.

Col. Dave Shilling Becomes Top Ace In European War

London, Dec. 23—(AP)—Col. Dave Schilling, who commands an ace fighter group in Europe, became the leading ace himself today in the European theater. By getting five German planes, making his total bagged 34½—of which 24½ were in the air and 10 on the ground.

The 26-year-old Traverse City, Mich., pilot led his group into one of the fiercest dogfights of the war when they tangled with 250 German Messerschmitts and Focke-wulfs and shot down 35 of them.

Schilling is a protege of Col. Hubert Zemke of Missoula, Mont., who was known as the United States' fightin'est commander in Europe before he went down two months ago just a mile inside Germany and was taken prisoner.

The old record that Schilling broke was held by another Zemke protege who also is a prisoner now—Lt. Col. Francis Gabreski of Oil City, Pa., who had 31 planes to his credit—28 in the air and three on the ground.

Ironically, both Zemke and Gabreski went down on their last missions, Zemke making a final flight before acceding to requests that he accept a desk job and Gabreski before going home to be married.

Waterford Fighter Pilot Fells Nazi in Air Combat

London, Dec. 23—(AP)—Four German fighter planes attacked the Flying Fortress "Blue Grass Gal" today after the big plane had become separated from the rest of the formation. Two fighters were shot down.

Credited with downing the two fighters were Sgt. Richard Warwick top-turret gunner from Hickory, N. C., and Sgt. Arthur Clarke Jr., of New York.

Among fighter pilots claiming kills were Lieut. Robert Benefield, Walla Walla, Wash., and Lieut. Emery Cook, Waterford, Conn.

New Nazi Weapon Termed 'V-1½'

London, Dec. 23 (AP)—Several British newspapers, without giving the source of their information, designated the newest German secret weapon last night as V-1½.

The weapon has been in use during the present German offensive. The newspapers suggested it might be a self-propelled shell—a weapon having some features of the V-1 flying bomb and the V-2 rocket.

More than 1,000 V-2's have been launched against the Allies since the beginning of the rocket attacks in September, the Berlin radio said today. The broadcast said that for some time the Germans have been producing "a considerable quantity of the weapons in factories which are secure from enemy attack."

NEW ASSEMBLY IS ELECTED IN FREE HUNGARY

Provisional Body Meets—Plans Co-operation With Allies

London, Dec. 23—(AP)—Moscow announced tonight that a provisional Hungarian National Assembly had been elected in liberated portions of that country and had started work at Debrecen to establish a new provisional government which would co-operate with the United Nations.

The broadcast of the Moscow announcement, recorded here by the Soviet Monitor, said the 230-member Assembly held an organizational meeting December 21 and issued an appeal to the Hungarian people to break with Hitler's Germany and join with the United Nations.

The new government as it is authorized to set up would rival the puppet regime of Pro-Nazi Ferenc Szalasi which has fled from besieged Budapest to Sopron on the Austro-Hungarian border.

The Assembly elected as its president Bela Zede, Professor of the Juridical Academy at Miskolc. Vice Presidents are Kalman Santo, Professor at Debrecen University, and Dr. Sandor Yuhadnagy, a leader of the Reform Church in Hungary.

It met in a building of the Reform College.

Delegates to the Assembly were elected by Hungarian citizens in liberated territory in voting December 13 to 20, the Moscow radio reported.

The Assembly, it said, called for a break with Nazi Germany, an armistice with the Allies and joining the war for Hungary's liberation.

"We must break with Hitlerite Germany," tthe Assembly declaration was quoted. "We must sign an armistice with the victorious Allied powers, the Soviet Union, Great Britain and the U. S. A.

"We must not stand aside with folded arms while the Russian Army alone is liberating our motherland from the German yoke. We will truly merit the right to freedom and independence only when we ourselves with all our might take part in our own liberation."

Moscow said the Assembly represented "all democratic parties, trade unions, local government, local national committees, peasant unions, industrial associations and other public organizations" in liberated Hungary.

YULE SPIRIT IS BYPASSING EUROPE AGAIN

LANDSTROM

London, Dec. 23—(AP)—For the sixth straight year the Christmas spirit will by-pass Europe, its belligerents locked now in perhaps the final struggle and most of its hearts desolate.

The German counteroffensive has pulled up the Allied armies tautly and made them determined to set right this reverse on the Western front.

In the mud and blood of the fiercely-contested ground where Marshal von Rundstedt cast his challenge there can be nothing approximating Christmas, not even the ordinary Christmas at the front when special food and gifts are passed forward.

Consequently, London, Paris, Brussels and Rome naturally feel far less disposed to celebrate.

Peace Is Delayed

Yet the people do not want to be—nor are they encouraged to be—morbidly gloomy. News of peace, the finest Christmas story, will be delayed, and at tragic cost, but its coming is inevitable.

As in the past, therefore, Americans and Britons here are exchanging courtesies, the former sharing the good things of their Red Cross clubs with children denied a normal family life, and the latter receiving U. S. service men into their home.

Red Cross clubs are serving free turkey dinners and sponsoring parties, concerts, movies and dances. United Seamen's Service is taking care of many merchant sailors of the Allied nations.

Similar arrangements were made in several Belgian and French cities.

Apart from the frontline jolt, the British had troubles with the black market flourishing in poultry, liquor and toys. Only a relatively small number of people are able to eat turkey, chicken or goose. Most could get only a piece of beef or pork.

Though Winter holiday travel is not at a record level, travellers flocked to most London railroad stations early today in order to make the most of a vacation lasting until Wednesady. In England the day following Christmas—boxing day—also is a holiday.

In Neutral Lands

Only in neutral lands were there any real outward Christmas signs. The sixth war Christmas finds Switzerland something like a magic island in a thrashing sea. Refugees of half a dozen battle-ridden neighbors gaze into well-filled shop windows. Things long vanished in other countries are displayed in Switzerland, but their prices are staggering.

In Dublin citizens of Eire fare well enough for food, provided they have money, and in Stockholm the folk are even better off.

The grimmest of all will be the German Christmas. From Bern, Switzerland, comes an Associated Press dispatch quoting the German newspaper Appenzeller Zeitung:

"In place of bells are air raid sirens. The Christmas cake, goose and carp are only memories, no longer a part of the vocabulary of the German Christmas.

Not Even Carols"

"Last year Germans were exhorted to make practical gifts. Not even Christmas cards are permitted this year."

In Nazi-occupied Italy bitterness is increasing with the cold weather. Communists and Socialists of industrial Milan, Turin and Genoa were reported to have adopted a Christmas motto: "Christmas liberation or Christmas blood." Skirmishes of Partisans with Fascist and German troops continues. Germans are moving cattle to the fatherland by the thousands.

A year ago Budapest, the Hungarian capital, was still one of the elegant continental cities, but today it belongs to the front line. Reports reaching Bern said that 60 per cent of its stores were closed, its hotels empty and thousands of its population of two million heading westward.

Once gay Vienna is apathetic, said a dispatch to the National Zeitung of Basel, Switzerland. Suburban plants still are making armaments for the Nazis with the help of 700,000 foreign workers, whom the Germans fear, the paper said.

Norway Acts To Rebuild Depleted Merchant Navy

London, Dec. 23—(AP)—Nearly 50 per cent of Norway's merchant navy has been lost since the start of the war, but steps to rebuild it already are under way, Maj. Arne Sunde, Norwegian minister of shipping announced tonight. Before the war the Norwegian merchant fleet was the third largest in the world.

Sunde, in a broadcast beamed to Norway, said Swedish shipyards have practically completed the construction of 300,000 deadweight tons of ships on orders placed by the Norwegian Shipping and Trade Mission. Contracts for even larger tonnage have been placed, he said.

E-Boats Attack Convoy; 9 Hit In Battle

London, Dec. 23 (AP)—Strong forces of German E-boats attacked an Allied convoy en route to Antwerp last night, but were battered and beaten off without inflicting any damage, the Admiralty announced today.

At least two E-boats were sunk, two probably sunk and five others were damaged during the battle, lasting almost until daybreak, with British ships and light coastal forces.

The E-boats attacked just off the mouth of the Schelde River, in their first appearance in weeks, the Admiralty added.

U.S. Officer Barricades Himself In Leeds Hotel

Leeds, Eng., Dec. 23 (AP)—An American Army officer, just back from the Western front, was hospitalized for shell shock last night after he had barricaded himself in a hotel room with a Sten gun for six hours and threatened all who attempted to enter.

Firemen finally entered a window by a ladder and overpowered him. His identity was withheld.

Air Commodore Silly Dies

LONDON, Dec. 23 (AP).—Air Commodore Benjamin James Silly, who appeared in the British film "Target for Tonight," the record of a typical Royal Air Force bombing raid on Germany, has died in a Japanese prison camp in Formosa, it was disclosed last night. He formerly commanded Britain's Pembroke Dock Air Station.

Ex-Bureau Chief Held

Stockholm, Dec. 23 (AP)—Police authorities today announced the arrest of John Alexander Lonnegren, former chief of the Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau, on charges of supplying to Germany information on Norwegian refugees in Sweden. Lonnegren left his post in the telegraph bureau more than a year ago.

600,000 Hungarian Jews Deported, Report

Geneva, Switzerland, Dec. 23 (AP). The world Jewish Congress announced today that 600,000 Jews were deported from Hungary during the past two months, with some going to compulsory labor in Germany but most being sent to the Auschwitz extermination camp.

The congress also reported that the Iron Cross party, aided by the Nazis, is conducting a pogrom against 250,000 Jews who until now had been permitted to remain in "Jewish houses" in Budapest. That number had been reduced to 75,000 by the beginning of December and no information has been received about them since, the congress said.

CANADIAN TROOPS IN ITALY ADVANCE NORTH OF FAENZA

Rome, Dec. 23—(AP)—Canadian troops of the Eighth Army, pushing ahead against strong opposition, have established a front more than five miles wide along the east bank of the Senior River northeast of Faenza, while American troops have made local gains near Monte Belmonte, south of Bologna, Allied Headquarters in Italy announced today.

The report of the American advance was the first mention of any gains south of Bologna in weeks. The Americans have been in control of Monte Belmonte, a peak almost 2,000 feet high just east of Highway 65, for several weeks. In their 24-hour advance, they moved up 500 yards in some places against dogged German resistance. Patrols maintained contact with the enemy throughout the night.

The Canadians, taking quick advantage of their breakthrough at the Naviglio bridgehead northwest of Bagnacavallo, nine miles west of Ravenna, were backed by armor which spread out along the river bank under a heavy smoke screen.

In close support of the advances south of Bologna and north of Faenza, nearly 1,000 Allied fighters and fighter-bombers struck at targets immediately ahead of the assault forces and bombed Po Valley communications and the Brenner Pass rail line.

The Air Force report said that the railroads were cut in 72 places, five rail bridges and one road bridge were destroyed and six locomotives, 15 rail cars and 26 enemy-held buildings were smashed.

Closer to Faenza, other Eighth Army troops were hacking away at an enemy salient still left between the two Allied forces as they maintained their westward advance. The town of Mezzano, three miles northeast of Faenza, was captured.

Adriatic coastal area patrols pushing northwrd probed deeper toward Valli di Comacchio.

Americans Improve Position In Italy

Rome, Dec. 23 (AP) — Canadian troops have established a 6-mile-wide front along the Senio River northeast of Faenza, in Italy, while the 5th Army to the west made local gains south of Bologna, Allied headquarters announced today.

The communique made the first definite mention in weeks of an advance from directly south of Bologna, announcing that American troops had improved their positions in the area of Monte Belmonte, a peak towering 2,000 feet just east of Highway 65.

Advance 500 Yards

The doughboys, who have been under the guns of Germans on this mountain for a number of weeks, advanced 500 yards in some places against dogged opposition.

Canadian units were taking rapid advantage of their breakthrough at the Naviglio bridgehead, northwest of newly captured Bagna-Cavallo, a strategic highway center 9 miles west of Ravenna.

Backed up by armor which pushed across the Fosso Munio, the Canadians spread out along the east bank of the Senio for 6 miles. This advance placed the Canadians in the area of Alfonsine.

Nearer Faenza, other 8th Army troops hacked at an enemy salient left between the two forces.

Mezzano, 3 miles northeast of Faenza, was captured while a push to the north was clearing German rearguards from east of Naviglio and south of Bagnacavallo.

It was disclosed that the 313th Battalion of Combat Engineers, commanded by Lieut. Col. Salvatorea Armogida, of Canton, Ohio, still was struggling with German demolitions in the Italian hills.

This outfit previously took part in the 5th Army's advances through the Gustav and Hitler Lines. One of its recent jobs was done under shellfire and bad weather when it dug a trail to replace a mule path across the Santerno River so that supplies could be brought up.

Po Valley Bombed

In close support of the Allied advances the air force sent nearly 1,000 fighters and fighter-bombers into the air against targets in the Po Valley, the Brenner Pass and others immediately in front of the ground troops.

Important rail lines were cut at 72 places, a headquarters announcement said, and five rail bridges and a road bridge were destroyed. Six locomotives, 15 rail cars and 26 enemy-held buildings were smashed.

Authorities In Rome Cleaning Up Mobs Of Armed Gangsters

Rome, Dec. 23—(AP)—Six hundred heavily-armed Carabinieri supported by light tanks surrounded the Roman suburb of Tormarancio during the night, arrested some 200 Roman gangsters and seized large stores of arms, the Carabinieri Command announced today.

Official declarations also said four separate groups of civilian and soldier criminals believed to have been connected with a number of serious crimes, including murder of a former near Tivoli, had been rounded up.

These arrests were made by Allied military police operating in close co-operation with Italian civil authorities.

Brig. Gen. Thoburn K. Brown, Rome area commander, said there has been a noticeable decrease in major crimes since the arrests.

The first of the four groups included a number of Allied soldiers who admitted committing robberies in Naples and Rome.

Members of the second group, consisting of 16 persons, including soldiers, deserters and civilians, were apprehended on October 28 as they prepared to hold up two cafes.

The third group, comprising a dozen persons including soldiers, was accused of issuing counterfeit Allied military currency.

Allied soldiers and deserters made up the fourth band which was accused of committing a number of highway robberies.

Syracuse Soldier Decorated

ROME, Dec. 23 (AP).—The Legion of Merit was awarded today to Technical Sergeant Howard S. Ialberg, former radio engineer for station WAGE at Syracuse. The award was made for outstanding service in building the Rome radio studio and in developing a technique for recording broadcasts from bombing planes.

3 U.S. Tank Men Get British Awards

With the 5th Army in Italy, Dec. 23 (AP)—Three American tankmen have been awarded the British Military Cross for creating "chaos and consternation in the ranks of the Hun," an announcement said today.

The action occurred back of Monastery Hill at Cassino early this year.

The three tankmen are Capt. Herman R. Crowder, of Yazoo City, Miss.; Lieut. John Crews, of Chicago, and Lieut. Chester M. Wright, of San Antonio, Texas.

Ordered To Raise Chaos

The trio are believed to be the first American tankmen ever to receive the British decoration.

Crowder was company commander with crews and Wright platoon leaders when they received an order to "raise chaos and consternation" behind the enemy lines.

They proceeded to Mesa Albaneto nunnery, behind the monastery, and did such a good job that Ghurka Indian troops on near-by Hangman's Hill were able to withdraw without loss.

The outfit lost ten tanks, three of them shot out from under their crews.

Connecticut Men On Italian Front Send Christmas Messages Home

DEC 24 1944

With the Fifth Army, Italy, Dec. 23—(AP)—Connecticut soldiers serving overseas with the veteran 34th "Red Bull" Division of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army send the following greetings to their home folks from the front in Italy.

To his mother, Mrs. Mary Triano, 18 May Street, Naugatuck, Pvt. Rocco J. Triano says: "Dear mother: I hope to be spending next Christmas with you and our family. Love, Rockie." Triano is a rifleman with the 168th Infantry Regiment.

Another member of the same company, Pfc. Raymond J. Dupere sends greetings to his father, Gerard Dupere, 62 Second Street, Plainfield. He says: "Dear dad: hope to be back soon, by next Christmas if possible. Take good care of mom for me—Duke." He is a tommy gunner.

Tech. Sgt. Frank J. Evon, operations sergeant in the 185th Field Artillery Battalion, chose the good old fashioned, "Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year," as his greeting to his mother, Mrs. John Evon, 109 Clifton Street, Wallingford.

"Wishing you a Merry Christmas. Christmas for us will be better than last year, but I wish I were home." That's the wish received by Mrs. Hattie Collins, North Stonington, from her son, Corp. Roy A. Collins, a forward observer with the 151st Field Artillery Battalion.

Pfc. Charles W. Hains, rifleman with the 135th Infantry Regiment sends this greeting to his mother, Mrs. Cora Hains, 4 Tolles Street, West Hartford: "Merry Christmas and my love to you, Lucille and Edward."

Vito Montanaro, 51 Diaz Street, Stamford, receives the following message from his son, Pvt. Fred V. Montanaro: "Merry Christmas to you, Lena, Jean, Eleanore, Carmina and Jerry." Private Montanaro is a cook in the 135th Regiment.

Continue Around Athens

Athens, Dec. 23—(AP)—Fifteen thousand to 20,000 Left-Wing Elas warriors stormed the Rightist guerrilla stronghold in Northwestern Greece today, spreading civil war clear across the nation, as stiff fighting also erupted north of the Athens port of Piraeus where British-Indian troops landed under the support of naval guns and rocket-firing Beaufighters.

British headquarters, which only last night received the Elas' reply to its cease-fire ultimatum, officially declared that the Elas assault on the Right-Wing stronghold around Ioannina was an "unprovoked attack" in violation of an agreement reached between the rival factions at Caserta before the original British landings in Greece.

DEC 24 1944

While Lieut. Gen. Ronald Scobie, the British commander, and Harold McMillan, British resident general in the Middle East, conferred on the situation, Indian troops battled the Elas members north of the main harbor basin of Piraeus, southwest of Athens.

In Factory Buildings

Elas bands were holed up in factory buildings and the British made slight advances by capturing the shell-damaged terminal station of the Piraeus-Athens interurban line.

It was feared that the main refrigerating plant for meat supplies of the whole capital district was seriously damaged in the fighting in this district north of Kallipolis Peninsula.

Indian troops on the western side of Piraeus harbor ct solidated their bridgehead, established this morning, and Elas formations also were reported to have pulled out of the Southern Athens suburbs west of the main Athens-Phaleron Road. Newly, formed Greek National Guard detachments, whose strength as a result of a call-up now has reached nearly 9,000, took over control of this area.

Elas Regrouping

The lowland from Piraeus eastward toward the line of the Ellisos River also is now declared completely free. In Fissariani and up to the stadium area at the back of Sappion Park, Elas groups still are strongly entrenched, but the main move is now to the north where the Elas evidently is regrouping with a view of securing it inland communications.

British Sherman tanks based on the slopes of Mt. Likabettos continued a stiff harassing bombardment throughout today on the Elas concentrations in the northern suburbs of the capital. R.A.F. planes also participated.

Gen. Napoleon Zervas, commander of the Right-Wing Edes, sent an urgent message to the British for assistance, but thus far no help has been sent.

Cut Edes Territory

The leftist Elas, commanded by Gen. Stephanos Saraphis, were reported to have cut 20 miles through Edes territory, by-passing Yannina, which has served as Zervas headquarters.

Zervas, whose current strength is estimated at 12,000, notified the British he was resisting the attack from the north but expected to fall back into the Tomaros Mountains to the south of Iannina in Central Epirus.

The communique said that at Caserta both generals "agreed to refrain from hostilities."

"General Scobies' orders had been obeyed scrupulously by Gen. Zervas in spite of obvious concentrations of Elas forces within his operational boundaries, and he has taken no provocative action," the communique asserted.

Lieut. Gen. R. M. Scobie, the British commander, was given the Elas' reply to his ultimatum during a 25-minute truce called last night.

While the terms of the reply were not made public, there were indications the Elas has refused to agree flatly to Scobie's conditions.

Stamtios Mercuris, veteran politician and Liberal who acted as a courier in carrying the Elas message to the British, was reported to have made this statement in behalf of the Left-Wing EAM party, whose military wing is the Elas:

"We have unwittingly been involved in a clash with Great Britain. If we give in it is because we don't want British prestige to suffer in any way . . . the Elas are ready to obey Britain's orders and hastens to join in the fight against Germany."

(Ankara radio said the reply was believed to have accepted Scobie's demand that the Elas evacuate Attica, which embraces Athens and its Port of Piraeus, and agreed to disarm its troops in the two cities under scrutiny of a joint British-Greek commission.

(The broadcast, heard by the Federal Communications Commission, said the Elas also agreed to formation of a new national unity government. Cairo radio, in a similar broadcast, said the Elas "already had been removed outside of Athens.")

The sound of artillery and small arms fire echoed through Athens today and British Beaufighters roared low over the city as they strafed Elas positions west of the capital.

The communique said troops were landed this morning on the north side of Piraeus Harbor "and from the vicinity of the west side have made good progress in clearing insurgent forces."

The landings came after a British warship bombarded Leftist concentrations north of the port. The Elas fought back strongly from the eastern sector of this front, throwing in two strong counterattacks in the factory area during the morning.

Withdrawing From Athens

The Elas appeared to be withdrawing from the southern suburbs of Athens. Britsh-manned Sherman tanks shelled the Elas in various districts north and east of the city. A number of armed prisoners and some war stores were captured.

Premier George Papandreou, whose government has been under attack by the Elas, told a morning press conference that the crux of the situation was refusal of "the extreme left ot disband their private army."

A questioner sugested that the Rightist forces were fighting back with arms in their possesion after the government's December 20 deadline for disbanding all armed groups. The premier replied that "self defense is the right of all free men."

(The Elas in refusing to yield its weapons asserted the Papandreous Government was trying to disarm Left-Wing forces while leaving guns in the hands of the Rightists.)

The premier declared the question of a regency was "wholly irrevalent to the present situation," and denied he had sent a recommendation to King George to accept a regency.

Papandeou asserted that even with a regency there was no guarantee the extreme left would not rebel against it.

"After quelling the rebellion liberty will be restored," he added. "There is no intention to victimize or take revenge against the extreme left."

Greek Leftists Open Attack On EDES

Athens, Dec. 23 (AP)—A strong attack by Left-wing ELAS forces in northwest Greece against Rightist guerrillas led by Gen. Napoleon Zervas was announced today by British military headquarters.

The announcement asserted that the attack was in violation of an agreement signed by the opposing Greek forces of Caserta before Allied forces landed in Greece to drive out the Germans.

Deep Penetration

The official communiqué said a deep penetration into the Rightist (EDES) territory had been made by the ELAS. It was reported unofficially that these ranged up to twenty miles. The ELAS forces are commanded by General Sarafis.

British forces landed this morning on the north side of Piraeus harbor, the communiqué said, and have made good progress in clearing out the insurgent forces. Progress also has been made in Athens in subduing the ELAS.

25-Minute Truce In Athens

A 25-minute truce silenced a section of Athens last night while an ELAS messenger delivered a reply to Lieut. Gen. R. M. Scobie, British commander, on his cease-fire ultimatum. The contents of the note were not immediately revealed.

Firing resumed after the truce was ended and there were indications that the ELAS were unwilling to agree flatly to Scobie's terms.

A Cairo broadcast recorded by the FCC said that ELAS' headquarters already had been removed outside Athens in accordance with Scobie's first condition and that there were reports that the ELAS had accepted almost all the British commander's terms.

[Ankara radio said it was believed that the ELAS had agreed to evacuate Attica, that ELAS troops in Athens and Piræus would be disarmed and that a new national unit government should be formed.]

Small-arms fire still echoed through Athens today as Scobie considered the reply to his ultimatum. The ELAS apparently were withdrawing from the southern suburbs to the north.

A British warship bombarded ELAS concentrations north of Piræus in the clearing operations which continued throughout yesterday on the west side of the main harbor. Stiff opposition was encountered by the British north of the Kallipolis peninsula.

20,000 ELAS Troops

Zervas's headquarters reported that up to 20,000 ELAS troops were concentrated around EDES territory and a spearhead had driven into Grammeno village, west of Ioannina, Zervas's headquarters.

The EDES general reported to the British Athens headquarters that he was resisting the attack from the north, but expected to fall back into the mountains of central Epirus.

It was disclosed that he asked for British support, but thus far none had been sent. His strength was estimated at 12,000.

Many U. S. Soldiers In Bethlehem for Christmas Services

Jerusalem, Dec. 23—(AP)—On this sixth Christmas of the greatest conflict the world has known more than 500 American warriors will gather to celebrate the birth of the Prince of Peace at the Bethlehem Manger where it occurred.

They started coming in by plane today, fresh from the mud and gore of the battlefields in France, Germany and Italy, from North Africa, from stations in the Middle East and from the bleak coast of the Persian Gulf.

There weren't many officers among these pilgrims. Most of them were just plain G. I.'s—winging in from scenes of violent death to honor the one who promised eternal life.

They follow the winding road to Bethlehem soon after their arrival, for they are eager to see "The Place." In the Church of the Nativity they descend a short flight of stone steps and are shown the exact spot where the Manger stood.

A bright metal star inlaid in rock marks the place.

They will return to Bethlehem Sunday night. From 9 P. M. to 3 A. M. relays of Army buses will bring them from Jerusalem. The Army and the Red Cross have arranged everything for their participation in the celebrations of the Saviour's birth.

Many will attend the midnight mass in the Church of St. Catherine, the Roman Catholic Church adjoining the Church of the Nativity which is the common property of Roman, Greek and Armenian churches.

Yanks Fly To Jerusalem

By Relman Morin

Jerusalem, Dec. 23 (AP)—American soldiers, who only days ago, were slogging through the bloody turmoil of war on the Western front arrived in Jerusalem today to celebrate the birth of the Prince of Peace.

They came by airplane directly from the scenes of the world's greatest conflict to the site of history's greatest miracle. Yesterday they heard the guns of war and the shrieks of the wounded and dying: tomorrow they will hear hymns of rejoicing. They have seen death; they come now to see the birthplace of the one who promised eternal life.

Fewer This Year

Army authorities and the Red Cross said between 500 and 600 are expected as against over 1,000 normally.

Planes are arriving here not only from the battlefields of France and Italy but also from North Africa, the mid-East and the bleak shores of the Persian Gulf—but only a few can come. The war is nearer its climax now.

Disappointed At First

If you have seen the average GI on his usual leave behind the lines, brimming with life and high spirits, you would not recognize him here. Something of the ancient mystery of this place seems to touch him the moment he steps down from the army bus bringing him in from the airport.

First he is a little disappointed—he does not see Christmas trees and the familiar red and green ornaments, tinsel and artificial snow and all the things he is accustomed to find in shop windows.

Then he goes along the street to the Y.M.C.A., where the Red Cross is quartered. There he finds a tall tree appropriately strung with electric lights. He begins to feel more at home.

Go To Bethlehem

At the Red Cross headquarters arrangements are made to take the soldiers to Bethlehem, where guides take them into the cool, high-roofed Church of the Nativity. They descend a short flight of stone steps to the spot where the manger originally stood.

A bright metal star inlaid in the rocks marks the place.

They all will be coming back to Bethlehem Sunday night, Christmas Eve. Relays of army busses will bring them from Jerusalem.

The soldiers will hear and see the midnight mass in the church.

They will hear the joyous swelling strains of "Hark the Hcrald Angels Sing, Glory to the Newborn King." A choir of 2,000 voices—all Polish officers and men—will sing the Christmas songs in their native language.

Tigyaing Occupied By British Pushing Toward Mandalay

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Dec. 23—(AP)—Tigyaing, 42 miles down the Irrawaddy River from Katha in northern Burma and 125 miles from Mandalay, has been occupied by the 36th British Division, the Southeast Asia Command announced today.

Dispatches from the front reported the Japanese appeared to be withdrawing from northeastern Burma to form a defense around Mandalay, leaving only rearguards to delay Allied advances.

Chinese troops operating east of the British driving down the Irrawaddy have cut the Bhamo-Nahmkam Road not far from Nahmkan and the Burma Road, and British troops on the 15th Indian Corps front have captured Kwazon, a village at the junction of the Kalapanzin and Mayu Rivers.

The communique reported continued progress on the Chindwin Front along the Shwegyin-Yeu Road.

Allies Take Town 125 Miles From Mandalay

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Dec. 23 (AP)—British troops driving down the Irrawaddy River in northern Burma have captured Tigyaing, 42 river miles south of Katha and approximately 125 miles from Mandalay, the Southeast Asia Command announced today.

This new gain by the 36th British Division yesterday came as field dispatches gave mounting evidence that the Japanese are withdrawing from northwestern Burma into a defense arc around Mandalay. They are leaving only rearguard pockets for delaying actions, dispatches said.

Drive Along Road

On the Chindwin front, Allied progress continued along the Shwegyin-Yeu road.

On the east flank of the British drive along the Irrawaddy, Chinese troops have cut the Bhamo-Namhkam road at the fifty-second milestone, headquarters said. This would be very close to Namhkam and the Burma road.

CHINESE PRESS HOCHIH DRIVE IN 3 SECTORS

Chungking, Dec. 23—(AP)—Chinese troops supported by American fighter planes pressed their attack on the key railroad town of Hochih in Kwangsi Province from three sides tonight, the Chinese High Command anounced.

Hochih, which is 95 miles northwest of Liuchow, is being assaulted by troops which routed Japanese columns from Kweichow Province during the past two weeks.

Mustang fighter planes of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's 14th Air Force supported the Chinese ground action by bombing railroad yards east of Hochih and enemy road traffic west of Ishan.

In another raid at Hongkong yesterday U. S. P-51s destroyed two enemy fighters which intercepted them over Kaitak airdrome, an American communique said. Four Japanese planes were destroyed on the ground.

Four other enemy planes were damaged, two freighters were strafed in the harbor district and oil storage areas at Kowloon were hit, the communique added.

Another P-51 mission which destroyed three Japanese planes on the ground at Tienho airdrome was intercepted by 12 enemy fighters. One enemy plane was damaged in the air.

Mustangs also hit barracks at Lucnam in French Indo-China yesterday, and B-25s bombed bridges south of Langson.

From all the missions three U. S. planes failed to return.

Japs Stiffen At Hochih

Chungking, Dec. 23 (AP)—Fighting continued without material change today outside the enemy-held Kwangsi province railway city of Hochih, where Japanese resistance was stiffened with reinforcements, the high command announced today.

Hochin, 95 miles northwest of Liuchow, was besieged on three sides by Chinese troops that successfully routed Japanese columns from Kweichow province during the last two weeks.

A Chinese high command spokesman yesterday said the "crisis" in the Kwangsi-Kweichow area was "over, at least for the present."

ner, First Sgt. [redacted] Irving W. Smith, J. G. MARTIN 24, of Muskegon, Mich., bagged one "Oscar" with about 100 rounds, sending the Japanese plane—which had burst into flame—to the ground. The bombardier, Lieut. Harold Dickerson, of St. Louis, Mo., got one and damaged another from the "Last Resort's" two forward turrets.

Pilot John G. Martin, 23, of Woodbridge, Conn., flying his ninth mission, and the co-pilot, John Harvell, 25, of Birmingham, Ala., on his seventh mission, told of encountering few fighters en route and little flak over the target. But, they said, they ran into many fighters of all descriptions around Mukden. Their plane damaged two or three attackers which put .50 caliber shots through the gunners' compartment, ripping the clothing of Sgt. Thomas Jefferson Love, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., but unharming him.

Sgt. Everett S. Swanson, 21, of Kane, Pa., top gunner in the "Superstitious Aloysius" bagged one fighter. In the same plane, the bombardier, First Lieut. James J. O'Keefe, 22, of San Francisco, flying his fifth mission, experienced shells bursting on both sides but was unhurt.

LIBERATORS POUND LUZON AIRDROME

Destroy Majority Of 100 Jap Planes On Clark Field

General MacArthur's Philippine Headquarters, Sunday, Dec. 24 (AP). Headquarters today reported a smashing daylight air raid on Clark Field, near Manila, in which the majority of 100 grounded Japanese planes were destroyed, and said also that United States troops had completed the destruction of Nipponese in the bloody Ormoc corridor of Leyte Island.

Liberator bombers, operating from an undisclosed field, made the Clark Field raid Friday, Philippine time.

First-Class Surprise

It was the first daylight Liberator operation against that main Japanese air center in the Philippines and an Army spokesman said it was a first class surprise to the Nipponeses, who got only nine of their fighters in the air to meet the assault.

Eight of the nine interceptors were shot down by United States Thunderbolts. The dispersal and taxi areas between two of the airstrips were left enveloped in fire and smoke. Liberator crews reported one tremendous explosion from which a smoke column rose 5,000 feet.

3,788 Dead Japs In Day

Yanks cleaning up Leyte's Ormoc corridor and pocketed Japanese to the east counted another 3,738 enemy dead in one day, bringing the eight-day total to 16,661.

The 77th Division, the communique said, is continuing to work its way westward from the corridor to the port of Palompon, last base of the remnants of enemy forces in that area.

Participation of the 11th Airborne Division in the west Leyte fighting was disclosed for the first time. It is commanded by Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Swing. It did much of the heavy fighting in the rugged mountainous terrain southeast of Ormoc and east of the battlefront where the 77th and the 7th Division closed a trap on the enemy's Yamashita line.

DEC 24 1944

Dec. 24 (Sunday) (AP).—At single C-47 transport plane dropped all the 11th Air-borne Division paratroopers and equipment for the west Leyte operation. The plane was piloted alternately by Major William Martin, of Chickamauga, Ga., First Lieutenant John W. Patterson of Danville, Ill., and Second Lieutenant Alvin R. Johnson of Des Moines, Iowa.

It took a neat bit of flying to do the job. The transport had to poke its way through cloud-shrouded valleys and dip down to 600 feet to drop its loads, then pull up sharply to clear a hill ahead.

It took ten missions to do the job. Only once did a 'chute hang up in a tree top. The paratroopers were dropped fully armed and prepared to defend their guns against the Japanese less than a mile away. When they boarded the transport they chuckled:

"This will come as a big surprise to the Japs; it'll kill them."

Pound Jap Airdromes

Islands lying between Leyte and Mindoro were given another heavy aerial pounding. Japanese airdromes on Cebu, Panay and Negros took 160 tons of bombs on successive days.

Japanese planes again attacked the American positions on Mindoro and twenty were shot dow. Two others probably were bagged. The Japanese offered no ground opposition there.

The communiqué reported the sinking of a small enemy freighter by light United States naval units in the Visayan Sea and the shelling of Japanese shore installations on Masbate Island.

Yanks Pursue Foe On Leyte Island

London, Dec. 23 (AP) — The Tokyo radio said the Japanese foreign office has protested to the United States Government Thursday a "new violation of international law by the American air force" in the sinking of a Japanese hospital ship, the Mura Maru, on December 12.

DEC 24 1944

MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Dec. 23 (AP)—American infantrymen, chasing a foe whose abandoned dead is being counted at a rate of 1,800 a day, pressed mercilessly on Leyte against Nipponese retreating toward Palompon while artillery pumped shells into that last port of escape, headquarters reported today.

On recently invaded Mindoro Island, there still was no ground opposition, but the enemy continued its air raids, losing seven planes in combat and two to anti-aircraft fire. Two American fighters were lost.

In the bloody Leyte campaign, swiftly nearing an end as Japanese soldiers fell at an amazing rate, the United States 77th Division was three miles beyond the Ormoc corridor advancing westward along the mountain road toward Palompon, on the northwest shoulder of the island.

Mopping Up Japs

The Americans, after sealing off the corridor itself, were mopping up the bottled-up Japanese there as well as remnants hoping to escape by sea at Palompon.

Palompon is a secondary port at best, poorer by far than Ormoc. It was doubtful that the Japanese could make good any mass escape through a rain of artillery shells and sea and air attack such as the Americans could mount from nearby bases.

An indication of the carnage wrought on the Leyte Japanese by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces was given in his announcement that 12,873 enemy dead were found abandoned on the island in the last seven days. That is an average of 1,839 a day. A week ago he estimated 1,500 had been killed daily during the first 55 days of the Leyte-Samar campaign.

Philippines Airfields Hit

Stepped-up American air activity included a severe plastering of central Philippines airdromes. Panay, Negros, Cebu and Masbate airdromes were hit by 1,000-pound bombs which cratered runways and destroyed or damaged 13 Japanese planes.

Liberators also caused fires and explosions in a night attack on Clark Field, northwest of Manila.

The petroleum refineries in northern Borneo took another bombing from patrol planes. Dutch medium bombers sank a freighter and damaged another in the Banda Sea the same day (Wednesday) and hundreds of Japanese troops were seen swimming from the burning ship as it settled.

General MacArthur issued this Christmas prayer to his command:

"It is my Christmas prayer that merciful God will continue to preserve and protect the members of this fine command and return each any every one of you safe and well to your beloved homes."

Turkey And Gifts Rushed To GI's

HUTCHESON

MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Dec. 23 (AP)—Turkey and a flood of gift packages will give Christmas some of its traditional holiday spirit for the troops and sailors in the Philippines.

The distribution of hundreds of sacks of Christmas packages has been under way for more than a week with delivery to the troops up front rating a high priority. Today the Quartermaster Corps started distributing a million pounds of turkey from a refrigeration ship.

Dozen Cans Of Beer Each

By airplane, fast boat, land vehicles and on the backs of carabaos and men, the turkey is going to the front lines. There will also be an allotment of a dozen cans of newly arrived beer to be sold to each man between Christmas Eve and New Year's Day.

Major Robert C. Russell, Cham-

Woodbridge Officer Pilots B-29 In Mukden Plane Plant Attack

A B-29 Base in China, Dec. 21—(Delayed)—(AP)—Superfortresses of the 20th Bomber Command today attacked the strongly defended Japanese aircraft factory at Mukden, Manchuria, and the adjoining arsenal.

Howard Anderson, 21, of Santa Monica, Calif., a radio operator flying his eighth mission, said at least 20 enemy fighters over the Mukden target pressed the attack for 20 minutes on the Superfortress "Last Resort" which encountered considerable inaccurate flak en route and made a crippled, slow flight home.

paign, Ill., who has one of the world's biggest turkey-peddling jobs, said: "We will throw the turkey to the men in the frontmost foxholes if necessary.

"Six planes are carrying turkey to the Mindoro troops tomorrow. Fast boats are taking it to the outlying islands. Also to Samar and the Ormoc front. I don't think we are missing anyone."

A pound is allotted for each man both Christmas and New Year's. The turkey will be cooked in the mess halls before being taken to the front lines.

Menu Announced

Major Russell outlined this menu where facilities are available: Fruit cocktail, turkey, biscuits, peas, corn, asparagus, pumpkin pie, hard candy.

"Beer will go to the combat troops first, but all will have it by New Year's, Major Russell said.

"Even if you add all this up," said Major Russell, "it won't be exactly a merry Christmas for the troops, but the fighting men isolated at the Pacific fronts have had a lot worse."

Yanks Get 'Sweetest' Mail From Home

Headquarters 31st Division, Morotai Island, Dec. 23 (AP)—Never was the mail from home any sweeter than that received recently by an infantry outpost of this "Dixie" division.

The bundle of letters, dropped from a cub delivery plane just at chow time, fell into a syrup pot. It was rescued by Sergt. Harold Bank, of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

150 Jap Planes Hit Superforts Over Nagoya

San Francisco, Dec. 23 (AP)—The Tokyo radio reported that a single Superfort dropped bombs and incendiaries on Tokyo early today and another hit Hong Kong. The B-29's were apparently on reconnaissance flights from Saipan and China bases. The unconfirmed broadcast was recorded here.

Later the Tokyo domestic radio said two Superfortresses had passed over the Hanshin area, which includes the cities of Osaka and Kobe, but "fled" without dropping bombs.

Twenty-first Bomber Command, Saipan, Dec. 23 (AP)—The Japanese flung 150 planes, manned by first-rank flyers Friday at Superfortresses over Nagoya, Japan, in a frantic effort to prevent further damage to aircraft factories there, but the B-29's fought them off and blasted enemy war industries for two and a half hours.

A War Department communique issued at Washington said that not a B-29 was lost to enemy action out of the sizeable force which concentrated on the already hard-hit Mitsubishi aircraft works at Nagoya, a city of more than 1,000,000 inhabitants 165 miles southwest of Tokyo. Five enemy interceptors were believed destroyed and four others damaged.

Japs Claim 16

(A Japanese imperial communiqué claimed sixteen Superforts definitely shot down, four probables and twenty others damaged. The broadcast communiqué admitted four Japanese interceptors were lost.)

Overcast prevented assessment of results of the precision instrument bombing. Returning flyers expressed confidence some explosives added to the severe damage inflicted December 13 on the Hatsudoki factory of the Mitsubishi works, which produces fighters and bombers.

"It was the strongest fighter attack we have had yet," reported Major Robert Fitzgerald, of Ridgewood, N.J.

"They were sitting out there waiting for us."

Second Lieutenant Robert Sollock, of Rule, Texas, a pilot who counted 50 interceptors in the vicinity of his formation, said:

Like Ready Room

"You've seen those airplane models dangling from the ceiling of a ready room? Well, this looked just like that, with Jap planes hanging everywhere."

Corporal Donald Ladd, of Manchester, N.H., identified at least three types of enemy fighters.

"They even had one Betty (a two-engined bomber) up there," Ladd said.

"We saw fighters of the caliber we haven't seen since Germany," reported Capt. Louis L. Haltom, Nacogdoches, Texas.

Stayed 20 Minutes

"We were the lead ship of our formation and the fighters stayed with us for twenty minutes."

Second Lieutenant Paren Cockerill, of Sacramento, Cal., bombardier, told of fighters making two attacks during the bombing run and four after it had been completed, always concentrating on the leading Superfortress.

Corporal Ladd shot down one fighter and saw his bombardier, Second Lieutenant Joe J. Tierney, of Bridgeport, Conn., manning a gun, down a second.

Anti-aircraft fire was intense during the opening stages of the raid, the flyers reported.

Superfortress Captain Tells of Saipan Christmas

Veteran of Tokyo Missions Sends Letter to Wife Through Associated Press.

DEC 24 1944

This is a Christmas letter transmitted by the Associated Press from Capt. Donald W. Thompson, 25-year-old veteran of several B-29 flights over Tokyo to his wife, Mrs. Dawn Thompson of 659 Wall street, Ridgewood, N. J. Capt. Thompson named his Superfortress "Punchin' Judy" for his daughter Judy, who will be a year old February 4. His letter:

December, 1944.

"SOMEWHERE ON SAIPAN.

"Dawn darling:

"Your last letter came on a beautiful Sunday morning and was so in tune with all that Sunday can mean. It was a rare day, somehow, although I did some routine things—jeeped up to the line to check on Punchin' Judy and attended a critique on the last Nagoya mission. The Puncher was in fine fettle, for Sergt. Raynes really takes care of that big silver baby.

"I would fly an orange crate to Tokyo and back if he would install the engines and maintain them. The 'recon' photos shown at the critique would make a heartening Christmas greeting for each and every Rosie-the-riveter Boeing employs.

Different Christmas Questions.

"Speaking of Christmas, it is about time that I started on a Christmas letter to you and Judy. The big question out here is not 'how many shopping days until Christmas?' but 'how many days until we go again?' but that does not interfere with the hopes I send for a most happy Christmas Day and a more victorious New Year that will follow.

"You know that all the crew join me in these wishes. They all are in the pink these days. Ray still is a most able assistant in directing the crew; Mac has seen his bombs fall on Tokyo; Randy is licking one of the world's tougher navigation problems, and 'Plumber' checks his engineer's gauges and distributes the gas that keeps those four fans humming.

"SargeStrong sits in his 'dark room' and keeps radio contact with the rest of the world while in 'dark room No. 2' 'Burk' Burkhart works in secrecy with his numerous important gadgets.

"Old Man Staller, our CFC gunner, along with Stormy Cloud and Dave Davis fuss like old women over their 50s while Dan Bartok takes more than usual pride in the cannon that makes any tailgunner feel considerably less lonely. They all are doing a fine job, not only because they know their equipment but because they take a personal pride in everything they do to keep Punchin' Judy coming out of her Saipan corner ready for every new round.

Ground Crew's Role.

"Of course, Boss Raynes and his ground crew make all this possible by their daily sweating over the Puncher's engines and other complicated equipment. And do not think they are forgotten—not when the cigars are distributed. All these men and many others who drove the Nips from this island and built runways are helping to make the New Year victorious and its next Christmas a happier one for all of us.

"You can picture us running around out here on Christmas Day in the usual khaki shirt and shorts combination, boning turkey for Christmas dinner and getting a big surprise out of the packages you have filled to the last official ounce. Undoubtedly there will be a version of eggnog in circulation — for those who bring their own. And, most surely, a spontaneous Christmas carol or two. The chapel tents will be more than filled—the attendance increases with each passing Sunday.

"Though I won't be sharing Judy's first Christmas with you, I will be happy with this and little thoughts—you swinging mistletoe over the unsuspecting in the doorway; you reaching high to put the star of peace atop an evergreen and you digging Judy out from under a pile of bright Christmas wrappings.

"So many a merry Christmas to you and Judy, darlings, and the proud grandmas and grandpas whom you will be hostessing at Christmas dinner.

"Love,

"DON."

Members of the Crew.

Capt. Thompson's crew includes: Co-pilot Second Lieut. Raymond J. Rood, Mobile, Ala.; flight engineer, First Lieut. Philip N. (Plumber) French, Portsmouth, N. H.; bombardier, Second Lieut. Charles H. McKinney, Spencer, Tenn.; navigator, Second Lieut. Randall C. Maydew, Salinas, Cal.; radio operator, Sergt. Robert J. Strong, 66 Rose avenue, Harrison, N. Y.; gunners, Sergts. Edwin Burkhart, Washington, Ind.; Merrill W. Staller, Twelve Mile, Ind.; Dan Bartok, Mount Olive, Ill.; William Cloud, Galena Park, Tex.; Corporal Waterman J. Davis, Sumter, S. C., and crew chief, Technical Sergt. Walter Raynes of Winfield, W. Va.

BIG U. S. PLANES RAID VOLCANO,

BONIN ISLANDS

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 23—(AP)—American land based bombers struck anew at the western and northern approaches to Japan in raids announced by the Navy here today.

The blows were delivered by bombers from Marianas bases at the Volcano and Bonin Islands and by Aleutian based bombers of the Eleventh Air Force against the Kurile Islands.

A Pacific Fleet communique said Liberators raided Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands December 20 and 21. These were the 14th and 15th consecutive daily strikes at the base from which Japanese planes have raided the American B29 base on Saipan.

Marine Mitchell bombers, the communique said, made rocket attacks on shipping around the Volcanoes and Bonins December 21. The results were not disclosed.

Onekotan Attacked

The Eleventh Air Force Liberators bombed Onekotan Island in the Northern Kuriles December 21, bombing and straffing targets, which were not identified.

Onekotan is 600 miles from the Japanese mainland island of Hokkaido.

All American planes returned.

Other American planes pounded at familiar targets in the Central Pacific.

Marine fighters straffed and bombed enemy supply and ammunition dumps in the Palaus December 20. They repeated the performance the next day.

Marine torpedo planes bombed Yap and Navy search planes destroyed an enemy plane on the ground at Oroluk, also in the Carolines.

Pagan in the Marianas underwent a straffing attack by seven Army Air Force Thunderbolts.

Bypassed Japanese bases in the Marshalls, which have been under steady air assault for nearly a year, were hit anew by Marine aircraft.

8 Allied Ships Sunk, 12 Hit, Japs Claim

San Francisco, Dec. 23 (AP)—A Japanese imperial communique today claimed Japanese planes sank eight Allied warships and transports and damaged 12 others in a three-day attack on shipping in the Philippines Seas.

These figures apparently did not include two other "enemy cruisers or destroyers" claimed sunk by suicide flyers this morning off Mindoro Island.

All of the claims were unconfirmed by Allied sources.

The imperial communique claimed that in the three days ended yesterday six transports and two cruisers or destroyers were sunk off Mindoro, in the Gulf of Leyte or the Sulu Sea.

Listed as damaged were an aircraft carrier, six transports, a cruiser, a cruiser or destroyer and three unidentified warships.

6 Groups' Ads Hit Farrell Regime

Buenos Aires, Dec. 23 (AP)—Discontent with some recent measures of the Government of Gen. Edelmiro Farrell erupted yesterday in a series of full-page newspaper advertisements demanding reconsideration of decrees establishing a pension system for commercial workers and cracking down on chain stores.

The outburst followed a similar campaign of a few weeks ago against the minimum-wage law for agricultural workers which forms an important part of the social justice program of Col. Juan Peron, the vice president.

Action By Six Organizations

Six leading organizations representative of Argentine mercantile interests, including the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange, the Argentine Industrial Union and the Argentine Chamber of Commerce, sponsored the advertisements charging that the Government, after inviting collaboration, disregarded their recommendations in framing the pension law.

They complained especially that the retirement age of 55 for men and 50 for women was excessively low and uneconomic and contrary to the practice in countries most advanced in social security legislation.

Inflationary Tendencies

They called attention to inflationary tendencies in the country which they termed "artificial and the result of monetary credit policies which bear no relation to national economy."

In an open letter, 73 business houses demanded annulment of the chain-store measure on the grounds that it was "contrary to the national constitution and fundamental laws of the nation and general interests of the community."

30. 24 — 21487

Meanwhile, there was a series of repercussions against measures tending to abridge individual liberty.

Protests Detention

Deputy Hector Gonzales Iramain, the former conservative Senator, took advantage of the Government's pledge to respect the freedom of the press to publish a long article protesting the recent invasion of his home and his subsequent detention.

Simultaneously the wife of another prominent conservative politician, former Senator Antonio Santamarina, brought legal action to require authorities to permit counsel to visit him in jail, where he has been held for seven days.

Women Dispersed

Two days ago police dispersed a demonstration of women, who marched to the Government House to appeal for the release of their men folk, held as political prisoners. Several women were removed in patrol wagons.

A large group of Argentine society women sent Farrell a letter urging Christmas amnesty for political prisoners, most of whom are held under suspicion of Communist affiliations.

Argentina Is Beset By Liquid Fuel Shortage

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Dec. 23 —(AP)—Argentina's military government, beset by one of the most acute shortages of liquid fuel in the nation's history, today forbade further sales abroad of flaxseed, normally an export crop bought chiefly by the United States.

The existing stocks will be brought up and turned into oil.

Nazis' Strength 'Conserved'

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—Germany is withholding her ultimate total strength from the breakthrough battle of the Western front until the Nazi high command can determine the prospects for a truly major victory.

Military men here, reporting this today, suggested the probable German idea of such a victory would be the trapping and destruction of two or three Allied armies cut off from the rest of the forces in France.

The Nazi offensive, despite its initial swift progress, has not reached the point where the high command can make the determination.

Falling Behind, One View

One military expert, implying that the Germans actually were falling behind on their timetable, said that in view of the early success of the breakthrough the enemy should have progressed farther than the 30-odd miles he is known to have advanced since last Saturday.

There is, however, no inclination to turn away from the fact that the situation in Europe continues grave.

Dispatches from the front indicate that the Nazis, probing north and northwestward with part of their armored columns, found stiffening opposition there and now are pushing armored feelers to the south.

Reinforcement Sources

The enemy, by no means, has committed his utmost strength to the breakthrough venture, military students here say. Sources of reinforcement, both men and armor, exist. These sources include more or less dormant sections of less active areas, including the central Russian front.

Russia, however, has assured her allies that a winter offensive is coming.

This assurance, it was learned, was not the result of any new and direct plea because of the menace of the German breakthrough. It was given by Moscow sometime before the Nazis smashed out on their offensive.

General Date Set

The Russians are reported to have voluntarily informed the United States and Britain several weeks ago that a major winter drive would be launched in strategically important areas. A general date was set, but Moscow explained that the time would have to be governed to some extent by weather and other factors.

A Russian offensive could produce no effect on the Western front by forcing diversion of German troops in time to influence the breakthrough situation, military men say.

From the time the offensive started rolling until it actually menaced German territory might involve weeks or even months—and a military decision must be reached in the west before then.

News Blackout to Troops Faces Inquiry in House

Brooks Charges Men Receive Little Word From Home

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—Representative Overton Brooks, Democrat, of Louisiana, said today the House Military Affairs Committee will investigate what he called a "complete blackout" of news to Americans fighting abroad.

Mr. Brooks is a member of the committee, which recently completed a four-week inspection tour of European battle-front areas. American troops abroad, he complained, are not getting enough news of the rest of the world and most of what they do get is old.

The French edition of the Army publication, "Stars and Stripes," he said, gives "very little news" to the troops and "what news is given is highly colored." Some of the news it publishes, he aded in a statement, is "a month or two old."

"The paper does have one column for 'gripes,' which is used to air grievances of the men in the service, and is satisfactory, but it fails completely to give news coverage from home," he declared, adding that the troops "crave" news from the United States and failure to provide it is "unfair" and injurious to morale.

Whether the blame for the "news blackout" belongs in this country or abroad, Mr. Brooks said he was unable to say.

Army, Navy Journal Sees Clarification Of Big-three Positions

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—The Army and Navy Journal said today there has been a "clarification of the murky situation which contained possibilities of danger to the grand alliance."

The unofficial but authoritative service publication, which has been critical of certain policies of Great Britain and Russia, added:

"What has transpired during the past week both politically and militarily, has tended to compose clashing interests, and certainly to pave the way to closer co-operation.

"Contributing to this more satisfactory condition are the public exposure of the differences which existed between the big three and the approach to agreement which has resulted, and the reappearance in all its ugliness of the common peril in the form of the powerful counter-offensive launched by the German armies on the Western Front."

The Journal added that an "analysis of the statements issued by Secretary Stettinius regarding Italy, Greece and Poland are of the speeches before Parliament made by Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Minister Eden, establish a substantial advance toward acceptable treatment of European questions."

Philippine President Broadcasts Message

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—President Sergio Osmena of the Philippines today broadcast from Levte a Christmas message asking that "Peace reign in our spirit now that our emancipation is assured."

"And may good will bind us all and make us realize more than ever," he added in the message, released here by the Philippine Commonwealth, "that we have one common country and one common cause to serve—the Philippines represented by its duly elected Government and the cause of freedom of democracy."

Here's G.I. Christmas Menu

Everything From Sauce to Nuts, But it May Vary

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—The Army's Christmas menu: Roast turkey and dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, snowflake and sweet potatoes, green beans, asparagus, fresh fruit salad, mayonnaise, celery, pickles, olives, hot rolls, butter, hot mincemeat pie, candy, assorted fruit, nuts and coffee.

The Army expressed hope today that every one will get his share but acknowledged that the menu "may vary" in combat areas.

Switzerland Interns 1,500 American Airmen

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—Some 1,500 United States airmen forced down in bombing missions to Germany had been interned in Switzerland up to last October 1, the Swiss legation said today.

About 95,000 refugees of twenty nationalities had been admitted to Switzerland on that date.

The American airmen were among 16,000 military internees. Other refugee classes are: 48,500 civilians from adjacent war zones; 18,500 former Italian soldiers; 7,500 emigrants blocked by the war from proceeding to their destination; 3,300 escaped prisoners of war; 700 deserters from various armies, and 500 soldiers of various countries, hospitalized in Switzerland by their governments.

Congressional Medal Awarded Posthumously

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—The Congressional Medal of Honor has been conferred posthumously on an infantryman whose "selfless heroism and calculated sacrifice" spearheaded an attack and saved the lives of scores of comrades.

The War Department said today the nation's highest military honor had been given to Staff Sergeant Arthur F. DeFranzo of 16 Prospect St., Saugus, Mass., who fell riddled by German bullets in the hedgerow of France last June 10.

The presentation of the award will be to his mother, Mrs. Grace DeFranzo, at a date to be announced later.

BERLE SLATED AS ENVOY OF U. S. IN BRAZIL

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—Adolf A. Berle is slated for appointment as ambassador to Brazil, it was learned authoritatively today.

Berle resigned as assistant secretary of state in the recent departmental shakeup.

He has had long experience with international and political affairs although this will be his first foreign diplomatic post.

Berle came to the department in the early days of the New Deal as one of President Roosevelt's brain trusters.

The Brazilian post is considered of extreme importance in view of Argentinas split away from the solid war front of the Americas.

Barrier Against Nazis

Brazil is felt here to be one of the main bulwarks against Nazi influence in South America. One of Berle's top jobs in Rio de Janeiro will be to block any spread of the influence of the Argentine Government, which the State Department has called Fascist, throughout Latin America.

Officials here have expressed concern over the fact that the United States has had no ambassador in Rio for the past three months, since Jefferson Caffery left to take up his new post as ambassador in Paris.

Berle was offered the Brazilian [illegible] job while he was heading the American delegation at the international civil aviation conference in Chicago.

Action Appears Certain

There had been some doubt whether he would accept but his decision to take the post now appears definite.

The President is expected to send up his nomination when Congress reconvenes.

Among the important problems in American-Brazilian relations is disposition of naval and air bases built by the United States in Brazil during the war. It is expected that these will be turned over to the Brazilian Government with some provision about their use by the United States for hemisphere defense.

Another problem is the feeling in Latin American countries that they should have more representation on the proposed world security council. Several countries have said that Latin America should have a permanent member on the council. Their diplomats here say informally that the seat should go to Brazil.

YANKS BACK FROM ABROAD

70,000 To 80,000 Return Every Month

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—The Army is returning 70,000 to 80,000 men every month from overseas, but only about 22,000 of the total are coming back under the rotation plan.

About 8,000 are being returned for temporary duty in the States. The remainder represents sick and wounded soldiers, and men brought back for operational reasons.

The information came from Secretary of War Stimson, in reply to a letter from Senator Cordon (R., Ore.) The Senator had received several petitions from relatives and friends of personnel of the 41st Division, which has been in the Pacific theater of operations more than two years. The petition pleaded that the 41st be brought home, with regiments having the longest combat service given preference.

Prosecution Of War Involved

Stimson wrote that he saw no way in which one unit could be singled out for return without setting off a series of similar transfers which would "severely damage" the war effort.

"It is a bald fact, if unpleasant," he said, "that the Army can do no more than it is now doing to return these men, at least until the defeat of Germany, unless the prosecution of the war is to become a matter of secondary concern."

The Cabinet official explained that "we simply lack a sufficient number of qualified replacements and adequate shipping facilities to establish a program of rotation which will permit short periods of overseas service for all soldiers.

Program Discouraged

"The mere fact that the preponderance of the Army will be overseas by the end of this year would, in itself, prevent such a program."

He said the best the War Department could do was determine the total number that can be returned and then apportion that number among the various overseas theaters.

Stimson told Cordon he was glad to be able to say that recently all limitations were removed on the number of soldiers who may be returned from overseas on leave or furlough to spend one month at home.

Diplomatic-Peace Efforts Urged

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—Senators Hatch (D., N.M.) and Ball (R., Minn.) called for a "supreme effort" today to solve diplomatic problems in Europe.

They made the appeal shortly after conferring with President Roosevelt at the White House.

With President An Hour

In a statement penciled [illegible] at a news conference, the two Senators said that, after an hour's discussion with the President of the whole field of foreign affairs, "we are more strongly convinced than ever of the gravity of the international situation, particularly as it relates to future co-operation to maintain peace."

"There is no easy solution in sight of the difficult problems and responsibilities facing the United Nations, particularly the United States, Britain and Russia," the two Senators said.

Allies' Co-Operation Needed

"So much is at stake that we believe this country must make a supreme effort to solve these immediate problems, in which we must have the co-operation of our allies."

Both Senators previously had expressed disappointment at what they interpreted as unilateral attempts to settle such problems as the postwar boundaries of Poland. Both have said that such questions should be left to final determination by a proposed international security organization.

Red Cross Again Spreads YuleSpiritAround World

Brings Cheer to Service Men and War-Stricken Children

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—The Red Cross again will spread the Christmas spirit around a war-beset world.

The great humanitarian organization will bring an old-fashioned Yule to service men and women both at home and overseas. For months it has been planning and working so that no one wearing an American uniform will be overlooked, even if he be in an Arctic outpost, an island jungle, a prison camp or on a ship at sea. Even war-stricken children in Allied countries will be remembered, some of them by United States service men themselves.

On Christmas Day a million and a quarter individual gift boxes will be distributed to service patients in overseas hospitals, aboard hospital ships, trains and planes and to small groups of men at remote stations. These boxes packed by volunteers, contain candy, cigarettes, gum, trinkets and reading matter. The Christmas spirit will be enhanced at holiday gatherings with colorful decorations provided in kits prepared and sent overseas by Red Cross and Junior Red Cross members.

Impoverished children of Great Britain, France, Italy and other war-ravaged countries will receive 200,000 packages of candy and 150,000 gift boxes of games, school materials and sewing equipment from the Junior Red Cross. Service men are supplementing these gifts with toys made in Red Cross hobby shops abroad.

TO STUDY AIR RIGHTS FUTURE

Senators Also Will Check Other U.S. Angles Abroad

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—Senators maneuvered today to provide an ace in the hole for the State Department when it sits in on the final determination of aviation rights.

Chairman Mead (D., N.Y.) announced that members Tunnell (D., Del.) and Burton (R., Ohio) of the Senate War Investigating Committee have been instructed to find out what has been done or will be done with American-constructed airports, when they make a flying trip to North Africa after Christmas.

Mead said the committee is determined that Uncle Sam keep a string on the world-wide system of landing fields which military engineers have built in foreign countries until it becomes certain that this country will share in aviation rights in those countries.

Co-Ordination To Be Checked

Tunnell and Burton will check the co-ordination of American civil, military and relief agencies abroad, inquire into the tapering off of lend-lease, learn plans for the postwar disposition of facilities and find out how much oil is coming out of the Middle East for the fighting fronts.

"We particularly want the State Department to have a string attached to that lineup of airfields from Casablanca to Cairo when it goes into conference to determine landing rights all over the world," Mead said.

Mead said he had asked the two Senators to add a 1,000-mile leg to their flight to visit the British controlled refineries at Abadan, Iran, as well as near-by American refineries.

Refineries At 40 Per Cent

"When we were over there a year ago," the chairman said, "the refineries at Abadan were operating at only about 40 per cent capacity.

"Their excuse then was that the Mediterranean was closed and the oil couldn't be taken through.

"It should be a great deal easier to get that oil to the fighting fronts, and especially to Burma, than by shipping it across the Atlantic. We want to know if those refineries are being run to capacity and if not, why not."

To Probe Food Outlook

He said the prospects for food production in Africa will be investigated to learn if supplies for American troops and the civilian population in Italy and in Africa can be obtained there.

The chairman said he was informed that an extra strain might be placed on shipping by an FEA commitment to supply 5,000 housing units in the devastated areas of France.

"I don't know where we are going to get the shipping to do all of these things and still supply our troops all over the world," he added.

Wants Few Companies Given Air Facilities

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—Chairman Bailey (D., N.C.), of the Senate Commerce Committee, declared today the number of domestic air lines should be kept "relatively low."

Railroad and steamship companies should be discouraged from entering the field of air transport, he said.

On transoceanic service, he announced his opposition to Government ownership if other means can be found. He said the service must be "something in the nature of a monopoly" and should be under strict Government control.

The committee which Bailey heads is expected to have an important part in laying out policies that will govern future commercial aviation at home and abroad.

Murray Asks Labor Aid For Coalition of Big 3

Writing in Russian Union Paper He Urges World Organization

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, writing in an official Soviet trade union publication, urged organized labor today to guard the war-time coalition of the United States, Great Britain and Russia, in the interest of a secure peace.

Mr. Murray wrote an article for the Dec. 19 issue of "War and the Working Classes," official trade union organ of the Soviet Union. It will be reprinted in "The C. I. O. News" for Dec. 25.

Urging establishment of a world labor organization at the February conference called by the British Trades Union Congress, Mr. Murray said such a united movement "will be but the embodiment of the unity which all the peoples fighting Fascism feel."

The February conference first was scheduled for last June, at the request of the C. I. O. The European invasion forced postponement.

In the mean time, the American Federation of Labor, United Mine Workers and most of the railroad brotherhoods have declined to attend. Without saying so, the A. F. of L. and U. M. W. indicated that the participation of the C. I. O. and the Soviet groups had a lot to do with their decision to remain away.

But Mr. Murray's organization has enthusiastically supported the meeting, sending Sidney Hillman, R. J. Thomas and Emil Rieve to London for preliminaries, from which they returned last week.

Mr. Murray, in the article for Soviet consumption, said: "Above all, we of organized labor, together with all freedom-loving people, must make certain that the peace lasts. Never again must our peoples be called upon to endure the horrible suffering which this war has inflicted upon them."

Russia May Spend $30,000,000 In United States When Peace Comes

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—Russia is talking postwar purchases in the United States which may add up to $30 billions. She now has a war-swollen buying commission here of 1,600 men, working all over the country.

That figure of $30 billions is many times our normal yearly trade with other nations, so obviously Russia may have to wait several years to get all she wants.

Besides, key American government men are looking for some formula of "parceling out" American production so that the home-folks and the rest of the world can get a certain percentage of what they need east postwar year. Russia, like the rest, is likely to get only a part of what she wants each 12 months.

Soviets Want Machines

Russia wants what she's always wanted from the American market: Machines, parts, motors, tools and processed metals with which to build her own industry so she can make the clothes, autos, homes, radios which have meant a higher living standard in the United States.

Right now, to educate her public she is readying a Spring exposition for Moscow which will show Russians the machines we make, and many of the products the machines turn out. Russian experts are here seeking priorities so they can purchase the single models they want to exhibit.

The news has gotten around, and both the State and Commerce Departments are beset by manufacturers who want to send salesmen to Moscow. This Government will clear them, it's learned, but the Russians still say, "No. The war won't permit." However, there are seven American fur firms with buyers there now. Fur is the item through which Russia has always garnered the largest amount of American dollars.

Will Need Credit

Russia's possible postwar purchases here represent such a vast sum that she will need credit—and Government credit, since no private combination of banks is thought likely to underwrite such sums. And Department of Commerce experts are counselling other Government departments to grease the wheels for this trade bonanza.

Here are the most-discussed financial plans as they're outlined by E. C. Ropes, the Commerce Department's Russian expert:

1. The Government could guarantee Russia's purchases. That would mean, if she defaulted on a purchase from Baldwin Locomotive the U. S. Government would pay Baldwin the unpaid part of the bill.

2. The Government could insure the seller, himself, and the plan would work the same way.

3. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation could make loans to American firms, which would permit them to turn out the goods for Russia swiftly, and yet wait some time for the long-term payments.

4. The Export-Import bank could guarantee American sales to Russia. This is the most popular plan. There is a move afoot now to increase the bank's capitalization from $700 millions to a top of $5 billions to assist American trade with all foreign countries. Since the bank's funds revolve, it could finance much more than $5 billions in trade.

Russia is asking as long as 30 years to pay off these purchases. Government men say, "why not? Under the Dawes plan we loaned Germany billions, and gave her 62½ years to pay."

Government experts point out that before the war Russia never defaulted on either purchases or loans. And she's the only country which has announced she'll pay off lend-lease which now stands, for her, at $7 billions.

Russia's method of buying and selling abroad is part and parcel of her good reputation as a debt risk.

Harbor Workers Asked To Forgo Their Holiday

O. D. T. Appeal Cites Urgent Needs of Overseas Armies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—To meet urgent demands of the armies overseas, the Office of Defense Transportation today appealed to New York Harbor operators and their employees to forgo their Christmas holidays.

"The recent news from the European front emphasizes the critical petroleum transportation problem existing today which demands the full use of all transportation facilities," J. Monroe Johnson, O. D. T. Director, wired thirty operating and towing companies.

"On the east coast our water equipment is straining to meet its essential transportation requirements.

"While we appreciate that the crews of your vessels have earned their Christmas holiday, we deem it highly essential that your vessels do not become idle even for a day, and we must request you to ask your crews to forgo their holiday this year, if one was planned, in the interest of the all-important war effort.

"Your co-operation and assistance in this respect will be a substantial contribution to that war effort. Please advise what will be done."

HORSE RACING IS BANNED BY BYRNES ACTION

Other Drastic Manpower Curbs Announced by Director

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—In its most drastic manpower moves of the war, the Government today banned horse and dog racing and served notice that materials, fuel and transportation will be denied businesses which defy manpower regulations.

Selective Service also was directed to review the qualifications for military service of professional athletes.

The actions capped a week of intensified endeavor to speed up the whole American war effort to the greater pace which the German counter-offensive has shown will be necessary to victory.

Previous Actions

In earlier moves, the Government had:

1. Increased the draft rate for January and February from 60,000 to 80,000.

2. Raised its sights on war production to plan on the basis that heavy fighting may continue in Europe for a year or more.

3. Frozen production of civilian goods at current levels indefinitely.

4. Sharply cut the allotment of automobile tires for civilian use.

Today's actions were ordered directly by James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization and reconversion. It was announced, however, that his request that all racing tracks close by January 3 was issued with President Roosevelt's approval.

Professional Athletes

Byrnes asked Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey to review the professional athletes' qualifications for military service, explaining that it was difficult for both him and the public to see how an individual could be unfit for military service yet capable of engaging in games "demanding physical fitness."

Serious consideration, Byrnes added, should be given to recalling those men to the armed forces or giving them another physical examination if they have not previously been inducted.

The "crack down" on businesses which disregard manpower regulations was taken in two steps.

First, Byrnes asked the War Manpower Commission to intensify its drive to establish employment ceilings in areas of labor shortages. Under such ceilings, the WMC tells a business — manufacturing plant, laundry or tavern, for instance—the total number of workers it may employ.

Business Decision

Then, Byrnes asked the War Production Board to put "teeth" into the manpower regulations since the manpower commission has no authority itself to enforce its ceilings. The WPB did this by invoking for the first time in the war its broad priority powers.

These permit it to withhold from a business materials, transportation and any other product subject to priority control.

As invoked, the WPB can use the power whenever it "makes a finding that materials or facilities are not being used most effectively for the prosecution of the war as a result of failure to comply with an employment ceiling or hiring regulation of the War Manpower Commission."

30. 2K— 21489

The WPB announced these controlling policies:

Before action against an employer, the manpower commission must certify that he has refused to comply with a ceiling or hiring regulation "within reasonable time after he has been notified of his failure to do so."

After such certification, hearings will be ordered before a compliance commissioner to determine whether there is proof of failure to comply.

Only in event the commissioner found such proof would the WPB's priority sanctions be applied.

In creating this machinery, Byrnes noted in a statement that the purpose of the ceilings is to assure that war plants get sufficient manpower.

"The vast majority of establishments and employes throughout the nation are co-operating wholeheartedly with the War Manpower Commission in accepting employment ceilings as essential to war production," he said.

"I am sure that we can continue to establish these ceilings in most instances through negotiations with the establishments and services concerned and with their employes on a voluntary basis.

"However, I am unwilling to ask for the voluntary acceptance of ceilings by the many without being prepared to take positive measures to enforce ceilings on the very few who are unwilling to thus contribute to our war effort. I am sure that our people want and expect our war plants to be fully manned."

mands the utmost effort that the people of the United States can give to the support of its armed forces in the production of needed war materials. The operation of racetracks is not conducive to this all-out effort. Therefore, with the approval of the President, I urge that the management of these tracks take immediate measures to bring present race meetings to a close by Jan. 3, 1945, and to refrain from resuming racing at all tracks until war conditions permit.

DEC 24 1944

I have asked the War Man-Power Commission to withdraw all ceiling authorizations. I have also asked the chairman of the War Production Board and the director of the Office of Defense Transportation to take such steps as fall within their power to prevent the use of critical materials, services and transportation in the operation of these tracks if such steps should prove necessary. However, I am confident that the management of these tracks can be depended upon to take prompt action without the necessity of recourse to other measures.

armed services and thereafter discharged.

In either event they proved to thousands by their great physical feats upon the football or baseball field that they are physically fit and as able to perform military service as are the 11,000,000 men in uniform.

I am confident that our efforts to find the man power needed for war production would be greatly facilitated if serious consideration were promptly given to recalling these men into the armed services or where they have not heretofore been inducted, calling them for another physical examination.

I would greatly appreciate any action which you may take to accomplish this end.

Letter to General Hershey on Athletes

I am seriously concerned that at this critical period when we are exerting every effort to direct man power into critical war industries, we find such a large number of men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-six engaged in professional athletics of all types. It is difficult for the public to understand and certainly it is difficult for me to understand how these men can be physically unfit for military service and yet be able to compete with the greatest athletes of the nation in games demanding physical fitness.

I am advised that in some cases these professional athletes were not inducted because of alleged physical unfitness. In other cases they were inducted into the Text of Byrnes' Statements On Racetracks and Athletes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—The texts of War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes's statement ending horse racing and of his letter to Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service recommending drafting of professional athletes, follow:

Statement on Closing Racetracks

The operation of racetracks not only requires the employment of man power needed for more essential operation, but also man power, railroad transportation as well as tires and gasoline in the movement of patrons to and from the track, and in the movement of the horses and their attendants.

Most Point-Free Meats To Be Rationed Soon

Renewed Control of Virtually All Canned Vegetables

Also Scheduled After First of Year — Frozen Foods Not Expected to Be Affected

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—Virtually all point-free meats and canned vegetables will be back on the ration list by the new year, it was learned tonight.

The OPA, reliable sources said, is prepared to announce the drastic move next Wednesday.

New point values, now being discussed, probably will be effective December 31.

The decision is understood to affect practically all cuts of beef, veal, lamb and pork as well as all major canned vegetables. The affected foods have been ration-free since last May.

Frozen Foods Excluded

Because of continuing need for freezer space in warehouses for military commodities, frozen fruits and vegetables probably will stay point-free. Jams, jellies, and preserves are not expected to be returned to the list.

Restoration of points to the wide variety of meat cuts and vegetables will be a major victory for OPA over the War Food Administration. For the last five months OPA has recommended that point-free meats and vegetables be put back under rationing, contending that spotty distribution and shortages—actual and potential—warranted such a move.

WFA, which has jurisdiction as to which commodities are rationed, rejected the proposal each time it was submitted. The dispute was climaxed last month when OPA appealed to Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson, asking that he act as arbitrator.

Decision Supports OPA

His decision, it was said, supports the OPA virtually 100 per cent.

WFA's arguments were that while some commodities are in short supply, there are substitutes available in each case. In view of this, the agency said, there should be as little rationing as possible in order to avert large food surpluses at the end of the war in Europe.

OPA's position was that, to provide for equitable distribution, foods should go back on the ration list as soon as they become unavailable in parts of the country. It argued that supplies of most point-free meat, particularly pork, have been extremely short since mid-Summer.

OPA acknowledged that canned vegetables were in good supply, but said that stocks were moving too rapidly, indicating a shortage before the start of the new pack year next Summer.

Longer War Considered

One consideration which apparently tipped the scale in OPA's favor is the prospect that the war in Europe may be drawn out as a result of the German counter-offensive. This would make it necessary to ship more food to the armed forces than first calculated, and at the same time reduce the likelihood of an early homefront surplus feared by WFA.

Another factor contributing to the decision was said to be WFA's latest estimate that the Spring pig crop will be two per cent under last year's, while the agency had called on farmers for a seven per cent increase.

The impending change will restore point values to practically all utility grades of beef and lamb, the cheaper cuts of pork, and probably to all grades of veal. The top grades of all these meats, except veal, already are rationed.

All canned vegetables except tomatoes are off the ration list at present.

The number of red and blue ration points provided for a four-week period probably will be increased under the new program. The quantity was cut in half when the list of rationed commodities was reduced.

WLB Penalizes Union For Strike

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—The War Labor Board today penalized a union for a strike despite the fact that the union had obeyed rules on a strike vote and a waiting period.

The penalty was denial of maintenance of membership for a "probationary period" of six months.

The union observed requirements of the War Labor Act in calling the strike, and the Kansas City Regional WLB had ruled in effect that it should not be penalized. But Lewis M. Gill, public member of the national board, in a majority opinion reversing the regional ruling, said the purpose of the Smith-Connally Act was "plainly not to legitimatize strikes, but rather to aid in preventing them."

He declared the board's action was "in accordance with our established policy of withholding grants of union security in cases where the union has demonstrated a lack of responsibility in carrying out its wartime obligations."

The dispute involved the Carr, Adams and Collier Company, of Dubuque, Iowa, a sash, door and millwork business, and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (AFL), representing 570 employés.

FLOOD CONTROL BILL IS SIGNED BY ROOSEVELT

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—President Roosevelt's signature put a billion dollar program of approved flood control projects on the nation's postwar books today.

But Congress still must appropriate the money for the projects, which encompass not only flood checking works, but also reclamation, hydro-electric power and similar developments.

In signing the bill authorizing the program, the President said the legislation "is a step forward in the development of our national water resources and power policies.

In approving Missouri Valley projects embraced by the bill, Mr. Roosevelt said he did so in the understanding that the measure would not jeopardize in any way the creation of a Missouri Valley Authority.

DEC 24 1944

Such a program, which would be in some ways parallel to the Tennessee Valley Authority, should be considered at an early opportunity by the next Congress, the President asserted.

About 75 to 80 per cent of the cost of the various floodcontrol projects, Senator Overton (D.-La.) has estimated, would go for labor.

New Depression Feared

Disturbing many economists, too, is an idea that another depression may set in two or three years after the war ends.

Some of them believe the immediate postwar years will be relatively prosperous, that demands pent up during the war will be unleashed. Others say that the prospect of heavy delayed demands has been exaggerated, except in a few lines of consumer goods.

But both groups' views pretty well coincide on a sharp dip toward depression levels after two or three postwar years.

Should those fears prove well founded and the national income slip back to something like $40,000,000,000 a year, the Government might find itself borrowing again to meet running expenses—and borrowing to pay interest on its borrowed money.

Consequently, Government financial authorities are hopeful that America can keep the annual national income at $140,000,000,000 to $150,000,000,000 after the war.

As a result of the attention the debt problem is receiving, an entirely new approach to fiscal policy is shaping up.

In the past the Government has figured out how much it could afford to spend with the national income and tax receipts at such and such a figure. How it may have to compute its expenses in advance, decide how large the national income will have to be to meet those expenses—and determine whether it should do some prodding to push the income up to the required level.

Amid all the financial uncertainty, there is one thing the fiscal experts are sure of—not in this generation and perhaps not in many generations will the the national debt ever be whittled back down to a comparatively slim $20,000,000,000 or $30,000,000,000.

Fiscal Experts See Great Challenge In $300,000,000,000 National Debt

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—Fiscal experts took a look today at a prospective national debt of $300,000,000,000 and said its management will afford one of the greatest challenges ever to confront the Government.

At stake in finding a sound method of handling it are the solvency of the Government, stability of the national economy and the savings and investments of every American.

Not Worried Yet

These experts aren't exactly worried yet. But they are working on a budget, which President Roosevelt will submit to Congress in about 10 days, which will hoist the debt to upwards of $300,000,000,000.

In former years, they say, it didn't matter greatly if there was a bit of a deficit—or even a sizeable deficit—for the total debt was relatively small and there always were prospects of running into a period of good years which would permit trimming it to comfortable size.

But after this war, the Government won't be able to take many chances. For it is going to cost about as much to pay interest on the debt, to say nothing of retiring it, as it used to cost for total prewar expenses of the Government.

And, should peace plans prove inadequate, it would be a staggering job to pile costs of another war on top of a $300,000,000,000 debt.

Electors to Fete Roosevelt

Will Hold Pre-Inauguration Dinner For President and Truman

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—A reception and dinner in honor of President Roosevelt and Vice-President-elect Harry S. Truman will be given by the Democratic Presidential electors the night before the inauguration.

Michael Francis Doyle, of Philadelphia, chairman of the Electoral College, announced the affair will be given Jan. 19. Members of the Cabinet, the Supreme Court and high Army and Navy officers have been invited. On the following day, Mr. Doyle said, the President will give a reception at the White House to which the electors have been invited.

Anonymous Electioneers Out

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—President Roosevelt signed tonight legislation making it unlawful to publish or distribute any political statement relating to a candidate for Federal office unless the statement named the person responsible.

Dewey Expected to Give Lincoln Dinner Address

May Outline Party Views in Speech at Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—A Lincoln Birthday speech here may give Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York his first public opportunity since the election to keynote Republican views on home and foreign affairs.

The defeated Presidential candidate is understood to have accepted an invitation to speak before the annual Lincoln Day dinner in February.

Mr. Dewey's appearance here would follow a meeting of the party's national committee in Indianapolis Jan. 22. At that time his long-time friend, Herbert Brownell jr., is expected to be retained as national chairman and a paid assistant authorized to help Mr. Brownell set up a full-time staff for a four-year campaign.

Mr. Brownell has indicated that he plans to move national headquarters back to Washington from New York.

Here the committee chairman will be in closer touch with Republican members of Congress who are are likely to become much more frequent mouthpieces of Republican views than Mr. Dewey, despite his position as titular head of the party.

G. I.s On Gilbert Islands To Greet Holiday First

New York, Dec. 23—(AP)—Doughboys stationed in the Gilbert Islands in the Pacific will be the first Americans now on far-flung battlefields of the world to greet Christmas Day and those in the lonely Aleutians the last.

It will be 8 A. M., Eastern War Time Sunday in New York when Christmas dawns in the Gilberts, and four hours later the Philippines will begin observance of the birth of Christ.

American in Chungking will welcome Christmas Day at 1 P. M., E. W. T., Sunday and Yanks in Palestine will hear the bells of Bethlehem ringing in the Holy Day at 4 P. M., New York time.

To the Americans fighting on the battlefields of France and Italy and those stationed in England Christmas will come at 7 P. M., E. W. T.

But to the the Yanks in the Aleutians Christmas Day will not dawn until six hours after Christmas has arrived in New York.

UNITY URGED BY ROOSEVELT

President Hails Conference Of Christians And Jews

DEC 24 1944

New York, Dec. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today it was "the solemn duty for us who live and work in the United States to keep our country free of prejudice and bigotry."

In a message to the National Conference of Christians and Jews made public today, the President called upon the nation to "come together" during the conference-sponsored Brotherhood Week, February 18-25.

Full Text Of His Message

The full text of the President's message follows:

"It is highly fitting that in the midst of the world struggle for liberty we should remind ourselves of the spiritual realities by which the ideals of freedom are nourished.

"The principle of human brotherhood is the source of our political democracy and this principle is rooted in the faith which our fathers knew and which we have lived by.

"One God is our Father and all of us are brothers and sisters in His family. We worship at different altars and express this faith in many ways. But deeper than the differences is the spiritual unity that makes us the people.

"Justice And Peace For All"

"On battlefields throughout the world, Americans of many cultural backgrounds stand together in one fighting force that presents an unbroken front against the enemies of freedom.

"We move forward to victory—one people dedicated to one flag in the service of justice and peace for all. As these men and women of the fighting forces carry on their struggle against tyranny overseas, they dream of the homeland in which equal opportunity for the good life is open to all.

"It is, therefore ,a solemn duty for us who live and work in the United States to keep our country free of prejudice and bigotry so that when our fighting men return they may find us living by the freedom for which they are ready to give the full measure of devotion.

Teamwork Vital In Wartime

"The United States is the greatest team of free men and women that the world has ever seen. This is the hour for us to decide that our determination shall be in peace, as in war—teamwork.

"I am happy, therefore, to welcome the 12th anniversary of Brotherhood Week, February 18-25, 1945, under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

"I hope that our people will come together during this week to renew and strengthen their determination to serve the high principles of liberty through spiritual unity."

New Zealander Terms League's Failure Moral

New York, Dec. 23 (AP)—Carl A. Berendsen, Minister of New Zealand to the United States, called today for "a new moral standard" to prevent a postwar failure similar to that of the League of Nations.

In an address during the victory rally of the Metropolitan Opera broadcast, Berendsen asserted the cause of the League's failure was "moral failure."

"The League failed because its members lacked the courage and the sense to do the right; the League failed because of a false and vicious idea that international morality differs in some way from individual morality; the League failed because far too many nations, in the conduct of their international relations, adopted a policy that a nation's pledged word is not necessarily its bond," he said.

Light Cruiser Topeka Placed In Commission

Boston, Dec. 23 (AP)—The light cruiser U.S.S. Topeka, named for the capital city of Kansas, was placed in commission today at the South Boston annex of the Boston Navy Yard.

The new ship, launched last August 19 at the Bethlehem Steel Company's Quincy Shipyard, is of the 10,000-ton Cleveland class of light cruisers, a class which mounts twelve 6-inch guns in four turrets, and a dozen 5-inch anti-aircraft guns in six twin mounts.

Mayor Frank J. Warren of Topeka, whose wife christened the ship at her launching, was among the guests, and presented to the ship the gift of the city of Topeka, a loud-speaker system with an album of records. This is to be operated separately from the ship's speaker system for entertainments.

Shipyard Workers Agree to Stay on Jobs Christmas Day

Brunswick, Ga., Dec. 23—(AP)—Hundreds of shipyard workers agreed today to work Christmas Day and return their over time pay for the holiday to the U. S. Treasury, as a Christmas present to fighting forces on the front lines.

Eighty shipfitters initiated a move to continue working on the holiday Monday without pay as a "gift to the boys overseas" and the proposal was agreed to by hundreds on each of the three shifts at the Jones Construction Company.

E. J. Krett, general manager of the yards, said the company would prepare a separate payroll for the Christmas Day work and that workers would endorse the checks and forward them to the Treasury. More than 1,000 of the approximately 13,000 workers advised officials they would be on the job Christmas and many others volunteered as they learned of the move.

The holiday work schedule was approved by J. F. McInnis, of Philadelphia, regional director of East Coast Construction of the Maritime Commission. He said a Government ruling that the workers be paid for the holiday.

The move prompted the New York Metal and Termite Corporation to donate welding rod used at the yards without cost for the day and the shipyard cafeteria announced it would supply free Christmas dinner to workers.

50 Ward Pickets Stage Demonstration in Store

Manager Reports Suits Ripped and Stock Scattered

DETROIT, Dec. 23 (AP).—Congress of Industrial Organizations unionists picketing a Montgomery Ward & Co. store in suburban Royal Oak staged a demonstration inside the store today. Manager Edward Barden said some clothing from the store's stock was ripped and other merchandise thrown on the floor.

State police dispersed the group after it had been inside the department store nearly an hour.

Mr. Barden said about fifty pickets paraded in the aisles, singing a Christmas carol, then tossed merchandise on the floor, went to the basement to obtain baseball bats, and continued their demonstration. Meanwhile, he said, some of the unionists tried on suits obviously too small for them, and flexing their shoulder muscles, ripped the coats.

Mr. Barden said the principal damage was in the disarrangement of the stock which was thrown about. Despite this, he said, the store remained open. More than a score of state and Royal Oak police were on hand to prevent further trouble.

Roy Scoggins, Michigan director of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employees' Union, C. I. O. affiliate, whose members have been on strike at four Detroit area stores since Dec. 9, said he was informed some pickets had been clubbed by state police, and added, "If we have to fight the state police, as well as Avery (Sewell Avery, chairman of the board of Montgomery Ward), we are prepared to do so." State police said their reports did not show any injuries to pickets.

THIRD NIGHT LEAD RUSSIAN

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON, SUNDAY, DEC. 24-(AP)-RUSSIAN TROOPS, THRUSTING WESTWARD IN FORTIFIED MOUNTAIN COUNTRY, HAVE REACHED THE IPOLY RIVER ON A 20-MILE STRETCH FROM THE DANUBE TO THE TOWN OF IPOLY SAG, AND NOW STAND WITHIN 100 MILES OF VIENNA AND 72 OF BRATISLAVA, MOSCOW DISCLOSED LAST NIGHT AS VIOLENT ACTION FLAMED ON MANY PARTS OF THE SOUTHEAST EUROPEAN FRONT.

THE SOVIET COMMUNIQUE AND A POST-MIDNIGHT SUPPLEMENT IGNORED GERMAN RADIO ANNOUNCEMENTS THAT RED ARMY FORCES HAD ENTERED THE SOUTHERN AND EASTERN SUBURBS OF BUDAPEST IN A NEW FRONTAL ASSAULT, BUT DESCRIBED HEAVY FIGHTING AT DISTANCES NORTHEAST, NORTH, NORTHWEST AND SOUTHWEST OF THE HUNGARIAN CAPITAL.

DEC 24 1944

THE DRIVE TO THE OLD CZECHOSLOVAK BORDER ALONG THE IPOLY RIVER GAINED AS MUCH AS 16 MILES FROM PREVIOUSLY-ANNOUNCED POSITIONS AND COST THE GERMANS HUNDREDS OF DEAD.

THE GERMAN DNB AGENCY IN A LATE BROADCAST CONCEDED THAT THE RUSSIANS ACTUALLY WERE A DOZEN MILES WEST OF THE IPOLY AND HAD REACHED THE HRON (GRAN) RIVER VALLEY ON FORMER CZECHOSLOVAK SOIL BUT CLAIMED A COUNTERATTACK HAD CUT OFF THIS SOVIET WEDGE.

WHETHER THIS WAS ABOVE OR BELOW IPOLY SAG THE GERMANS DID NOT SAY, BUT MOSCOW ANNOUNCED THAT IN AN UNIDENTIFIED AREA WEST OF IPOLY SAG THE GERMANS COUNTERATTACKED WITH ELEMENTS OF THREE ARMORED DIVISIONS BUT WERE BEATEN BACK WITH HEAVY MANPOWER LOSSES AND WITH 36 TANKS AND 19 ARMORED TROOP CARRIERS KNOCKED OUT.

THIS FIGHTING WAS ESPECIALLY SANGUINARY, MOSCOW SAID, WITH SOME COMMUNITIES REPEATEDLY CHANGING HANDS.

FOR LONDON - (ASSIGNED XX CLIMAX

THE THRUSTS INTO THE CITY'S OUTSKIRTS WERE REPORTED BY COL.ERNST VON HAMMER, GERMAN MILITARY COMMENTATOR, WHO SAID THEY WERE PART OF A MASSIVE TRIPLE RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE, THE OUTER PRONGS OF WHICH WERE AIMED AT COMPLETE ENCIRCLEMENT.

"THE RUSSIANS NOW ARE FIGHTING IN THE SOUTHERN AND EASTERN WEICHBILD (SUBURBS) OF BUDAPEST," HE SAID. HE MAINTAINED, HOWEVER, THAT THIS DIRECT FRONTAL ASSAULT WAS SMALL COMPARED WITH THE PINCERS DRIVE NORTH AND SOUTHWEST OF THE CAPITAL, IN WHICH 18 INFANTRY DIVISIONS AND THREE MOBILE CORPS ARE PARTICIPATING.

THE SOVIET ARMIES REACHED THE SOUTHEASTERN SUBURBS OF BUDAPEST IN THE FIRST WEEK OF NOVEMBER, BUT WERE HALTED BY STUBBORN GERMAN DEFENSE. THERE HAD BEEN NO REPORT OF RUSSIAN ADVANCES IN THIS AREA FROM THAT TIME UNTIL TODAY.

THE GERMANS EARLIER TONIGHT SAID THAT MASSIVELY REINFORCED RUSSIAN ARMIES HAD LAUNCHED THEIR ASSAULT ON ALL SIDES OF BUDAPEST.

BY BERLIN BROADCAST ACCOUNTS, THIS LATEST SOVIET ASSAULT BROUGHT LARGE SECTIONS OF THE EASTERN FRONT IN HUNGARY, SLOVAKIA AND LATVIA INTO HEAVY ACTION.

MOSCOW STILL WAS SILENT ON THE RENEWED DRIVE TO TAKE BUDAPEST AND THE REPORTED LATVIAN OFFENSIVE, BUT DISPATCHES SAID THE SOVIET CAPITAL WAS EXCITED OVER PREMIER STALIN'S ANNOUNCEMENT THAT THE RED ARMY HAD INITIATED "SOME BIG AND DECISIVE BATTLES."

AT BUDAPEST, BERLIN SAID, MARSHAL RODION Y.MALINOVSKY BORED IN FROM THE EAST AND NORTH AFTER REGROUPING AND RESUPPLYING HIS FRONTLINE FORCES WHICH HAVE BEEN GRINDING DOWN STRONG POINTS IN BLOODY FIGHTING THROUGH THE CITY'S APPROACHES.

SOUTHWEST OF THE CAPITAL, MARSHAL FEODOR I.TOLBUKHIN'S FORCES STRUCK AGAIN AFTER SEVERAL VIOLENT ARTILLERY DUELS AND THE NAZIS ADMITTED THAT THEY SCORED "SEVERAL BREACHES" IN THEIR DRIVE ON SZEKESFEHERVAR, A LARGE ENEMY BASTION 31 MILES SOUTHWEST OF BUDAPEST AND ONE OF THE VITAL HUNGARIAN COMMUNICATION LINKS WITH AUSTRIA.

A GERMAN BROADCAST OF A FRONTLINE REPORT SAID RUSSIAN ATTACKS AGAINST SZEKESFEHEVAR AND THE WHOLE FRONT BETWEEN THE DANUBE RIVER AND LAKE BALATON HAD "INCREASED TO UNPARALLELED STRENGTH."

"HEAVY RUSSIAN ARTILLERY HAS BEEN BROUGHT UP TO JOIN THE ASSAULT ALONG WITH MULTI-BARRELLED GUNS, FLAME-THROWERS AND MORTARS," IT SAID, "AND THE RED AIRFORCE IS DROPPING ANTI-PERSONNEL BOMBS. EVERY GERMAN ON THIS FRONT KNOWS THIS--IT WILL BE HARDER IN THE FUTURE, FOR MORE SOVIET MASSES WILL BE UNLEASHED."

DEC 24 1944

THE GERMANS NOTED WITH UNCONCEALED CHAGRIN THAT THE RUSSIANS WERE HOLDING TO ENCIRCLEMENT STRATEGY AGAINST BUDAPEST, SLASHING ITS LIFELINES TO SLOVAKIA AND AUSTRIA ONE BY ONE, RATHER THAN FALLING FOR GERMAN PLANS TO MAKE THE CAPITAL "ANOTHER AACHEN."

BERLIN, REPORTING ON TWO OF THE SOVIET'S THREE INVASIONS OF SLOVAKIA, SAID THE CENTRAL DRIVE ABOVE BUDAPEST SUCCEEDED IN THROWING TWO BRIDGEHEADS ACROSS THE HRON (GARAM) RIVER AFTER A PUSH WESTWARD FROM THE IPOLY RIVER TOWARD BRATISLAVA, BUT CLAIMED THAT THESE BRIDGEHEADS WERE WIPED OUT.

MALINOVSKY'S INVASION OF EASTERN SLOVAKIA FROM NORTHEASTERN HUNGARY WAS REPORTED BY THE GERMANS TO BE PREPARING TO STORM LOSONC, RAILHUB ON THE HUNGARIAN-SLOVAK BORDER.

WHILE THERE WAS NO REPORT OF LATVIAN FIGHTING FROM MOSCOW, THE BERLIN RADIO SAID A FIERCE BATTLE WAS RAGING ON THE COURLAND

PENINSULA AND THAT THE RUSSIANS WERE STRIKING WITH ARMORED AND AERIAL MIGHT WHICH THREATENED TO WIPE OUT AN ESTIMATED 300,000 GERMANS PENNED BETWEEN LIEPAJA ON THE WEST, TUKUMS ON THE EAST AND THE BALTIC ON THE NORTH.

THE GERMAN REPORT SAID THIS LATVIAN ASSAULT WAS BEING MADE BY 27 RED DIVISIONS.

CAPT.JOHN E.PENNYBACKER, WINCHESTER, VA., WHO FLEW AS DEPUTY DIVISION COMMANDER, SAID THE TARGET AREA "WAS CLEARLY OUTLINED."

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF BETTER WEATHER WHICH HAS HELD GEN.EISENHOWER'S AIR FORCES FOG-BOUND FOR DAYS WHILE THE GERMAN OFFENSIVE PROCEEDED, THE FORTRESSES BOMBED THEIR TARGETS BEFORE 7:30 A.M.

HOWEVER, THE SIZE OF THE ATTACK WAS NOT COMPARABLE TO SOME OF THE HEAVY BLOWS LANDED IN PAST WEEKS. THE TARGETS WERE NOT NAMED IMMEDIATELY.

BRITISH LANCASTERS AND HALIFAXES ALSO TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE FIRST CLEAR NIGHT TO RAID RAILROAD YARDS AT COBLENZ AND BINGEN, ON THE RHINE BEHIND GERMAN SPEARHEADS.

SIX GERMAN FIGHTERS WERE SHOT DOWN AND THREE BRITISH PLANES WERE LOST IN THE NIGHT OPERATIONS.

RAF MOSQUITO FIGHTER BOMBERS ALSO GOT IN SEVERAL LICKS AT GERMAN TRANSPORT BEHIND THE BELGIAN BATTLEFRONT LAST NIGHT. ONE FREIGHT TRAIN LOADED WITH AMMUNITION "BLEW UP FROM END TO END," THE AIR MINISTRY SAID. ONE PILOT SHOT DOWN A JUNKERS 88 BOMBER NEAR VERVIERS, BELGIUM.

LONDON, SUNDAY, DEC. 24-(AP)-AMERICAN FLIERS SHOT DOWN AT LEAST 178 GERMAN PLANES YESTERDAY WHILE FLYING 4,500 SORTIES IN SUPPORT OF U.S. GROUND FORCES SLASHING AT THE FLANKS OF MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT'S WINTER OFFENSIVE.

SUPREME ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN PARIS SAID THESE FIGURES--REPRESENTING ONE OF THE MOST DESTRUCTIVE ASSAULTS ON THE GERMAN AIR FORCE OF THE WAR--WERE STILL INCOMPLETE. FIGHTERS AND FIGHTER-BOMBERS HARASSED GERMAN TROOP COLUMNS AND COMMUNICATIONS POINTS, AND LIBERATORS AND FLYING FORTRESSES HAMMERED SUPPLY BASES AND RAIL HUBS IN THE REAR OF VON RUNDSTEDT'S DRIVE.

ROARING OFF BRITISH BASES UNDER SUNNY SKIES, MORE THAN 400 LIBERATORS AND FLYING FORTRESSES OF THE U.S, EIGHTH AIRFORCE DOWNED SIX NAZI INTERCEPTORS, AND THEIR ESCORT OF MORE THAN 700 FIGHTERS PICKED OFF 71 ENEMY PLANES. MEANWHILE, CONTINENT-BASED FIGHTER-

BOMBERS AND MEDIUM BOMBERS OF THE U.S. NINTH AIRFORCE KNOCKED DOWN 94 MORE IN APPROXIMATELY 1,650 SORTIES.

FIGHTING SOME OF THE FIERCEST AIR BATTLES OF THE WAR, THE EIGHTH AIRFORCE ANNOUNCED ITS LOSSES AS THREE HEAVY BOMBERS AND 13 FIGHTERS. THE NINTH'S LOSSES WERE NOT ANNOUNCED.

NEARLY 100 RAF MOSQUITOS CONTINUED THE AIR ASSAULT ON VON RUNDSTEDT'S REAR SUPPLY BASES LAST NIGHT BY DROPPING TWO-TON BOMBS ON RAIL ROUTES NORTHEAST OF BONN AND EAST OF COBLENZ. THESE TARGETS ARE ON THE MAIN RAIL LINES FROM CENTRAL GERMANY TO THE SECTORS WHERE THE GERMANS HAVE PUSHED WESTWARD.

ON THE THIRD ARMY FRONT, IT CONTINUED, "THE SAAR TOWN OF DILLINGEN WAS LIBERATED FROM THE ENEMY AND THE RIGHT BANK OF THE (SAAR) RIVER WAS CLEARED ON A BROAD FRONT."

A DNB BROADCAST SAID FRESH AMERICAN FORCES WERE THROWN INTO THE FIGHT ON THE NORTHERN SIDE OF THE GERMAN THRUST WITH THE INTENT OF CUTTING OFF THE GERMAN SALIENT.

"GERMAN FORCES WERE FORCED TO THE DEFENSIVE TEMPORARILY, BUT REGAINED THE INITIATIVE AT NOON YESTERDAY AND CAPTURED A NUMBER OF IMPORTANT HEIGHTS AND OCCUPIED LARGE AREAS," THE BROADCAST SAID.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED THAT THE FIRST THREE GERMAN SPIES, CAPTURED IN BELGIUM BEHIND AMERICAN LINES WEARING DOUGHBOY UNIFORMS, HAD BEEN STOOD UP BEFORE A FIRING SQUAD AND SHOT.

GAINS ACHIEVED BY AMERICAN RELIEF COUNTERATTACKS IN LUXEMBOURG WERE NOT DISCLOSED, BUT A DISPATCH FROM ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT ROGER GREENE, CABLED FROM BRITISH-CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS SAID THERE WAS REASON TO BELIEVE THE ENEMY'S BIG PUSH HAD "JUST ABOUT SHOT ITS BOLT."

IN LIFTING THE NEWS SECURITY BLACKOUT THE ALLIED HIGH COMMAND ANNOUNCED THAT THE LOWER GERMAN WEDGE HAD REACHED TO WITHIN 16 MILES OF THE FRENCH FRONTIER AT LIBRAMONT, IN THE DIRECTION OF SEDAN, SCENE OF THE BIG GERMAN 1940 BREAK-THROUGH.

LIBRAMONT IS A FIVE-WAY ROAD JUNCTION 16 MILES SOUTHWEST OF BASTOGNE WHERE AN AMERICAN GARRISON STILL WAS HOLDING OUT. A FRONT DISPATCH ALSO SAID THAT THE GERMANS HAD OCCUPIED MOHRET, AN INTERVENING TOWN 10 MILES NORTHEAST OF LIBRAMONT.

AMERICAN TRANSPORT PLANES ESCORTED BY FIGHTERS SWEPT LOW OVER BESIEGED BASTOGNE, ON THE IMPORTANT LIEGE-ARLON HIGHWAY, AND DROPPED SUPPLIES WITHIN THE CITY TO THE YANK TROOPS. PILOTS OF THE ESCORTING PLANES SAID THE SUPPLIES PARCHUTED SAFELY DOWN TO THE GARRISON.

ANOTHER FRONT DISPATCH FILED BY ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT KENNETH L.DIXON SAID THAT EMBATTLED DOUGHBOYS HOLDING THE NORTHERN FLANK OF THE GERMAN WEDGE WERE "TOO BLOODY OBSTINATE" TO GIVE AN INCH SATURDAY DESPITE POWERFUL AND REPEATED ENEMY ATTACKS.

HIS DISPATCH GAVE THE DEFINITE IMPRESSION THE GERMAN DRIVE HAD SLOWED DOWN SOMEWHAT, AND SAID THE GERMANS WERE HURLING IN MORE TANKS ON THE SOUTHERN SIDE IN AN EFFORT TO WIDEN THEIR SALIENT DIPPING TOWARD NORTHEASTERN FRANCE.

DEC 24 1944

FROM WITHIN THE AREA OVERRUN BY THE GERMANS FILTERED "FANTASTIC STORIES OF ISOLATED AMERICAN TANK AND INFANTRY UNITS FIGHTING A COURAGEOUS, HARASSING BATTLE BEHIND THE ENEMY'S LINES," SAID DIXON'S DISPATCH.

THE GERMAN DRIVE TO LIBRAMONT REPRESENTED A 16-MILE ADVANCE FROM BY-PASSED BASTOGNE, FAR LESS THAN THE PREVIOUSLY-REPORTED 15-MILE-A-DAY PACE OF THE GERMANS. LIBRAMONT IS 7 1/2 MILES NORTH OF ST. HUBERT IN THE FREYR FOREST, ANOTHER SECTOR REACHED BY THE GERMANS.

ON THE BASIS OF THE HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCEMENT THE GERMANS NOW HOLD A 22-MILE-LONG NORTH-SOUTH WEDGE INSIDE BELGIUM, BETWEEN MARCHE AND LIBRAMONT, AND HAVE DRIVEN 40 MILES BEYOND THEIR JUMP-OFF POSITIONS ON THE EIGHTH DAY OF THEIR CAREFULLY PLANNED WINTER OFFENSIVE.

THE WESTERN SIDE OF THIS WEDGE, HOWEVER, IS NOT A SOLID GE[illegible]E, FROM ALL INDICATIONS, BUT MERELY THREE MAJOR SP[illegible] HAVE REACHED THE FOCAL POINTS OF LIBRAMONT ON THE SOUTH, ST. HUBERT IN THE CENTER AND MARCHE IN THE NORTH.

AMERICAN ARTILLERY WAS GIVING THE NAZIS NO REST, HOWEVER, AND THE STILL, COLD AIR SHOOK TO THE THUNDER OF THE GUNS. INDICATING THAT THIS FIRE IS HURTING THE NAZIS, FIGHTER PLANES HAVE JUST ATTACKED AN AMERICAN ARTILLERY SPOTTING CUB PLANE--SOMETHING THEY RARELY BOTHER WITH.

DEC 24 1944

THE GERMAN AIR FORCE CONTINUES ACTIVE OVER THE WHOLE BATTLEFRONT, GIVING THE ALLIES A REAL FIGHT FOR AIR SUPREMACY. FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE THE LANDINGS IN FRANCE LAST JUNE, TRAVEL ALONG REAR AREA ROADS HAS BEEN SUBJECT TO STRAFING AND BOMBING BY ELUSIVE GERMAN FIGHTERS.

THE GERMAN ADVANCE HAS SLOWED, BUT THE ENEMY STILL HAS A POWERFUL PUNCH IN RESERVE.

IN SOME SECTORS OF THIS ESTABLISHED FRONT THE AMERICANS HAVE SNATCHED THE INITIATIVE FROM THE GERMANS LOCALLY, WITH AGGRESSIVE PATROLLING AND RAIDS ON THE NARROW COMMUNICATIONS LINES OF THE GERMAN PANZERS.

THE GERMANS HAVE BEEN STIRRING UP THE WHOLE FRONT WITH THEIR OWN PATROLS AND SMALL COUNTERATTACKS FROM JULICH SOUTH TO THE HURTGEN FOREST.

BEARDED DOUGHBOYS, HUDDLED IN OVERCOATS, DESCRIBED TODAY WHAT IT TOOK TO HALT THE GERMAN ARMORED DRIVE FOR THE FIRST TIME ON THIS FRONT. IT ALL ADDED UP TO PLAIN COURAGE.

"I HAVE A STORY ABOUT A BOY WHO SHOULD GET THE CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL OF HONOR," SAID CAPT. DON RIVETTE OF ANN ARBOR, MICH.

"THIS SOLDIER, A PRIVATE AND GUNNER ON ONE OF OUR ANTITANK GUNS, STAYED RIGHT AT THE GUN WHEN ATTACKED BY THREE PANTHER TANKS. HE KNOCKED OUT ONE WITH FOUR QUICK ROUNDS. A SECOND CAME IN SIGHT AND HE GOT IT, TOO. THEN THE GUN JAMMED.

"A THIRD PANTHER CAME RIGHT ON UNTIL THE TANK'S GUN MUZZLE WAS LESS THAN TEN FEET AWAY. IT WAS FOGGY AND DARK, SO THE TANK COMMANDER WAS LEANING OUT TO SEE.

"OUR GUNNER STEPPED AWAY FROM HIS GUN, DREW A PISTOL AND SHOT THE TANK COMMANDER THROUGH THE HEAD. THE GERMAN CREW DIDN'T KNOW WHAT HAD HAPPENED EXCEPT THAT THEIR COMMANDER WAS DEAD, SO THE TANK WITHDREW.

"NEXT MORNING THE GERMANS CUT LOOSE AGAIN WITH ARTILLERY AND MACHINE GUNS, PINNING OUR GUN CREWS DOWN, BUT THIS PRIVATE GOT OUT OF A FOXHOLE, WENT TO HIS GUN ALONE, LOADED IT AND FIRED AT A TANK COMING OVER THE HILL.

DEC 24 1944

"HE HIT THE TANK BUT A MACHINE GUN IN THE TANK HIT HIM AND HE FELL DEAD ALONGSIDE HIS GUN."

CASUALTY RESTRICTIONS PREVENT GIVING THE GALLANT GUNNER'S NAME.

"THIS POSITION OF OURS IS IDEAL FOR MACHINE GUNS, AND WE'VE BEEN GIVING THE JERRIES A DOSE OF THEIR OWN MEDICINE," SAID LT.COL.J.K. RIPPERT OF 160 CABRINI BLVD., NEW YORK, AN INFANTRY COMMANDER.

"WE JUST SAT UP ON THIS HILL AND MOWED THEM DOWN AS THEY TRIED TO COME UP. THE WHOLE VALLEY IS LITTERED WITH THEIR DEAD."

MAJ.H.G.BROWN OF BROADALBIN, NEW YORK, AN ARTILLERY DIRECTION OFFICER, REPORTED AT LEAST EIGHT OF 25 GERMAN TANKS THAT WERE KNOCKED OUT IN FRONT OF THE DOUGHBOYS' POSITIONS HAD BEEN DESTROYED BY 105 MILLIMETER HOWITZERS AND 155-MILLIMETER ARTILLERY.

"THE 155'S TOOK ABOUT EIGHT ROUNDS EACH TO GET A TANK, WHILE THE 105'S SIMPLY MASSED THEIR FIRE AND KNOCKED OFF TREADS," HE SAID.

WITH AMERICAN ARMIES ON THE WESTERN FRONT, DEC. 23-(AP)-ALTHOUGH DOUGHBOYS STILL ARE HOLDING A SOLID LINE ON THE NORTHERN FLANK OF HIS OFFENSIVE, MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT TODAY WAS RALLYING HIS PANZER AND INFANTRY POWER FOR ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO STAB OUT OF THE STAVELOT SECTOR.

THE CONCENTRATION OF GRMAN TROOPS ALONG THE STAVELOT-MALMEDY LINE CAME AFTER ARMOR-POINTED ENEMY ATTACKS WERE REPULSED EAST OF MALMEDY IN THE FAYMONVILLE-BULLANGEN AREAS AS WELL AS IN THE MONSCHAU REGION.

DEC 24 1944

STYMIED TEMPORARILY, THE UPPER FLANK OF THE GERMAN THRUST STILL IS FORGING SLOWLY AHEAD FURTHER SOUTH, ACCORDING TO CENSORSHIP-DELAYED REPORTS WHICH SAID THESE UNITS WADED INTO THE BASTOGNE RIVER ON TOWARD THE ST. HUBERT AREA. SOUTHWARD THEY CUT THE BASTOGNE-ARLON HIGHWAY WHILE NORTHBOUND TANKS REACHED THE LAROCHE VICINITY, THE REPORTS SAID.

HOWEVER, CONCENTRATIONS IN THE STAVELOT SECTOR INDICATED VON RUNDSTEDT STILL WAS HOPING CHIEFLY TO HAMMER HIS WAY THROUGH THE NORTHERN FLANK TO REACH AMERICAN SUPPLY DUMPS--WHICH NOW ARE BECOMING AS VITAL TO HIS OUTSTRETCHED ARMORED FINGERS AS THEY ARE TO THE DEFENDING YANKS.

THESE REPORTS, ALTHOUGH STILL DELAYED, SHOW LESS TIME LAG THAN PREVIOUS OFFICIAL ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS--TESTIFYING MORE TO THE ELIMINATION OF CONFUSION IN ALLIED POSITIONS THAN TO ANY OPTIMISTIC TREND, AS YET.

MORE THAN 30 ENEMY TANKS WERE DESTROYED IN THE STAVELOT SECTOR DURING REPEATED ATTACKS. BOTH SIDES ARE THROWING PUNCHES OF INCREASING STRENGTH IN THIS AREA WHERE HEAVY CONCENTRATIONS OF AMERICAN ARTILLERY ARE HAMMERING AT THE NORTHERN GERMAN FLANK.

ON THE SOUTHERN FLANK THE SITUATION WAS MORE FLUID, WITH ANOTHER TOWN REPORTED IN ENEMY HANDS AND FIELD MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT INCREASING HIS TANK PRESSURE AT THIS POINT OF THE SLOWING DRIVE.

MEANWHILE, FROM WITHIN THE AREA PRESUMABLY UNDER ENEMY CONTROL FILTERED FANTASTIC STORIES OF ISOLATED AMERICAN TANK AND INFANTRY UNITS FIGHTING A COURAGEOUS HARASSING BATTLE BEHIND THE ENEMY'S LINES.

IT WAS A HIGH RANKING GERMAN PARATROOP COMMANDER WHO SURRENDERED IN DISGUST WHEN HIS SUPERTRAINED FORCE FAILED TO OVERRUN "ORDINARY" YANK INFANTRY IN A VICIOUS ATTACK LATE YESTERDAY.

"THESE AMERICANS ARE TOO BLOODY OBSTINATE," HE MUTTERED WHEN HE AND 92 MEMBERS OF HIS SLAUGHTERED OUTFIT WERE MARCHED OFF TO A PRISONER-OF-WAR CAGE.

DEC 24 1944

ADDING TO HIS ANGER WAS THE CONFUSION OF GERMAN COMMUNICATIONS. HE HAD HEARD THE GERMAN RADIO REPORT THE TOWN WAS IN THEIR HANDS BUT ARRIVED TO FIND IT WAS UNTRUE. THE ENSUING FUTILE ATTEMPT TO MAKE THE REPORT COME TRUE ALSO CONVINCED HIM THAT "THE WHOLE OPERATION WAS BADLY PLANNED AS FAR AS THE PARATROOPERS WERE CONCERNED."

HE WAS INCLINED TO BLAME THE NAZIS FOR HIS PLIGHT BUT AMERICAN ARMY LEADERS STILL WERE NOT AGREEING THAT ANYBODY BUT THE GERMAN MILITARY CHIEFTAINS PLANNED THE OFFENSIVE OR THAT IT WAS PARTICULARLY "BADLY PLANNED."

THE OFFENSIVE DID NOT SHOW ANY MAJOR SIGNS OF BEING FOULED UP YET ON THE SOUTHERN SECTOR OR AT PENETRATION POINTS. VICIOUS FIGHTING CONTINUED IN THE CONFUSED ST. VITH SECTOR WHILE ENEMY ACTIVITY WAS NOTED ALL ALONG THE FRONTS.

HOWEVER, VON RUNDSTEDT'S CONSTANT EFFORTS TO SWING HIS SPEARHEAD NORTHWARD TOWARD VITAL AMERICAN SUPPLY LINES AND DUMPS AGAIN FAILED ALL ALONG THE MONSCHAU-MALMEDY LINE, WITH ANOTHER POWERFUL PUNCH AT THE LATTER POINT BEING BEATEN BACK BLOODILY IN THE

PRE-DAWN HOURS THIS MORNING.

MORE THAN 300 CRACK INFANTRYMEN SUPPORTING UNCOUNTED ENEMY TANKS MADE THIS MORNING'S STABS. BUT THEY PLOUGHED TO A DEAD HALT IN FRONT OF A VETERAN INFANTRY OUTFIT. WHEN THE LINE WAS RESTORED TO EXACTLY ITS FORMER POSITION, THE RETREATING GERMANS LEFT A FEW SMOKING TANKS AND MANY DEAD INFANTRYMEN BEHIND.

THE SAME WAS TRUE NEAR BUZENBACH WHERE 20 TANKS AND COUNTLESS EXPERT INFANTRY WERE REPULSED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON. IN ONE INSTANCE, PRISONERS SAID AN ENTIRE REGIMENT HAD BEEN CUT TO SOME 200 MEN--APPROXIMATELY ONE-TENTH OF ITS NORMAL STRENGTH.

THE REMNANTS OF THIS ENEMY REGIMENT REFERRED TO THEMSELVES AS THE "JORDAN" OUTFIT WITH GRIM HUMOR BECAUSE, THEY SAID, SO MANY OF THEM HAD "CROSSED SO MANY RIVERS."

DEC 24 1944

ELSEWHERE ALONG THE CENTRAL AND NORTHERN SECTIONS OF THE WESTERN FRONT, ARTILLERY DUELS AND LIVELY PATROL SKIRMISHES WERE NOTED AT MANY POINTS.

MEANWHILE, GERMAN PROPAGANDA LOUDSPEAKERS WERE URGING THE SOLDIERS TO "SURRENDER AND SPEND CHRISTMAS SAFE IN OUR PRISONER OF WAR CAMP," ADDING THAT MORE THAN 20,000 FIRST ARMY SOLDIERS ALREADY WERE WAITING THERE.

SOMEWHERE IN BELGIUM, DEC. 22-(DELAYED)-(AP)-THE NAZI HIGH COMMAND HAS IMPROVED ON ITS FIFTH COLUMN AND HAS DEVELOPED A SIXTH COLUMN FOR THE PRESENT OFFENSIVE.

THIS SIXTH COLUMN IS COMPOSED OF A SPECIAL COMMAND OF TRAINED ASSASSINS AND SABOTEURS WHO SPEAK PERFECT ENGLISH AND ARE DROPPED BEHIND AMERICAN LINES DRESSED IN AMERICAN AND BRITISH UNIFORMS.

THIS SIXTH COLUMN WAS ORGANIZED LAST OCTOBER WHEN ALL GERMAN COMMANDERS WERE GIVEN ORDERS TO DETACH ALL MEN IN THEIR SERVICE WHO HAD LIVED EITHER IN THE UNITED STATES OR BRITAIN BEFORE THE WAR

AND SEND THEM TO A HEADQUARTERS NEAR BERLIN.

THERE THEY WERE GIVEN SPECIAL TESTS AND ONLY FEARLESS, RUTHLESS MEN WERE KEPT. IT WAS REQUIRED NOT ONLY THAT THEY SPEAK ENGLISH BUT SPEAK IT WITH A DEFINITE AMERICAN OR BRITISH ACCENT.

AT THE SAME TIME GERMAN COMMANDERS WERE ORDERED TO TURN IN ALL CAPTURED AMERICAN AND BRITISH EQUIPMENT, INCLUDING UNIFORMS AND DOG TAGS.

ORGANIZATION OF THIS FORCE FOR OFFENSIVE ACTION WAS BEGUN LAST OCTOBER, INDICATING THAT FIELD MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT'S OFFENSIVE WAS AT LEAST TWO MONTHS IN THE PLANNING STAGE.

GIVEN A MISSION TO TRY TO KILL HIGH ALLIED OFFICERS AND CARRY OUT SABOTAGE ON A GRAND SCALE, THE FORCE WAS EQUIPPED WITH AMERICAN JEEPS, COMMAND CARS, TANKS AND HALF-TRACKS AND ORDERED TO INFILTRATE AMERICAN LINES.

SOME WERE DROPPED BY PARACHUTE BEHIND THE LINES. SOME WERE DRESSED IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES AND ORDERED TO INFILTRATE TOWNS, START FIRES, FIGHT WITH THE LOCAL GARRISONS, AND THEN FLEE.

SOME OF THESE SIXTH COLUMNISTS WERE UNCOVERED AND CAPTURED IN BELGIUM TOWNS. THEY WERE FOUND EQUIPPED WITH TUBES OF SULPHURIC ACID TO THROW IN THEIR CAPTOR'S FACES AND TRY TO ESCAPE.

CANADIAN BRITISH ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, DEC. 23-(AP)-THE ALLIED HIGH COMMAND'S POLICY OF DELAYING NEWS 48 HOURS TOOK A NEW TWIST TONIGHT WHEN A 21ST ARMY GROUP OFFICER ANNOUNCED BRIEFLY "THERE IS NO NEWS."

(DEVELOPMENTS IN ADVANCE OF SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCEMENTS HAD BEEN DISCLOSED FROM THE CANADIAN-BRITISH HEADQUARTERS FOR THE PAST TWO DAYS.)

THERE IS REASON TO BELIEVE, HOWEVER, THAT THE SITUATION HAS IMPROVED AND AT LEAST SOME BACKGROUND FOR PREDICTING THAT FIELD MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT'S OFFENSIVE HAS JUST ABOUT SHOT ITS BOLT.

WHILE THERE WAS NO INFORMATION HERE ON GROUND DEVELOPMENTS, RAF PLANES FLYING THROUGH WEATHER THAT NORMALLY WOULD HAVE GROUNDED ALL AIRCRAFT TOOK OFF IN CONSIDERABLE STRENGTH TO BLAST THE ENEMY IN SUPPORT OF THE AMERICANS.

SPITFIRES, TEMPESTS, AND TYPHOONS ATTACKED TWO GROUPS OF GERMAN TANKS WITH UNDISCLOSED REULTS, AND STRAFED GERMAN HORSEDRAWN TRAFFIC ENROUTE TO THE FRONT WITH SUCH EFFECTIVENESS THAT IN THE AFTERNOON ENEMY TRANSPORT WENT INTO HIDING.

WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON THE WESTERN FRONT, DEC. 23-(AP)-DOUGHBOYS ATTACKING FROM A SNOW-POWDERED FOREST TORE INTO THE GERMANS AND INCHED FORWARD TODAY IN SLOW BUT STEADY INITIAL GAINS.

THE ENEMY FOUGHT BACK VIOLENTLY, GIVING GROUND FOXHOLE BY FOXHOLE IN SAVAGE HAND-TO-HAND COMBAT.

THE AMERICAN JUMPOFF WAS PRECEDED BY AN ARTILLERY BARRAGE WHICH TURNED THIS FROZEN PICTURE-POSTCARD SETTING INTO A SHATTERED WHITE WILDERNESS.

(WHILE NO LOCATION WAS GIVEN, THIS APP[illegible]NTLY WAS ON THE SOUTHERN FLANK OF THE GERMAN PENETRATION.)

THE GERMANS REPLIED ENERGETICALLY WITH A COUNTER-BARRAGE, THEIR SHELLS SPLINTERING THE STATELY EVERGREENS AND COATING THE DOUGHBOYS WITH SNOW SHAKEN LOOSE FROM THE BOUGHS.

WHILE THE BATTLE WAS IN PROGRESS THE AIR FORCES TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE FIRST CLEAR DAY IN WEEKS TO CASCADE BOMBS ON GERMAN POSITIONS.

ONE GROUND OF DOUGHBOYS ON THIS FRONT THOUGHT THEY HAD BLUNDERED INTO A REAL WHITE CHRISTMAS WHEN THEY HEARD BELLS TINKLING AS THEY ADVANCED THROUGH THE SNOWY FOREST.

DEC 24 1944

"I'D HAVE SWORN THEY WERE SLEIGHBELLS," SAID PFC. JOHN MIORIN OF TROY, N.Y., "BUT WE SOON FOUND THEY WERE TELEPHONES IN A GERMAN OUTPOST THAT HAD BEEN DIRECTING THE BARRAGE AGAINST US."

A NEAT PIECE OF WIRE-CUTTING IN THE REAR SOON SILENCED THE BELLS.

CAPT. JOHN LYNCH, ARTILLERY OFFICER OF CHAMPAIGN, ILL., WAS PAID A TRIBUTE BY HIS COMMANDING OFFICER FOR SMASHING GERMAN PREPARATIONS FOR AN ATTACK OF THEIR OWN DURING THE DAY.

AS SALVO AFTER SALVO FROM THE AMERICAN GUNS ROARED INTO THE ENEMY POSITIONS, THE COMMANDER REMARKED, "JOHN IS MAKING HAY TODAY. HE CAUGHT THEM ON THE LEE SIDE OF A HILL AND NOW HE'S GIVING IT TO THEM."

PFC.JOHN W.SOBIESKI, 53-22 37TH ST., LONG ISLAND CITY, N.Y., SAID THAT UNDER MORE PEACEFUL CIRCUMSTANCES HE WOULD LIKE HIS 9-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER JOAN MARY TO BE HERE TO DO SOME SKIING AND ICE SKATING.

SGT.RAYMOND BAILER OF 2211 QUADMAN AVE., CINCINNATI, OHIO, SAID HE HOPED HIS 18-MONTH-OLD DAUGHTER, SANDRA DONNA, WHOM HE'S NEVER SEEN, WOULD HAVE W WHITE CHRISTMAS.

"I'M SURE AS HELL HAVING ONE--AND WHAT A ONE!" HE ADDED.

"CHRISTMAS IS JUST ANOTHER DAY OF JERRY-HUNTING AROUND HERE," SAID CPL. THEODORE WHORTON OF 161 POCANTIC AVE., AKRON, OHIO.

IF THEY GET TURKEY UP THIS FAR, PFC. EDWARD MELVIN OF IKSTER, MICH., WILL HAVE TO EAT IT WITH HIS LEFT HAND. HE SPRAINED HIS WRIST WHEN HE DROPPED A CASE OF MORTAR SHELLS AND HIT THE GROUND TO AVOID AN ENEMY SHELL TODAY.

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, DEC 23-(AP)-CHRISTMAS FOR THE AMERICAN SOLDIER IS TIED DEEP INTO THE JOB OF BREAKING THE BLOODY GERMAN BID FOR THE NAZI KIND OF PEACE. THE YULETIDE DAY HERE WILL BE DEDICATED TO THE UGLY AND DEADLY BUSINESS OF WAR.

A FRONT LINE CHRISTMAS ALWAYS HAS A SOMBER BACKGROUND OF HEIGHTENED HOMESICKNESS AND SARDONIC NEGATION OF PEACE ON EARTH AND GOOD WILL TO MEN. THIS IS TOO BRUTALLY APPARENT EVER TO BE BANISHED FROM THE MIND.

THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THIS PARTICULAR CHRISTMAS--WHICH MANY HAD HOPED WOULD COME AFTER THE END OF THE WAR ON EUROPE--MERELY SERVE TO DEEPEN THIS BITTER IRONY.

SO THESE TWO BITS OF INFORMATION ABOUT CHRISTMAS SONG AND CHRISTMAS BELLS CAN ONLY BE VIEWED AS BRIGHT SYMBOLS OF HOPE AGAINST A DARK BACK-DROP OF UNHAPPINESS-AN UNHAPPINESS NONE THE LESS REAL BECAUSE MOST OF THOSE WHO FEEL IT WORSE ARE CONVINCED IT MUST END WITHIN A FEW MONTHS AT MOST.

CHRISTMAS SONGS WON'T BE HEARD MUCH BY EVEN REAR ECHELON TROOPS, MOST OF WHOM WILL BE TOO BUSY TO SIT BY THE RADIO. BUT BECAUSE OF A CHAPLAIN AND SOME YOUNG MEN WHO LOVE TO SING, THE MEN OF ONE DIVISION WILL HEAR THEIR COMRADES SINGING.

A FEW WEEKS AGO CAPT.GERHARD BELGUM, WHOSE HOME IS MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., AND WHO FORMERLY WAS PASTOR OF THE EMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH IN TACOMA, WASH., DECIDED A CHOIR COULD BE FORMED FROM MEN OF HEAD-QUARTERS BATTERY OF THE 35TH DIVISION ARTILLERY.

FRANK JOY, WHO USED TO BE A PRINTER IN MINNEAPOLIS AND PLAYED THE ORGAN IN A LUTHERAN CHURCH, THROUGHT SO TOO.

SO EIGHTEEN MEN PRACTICED WHEN THEY COULD WITH THE IDEA OF BROADCASTING ON THE ARMY HOUR FOR NBC--AN INVITATION WHICH THE WAR WOULDN'T LET THEM ACCEPT.

DEC 24 1944

WHEREVER THEY ARE ABLE TO GO ON CHRISTMAS DAY THEY'LL GO SINGING SUCH OLD SONGS AS "SILENT NIGHT," AND SOME UNITS WILL HEAR THEM. THEY WILL SING WITHOUT ACCOMPANIMENT AND WITH PFC, ERNEST JOY, FORMER DANCE BAND SINGER FROM WICHITA, KANS., AS SOLOIST.

WHILE THEY ARE SINGING, THE BELLS WILL BE RINGING MANY MILES AWAY IN THE FRENCH VILLAGE OF MITTERSHEIM--RINGING AGAIN BECAUSE THE AMERICANS RESTORED THE BELLS STOLEN BY THE GERMANS.

BELLS WHICH FOR GENERATIONS HAD PEALED THE YULE MESSSAGE WERE REMOVED FROM THE CATHOLIC AND PROTESTANT CHURCHES OF MITTERSHEIM DEC.8,1943, AND TAKEN TO THE NEIGHBORING TOWN OF FENETRANGE ON THE SAAR RIVER WHERE THEY WERE PUT INTO THE RAILROAD STATION, APPARENTLY IN PREPARATION FOR MOVING INTO GERMANY AND FOR MELTING INTO WEAPONS.

FOR SOME REASON THEY NEVER WERE SHIPPED AND WHEN THE FOURTH ARMORED DIVISION LIBERATED MITTERSHEIM AND FENETRANGE THE BELLS WERE FOUND AND THE COMMANDER OF THE FOURTH HAD THEM RESTORED TO THE CHURCHES.

THEY WERE MOUNTED IN TIME FOR THIS CHRISTMAS AND THE TOWN MAYOR

SENT HIS THANKS WHICH SAID IN PART "FOR ALL OF US, BOTH CATHOLIC AND PROTESTANT, IT IS THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CHRISTMAS GIFT IMAGINABLE."

SAVERNE, ALSACE, DEC. 23-(AP)-CHRISTMAS AWAY FROM HOME NEVER SEEMS LIKE CHRISTMAS, BUT GI'S OF THE U.S. 12TH TACTICAL AIR COMMAND GOT A TOUCH OF THAT OLD HOLIDAY FEELING BY COMING TO THIS TOWN AND GIVING A PARTY FOR MORE THAN 100 CHILDREN, INCLUDING MANY ORPHANS.

THEY DECORATED A THEATER WITH FIR TREES, IMPROVISED THE TRIMMINGS AND SPENT THEIR OWN MONEY FOR TOYS FROM PARIS AND FRUIT FROM AFRICA. CANDY WAS DONATED FROM THEIR OWN RATIONS AND PACKAGES SHIPPED FROM HOME.

DEC 24 1944

THE GI'S PLANNED THE PROGRAM SOME WEEKS AGO WHEN ON THE WESTERN SIDE OF THE VOSGES MOUNTAINS. THEY HAD ARRANGED TO HAVE A MARIONETTE SHOW IN FRENCH TO GIVE IN SOME TOWN, BUT THE 7TH ARMY ADVANCED SO FAST AFTER ITS JUMP-OFF NOV. 13 THAT THEY HAD TO GO TO STRASBOUGH AND HIRE A SHOW IN GERMAN.

ALSATIANS LIKE THE ROUGH MARIONETTE SHOWS, APPARENTLY BECAUSE IN EACH OF THE FOUR ACTS ONE PUPPET HAS THE DICKENS WALLOPED OUT OF IT, AND THE CHILDREN'S LAUGHTER IS DEAFENING. MAJ. JAY NIELSEN OF 305 SOUTHWAY, BALTIMORE, TRANSLATED THE GERMAN DURING THE SHOW.

AFTER THE MARIONETTES CAME THE ALSATIAN VERSION OF AN ACROBATIC PERFORMANCE BY TWO GIRLS AND ONE MAN. THE MAN DID NOTHING BUT STAND AROUND AND LOOK IMPORTANT, AND THE GIRLS WENT THROUGH GYRATIONS WHICH WOULD BE REGARDED AS ELEMENTARY IN THE UNITED STATES, BUT THE CHILDREN LOVED IT.

THEN SANTA CLAUS MADE HIS ENTRANCE. HE HANDED A PRESENT TO EACH CHILD AS THEY FILED ACROSS THE STAGE. THE YOUNGSTERS APPRECIATED ANYTHING THEY GOT, BUT ESPECIALLY THE CHOCOLATE, WHICH OVER HERE IS PRONOUNCED CHO-CO-LA.

ONE DOUGHBOY SPENDING HIS THIRD CHRIUTMAS AWAY FROM HOME IS SGT. FRANCIS F. CASERTA OF 27 WALNUT AVE., TRENTON, N.J., WHOSE COMMENT WAS: "I HOPE THIU WILL BE MY LAST CHRISTMAS AWAY FROM HOME. EACH YEAR I THINK THE MISERY WILL BE LESSN BUT IT AIN'T."

AT A LEYTE AIR BASE, DEC.22-(DELAYED)-(AP)-CLARK FIELD AT MANILA, THE BIG AIRDROME WHICH WAS DEVASTATED BY THE JAPANESE THE FIRST DAY OF THE WAR, WAS IN TURN DEVASTATED TODAY BY YANKS IN THEIR FIRST DAYLIGHT BOMBING OF IT BY LAND-BASED PLANES.

THE "RED RAIDER LIBERATORS" OUTFIT SPILLED THOUSANDS OF FRAGMENTATION BOMBS OVER THE LARGE AIRDROME AREA.

"IT WAS HOLLANDIA ALL OVER AGAIN," SOME FLIERS EXCLAIMED.

THE SAME EMPLOYMENT OF FRAGMENTATION BOMBS WIPED OUT SCORES OF GROUNDED ENEMY PLANES AT HOLLANDIA, DUTCH NEW GUINEA, PREPARATORY TO AMPHIBIOUS INVASION OF THAT AREA LAST APRIL.

THE "RED RAIDERS," EACH CARRYING MORE THAN 200 FRAGMENTATION BOMBS, FOUND CLARK FIELD GLEAMING BRIGHTLY IN THE SUN WHEN THEY REACHED THE TARGET SHORTLY BEFORE NOON. ITS SEVEN RUNWAYS WERE CLEARLY DEFINED FROM 10,000 FEET.

WHILE ESCORTING THUNDERBOLTS TOOK CARE OF INTERCEPTORS, THE BIG BOMBERS SWEPT THROUGH MODERATE ACK ACK TO BLANKET THE AREA. CATCHING PLANES PARKED IN RUNWAYS, REVETMENTS AND HANGARS.

(GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S DEC.24 COMMUNIQUE SAID THE MAJORITY OF MORE THAN 100 GROUNDED NIPPONESE PLANES WERE DESTROYED OR DAMAGED AND EIGHT OUT OF NINE INTERCEPTORS WERE SHOT DOWN)

TRUCKS AND MOBILE EQUIPMENT ALONG THE AIRSTRIPS WERE RIDDLED AND BURNED; BARRACKS AND OFFICE BUILDINGS WERE SPRAYED WITH SHRAPNEL.

WHEN THE BOMBERS HEADED FOR HOME, THEY LEFT SMOKE PUFFING UP PAST 7,000 FEET AND FIRES BURNING BRISKLY. EXPLOSIONS STILL COULD BE OBSERVED.

ALL THE LIBERATORS RETURNED TO BASE. THE LIBERATOR CREWS GAVE MUCH CREDIT FOR THE SUCCESS OF THE RAID TO THE HARD-HITTING THUNDERBOLTS IN PREVENTING THE ENEMY AIRFORCE FROM INTERFERING.

ONE OF THESE FIGHTER PILOTS, LT.MICHAEL DIKOVITSKY, OF CLEVELAND, OHIO, BECAME AN ACE IN DOWNING ONE ENEMY PLANE FOR HIS FIFTH VICTIM.

OTHER FLIERS WHO SCORED ONE EACH INCLUDED: CAPTAINS WILLIAM B. PATROLLING NORTHERN LEYTE SHORTLY AFTER DUSK, ANDRE SPOTTED TWO JAPANESE INTRUDERS. HE WAS PREPARING TO ATTACK WHEN HE SAW A THIRD. ALL THREE TURNED BACK, AND ANDRE FOLLOWED THE FIRST TWO TO SOUTHERN LUZON, THEN LOST THEM IN THE DARKNESS.

"I STARTED MAKING MY TURN BACK HOME WHEN I SAW A FEW LIGHTS BELOW," SGT.ANDRE SAID. "THEY LOOKED LIKE RUNWAY LIGHTS. BY THIS TIME I WAS AT ABOUT 3,000 FEET.

"THEN I SAW ONE OF THE JAPANESE AGAIN. HE HAD HIS WING LIGHTS ON, AND WAS CIRCLING TO LAND. JUST AS I WAS PULLING IN TO GET A BURST IN I SAW A SECOND PLANE COMING IN ABOUT A MILE AWAY.

"I GOT BEHIND THE SECOND ONE AND OPENED UP JUST AS HE WAS MAKING THE TRAFFIC PATTERN. THE JAP CRASHED AND EXPLODED ON THE FIELD.

"I KEPT ON AND GOT THE LEADER 50 OR 60 FEET OFF THE GROUND."

THEN ANDRE MADE SIX STRAFING RUNS ON THE FIELD, STARTING SEVERAL LARGE EXPLOSIONS AND PROBABLY DESTROYING SEVERAL PARKED PLANES AND A GASOLINE TRUCK. ON THE LAST STRAFING PASS THE ENGINE OF HIS HELLCAT CUT OUT MOMENTARILY.

"I COULD SEE MYSELF BEING BOILED IN A STEWPOT," HE DECLARED.

THEN THE ENGINE REVIVED AND ANDRE RETURNED SAFELY.

HE ENTERED THE MARINES IN 1940, SPENT TWO YEARS AS A MECHANIC AND WON HIS WINGS IN MARCH, 1942. HIS PARENTS LIVE AT HOLT, ALA.

SOMEWHERE IN NETHERLANDS NEW GUINEA, DEC.24-(AP)-IRVING BERLIN BROUGHT A "WHITE CHRISTMAS" TO AMERICAN DOUGHBOYS HERE LAST NIGHT WITH HIS UNEXPECTED APPEARANCE AT A HOLIDAY PARTY.

THE FIRST BOTTLES, TAKEN FROM VOLUNTEER DONORS IN PACIFIC COAST CITIES, ARRIVED IN A FEW DAYS AT AN ARMY FIELD HOSPITAL JUST BEHIND THE ORMOC LINE ON LEYTE, PHILIPPINES.

SO GREAT WAS THE NEED THAT THE FIRST DELIVERY WAS EXHAUSTED IN SEVEN DAYS AND A REQUEST TO TRIPLE THE AMOUNT OF SHIPMENTS WAS MADE.

THE REQUEST WAS SENT TO AMERICAN RED CROSS DONOR CENTERS AT SAN FRANCISCO, OAKLAND AND LOS ANGELES, WHICH HAVE BEEN CONTRIBUTING THE ENTIRE SUPPLY TO DATE. RED CROSS OFFICIALS SAID TWO MORE CENTERS, AT PORTLAND AND SAN DIEGO, MAY BE CALLED UPON TO HELP.

NAVY AIR TRANSPORT PLANES NOW DELIVER THE WHOLE BLOOD, WHICH RETAINS APPROXIMATELY 75 PER CENT OF THE EFFICIENCY OF FRESH BLOOD FOR 21 DAYS, TO THE ADVANCED BLOOD BANK FACILITY ON GUAM.

PLANES OF THE ARMY'S AIR TRANSPORT COMMAND AND OF THE TROOP CARRI

DEC 24 1944

EIGHTY PER CENT OF THE BLOOD HAS BEEN USED BY THE ARMY THUS FAR.

ARMY AND NAVY MEDICAL OFFICERS SAID AVAILABILITY OF THE WHOLE BLOOD IN SUFFICIENT QUANTITY WILL MEAN REDUCTION IN FATALITIES.

THE SUPPLY FROM HOME ALSO ELIMINATES THE NECESSITY OF SEEKING DONORS, TO MEET EMERGENCY CASES, FROM SERVICE MEN IN THE FIELD, WHOSE TIME AND EFFICIENCY IS NEEDED FOR FIGHTING.

OFFICERS SAID THAT UNDER THE SYSTEM NOW IN OPERATION, IT IS HOPED WHOLE BLOOD WILL BE AVAILABLE FROM GUAM FOR ALL FUTURE BATTLE AREAS IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC. IT IS BEING SENT TO ARMY FIELD AND

EVACUATION HOSPITALS, MARINE FIELD HOSPITALS, NAVY BASE HOSPITALS AND HOSPITAL SHIPS. IT WILL ALSO BE MADE AVAILABLE TO ALL AMPHIBIOUS FORCES AND TO MAJOR COMBAT SHIPS, SUCH AS AIRCRAFT CARRIERS, GOING INTO ACTION.

HAVANA, DEC. 22-(AP)-SUGAR CIRCLES JUDGED TODAY THAT THE CUBAN GOVERNMENT IS SEEKING TO CONTROL FOOD PRICES RATHER THAN DEMAND A HIGH FIGURE FOR THE 1945 AND 1946 SUGAR CROP.

THIS WAS BASED ON A RADIO "FIRESIDE CHAT" BY PRESIDENT GRAU SAN MARTIN LAST NIGHT IN WHICH HE REVEALED THE NEGOTIATIONS FOR SALE OF THE CROP HAD BEEN DELAYED IN ORDER TO GAIN ASSURANCES THAT CUBA WOULD OBTAIN SUPPLIES OF IMPORTED FOOD.

THIS DELAY IN SELLING THE CROP--GRINDING OF WHICH STARTS IN MID-JANUARY--"IS PLAYING A LEADING ROLE IN THE SUPPLY OF IMPORTED FOODSTUFFS," HE SAID, ADDING:

"FAVORABLE RESULTS OF THE NEGOTIATIONS WILL DEPEND NOT ONLY ON THE PRICE OF OUR SUGAR BUT ALSO ON A GUARANTEE CLAUSE COVERING FLUCTUATIONS ON THESE SUPPLIES."

DR.GRAU IMPLIED THAT CUBA HAD NOT ABANDONED ITS DEMAND FOR AN INCREASE IN THE PRICE OF SUGAR, BUT HIS BRIEF REFERENCE TO THE SUSPENDED NEGOTIATIONS SUGGESTED THAT A MODERATE INCREASE MIGHT BE ACCEPTED IN EXCHANGE FOR IMPORT CONCESSIONS.

CUBA HAS RECEIVED $2.65 A HUNDRED POUNDS OF RAW SUGAR FOR THREE SEASONS BUT GROWERS AND MILL OWNERS ASKED NOT LESS THAN $3.25 FOR THE COMING CROP AGAINST A TOP UNITED STATES OFFER OF $3.

U. S. Counterattacks Gain Four Points, 7000 Planes Batter German Positions

Eisenhower Throws In His Counter-Offensive

Four Dents Driven Into German Southern Flank Along 25-mile Front—Menace To Capital Of Luxembourg Lifted—Ground Situation Developing Favorably—Yanks Surrounded At Bastogne Hold On.

By James M. Long

PARIS, Monday, Dec. 25 (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower has thrown in his counterattack, and on this fourth American war Christmas the doughboys had driven four dents into the enemy's southern flank along a 25-mile front after bringing the German winter offensive to a standstill since Thursday.

Lashing out 7,000 strong, unleashed Allied air might loosed the heaviest concentrated bombing attack since D-day on and behind the German bulge and Supreme Headquarters declared its destructive weight must certainly have a strong effect on the outcome of the battle.

Situation Developing Satisfactorily

For the first time since the enemy struck in his surprise offensive ten days ago, Supreme Headquarters described the ground situation as "developing favorably."

A front dispatch covering fighting up to late Saturday morning declared American forces storming Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's southern flank had gouged out gains along a 25-mile front in northern Luxembourg, lifting the meance to that tiny Duchy's capital.

The German wedges in Belgium and Luxembourg appeared to be contained, at least for the moment, with the Germans yesterday advancing no more than a mile at any point.

A front dispatch report that up to late yesterday morning, American attacks from the south had driven the Germans almost across the border 17 miles northeast of the city of Luxembourg, and had cleared half of Martelange, 21 miles northwest of the capital, where the Germans cut the vital Bastogne-Arlon highway.

Heavy fighting raged near Rambrouch, five miles east of Martelange.

American Lines Advanced

Sixteen miles due north of the city of Luxembourg, American lines were advanced one to two miles north of Grosbous. (This would indicate a possible nine-mile advance, since the day before the Americans had been operating in the area of Mersch, seven miles south of Grosbous.)

Other gains were announced in an area five miles west and northwest of Diekirch, or about 18 to 19 miles north of Luxembourg.

Yet another force hammered on east of Diekirch, apparently around Berdorf, 17 miles northeast of Luxembourg and less than a mile and a half from the German border.

The western limit of Von Rundstedt's drive still was held at Ebramont, 23 miles northeast of Sedan; at St. Hubert, the point of deepest penetration inside Belgium, and along the road between Marche and Hotton where the Germans were within 20 miles of the Meuse.

Surrounded Yanks Hold On

American forces surrounded at Bastogne in the center of the push held grimly to that key road town, severely hampering enemy operations.

West of St. Vith to the northeast another American force held its ridge line wedge which split the German push in two.

Terrific artillery fire from both sides rocked the Stavelot sector on the north flank 12 miles northwest of St. Vith. The Germans were lashing out, still trying to find a soft spot in the doughboy line.

More paratroopers were landed by the Germans Friday night in Stavelot.

The Germans were patrolling aggressively all along the western front, and were increasing artillery fire and air activity along the now dormant Roer river sectors of the U. S. First and Ninth Armies.

Enemy patrols armed with machineguns were wiped out after crossing the Rhine on the U. S

2,000 Bombers at Work

A record fleet of 2,000 U. S Bombers, with 1,000 fighters in escort, roared out from Britain in one wave, hundreds of medium bombers and fighter-bombers sailed into the attack from continental bases, and it appeared the total force would have exceeded even the 13,000 which flew on D-Day.

The greatest German gain reported up to noon yesterday was about a mile. The situation was described officially as definitely improved as Allied counter-measures began to influence the course of the swirling sanguinary battle.

Berlin Says No Change

(Berlin radio said tonight that "the situation of the great winter battle in the Ardennes has not changed decisively during the last 24 hours." The period covered by the Allied blackout, but admitted that American forces had relieved out advances on the south flank.)

The focus of the fighting swung abruptly yesterday to the enemy's southern flank below Bastogne, where the strength of an American assault forced the Germans to let up their siege of that strategic highway center and rush forces south to meet it.

The Supreme Headquarters security blackout—now shortened to 24 hours—barred reports of progress since then and masked the nature of the Allied counter-measures being taken.

It was not clear, in the absence of an official announcement, whether Gen. Eisenhower's forces still were in the stage of stiffening defense or had begun the phase of counterattack to carry out his orders to destroy the enemy on this new field of battle.

30-24 — 21509

There was no official elaboration of disclosure last night that Allied forces had moved up several miles from the vicinity of Arlon and the city of Luxembourg, 13 miles east.

Hard Fighting in Mersch Area

But field dispatches today said there was hard fighting in the Brosbous area, seven miles farther north than Mersch, the area where reinforcements were hitting the German flank the day before. Mersch is eight miles north of Luxembourg.

The American wall on both flanks was firm and it was regarded as likely that flanking blows from one side or the other had a strong bearing on the slackened impetus of the westward push, which at one point was 17 miles from the French border.

Germans Range Far Beyond Ourthe

(The German communique said that its units ranged "far beyond the Ourthe river on the western front yesterday," which runs from 20 to 30 miles east of the Meuse, and acknowledged "strong but vain attacks" against the flanks by fresh Allied forces.)

The enemy had pounded his way into the hilly heart of the Ardennes forest — through which he swept far more rapidly in 1940 — where tank and mechanized movement are difficult except along main roads.

The doughboys were backed into stronger defense positions, and the country ahead of Von Rundstedt is difficult all the way to the Meuse.

The great battle force of Britain-based warplanes pounced upon communications and supply centers supplying the German advance and pounded close-up airdromes from which the enemy air force rose to meet the Allies' warplanes yesterday.

German planes also were active along many sectors of the front but there was no indication whether the enemy was risking another day like yesterday, when he lost 178 planes to Allied armadas totaling almost 4,500 bombers and fighters.

Battle Position

This was the battle position up to mid-day yesterday on the counteroffensive front from north to south:

On the northern flank, American trops struck out anew near Maubach, six miles south of Duren, and made some gains on this Roer River front.

The Monschau-Malmedy shoulder held firm against local enemy thrusts.

The Stavelot wedge remained stabilized. Supreme Headquarters disclosed yesterday's announcement that Stavelot was lost was in error. The town still was in American hands, although there had been see-saw fighting at the outskirts.

The town of St. Vith, at the apex of the American triangle which splits the two German drives, was lost in a Thrusday night attack.

The doughboys, backed by strong forces of tanks, held to wooded ridges to the west, which have kept the Stavelot salient divided from the big Bastogne wedge to the south.

The Americans in Bastogne still held out, were supplied from the air, and were called on the fend off only minor stabs yesterday.

The German thrusts which carried to Marche, 20 miles from the Meuse and 22 miles northwest of Bastogne; to St. Hubert, 15 miles west of Bastogne; and to Libramont eight miles south of St. Hubert and 23 miles from Sedan, either had lost their impetus or had bogged down in the tough doughboy defense.

Single German Gain

The only reported German gain anywhere along Von Rundstedt's offensive front carried only about a mile to the vicinity of Rosieres, eight miles southwest of Bastogne.

Supreme headquarters disclosed that the place where the Germans had cut the Bastogne-Arlon highway was at Martelange, on the Belgian-Luxembourg border about midway between the two towns.

There was increasingly heavy fighting at several sectors along the German southern flank, but the enemy made little if any gains.

Some of the fiercest fighting was near Grosbus, 15 miles northwest of the capital of Luxembourg, and near Savelborn, 14 miles northeast of the city.

Well to the north of the front, the Germans sent patrol after patrol into the British-Canadian 21st Army group positions all the way from 'S Hertogenbosch to Maeseyck in eastern Holland, apparently looking for information on any changes in Allied troop dispositions.

On the U. S. Third Army front, the Germans threw heavy concentrations of artillery into the American lines near Saarlautern, in the western Saarland. There was little change in battle lines.

To the east the Germans tried a counterattack in some force at dawn this morning near Bitche—the Maginot Line fortress—but the thrust was broken up.

The French drive four miles northwest of Colmar in southern Alsace made little progress.

Berlin Radio Admits Allied Advance Made

LONDON, Dec. 24. (AP)—The Berlin radio tonight admitted that advances had been carved into German lines by American forces on the southern flank.

An international information bureau broadcast from Berlin declared the Germans had held an attack "by numerically superior forces" on the northern flank, but conceded that "the situation of the greater winter battle in the Ardennes had not changed decisively during the past 24 hours."

Berlin said American as well as German reinforcements were being fed continuously into the battle.

"Eisenhower's plan to launch a strong attack from the north and south and so cut off the Germans from their rear is beginning to take clearer shape," said the broadcast.

But it declared the German situation on both sides of the Aurthe, at the western tip of the offensive bulge, was still favorable and that German bridgeheads on the west side of the river were enlarged and widened by fresh forces ferried across.

Continuing to claim that the German air forces shot down 115 Allied planes in widespread air battles yesterday, Berlin said "new air assault groups in fast machines" using new tactics had been thrown into the a rifight.

One such group wiped out a Marauder squadron by shooting down 30 planes, Transocean News Agency declared. The new tactics and the new machines were ont described.

Earlier, Berlin claimed that 44 planes out of one Allied squadron of two-engined bombers were shot down.

Yanks' First Christmas In France Today

Some Will Celebrate But Most Will Fight.

By Joseph Dynan

PARIS, Dec. 24 (AP)—American soldiers prepared to observe their first Christmas in France today with turkey dinners, packages from home and parties for French children, who are celebrating their first liberated Noel.

U. S. quartermasters have promised that every doughboy, except those actually fighting in the fornt lines, will have turkey with all the trimmings. Many of the men stationed in French cities will have their holiday feasts with French families who have managed to save a few precious bottles of wine, cognac, and larders of meat and vegetables.

Extra duties entailed in meeting the German counter-offensive will prevent most soldiers from joining French civilians and friends, but for some there will be colorful Christmas eve ceremonies.

"Reveillon"

Thousands of troops, for example, are planning to participate in their first "Reveillon," the traditional French manner of celebrating the holiday eve at midnight, which includes midnight mass, a huge dinner at 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning, then dancing till dawn—or in Paris, until the "Metro" resumes service at 6 a. m.

Part of the Americans' Christmas observance will extend back to the United States by radio from the Olympia Troop Theatre on the Boulevard Des Capucines. Following the Christmas night performance there, a special patriotic and religious program will be broadcast to America.

American WACS stationed in Paris began their holiday celebration this afternoon. They gathered in their barracks at 4 p. m. to sing carols. An hour later a WAC choir was escorted by the French Gardes Republicans, sang carols at the tomb of the unknown soldier under the Arc De Triomphe.

Holiday for Children

Doughboys stationed at Chantilly ushered in the holiday for more than 1,000 children who were their guests at a party Dec. 22. Some of the soldiers dressed up as Donald Duck and the Marx Brothers to entertain the youngtsers until a GI Santa Claus distributed candy which the Yanks had been saving from their Army rations and packages sent from home.

Near Versailles the troops played host to 250 orphans and children of French war prisoners. The GI's treated their young guests to candy, toys and a movie, then topped off the party by taking each youngster for a jeep ride.

Tonight in Paris troops under the command of Brig. Gen. B. P. Rogers, the Seine Base section commander, will give a show for the city's orphans.

82 Are Led Out Of Trap Behind German Lines

WILSON

There a Week, 7th Soldiers Praise Christmas Gift; Barrage Kept Foe Down

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS AT THE GERMAN BORDER, Dec. 24 (AP).—Seventy-nine infantrymen and three officers of the United States 7th Army gave thanks today for "the greatest Christmas present we ever got" after their rescue from the Westwall town of Bundenthal, where they had been trapped for seven days.

The rescue was made possible by the heroism of two Indiana men who slipped through the German lines Friday and found the route by which the rescue troops could pick their way past Westwall pillboxes and guide the gaunt, unshaven and hungry men back to safety. This was done yesterday after a 1,000-round artillery barrage which kept the Germans' heads down during the break-out.

Four men didn't come back. Their bodies are resting in the cold basements of houses on the outskirts of Bundenthal, into which the Americans fought their way on the night of Dec. 17.

Some of the trapped troops lived most of the week on cold potatoes, sharing one loaf of bread among twenty-four men. Others situated more fortunately had rabbit stew, chicken, fresh bread baked by a civilian and cookies raided from a German grocery, and were preparing to get fresh milk from three captured cows.

During the Americans' isolation the Germans were so close that they tossed hand grenades in the windows and pounded the houses with artillery, mortars and machine guns—but they apparently were asleep in their trenches when the Americans slipped out last night at 7 o'clock.

"There wasn't a day or a night that I didn't pray. This is the biggest Christmas present I could get, to be here talking to you now," said Sergeant Robert Jefford, of Philadelphia.

The two men who made the first break back to the American lines to bring the rescue party were Private Allan Guriel, of New Goshen, Ind., and Sergeant William Alter, of Saint Paul, Ind.

Former Football Star a Hero of St. Vith; Blocked Germans Seeking Vital Road Hub

BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS, near St. Vith, Belgium, Dec. 24 (AP)—Behind the dramatic fall of this small Belgian crossroads, whose vital highway network was denied to the Germans in a week of steady battling, lies a story of the heroism of a football star turned warrior.

Big Lieut. Col. Thomas Riggs of Huntington, W. Va., proved on the battlefield that he was as able a leader in war as he was on Big Ten gridirons.

The 6-foot 2-inch, 250-pound tackle, captain of the 1940 University of Illinois football team, found it was not a problem of tearing holes in the other side's lines. It was one, instead, of keeping a heavy opponent from breaking through and destroying one's own team.

Colonel Riggs solved it by keeping the enemy off balance. As commander of a unit of combat engineers, he had the assignment of delaying the German armored march into St. Vith, from whose great road net the enemy could spread out swiftly.

Time was needed, precious hours and days, to mass American armor and infantry. Colonel Riggs organized and led a defense that halted the chafing Germans. He thus made a name for himself that will live, so far as his division is concerned, much longer than his football fame.

He stuck to his post, although the Germans shelled the area heavily with giant 240-millimeter shells, destroying a convent in St. Vith and killing many there.

Colonel Riggs knew that the main blow was coming directly from a point where two enemy columns had converged after having surrounded strong infantry formations for his own division.

"He had only ten anti-tank guns and 300 men to halt the Germans," said Lieut. Wilbur R. Wensley of Freeport, L. I. "His engineers built a strong road blockade about two miles east of St. Vith and they were there waiting when the German tanks and infantry hit. Riggs had his guns well placed and he fought the Jerries to a standstill. He wasn't satisfied with just stopping them; he kept counter-attacking them to keep them from getting set and he led practically every counter-attack himself.

While the balked Germans milled around Colonel Riggs' roadblock, American tank and infantry outfits in the vicinity grouped around St. Vith for an all-out assaut. It was not long coming.

Angry at having their timetable upset, the German commanders began to circle with their columns and eventually delivered a grand-scale attack from three directions, north, northeast and east, where Colonel Riggs still held his roadblock.

German Border Battle Dims Christmas Spirit

American Troops Too Heavily Engaged to Think of Yule

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES, Dec. 24 (AP).—There was little Christmas spirit shown on either side today on this swaying front. The Americans were too busy attacking or beating off enemy counter-attacks to give much thought to the holiday.

In kitchens toward the rear, turkeys were roasting and some mess halls had Christmas trees with red and green paper decorations. But this is grim business and the thoughts of all were back home, and there was no effort by any one to hide his feelings.

The one home touch will be the home-grown turkeys. "And the boys up front will get all the white meet they want," said Corporal Fred Cook, of Yakima, Wash., who was working with Private James Lazaris, of Lewiston, Me., in getting them ready to be carted up to the foxholes.

Broadcasts Account of His Brush With Death in Belgium

George Hicks, chief correspondent of the Blue Network in the European theatre, said in a broadcast yesterday that four men had been killed and he and other news men had narrowly escaped death when the front of a house was blown in during a German bombing and strafing attack yesterday, The Associated Press reported.

Mr. Hicks said that he had received a small cut on the left cheek and other scratches, and that debris had fallen across the back of James Cassidy, another radio correspondent. The identity of the four men killed was not given.

Correspondents and soldiers were in the house, which was on a road leading to the Stavelot-Bastogne sector, he said.

Hitler's Mind Full of Plans, Goebbels Says

New York, Dec. 24. (AP).—Nazi Propanganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels apologized profusely to the German people tonight for the failure of Adolf Hitler to address them directly on Christmas Eve and declared the Nazi dictator had planned and directed the current German offensive.

"The Fuehrer made me his spokesman to greet the 90 million Germans at home who stand behind him like a wall," Goebbels was quoted as saying in a Berlin radio broadcast heard by NBC and CBS monitors. "He brings his wishes to you on this Christmas Eve. All day—and in his sleepless nights—the Fuehrer's thoughts are always with you."

The propaganda minister said Hitler's mind "is clear and vigorous, contrary to the lies put out by propaganda of the Allies," the NBC monitored report said, adding: "He is determined to hit the enemy wherever and whenever possible, and never has the Fuehrer's mind been so full of plans, as has been shown by the new offensive."

As for Hitler's disappearnace from public view, Goebbels said, "The Fuehrer has a lot to say, but he will say it when he thinks the time is ripe," the reports said.

F. F. I. Unit Under Fire

LA TOUR DU PIN, France Dec. 24 (AP).—A French forces of the Interior patrol exchanged shots with a band of a half-dozen civilians believed to be former Vichyite militiamen who attacked them near Soleymien, in the Lyon area, yesterday in an attempt to free fifteen German prisoners. The attackers fled to the woods, where police were hunting them today.

Black Market Of France Is Giant Combine

American Army, Unfortunately, Is Chief Supply Source

By George Tucker

PARIS, Dec. 23, (Delayed), (AP)—The French black market has become a gigantic combine with headquarters in Paris and tenacles extending to every part of France and as far away as the Liverpool docks—and into the United States Army.

In its post-invasion expansion, American soldiers became important links in its operations.

The black market has developed from a patriotic movement during the German occupation when it was fashionable and, indeed, necessary to outwit the boche, to an enormous federation of dealers in stolen goods, counterfeiters, white slavers and speculators.

Chief Source of Supply

Since D-Day, its chief source of supply has been the huge quantities of American gasoline, soap, food and post exchange items intended for the Allied war machine at the front.

These supplies have been diverted largely by American soldiers who, seemingly tempted by easy and fantastically large rewards, have hi-jacked trucks and turned over millions of gallons of gasoline and other goods to French operators who sell it unlawfully at exorbitant prices. The gasoline brings $5 to $10 a gallon.

In some instances there have been running gun fights between drivers and hi-jackers reminiscent of the American gangster era of the twenties.

Literally hundreds of American soldiers have been arrested. Many of them have been convicted and now are serving prison terms of from one to 20 years or life. Hundreds of others are awaiting trial.

But for every American arrested, ten French civilians have been taken into custody. They are charged chiefly with having American equipment in their possession and selling it illegally. However, 95 per cent of this equipment has been delivered to civilian hands by Americans. The French military and civil governments are cooperating in combating the black market to the fullest extent of their ability.

Wholesale Counterfeiting

During the four years of German occupation, French counterfeiters did a wholesale business, not only in currency, but also in passports, identification cards and other papers. They provided the F. F. I. with thousands of spurious papers enabling them to work under the noses of the gestapo.

Then shortly after the invasions of Normandy and Southern France, counterfeit Allied invasion currency began to appear in quantity. This was chiefly in larger denominations and the result was withdrawal of Allied military notes for 500 and 1,000 francs.

Brig. Gen. Nicholas Cobbs of Montgomery, Ala., fiscal director for the European theater of operations, said the withdrawal was ordered to protect the troops. He said some of the counterfeiters produced excellent duplications of Allied money.

"The first I saw was a 500-franc note and it was so good I couldn't tell the difference," he said.

He said the withdrawal was purely an American idea. "The French government never repudiated the Allied military currency, neither then nor now."

17 Captured

The capture of at least 17 members of one counterfeiting ring was brought about by the quick wits of an anonymous American private who was approached by a French bartender and asked to dispose of a number of the bogus notes. The soldier, whose identity was withheld for security reasons, said he had made a practice of dropping by that bar from time to time.

When the bartender made his proposition, he said, "sure, we have a lot of truck convoys leaving the dump outside of town every night. I can get the drivers to pass the notes off along the road."

The bartender handed him a roll of 5,000-franc notes which the soldier promptly turned over to the authorities.

"The French police were called in on the case, but they sprung the trap prematurely and caught only the lesser members of the gang. The soldier was commended for his integrity," Cobbs said.

The black market demand for gasoline is said to have resulted in underground garages for the convenience of drivers who wish to dispose of heir trucks and cargoes simultaneously.

Truck and Gas Sales

The driver runs a truck into one of these garages, is handed $6,000 and walks off. If he wants to sell merely the gasoline, he gets $5,000. The average American gasoline truck holds 1,000 gallons.

One driver, after disposing of his truck and cargo, purchased a brothel. This paid such dividends that he was negotiating for the purchase of a second brothel when he was picked up by the military police.

In considering the number of Americans implicated in black market activities, it should be remembered that they represent only a fraction of 1 per cent of the United States troops in France.

One major general said, "you would get just as many offenders in an equal number of civilains and maybe more. The number seems large because they are compressed into a relatively small area, but it's really infinitesimal."

Glenn Miller Is Missing Over Europe

Maj. Miller Unreported On England-Paris Flight.

PARIS, Dec. 24—(AP)—Maj. Glenn Miller, director of the U. S. Air Force band and a former orchestra leader, is missing on a flight from England to Paris, it was announced today.

No Trace

Miller, one of the outstanding orchestra leaders of hte United States, left England Dec. 15 as a passenger aboard a plane. No trace of the plane has been found since.

His air force band had been playing in Paris. No members of the band were with him on the plane.

Miller's home is at Tenafly, N. J., where his wife lives.

Miller last led his band in a broadcast Dec. 12. His band, scheduled to broadcast over BBC tomorrow at 7 p.m ., (2 p. m., eastern war time) in the "AEF Christmas show," will be conducted by Sgt. Jerry Gray, deputy leader.

Miller, 39, was commissioned a captain in the army specialist corps Sept. 10, 1942, and was promoted to his majority about six months ago.

Native of Iowa

A native of Clarinda, Iowa, he first gained prominence in the popular music field as a trombonist with various orchestras and then as an arranger for many of the top-flight bands. He organized his own orchestra in 1933.

He married the former Helen Burger, a non-professional, in 1928. The couple have two adopted children, Steve, 2, and Johnnie Dee, a girl, four months old.

At Miller's Tenafly home, his secretary, Miss Polly Davis, said his wife, Helen, was notified yesterday by telegram from the War Department that Miller was missing in flight.

Miss Davis said several letters from the major arrived yesterday, dated Dec. 10 and 11. One letter, saying that he expected to leave England as soon as the weather permitted, was undated, but she and Mrs. Miller thought it was written about Dec. 14.

Miller wrote that he had been grounded for several days because of the extremely heavy fogs.

Pershing Hall Reopened

PARIS, Dec. 24—(AP)—Pershing hall, headquarters and club house of the American Legion in Paris, was formally reopened today as the "G.I. Joes and Janes club" for as new generation of American troops.

Consul Gen. Hugh S. Fullerton on behalf of Ambassador Jefferson Caffrey dedicated the buildings where a series of nightly entertainments will be offered by the army's special services section.

encircle the prize city and its savagely-resisting garrison.

The Russians also were only 10 miles from severing the last possible escape route out of the doomed city which has been under siege since the first week in November.

Premier-Marshal Stalin in an order of the day announced the great victory in western Hungary, and a communique later disclosed the simultaneous drive into western Slovakia as tank-tipped spearheads of the two powerful armies swept on toward Austria even while closing their pincers on Budapest.

In three days the two armies had bagged a total of 4,630 Germans and Hungarians, and also had just about completed the conquest of northeastern Hungary along the central Slovakian frontier. Axis troops in that area also were threatened with encirclement by the invasion of western Slovakia.

Within 66 Miles

Toppling Szekesfehervar and Bicske, Marshall Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine army drove to within 66 miles of the Austrian frontier, and seized a nine-mile stretch of the Budapest-Vienna trunk railway between Bicske and the Magyar capital.

Berlin said German reinforcements were hurrying to the front in an effort to stop the "Soviet avalanche."

Simultaneously Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine Army, racing westward above the Danube at a point 50 miles northwest of Budapest, captured the rail junction of Leva (Levice), only 65 miles east of Bratislava, Slovak capital, and 98 miles from Vienna.

In this area the Russians were swarming ahead in two directions, northwestward and westward toward Bratislava and Vienna, and northward into the Slovak mountains in an effort to trap scores of thousands of Germans fighting far to the east in the exposed Losonc-Kassa sectors.

At captured Leva, on the northern edge of Hungarian-annexed Slovakia, the Russians were only 20 miles southwest of Banska Bystrica, until a few months ago the headquarters of a force of 25,000 Czechoslovak patriots. These well-organized guerrillas are now expected to swarm down out of the mountains in this area and join Malinovsky's hard-fighting forces.

Big Offensive Roars

Simultaneously Berlin announced that a big Soviet winter offensive had roared through its fifth day in western Latvia where 30 German divisions are trapped, and German radio commentators also told their listeners not to be surprised if the entire eastern front soon erupts into action.

Berlin broadcasts reminded the homeland of spreading Russian reconnaissance action in German East Prussia and recalled that a year ago the Russians launched their victorious Christmas eve offensive near Kiev in the Ukraine, a blow that swept the Germans out of Russia into Poland and Romania.

Germany admitted the loss of Szekesfehervar, and the penetration of German-Hungarian defense lines southwest of Budapest. Not attempting to minimize the seriousness of Budapest's plight the Germans said that reserve forces were making "forced marches to hurry to the threatened areas in an attempt to stem the Russian avalanche."

"The bitter fighting around Budapest increased to a violence almost never before witnessed," said the Berlin military commentator, Col. Ernst Von Hammer.

Berlin said Tolbukhin was using 18 rifle divisions and three mechanized corps in a smultaneous investment of Budapest and a drive toward Vienna, and the Germans were reported pressing more and more civilians into fortification work on the approaches to the Austrian capital.

Rail Junction Falls

The great 12-way and rail junction of Szekesfehervar, former Hungarian capital and ancient coronation city for Magyar kings, fell after bitter house-to-house fighting. The town not only is a great communications prize but also has aircraft factories, powder mills and other war industries. It is astride a direct route running between the Bakony and Vertes mountain ranges to Vienna, 110 miles to the northwest.

Southwest of Szekesfehervar the Russians moved forward on a 16-mile line running from the fallen stronghold through captured Urhida and Fule to Lake Balaton. At the other end of 48-mile-long Lake Balaton Soviet units hold positions within 48 miles of the lower Aus-

Reds Cut Escape Routes For Nazis In Budapest

By W. W. Hercher

LONDON, Monday, Dec. 25 (AP)—Russian troops in a three-day 25-mile sweep around Budapest yesterday cut the enemy's main escape routes five miles due west of the Hungarian capital, virtually trapping the besieged Axis garrison, while other Soviet forces raced 17 miles inside western Slovakia to within 98 miles of Vienna, Austrian capital.

Overun 160 Locales

Overrunning 160 localities, including the major strongholds of Szekesfehervar and Bicske, 32 miles southwest and 17 miles west of Budapest, one Soviet army had only to close a 17-mile gap in the Danube loop in order to completely trian border.

North of Szekesfehervar the Russians cleared the enemy from a 22-mile railway running up to captured Bicske and cleaned out a huge area between Bicske and Budapest, including Torbagy, only five miles west of the Budapest city limits and astride the severed escape highway and railway to Vienna.

Hurl Out Nazis

Between the Torbagy-Bicske link of the trunk railway and the overrun Szekesfehervar-Budapest line the Russians hurled the Germans from Etyek, Soskut and Tarmok, villages from seven to nine miles southwest of the capital's city limits, and also seized Martonvasar, 10 miles from Budapest on the Szekesfehervar railway.

At Torbagy, on the edge of the forested hills adjoining Budapest, the Russians were only 10 miles from the last railway and highway escape route out of Budapest. These routes run northwest from the capital to the Danube and then follow the river's southern bank westward to Vienna. And at Bicske the Russians were only 17 miles south of the Danube loop. When they reach the river they will have sealed off the Axis garrison in Budapest.

Two miles west of Bicske Tolbukhin's men took Obarok, on the Vienna highway, and five miles west of that sixway junction they seized Szar on the trunk railway.

Moving into the Vertes mountains another column captured Verteskozma, nine miles southwest of Bicske, 66 miles from the Austrian frontier and 105 miles southeast of Vienna.

Despite their critical plight there was no indication that the Germans had begun abandoning Budapest.

Other Soviet [illegible] are only a few miles outside the northern, eastern and southern city limits.

Soviet Trade Organ "Concerned" Over Criticism

MOSCOW, Dec. 24—(AP)—Trud, organ of Soviet trade unions, exhibited concern today over American congressional criticism of postwar peace organization and singled out Senator Gillette (D.-Iowa) for voicing "badly concealed attacks on the Soviet Union."

"The overwhelming majority of the American people proved at the last election that they favor a policy of co-operation with the United Nations in the war against Hitlerite Germany and in the organization of the post-war peace," said Trud. "Still there are people like Senator Gillette who, after having failed at the last election, attempt to discredit the results obtained at Dumbarton Oaks."

Trud said Gillette had intentionally exaggerated the differences at Dumbarton Oaks.

'Pravda' Hits Belgian Policy

MOSCOW, Dec. 24 (AP).—The Communist newspaper "Pravda" today deplored the Belgian government's refusal to permit veterans of the resistance movement to join the fight against the German winter offensive. It asked: "Are there still people in Belgium who fear the anti-Fascist activity of the resistance front more than repetition of the German occupation?"

New Teheran Governor Appointed, Says Tass

MOSCOW, Dec. 24—(AP)—A new military governor for Teheran has been appointed a Tass news agency reported today, and said anti-Soviet editors in the Iran capital persisted in a campaign against friendship with Russia.

No reason was publicly given for the removal of Col. Khidjazi as military governor and his replacement by Gen. Shaiban.

An editorial in the newspaper Rakhbar, as quoted by Tass, disclosed that three more Tehran organs were closed "for provocatory slanders, but the same editors issue similar anti-Soviet newspapers under new names."

A movement is continuing among "broad masses" in northern Iran for the creation of a "democratic government, the criminal trial of ex-Premier Mohamed Saed, and the expulsion of his friends in Majlis, Tass reported, adding that these demands were voiced at a meeting of 15,000 persons Nov. 12 at Ardebil, Iran.

Colossal Air Armada Downs 116 In One Day

Enemy's Total Air Losses In Two Days 303—U. S. Loses 39 Heavies, Six Escorts—Two Enemy Bridges Destroyed—Sorties May Exceed Those Of D-day.

By Howard Cowan

LONDON, Monday, Dec. 25 (AP)—Seven thousand Allied war planes—the mightiest display of crushing aerial power in the history of armed conflict—were hurled Sunday at the German winter offensive in thousands of sorties that may exceed the 13,000 flown on D-day.

The German air force lost at least 116 planes trying to protect its ground forces and lifelines from the storm of explosives, running its two-day losses to 303 planes.

The total loss from the 2,000 U. S. heavy bombers and almost 1,000 fighters which paced the smashing attacks were 39 heavies and six escorts.

British Night Fighters Out

British night bombers carried the all-out offensive into Christmas eve, striking railyards at Cologne and an enemy air field at Bonn.

Fourteen air bases sheltering the hundreds of enemy fighters which have been punishing American front line troops were dealt smashing blows by U. S. heavy bombers aiming their explosives from crystal clear skies.

At least one hundred and 16 German tanks were disabled, nearly 800 motor vehicles were wrecked and two bridges were destroyed — only part of the score of the U. S. Ninth Air Force based in Belgium and France.

They destroyed 27 of the German planes shot down today, but lost 23 planes themselves.

The bomber show was monopolized by the U. S. Eighth Air Force which massed 2,000 Flying Fortresses and Liberators in a single formation making up the greatest sky fleet ever put into the air.

Their escort of almost 1,000 long-range Mustangs and Thunderbolts accounted for 70 of the German kills, and bomber crew gunners shot down 18 more.

RAF Joins Fight

The RAF Second Tactical Air Force go 10 enemy planes. RAF's bomber command sent 500 Halifaxes and Lancasters to Essen and Dusseldorf for daylight attacks on air fields.

The Air Ministry said its fighter fleets based in Holland flew more than 1,000 sorties and shortly before midnight announced that still a second bomber force had hit Cologne's railyards and the Bonn air field just after dark.

Eleven cleverly camouflaged air bases in the area of Frankfurt were hammered by Flying Fortresses and Liberators which also scattered destruction among rail and road junctions and supply dumps in the area between Euskirchen and Trier—a vital 65-mile zone in the rear of the German bulge into Belgium.

Medium bombers of the U. S. Ninth Air Force made 400 separate flights without loss, hitting communications. All Ninth Air Force planes made nearly 1,600 sorties.

Germans On Air Patrol

German fighters weer patrolling the skies. One swarm of jet-propelled ME-262S attacked British Lancasters, but they mainly were ineffective.

Observers in Britain said the day's flights apparently were greater than on D-day June 6, when more than 13,000 sorties were made.

The RAF dispatched more than 500 heavy Lancaster and Halifax bombers, with as many Spitfires and Mustangs, in an attack on two Nazi airbases in the Ruhr at Essen and Dusseldorf.

Big American Liberators blasted a dozen roads and rail junctions and supply dumps on a 65-mile front between Euskirchen and Trier, key points on the flanks of the German counteroffensive.

The sky over the channel and the continental targets was clear and sunny. All bombing was done visually.

Provisional Hungary Gov't. Is Formed

Col.-Gen. Miklos Premier Of New Cabinet.

LONDON, Dec. 24, (AP)—A provisional Hungarian government with Col. Gen. Bel Miklos, former commander of the first Hungarian Army, as premier has been formed in the liberated portions of the country, the Moscow radio announced tonight.

"The cabinet includes leading Hungarian military men who have decided on an active fight against German forces,' 'the broadcast said.

Others in the cabinet "are non-party public and leading scientific figures, former parliamentary deputies and representatives of the Hungarian democratic parties."

Takes Oath

After being ratified by the provisional Hungarian National Assembly, the new cabinet ministers took the oath of office and immediately issued an appeal to the Hungarians to fight to break away "the only remaining satellite of Hitler" from the German orbit.

Gen. Miklos was dismissed ahead of the first army after Ferenc Szalaski deposed the regent of Admiral Nicholas Horthy and set up a pro-Nazi regime.

The following were named ministers in the new cabinet:

Dr. A. Gelenczini, justice.
Eric Molnar, social insurance.
Dr. Janos Gyongyosy, foreign affairs.
Dr. Ferenc Erden, home affairs.
Col. Gen. Janos Voros, defense.
Dr. Istvan Vassary, finance.
Imre Nagy, agriculture.
Ferenc Szakos, industry.
Josef Gabor, trade.
Prof. Count Geza Teleki, education and culture.

Prof. Sedeny President

President of the provisional assembly which met at Debrecenon Dec. 21 is Prof. Bela Sedeny of the Miskolc Legal academy, who was unanimously elected by the 230-elected delegates, chosen by Hungarian citizens in liberated territory in balloting from Dec. 13 through Dec. 20, the Moscow radio said.

It remained to be seen whether the assembly would deal directly with the questions of the elimination of the regency system or let constitutional changes await a post-war national vote.

HA[illegible] PEAKS TO PEOPLE

Holds [illegible] Hope of Early Freeing of Norway From Germany

LONDON, Dec. 24 (AP)—King Haakon of Norway, in a broadcast to his people tonight, held out the hope of early victory and liberation before another Christmas.

In a message filled with disappointment, he said that he had hoped to spend this Christmas at home. For most Norwegians, particularly the homeless wanderers sent into the Arctic cold by the ruthless German evacuation of far northern Norway, he said, this Christmas would be the "darkest and most difficult of the whole occupation."

He said that all that he could offer his people this Christmas was faith and confidence in the future and the belief that "we shall cel brate next Christmas together in a free country, when it will once more be the festival of home and peace."

But Their Trip Was Necessary

London, Dec. 24 (AP).—Memo for "A" card holders:

The American Fortresses and Liberators which hit the Germans today used 4,250,000 gallons of gasoline.

Captives' Gifts Reach Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 24 (AP).—The Swedish motorship Saivo arrived at Gothenburg today from Philadelphia with a cargo of Christmas parcels for Allied prisoners of war in Germany. Red Cross representatives said they expected to transship the parcels to Germany within a few days.

Miracle of Ages Reenacted As Soldiers Kneel in Homage

Bethelehem, Dec. 24 (AP).—The miracle of the ages was reenacted in Bethlehem tonight and symbolically a babe was born again in the very grotto where nearly 2000 years ago Christ was born.

Just as then, men knelt in adoration, with their heads turned toward the spot where the manger once was.

Manger Square was packed tightly with men in uniform—some flown here from the battlefields of France and Italy only yesterday. For miles the road from Jerusalem was lined with military cars and trucks, and at first glance it was like passing a convoy moving up to battle.

Bethlehem glowed with a soft light like a golden crown on the dark hills of Judea.

Here and there were the white burnooses and red tarbooshes of Moslems and the brocaded costumes of Palestinian women.

The pilgrims waited patiently in the square fronting the Church of the Nativity until His Beatitude, the Latin Patriarch, came from Jerusalem.

His procession passed through the historic Jaffa Gate and along the Roman Road past the hill of Tantur and the remains of Herod's palace and the tomb of Rachel.

At Rachel's tomb the procession halted and the mayor of Bethlehem extended the ancient greeting to the Latin Patriarch. Then it continued to Manger Square. The inclosure was lined with hundreds of priests and acolytes in white stoles. The strains of a Latin hymn rose toward the sky and his Beatitude, wearing the purple robe, entered the Latin Church of St. Catherine which adjoins the Church of the Nativity, and the ceremony of celebrating the Christ Child's birth had begun.

It continued throughout the afternoon and early evening in successive rituals.

Climax at Midnight

The high pontificial mass began at 10 o'clock, leading gradually toward its climax at midnight.

Sacred music hung over through the candle-filled church with the altar ablaze with light.

At the midnight hour, the silver voices of the great bells of Bethlehem rang out. This was the moment all Christendom awaited.

On the altar a babe lay revealed, a shining simulacrum of the Christ-child. The miracle was reenecated.

The ancient stone walls of the church quivered with the mighty "hallelujahs" and waves of music broke against its heavy columns—"glory Be to God in the Highest."

The patriarch took the symbol of the Child in his arms and the worshippers knelt in joy and humility."

Placed Upon Silver Star

The majestic procession wound through the church wiht the flames of the candles glinting and shimmering on the robes of the prelates. The acolytes and choirboys came first, followed by high dignitaries of the church, and last the patriarch himself, carrying the representation of the Son of God.

They went down a short flight of stone steps toward the grotto where Mary had been and upon which the light of the guiding star had fallen.

Candles flickered there just as tthey might have done on that night in the past. Beneath there is a silver star and there the patriarch placed the babe.

Then in the final scene of this drama the child was lifted and placed gently where the manger once stood.

The story wasended.

Outside it turned cold and occasional spatters of rain hissed against the worn walls of Bethlehem.

Nazis Beaten Back In Italy By U.S. 5th

Enemy Counterattack Blunted South Of Bologna.

DEC 29 1944

ROME, Dec. 24. (AP)—Fighting on a cold snow-covered battlefield south of Bologna, American Fifth Army troops have beaten off a sharp German counterattack and retained newly-won gains east of Monte Belmonte, Allied Headquarters announced today.

On the Adriatic sector in Italy, Canadians rushing along the Senio River, north of Highway 9, advanced on both flanks despite stubborn German opposition.

South of the highway Polish patrols crossed the Senio and contacted the enemy in the area of Cuffiano, 3 1-2 miles south of the Rimini-Bologna highway where a German salient slowly is being chopped away.

Merlaschio Captured

The Allied communique said other Eighth Army forces had captured Merlaschio, three miles north of recently-captured Faenza, and half a mile north of Messano which fell yesterday. Monte Della west of Merlaschio was occupied by British forces who turned back a small enemy counterthrust.

Headquarters said Canadian patrols have reached Rossetto, five miles north of Bagnavacallo, and reported the Germans are strongly entrenched in that area.

The German assault against the Americans in the Monte Belmonte area was launched after the doughboys had advanced 500 yards. In brisk fighting, the Americans held their new positions in their slow drive toward Bologna, key German supply center in the Po river valley.

Fighter bombers of the 12th Air Force smashed German communications throughout the Po valley in strong support of the Allied ground forces. Fourteen German planes were reported destroyed. Earlier three night-flying RAF Beaufighters knocked down three German stuka dive-bombers in a brief aerial battle over northern Italy.

Practice Against Allied Warships Off France and Italy Fails

ROME, Dec. 24. (AP) — German attempts to use manned torpedoes against Allied warships operating off the French Riviera and Italian Riviera have been thwarted, with a French patrol vessel sinking one such projectile and another being tossed up on the beach near Villefranche, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Allied naval comamnd disclosed that warships have been bombarding enemy troops, guns and communications in the neighborhood of the French-Italian frontier in the last eleven days. The American destroyers Hughes, Niblack and Woolsey and the French cruiser Jeanne d'Arc and destroyer, L'Alcyon participated.

Soldier Plays Santa Claus In Italian Town

ON THE FIFTH ARMY FRONT IN ITALY, Dec. 22. (Delayed) (AP)—For the past week an American sergeant has been playing Santa Claus to the cold, hungry and frightened little children of the war-torn village of Loiano.

Complete with a beard and a tasseled red hat, the G.I. Santa Claus has walked the shattered streets o fthe town with a bag of sweets swung over his back.

"Papa Natale, Papa Natale," cried the children as they scrambled over the rubble of their homes to his side, because it did not take them long to find that he had a piece of candy or chewing gum for each of them. They follow him in droves and mothers bring infants in arms to see him.

When the last gift has been drained from the bag Santa Claus disapepars and becomes Staff Sgt. Vincent Post of Clarksburg, W. Va.

The Santa Claus suit is a gift of Miss Frances Jensen of Corvallis, Ore., who saw that Christmas would be dreary at the front and sent three Santa costumes to the Army Special Service. One of them came here.

Members of the American units stationed in the area chipped in with candy and chewing gum and Pvt. Benjamin Culpan of Pittsburg, Kas., helps Post pack his bag and get into his costume.

"The children believe there is a Santa Claus and so there is one for them," Post said, admitting that "it kind of gets me sometimes when those children trail behind me singing Italian Christmas carols. It's a real Christmas even up here in this ruined town."

5th Army Gets Victory Pledge

5TH ARMY FRONT, Italy, Dec. 24 (AP).—In a Christmas message to the officers and men of the 5th Army, Lieutenant General Lucian K. Truscott promised today to do "all in my power to lead you to future successes in this theater which can contribute so much to final Allied victory, with which will come happy, lasting reunions and restoration of enduring peace in the hearts and minds of all mankind."

Nazi Synthetic Oil Output Cut Heavily

MEDITERRANEAN AIRFORCE HEADQUARTERS, Rome, Dec. 24, (AP)—A total of more than 3,500 tons of bombs dropped by the 15th Airforce from Dec. 17 to 22 has restricted operations of the synthetic oil plants of Austria and Poland which produce an estimated one-third of the gasoline used by the German war machine, it was reported here today.

The Blechhammer, Germany, plant has shown no sign of activity at its north refinery since the last raid there and the south refinery was severely damaged. The plant at Oswiecum, Poland, is officially described as "probably rendered inactive."

The operations against oil producing plants cost the 15th Airforce 64 bombers and five fighters. On Dec. 17, 48 enemy craft were shot down.

Peace Organization Favored By Pope

ROME, Dec. 24 (AP) — Pope Pius XII, in his annual Christmas message today, welcomed proposals for a strong organization, "a society of peoples," to preserve peace and smother any future threat of aggression, but warned that it would fail if "a perpetual burden" were placed on the vanquished of the present war.

Must Assume Rights

While government and peoples to whom responsibility for this war is attributed can reasonably be punished, he said, they must eventually be permitted to assume the rights and duties of members of the family of nations.

He declared that everyone has an immediate duty to "do everything to ban once and for all wars of aggression as legitimate solution of international disputes and as a means toward realizing national aspirations."

"If ever a generation has had to appreciate in the depths of its conscience the call: 'War on war,' it certainly is the present generation" the Pope said.

In his sixth Christmas broadcast of the war, the Pontiff observed that the peoples of the world were seeking democracy, said the best form of government was democracy guided by Christian principles and founded on the obligations as well as the rights of individuals, declared democracy could exist in a monarchy as well as in a Republic, and denounced all systems of state absolutism.

"Thank God," he said, "one may believe that the time has passed when the call to moral and gospel principles to guide the life of states and peoples was disdainfully thrust aside as unreal."

Enemies of Christ

Earlier in an address to the College of Cardinals, the Pope spoke specifically against "the enemy of Christ and His church" who, he said, was trying to "transform himself into an angel of light," using the words liberty, independence, and democracy to "chloroform the vigilance" of the faithful.

He did not, however, identify this "enemy of Christ."

Cautioning the cardinals that turmoil may be widespread after the war, the Pope declared the conflict has brought "restless agitation" and a "frenzy for novelty" to many of the masses, but that it also has brought the world a powerful "desire for reform."

Men as well as frontiers will have changed as a result of war, he declared.

His broadcast message stressed that future peace hangs on recognition of the principle of the unity of all nations and the family of peoples.

Must Be Punished

While acknowledging that nations responsible for war must be punished, he asserted the peace settlement "should not impose any perpetual burden" on the losers if new war is to be avoided.

To deny them the hope of being accepted into the family of nations, the Pontiff said, "would be the reverse of war-seeing wisdom. It would be to assume the grave responsibility of barring the way to a general liberation from all the disastrous consequences . . . of this gigantic cataclysm."

He declared that while the unity of mankind is essential for world reform and peace guarantees, each nation "must retain an equal right to its own sovereignty within the international society.

"Only thus will the spirit of sane democracy be able to pervade the vast and thorny ground of foreign relations," the Pontiff said, asserting that wars will continue to be waged until the greater part of humanity cries out for a war against war.

Insisting that men should not be obliged to obey a government if they are not free to criticize it, he said "the masses are an easy plaything in the hands of anyone who exploits their instincts and impressions, ready to follow in turn, today this flag, tomorrow another." Such men, he added, "are the capital enemy of true democracy and of its ideal of liberty and equality."

Pure Democracy Is Bad

Asserting that very often so-called pure democracy hides the worst defects of democracy, the pontiff stated that democracy could be realized in monarchies as well as republics, provided national leaders "look upon themselves as representatives of the entire people and not as mandatories of the mob."

In speaking of the unidentified "enemy of Christ," the Pope exclaimed, "what a spectacle is that of a democratic state left to the whims of the masses" in which "equality degenerates to the mechanical level of a colorless uniformity' 'wherein survivors are the deluded victims of those "who have known how to use the power of money and organization in order to secure a privileged position above others, and to have gained power."

Declaring that if aggressors feel they will be punished by the whole world, a new world will arise out of the darkness, the papal leader called for economic and military sanctions against such aggressors within the framework of justice.

Keypoints of Influence

In his speech before the College of Cardinals the pontiff denounced those whom he claimed were trying, some by violence, to gain "keypoints of influence" in a war-born out of a "frenzy for novelty."

"At a time when errors, widely spread here by violence, there in poor disguise, strive to secure the direction of public opinion and the keypoints of influence," the Pope said, "at a time when the words liberty, independence and democracy are, for some trends of thought and ambition, only a means to chloroform the vigilance of those whose fidelity would never consciously allow itself to abandon or endanger the heritage left them by their whole Christian past; at a time when more deftly than ever the enemy of Christ and his church, in the words of the apostle of the Gentiles, tries to transform himself into an angel of light; at a time like this, the church and its supreme pastor . . . have, more than ever, a duty to proclaim the truth . . . to open the eyes of men of good will, and especially the faithful . . . to sharpen the perspicacity of their judgment so as to discern in good time the errors which wear the disguise of truth in order that peoples may not have to experience too late, and at their cost, the bitter admonition of the prophet, 'You have ploughed wickedness, you have reaped iniquity, you have eaten the fruit of (the) lying'."

Bloody Scourge

Predicting that men as well as frontiers will have changed as a result of the war, the Pope asked: "Will poor mankind, after the bloody scourge of a world war, have to suffer once again the poisonous bite of civil war?"

"In our days," he continued, "when the victims of error, innocent or guilty, have become legion; when the number of those who through suffering, misery, oppression, injustice, spiritual neglect and bad example, have wandered from the straight path, has increased menacingly, a clear challenge is heard by the church, her ministers and all her sons who are called to the apostolate of word and action."

He declared the church, "which spurns all the proud, narrow-mindedness and vainglorious self-righteousness of the pharisee with its haughty and disdainful aloofness," will stand "vigilant and protecting" when men will have changed "in their intellectual searchings, in the silent secrecy of their hearts, and in their aspirations and judgments and in their sense of values and their tendencies."

Thus, the Pontiff proclaimed the Catholic church and himself as the defenders of "truth against the insidious wiles of prevalent errors."

Restless Agitation

"The souls of a large proportion of men,' he said, "are pervaded by restless agitation such as perhaps has no parallel in any of the graver crises of history. It is agitation in which good and evil are strangely mingled to create and destroy, to set up order and to overthrow it."

"To this agitation there is associated in many minds an almost instinctive aversion to the past, a frenzy for novelty, which often is not fundamentally unsound or ignoble in its motives, but is frequently deficient in clarity and precision of purpose, as well as in discernment as to the choice of means, while with imprudent and precipitate optimism more is expected from novelty than it can give." the Pope declared.

Desire For Reform

"With the disquiet which has pervaded the souls of the masses as a result of the war and its attendant trials, there has also entered the world a desire for reform and a powerful urge towards its realization in one form or another," the Pontiff said, asking: "Will this realization follow a course of gradual, orderly evolution, or will it burst forth violently blowing up the bridges between the past and the future?"

"Will it overflow impetuously like a torrent that floods over its sides carying before it the banks of justice and morality?" he asked.

At the close of his address to the world the pontiff thanked the United States for its war relief "despite the extraordinary difficulties of transport," and extended special thanks to President Roosevelt's personal envoy to the Vatican, Myron Taylor, for his work in Italy.

The Pope also thanked Spain, Ireland, Argentina, Australia, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Italy, Lithuania, Peru, Poland, Romania, Slovakia, Hungary, Uruguay and Switzerland for their response to his appeals for relief. Germany was not among those mentioned.

Pontiff Urges 'Holy Obstinacy' To Outlaw Wars of Aggression

Declares Fight for World Peace Brooks 'No Delay, No Procrastination, No Hesitation, No Subterfuge'; Praises U. S. Aid for Victims of Conflict

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 24 (AP).—The following is the text of an official English translation of Pope Pius XII's Christmas message today entitled "The Sixth War Christmas." It begins citing the Epistle of Titus iii, 4. "The goodness and kindness of God our Saviour appeared."

For the sixth time since the opening of the dreadful war, the Christmas liturgy again hails with these words, redolent of peaceful serenity, the coming into our midst of God our Saviour.

The humble, mean cradle of Bethlehem by its wonderful charm focuses the attention of all believers. Deep into the hearts of those in darkness, affliction, and depression there sinks and pervades a great flood of light and joy.

Heads that were bowed lift the story of mankind which, deliberately blind to the brilliance of Him who is the splendor and light of the Father, deliberately straying from Christ, has descended and fallen into chaos and into the denial of its own dignity.

Even the little lamp is out in many majestic temples, in many modest chapels, where before the tabernacle it had shared the watches of the divine guest over a world asleep. What desolation! What contrast! Can there then be still hope for mankind?

'Dawn of Hope'

Blessed be the Lord! Out from the mournful groans of sorrow, from the very depths of the heart-rending anguish of oppressed individuals and countries there arises an aura of hope. Tc an ever-increasing number of noble souls there comes the thought, the will ever cleared and stronger to make of this world, this universal upheaval a starting point for a new era of far-reaching renovation, the complete reorganization of the world, thus while the armed forces continue to engage in murderous battles with weapons ever more deadly, the statesmen, responsible leaders of nations, meet for talks, for conferences to determine the fundamental rights and duties on which should be built a community of states, and to blaze the trail toward a better future, more secure and more worthy of mankind.

A strange paradox this, of a war whose bitterness bids to reach the limits of paroxysm, and of the notable progress made in aspirationsg and proposals for a solid and lasting peace; undoubtedly one may well discuss the worth, the feasibility, the efficacy of this or that proposal; judgment may well be suspended in their regard, but it remains none the less true that the process has begun.

'The Problem of Democracy'

Moreover—and this is perhaps the most important point—beneath the sinister lightning of the war that encompasses them, in the blazing heat of the furnace that imprisons them, the peoples have, as it were, awakened from a long torpor. They have assumed, in relation to the state and those who govern, a new attitude — one that questions, criticizes, distrusts.

Taught by bitter experience, they are more aggressive in opposing the concentration of dictatorial power that cannot be censured or touched, and call for a system of government more in keeping with the dignity and liberty of the citizens. These multitudes, uneasy, stirred by the war to their innermost depths, are today firmly convinced — at first perhaps in a vague and confused way but already unyieldingly — that had there been the possibility of censuring and correcting the actions of public authority the world would not have been dragged into the vortex of a disastrous war, and that to avoid for the future the repetition of such a catastrophe we must vest efficient guaranties in the people itself.

In such a psychological atmosphere is it to be wondered at if the tendency toward democracy is capturing the peoples and winning a large measure of consent and support from those who hope to play a more efficient part in the destinies of individuals and of society?

It is scarcely necessary to recall that, according to the teaching of the Church, "it is not forbidden to prefer temperate, popular forms of government, without prejudice, however, to Catholic teaching on the origin and use of authority," and that "the Church does not disapprove of any of the various forms of government, provided they be per se capable of securing the good of the citizens" (Leo XIII: Encyclical "Libertas," June 20, 1888).

If, then, on this feast day which commemorates both the benignity of the incarnate word and the dignity of man (both in its personal and social aspects), we direct our attention to the problem of democracy, examining the forms by which it should be directed if it is to be a true, healthy democracy answering the needs of the moment, our action shows clearly that the interest and solicitude of the Church looks not so much to its external structure and organization—which depend on the special aspirations of each people—as to the individual himself, who, so far from being the object and as it were a merely passive element in the social order, is in fact, and must be and continue to be its subject, its foundation and its end.

Given that democracy, taken in the broad sense, admits of various forms, and can be realized in monarchies as well as in republics, two questions come up for consideration: First, what characteristics should distinguish the men who live under democracy and a democratic regime? Second, what characterization should distinguish the men who hold the reins of government in a democracy?

I

Characteristics Proper to Citizens in a Democratic Regime'

To express his own views of the duties and sacrifices that are imposed on him, not compelled to obey without being heard, these are the rights of the citizen which find in democracy, as its name implies, their expression.

From the solidity, harmony and good results produced by this between the citizens and the government one may decide which democracy is really healthy and well balanced, and what is its life energy and power of expansion.

If then, we consider the extent and nature of the sacrifices demanded of all the citizens, especially in our day when the activity of the state is so vast and decisive, the democratic form of government appears to many as a postulate of nature imposed by reason itself.

When, however, people call for "democracy and better democracy" such a demand cannot have any other meaning than to place the citizen ever more in the position to hold his own personal opinion, to express it and to make it prevail in a fashion conducive to common good.

'People and "the Masses"'

Hence follows a first conclusion with its practical consequence. The state does not contain in itself and does not mechanically bring together in a given territory a shapeless mass of individuals.

It is and should in practice be the organic and organizing unity of a real people. The people and a shapeless multitude (or as it is called "the masses") are two distinct concepts.

The people lives and moves by its own life energy; the masses are inert of themselves and can only be moved from outside. The people lives by the fullness of life in the men that compose it, each of whom—at his proper place and in his own way—is a person conscious of his own responsibility and of his own views.

The masses on the contrary wait for the impulse from outside, an easy plaything in the hands of any one who exploits their instincts and impressions; ready to follow in turn today this flag, tomorrow another.

From the exuberant life of a true people an abundant rich life is diffused in the state and all its organs, instilling into them, with a vigor that is always renewing itself, the consciousness of their own responsibility, the true instinct for the common good.

The elementary power of the masses, deftly managed and employed, the state also can utilize. In the ambitious hands of one or of several who have been artificially brought together for selfish aims the state itself, with the support of the masses, reduced to the minimum status of a mere machine, can impose its whims on the better part of the real people. The common interest remains seriously and for a long time injured by this process, and the injury is very often hard to heal.

Hence follows clearly another conclusion: the masses—as we have just defined them—are the capital enemy of true democracy and of its ideal of liberty and equality.

In a people worthy of the name the citizen feels within him the consciousness of his personality, of his duties and rights, of his own freedom joined to respect for the freedom and dignity of others.

In a people worthy of the name all inequalities based not on whim but on the nature of things, inequalities of culture, possessions, social standing—without, of course, prejudice to a justice and mutual charity—do not constitute any obstacle to the existence and the prevalence of a true spirit of union and brotherhood.

On the contrary, so far from impairing civil equality in any way, they give it its true meaning, namely that, before the state, every one has the right to live honorably his own personal life in the place and under the conditions in which the designs and dispositions of Providence have placed him.

As against this picture of the democratic ideal of liberty and equality in a people's government by honest and far-seeing men, what a spectacle is that of a democratic state left to the whims of the masses.

Liberty from being a moral duty of the individual becomes a tyrannous claim to give free rein to a man's impulses and appetites to the detriment of others.

Equality degenerates to a mechanical level, a colorless uniformity. The sense of true honor, of personal activity or respect for tradition, of dignity—in a word all that gives life its worth—gradually fades away and disappears.

And the only survivors are, on the one hand, the victims deluded by the specious mirage of democracy, naively taken for the genuine spirit of democracy with its liberty and equality; and on the other the more or less numerous exploiters who have known how to use the power of money and of organization in order to secure a privileged position above the others, and have gained power.

II

'Characteristics of Men Holding Power in a Democratic State?

The democratic state, whether it be monarchical or republican, should like any other form of government be intrusted with the power to command with real and effective authority.

The absolute order itself of beings and purposes, which shows that man is an independent person, namely the subject of inviolable duties and rights, who is the source and end of his own social life, comprises the state also as a necessary society endowed with authority, without which it could neither exist nor live.

And if men, using their personal liberty, were to deny all dependence on a superior authority possessing coercive power, they could by this very fact cut the ground from under their own dignity and liberty, by violating, that is, the absolute order of beings and purposes.

As they are established on this same foundation, the person, the state, the government, with their respective rights, are so bound together that they stand or fall together.

And since that absolute order, in the light of right, reason, and in particular of the Christian faith, cannot have any other origin than in a personal God, our Creator, it follows that the dignity of man is the dignity of the moral community willed by God, the dignity of political authority is the dignity deriving from its sharing in the authority of God.

No form of state can avoid taking cognizance of this intimate and indissoluble connection—least of all a democracy. Accordingly if those in power do not see it, or more or less discount it, their own authority is shaken and social morality and that specious appearance of a purely formal democracy may often serve a a mark for all that is in reality least democratic.

Only a clear appreciation of the purposes assigned by God to every human society, joined to a deep sense of the exalted duties of social activity, can put those in power in a position to fulfill their own obligations in the legislative, judicial and executive order with that objectivity, impartiality, loyalty, generosity, and integrity without which a democratic government would find it hard to command the respect and the support of the better section of the people.

The deep sense of the principles underlying a political and social order that is sound and conforms to the norms of right and justice is of special importance in those who in any kind of democratic regime have, as the peoples delegates, in whole or part, the power to legislate.

And since the center of gravity of a democracy normally set up resides in this popular assembly from which political currents radiate into every field of public life—for good or ill—the question of the high moral standards, practical ability and intellectual capacity of parliamentary deputies is for every people living under a democratic regime a question of life and death, of prosperity and decadence, of soundness of perpetual unrest.

To secure effective action, to win esteem and trust, every legislative body should,—as experience shows beyond doubt—gather within it a group of select men, spiritually eminent and of strong character, who shall look upon themselves as the representatives of the entire people and not the mandatories of a mob, whose interests are often unfortunately made to prevail over the true needs of the common good—a select group of men not restricted to any profession or social standing but reflecting every phase of the people's life; men chosen for their solid Christian convictions, straight and steady judgment, with a sense of the practical and equitable, true to themselves in all circumstances; men of clear and sound principles, with sound and clear-cut proposals to make; men above all capable, in virtue of the authority that emanates from their untarnished consciences and radiates widely from them, to be leaders and heads especially in times when the pressing needs of the moment excite the people's impressionability unduly, and render it more liable to be led astray and get lost: men who in periods of transition, generally stormy and disturbed by passion, by divergent opinions and opposing programs, feel themselves doubly under the obligation to send circulating through the veins of the people and of the state, burning with a thousand fevers, the spiritual antidote of clear views, kindly interest, a justice equally sympathetic to all, and a bias towards national unity and concord in a sincere spirit of brotherhood.

Peoples whose spiritual and moral temperament is sufficiently sound and fecund find it themselves and can produce the heralds and implements of democracy who live in such dispositions and know how effectively to put them into practice.

But where such men are lacking, others come to take their places in order to make politics serve their ambition and be a quick road to profit for themselves, their caste and their class, while the race after private interests makes them lose sight of completely and jeopardize the true common good.

'State Absolutism'

A sound democracy, based on the immutable principles of the natural law and revealed truth, will resolutely turn its back on such corruption as gives to the state legislature an unchecked and unlimited power, and moreover, makes of the democratic regime, notwithstanding an outward show to the contrary, purely and simply a form of absolutism.

State absolutism (not to be confused, as such, with absolute monarchy, of which we are not treating here) consists in fact in the false principle that the authority of the state is unlimited and that in face of it—even when it gives free rein to its despotic aims going beyond the confines between good and evil—to appeal to a higher law obliging in conscience is not admitted.

A man penetrated with right ideas about the state and authority and the power that he wields as guardian of social order will never think of derogating the majesty of the positive law within the ambit of its natural competence. But this majesty of positive law is only inviolable when it conforms—or at least is not opposed—to the absolute order set up by the Creator and placed in a new light by the revelation of the Gospel.

It cannot subsist except insofar as it respects the foundations on which human personality rests no less than the state and the government. This is the fundamental criterion of every healthy form of government, including democracy. It is the criterion by which the moral value of every particular law should be judged.

III

'Nature and Conditions of an Effective Peace Settlement. Unity of Mankind and Society of Peoples'

We were anxious, beloved sons and daughters, to take the occasion of Christmastide to point out along what lines a democracy befitting human dignity can, in harmony with the law of nature and the designs of God as manifested in revelation, secure happy results. Indeed we are deeply convinced of the supreme importance of this problem for the peaceful progress of mankind.

But we also realize the exalted claims that this form of government makes on the moral maturity of the individual citizen; a moral maturity to which he could never hope to attain fully and securely if the light from the cave of Bethlehem did not illumine the dark path along which the peoples are going forward through the stormy present towards a future which they hope will be more serene.

But how far will the representatives and pioneers of democracy be inspired in their deliberations by the conviction that the absolute order of beings and purposes, of which we have repeatedly spoken, comprises also, as a moral necessity and the crowning of social development, the unity of mankind and of the family of peoples?

On the recognition of this principle hangs the future of the peace.

No world reform, no peace guaranty can abstract upon it without being weakened and without being untrue to itself.

If, on the other hand, this same moral necessity were to find its realization in a society of peoples which succeeded in eliminating the structural defects and shortcomings of former systems, then the majesty of that order would regulate and inspire equally the deliberations of that society and the use of its instruments of sanction.

For this reason, too, one understands why the authority of such a society must be real and effective over the member states, in suchwise, however, that each of them retain an equal right to its own sovereignty.

Only thus will the spirit of sane democracy be able to pervade the vast and thorny ground of foreign relations.

'Against Wars of Aggression as Solution of International Disputes'

There is a duty, besides, imposed on all, a duty which brooks no delay, no procrastination, no hesitation, no subterfuge: it is the duty to do everything to ban once and for all wars of aggression as legitimate solution of international disputes and as a means toward realizing national aspirations.

Many attempts in this direction have been seen in the past. They all failed. And they will all fail always, until the saner section of mankind has the firm determination, the holy obstinacy like an obligation in conscience, to fulfill the mission which past ages have not undertaken with sufficient gravity and resolution.

If ever a generation has had to appreciate in the depths of its conscience the call: "War on war," it is certainly the present generation.

Having passed, as it has, through an ocean of blood and tears in a form perhaps never experienced in past ages, it has lived through the indescribable atrocities with an intensity such that the recollection of so many horrors must remain stamped in its memory, and even in the deepest recesses of its soul, like a picture of a hell against which any one who cherishes a sense of humanity desires more than anything else to close the door forever.

Formation of a Common Means to Maintain Peace

The decisions already published by international commissions permit one to conclude that an essential point in any future international arrangement would be the formation of an organ for the maintenance of peace, of an organ invested by common consent with supreme power to whose office it would also pertain to smother in its germinal state any threat of isolated or collective aggression.

No one could hail this development with greater joy than he who has long upheld the principle that the idea of war as an apt and proportionate means of solving international conflicts is now out of date.

No one could wish success to this common effort, to be undertaken with a seriousness of purpose never before known, with greater enthusiasm than he who has conscientiously striven to make the Christian and religious mentality reject modern war with its monstrous means of conducting hostilities.

Monstrous Means of Conducting Hostilities!

Unquestionably the progress of man's inventions, which should have heralded the realization of greater well being for all mankind, has instead been employed to destroy all that had been built up through the ages.

But by that very fact the immorality of the war of aggression has been made ever more evident. And if now, to the recognition of this immorality there is to be added the threat of a judicial intervention by the nations and of chastisement inflicted on the aggressor by the society of states, so that war will always be subject to the stigma of proscription, always under surveillance and liable to preventive measures, then mankind, as it emerges from the dark night in which it has been so long submerged, will be able to hail the dawn of a new and better era of its history.

'Its Constitution Excluding Unjust Imposition'

But only on one condition: namely, that the peace settlement which should be strengthened and made more stable by mutual guaranties and, where necessary, economic sanctions and even armed intervention, should not give definite countenance to any injustice, does not imply any derogation of any right to the detriment of any nation (whether it be on the side of the victors, the vanquished, or the neutrals) and does not impose any perpetual burden, which can only be allowed for a time as reparation for war damage.

That any peoples, to whose government—or perhaps even partially to themselves—the responsibility for the war is attributed, should have for a time to undergo the rigors of security measures until the bonds of mutual trust, violently broken, should be gradually welded together again, is quite understandable from a human point of view, and in practice will in all probability be inevitable.

Nevertheless even these peoples must have a well founded hope—commensurate to their effective collaboration in the work of reconstruction—of being able, together with the other states with equal consideration and with the same rights, to be associated with the great community of nations.

To deny them that hope would be the reverse of far-seeing wisdom, it would be to assume the grave responsibility of barring the way to a general liberation from all the disastrous consequences, material, moral and political, of the gigantic cataclysm which has shaken the poor human family to its very foundations, but which, at the same time, has shown it the road to new goals.

'The Stern Lessons of Suffering'

We will not renounce our confidence that the peoples, who have all passed through the school of suffering, will be able to retain the stern lessons learned.

And in this hope we are strengthened by the words of men who have had a greater share in the sufferings of the war and who have found generous words to express, together with the insistence on their own need of security against any future aggression, their respect for the vital rights of other peoples and their aversion to any usurping of those rights.

It would be vain to expect that this sage judgment, dictated by the experience of history and a high political sense should be—while men's spirits are still burning white-hot—generally accepted by puplic opinion, or even by the majority.

Hatred and the impossibility of mutual understanding have given rise in peoples that have fought against each other, to a mist too dense to hope that the hour has already come when a ray of light may shine out to clear the tragic panorama on either side of its dark wall.

But one thing we know: that the moment will come, perhaps sooner than the people think, when both sides realize that, all things considered, there is only one way of getting out of the meshes in which war and hate have wrapped the world, namely a return to the solidarity, too long forgotten, a solidarity not restricted to these or those peoples, but universal, founded on the intimate connection of their destiny and rights which belong equally to both.

'The Punishment of Crimes'

No one certainly thinks of disarming justice in its relations to those who have exploited the war situation in order to commit real and proved crimes against the common law, and for whom supposed military necessity could at most have offered a pretext, but never a justification.

But if justice presumed to judge and punish not merely individuals but even whole communities together, who could not see in such a procedure a violation of the norms which guide every human trial?

IV

'The Church as Guardian of Man's True Dignity and Liberty'

At a time when the peoples find themselves with duties such as perhaps they have never met before in the course of their history, they feel deeply in their tortured hearts the desire, impatient and almost instinctive, to take the reins of their destiny in their own hands with more independence than heretofore, hoping that thus they will find it easier to defend themselves from the periodic invasions of violence which, like a boiling lava torrent, spares nothing of all that they hold sacred and dear.

Thank God, one may believe the time has passed when the call to moral and Gospel principles to guide the life of states and peoples was disdainfully thrust aside as unreal.

The events of these war years have given ample evidence to confute, in a harder way than one could ever have imagined, those who spread such doctrines.

The disdain that they affected toward this supposed unreality has been changed into stark reality: brutality, iniquity, destruction, annihilation.

If the future is to belong to democracy, an essential part in its achievement will have to belong to the religion of Christ and to the Church, the messenger of our Redeemer's word which is to continue His mission of saving men. For she teaches and defends supermatural truths and communicates the supernatural helps of Grace in order to actuate the divinely established order of beings and ends which is the ultimate foundation and directive norm of every democracy.

By her very existence the Church rises before the world as a shining beacon to remind it constantly of that divine order. Her history reflects clearly her providential mission. The struggles, which coerced by the abuse of power, she has had to sustain in defense of the liberty given her by God, were at the same time struggles for man's true liberty.

The Church has the mission to announce to the world, which is looking for better and more perfect forms of democracy, the highest and most needed message that there can be: The dignity of man, the call to be sons of God. It is the powerful cry, which from the manger of Bethlehem to the furthest confines of the earth resounds in the ears of men at a time when that dignity is tragically low.

The holy story of Christmas proclaims this inviolable dignity of man with a vigor and authority that cannot be gainsaid—an authority and vigor that infinitely transcends that which all possible declarations of the rights of man could achieve.

Christmas, the great feast of the son of God who appeared in human flesh, the feast in which heaven stoops down to earth with ineffable grace and benevolence, is also the day on which Christianity and mankind, before the crib, contemplating the "goodness and kindness of God our Saviour" become more deeply conscious of the intimate unity that God has established between them.

The birth of the Saviour of the world, of the restorer of human dignity in all its fullness, is the moment characterized by the alliance of all men of good will. There to the poor world, torn by discord, divided by selfishness, poisoned by hate, love will be restored, and it will be allowed to march forward in cordial harmony, towards the common goal, to find at last the cure for its wounds in the peace of Christ.

V

'Crusade for Charity'

We do not want to close this Christmas message without addressing a word of heartfelt gratitude to all those—states, governments, bishops and peoples—who at this time of untold misfortunes have lent us valiant aid as we hearken to the cry of suffering which reaches us from so many parts of the world and give a helping hand to so many of our beloved sons and daughters whom the misfortunes of war have reduced to extreme poverty and misery.

And in the first place it is but just to record the immense work of assistance achieved in spite of the extraordinary difficulties of transport, by the United States of America, with regard to Italy in particular, by his excellency the personal representative of the President of the Union.

It is a pleasure for us to express equal praise and gratitude for the generosity of the head of the state, the government and people of Spain, and the governments of Ireland, Argentina, Australia, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Italy, Lithuania, Peru, Poland, Romania, Slovakia, Hungary, and Uruguay who have vied with one another in noble rivalry of brotherly love and charity, of which the echo will not resound in vain through the world.

While men of goodwill are endeavoring to bridge the gulf and bring the peoples together, this purely disinterested act of charity assumes an aspect and a value of unique importance.

When—as we all wish—the dissonance of hate and discord that dominates the present moment will be but a tragic memory, the good effects of this victory of active and magnanimous charity over the poison of selfishness and enmity will ripen into even a larger harvest of good.

May all who have had a share in this crusade of charity receive as an incentive and a token of gratitude our apostolic benediction and the thought that on the feast of love from numberless hearts in anguish, but not forgetful in their anguish, there rises to heaven the grateful prayer for them: Deign to reward, O Lord, all those who do good to us for your name's sake with eternal life!

Elas In Challenge To British Authority

Demands Establishment Of Greek Government "Of Common Confidence" To Administer Greek Affairs.

By Stephen Barber

ATHENS, Dec. 24 (AP) — Left-wing Elas forces today challenged the right of the British to "restore law and order" in Greece and demanded the establishment of a Greek government "of common confidence" as a prerequisite to laying down their arms.

Conditional Truce

The Elas reply to a British memorandum of Dec. 16 agreed to the cessation of hostilities and the disarmament of Elas supporters in the Athens area but only on condition that followers of other volunteer organizations be disarmed.

British commander Lt. Gen. Ronald Scobie and Harold McMillan, British resident general in the Middle East, were reported drafting a reply to the Elas demands. The British answer will have to receive the approval of Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander in chief in the Mediterranean.

However, with minor exceptions, Dec. 14 and the latest exchange the Elas reply generally stood pat on their first peace offers made does not appear to bring the civil war closer to a truce, let alone a cessation of hostilities.

In northwestern Greece bitter fighting continued between Elas forces and right-wing troops of Gen. Napoleon Zervas with the Rightists reported suffering heavy losses.

Fighting Continues

Although the British reported Elas forces had been cleared from half of Athens, fighting continued between the two factions in the port of Piraeus where a fresh detachment of Indian troops was landed yesterday under the guns of British warships. Elas forces were strongly entrenched in warehouses and dock facilities of the port and the British were battering at them with tank guns and mortar fire.

After four days of fighting Gen. Zervas' EDES in northern Greece were reported cut from 12,000 to between 4,000 and 6,000. The high proportion of losses for the EDES was believed due to desertions, although the Rightist chieftain in appealing to the British for help said he was suffering heavy casualties. So far the EDES have received no aid from the British.

Forced to Retreat

The forces of Gen. Zervas have been forced to retreat from their stronghold at Ioannina and are attempting to hold a north-south line astride the Ioannina-Arta road from Anovion to Derviziana.

(The London radio in a broadcast heard by CBS said Gen. Zervas may be forced to withdraw to the island of Korfu which is held by his forces and British troops.)

The Elas specified that Greek regular troops in Athens must be withdrawn to an "acceptable area" either in the Cyclades Islands or Syros as one condition for a cession of hostilities. Gen. Scobie has undertaken to confine the Greek regulars to barracks outside of Athens where they were stationed before the fighting started.

Other demands of the Elas included a purge of "all elements which collaborated with the enemy" from the government; the formation of a new regular Greek army, the immediate calling of a general election to permit the "people to decide on the government of their choice."

"All this," the Elas statement said, "must be the task of the Greek government."

Japs Rip Up Rail Lines In Retreat

MYITKYINA, North Burma, Dec. 23. (Delayed)—(AP)—Japanese forces retreating toward the south before British 14th Army troops have ripped up two miles of rails on the main Burma railway line at a point roughly 75 miles northwest of Mandalay.

An American 10th Air Force reconnaissance pilot who scouted enemy territory south of the rapidly advancing British and Indian columns reported that Japanese units had removed the tracks 20 miles north of Shwebo. Many railway bridges in the same area also were destroyed by the enemy, the pilot said.

A southeast Asia Command Headquarters communique from Kandy, Ceylon, announced that the British advance in the Kalewa bridge areas along the Chindwin river valley was continuing along the axis of the Yeu Road against slight Japanese resistance.

British 36th Division troops operating in this jungle zone occupied the town of Tigyaing, 42 miles down the Irrawaddy river from Katha and some 125 miles from Mandalay, Saturday's communique reported.

On the 15th Indian Corps front in the Arakan hills British troops have occupied Donbaik on the West Burma coast eight miles northwest of Foul Point, and enemy units have abandoned a village eight miles south-southeast of Buthedaung, Sunday's communique said said.

Heavy bombers of the Eastern Air Command were out in strength carying out their second attack in three days on military dumps at Taungup, important Japanese supply base 125 miles southeast of Akyab. A second heavy bomber formation blasted railroad yards at Moulmein across the Gulf of Martaban from Rangoon.

Strong forces of Allied aircraft raided camps, stores, roads, bridges and gun positions in the Arakan yesterday and set fire to more than 150 riverboats along the Irrawaddy

Hochih Garrison Repulsed

CHUNGKING, Dec. 24 (AP).—After receiving reinforcements, the Japanese garrison in the Kwangsi Province town of Hochih, on the railroad ninety-five miles west of Liuchow, launched a counter-attack against Chinese positions but was repulsed.

Grace Park Airfield On Luzon Bombed

DAVIS

Yanks Move Ahead Rapidly On Palompon.

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, PHILIPPINES, Monday, Dec. 25 (AP) —Liberator bombers smashed at Manila's Grace Park airfield on Luzon, while the American 77th Division moved rapidly in on Palompon, last Japanese strongpoint on Leyte island, a headquarters communique reported today.

And in strange contrast to the bloody battle, transport planes on a peaceful mission dropped Christmas greetings on liberated Filipinos, who waved in holiday spirit to the American airmen.

Explosive Holiday

American airmen gave an explosive holiday greeting to the enemy on northern Halmahera, in the Moluccas, where 280 tons of bombs were dropped on airdromes, supply and communications facilities and defense positions.

Fuel dumps, gun emplacements, warehouses and motor vehicles were destroyed, and the resulting fires sent clouds of smoke 3,000 feet upward, returning airmen reported. One American plane was lost in the operation.

It was the second successive daylight strike by heavy bombers on Manila, and the enemy offered no interception. Sunday's communique reported that the bombers had hit Clark Field, big Manila airdrome, leaving it in partial ruins. On Saturday night Navy Hellcat fighters blasted Bulan airdrome below Manila in a daring single attack.

Leyte's ground fighting appeared fast reaching a conclusion, as Japanese resistance steadily weakened in the face of aggressive attacks by the 77th Division.

More than 13,000 enemy dead have been counted on Leyte in the last eight days, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said. Much material has been captured, including hundreds of trucks, quantities of tanks and heavy artillery weapons.

Although the war's tempo didn't slow for Christmas eve, Filipino youngsters gathered in front of Gen. MacArthur's headquarters and sang carols. MacArthur in a statement wished the Filipinos "all the blessings of Christmas and realization of their fervent hopes for the new year."

American air units sank or damaged 13 more cargo vessels off Mindanao Saturday, the communique said.

In their strike at the Manila drome, the Liberators destroyed an estimated 25 enemy planes. Fighters strafed two Luzon fields without opposition.

100 Planes Damaged

In the earlier blow at Clark Field, Gen. MacArthur said that most of 100 grounded aircraft were wrecked or damaged. Huge fires were kindled among the installations.

The Japanese made another stab at American ground positions on Mindoro, but MacArthur described it as ineffective. Seven of the attackers were shot down.

In the Visayas escorted medium bombers struck at Fabrica airdrome, destroying a fuel dump and three parked planes and damaging others. Carlina airfield and Puerto Princesa on Palawan were harassed by patrol planes.

Heavy and medium bombers blasted airdrome installations on Mindanao, and attacked shipping in Zamboanga Bay and Davao. Cagayan airfield was bombed by Yank fighters.

Oil Fields Attacked

Oil feilds near Balikpapan on Borneo were attacked by patrol planes and the airdrome at Sandakan strafed.

In the lesser Sundas, air patrols bombed airdromes and enemy occupied villages on Timor, and strafed a freighter in the Banda Sea.

American operations extended to New Guinea, where heavy, medium and attack planes dropped more than 30 tons on anti-aircraft defenses, supply areas and small craft in the Wewak region. Results were described as good.

Thirty-five tons of explosives were dropped on enemy personal areas airdromes and waterfront installations in the Rabaul area in the Solomons. A Keravat runway was cratered, fires started and buildings destroyed, the communique noted.

On New Ireland, fuel dumps and bivouac areas were bombed, and anti-aricraft and communications facilities in northern Bougainville were attacked.

U.S. Air Raid Leaves Clark Field In Ruins

Wrath Of Air Arm Is Turned Loose On Luzon.

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Monday, Dec. 25, —(AP)—Clark Field, the big airdrome near Manila, lay in partial ruins today, giving potent notice to the Japanese that the U. S. Army Air Force has turned its wrath on Luzon, the main island of the Philippines.

Liberator bombers hit the field, principal Nipponese air center in the Philippines, Friday in the first daylight raid there by American heavies. The blow, reported by Gen. Douglas MacArthur yesterday, left most of 100 aircraft on the field wrecked or damaged and kindled huge fires among installations.

Only Nine Jap Planes

The attack, made from Leyte Island surprised the Japanese who sent up only nine planes to intercept the raiders. Eight of Nipponese planes were shot down by the Liberators' fighter cover.

(The Liberators' fighter-plane protectors may have joined the aerial expedition from a field on recently-invaded Mindoro Island northwest of Leyte. This field is only 150 miles or less south of Manila, about half an hour's flight from the Philippine capital city.)

It was Clark Field that felt the first devastating blow s of the Japanese air force when the Philippines, like Pearl Harbor, were attacked without warning Dec. 8, (Manila Time), 1941.

Once Enemy Bombs

The enemy bombs knocked out American war planes which would have been welcome support to Yank and Filipino troops on Bataan and Corregidor.

The Friday attack teamed the army's mighty air arm with the navy's in the aerial campaign against Japanese airfields on Luzon. Vice Adm. John S. McCain's carrier task force fliers, using new day-and-night smother tactics, hit the Luzon installations through Dec. 13-15 in support of MacArthur's invasion of Mindoro Dec. 15.

In the three days the navy fliers shot down 61 enemy planes, destroyed 208 on the ground and damaged 192—a total of 461.

Admiral Nimitz' Message

GUAM, Dec. 24. (AP)—Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, today sent the following mesage to navy men at this forward base:

"First of all I wish to send you Christmas greetings. I have the utmost admiration for the exertions and successes of our forces ashore and afloat everywhere in the Pacific. They have met every expectation. I have only admiration for their courage and resourcefulness."

The message was printed in base and ship papers and broadcast by radio.

Nimitz Warns Of 'Bitter' War Ahead in East

Says U. S. Must Get Fields Near Japan to Combat Foe's Land-Based Planes

GUAM, Dec. 24 (AP).—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific Ocean areas, said today that "until we have bases close to the Japanese homeland, the tough part of the war will still be ahead of us."

The new five-star admiral, making a surprise Christmas visit t his forces in this forward area talked to correspondents in th quarters of Major General Henr L. Larsen, of Denver, Colo.

With him were Rear Admiral Forrest Sherman, deputy chief of staff, and Vice-Admiral John Hoover, forward area commander.

Speaking quietly and confidently, Admiral Nimitz added:

"I don't wish to give the impression the Japanese Navy has been completely defeated. It has not, but it has not been able to stop our advance.

"We hope and expect that our advance will continue.

"As the war progresses, the supply problem grows and the need for shipping increases.

"This all combines to make it a very major effort—to defeat the Japs."

Admiral Nimitz declined to make a prediction regarding the immediate future.

Japan's means of defending itself, he said, have not been reduced. "We may expect," he continued, "the bitterest kind of opposition from the air as we advance to the homeland and come within range of shore-based aircraft.

"They still have the capacity to deal damage with surface units but we hope to be on hand always with superior naval forces to meet that kind of a threat."

The Japanese navy hasn't attempted counterattacks since its defeat in the Second Battle of the Philippine Sea, Nimitz said, because it has been kept too busy by American forces in areas west of here.

Says Japs Whittled Down

"Vice Admiral Charles Lockwood with his submarines," the admiral added, "has effected attrition of their shipping. Admirals Halsey and Spruance in turn, with the main surface forces of carriers and land-based planes, have taken a tremendous toll of naval air strength and some of the army air strength they encountered in Ryukyu, Shoto, Formosa and the Philippines.

"They have whittled them down so that any (Japanese) expeditionary force toward the Marianas could only be carried out by utilizing nearly all of their resources."

Discussing the European war, Nimitz said the longer it lasts the longer it will be before the forces there can be released to fight in the Pacific.

GUAM, Dec. 24 (AP)—Vice Admiral John Hoover of Great Falls, Mont., and Washington, was presented with a Gold Star in lieu of a second Distinguished Service Medal by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, here today.

The citation said the award was in recognition of Admiral Hoover's service from Nov. 13, 1943, to Aug. 27, 1944, as commander, Aircraft, Central Pacific Force, during operations to capture the Gilbert and Marshall Islands and as commander, forward area, Central Pacific, during operations to capture the Marianas.

Japs Propose Aid for Korea And Formosa

By the Associated Press

Japan's government, possibly disturbed by unrest in Korea and Formosa, now plans to "improve the political treatment" of those subject areas.

Domei agency, in dispatches reported by the Federal Communications Commission, said Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso and his cabinet, "recognizing the necessity for an investigation of a new policy," had created a government committee to devise "reform" measures.

The aim, it was announced, would be to "elevate their status" in order to make the Koreans and Formosans "conscious of the fact that they, too, are citizens" of the Japanese empire.

Koiso himself will head the committee, assisted by Home Minister Shigeo Odachi and Minister of tate Without Portfolio Count Hideo Kadama. Members will be chosen from various ministries, both houses of the Imperial Diet and "scholars and other prominent men."

Domei said the cabinet Friday adopted measures intended to improve the lot of two million Koreans and 28,000 Formosans living in the Japanese home islands.

These measures included removal of travel restrictions between Japan and Korea, improvement of working and welfare conditions and opportunities for higher education.

Iwo Jima Hit By Superforts' Latest Strike

"Heavy Explosions" Set Off—All Return Safely.

DEC 26 1944

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24, (AP)—A force of perhaps a half-hundred Superfortresses set off 'heavy explosions in military installations" in the latest strike at Iwo Jima, enemy island midway between Japan and Saipan, the 20th airforce announced today.

All Return

All of the B-29s returned to their base in the Marianas after encountering only light and inaccurate anti-aircraft fire and no fighter plane opposition, a communique said. This latter reference suggested that more than two weeks of air attacks on the island is reducing its defenses to the point where no serious opposition can be turned on Army and Navy planes visiting Iwo Jima.

This latest attack carried well into the third week a continuing bombardment of the vitally strategic position by Army and Navy bombers and surface ships.

Army B24 Liberators and Navy planes have pounded steadily on the enemy island since early in the month.

The apparent objective is to neutralize the Japanese base in the Volcano Islands from which bombing attacks on B-29 fields have been launched.

Initial Announcement

The initial announcement of the latest attack said:

"B-29s of Brig Gen. H. S. Hansell's 21st bomber command based on Saipan in the Marianas on December 24 (Japanese time) bombed military installations on the Japanese-held island of Iwo Jima, 750 miles to the northwest of Saipan, Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the 20th Air Force, announced at the War Department.

"Future details will be announced when the information becomes available.

"This is the second attack by B-29s, the first having occurred on December 8."

Pacific Fleet Headquarters reported yesterday that Army Liberators hit Iwo Jima on December 20 and 21 (west longitude—U. S. date) for the 14th and 15th consecutive days of raids.

The December strike against the island was of concentrated character, with B-29s, Liberators, Navy planes and surface ships throwing explosives onto the island at various times during the day.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific Fleet commander, also has reported that 11th Airforce Liberators based in the Aleutians had bombed Onekotan Island in the Kuriles on Dec. 21.

The Japanese radio also had reported a single Superfortress had bombed Tokyo, with reconnaissance flights by two others over Osaka and Kobe.

The broadcast also mentioned a single Superfortress flying over Hongkong and an American Mustang raid on Canton.

Saipan's B-29s May Bring Out Japanese Fleet

By the United Press

The Japanese fleet may be forced from hiding again—this time to deal with the mounting threat of Saipan-based Superfortress raids on Hirohito's war industries, naval experts said tonight.

The Japanese have made comparatively feeble attempts to knock out the B-29 bases on Saipan. The raids have been ineffective because long-range, land-based bombers were used and the Japs apparently are not equipped to send them over in force.

The experts see three possible countermoves available to the enemy, any or all of them involving the imperial fleet:

1. To neutralize the Saipan bases by carrier aircraft attacks.

2. Bombard the bases from surface warships.

3. Attempt a landing to retake Saipan.

Any of these steps would prove extremely hazardous but the situation is growing so desperate the Japanese may have to take a big gamble.

FDR In Prayer For Victory, Lasting Peace

Says Evil Works Of Enemy Doomed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt prayed that victory will bring lasting peace for the world as thousands grouped today around the national community Christmas tree on the White House lawn.

The President's Christmas message was broadcast to the armed forces over the world in connection with the annual ceremony of lighting the tree.

"Cannot Say When"

"We cannot say when our victory will come," he said. "Our enemies still fight fanatically. They still have reserves of men and military power. But, they themselves know that they and their evil works are doomed. We may hasten the day of that doom if we here at home continue to do our full share.

"We pray that that day may come soon. We pray that until then, God will protect our gallant men and women in the uniforms of the Unted Nations—that He will receive into His infinite grace those who make their supreme sacrifice in the cause of righteousness and love of Him and His teachings.

"We pray tht with victory will come a new day of peace on earth in which all the nations of the earth will join for all time."

A crowd estimated by White House attendants at 2,500 gathered around the 30-foot Norwegian spruce tree on the south lawn and other thousands lined the iron fence outside the grounds.

An hour of music by the United States Marine Band and Christmas carols by a mixed Navy chorus preceded the President's address.

The text of his address as released by the White House:

"Not Easy to Say"

"It is not easy to say 'Merry Christmas' to you, my fellow Americans, in this time of destructive war. Nor can one lightly say 'Merry Christmas' tonight to our armed forces at their battle stations all over the world—or to our Allies who fight by their side.

"Here, at home, we will celebrate this Christmas Day in our traditional American way—because we want our youngest generation to grow up knowing the significanse of this tradition and the story of the coming of the immortal Prince of Peace and Good-will. But, in perhaps every home in the United States, sad and anxious thoughts will be continually with the mililons of our loved ones who are suffering hardships and misery, and who are risking their very lives to preserve for us and for all mankind, the fruits of his teachings and the foundations of civilization itself.

Christmas Spirit Lives

"The Christmas spirit lives tonight in the bitter cold of the front lines in Europe and in the heat of the jungles and swamps of Burma and the Pacific islands. Even the roar of our bombers and fighters in the air and the guns of our ships at sea will not drown out the messages of Christmas which come to the hearts of our fighting men. The thoughts of these men tonight will turn to us here at home around our Christmas trees, surrounded by our children and grandchildren and their Christmas stockings and gifts—just as our own thoughts go out to them, tonight and every night, in their distant places.

"We all know how anxious they are to be home with us, and they know how anxious we are to have them—and how determined every one of us is to make their day of home-coming as early as possible. And—above all—they know the determination of all right thinking people and nations, that Christmases such as those that we have known in these years of world tragedy shall not come again to beset the souls of the children of God.

"Deep Darkness"

"This generation has passed through many recent years of deep darkness, watching the spread of the poison of Hitlerism and Fascism in Europe—the growth of imperialism and militarism in Japan—the final clash of war all over the world. Then came the dark days of the fall of France, and the ruthless bombing of England, and the desperate battle of the Atlantic, and of Pearl Harbor and Corregidor and Singapore.

"Since then the prayers of good men and women and children the world over have been answered. The tide of battle has turned, slowly but inexorably, against those who sought to destroy civilization.

"On this Christmas day, we cannot yet say when our victory will come. Our enemies still fight fanatically. They still have reserves of men and military power. But, they themselves know that they and their evil works are doomed. We may hasten the day of that doom if we here at home continue to do our full share.

"We pray that that day may come soon. We pray that until then, God will protect our gallant men and women in the uniforms of the United Nations—that he will receive into His infinite grace those who make their supreme sacrifice in the cause of righteousness and love of Him and His teachings.

"We pray that with victory will come a new day of peace on earth in which all the nations of the earth will join together for all time. That is the spirit of Christmas, the holy day. May that spirit live and grow throughout the world in all the years to come.

Belt-tightening On Home Front Seen Indicated

Review Of World Supply Situation Is Made.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24—(AP)—Further home front belt-tightening, and even possible revisions of military schemes, are the indicated results of an American-British review of the world supply situation.

British Minister of State Richard K. Law has been in Washington a week talking with War Secretary Stimson, Secretary of State Stettinius, President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins.

The need for relief supplies in liberated Europe is so great, Law told them, that the whole picture of shipping and basic civilian supplies throughout the world must be reshaped.

Shipping Bottleneck

The main bottleneck is shipping, which has been diverted to an increasing extent to the Pacific. The present Philippines campaign will require even more. One official said the shortage is such that Allied military forces could not enter any new theater until shipping loosens up.

Some ships undoubtedly will be taken back from the South Atlantic and South American trade to which they were released after the submarine menace was licked and the early-war shipping scarcity had eased.

This might mean cutting down on U. S. imports, not directly needed for the war effort, such as soffee and sugar. Other non-essential goods, such as liquors, wines and cheeses which have been coming to this country in considerable quantity from Latin America, may be scaled down.

Food, Fuel Essential

While up to now, the army has considered relief supplies secondary to fighting material, many officials are urging that food and fuel are equally essential to keep order in areas behind the front.

Difficulties in reorganizing transportation in the liberated countries and obtaining equipment to get their own industries going have changed estimates of what is needed.

In many cases, the Germans have done a more complete job of destruction and looting than was anticipated.

So many details of entire Allied supply and shipping allocations have to be investigated that conversations probably will continue for some time.

Outcome of the present battle on the western front — which may prolong or shorten the war by months — is likely to be an important factor in the talks, although they necessarily are based on the assumption that the fighting will continue in Europe beyond the spring.

U.S. Sixth Loan Tops Quota by $6,360,000,000

Total, Still Climbing, Will Be Greatest of All Drives; E Bonds Oversubscribed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP).—Henry Morgenthau jr., Secretary of the Treasury, said today the Sixth War Loan drive, which aimed at $14,000,000,000, has hit $20,360,000,000 and the figure is still going up.

His disclosure made it certain that the nation's first Christmas-season war loan will be the biggest in its history.

The total already is only $291,000,000 short of the record of $20,651,000,000 piled up in the Fifth War Loan last June and July.

The impending new record is made more impressive by the fact that the quota this time was set two billion dollars lower than the $1,000,000,000 goal of last summer.

Secretary Morgenthou also told reporters:

1. That the $5,000,000,000 quota for individual bond-buyers has been achieved, with Federal Reserve Banks reporting $5,010,000,000 of individuals' money already on deposit.

2. That on the basis of preliminary figures he was "happy to announce" that the important series E bond quota of $2,500,000,000 will be oversubscribed.

One week remains in the big job of tabulating Sixth War Loan sales. All bonds sales tabulated during November and December count in the Loan though the formal selling campaign was Nov. 20 to Dec. 16. The final figures will be announced Jan. 2.

Secretary Morgenthau commented that despite the unprecedented sales of Christmas merchandise, late reports showed that a very large number of persons had bought war bonds as Christmas gifts.

Morgenthau said that "never before in the history of our war loan program have the people responded so enthusiastically to the nation's appeal."

The secretary, who begins his twelfth year as head of the Treasury in January, made his disclosures informally to the three reporters who had covered the bond drive for the major wire services.

In an unusual gesture, he called these reporters in to express appreciation for the thorough way in which the wire services handled news of the drive.

Congress Takes Pride In Average

Highest Proportion Passed In Modern Times Of Bills Submitted To Lawmakers.

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP)—The 78th Congress points with pride to the best legislative batting average in recent years.

While it set a new low in modern congressional history for the actual number of pieces of legislation considered, its proportion of bills enacted into law was unusually high.

One Out of Eight

William J. McDermott, bill clerk of the House, figured today that about one out of every eight bills introduced became a law during the two years of the 78th Congress.

The 77th enacted about one out of every nine.

There were 6,635 bills of all kinds introduced in the House and approximately 2,217 in the Senate in the 78th, and 989 of them now are law. About one-half of the laws are in the "private" classification, dealing generally with claims of individuals against the government.

The 77th Congress enacted 1,485 public and private laws from the approximately 12,000 pieces of legislation it considered.

Record Low

The 9,000 bills considered by the 78th was a modern record low, the average of the last 25 Congresses being well above 15,000, with more than 35,000 in the 61st.

The record for laws and resolutions enacted is held by the 59th, which put 6,940 of its approximately 30,000 bills on the statute books.

The low in legislative enactment was the 508 laws approved by the 65th, which considered 16,239 House bills alone.

Although both the 77th and 78th Congresses considered and enacted relatively few measures, they were in session longer than their predecessors. The 77th spent almost two full years in Washington, technically being in session 715 calendar days. The 78th was in session from Jan. 6 until Dec. 21, 1943, and from Jan. 10 until Dec. 19, 1944.

ghters and medium bombers based France, Holland and Belgium took a terrific toll.

The 19th Tactical Air Force destroyed more than 350 Nazi motor vehicles. British Tempests and Spitfires knocked diwn two enemy fighters and destroyed five German tanks near St. Vith.

The tremendous Allied aerial effort apparently continued unabated at night, with Britain-based planes of the RAF carrying on the burden of smashing the German offensive which for a week has moved relentlessly forward, shrouded in mist and fog.

Today's all-out aerial smash at the Germans followed a 4,500 plane assault yesterday during which 178 Nazi planes were shot out of the skies.

Headquarters of the U. S. strategic airforces in Europe announced that "the greatest force of heavy bombers ever flown on a single mission by any air force" attacked communications and supply centers just opposite the bulge driven into the American lines by the Germans.

At the same time formations of the long-range heavy bombers loaded with probably more than 8,000 tons of high explosives and fragmentation bombs, landed a surprise blow at the heart of the rejuvenated Luftwaffe, which was disclosed, is centered around Frankfurt, about 150 miles east of the Belgian battlefields.

Bombs Straddle Runways, Hangars

Bombs from Flying Fortresses straddled runways and hangars of 11 airfields grouped around the city and caught 50 German fighters parked on one.

All the time American fighters kept roaring through the cloudless skies hunting down German fighters wherever they could be found.

The 357th Mustang group, led by Lt. Col. Irwin Dregne of Viraqua, Wis., ran into a group of 50 Focke-Wulfs 25 miles east of Coblenz and shot down 21 of them.

One pilot, Lt. John Kirla, 29 Travers avenue, Port Chester, N. Y., got four.

Col. George T. Crowell of Chicago, Ill., led his 55th Mustang group into a dogfight over Frankfurt and the Americans got 11 of another group of 50 Jerries.

Get Eight Germans

A Thunderbolt formation led by Lt. Col. William B. Bailey of Rochester, N. Y., got eight German planes in the vicinity of Giessen, 30 miles north of Frankfurt.

The massive sky fleet began forming over Britain before noon and when finally it began heading for the continent it took two hours to cross the coast.

For 400 miles they thundred in one huge parade. As they neared the front lines the bombers broke into smaller formations, and headed toward their respective targets.

The mighty blow, a staff officer said, was intended to cripple the Luftwaffe at least temporarily so that the Allied ground forces could wrest the initiative from the Germans.

U. S. Strategic Air Force Headquarters said photographs during yesterday's attack showed severe damage had been inflicted on enemy railyards and rolling stock.

12:01 a. m. Tuesday

The changes—beginning at 12:01 a. m., Tuesday — include a rise in the red point value of butter from 20 to 24 points a pound; cancellation of all red and blue stamps which became good before the first of December, and cancellation of all sugar stamps and home canning certificates except No. 34.

About 85 per cent of all meats will be placed under rationing beginning Dec. 31.

The canned vegetables which will require points are peas, corn, green and wax beans, asparagus and spinach, in addition to tomatoes which already are on the ration list.

"Civilian supplies of sugar, butter and commercially canned fruits and vegetables are at the lowest point since the war began and meat supplies are declining," Bowles said.

To Prevent Run on Stocks

It originally was planned to announce the changes on Wednesday, Dec. 27. OPA said the effective time of the action was advanced 24 hours "to protect existing supplies on store shelves from buying runs."

OPA asserted its action did not means a civilian food crisis and emphasized "there is ample food for all." The step is to insure everyone a fair share of scarce items, it said.

A cut in use of sugar by restaurants, hotels, boarding houses and institutions, effective January 1, was announced. The reduction will be 10 per cent for users who do their own baking and 15 per cent for those who do not. A reduced allowance for industrial users was announced earlier.

Reductions In Meat - Sugar

The sugar allowance will be reduced by stretching the five-pound per person quota from ten weeks to three months. The blue point quota of 50 per person will continue through January.

Greatly Expanded Food Rationing Set

Effective Tuesday—Will Again Include Temporarily Non-rationed Meats, Canned Vegetables—Many Stamps Cancelled.

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP)—A greatly expanded food rationing program, again including canned vegetables, will become effective Tuesday.

Price Administrator Bowles announced this tonight, saying the tighter controls are necessary to assure fairer distribution of "small supplies."

Meat stamps worth a total of 50 points per person will be validated in January, compared with 30 in December. It was done, the OPA said, because about 85 per cent of the civilian meat supply will be rationed compared to about 37 per cent now.

Five new red stamps and five blues will be validated Sunday, December 31. No new sugar stamp will be validated until February 1.

The five red stamps to be validated will be T5 through X5. The new blue stamps will be C2 through G2. Values in both cases will remain at 10 points each.

Broadened meat rationing is necessary, the OPA explained, because "it is estimated that consumers at present high income levels would buy 160 to 170 pounds of meat per person, if available, during 1945, compared to the 126 pounds per person they consumed on the average in the 1935-39 period.

127 lbs. Per Person

"However, the prospect now is that only about 127 pounds per person will be available in 1945."

Butter supplies for civilians recently have been at the lowest point during the war, it was stated.

Supplies of sugar were not large enough to permit spending both 1945 stamps and those carried over from 1944, it was explained, but each consumer will get "his fair share" in 1945.

The statement said butter has been unavailable at times in many sections; sugar stocks in many places are low, and people in many sections "know how hard it has been recently to find bacon and other meats."

The prospect is for about 15 per cent less meat of all kinds for civilians in the first three months of 1945, compared to the last quarter of 1944, the OPA said.

Less Butter

Butter available for civilians the full year 1945 is expected to be smaller than in 1944.

The outlook is for a tight civilian sugar supply in 1945—"at present it is estimated that there will be no more than 5,400,000 tons available for civilians, compared with about 6,100,000 tons consumed in 1944, about 5,700,000 tons in 1943, and a prewar pack of 7,350,00 tons in 1941,' the announcement said.

"For home canning this year the sugar rationing program must be severely tightened. Ration coupons for no more than 700,000 tons can be issued for home canning in the 1945 season, compared with ration stamps and coupons issued for 1,150,000 tons in 1944.

"Pay-As-You-Go"

"Food rationing, in effect, must be placed on a 'pay-as-you-go' basis. During the next few months, and perhaps throughout 1945, ration stamps will be made good only on the basis of the supplies that can be made available to civilians without upsetting the fairest distribution obtainable."

"Shortages in some items, such as butter, may continue. The choice and variety of meats and canned fruits and vegetables may continue to be spotty in some cities. . ."

Point values are being restored to grade D beef, butter cuts and grades of veal, bacon, pork shoulders, spareribs, beef and veal liver, some sausage and meats in glass or tin.

Point values for pork hams and loin cuts now rationed will be increased one or two points. Beef steaks and roasts now rationed will be cut two to three points.

Canned Milk Up

The canned milk point value is being increased slightly. Grapefruit and orange juices will continue point-free. Present values for most canned fruits and juices now rationed are reduced 10 points a can, while tomato catsup and chili sauce goes down from 50 to 30 points.

Values established for vegetables: asparagus, No. 2 can, 10 blue points; green or wax beans, No. 2, 10; vacuum-packed whole kernel corn, 12-ounce can, 20; all corn except vacuum packed, excluding corn on cob, No. 2 can, 20; peas, No. 2, 20; spinach, No. 2, 10.

The impending drastic tightening of rationing coincides with a series of home front moves Saturday, all designed to increase support of the war effort.

Byrnes Directives

Stemming from directives by James F. Byrnes, chief of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, these included:

A War Production Board announcement it will withhold priorities and other operation essentials from firms violating War Manpower Commission hiring restrictions.

A move to tighten employment ceilings on less-essential firms to force release of additional workers to war jobs.

An order banning all horse and dog racing effective Jan. 3.

A directive to Selective Service to review the cases of professional athletes rejected for military service or discharged for physical reasons.

Although OPA has been urging return of point-free foods to rationing for some time, disclosure that supplies of canned vegetables are at such a low level came as a surprise.

When, on the advice of the War Food Administration, all vegetables except tomatoes were taken off the list last September, the announcement said very good supplies made the move possible.

Despite Protests

The September action was taken despite protests by OPA, which several times subsequently sought to have point values re-established. That agency contended that while plenty of vegetables were available for current needs, the stock was selling too fast and would be exhausted before the start of the new pack year next summer.

Party Leaders Reject Dewey LegislativePlan

Congressmen Defer Joint Statement on Principles, to Offer Individual Bills

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP).—Republican Congressional leaders, rejecting a proposal that they join with Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, in a statement of party principles, will go their own legislative way.

That way, it developed today, will preclude the announcement of any general legislative program for the new Congress and leave up to selected individuals the sponsorship of major measures. Then, if all turns out well, the leaders may get together near the close of the next session, sum up what the Republicans have done, and announced what they intend to do in the future.

Governor Dewey's proposal that Senate and House chieftains join with him in signing now a statement of the party's aims was reported to have been rejected speedily by a group which met in New York.

One of those who attended said the principles outlined appeared to have been taken primarily from the Governor's campaign speeches. They were said to have included a general indorsement of the accomplishment of the Dumbarton Oaks international security conference.

One of the chief objections to issuing the statement at this time was that the Congressional leaders were not in agreement on the details of what ought to be said. It might take them a week to sit down and write a document to which all could subscribe, it was argued.

There was some thought among the legislators, also, that the principles Governor Dewey had outlined indorsed too many Administration policies. Republicans were divided during the campaign about Mr. Dewey's advocacy of what some of them described as New Deal innovations in government.

The Governor reportedly did not press the issue in the conference, laying aside his own proposal and expressing himself as willing to aid the members of Congress in carrying out their ideas.

While no assignments yet have been made, the Republican steering committee in the Senate expects to ask certain Senators to sponsor measures the group thinks ought to be offered from the minority ranks. Chairman Robert A. Taft, Republican, of Ohio, said decisions will be delayed until after the new Congress gets under way.

But Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, the minority conference chairman, already has a personal program outlined. He intends to plug for a Congressional overhauling of Social Security benefits and taxes. He wants stock issues up to $300,000 exempt from Securities and Exchange Commission scrutiny to free little business from red tape. He will offer again his bill which would prevent interference with non-profit broadcasts of music by scholastic groups.

Big-Scale Shift To Peace Jobs DeniedbyC.I.O.

Report on Survey of 28 War Industries Asserts ReportedExodus Is Myth

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP).—The Congress of Industrial Organizations expressed belief today the problem of workers leaving war plants for peace-time jobs "has been greatly overstressed."

A study of the situation, published in the current issue of the C. I. O. "Economic Outlook," characterized the "exodus" of war workers to jobs with better long range outlook as "fictional."

The sturdy labeled the "exodus" as a "creation of the press and certain Army officials."

"The C. I. O. Department of Research and Education, which publishes 'The Outlook,' made a study of the 'quit rate' to expose the fictional character of 'the exodus,'" the C. I. O. said in a statement. The study covered the five months period, May to October, this year in comparison with the like period in 1943.

Twenty-eight war industries were chosen for the survey. Of 328 available reports on quitting rates in those industries, 201 disclosed a decrease in job-leavers in 1944, with no change in thirteen. In only twenty-five cases was the quit rate "appreciably higher" in 1944 than in 1943, the C. I. O. said.

"We do not question the fact that in some instances workers are leaving their war jobs for jobs with peace-time security," "The Outlook" said. "We do believe the seriousness of this problem has been greatly overstressed."

Asserting that it can sympathize with the government in its desire to prevent an exodus from actually taking place, "The Outlook" said that labor repeatedly has suggested methods for prevention.

The most obvious and desirable way, it said, is to assure workers adequate compensation during the period of post-war unemployment and "above all to guarantee that there will be plenty of peace-time jobs to go around."

"Higher wages and improvement of working conditions would also help," "The Outlook" said. "Crying 'Wolf' will not."

War Waif Adopted By Mrs. Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Dec. 24—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has "adopted" her third child war victim — Gabrielle Dore, a French girl in France —Foster Parents' Plan for War Children announced today.

Mrs. Edna Blue, plen executive chairman, said the child was one of 25 found by a plan representative being cared for by an Abbe Noe in a deserted Normandy house. The children, many of them ill, were living on black bread and coffee and had only one blanket for all of them, she said.

The abbe has described Gabrielle, whose age is not known, as one of a family of siv. Her mother is ill. Her father was killed by a mine.

Mrs. Roosevelt's other "adopted" children were Paulette Le Mescam, a French girl, and Rosemary Howard, 6, daughter of a British seaman.

Foster Parents' Plan operates 45 children's hostels in England, France and Malta, each foster parent paying $15 a month for the care of a child.

BRIDGEPORT, Dec. 24 (AP)—Officials of the New Haven area of the Air Technical Service Command and the General Electric Co., last night jointly revealed that whenever the famed Norden bombsight, long a carefully guarded military secret, goes into action on a bombing mission it always wears an electrically heated protective cover which protects its intricate and delicate parts from the biting cold encountered in high altitudes.

Colleges Place Post-War Hopes On Ex-Soldiers

Expect 650,000 Veterans to Enroll Under Plan for Federal Scholarships

CINCINNATI Dec. 24 (AP).—An estimated post-war flow of 650,000 veterans to college campuses for Federally financed studies "represents the chief hope of American colleges and universities for rescue from the present dearth of men students," Dr. Raymond Walters, nationally recognized college statistician, reported today.

Dr. Walters's comment was contained in his twenty-fifth annual survey for "School and Society," education weekly.

As of Nov. 1, Dr. Walters said, there were 608,750 full-time students and a grand total of 925,084 including summer and part-time students in 679 approved institutions. Despite good-sized freshman classes of sixteen and seventeen-year-old boys, new students currently in these schools were from 50 to 94 per cent below figures of 1939, last normal peacetime year.

As of Nov. 1, among institutions which reported to Dr. Walters both this year and last, 648 had 593,271 full-time civilian and Army and Navy students, against 454,759 full-time civilian and approximately 363,000 in Army and Navy units in November, 1943. For 646 institutions reporting grand-total figures for both years, there were 893,883 this fall and 1,099,043 in 1943.

Slightly more than 60 per cent of the current collegiate population are women. In fifty-six publicly controlled universities, 58.4 per cent of the full-time students are women; in fifty privately controlled universities, 53.2 per cent are men, in 142 independent arts and sciences colleges, 74 per cent are women; in fifty-two independent technological institutions, 64.9 per cent are men, and in ninety-two independent teachers' colleges, 75.7 per cent are women.

California, with 15,261 full-time students, continues as the country's largest university in this classification and New York University, with a grand total of 24,722, continues as largest in this group. Columbia University, with 12,039 full-time and 21,979 grand total, is second largest in both classifications.

A large section of Dr. Walters's report is given over to comments, as to prospects for returning veterans, by Omar W. Clark, assistant administrator of the Veterans Administration, Washington.

The peak load for colleges and univerities will probably come a year and a year and a half after Germany's and Japan's defeats, Mr. Clark believes, in warning that veterans willl not arrive on college campuses in a rush, but will be distributed over several years.

Approximately 2,400 disabled veterans are currently studying in colleges and universities.

War Reverses Spur Steel Commitments

Emphasis On Guns, Ammunition, Says "Steel".

3b 24— 21519

CLEVELAND, Dec. 24 — (AP) — Spurred by military reverses on the western front, steel commitments against critical munitions needs are heavy, the Magazine Steel noted today.

Predicting little break in continuity of the trend, the journal said.

"Emphasis is still particularly on guns and ammunition with growing pressure for rockets, mortars, light and medium ammunition and guns, as well as heavy shells and artillery. Increased steel needs for larger shells will be limited by progress of forging and finishing facilities now under way, but for lighter ammunition facilities are ready, contingent on ability to obtain labor lost when cutbacks were made several months ago."

Decline Still Seen

The magazine quoted authoritative sources as saying that despite current plate demand increase, the long-range outlook is for continued decline and sharply reduced output early next year.

"Compared with bars, the flat-rolled products, plates and sheets, are in less demand, the current improvement in plates showing signs of decrease," said Steel, basing its report on reduced needs for maritime commission shipbuilding requirements.

"Meanwhile," asserted the magazine, "total supply of steel is regarded as fully adequate to meet all war and essential civilian requirements as fast as processors can handle it."

Steelmaking operations last week declined 1-2-point to 96 per cent of capacity. Detroit gained one point to 88 per cent, Wheeling five points to 97, and Cleveland 1 1-2 points to 94 1-2 per cent. Pittsburgh declined one point to 90 per cent, Buffalo 4 1-2 points to 83 1-2, Eastern Pennsylvania 1 1-2 points to 94, Chicago one point to 99 1-2, New

Soldier's Candy Back in Time

CHICAGO, Dec. 24 (AP).—The box of Christmas candy Sergeant Rodney McManus's sister mailed to him on Bougainville reached him in time—but not until it had made a round trip. Somewhere in the Pacific the candy and Sergeant McManus crossed paths. The gift went to his battle station. He came home on furlough. But the box was delivered to him today at the home of his sister, Mrs. Marion Hamm, where it started its long round trip. The candy was slightly affected by the tropical heat.

2 Army Deserters Hitchhike From Leyte to Omaha

Omaha, Nebr., Dec. 24 (INS).—Two homesick Army privates who reportedly deserted the armed forces on Leyte Island in the Philippines and hitchhiked almost halfway round the world in the hopes of being home for Christmas were in custody of military police in Omaha tonight.

Maj. Herbert L. Lindstrom, provost marshal, identified the men as Pvt. Joe Sholkoff, 23, of New York City, and Pvt. John M. Anderson, 20, of Toledo, Ohio. They were apprehended in Lincoln, Nebr., while wearing civilian clothes.

The two soliders, Major Lindstrom said, made the 9600-mile trip from the Philippines via Australia. They used three planes and a former luxury liner in reaching the United States, traveling as stowaways on a cargo plane from Australia to Honolulu and hiding aboard the liner from there to the United States.

ROME, DEC. 24-(AP)-A THRONG ESTIMATED AT 100,000 JAMMED EVERY AVAILABLE INCH OF ST.PETER'S AND OVERFLOWED INTO THE COURTYARDS ON ALL SIDES OF THE HUGE CHURCH TONIGHT AS POPE PIUS XII CELEBRATED THE FIRST PUBLIC CHRISTMAS EVE MIDNIGHT MASS THERE IN 75 YEARS.

NOT SINCE PIUS IX SAID THE LAST PUBLIC CHRISTMAS EVE MASS FOR THE PUBLIC IN 1869 HAD ANY POPE HEARD THE PEOPLE'S CRIES OF "VIVA IL PAPA" UNTIL TONIGHT WHEN PIUS XII WAS BORNE INTO THE NAVE OF THE CATHEDRAL, ACCOMPANIED BY A WILD BURST OF APPLAUSE AND CHEERS FROM THE CROWD, WHICH INCLUDED MANY ALLIED MILITARY PERSONNEL.

THE WIFE OF THE JAPANESE AMBASSADOR RECEIVED COMMUNION FROM THE POPE DURING THE MASS. THE ONLY AMERICAN COMMUNICANT WAS COL.JOSEPH O.DAVIDSON OF POTTSVILLE, PA., OF THE ALLIED HEADQUARTERS REPLACEMENT COMMAND. ONE ETHIOPIAN, HAILE MAWAM TESFAU, A MEMBER OF THE ETHIOPIAN COLLEGE AT THE VATICAN, WAS ANOTHER COMMUNICANT.

IT WAS THE FIRST OF THREE CHRISTMAS MASSES TO BE SAID BY THE POPE. THE SECOND WAS CELEBRATED IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE FIRST ONE TONIGHT, ALSO PUBLICLY, AND THE THIRD WAS TO BE A PRIVATE ONE CHRISTMAS MORNING.

ALWAYS BEFORE, SINCE 1869, THE ST.PETER'S CHRISTMAS EVE MIDNIGHT MASS WAS A PRIVATE ONE FOR CARDINALS, THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS, AND THE KING'S FAMILY.

THE WORSHIPPERS FOUND PLACES TONIGHT TO STAND AND LEAN ALL OVER ST.PETER'S. SOME WERE ON BALCONIES OVERLOOKING THE NAVE AND SOME EVEN WERE LEANING DANGEROUSLY OVER THE RAILING WHICH RUNS AROUND THE CATWALK HIGH IN THE DOME.

DEC 26 1944

THE DIPLOMATIC SECTION WAS CROWDED WITH THE STAFFS OF THE VARIOUS EMBASSIES AT THE VATICAN, INCLUDING THE JAPANESE, DRESSED IN LONG BLACK ROBES, AND THE GERMANS. THERE WAS A SMALL SECTION TO THE RIGHT OF THE ALTAR FOR ALLIED MILITARY PERSONNEL, BUT THE PRESS OF PEOPLE WAS SO GREAT THAT THIS SECTION SOON HAD MORE CIVILIANS THAN SOLDIERS.

THE GREAT CHURCH WAS SO CROWDED THAT A NUMBER OF PERSONS FAINTED.

THE CHOIR BEGAN TO SING CHRISTMAS HYMNS AT 11 P.M. AS HUNDREDS HAD FLOCKED THROUGH THE DOORS LONG BEFORE MIDNIGHT. THE SWISS GUARDS IN THEIR COLORFUL YELLOW, PURPLE AND RED STRIPED UNIFORMS AND PLUMED HELMETS AND CARRYING PIKES WERE ON DUTY ALL OVER THE CATHEDRAL. MEMBERS OF THE CHAPTER OF ST.PETER, DRESSED IN ERMINE, HELPED ESCORT THE DIPLOMATS AND THEIR FAMILIES TO THE SECTION RESERVED FOR THEM.

SUDDENLY AT 11:30 P.M. THE LIGHTS BRIGHTENED AND A RIPPLE OF APPLAUSE, BEGINNING FAR DOWN THE FLOOR OF THE CATHEDRAL, SPREAD THROUGHOUT THE CONGREGATION AS THE PAPAL THRONE WAS BORNE IN, GUARDED BY RED-COATED NOBLE GUARDS, THEIR SWORDS DRAWN AND LONG BLACK STREAMERS HANGING FROM THEIR BRIGHT GOLD HELMETS. THEY LINED BOTH SIDES OF THE NAVE AS THE POPE DESCENDED FROM HIS THRONE AND KNELT

THERE FOR SEVERAL MINUTES.

THE POPE AND THE CARDINALS KNELT BEFORE THE PAPAL ALTAR. THEN, AS THE CHOIR SENT ADESTE FIDELIS ROLLING THROUGH THE CATHEDRAL, THE POPE DONNED GOLDEN VESTMENTS AND MOUNTED TO THE ALTAR WHERE ONLY THE PONTIFF OR A CARDINAL HE ESPECIALLY DESIGNATES MAY SAY MASS.

HE DISTRIBUTED COMMUNION TO HUNDREDS, PASSING ALONG THE RAIL TIME AFTER TIME AS EACH ROW OF COMMUNICANTS FILED OUT, TO BE REPLACED BY ANOTHER GROUP. FINALLY THE CHIEF CHAPLAIN OF THE ITALIAN ARMY TOOK OVER THE DISTRIBUTION OF COMMUNION AND THE PONTIFF RETURNED TO THE ALTAR TO COMPLETE THE SERVICE.

AMONG THE HYMNS DURING THE SERVICE WAS SILENT NIGHT, SUNG IN GERMAN BY THE SWISS GUARDS.

DEC 26 1944

THE AISLES WERE PACKED WITH PEOPLE LONG BEFORE THE SERVICE BEGAN AND HUNDREDS BLOCKED THE DOORS. THERE WAS SPECIAL TROLLEY SERVICE IN ROME FOR THE OCCASION AND IT EVEN WAS ADVERTISED ON POSTERS THROUGHOUT THE CITY FOR SEVERAL DAYS.

OUT FROM THE MOURNFUL GROANS OF SORROW, FROM THE VERY DEPTHS OF THE HEART-RENDING ANGUISH OF OPPRESSED INDIVIDUALS AND COUNTRIES THERE RISES AN AURA OF HOPE. TO AN EVER-INCREASING NUMBER OF NOBLE SOULS THERE COMES THE THOUGHT, THE WILL EVER CLEARER AND STRONGER, TO MAKE OF THIS WORLD, THIS UNIVERSAL UPHEAVAL, A STARTING POINT FOR A NEW ERA OF FAR-REACHING RENOVATION, THE COMPLETE REORGANIZATION OF THE WORLD. . .

--0--

...DEMOCRACY, TAKEN IN THE BROAD SENSE, ADMITS OF VARIOUS FORMS, AND CAN BE REALIZED IN MONARCHIES AS WELL AS IN REPUBLICS. . .

--0--

A SOUND DEMOCRACY, BASED ON IMMUTABLE PRINCIPLES OF NATURAL LAW AND REVEALED TRUTH, WILL RESOLUTELY TURN ITS BACK ON SUCH CORRUPTION AS GIVES THE STATE LEGISLATURE AN UNCHECKED AND UNLIMITED POWER, AND MOREOVER, MAKES OF THE DEMOCRATIC REGIME, NOTWITHSTANDING AN OUTWARD SHOW TO THE CONTRARY, PURELY AND SIMPLY A FORM OF ABSOLUTISM.

--0--

--0--

NO ONE COULD WISH SUCCESS TO THIS COMMON EFFORT (FORMATION OF AN ORGANIZATION TO PRESERVE PEACE AND SMOTHER ANY THREAT OF AGGRESSION), TO BE UNDERTAKEN WITH A SERIOUSNESS OF PURPOSE NEVER BEFORE KNOWN, WITH GREATER ENTHUSIASM THAN HE WHO HAS CONSCIENTIOUSLY STRIVED TO MAKE THE CHRISTIAN AND RELIGIOUS MENTALITY REJECT MODERN WAR.

--0--

THAT ANY PEOPLES TO WHOSE GOVERNMENT -- O . . EVEN PARTIALLY TO THEMSELVES -- THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE WAR IS ATTRIBUTED SHOULD HAVE FOR A TIME TO UNDERGO THE RIGORS OF SECURITY MEASURES UNTIL THE BONDS OF MUTUAL TRUST, VIOLENTLY BROKEN, SHOULD BE GRADUALLY WELDED TOGETHER AGAIN, IS QUITE UNDERSTANDABLE FROM A HUMAN POINT OF VIEW AND, IN PRACTICE, WILL IN ALL PROBABILITY BE INEVITABLE.

NEVERTHELESS, EVEN THESE PEOPLES MUST HAVE A WELL-FOUNDED HOPE -- COMMENSURATE TO THEIR EFFECTIVE COLLABORATION IN THE WORK OF RECONSTRUCTION -- OF BEING ABLE, TOGETHER WITH THE OTHER STATES WITH EQUAL CONSIDERATION AND WITH THE SAME RIGHTS, TO BE ASSOCIATED WITH THE GREAT COMMUNITY OF NATIONS.

TO DENY THEM THAT HOPE WOULD BE THE REVERSE OF FAR-SEEING WISDOM, IT WOULD BE TO ASSURE THE GRAVE RESPONSIBILITY OF BARRING THE WAY TO A GENERAL LIBERATION FROM ALL DISASTROUS CONSEQUENCES, MATERIAL, MORAL AND POLITICAL, OF THE GIGANTIC CATACLYSM WHICH HAS SHAKEN THE POOR HUMAN FAMILY TO ITS VERY FOUNDATIONS, BUT WHICH, AT THE SAME TIME, HAS SHOWN IT THE ROAD TO NEW GOALS.

NAZI FORCES SWEEP TOWARD MEUSE RIVER, SEIZE LIBRAMONT, 23 MILES FROM SEDAN

ENEMY ADVANCES IN POWERFUL NEW ARMORED THRUST

Rundstedt Breaks Stalemate as Big Battle Rages Over Christmas.

YANKS ATTACK FLANKS

German Losses Mount Under Sustained U. S. Aerial, Artillery Fire.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—(AP) The Germans were bursting toward the Meuse in a fierce new show of armored power on this bitter cold Christmas day in which Allied air armadas for the third straight day darkened the skies with one of the mightiest attacks since D-Day and wrought terrific ruin.

On the basis of latest positions disclosed at Supreme headquarters tonight as of midday Sunday, these advances were measured in perhaps one to three miles, but from filed dispatches describing the force of the onslaught it seemed probable they had gone farther in terrific Christmas day battles bloodily costly for both sides.

Against toughened Doughboys resistance, the Germans this time were not reeling off big gains, but they had definitely broken the 48-hour virtual stalemate.

Drive Toward LaRoche

One of the new surges was aimed west of LaRoche toward the Meuse, probably no more than 15 miles ahead of advanced enemy units farther south, reported operating near Rochefort, 14 1-2 miles from the river.

A second was aimed northward from LaRoche in what appeared to be an attempt to outflank the St. Vith wedge which has split in two the big German push in Belgium.

One German force, pressing southward within 16 miles of the French border, finally seized Libramont, 23 miles northeast of the French gateway city of Sedan, and drove the Americans from Rosieres, eight miles to the east.

As these forces traveled south, an American relief force some four miles farther east was fighting north in an attempt to relieve Doughboy forces cut off in the Belgian road center of Bastogne, six miles ahead of its advanced positions.

Along the 25 miles of Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's southern flank in the Ardennes hills, Gen. Eisenhower's counter-attack kept up its steady battering but there were no further gains reported since this morning's announcement of the capture of three towns.

U. S. Forces Hammer Flanks

(The Berlin radio said U. S. forces in great strength, paced by veteran divisions of the Third and Seventh armies, went over to the attack Sunday on a broad front against the southern flank and had forced some German withdrawals).

Striking in almost as great force as yesterday's 7,000-plane blow, Allied warplanes today wrecked at least 56 tanks, destroyed or damaged 791 other armored vehicles and motor transport in a renewed aerial onslaught that lacked only the full weight of the heavy bomber effort of the two previous days.

Von Rundstedt still was throwing his greatest weight due west.

Bastogne, in the center of his southern most wedge, still was denied him by an epic American defense which scorned surrender and was being supplied by air.

Supreme headquarters said a particularly heavy battle developed near Marvie, a mile and a half southeast of the town, where the Germans fell upon the perimeter of the Doughboy defenses with tanks and infantry.

On the north, the strong German drive reached the vicinity of Lierneux and Grandmenil, 14 and nine miles southwest of Stavelot at the apex of the American triangle splitting the German drives.

It was not immediately disclosed what had happened inside the Doughboy triangle, but it was apparent that the American forces holding strong ridge positions there were in increasing danger of being cut off.

Along the north flank, the enemy was driven from the village of La Gleize, three miles west of Stavelot, and 150 prisoners were taken.

The line running west from Malmedy through Stavelot and Stoumont still was firmly held by the Americans.

Besides the terrific ruin wrought by the Allies from the air, the Germans were losing heavily in men and armor and it seemed clear that American losses too were running into costly figures.

One front dispatch reported an entire German division had been destroyed on an unnamed sector.

Nazi Tank Losses Mount

A second dispatch, possibly referring to the same action, said an armored division which speared the drive originally aimed at the fortress of Liege lost 178 tanks, armored vehicles and guns.

American prisoners released by their comrades said today their captor officers told them the offensive's schedule called for arrival in Paris Jan. 17, after which, they were told, perhaps "Roosevelt will talk peace terms."

Most of the front line action elsewhere — now that Eisenhower's Winter offensive has been stopped —was German patrol probing for secrets of Allied troops shifts.

The Germans crossed the Maas (Meuse) river at numerous points in eastern Holland, and also were active in the Saar.

The Americans reported a flare-up of small arms and mortar fire across the Roer from Linnich, but no attack developed.

To the south, Doughboys cleared the enemy from most of Winden, four miles south of Duren, and mopped up Obermauback, on the Roer bank a mile farther south.

The French gained slightly at Bennwihr, four miles northeast of Colmar, but lost ground to German counterattacks northwest of Colmar.

30.24— 21531

Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt lashed back yesterday at southern flanking assaults which had swept to within six miles of encircled Bastogne and narrowed the base of the entire Bastogne bulge to possibly 27 miles in Belgium and upper Luxembourg.

(The German High command said both sides had thrown fresh forces into the great Winter battle, that its troops had won "further successes," and launched a concentrated attack on Bastogne. It admitted strong U. S. assaults on the south flank).

Yanks Are Confident

A dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Tom Yarbrough with an armored outfit spearheading the Bastogne relief thrust quoted a staff officer tonight as describing the situation as "a bit more promising," and "we are confident about the outcome."

As of tonight, the staff officer asserted, no further broad enemy movements had been reported, although another front dispatch reported strong German pressure at all points of the western tips of the penetration had succeeded in making some gains.

Yarbrough declared the armored outfit was "one of the most famous and spectacular in the entire U. S. army."

Ahead of them the beleaguered American garrison of Bastogne had sent back to the German lines a flat "no" in reply to a surrender ultimatum and still was denying the use of that all-important road center to the enemy, hampering his westward push.

Bloody Bastogne—where the Americans had knocked out at least 55 enemy tanks which made a supreme effort to drive them out—may perhaps be one of the turning points in the battles of the bulge.

There still had been no large enemy advances through the 48 hours up to Sunday dawn—the last positions disclosed by Supreme headquarters under its 24-hour security blackout—but front reports said the Germans were striking again with infantry and armor.

Flying weather was not quite so good as the previous two days, but it was clear enough for a morning bomb and rocket onslaught which suggested the day's total might approach yesterday's 7,000-plane attack.

32 Tanks Destroyed

Ninth Air force fighterbombers alone before noon had destroyed 32 tanks and 80 other armored vehicles, blasting and blackening an armored column just as it was swinging into battle.

AP Correspondent Wes Gallagher described the enemy's offensive as passing from the "critical" phase into one of impending action with most of the front showing signs of stabilization.

In the Stavelot sector, he said, the Americans handed Hitler a grim Christmas present by tearing the heart out of one of his panzer divisions, destroying more than 178 armored vehicles, guns and tanks in eight days of savage fighting.

Supreme headquarters told of German tanks and troop carriers operating between Marche and Rochefort, the latter 14 1-2 miles from the Meuse, but gave no hint that Rochefort had been reached.

It was emphasized at headquarters that the momentary checking of the enemy's impetus did not mean his terrific assault force yet was exhausted. Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt has powerful forces concentrated in the whole Bastogne area.

Nazis Reach Point Between Marche And Rochefort

Dec 26 1944

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Strong German tank columns and infantry units today jabbed westward into Amercian lines in Belgium, a front dispatch declared, and Supreme Allied Headquarters disclosed the Nazi push had knifed near a town 14½ miles from the Meuse River.

Allied headquarters, which releases information 24 hours late under a security news lag, reported German tanks and troop-carrying vehicles had reached points between the Belgian towns of Marche and Rochefort.

The section of the road between Marche and Hotten, within 20 miles of the Meuse, had been the enemy's previous point of deepest penetration in this sector. Rochefort, 14½ miles from the Meuse, is 5½ miles southwest of Marche. Headquarters did not locate the specific positions reached by Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's hammering counteroffensive.

Probing Westward Jabs.

Associated Press Correspondent Kenneth L. Dixon reported this morning that the Germans were sending powerful tank and infantry patrols in probing jabs westward into Allied lines.

While the Allies maintained fairly solid lines on the northern and southern flanks of Von Rundstedt's main penetration, Mr. Dixon said, tank-supported enemy infantry units managed to push forward along the center in considerable strength.

The German high command said both sides had thrown in fresh troops and reported continuing heavy American attacks o na broad front against the southern flank of the Nazi wedge in Central Luxembourg.

The Germans said they had opened a concentric attack on surrounded but strong American units in Bastogne, by-passed Liege-Arlon road city.

The Nazis claimed American relief attacks in the Stavelot sector along the northern rim of the penetration had been broken off.

Skies Are Clearing.

German planes were out in strength again during the night, field dispatches reported. Skies were clearing this morning and Allied planes roared out to the attack.

Headquarters said the destructive weight of yesterday's heavy aerial assault blows must certainly have a strong effect on the battle's outcome.

Mr. Dixon reported that American tanks beat off several strong Nazi assaults last night at points on the penetration rim. At least at one point, the dispatch said, American artillery spotted an enemy concentration of infantry and tanks and laid down a heavy barrage, breaking up a counterthrust before it formed. In another area American patrols found 34 burned German tanks and 200 enemy dead.

On the southern rim of the German drive, he added, the Americans are running into steadily-increasing resistance and are "being forced to beat off several tank-supported counterattacks in order to make headway."

100 Americans Freed.

American tanks cleaning out one pocket of Germans killed more than 400 Nazis, captured 150 and freed 100 Americans taken prisoner earlier by the enemy.

Gains in South Confirmed.

The Allied communique confirmed that American troops had scored gains into the southern flank of the German drive. The Americans have cleared the Germans from the Luxembourg town of Heiderscheid, 4 miles north of Grosbous.

(This would indicate a possible two to three mile advance, since previously the Americans were reported to have pushed their lines one to two miles north of Grosbous.)

An earlier front dispatch covering developments up to late Saturday morning indicated the American counterattack had halted the German offensive, at least temporarily, and had driven four dents into the enemy's southern flank along a 25-mile front. The Americans appeared to have lifted the menace from the city of Luxembourg.

A mile and a half north of cleared Heiderscheid the Germans hurled tanks and infantry into a sharp counterattack near Tadler, and headquarters said "heavy fighting resulted," a front dispatch said.

Chaumont Cleared.

The Americans bit into the German advance south of Bastogne. Chaumont, a village 6 miles south of that city, was cleared and fighting raged as the enemy counterattacked.

Six miles more to the south the Americans pushed in from the Liege-Arlon road, driving 3 miles northeast of Martelange to Bigonville, a field report said.

On the 3d Army front Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's forces gained 300 yards in the Saarlautern sector, on the east bank of the Saar River.

For the first time since the Germans launched their surprise drive 10 days ago, Allied headquarters described the ground situation as "developing favorably."

Picture of Attacks.

Reporting on developments up to late Saturday morning, a front dispatch gave this picture of the American attacks from the south:

American units had cleared half of Martelange, on the Belgian-Luxembourg border 21 miles northwest of the city of Luxembourg. It was at Martelange that the Germans cut the vital Bastogne-Arlon highway. Heavy fighting raged near Rambrouch, 5 miles to the east inside Luxembourg.

Sixteen miles due north of the capital of the duchy American lines were advanced.

(A possible 9-mile advance was indicated, since on Friday the Americans had been operating in the area of Mersch, 7 miles southeast of Grosbous.)

Gains Above Diekirch.

Gains were made in an area 5 miles west and northwest of Diekirch, or about 18 to 19 miles above the city of Luxembourg.

Yet another American force hammered on east of Diekirch, apparently around Berdorf, 17 miles northeast of the city of Luxembourg and less than a mile and a half from the German border.

Supreme headquarters disclosed last night that the German drive virtually had been stalled for 48 hours up to late Saturday. The only reported German gain anywhere along the offensive front carried only about a mile to the vicinity of Rosieres, 8 miles southwest of Bastogne.

Enemy troops were in the hilly heart of the Ardennes Forest, where tank and mechanized movement are difficult except along the main roads.

West of St. Vith an American force held its ridge line wedge which has kept the enemy's Stavelot salient divided from the big Bastogne wedge to the south. The Germans took the town of St. Vith in a Thursday night attack.

In the Stavelot sector, on the north flank 12 miles northwest of St. Vith, there were heavy exchanges of artillery fire. The Germans landed more parachute troops Friday night in areas north and northwest of Stavelot. Supreme headquarters disclosed that Saturday's announcement that the Americans had lost Stavelot was in error, although there had been seesaw fighting at the outskirts.

HEAVY U.S. ATTACKS REPORTED BY NAZIS

O'QUINN

LONDON, Dec. 25—(AP) The Berlin radio said tonight that U. S. forces in "great strength," with seasoned divisions from both the Third and Seventh armies, went over to the attack on a broad front yesterday and advances had been scored up the Arlon-Bastogne road.

The broadcast admitted that the attack on Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's southern flank had forced the Germans from the village of Warnach, 10 miles south of the Belgian road center of Bastogne.

The capture of Warnach was reported by Supreme headquarters in Paris in tracing developments up to early Sunday. Berlin said the Germans cleared out "after a prolonged struggle."

Enemy accounts claimed a rapid departure of heavy weapons and fast units from the Third and Seventh army fronts had been spotted, and that these had been thrown into the southern attack.

Berlin radio claimed progress elsewhere on the front, including an assault on Bostogne itself, and asserted that Allied attacks on the north flank had simmered down to local action.

The broadcast said the Germans had cleared the east bank of the Saar river in the Saar basin with the exception of a small American bridgehead near Fraulautern.

NON-COMBAT UNIT FIGHTS OFF NAZIS

Firing at Enemy First Time, They Help Hold Belgian Town Three Days

BARKER

SOMEWHERE IN BELGIUM, Dec. 24 (Delayed) (AP)—The adjutant of an anti-aircraft automatic weapons battalion explained today how cooks, clerks and mechanics of his headquarters battery, pinch-hitting as infantrymen, had fought bravely in the front lines for seven days to help hold back German armor that had made a deep penetration of an American sector.

"It was the first time any of these boys had ever fired at the enemy, yet they fought like veteran infantrymen and I'm sure proud of them," Lieut. Charles Boevers of West Bend, Iowa, said wearily.

"Our battery was moving out when a Tiger tank shot up in front of our column in a Belgian town," he added. "So we joined up with a cavalry troop. The cavalry colonel then gave orders to dig in and hold the town at all costs—there would be no retreat. Our mission was to hold the road open so other troops could get out with technical equipment which couldn't be replaced.

"With cavalry, ordnance and quartermaster troops we held that town for three days and three nights. All we had were carbine rifles, so we borrowed some bazookas and a platoon of light tanks.

"Finally we had to evacuate the town because the Germans started bombing us. So we moved back into foxholes and dug in for the first time in our lives.

"It was so cold that the water in our canteens froze and my boys were soaking wet. Some of them had only two blankets and others had none at all. They'd wake up in the morning with a mass of white frost on their faces—yet they stuck it out—and at one time they even went on an offensive patrol.

"All told," he continued, "we didn't kill more than ten Germans, but we kept the rest of them from coming in. Now I'm busy trying to find the rest of our battalion. I haven't the faintest idea where it is."

U. S. Troops in Bastogne Reject German Demand to Surrender

TOM YARBROUGH

AMERICAN TROOPS ON THE ROAD TO BASTOGNE, Belgium, Dec. 22—(Delayed)—(AP) The first major counter-blow against Germany's admittedly serious offensive was launched with tanks and infantry before dawn today and our forces advanced (distance censored) against light resistance in three inches of snow.

American forces in the Bastogne area, who have been encircled by the Germans since Wednesday, rejected at 11:30 a.m. today a German demand that they surrender while this rescue expedition plodded ahead over the roads and rolling hills and fire forests. The steady snowfall had suddenly turned the scene into one of breath-taking beauty.

Nazi Tanks Mounted

The American garrison holding the Bastogne sector has knocked out 55 German tanks and that is described as "a conservative estimate." It shows how badly the Germans want the road network that centers in that little town just inside Belgium near Luxembourg's frontier.

When a German carrying a white flag came forward with the demand for surrender, he gave the American commander a false report that three towns far to the west were in German hands. The American commander sent him right back with "no" for an answer.

The armored outfit spearheading this thrust into the hard underbelly of the German salient is one of the most famous and spectacular in the entire U. S. army.

With Jack Bell of The Chicago Daily News, I entered a small village late this afternoon while it still was being cleared in a house-to-house search. The Germans have been holding back all day and the snowy, frozen stillness was broken only by occasional crackles from rifles and machineguns.

There is a general feeling of confidence without cockiness reflected throughout our command in these parts and it is not deflated by the fact that our surrounded forces' withdrew from St. Vith today. St. Vith is 27 miles northeast of Bastonge. American troops there were ordered back to a stronger line.

Along with the feeling of confidence that this grave challenge to American arms will be mastered there is an acute sense of history among the commanding officers concerned. Time and again they glance at each other and say, "history is being made fast."

Divisions Recover Balance

Our divisions, including an especially gallant few which were badly mauled, have recovered their balance and now we are kicking back. If there ever was any desire on our side to lure the Germans into this move, they have come as far as we want them to come.

The Americans in Bastogne and St. Vith were not the only ones surrounded by Nazi tank columns which cut through our lines for six days like hot knives through butter. Another sizeable group of men also is holding fast (13 words censored).

The skies are leaden and so dense with fog or snow clouds that it is impossible for planes to fly.

As we followed the great dark noisy tanks to the front today, the scene on every side was like that of a picture postcard—with unspoiled miles of solid white and, shimmering in the background, endless masses of snowfilled evergreen trees of even size.

Skirting the western fringe of the German bulge all day yesterday on our way to this area, we found Belgians still waving enthusiastically in all the little towns, and we took it as evidence that the American prestige has not gone down too much with them because of this temporary setback.

They have seen some hurried departures from certain places and some of these civilians have bundled their belongings and hit the road themselves — but not many. Last night at dusk we saw a pitiable old woman wheeling along in the mud in a wheelchair.

When the full story of the last seven days can be told, there will be some new "hero" divisions whose deeds will live long in the nation's memory.

In the beginning, some of our forces were spread so thinly over the long front that at certain places the lines we held only by patrols. When massed enemy tanks and infantry hit, them, they suffered. In some places confusion and costly disorganization was inevitable, but our soldiers regained their balance. Tonight they are hitting back — and trying to keep warm around little fires beside their dark tanks that dot the moonlit snow.

AA GUNNERS FOIL GERMANS

Two Marylanders In Group That Beats Off Tanks

DEC 26 1944

[Two Marylanders are mentioned in this dispatch]

Somewhere in Belgium, Dec. 24 [AP—Delayed]—Anti-aircraft gunners who stayed and fought after the infantry withdrew played a vital role in preventing the German breakthrough from going any farther by knocking out the first enemy tanks they had ever seen.

One of the standout jobs in the vicinity of Stavelot was that of an anti-aircraft battery commanded by Lieut. Leon Kent, Los Angeles, which destroyed five German tanks —including one "King Tiger"—in two to three hours.

Two Panther tanks were knocked out with borrowed bazookas by a pair of ack-ack boys who never had fired a bazooka before. Never given to wasting ammunition, they nailed the tanks with a total of four rounds. The successful gunners were Pfc. Roland Seamon, Clarksburg, W.Va., and Private Albert Darago, of 7805 Oak avenue, Parkville, Md. Their battery had been assigned to defend a crossroads with a 90-millimeter gun normally used against German planes.

"The first thing you know, a King Tiger tank, which is twice as big as our Shermans, came rolling up the road," said Lieut. Donald McGuire, Seattle, Wash., battery range officer. "We waited until it got in full view, and then let them have it. It caught fire and we killed the crew as they ran out.

"After our infantry retreated with word that they'd send up reinforcements, two more Panthers came along. We got them both with good, old 90-millimeter treatment."

Then McGuire added: "We'd still be there if the Germans hadn't brought up machine guns. We had no machine guns—just carbines. So we had to pull out after putting our 90-millimeter out of action with a rifle grenade."

Baltimore Sergeant There

Other Americans who helped destroy the enemy tanks were: Sergt. Alexander Sarkowski, of Baltimore; Sergt. John Davis, Coon Rapids, Iowa; Sergt. Guy Welch, Bakersfield, Cal.; Corporal Kenneth Humphrey, Waterloo, Iowa; Corporal Clement Guigar, Peck, Mich.; Pfc. Julius Fidram, Youngstown, Ohio; Pfc. Lawrence McGaffney, Akron, Ohio; Private Michael Breznak, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Private Arthur Giesinger, Canton, Ohio.

Tech. 5/g Kenneth Moore, Waynesburg, Pa., won Lieutenant Kent's praise for carrying casualties out of a building under fire from a machine gun which was only 15 yards away. Moore is the battery medical aid.

Tank destroyer units also did plenty of shooting in this sector. While covering a bridge, a tank destroyer platoon led by Lieut. Ellis McGinnis, Dallas, Texas, knocked out four "King Tigers."

His platoon included: Sergt. Clyde Gentry, Chickasha, Okla.; Corporal Buel, Sheridan, Texas; Pfc. P. B. Gonzales, San Antonio, Texas; Pfc. Raymond Clements, Jacksonville, Fla., and Tech. 5/g Fred Berrara, Corpus Christi, Texas.

Major Lee And His Men Trap 30 German Tanks

With American forces in Belgium, Dec. 23 [AP—Delayed]—Because of a daring exploit by Major John C. H. Lee, Jr., a convoy of 30 German tanks and a battalion of infantry are being whittled down in an American-made trap.

Major Lee, whose father, Lieut. Gen. John C. H. Lee, is deputy commander of the European theater of operations, worked his way with six men through the enemy lines and blew up a bridge over a small stream.

The enemy armor had crossed this bridge in an effort to strike north. Destruction of the bridge cut off the Germans' one escape route when they were met head-on by American infantry.

Major Lee, then a captain, was captured by the Germans during the Normandy landings last June 6, but escaped.

Paris In January, Germans Assert

In the Stavelot Sector, Belgium, Dec. 25 (AP)—German officers have told American prisoners that the Germans are scheduled to arrive in Paris January 17, according to Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's plan, after which maybe "your Roosevelt will talk peace terms."

This was revealed after eight days of heavy fighting in a valley during which the Americans released 130 soldiers who earlier had been taken prisoner and wiped out their captors almost to the last man.

Had Been Looting a Bit

WITH THE THIRTIETH INFANTRY DIVISION, in Germany (AP)—"I've been looting a little bit," Pvt. Frank Lewis, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., told his battalion officer. He wasn't reprimanded, however, because his loot consisted of three German officers, one sergeant and three pistols. Spying a pistol sticking out of the hay in a hayloft, Lewis had flushed the four Germans from their hiding place.

German Truce Request Answered By Mortars

DEC 26 1944

With the Canadian 1st Army in Holland, Dec. 25 (AP)—French-speaking Canadian troops on the German border answered a German bid for a Christmas truce with a reply of mortar bombs and machine-gun fire, it was disclosed today.

A front dispatch said the German bid for a 24-hour respite from fighting was broadcast over a public-address system in front of the positions held by the French-speaking Canadians about 10.30 P.M. Christmas Eve. The request was followed by a recording of "Silent Night."

"The boys waited until the music ended and then replied with mortars," said Sergt. Ned Ozimblowsky, of Montreal.

Headquarters' Units Held Nazis at Bay for 2 Days

Signal and Engineer Companies Battled Tanks at Hotton

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN BELGIUM, Dec. 23 (Delayed) (AP).—For two days headquarters' signal and engineer companies, which had been left behind when headquarters moved, fought a close-quarters battle with Germans in Hotton, with nothing heavier than bazookas to halt enemy tanks.

None had expected to be in the front lines, but when the crisis came they fought like veterans and turned houses into a series of small strongholds which the signal men connected by an ingenious hookup. Over this network they were able to call on devastating artillery fire when infantry finally took over.

Major Frank Martine, of 140 Roseville Avenue, Newark, who had been with the infantry outfit since it landed in France, described the action as the hottest he had seen.

One soldier who emerged from one of six German tanks smashed during the forty-eight-hour fight was in an American uniform and was killed by a rifleman. Examined later, he was found to have an American soldier's wallet in his pocket, in which were pictures of the American's children.

Pravda On Western Front War

Moscow, Dec. 25 (AP)—In a lengthly review of the German counter-offensive on the Western front, Pravda took the line today that General Eisenhower would deal with the situation, and gave the impression of every confidence in the Western Allies.

ARMY DISCLOSES DETAILS OF SALES IN BLACK MARKET

By GEORGE TUCKER

PARIS, Dec. 25—(AP) Army authorities made public today some details of black market cases involving American soldiers.

On the night of Oct. 13, Harris and Fredericks held up a cafe in the Montmartre district of Paris and obtained 2,100,000 francs ($42,000) worth of jewelry, bonds and cash.

The following night they were arrested by military police, and the night after that Coleman was picked up by MP's at another hotel. A general court convicted them and sentenced Harris and Fredericks to 30 years and Coleman to ten.

Maj. Glenn Miller Lost In Flight Over Channel

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Maj. Glenn Miller, director of the American Army Air Forces Band and a former popular orchestra leader in the United States, is missing on a flight from England to Paris, it was announced yesterday.

DEC 26 1944

Maj. Miller, whose home is in Tenafly, N. J., left England on December 15 as a passenger aboard a plane. No trace of the plane has been found since. His air force band has been playing in Paris—but no member of the band was with him on the flight.

NURSE AND HUSBAND REUNITED IN FRANCE

PARIS, Dec. 25 — (AP) Brown-eyed Capt. Jean Dickinson's Christmas gift was a reunion with her husband.

Capt. Dickinson, an air evacuation nurse from Taunton, Mass., was based in England and her husband, Maj. Frank Carroll, of North Platte, Neb., was stationed on the continent. Prospects were dim for their getting together on Christmas day.

A sudden change in orders brought Capt. Dickinson to the Paris area in mid-afternoon today. They met in a crowded Red Cross hut.

"We won't need mistletoe," Carroll said with a grin when correspondents pointed out that a green sprig hung in an adjoining room.

55 Pilots All Return For Christmas Dinner

CHAMBLEE

Eighth Air Force Fighter Station, Dec. 25 (AP)—When 55 Thunderbolts streaked off this field, banked into the sun and headed for Germany today, cooks began preparing turkey for Christmas dinner.

30. 24 — 21533

It was their job to guess how many places to set. They set 55 places. At dusk, the 55 places were filled.

The famed 56th Fighter Group—52 of its pilots are aces with five or more kills in combat—had returned without loss. Two planes were an hour late, but their pilots made it for dinner.

Ranging over the Cologne area on patrol duty, the group shot down eight enemy planes, bringing its three-day total to 45 and its two-year total to a record-breaking 800.

Fighter Group Passes Goal Of 500 Germans

A U.S. Fighter Station, Dec. 25 (AP) — The United States 8th Air Force's 357th Mustang Group shot down 31 German planes in yesterday's big air battles and thereby exceeded its Christmas goal.

For several days a sign had been hanging on the bulletin board—"500 by Christmas." The day's kills gave them 514.

The group, commanded by Lieut. Col. Irwin H. Dregne, of Viroqua, Wis., went into combat over Europe last February.

RUSSIANS CUT LAST LINE OUT OF BUDAPEST

KASTELHAZ

Drive To West Limits; Now Within 10 Miles Of Encircling City

London, Dec. 25 (AP)—The Red Army drove to the western city limits of Budapest today, cutting the last railway escape routes westward from the Hungarian capital, which was within 10 miles of complete encirclement.

A Soviet communiqué, announcing these successes, also reported a continuing Red Army surge westward in southern Checkoslovakia along the Hron (Garam) River in the vicinity of Leva (Levice) in a drive toward Vienna and Bratislava, now less than 98 and 65 miles distant, respectively.

List 12,000 Of Enemy Slain

The communiqué emphasized the clamping of the vise on Budapest, however, and announced that in fighting west and southwest of that city December 21-24 the Russians had slain 12,600 German and Hungarian soldiers, captured 5,468, and destroyed or seized vast quantities of war material. This included 291 tanks, 106 planes and 147 cannon destroyed, plus capture of 154 planes, many in first-class condition, 21 tanks and 101 cannon.

On December 24 alone 61 German tanks were knocked out southwest of Budapest, the Russians announced.

The Soviet drive brought capture of Piliscsaba, 13 miles northwest of Budapest, through which runs the electric railroad to Vienna. This was the last rail escape route remaining to the Germans.

Last Gap Roadless Tract

The enemy has remaining a gap of 9.9 miles between Piliscsaba and the Danube River, but this is a roadless tract of wooded hills, and the Russians north of the Danube already are driving westward with a view to cutting even that doubtful pathway.

The Budapest suburbs which the Russians announced they had captured along with more than 40 communities west and southwest of the capital were Budakeszi and Diosd. Buakeszi adjoins the city limits of Buda, western half of the city of Budapest while Diosd lies to the south. Soviet troops also captured Leanyvar, 18 miles northwest of Budapest.

Although their rail routes of escape were lost, the Germans in Budapest still controlled at least one or two airfields.

Spread Along River

Northwest of Budapest, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2d Ukraine Army was spreading out along the Hron on both sides of Leva, apparently preparing to storm that last important river barrier before Austria. Seven places were captured in that area, the Russians announced.

The Germans reported that they were contesting Malinovsky's westward drive through southern Czechoslovakia bitterly. In taking Leva, however, the Russians had seized the junction of railroads from Bratislava and Budapest, as well as control of a main crossing of the Hron.

Dispatches from Moscow said that it was apparent that in the five-day Soviet offensive southwest of Budapest the Germans had suffered one of their biggest reverses on the southeastern front, especially in the loss of machines and badly needed tanks.

Report 250 Places Taken

The reports reaching Moscow said that in the sweep through the Nazi defense line west of Budapest which had hinged on Szekesfehervar, Marshal Feodor Tolbuhkin's 3d Ukraine Army had captured approximately 250 populated places and brought in thousands of German and Hungarian prisoners.

Col. Ernst von Hammer, German military commentator, conceded in a broadcast that Tolbuhkin's tank spearheads had made significant gains northward, but claimed that fighting still was heavy southwest of Budapest.

He reported that the Russians Sunday had lunged as far as Felsogalla, 24 miles west of Budapest and about 13 miles south of the Czechoslovak border, as Tolbuhkin's tanks and motorized troops were "tearing up the front" west of the capital.

Germans Admit Retreat

He also admitted new German retreats north of the Danube bend above Budapest and from the Matra Mountains below Losonc and northeast of Budapest.

In the battle of western Latvia, where the Germans reported that Russians were attacking for the fourth day in an effort to wipe out 30 Nazi division penned against the Baltic coast, von Hammer said the Germans scored "full defensive success in thwarting every Russian attempt to break through in bitter fighting."

Moscow still was silent regarding that northern front.

Axis Retreat Roads Are Cut by Russians West of Budapest

Other Soviet Forces Reported 17 Miles Inside Slovakia

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—The Axis garrison in beleaguered Budapest faced entrapment today at the hands of Russian forces which, a Soviet communique said, have cut roads of retreat to the west after a swift 25-mile advance in three days.

At the same time other Red Army troops were reported to have stabbed 17 miles inside Western Slovakia and captured the rail junction of Leva (Levice), only 65 miles east of the Slovak capital of Bratislava and 98 miles from Vienna.

Strongholds Overrun.

The threat to the Budapest garrison was mounted by troops of Marshal Feodor I. Tobukhin's 3d Ukraine Army, which overran the important enemy strongholds of Szekesfehervar and Bicske, respectively, 32 miles southwest and 17 miles west of Budapest.

In the advance the Russians drove the enemy from 160 populated ploces, the Soviet war bulletin said, and seized a 9-mile stretch of the main Budapest-Vienna trunk railway between Bicske and Budapest. Only 17 miles now separates the tips of the pincers the Russians are closing around the Magyar capital.

Marshal Tobukhin's vanguards were reported within 7 miles of Budapest's city limits.

Meanwhile, Leva fell to Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2d Ukrainian Army, smashing westward above the Danube about 50 miles northwest of Budapest.

Seek to Trap Nazis.

While Marshal Malinovsky's main body pressed on beyond Leva on the road to Vienna, a part of his force fanned out northward into the Slovak Mountains in an effort to trap German units fighting far to the east in the exposed Losonc-Kassa sectors.

The Soviet communique said the two Russian armies had captured 4,630 Germans and Hungarians in the last three days.

Berlin reported without confirmation from Moscow that a big Soviet winter offensive was entering its sixth day in Western Latvia, where about 30 German divisions are trapped. German radio commentators told their listeners not to be surprised if the whole eastern front erupts.

Parleys Held With Regime Set Up In Liberated Area

Moscow, Dec. 25 (AP)—Political observers in Moscow believe an armistice will be effected soon between the Soviet Union and the new provisional Government of Hungary formed at Debrecen.

All negotiations between this new Government and the Soviet Union are being reported fully to United States and British representatives in Moscow. Representating cobelligerents against Hungary, W. Averill Harriman, United States Ambassador, and John Balfour, British Minister, certainly will sit in on the coming armistice conference.

Military Men At Head

Two strong military men—Col. Gen. Bela Miklos as Prime Minister and Col. Gen. Jarosc Veresc as Foreign Minister—head the new provisional Government.

Its attitude should give the Soviet Union another friendly neighbor in the Balkans.

The Russians have said they wanted a strong Hungary, just as they wanted a strong Romania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia—strong enough to put down Fascism wherever it should rise again.

Admits Former Guilt

The first declaration of the new Government appeared patterned after the Romanian and Bulgarian armistice moves. The Hungarian leaders admitted the guilt of the nation's former leaders and declared Hungary should repay damages.

The Government is believed moving for the quickest possible armistice, in order to get Hungarian troops into battle against their former Nazi masters as soon as possible.

assault, the U. S. 8th air force based in England today sent 800 warplanes—half of them heavy bombers—streaking across the channel in renewed blows at the railroad and highway lifelines of the German counteroffensive.

Allied Losses Mount

Thirteen bombers and 19 fighters were missing from today's operations, bringing American and British losses for the three days of furious air action to 198 planes. Fifty-five were heavy bombers, 39 medium bombers and 104 fighters.

American fliers today bagged 44 German planes and brought the total of enemy planes destroyed during the same period to 375. On Saturday 183 Nazi planes were shot down. Yesterday 148 more were accounted for by Allied pilots.

Simultaneously, the U. S. 9th air force sent hundreds of its speedy bomb and rocket equipped Mustangs and Thunderbolts into clear blue skies over western Germany to hammer at forward Nazi troops and vehicles probing American lines in Belgium. By noontime more than 400 fighterbombers blasted advancing enemy armored columns from close range destroying 32 tanks, including three Tigers. Nine more tanks were knocked out, and 80 other armored vehicles were destroyed in bombing and strafing runs.

American targets today included road and rail junctions just opposite the bulge driven into the U. S. First army lines by the German push and a number of railway bridges west of the Rhine on vital enemy supply routes.

The continent-based 19th tactical air force joined in the pummeling of German lines, destroying 282 motor vehicles, 11 tanks, two bridges and attacking 26 towns vital to the enemy drive in more than 300 sorties. 1944

As incomplete results of the day's victories came in tonight it was apparent that during the last three days of tremendous air action close to 400 German fighter planes have been destroyed. On Saturday 183 Nazi planes were shot down. Yesterday 148 more were accounted for by Allied pilots, and with only a partial tabulation of today's score available, 29 more Nazi aircraft were listed as definitely destroyed.

As German tanks and troop-carrying vehicles knifed westward many were set afire and exploded by Mustang, Thunderbolt and Lightning divebombers which caught the enemy vehicles as they rolled over the sunny, snowswept roads of Belgium. In attacks near Coblenz, squadrons of RAF Spitfires and Mustangs shot up military trains.

The Christmas day assault saw more than 1,500 tons of explosives poured on German installations—but only after violent combat over the battle area. Once more the Luftwaffe came up to intercept the raiders, and one 30-minute battle was fought over Cologne with a swarm of Messerschmitt 109's and Focke-Wulf 190's described by returning pilots as "unusually aggressive."

At least eight airdromes in the Frankfurt area were rendered unserviceable, and a number of parked enemy planes were destroyed, the communiqué reported.

U. S., British Plane Losses Reach 198 in Three-Day Aerial Offensive.

LONDON, Dec. 25—(AP) Allied fliers rocked the Germans with a lightning one-two punch today as Britain-based bombers and fighters lashed out at vital enemy supply lines and swarms of fighters based in France, Belgium and Holland poured bombs and rockets on Nazi troops and armored vehicles in the third straight day of clear-weather attacks.

Following on the heels of the gigantic 7,000-plane Christmas Eve

Anti-aircraft fire generally was meager to moderate and there only were a few scattered attacks on the bombers by fighters, returning crewmen reported.

"The weather was clear and cold and the formations were the best I have seen in some time," said Lt. Col. Gibson E. Sisco, of Fort Wayne, Ind., air commander of the Liberators on the attack. "I think the boys delivered the goods in right places today for I could see a number of good bomb hits.

Allied Bombers Resume Raids On Counterattacking Germans

Daylight Assault Follows Yesterday's 7,000-Plane Hammering of Nazis

BULLETIN.

LONDON (AP).—Eight hundred American planes—half of them heavy bombers—today dropped 1,500 tons of bombs on railroad bridges and road and rail junctions behind the German battle lines in renewed blows at the lifelines of the Nazi counteroffensive. Most of the bombing was visual, indicating the 48-hour stretch of good weather had held over at least into part of today.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Waves of Allied bombers and fighters swept out from Britain today to renew their assaults on the German spearheads in Belgium and Luxembourg despite reports from the front that the skies were clouding after a 48-hour stretch of good weather.

Flying Fortresses of the United States 15th Air Force from Italy also were reported attacking the Reich from the south, German radio stations declaring bomber formations were over Austria and heading north.

At noon headquarters of the United States 8th Air Force in Britain announced that "heavy bombers are over Germany."

Approximately 7,000 Allied planes took the air over the western front yesterday in support of ground troops battling to stem the German counteroffensive. It was estimated unofficially that approximately 13,000 sorties were flown.

Allied losses yesterday were 39 bombers and 51 fighters. On Saturday Allied losses were 47 bombers—including eight heavies—and 26 fighters.

German plane losses for the two days were put at 326, but this was only a fraction of the destruction wrought by the Allied airmen.

Captive Yanks Bombed By Americans, Nazis Say

London, Dec. 25 (AP)—A Berlin broadcast today declared United States bombers set fire to an American prisoner-of-war camp on the Lahn river Sunday and that many Americans were killed.

"Direct hits were scored on several barracks, one of which was a hospital for the wounded and sick United States prisoners, and all of them were killed," said the broadcast by Transocean, Nazi propaganda agency.

"Out of 60 American officers, the greater part were killed. Others were seriously injured. Still other American prisoners of war who were just being transferred to the camp from a train were machine gunned," the German report said.

Swiss Town Reported Bombed By Americans

London, Dec. 25 (AP)—An American squadron bombed Thayngen, Swiss town on the southwest German border today, an official communiqué broadcast by the Swiss radio reported. The bombing damaged the German rail station on the frontier, some factories and a number of houses, the communiqué said. One German was killed and four Swiss were injured, according to the report.

The communiqué said that the last of three eight-plane squadrons of twin-engined bombers which crossed the town dropped explosives making "some twenty hits with medium and heavy bombs."

Thayngen is situated in the Canton of Schaffhausen, for whose bombing by mistake earlier in the war the United States has paid an indemnity.

An American four-engined bomber was shot down by Swiss anti-aircraft when an air fleet crossed over Wuerlingen in the Aargau Canton, also on the German border, the communique reported. Eight of the crew of ten bailed out but one of them drowned in the Aar river. Two were found dead in the plane. The surviving seven were interned, the Swiss said.

American Fighter Pilot Downs Three Germans

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 25 — Lieut. George W. Gleason of Montrose, Col., shot down three German planes today to pace United States Eighth Air Force fighters escorting bombers in their Christmas raids against the German winter offensive.

Seven pilots scored double kills in the air. They were Lieut. Robert E. Welch of Brown City, Mich.; Capt. Bertrum E. Ellingson of Rosholt, S. D.; Capt. Richard J. Spencer of Grosse Pointe, Mich.; Capt. C. M. Hart of Westfield, N. J.; Lieut. Arnold G. Helding of West Missoula, Mont.; Flight Officer W. J. Charbo of Williston, N. D., and Lieut. Bernard H. Howes of Stoughton, Mass.

Each of the following shot down one plane: Lieut. Col. Donald A. Baccus of Los Angeles; Capt. Donald J. Strait of Montclair, N. J.; Major Arthur F. Jeffrey of San Francisco; Capt. M. J. Jackson of Plainfield, N. J.; Lieut. Richard O. Creighton of Los Angeles; Lieut. Eugene Sears of Beatrice, Neb.; Lieut. K. C. Batson of Playa del Ray, Calif., and Lieut. Horace Waggoner of Waggoner, Ill.

V-Bomb Raids Extended To Northern England

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Berlin assertions that Manchester had been attacked by Nazi "long-range weapons" coincided today with an official British disclosure that the Germans have extended their V-bomb assaults to Northern England.

The twin developments recalled reports that the Nazis have been working to complete V-2 rocket launching sites in Norway.

It was not clear from reports whether the Germans were employing V-1 flying bombs, rockets or both in their latest attacks.

London, Dec. 25 (AP)—A provisional Hungarian Government headed by Col. Gen. Bela Miklos, former commander of the Hungarian 1st Army, has been established in portions of the country liberated from German domination by the Red Army, according to the Moscow radio.

General Miklos was dismissed as head of the 1st Army after Ferenc Szalaski deposed Admiral Nicholas Horthy as regent and set up a pro-Nazi regime.

PROF. COUNT GEZA TELEKI, Education and Culture.

After being ratified by the provisional Hungarian National Assembly, the new Cabinet ministers took the oath of office and immediately issued an appeal to the Hungarians to fight to break away "the only remaining satellite of Hitler" from the German orbit.

Queen Of Holland's Message Of Hope

London, Dec. 25 (AP)—Queen Wilhelmina today sent to the people of the Netherlands a Christmas message of hope for a better and peaceful future "in the sure expectation of speedy and complete liberation," the Dutch news agency Aneta reported.

The Queen, speaking over Radio Orange, Netherlands station in London, said "the message of Christmas enables us to call a courageous and convincing 'no' to the dark powers that threaten us with destruction."

JAPS CLAIM SUBMARINES OPERATE ON U. S. COAST

LONDON, Dec. 25.—(AP) Japanese submarines "are again operating along the United States Pacific coast," a Japanese broadcast heard by BBC said today.

The Domei broadcast said submarines were "striking in force" after a two-year period of "behind-the-scenes" supply operations.

The enemy report said four submarines alone, since the return of the offensive, had sunk four aircraft carriers, two destroyers and four transports.

Summarizing submarine activity since Pearl Harbor, the Japanese claimed 15 aircraft carriers, three battleships, five cruisers, three destroyers, two submarines and 200 transports, a total of 2,000,000 tons of shipping, had been "definitely confirmed as sunk."

YULE CELEBRATION DISRUPTED BY WAR

LONDON, Dec. 25.—(AP) This was Christmas, Anno Domini 1944.

A mighty organ filled the vaulting darkness of London's Westminister cathedral with the throb of "Silent Night" at midnight mass.

(Westward an American defense line braced for the next hammer blow of a German army gambling on a knockout punch.)

Bright Christmas trees and lights cheered GI's far from home in Red Cross clubs and canteens.

(An infantry colonel said, "we just sat up on this hill and mowed them down. The whole valley down there is littered with their dead.")

The lilt of carols, traditional as Yuletide, echoed through deserted streets.

(German V-bombs struck northern and southern England. One hit a row of houses. A number of children were killed.)

Santa Claus came for the first time in this war to the Lambeth Walk home of the "three little littles"—Brenda, Bobby and Charles—who were thrice bombed out by the Germans.

(Berlin radio said: "Scientists responsible for the development of German V-weapons have been decorated with the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross.")

Postal staff worked overtime to distribute gradually diminishing mountains of mail for U. S. soldiers overseas.

(At a fighter base in England a tight-lipped commander reported: "Three of our lads are missing.")

It was turkey and fixin's for GI's behind the lines.

(Allied headquarters said "our forces isolated in Bastogne continue to hold out.")

LONDON'S RAIL SYSTEM IS CRIPPLED BY STRIKE

LONDON, Dec. 25 — (AP) A Christmas day strike in London's vast underground railway system seriously crippled the capital's transportation, stranding holiday crowds at main railway stations, and keeping war workers from jobs.

Buses on curtailed holiday schedule and taxicabs proved inadequate and many persons had to walk as much as five miles to reach home or work.

The tube workers had demanded two days holidays at Christmas time, and defied instructions of union leaders to remain on their jobs when management refused their demands.

London Subway Workers Quit

LONDON, Dec. 25.—London's subway system was paralyzed today as workers quit their jobs after a dispute over a two-day holiday.

Union leaders described the walkout as unauthorized. It was expected to last for one day only.

CANADIANS GAIN ON ITALIAN FRONT

ROME, Dec. 25—(AP) A heavy Christmas snowfall carpeted the Italian front today, confining activity to probing stabs at enemy positions after heavy German artillery, mortar and machine gun fire throughout the night.

The northward and westward push of the Eighth army above highway nine has whittled the strong, broad enemy salient east of Senio river from a width of 10 miles to less than five.

Canadian units advanced along the heavily-mined lateral road on the Senio's east bank, rooting the enemy from many fortified buildings in the area of Rossetta, 10 miles northwest of Allied-held Ravenna. They encountered thick German mortar and machinegun fire.

Ten miles to the south, the Eighth army captured Pieve di Cesata, five miles northeast of Faenza, yesterday, lopping the German bulge from the lateral road all the way to the Naviglio canal. Other forces spreading out from captured Bagnocovolla, five miles north of Pieve di Cesato, continued to clear the enemy from strong points along the Senio's east bank.

Due west of Faenza, Polish patrols slipped across the Senio, inflicted casualties on the enemy, and then withdraw. This stab was in the vicinity of Monte Chebrio, 5 1-2 miles south of Imola, the next important objective of the drive along the Via Emilia.

The Christmas eve snow brought relative respite to American Fifth army troops who had spent the previous day battling off Nazi counterattacks on newly won positions east of Monte Belmonte.

But there were a number of patrol clashes in the Fifth army sector, and in one hot action the enemy suffered a number of casualties at Monterumici, south of Bologna.

Snow sharply curtailed air activity.

Snowfall Stalemates Operations in Italy

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Dec. 25.—A heavy snowfall stalemated ground operations on the Italian front yesterday, Allied headquarters announced today, giving a respite to American 5th Army troops who spent the previous day battling off German counterattacks on their newly-won positions east of Monte Belmonte.

Air activity also was sharply curtailed, but Allied fighter-bombers attacked an enemy airdrome northeast of Vicenza, destroying 15 aircraft and damaging two others aground. Other fighters also strafed German transport, but heavy and medium bombers were grounded.

Aerial operations over the Balkans were limited to an attack on a railyard north of Mostar in Yugoslavia.

Pope Calls On World For Society of Peoples To Ban Future Wars

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Dec. 25.—Pope Pius XII, in his annual Christmas message last night, called on the peave-loving peoples of the world to do everything possible to ban future wars and indorsed the formation of a strong organization—a "society of peoples"—as a logical means to this end.

"If ever a generation has had to appreciate in the depths of its conscience the call to 'war on war', it certainly is the present generation," the Pontiff said in an address broadcast by the Vatican City radio.

He warned, however, that attempts to preserve peace would fail if a "perpetual burden" were placed on the defeated nations at the end of the present conflict.

People Must Have Hope.

The Pope said it was "understandable and probably inevitable" that those responsible for the war should have for a time to undergo the rigors of security measures until the bonds of mutual trust, violently broken, are gradually welded together again."

"Nevertheless," he cautioned, "even these peoples must have a well-founded hope—commensurate to their active collaboration in the work of reconstruction—of being able, together with the other states with equal consideration and with the same rights, to be associated with the great community of nations.

"To deny them this hope would be the reverse of far-seeing wisdom. It would be to assure the grave responsibility of barring the way to a general liberation from all disastrous consequences, material, moral and political, of the gigantic cataclysm which has shaken the poor human family to its very foundations, but which, at the same time, has shown it the road to new goals."

The Pope expressed belief that out of the depths of the present global conflict is rising "an aura of hope," a desire on the part of an ever-increasing number of people to make the war a starting-point for a "complete reorganization of the world."

"Taught by bitter experience," he said, "people are more aggressive in opposing the concentration of dictatorial power that cannot be censured or touched, and call for a system of government more in keeping with the dignity and liberty of the citizens."

Democracy in Monarchies.

The Pontiff declared that considering "the extent and nature of the sacrifices demanded of all citizens," the democratic form of government "appears to many as a postulate of nature imposed by reason itself."

He added that "democracy, taken in the broad sense, admits of various forms, and can be realized in monarchies as well as in republics."

After delivering his broadcast address the Pope celebrated the first public Christmas Eve mass to be held in St. Peter's in 75 years. A throng estimated at 100,000 jammed every available bit of space in the famous cathedral and overflowed into the courtyard.

The opening array, announced today, shows the Air Force Blockbusters boasting a backfield averaging 201 pounds behind a line stacking up at 214. The doughboys will rely on an all-corporal batch of ball-toters averaging 197, operating behind a forward wall averaging 218.

The contest will be staged in a stadium seating somewhere between five persons and 25,000.

CHURCHILL, EDEN ARRIVE IN ATHENS TO ACT ON DISPUTE

ELAS Invited to Send Delegates to General Meeting Today.

FIGHTING CONTINUES

Leftists Pound British Positions with Artillery, Battle in Piraeus

ATHENS, Dec. 25—(AP) Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden arrived dramatically in embattled Athens today and immediately began conferences seeking to settle the 23-day-old Greek conflict.

Even as the British Prime Minister and his Foreign Secretary were arranging for a general meeting of all factions for 4 p.m. Tuesday, the Left-Wing ELAS group continued furious fighting with British and Greek government forces throughout this Christmas day. Cannon fire and rocket blasts reverberated in the city.

ELAS to Send Delegates

The ELAS was invited to send three or four representatives to the conference, with promises of safe conduct.

Archbishop Damaskinos of Athens, mentioned as a possible regent for Greece in previous attempts to settle the conflict, will preside at the Tuesday meeting.

The seriousness with which the Greek situation is regarded was indicated by the announcement tonight that Churchill and Eden had arrived and disclosure that Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean; and Harold MacMillan, British resident minister in the Mediterranean, both were in Athens also.

Churchill, who has vigorously defended against numerous critics his action in using British troops against the Greek Leftists, immediately held conferences with these British officials, the Greek royal government premier and others.

News of the arrival of Britain's top leaders in Athens was the first intimation to the world of their personal intervention in the Greek internal crisis, which has involved three weeks of civil war.

Hefetofore they had dealt through MacMillan, and Lt. Gen. Ronald M. Scobie, British commander-in-chief in Greece.

Armistice dealings with the Leftist ELAS have thus far been fruitless and fighting has continued.

Eden's Second Visit

This was Eden's second visit to Greece within a few months. He went to Athens with the late Lord Moyne, British minister resident in the Middle East, Oct. 26 a few days before the latter's assassination in Cairo and after Churchill and Eden had seen Marshal Stalin in Moscow.

The following communique was issued in Athens tonight and a copy forwarded the headquarters of the ELAS central committee:

"Mr. Churchill and Mr. Eden arrived in Athens today.

"After communication with Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, commander-in-chief of the Allied forces in the Mediterranean, with the British resident minister for the central Mediterranean (Mr. Harold MacMillan) and the British Ambassador, (Mr. Reginald Leeper), they interviewed the Greek Prime Minister (M. Papandreou) and informed him that they proposed to convene a conference, representative so far as possible, of Greek political opinion."

"The conference is to enable her to resume her place among the United Nations. The central ELAS committee is being invited to send delegates to take their part in this conference. The necessary safe conduct will be given to these delegates. The archbishop of Athens has consented to preside at this conference as chairman."

At the same time as the communiqué was issued, a message to the ELAS central committee, in which General Scobie invited the ELAS faction to send three or four delegates to the conference, also was released.

"General Scobie received at 8 P.M. on the evening of December 22 a reply from the ELAS central committee to his statement of December 16. He is forwarding for the information of the committee a copy of a communiqué issued in Athens this evening.

"The central committee are accordingly invited to send delegates to take their part in the proposed conference.

"All necessary arrangements will be made for their safe conduct.

"It is suggested that they should send three or four delegates as they may prefer. The meeting will be at 4 P.M. on December 26."

The arrival of the Prime Minister and his Foreign Secretary brought no let-up in the fighting that raged bitterly on Christmas day.

ELAS Positions Hit

British Beaufighters blasted the ELAS concentrations with rockets and cannon in the northern suburbs of the Greek capital.

Artillery fire also was heard resounding in the central part of the city.

The ELAS forces were reported employing 37 mm. light anti-tank guns as field artillery for bombardment of the British perimeter of defenses. But their firing has become less frequent.

In the square 1,000 yards from British headquarters and around the American billet, heavy mortar and sniper duels raged. Sherman tanks made a series of raids on sniper nests west of the square.

Earlier the British in Athens' port, Piraeus, captured the main refrigerating plant for the capital area after a stiff fight during which the plant was damaged. Meanwhile, tank-supported British parachute troops increased their hold on the western sections of central Athens.

Greek Archbishop Damaskinos broadcast a Christmas appeal to Athenians for a cessation of hostilities, and charged Italians with having sown seeds of discord.

Tonight the fighting subsided somewhat and the city became quieter, but evidence that the struggle was not ended was the red glow of fires over the district a mile from where Churchill and Eden held their meetings today.

British Troops Seize Refrigerating Plant For Athens Section

ELAS' Note to Scobie Offers Little Hope for Ending Civil Strife

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, Dec. 25.—British troops in the port of Piraeus today captured the main refrigerating plant for the Athens area after a stiff fight during which the plant was damaged.

Meanwhile, tank-supported British parachute troops increased their hold on the western quarters of Central Athens.

These operations came after the right of the British to intervene to "restore law and order" in Greece was challenged by left-wing ELAS leaders yesterday.

ELAS Make Demands.

In a message sent to Lt. Gen. Ronald M. Scobie, British commander, the leftists again demanded the establishment of a Greek government "of common confidence" as a prerequisite to laying down their arms. They agreed to a cessation of hostilities only on condition that followers of other volunteer militia organizations be disarmed.

The note, dispatched in reply to a British memorandum of December 16, failed to alter materially the original stand of ELAS leaders and seemed to hold no hope for an immediate end of the civil strife.

Cleared From Half of Athens.

The British said yesterday that ELAS forces had been cleared from approximately half of Athens, but the Leftists still were strongly intrenched in warehouses and port buildings at Piraeus. A fresh detachment of Indian troops was landed at Piraeus over the week end under the guns of British warships.

In Northwestern Greece bitter fighting continued between ELAS forces and rightwing troops of Gen. Napoleon Zervas, with the Rightists reported suffering heavy casualties. After four days of fighting Gen. Zervas' Edes were said to have been reduced from 12,000 to between 4,000 and 6,000—partly due to desertions.

British In Burma Advance 10 Miles

Southeast Asia Headquarters, Ceylon, Dec. 25 (AP)—British 14th Army troops have pushed 10 miles toward the town of Yeu, only 70 miles northwest of Mandalay, in a Burma jungle advance against slight opposition, southeast Asia headquarters said today.

In central Burma, British units advanced southward from Kokkogon, some 18 miles southwest of the Irrawaddy River town of Tigyiang, a communiqué said. Chinese 30th Division troops operating in the northern combat area occupied two villages about 2 miles south of the Namhkam road near Daizik, just west of the old Burma road, it added.

American 10th Air Force planes again supported ground elements. One formation bombed a Japanese supply area near Maymyo, on the Mandalay-Lashio railroad, yesterday and hit rolling stock on the same line, the communiqué said.

Medium and fighter-bombers destroyed or damaged eight bridges in central Burma December 23, and heavy bombers last night attacked railroad yards at Phulangthuong, northeast of Hanoi, in French Indo-China, the communiqué said.

DEAD JAP SOLDIER BURIED UPSIDE DOWN

U. S. TENTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, North Burma, Dec. 24—(Delayed)—(AP) Lt. Col. G. Robert Dodson, Air force liaison officer of Portland, Ore., returned today from a forward liaison plane strip in north Burma and reported seeing 15 pairs of Japanese feet sticking out of the ground.

Villagers said the Japanese had buried their own soldiers that way. Thirty Japanese feet, and several inches of legs, were all that was visible of the 15 enemy buried upside down in neat rows.

Chinese Batter Jap Supply Lines

Chungking, Dec. 25 (AP)—A series of stabbing attacks at Japanese supply lines northeast and northwest of enemy-held Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi province, was announced tonight by the Chinese high command.

While the main body of Chinese forces still battled for Hochih, in western Kwangsi, knifelike attacks struck at two important Japanese communications hubs deep in enemy-held territory.

The high command announced that hit-and-run Chinese troops attacked the Japanese west of the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad town of Chuanhsien, about 70 miles northeast of Kweilin. The Japanese suffered more than 120 casualties.

Other Chinese attacked Japanese positions north of Hengyang on the Canton-Hankow railway, killed 120 of the enemy and seized a quantity of supplies.

Chinese positions near the Kwangsi-Kweichow border were attacked by the Japanese based in Lungsheng, 40 miles north of Kweilin. The high command said the thrust was driven off.

Yanks 'Mopping Up' in Leyte Campaign; 'Greatest Jap Defeat,' Says MacArthur

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Tuesday, Dec. 26. — (AP) Gen. Douglas MacArthur declared today that the Leyte-Samar campaign "was closed except for mopping up" yesterday after American doughboys had captured Palompon in a water-borne assault which sealed the fate of the Japanese and closed their last escape port on north western Leyte island.

Asserting that Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita (Nipponese commander in the Philippines) "has sustained perhaps the greatest defeat in the military annals of the Japanese army," MacArthur's communique said the Japanese had lost an estimated 112,728 killed and 493 captured in the 67-day campaign.

Unparalleled Jap Defeat

"The completeness of this destruction," said MacArthur, "has seldom been paralleled in the history of warfare."

The magnitude of the American victory in the first phase of the campaign to liberate the Philippines was further borne out by Gen. MacArthur's assertion that 2,748 enemy planes were destroyed in the islands, since the landing on Leyte, by the Third and 7th fleet carrier planes, the Army's Fifth air force, Marine units and American shore and ship anti-aircraft guns.

A total of 27 warships and 41 transports sunk during destruction of 10 Leyte-bound Japanese convoys does not include enemy losses in naval battles in Leyte gulf Oct. 25. The American casualties of 2,623 killed, 8,422 wounded and 172 missing covered only the American ground force losses.

The coup de grace was given the Nipponese on Leyte Christmas morning (Philippine Time) when a 77th division force entered Palompon bay and stormed ashore while escorting U. S. Seventh fleet PT boats beat a tatoo against the beach and the division's own artillery laid down a heavy bombardment from advanced positions inland from Palompon.

The enemy had little with which to reply to the two-way barrage. By the time the 155 millimeter "Long Toms" had lifted their barrage, Japanese survivors of the blasting were doomed just as their comrades were on Dec. 7 when the 77th landed just below Ormoc, on Leyte's western coast, to provide the anvil iron on which the Seventh U. S. infantry division smashed the Japanese 26th division.

By nightfall of Christmas, the 77th's commander, Maj. Gen. A. D. Bruce, was able to message Army headquarters:

"The 77th infantry division's Christmas contribution to the Leyte campaign is the capture of Palompon, last main Japanese port on Leyte. We are grateful to the Almighty on this birthday of His Son."

Yanks Capture Palompon

The capture of Palompon on Christmas morning followed cleaning out of a small Japanese pocket around San Isidro 25 miles to the north. Most of the Japanese there were relics of reinforcing convoys destroyed before they could reach the port of Ormoc.

The capture of Palompon brought to a close the active military phase of the task MacArthur set for the Americans on Leyte three days after landing when he envisaged "the preparation of a great base for all arms for future operations."

In achieving this goal MacArthur committed—in addition to Army engineers, Navy Seabees, aviation construction units and supply troops—seven combat divisions: the 7th division, the 77th, the first cavalry, the 11th airborne, the 24th, 32nd, and 96th divisions.

Seventh fleet carrier planes, the fifth air force and Marine air units provided direct support, and Adm. William F. Halsey's Third fleet carrier units have given strategical air assistance from the beginning. Once they were called in to smash an enemy convoy approaching Leyte.

In support of the reconquest of Leyte, the U. S. Navy not only committed the most powerful carrier force involved in any Pacific operation, but early Oct. 25, when the fare of the central Philippines hung in precarious balance for several dark hours, Vice Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid's Seventh fleet met and defeated a Japanese battle force in the largest fleet action of the war in any theater.

The communique reported another of the daily strikes at Clark Field, near Manila, where 18 of 50 or 60 Japanese interceptors were shot down by American planes Sunday.

Yanks Close In on Japs' Last Leyte Strong Point

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 25 (AP).—American doughboys, picking up enemy dead by the thousands, today rapidly closed in on Palompon, last Japanese strong point on Leyte Island, as Gen. MacArthur announced a 280-ton bombing attack on Halmahera in the Moluccas and fresh attacks on the Manila area.

Yanks of the 77th Division, pressing westward toward Palompon Port from the sealed-off Ormoc corridor, found Japanese resistance "weak and sporadic," Gen. MacArthur reported, and captured great quantities of tanks, trucks, ammunition, artillery and even construction material.

In one day's fighting 2,640 Japanese were killed and 28 captured as the Leyte cleanup neared a conclusion. It the last eight days more than 13,000 enemy dead have been counted.

Ineffective Jap Assaults.

Action at Mindoro Island was confined to ineffective Japanese air assaults on American ground positions. Seven enemy aircraft were shot down.

The devastating bombing of Halmahera was carried out by heavy, medium and light bombers which struck airdromes, warehouses, motor pools, communications facilities, fuel dumps and gun emplacements with such effect that smoke rose 3,000 feet. One American plane was lost on the raid, one of the heaviest on a single target in this theater.

Liberator bombers with a fighter escort wiped out an estimated 25 planes on Grace Park Airdrome at Manila Saturday. They encountered no aerial opposition in this second successive daylight raid by heavy bombers on airdromes in the Manila area. On Friday a flight of Liberators hit Clark Field, destroying or damaging more than 50 Japanese planes on the ground and setting fires in airdrome installations.

13 Freighters Are Hit.

Thirteen small freighters were destroyed or damaged in the bay at Zamboanga and Davao as heavy and medium bombers raked that Southern Philippines Island. Fires were set in wharf areas.

Central Philippines aidromes were cratered anew, petroleum installations on Northern Borneo took another pounding, and Japanese positions on New Guinea were effectively hit with 50 tons of bombs. Rabaul on New Britain took 35 tons.

In strange contrast to the bloody pre-Christmas greetings to Japan, American transport planes dropped Christmas salutations on liberated Filipinos, who waved back cheerily.

Filipino children gathered in front of Gen. MacArthur's headquarters on Christmas eve and sang carols.

In a statement, Gen. MacArthur wished the Filipinos "all the blessings of Christmas and realization of your fervent hopes for the New Year."

Carols Are Sung Despite Jap Raid

General MacArthur's Philippine Headquarters, Dec. 25 (AP)—Raiding Japanese planes interrupted Christmas Eve carolers singing "Silent Night" at General MacArthur's Leyte headquarters.

Three warning blasts of the air-raid alert system failed to halt the singers but they were stilled when the heavy ack-ack batteries opened a torrent of fire.

A cross beam of searchlights caught one enemy plane and illuminated him as bright as tinsel. Shortly thereafter the intruder burst into flames in midair and seemed to hang an instant in the moonlight like the star of Bethlehem. Then he dropped into the sea.

Hundreds of GI's watching the sky performance let out a roaring cheer.

Then the imperturbable WAC and GI choristers resumed their caroling, this time with "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas."

"You can't beat people like that," remarked one soldier.

Iwo Jima Under Attack

Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 25 (AP)—Iwo Jima, Japanese base in the Volcano Islands 750 miles south of Tokyo, was shelled by United States warships and bombed by Superfortresses and Liberators Saturday in a second co-ordinated sea-air assault, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

The task force warships bombarded coastal defenses of the lava rock island and shore guns "offered some" return fire, Nimitz reported. None of the American ships was damaged, however.

A Japanese destroyer escort vessel was caught in the raid and sunk by shellfire. A patrol craft and a medium-sized landing ship also were sunk by gunfire.

Iwo Jima was last hit in a joint ship-and-air assault on December 7 designed to halt raids on the Superfortress base of Saipan which the Japanese made from Iwo. The enemy has been unable to attack Saipan from the air since that pounding.

The communiqué did not specify the size of the B-29 force that participated in Saturday's assault, merely saying that planes of the 21st Bomber Command joined strategic air force bombers and fighters.

Lightnings As Escort

Lightning fighters escorted the Liberators on the nearly 1,500-mile round-trip flight and strafed Iwo's airstrips and shore defenses. One enemy plane was destroyed on the ground and six others damaged.

Only two Nipponese fighters attempted to intercept the raiders. Anti-aircraft fire was reported meager. All the planes returned.

Chichi Jima in the Bonins, to the north of Iwo, also was hammered Saturday by strategic air-force bombers. The airstrips were the major target.

Marine fighter planes swept over Babelthuap Island in the Palaus group the same day, setting several buildings afire, and Marine and Navy bombers continued neutralizing attacks on isolated enemy bases in the Marshall Islands.

Today's communiqué was the first report that the B-29's had teamed with Liberators and surface ships to blast Iwo. It had been announced in Washington yesterday only that the Superfortresses had hit the island, which has been bombed daily since December 7.

Iwo Jima Hammered By B-29s and Liberators

PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 25 (AP).—A heavy weight of American bombs fell over the week end on Iwo Jima, closest Japanese base to Saipan, home grounds of the giant Super Fortresses which have been blasting Tokyo.

B-29s teamed up with Liberators in the twofold raid on the Japanese island in the Volcano Group. On Saturday (Sunday, Japanese time), a force of perhaps 50 Super Fortresses attacked Iwo Jima, and "heavy explosions in military installations" were observed. The raid was announced by the 20th Air Force.

All B-29s Return.

The assault followed an attacked on the island Friday (Saturday, Japanese time), when four-engined Liberators blasted it for the 16th consecutive day in the American drive to remove its threat to the Saipan base.

The B-29s all returned to their Marianas base, and airmen reported anti-aircraft fire was light and inaccurate. Their reports suggested the unremitting air attacks may have reduced Iwo Jima's defenses to a point where no further serious resistance can be expected from that source.

On the later raid the Liberators encountered only two Japanese interceptors which offered nominal resistance, said Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's communique.

Iwo Jima, 750 miles south of Tokio, has been bombed 20 times this month.

Woleai Also Attacked.

Another Liberator group from Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon's Strategic Air Force attacked Woleai in the Western Carolines in a reconnaissance to make sure the enemy has not been able to fly in reinforcements.

Three Japanese barges were sunk and three more damaged as Marine Corsairs strafed Babelthuap in the Palaus. Marine fighter planes and divebombers bombed Japanese-held islands in the Marshalls which have been largely inactivated by the Allies nearly a year ago.

2 COLONELS LOST IN B-29 TOKYO RAID

Major, Nine Others in Crippled Superfortress Believed to Have Died Also

U. S. 21ST BOMBER COMMAND, Saipan, Dec. 3 (Delayed) (AP)—A Superfortress was lost over Tokyo today, carrying two colonels, a major and nine others to almost certain death.

It was the second B-29 downed in combat there. Among those lost were Col. Byron Elias Brugge, 35 years old, son-in-law of the late

Maj. Gen. Clarence L. Tinker; Col. Richard Thomas King Jr., 36, and Maj. Robert Flood Goldsworthy, 27, of Rosalia, Wash., the pilot.

Disabled by the gunfire of a Japanese plane, the Superfortress went down with two engines smoking and enemy fighters trailing it closely. One wing was apparently buckling when last seen. Nobody was seen to parachute.

Colonel Brugge, a native of Brooklyn, lived in Tampa, Fla., with his wife and their two young sons. He was deputy chief of staff in charge of operations for a Twenty-first Bomber Command unit.

DEC 26 1944

A graduate of West Point in 1934, Colonel Brugge trained for flying at Randolph and Kelly Fields, Tex., and Chanute Field, Ill. He served in the Canal Zone for three years. His wife, Madeline, is the daughter of General Tinker, the full-blooded Indian general who commanded the United States Seventh Air Force and was killed in the Battle of Midway in June, 1942.

Colonel King, a native of Georgetown, S. C., commanded a combat unit in the Twenty-first Bomber Command. His wife, Claire, and their 6-year-old son, Richard, live in Tampa. Major Goldsworthy had a wife and son in Thornton, Wash.

Santa Claus on Guam

GUAM, Dec. 25 (via Navy Radio) (AP).—Santa Claus came to Guam today for the first time in three years. He wore a Seabee uniform under his brilliant red suit, and passed out gifts to the Chamorro children from the back of a carabao while American soldiers played boogie woogie for the natives from an improvised stage.

Last year, recalled thirteen-year-old Herman Perez, "there was no party, no cake, no candy, no rations and the Japanese beat me when I didn't work fast enough on their airfield."

Guam Nurse Says Japs Beheaded Children

In a U.S. Hospital, Guam, Dec. 25 (AP)—Flanked by Doctors William B. Ruocco, of Paterson, N.J., and Jack Doval, of Sacramento, Cal., Nurse Sizuenza who remained in Guam during the Japanese occupation told today how Japanese beheaded native youngsters.

Naming two of them, she said: "Beatrice Perez and Juan Cabrera, about 16, were found one day almost beheaded and in terrible condition. The Japanese had accused them of being spies because they were not living in the compound.

"So just before you Americans arrived," she said, "the Japanese struck them with swords and tried to behead them and tossed them in a grave where they were left for dead and partially buried.

"They were found seven days later," she said, "with thirteen other children who had been beheaded."

Allied Warships Shell Bonins, Japs Report

Attack Carried Out By Destroyers and Cruisers, Tokyo Says

By the Associated Press.

The Tokyo radio reported today that about a dozen Allied warships shelled the Bonin Islands 600 miles south of Japan yesterday.

The unconfirmed broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said "10 and several more enemy cruisers and destroyers" fired on shore installations from 10:20 a.m. to 1 p.m. (Japanese time). Simultaneously a series of raids were carried out by various types of enemy planes.

The specific islands in the group under attack were not announced.

If confirmed it would be the fifth naval attack on the Bonin-Volcano Island groups along the road to Tokyo.

RESTRICTIONS PLACED ON AUSTRALIAN RACING

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 25.—(AP) A spokesman for the Australian Jockey club, chief racing body in Sydney, said today Australia had placed restrictions on racing for purposes similar to Washington's decision to close tracks during wartime.

In order to save labor and critical materials, the spokesman said, Australia dropped her race fixtures from a normal 111 annuallly to 40 at one stage. Recent modifications have restored the number to 55.

YULETIDE MARKED BY TROOPS ABROAD

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Americans in London, grimly following reports of the great battle in Belgium, joined their British friends yesterday in what probably was the quietest Christmas celebration on record there. A one-day strike of workers on London's vast subway system paralyzed the capital's transport network, and Americans and British alike had to give up their plans or walk miles to keep their Christmas engagements.

Hundreds of American airmen in action at noon had their Christmas turkey dinners and celebrations later in the day at bases scattered all over Britain.

In the Far East other Americans celebrated the day. In north Burma, the land of jungles and Buddha temples, some units built Christmas trees of bamboo and others received real Christmas trees flown in from India by 10th Air Force planes.

In Myitkyina there were 11 church services, attended by Americans, British, Indians, Chinese, Burmese and Kachins. The Red Cross presented a pageant of the birth of Christ. It was staged only a few dozen yards from a statue of Buddha.

All the Americans in Myitkyina had turkey for dinner.

China's war capital, Chungking, spent its eighth Christmas of the conflict heartened by the failure of the Japanese to make good a boast that Kunming and Chungking would be theirs by Christmas. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek gave a Chinese-American Christmas luncheon for about 20 guests, including Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley, President Roosevelt's representative; Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S.-China theater commander, and Maj. Gen. Robert B. McClure, chief of staff of U. S. forces in China.

At a U. S. 14th Air Force base somewhere in China, the Chinese adapted an old custom of their land to the western Christmas. They made ceremonious presentations of fattened cattle and Chinese delicacies to the American army establishments there. Maj. Gen. Claire I. Chennault thanked the townpeople on behalf of the men for 10 steers, 100 bottles of Chinese gin and such gifts. The animals wore red cardboard Christmas bells around their necks and their horns were festooned with red and green decorations.

Except for a prominent report of President Roosevelt's Christmas message to the people of the United States Sunday night, Christmas scarcely was noticed in the Soviet Union.

The Russian Christmas is almost two weeks away and the general celebration takes place then. The British embassy held an official reception Monday night. The Americans held theirs Sunday night.

BRITISH MONARCH PRAYS FOR PEACE

Hope for End of Hostilities Within Year Voiced by George VI

DEC 26 1944

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Around the world last night a prayer went up in all Allied nations and on all Allied battlefronts—a prayer for quick victory and enduring peace—on the sixth Christmas day of bloody global warfare.

King George VI of England voiced the prayer of all Allied peoples. In an address from the royal fireside, heard in the United States and the Commonwealth, the Monarch expressed the hope that "before the next Christmas the story of liberation and triumph will be complete."

In his most optimistic wartime Christmas message to his people, the British ruler said that "the lamps which the Germans put out all over Europe, first in 1914 and then in 1939, are being slowly rekindled," and he added that "we long for a new birth of freedom and order among all nations so that happiness and concord may prevail and the scourge of war may be banished from our midst."

In like vein, Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands sent her people a message of hope and of confidence in speedy liberation, telling them that "the message of Christmas enables us to call a courageous and convincing 'no' to the dark powers that threaten us with destruction."

300 ITALIAN CIVILIANS MASSACRED AT MONCHIO

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Office of War Information reported last night (Monday) that members of the German SS. elite guard and Italian Fascists had massacred about 300 civilians at Monchio, in the Reggio Emilia region of northern Italy, according to reports received from abroad.

The OWI said the persons massacred were accused of sympathizing with Italian patriots, according to Italian partisans who reached Florence after passing through the enemy lines.

Japs Report Tokyo Raid

San Francisco, Dec. 25 (AP)—Scouting Superforts gave Tokyo a blazing Christmas in the wake of a heavy naval and aerial bombardment of the Bonin Islands on the southern approaches to the imperial capital, Japanese broadcasts reported today.

About a dozen "enemy cruisers and destroyers" shelled the Bonins for about two and a half hours around midday Sunday (Japanese time), the broadcasts said. The islands, unnamed in the report, were simultaneously bombed in a series of air attacks.

Early this morning three B-29's, the radio said, poured incendiaries on Tokyo, Yokohama and Shizuoka perfecture southwest of the capital.

B-29 Attack on Tokyo And Adjacent Areas Reported by Japs

By the Associated Press.

The Tokyo radio reported today that three Super Fortresses paid Christmas visits to Tokyo and nearby areas, dropping incendiary bombs.

The domestic broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said the capital, Yokohama and Shizuoka prefecture lying southwest of Tokyo, were hit "by single planes in three waves."

The B-29s, apparently on weather observation flights from Saipan, were over Japan from 2 to 3 a.m. (Tokyo time).

HIROHITO OFFICIATES AT PALACE CEREMONY

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Emperor Hirohito of Japan officiated today at a palace ceremony marking the 18th anniversary of the death of his father, Emperor Hoshihito, Domei news agency reported from Tokyo.

"His majesty paid homage to the soul of the late emperor" Domei said in the broadcast heard by the Federal Communications commission.

Hirohito succeeded to the throne Dec. 26, 1926, the day of his father's death, to introduce the era the Japanese have named Showa—"era of enlightened peace."

N.A.M. Reports Russia Cutting Lend-Lease Tie

DEC 26 1944

Moscow Is Expected to Place All U. S. Trading Under Amtorg Agency

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 (AP).—"The N. A. M. News" says high government officials expect Russia to withdraw from lease-lend at the end of the pending commitments.

The organ of the National Association of Manufacturers predicts that Amtorg, Soviet trading agency with headquarters in New York, will take over all Russian buying and selling in this country. It adds that officials expect the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission, which is distinct from Amtorg, to be liquidated by next summer.

The manufacturers' weekly quotes "sources close to Russian officials in Washington" as saying the Administration will present to Congress several proposals for government guaranty of foreign credits extended by American business. It adds:

"That the Russians expect one or more of these proposals to be passed by Congress as a prelude to a United States-Soviet commercial treaty, is evidenced by their intention to keep most of their purchasing commission officials in the United States to handle Amtorg business."

The protocol covering lease-lend for Russia expired June 30 at the end of the fiscal year, "The N. A. M. News" says, and the renewal has not yet been signed.

The lack of an effective protocol, the story says, "has created some confusion among American manufacturers handling Russian lease-lend orders, and apparently some concern among State Department and Foreign Economic Administration officials."

France's Ambassador Arrives At Washington

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP)—Henri Bonnet, France's first Ambassador to Washington since her liberation from the Nazis, has assumed his duties here.

With Madame Bonnet, he arrived by air last night from Paris. French affairs here previously were in charge of Henri Hoppenot, chairman of the French delegation, who departed several days ago. Bonnet is not related to the former Ambassador and Finance Minister, Georges Bonnet.

PAN-AMERICAN ENVOYS TO MEET IN SPRING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25—(AP) A Pan-American foreign ministers conference to discuss hemisphere problems may be held either immediately before or after a United Nations meeting, probably in March or April.

Argentina has asked a conference to discuss her diplomatic isolation. The delay of most nations in answering her request and the vagueness of replies sent in make it certain that the meeting will not be on Argentina's terms, according to diplomats here.

Heretofore the State department has favored a conference, but opposed discussing the Argentine position for the time being.

It seems likely now that the United States will agree to take up the Argentine case, under special conditions.

MESH LEAGUES, PROPOSAL ASKS

Idea Is To Continue Functions Of Old In The New

DEC 26 1944

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP)—A proposal that League of Nations functions be incorporated in the new world peace organization may be submitted to the forthcoming United Nations conference.

It was learned today that the League committee has decided that the World War I peace agency should continue functioning until its duties can be assumed by the projected United Nations security group. This committee was selected to run the League during the war.

At a London meeting just concluded the committee agreed that League functions should be meshed with the peace agency envisaged by the Dumbarton Oaks plan.

Several Still Operating

Several League agencies still are operating, including the international labor organization, financial and economic sections and part of the secretariat.

The League's 45 members must be consulted on its dissolution. This probably will be done through diplomatic channels, since a League meeting is not feasible.

Disposition of the League's buildings and money will be settled finally by all its members. The palaces at Geneva probably will be sold.

Geneva Unlikely As Site

It seems certain that the new peace organization will not be established at Geneva. Russia is supporting Vienna as the site, Washington diplomats say. Brussels and Luxembourg have been suggested.

About 500 treaties referring to the League must be changed to the future peace agency.

Washington officials say nothing definite can be done about dissolving the League until the new organization is created.

Neutrals Among Members

One problem is that several neutral countries are League members. While the Dumbarton Oaks plan provides for admission to the new peace agency of "all peace-loving nations," it is not expected that nonmembers of the United Nations will participate until the war settlement is completed.

No enemy country still is affiliated with the Geneva organization. Japan, Italy, Germany and even Spain and Argentina withdrew over differences with the League.

Russia quit before the war. The United States never joined.

The status of the former Axis satellites—Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary—is unclear.

They never formally withdrew but ceased to take part as they fell under Nazi domination.

RECRUITING OF WACS TO CONTINUE IN 1945

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25—(AP) Recruiting for the Women's Army corps will continue in 1945 with emphasis on obtaining qualified hospital technicians.

The War department, announcing this today, said there is an acute need for medical and surgical technicians. WACS recruited for this duty will be given specialized training.

Women with other special skills also are needed.

Conjecture Centers on Wallace to Replace Miss Perkins in Labor Department Post

DEC 26 1944

By the Associated Press

Postmaster General Walker wants to quit the cabinet, and there may be other changes when the fourth term begins.

Mr. Walker has been variously reported as ready to step out and then as having reconsidered, but his intimates insist that he means business this time—unless, of course, President Roosevelt asks him to stay.

Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic National Committee chairman, has been considered in Washington political circles as Mr. Walker's logical successor.

But some hitches may have developed. There is talk that former Senator Sam Jackson of Indiana, who was chairman of the 1944 Democratic convention, is in the picture as a possible appointee. Senator Jackson was defeated in November for Governor of Indiana.

Some resentment against Mr. Hannegan has developed on Capitol Hill. A number of Democrats were displeased by the way he ran the campaign and his actions since. The national chairman is understood to have demanded that all patronage be cleared through his office, a proposal that some Senators dislike.

Reports have circulated on Capitol Hill that Secretary of Labor Perkins also may leave the cabinet after the inaugural. Such talk has prompted conjecture that Henry A. Wallace, the retiring Vice President, may be offered the labor post and a chance to consolidate all the Government's multiple labor agancies under his direction.

Mr. Wallace's friends say he has not decided on his future and has no definite knowledge of President Roosevelt's plans for him, if any, despite a two-hour conference between the two recently.

At that time Mr. Roosevelt was represented as suggesting that any decision on Mr. Wallace's future be put off until January 4, after Congress convenes again.

Walker Reported Ready to Quit; Other Cabinet Changes Seen

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP) — A world organization to promote aerial commerce would be established under plans drawn up by a group of international airline operators.

The group has just sent to several hundred airline officials all over the world a tentative draft of articles of incorporation for the world association, plus an invitation from Cuba to meet in Havana on April 16 and complete the organization.

The movement to establish such a body was begun at Chicago on the last day of the International Civil Aviation Conference. An eight-member drafting committee was appointed and met in Washington the week of December 11 to draw up articles of association.

The association would probably have its headquarters in Chicago. The proposed articles list its objectives as:

1. To promote safe, regular and economical air commerce.
2. To provide means for collaboration among air transport enterprises.
3. To co-operate with other international organizations.

The draft, along with statements by the committee and by Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America, are included in a booklet being mailed out from Gorrell's office.

Airlines Begin Organization For International Commerce

when their powers expire at midnight January 2.

The special committee investigating un-American activities, better known as the Dies Committee, is one of the oldest and certainly the best known of the group. Its chairman, Representative Martin Dies, of Texas, did not seek re-election. Without the colorful Texan to lead the biennial renewal fight, other members have decided to call it quits.

Records To Be Retained

Several hundred filing cabinets packed with Dies Committee records will be turned over to the House clerk early in January for safekeeping and posterity.

The "select committee to investigate the Federal Communications Commission" is expected to follow the Dies Committee into oblivion.

Created by the Seventy-eighth Congress, it competed with the Dies Committee for newspaper headlines. Its original chairman, Representative Cox (D., Ga.), resigned amid a controversy with James L. Fly, then FCC chairman. Cox was succeeded by Representative Lea (D., Cal.), who promptly ran into a committee row over whether its hearings should be open or closed.

Another headline-making committee, the "select committee to investigate acts of executive agencies beyond the scope of their authority," likewise is expected to die. Its chairman is Representative Smith (D., Va.), father of many committee reports lambasting the OPA and other executive agencies.

Chairman Vinson (D., Ga.) has said he would not seek continuance of special investigating groups within his House Naval Committee.

End Of Dies Committee And Other Groups Likely

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP)—The Dies Committee and a dozen other special House investigating groups seem headed for quiet burial next week.

On Capitol Hill the current mood is to deny them an extension of life

Chairman May (D., Ky.) is expected to ask that the House Military Committee be allowed to continue its special investigatory work.

Other special groups which may not even ask for renewal include the Ramspeck committee investigating Government seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co., and the Boren committee investigating newsprint. The functions of the latter group may be assigned to the House Interstate Committee.

Likely to be continued—although a fight is in prospect on some—are special House committees on the problems of small business, the merchant marine, conservation of wildlife resources, postwar economic policy and planning, and postwar military policy.

Records of the Accounts Committee, which finances House committees, show that at one time or another more than 30 special committees were operating in the House during the Seventy-eighth Congress.

"That's entirely too many, and almost all of them ought to be abolished," commented Chairman Cochran (D., Mo.).

REPUBLICANS ASK APPOINTMENT OF FOOD DIRECTOR

DEC 26 1944

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25—(AP) House Republicans renewed today their suggestion that a food "czar" be appointed with almost unlimited authority over pricing and distribution.

Their recommendation came from Representative Jenkins of Ohio as he announced renewal of a Republican Food Study committee named last year.

Jenkins, chairman of the 44-man House group, did not comment specifically on OPA's announcement over the week-end of tighter food rationing. But he said the present food situation was due to failure of the Administration to appoint a single man to supervise the handling of food as the committee recommended some time ago.

"A single individual, free from the Administration's whims, could coordinate and regulate all ramifications of the food industry, eliminating many shortages and providing better distribution," the Ohioan said in an interview.

The proposed food "czar" would have the assistance of experts on wheat, corn, fruit and vegetables.

"No one now has direct control over food," Jenkins declared. "The War Food administration is subject to veto from other agencies and there is no single person responsible for a coordinated program. We have ten or fifteen men handling production, processing, distribution and rationing, with no single head. With that kind of setup there's bound to be overlapping operations and confusion."

Jenkins listed food as one of the major problems he said would face the world after the war.

"Right now, while the war is on, munitions are first in importance and food is thought of as secondary, but after the war food will be the most important thing," he said.

Present and future problems, he added, will keep the Republican Food Study committee in operation during the 79th Congress and probably will require it to broaden its program. The committee soon may decide, he said, whether to inquire into the cotton and tobacco programs, which it heretofore disregarded.

He warned that the United States soon may lose its world cotton market because of increased international competition and said the current cigarette shortage indicated that something was wrong in the tobacco industry.

WAR LOAN DRIVE HITS 20 BILLION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 — (AP) Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said today the Sixth War Loan drive, which aimed at $14,000,000,000, has hit $20,360,000,000 and the figure is still going up.

His disclosure made it certain that the nation's first Christmas-season war loan will be the biggest in its history.

The total already is only $291,000,000 short of the record of $20,651,000,000 piled up in the Fifth War loan last June and July.

The impending new record is made more impressive by the fact that the quota this time was set two billion dollars lower than the 16-billion dollar quota of last Summer.

Secretary Morgenthau also told reporters:

1—That the five-billion dollar quota for individual bond-buyers has been achieved, with Federal reserve banks reporting $5,010,000,000 of individuals' money already on deposit.

2—That on the basis of preliminary figures he was "happy to announce" that the important Series E bond quota of two and a half billion dollars will be oversubscribed.

One week remains in the big job of tabulating Sixth War loan sales. All bonds sales tabulated during November and December count in the loan, though the formal selling campaign was Nov. 20-Dec. 16. The final figures will be announced January 2.

Secretary Morgenthau commented that despite the unprecedented sales of Christmas merchandise, late reports showed that a very large number of persons had bought war bonds as Christmas gifts.

Morgenthau said that "never before in the history of our war loan program have the people responded so enthusiastically to the nation's appeal."

Morgenthau, who begins his twelfth year as Secretary of the Treasury in January, made his disclosures informally to the three reporters who had covered the bond drive for the major wire services.

In an unusual gesture, he called these reporters in to express appreciation for the thorough way in which the wire services handled news of the drive.

LABOR NOT QUITTING WAR JOBS, CIO SAYS

DEC 26 1944

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 — (AP) The CIO expressed belief today the problem of workers leaving war plants for peace-time jobs "has been greatly overstressed."

A study of the situation, published in the current issue of the CIO Economic Outlook, characterized the "exodus" of war workers to jobs with better long range outlook as "fictional."

The study labelled the "exodus" as a "creation of the press and certain Army officials."

"The CIO department of research and education, which publishes the Outlook, made a study of the 'quit rate' to expose the fictional character of 'the exodus'," the CIO said in a statement.

The study covered the five months period, May to October, this year in comparison with the like period in 1943.

Twenty-eight war industries were chosen for the survey. Of 328 available reports on quitting rates in those industries, 201 disclosed a decrease in job-leavers in 1944, with no change in 13. In only 25 cases was the quit rate "appreciably higher" in 1944 than in 1943, the CIO said.

30. 24 — 21539

"We do not question the fact that in some instances workers are leaving their war jobs for jobs with peacetime security," the Outlook said. "We do believe the seriousness of this problem has been greatly overstressed."

Asserting that it can sympathize with the Government in its desire to prevent an exodus from actually taking place, the Outlook said that labor repeatedly has suggested methods for prevention.

The most obvious and desirable way, it said, is to assure workers adequate compensation during the period of postwar unemployment and "above all guarantee that there will be plenty of peacetime to go around."

"Higher wages and improvement of working conditions would also help," the Outlook said. "Crying 'wolf' will not."

Greetings From Roosevelt

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt in his annual Christmas message emphasized that America's enemies "still have reserves of men and military power."

"We cannot say when our victory will come," the President said. "Our enemies still fight fanatically. But they themselves know that they and their evil works are doomed. We may hasten the day of that doom if we here at home continue to do our full share."

The message was broadcast yesterday to the armed forces throughout the world in connection with the lighting of the national community Christmas tree on the White House lawn.

Text Of Message

The text of the President's broadcast follows:

It is not easy to say "Merry Christmas" to you, my fellow Americans, in this time of destructive war. Nor can one lightly say "Merry Christmas" tonight to our armed forces at their battle stations all over the world—or to our allies who fight by their side.

Here, at home, we will celebrate this Christmas Day in our traditional American way—because of its deep spiritual meaning to us; and because we want our youngest generation to grow up knowing the significance of this tradition and the story of the coming of the immortal Prince of Peace and good will.

But, in perhaps every home in the United States, sad and anxious thoughts will be continually with the millions of our loved ones who are suffering hardships and misery, and who are risking their very lives to preserve for us and for all mankind, the fruits of His teachings and the foundations of civilization itself.

Christmas Spirit Lives

The Christmas spirit lives tonight in the bitter cold of the front lines in Europe and in the heat of the jungles and swamps of Burma and the Pacific islands. Even the roar of our bombers and fighters in the air and the guns of our ships at sea will not drown out the messages of Christmas which come to the hearts of our fighting men.

The thoughts of these men tonight will turn to us here at home around our Christmas trees, surrounded by our children and grandchildren and their Christmas stockings and gifts—just as our own thoughts go out to them, tonight and every night, in their distant places.

We all know how anxious they are to be home with us, and they know how anxious we are to have them—and how determined every one of us is to make the day of home-coming as early as possible. And—above all—they know the determination of all right-thinking people and nations, that Christmas such as those that we have known in these years of world tragedy shall not come again to beset the souls of the children of God.

Years Of Deep Darkness

This generation has passed through many recent years of deep darkness watching the spread of the poison of Hitlerism and fascism in Europe—the growth of imperialism and militarism in Japan—the final clash of war all over the world. Then came the dark days of the fall of France and the ruthless bombing of England and the desperate battle of the Atlantic and of Pearl Harbor and Corregidor and Singapore.

Since then the prayers of good men and women and children the world over have been answered. The tide of battle was turned, slowly but inexorably, against those who sought to destroy civilization.

On this Christmas Day, we cannot yet say when our victory will come. Our enemies still fight fanatically. They still have reserves of men and military power. But, they themselves know that they and their evil works are doomed. We may hasten the day of that doom if we here at home continue to do our full share.

Prays For Early Victory

We pray that that day may come soon. We pray that until then, God will protect our gallant men and women in the uniforms of the United Nations—that he will receive into His infinite grace those who make their supreme sacrifice in the cause of righteousness and love of Him and His teachings.

We pray that with victory will come a new day of peace on earth in which all the nations of the earth will join together for all time. That is the spirit of Christmas, the Holy Day. May that spirit live and grow throughout the world in all the years to come.

Mrs. Roosevelt 'Adopts' Third Child War Victim

New York, Dec. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has "adopted" her third child war victim—Gabrielle Dore, a French girl in France—Foster Parents' Plan for War Children announced.

Mrs. Edna Blue, Plan executive chairman, said the child was one of 25 found by a Plan representative being cared for by an Abbe Noe in a deserted Normandy house. The children, many of them ill, were living on black bread and coffee and had only one blanket for all of them, she said.

The Abbe has described Gabrielle, whose age is not known, as one of a family of six. Her mother is ill. Her father was killed by a mine.

Mrs. Roosevelt's other "adopted" children were Paulette Le Mescam, a French girl, and Rosemary Howard, 6, daughter of a British seaman.

650,000 VETERANS TO GO TO COLLEGE AFTER END OF WAR

CINCINNATI, Dec. 25—(AP) An estimated postwar flow of 650,000 veterans to college campuses for federally-financed studies "represents the chief hope of American colleges and universities for rescue from the present dearth of men students," Dr. Raymond Walters, nationally recognized college statistician reported today.

Dr. Walters' comment was contained in his 25th annual survey for school and society, education weekly.

As of November 1, Dr. Walters said, there were 608,750 fulltime students and a grand total of 925,084 including summer and part-time students in 679 approved institutions. Despite good-sized freshman classes of 16 and 17-year-old boys, new students currently in these schools were from 50 to 94 per cent below figures of 1939, last normal peacetime year.

As of November 1, among institutions which reported to Dr. Walters both this year and last, 648 had 593,271 full-time civilian and Army and Navy students, against 454,759 full-time civilian and approximately 363,000 in Army and Navy units in November 1943. For 646 institutions reporting grand-total figures for both years, there were 893,883 this fall and 1,099,043 in 1943.

Slightly more than 60 per cent of the current collegiate population are women. In 56 publicly-controlled universities, 58.4 per cent of the full-time students are women; in 50 privately-controlled universities, 53.2 per cent are men, in 142 independent arts and sciences colleges, 74.0 per cent are women; in 52 independent technological institutions, 64.9 per cent are men; and in 92 independent teachers colleges, 75.7 per cent are women.

California, with 15,261 full-time students, continues as the country's largest university in this classification and New York university, with a grand total of 24,722, continues as largest in this group. Columbia University, with 12,039 full-time and 21,979 grand total, is second largest in both classifications.

A large section of Dr. Walters' report is given over to comments, as to prospects for returning veterans, by Omar W. Clark, assitsant administrator of the Veterans Administration, Washington.

The peak load for colleges and universities will probably come a year and a year and a half after Germany's and Japan's defeats, Clark believes, in warning that veterans will not arrive on college campuses in a rush, but will be distributed over several years.

Approximately 2,400 disabled veterans are currently studying in colleges and universities.

1,500 Shipyard Men Give Up Yule Holiday

Brunswick, Ga., Dec. 25 (AP)—More than 1,500 shipyard employés voluntarily gave up their Christmas holiday today to work without pay on a cargo-carrying vessel as a Christmas gift to the men on the fighting fronts.

An additional 500 volunteered similarly for the night shift.

The workers are among the 13,000 employés of the J. A. Jones Construction Company. Those who volunteered today helped to speed construction on the seventh merchant vessel built at the yard here this month.

Scores of other office workers joined with members of Brunswick families in helping serve the employés free meals donated by the shipyard cafeteria.

Government regulations require that the workers be paid, but sponsors of the move requested a separate pay roll so that those who worked today could indorse their checks over to the Treasury Department.

25 NAZI CAPTIVES ESCAPE IN ARIZONA

Break Follows Celebration Of Christmas, German Drive

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 25 (AP)—Twenty-five German submarine officers and men broke out of the Papago Park camp near here during the week end after a brief demonstration of Nazi prisoners.

Col. William A. Holden, commander of the camp, said the demonstration Saturday afternoon "ostensibly was a combination celebration of von Rundstedt's success and Christmas."

The action was "broken up with clubs," Holden said. Some of the prisoners may have escaped during the demonstration, about 4.45 P.M. Saturday, but more than likely about 7.30 P.M. Sunday, Holden said.

Scaled Fence, Possibly

Apparently they all scaled an eight-foot barbed-wire fence.

"We hesitate to say exactly what happened," Holden said, "but the break may have occurred during a heavy rainstorm that swept the camp here yesterday about dusk."

The German sailors were all held in the same compound and Holden explained the "old boat crew morale apparently held them together and enabled them to execute what appears to have been a carefully planned escape."

Major Eugene Tays, director of security and intelligence at the camp, denied a report current in Phoenix that the escapees included Guenther P. Prien, Nazi submarine commander credited with sinking the British battleship Royal Oak at Scapa Flow in 1939, who is at the camp.

Six of the prisoners have been recaptured. "Those we have seen were freshly shaven," Holden added, "indicating they probably got away Sunday."

No Violence

Several score of the Nazis assembled Saturday afternoon in the stockade and started a vocal demonstration about the recent German success on the Western front.

"There was no violence," the commandant said. "We broke the demonstration up with clubs."

Holden said the camp was "alerted and precautionary measures taken Saturday morning because I felt something was in the wind."

The demonstration occurred later in the day and may have screened the escape of some of the Germans.

Holden denied an account published in the Phoenix Gazette saying the escape of the 25 prisoners was to decoy the flight of two or three "big shots" in the Nazi party.

Twelve of those who fled were officers and the rest were enlisted men. All six who have been recaptured were nonofficers.

Prien, Nazi U-Boat Ace, Disclosed to Be Prisoner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Disclosure that Guenther Prien is a prisoner of war in Arizona lifts partly for the first time in three and one-half years the total mystery covering the fate of this most famous of Germany's U-boat commanders.

It was on Oct. 14, 1939, when the war was less than six weeks old, that Prien, then a lieutenant commander, startled the world by slipping into the closely-guarded British naval base at Scapa Flow and sinking the 29,000-ton British battleship Royal Oak with a torpedo. Eight hundred and ten of the Royal Oak's officers and men were killed.

Prien then managed to get his submarine safely out of the British stronghold and returned to Germany where Adolf Hitler personally decorated him with the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross and promoted him to the rank of commander. Prien then was 32.

Prien claimed to have torpedoed and damaged the British battle cruiser Repulse at the same time he sank the Royal Oak, but this the British denied.

How he got in and out of Scapa Flow has never been satisfactorily explained, although many legends quickly grew up about the exploit.

Subsequently, during several cruises in 1940, Prien was credited by the Germans with sinking more than 50,000 tons of British shipping. He was the German underseas service's hero of heroes.

Then came a curiously anticlimactic denouement. On May 2, 1941, the British radio reported that he had been missing since April 13, 1941. How the British knew this never was disclosed.

Reluctantly the German high command on May 23, 1941, acknowledged that Prien and his submarine had failed to return from a cruise. Presumably he was dead. His name never was mentioned publicly again.

Now it is disclosed that Prien, the toast of the German navy, suffered a fate that many submariners consider worse than death—he was captured. How and when remain secret.

Wounded Ma[illegible] Print[illegible] 'MerryChristmas' on Cast

12,000 Patients at San Diego Get 16,000 Gift Boxes

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 25 (AP).—There were no long faces among the wounded today at the United States Naval Hospital. It was Christmas but, more important, Christmas in the United States.

Lying in the first bed of an orthopedic ward, Private James E. Cody jr., marine from East Syracuse, brought smiles to all who walked by him with the greeting, "Merry Christmas," printed in bright green across the cast which covered his chest.

A few beds farther along a wounded sailor had decorated in red and green the suspension which held his bullet-riddled leg aloft.

On every bed was at least one present from the Red Cross and other groups which sent 16,000 gift boxes to the 12,000 patients.

Each ward had a large Christmas tree. A tree beside the bed of Corporal James L. Anderson, of Elkhart, Ill., was only one foot high, but he surrounded it with brightly decorated presents and tied a piece of mistletoe to the brace he used when raising his body from his bed. He was wounded at Guam.

Today's turkey dinner climaxed a full home-like week end for the men. The Christmas observance started earlier in the week with Bing Crosby visiting the wounded to sing "Silent Night," at their request.

LOOKING AHEAD TO POSTWAR PROBLEMS, HE SAID THAT "LABOR AND DEVOTION, PATIENCE AND TOLERANCE, WILL STILL BE NEEDED FOR THE EXPERIMENT OF LIVING AS NATIONS IN HARMONY."

THE TEXT OF KING GEORGES VI'S CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST TO THE EMPIRE AND THE WORLD: (700WORDS)

DEC 26 1944

ONCE MORE, ON CHRISTMAS DAY, I SPEAK TO MILLIONS OF YOU, SCATTERED FAR AND NEAR ACROSS THE WORLD. AS ALWAYS I AM GREATLY MOVED BY THE THOUGHT THAT SO PAST AND FRIENDLY AN AUDEIENCE HEARS THE WORDS I SPEAK IN THIS ROOM WHERE THE QUEEN AND I, AND OUR DAUGHTERS, ARE FORTUNATE ENOUGH TO BE SPENDING CHRISTMAS AT HOME. I COUNT IT A HIGH PRIVILEGE TO BE ABLE TO USE THIS MOMENTS TO SEND THE CHRISTMAS MESSAGE OF GOODWILL TO MEN AND WOMEN OF WHATEVER CREED AND COLOUR, WHO MAY BE LISTENING TO ME THROUGHOUT OUR COMMONWEALTH AND EMPIRE, ON THE BATTLEFIELD, ONE THE HIGH SEAS, OR IN FOREIGN LANDS. AT THIS CHRISTMAS TIME WE THINK PROUDLY AND GRATEFULLY OF OUR FIGHTING MEN WHEREVER THEY MAY BE-- MAY GOD BLESS AND PROTECT THEM AND BRING THEM VICTORY.

21531 TEXT OUR MESSAGE GOES TO all WHO ARE WOUNDED OR SICK IN HOSPITAL, AND TODOCTORS AND NURSES IN THEIR LABOUR OF MERCY. AND OUR THOUGHTS AND PRAYERS ARE ALSO WITH OUR MEN WHO ARE PRISONERS OF WAR, AND WITH THEIR RELATIVES IN THEIR LONELINESS AND ANXIETY. TO CHILDREN EVERYWHERE, WE WISH ALL THE HAPPINESS THAT CHRISTMAS CAN BRING.

DEC 26 1944

AMONG THE DEEPEST SORROWS WE HAVE FELT IN THESE YEARS OF STRIFE, AND THE ONE WE FEEL MOST, IS THE GRIEF OF SEPARATION--FAMILIES RENT APART BY THE CALL OF SERVICE, PEOPLE SUNDERED FROM PEOPLE BY THE CALAMITIES THAT HAVE OVERWHELMED SOME, WHILE OTHERS HAVE BEEN FREE TO CONTINUE TO FIGHT. WE HAVE REJOICED IN THE VICTORII OF THIS YEAR NOT LEAST BECAUSE THEY HAVE BROKEN DOWN SOME OF THE BARRIERS BETWEEN US AND OUR FRIENDS, AND BROUGHT NEARER THE TIME WHEN WE CAN ALL BE TOGETHER AGAIN WITH THOSE WE LOVE.

21531 FOR A MOMENT WE HAVE A FORETASTE OF THAT JOY AS WE ENTER INTO THE FELLOWSHIP OF CHRISTMAS DAY.

AT THIS GREAT FESTIVAL, MORE, PERHAPS, THAN AT ANY OTHER SEASON OF THE YEAR, WE LONG FOR A NEW BIRTH OF FREEDOM AND ORDER AMORNG ALL NATIONS, SO THAT HAPPINESS AND CONCORD MAY PREVAIL, AND THE SCOURGE OF WAR MAY BE BANISHED FROM OUR MIDST.

YET, THOUGH HUMAN INGENUITY CAN SHOW US NO SHORT-CUT TO THAT UNIVERSAL CHARITY, WHICH IS THE VERY HEART OF THE CHRISTMAS MESSAGE, THE GOAL IS STILL BEFORE US, AND I FOR ONE BELIEVE THAT THESE YEARS OF SACRIFICE AND SORROW HAVE BROUGHT US NEARER TO IT.

WE DO NOT KNOW WHAT AWAITS US WHEN WE OPEN THE DOOR OF 1945.

BUT IF WE LOOK BACK TO THOSE EARLIER CHRISTMAS DAYS OF THE WAR WE CAN SURELY SAY THAT THE DARKNESS DAILY GROWS LESS AND LESS.

41531 THE LAMPS WHICH THE GERMANS PUT OUT ALL OVER EUROPE, FIRST IN 1914 AND THEN IN 1939, ARE BEING SLOWLY REKINDLED.

ALREADY WE CAN SEE SOME OF THEM BEGINNING TO SHINE THROUGH THE FOG OF WAR THAT STILL SHROUDS SO MANY LANDS. ANXIETY IS GIVING WAY TO CONFIDENCE AND LET US HOPE THAT BEFORE NEXT CHRISTMAS DAY, GOD WILLING, THE STORY OF LIBERATION AND TRIUMPH WILL BE COMPLETE.

THROUGHOUT THE EMPIRE, MEN AND WOMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS THROUGH HARD WORK AND MUCH SELF SACRIFICE HAVE ALL HELPED TO BRING VICTORY NEARER. WE HAVE SHARED MANY DANGERS, AND THE COMMON EFFORT HAS BOUND US TOGETHER. YET LABOUR AND DEVOTION, PATIENCE AND TOLERAN WILL STILL BE NEEDED FOR THE EXPERIMENT OF LIVING AS NATIONS IN HARM

THE DEFEAT OF GERMANY AND JAPAN IS ONLY THE FIRST HALF OF OUR TASK, THE SECOND IS TO CREATE A WORLD OF FREE MEN, "UNTOUCHED BY TYRANNY." FIFTH 1531 WE HAVE GREAT ALLIES IN THIS ARDUOUS ENTERPRISE OF THE HUMAN SPIRIT--MAN'S "UNCONQUERABLE MIND, AND FREEDOM'S HOLY FLAME" I BELIEVE MOST SURELY THAT WE SHALL REACH THAT GOAL.

IN THE MEANTIME IN THE OLD WORDS THAT NEVER LOSE THEIR FORCE, I WISH YOU, FROM MY HEART, A HAPPY CHRISTMAS: AND , FOR THE COMING YEAR, A FULL MEASURE OF THAT COURAGE AND FAITH IN GOD WHICH ALONE

30.24— 21543

ENABLES US TO BEAR OLD SORROWS AND FACE NEW TRIALS, UNTIL THE DAY WHEN THE CHRISTMAS MESSAGE-PEACE ON EARTH AND GOODWILL TOWARDS MEN--FINALLY COMES TRUE.(ENDS)

WHATEVER HIS PROSPECTS OF BATTERING THROUGH TO THE MEUSE--AND THE TERRAIN BEFORE HIM IS RUGGED AND DIFFICULT--IT WAS CLEAR THAT VON RUNDSTEDT'S PLANS WOULD BE INFLUENCED INCREASINGLY BY THE AMERICAN COUNTERATTACK LOOSED AGAINST 25 MILES OF HIS SOUTHERN FLANK AND ALREADY REPORTING GAINS OF "SOME MILES."

DEC 261944

THE GERMANS WERE FORCED TO SEND STRONG FORCES SOUTH FOR A COUNTERATTACK AFTER THE AMERICANS SEIZED THE VILLAGE OF CHAUMONT, ONLY SIX MILES SOUTH OF BELEAGUERED BASTOGNE. THE AMERICANS LAST WER REPORTED HOLDING THEIR GROUND YESTERDAY.

VON RUNDSTEDT SENT OTHER FORCES TO MEET A MENACE TO THE BASE OF HIS WEDGE, AFTER THE AMERICANS SEIZED HEIDERSCHEID IN NORTHERN LUXEMBOURG AND PRESSED ON TOWARD TADLER, NEARLY TWO MILES BEYOND, WHERE SAVAGE FIGHTING BROKE OUT.

(THIS WOULD INDICATE A POSSIBLE FOUR-MILE GAIN FROM LAST REPORTED POSITIONS NORTH OF GROSBOUS.)

DEC 261944

TADLER, 21 MILES NORTH OF LUXEMBOURG'S CAPITAL, IS ABOUT 27 MILES FROM THE RIDGE POSITIONS WEST OF ST.VITH, WHERE THE AMERICANS STILL FIRMLY CONTAINED THE NORTHERN FLANK OF THE BASTOGNE BULGE.

THE ENEMY LAST WAS REPORTED CLINGING TO ABOUT HALF OF THE TOWN OF MARTELANGE, 10 MILES SOUTH OF BASTOGNE ON THE LIEGE-ARLON ROAD, BUT THE DOUGHBOYS SWINGING AROUND IT CAPTURED WARNACH, ABOUT TWO MILES TO THE NORTH.

IN A THREE-MILE PUSH NORTHEAST OF MARTELANGE THE AMERICANS REACHED BIGONVILLE.

ALL THESE GAINS WERE REPORTED BY SUPREME HEADQUARTERS IN BRINGING EVENTS UP TO EARLY SUNDAY.

AT THE OUTSET, HE ADDED, THE GERMANS HAD HIT ALONG A FRONT WHICH WAS SO THINLY HELD AT POINTS THAT ONLY PATROLS COVERED SOME PLACES.

WHEN MASSED TANKS AND INFANTRY HIT THEM, THEY SUFFERED AND IN SOME PLACES CONFUSION AND COSTLY DISORGANIZATION BECAME INEVITABLE. BUT THE AMERICANS REGAINED THEIR BALANCE AND BEGAN HITTING BACK.

VON RUNDSTEDT AGAIN WAS HURLING HIS GREATEST WEIGHT TO THE WEST, ALTHOUGH ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT KENNETH L.DIXON REPORTED

STRONG INFANTRY AND ARMORED UNITS WERE VEERING NORTH TO BROADEN THE FRONT OF ASSAULT AGAINST THE MEUSE--BEST NATURAL BARRIER IN EASTERN HOLLAND.

BATTLES HEAVY IN CHRISTMAS DAY CASUALTIES FOR BOTH SIDES WERE FLARING ANEW.

FOCAL POINTS OF THE LATEST GERMAN ONSLAUGHT--BY THE 24-HOUR-OLD ACCOUNT--WERE BETWEEN MARCHE AND ROCHEFORT AND NORTHWEST FROM LAROCHE, 10 MILES EAST OF MARCHE.

ANOTHER SECTOR ERUPTED INTO HEAVY FIGHTING NEAR LIERNEUX, NINE MILES SOUTHWEST OF STAVELOT, ON THE NORTH FLANK. UP TO MIDNIGHT SATURDAY THE PUSH WAS BEING HELD.

DIXON, REPORTING ON TODAY'S FIGHTING WITHOUT SPECIFYING LOCALITIES, SAID THAT AMERICAN TANKS BEAT OFF SEVERAL STRONG GERMAN ASSAULTS "ALONG THE RIM OF THE PENETRATION" AND AT ANOTHER UNDISCLOSED POINT ARTILLERY BROKE UP GERMANS MASSING FOR A COUNTERTHRUST.

DEC 26 1944

AMERICANS PATROLS LANCING INTO THE ENEMY'S LINES FOUND 34 BURNED OUT GERMAN TANKS AND 200 ENEMY DEAD. U.S. TANKS CLEANING OUT ONE POCKET KILLED 400 GERMANS, CAPTURED 150 OTHERS AND LIBERATED 100 AMERICANS WHO HAD BEEN TAKEN PRISONER.

OVERNIGHT A CONSIDERABLE FORCE OF MOSQUITO BOMBERS KEPT UP THE AERIAL ONSLAUGHT, PUMMELING GERMAN COLUMNS MOVING UP ALONG THE ROADS. THEY BLEW UP AN AMMUNITION DUMP, SET MORE THAN 100 FIRES AND SHOT DOWN SIX ENEMY PLANES.

AMERICAN HEAVIEST WERE OUT AGAIN BY DAYLIGHT, SOME 400 OTHER SIMILAR ESCORT ATTACKING RAILROAD BRIDGES, ROAD AND HIGHWAY JUNCTIONS AND OTHER TARGETS BEHIND THE ENEMY'S FRONT.

MEDIUM, LIGHT AND FIGHTERBOMBERS BY NOON HAD DESTROYED 177 MOTOR TRANSPORTS, SHOT DOWN 14 ENEMY PLANES, DAMAGED A RAILWAY BRIDGE AT BULLANGE AND BOMBED 15 GERMAN-HELD TOWNS IN THE BATTLE ZONE.

ON THE U.S. THIRD ARMY FRONT IN THE SAAR BASIN, LT. GEN. GEORGE S.PATTON'S FORCEX GAINED 300 YARDS IN THE SAARLAUTERN SECTOR ON THE EAST BANK OF THE SAAR RIVER.

THERE WAS "NOTHING TO REPORT" ON THE U.S. SEVENTH ARMY'S SIEGFRIED LINE FRONT, HEADQUARTERS SAID. THE GERMANS MADE SLIGHT GAINS IN A COUNTERATTACK AGAINST THE FRENCH FIRST ARMY NORTHWEST OF COLMAR, IN SOUTHERN ALSACE.

THIRD LEAD WESTERN FRONT (210)

BY EDWARD KENNEDY

PARIS, DEC. 25-(AP)-POWERFUL ALLIED AIR FLEETS IN BRIGHT CHRISTMAS DAY SUNSHINE RIPPED SAVAGELY AGAIN TODAY AT THE GERMAN COUNTER-OFFENSIVE, WHICH HAD SENT FORWARD ELEMENTS STABBING CLOSE TO A TOWN ONLY 14 1/2 MILES FROM THE MEUSE RIVER.

DEC 26 1944

A FRONT DISPATCH DECLARED GERMAN TANKS AND INFANTRY UNITS WERE JABBING AT U.S. LINES AGAIN TODAY. BUT THE LATEST INFORMATION AT SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, WHERE A SECURITY NEWS DELAY OF 24 HOURS STILL WAS BEING ENFORCED, SAID THE ENEMY HAD MADE NO GAINS OF ANY IMPORTANCE IN THE 48-HOUR PERIOD UP TO SUNDAY MORNING.

THE U.S. NINTH AIR FORCE BY NOON HAD THROWN MORE THAN 400 FIGHTER BOMBERS INTO DIRECT ATTACKS ON GERMAN ARMORED COLUMNS GOING INTO BATTLE, DESTROYING 32 ENEMY TANKS, INCLUDING THREE TIGERS. NINE MORE TANKS WERE DAMAGED AND 80 OTHER ARMORED VEHICLES DESTROYED.

FOUR HUNDRED U.S. HEAVY BOMBERS RISING FROM BRITISH BASES HAMMERED RAILROAD BRIDGES, AND RAIL AND ROAD CENTERS SUPPLYING THE GERMAN PUSH IN THIS THIRD DAY OF TREMENDOUS AIR ASSAULTS.

TODAY'S ALLIED COMMUNIQUE SAID NAZI TANKS AND TROOP-CARRYING VEHICLES HAD KNIFED WESTWARD IN BELGIUM TO POINTS BETWEEN THE BELGIAN

TOWNS OF MARCHE AND ROCHEFORT, THE LATTER ONLY 14 1/2 MILES FROM THE MEUSE RIVER. THIS NEWS WAS AT LEAST 24 HOURS OLD, AND SUBSEQUENT EVENTS WERE NOT DISCLOSED.

DEC 261944

THE SECTION OF THE ROAD BETWEEN MARCHE AND HOTTON, WITHIN 20 MILES OF THE MEUSE, HAD BEEN THE ENEMY'S PREVIOUS POINT OF DEEPEST PENETRATION IN THIS SECTOR. ROCHEFORT IS 5 1/2 MILES SOUTHWEST OF MARCHE.

HEADQUARTERS DID NOT LOCATE THE SPECIFIC POSITIONS REACHED BY FIELD MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT'S HAMMERING COUNTEROFFENSIVE.

DRIVING UP FROM THE MARTELANGE SECTOR, A DOZEN MILES FROM ENCIRCLED BASTOGNE WHERE U.S. FORCES ARE HOLDING OUT, OTHER AMERICANS HAVE PUSHED THE GERMANS TWO MILES BACK TO WARNACH TOWARD THE SURE RIVER. ANOTHER ADVANCE OF THREE MILES NORTHEASTWARD FROM THE SAME AREA BIT INTO THE GERMAN LINE AS FAR AS BIGONVILLE.

AMERICANS PRESSING NORTHWARD TOWARD BESIEGED BASTOGNE HAVE REACHED AND CLEARED THE VILLAGE OF CHAUMONT, ONLY SIX MILES SOUTH OF THE LIEGE-ARLON HIGHWAY CITY. HEAVY FIGHTING IS IN PROGRESS AROUND BASTOGNE ITSELF. OTHER ISOLATED AMERICAN GROUPS IN THIS AREA ALSO WERE REPORTED HOLDING THEIR OWN.

DEC 261944

THE ENEMY HAS POWERFUL FORCES CONCENTRATED IN THE BASTOGNE AREA AND IT WOULD BE FAR TOO OPTIMISTIC TO SAY THE MOMENTUM OF VON RUNDSTEDT'S DRIVE HAD BEEN HALTED PERMANENTLY. ON THE CONTRARY, ALL INDICATIONS ARE THAT THE GERMANS ARE GOOD FOR NEW AND POWERFUL PUNCHES.

IT WAS SAID HERE, HOWEVER, THAT THE TEMPORARY HALT TO THE GRINDING GERMAN PUSH FOR THIS PERIOD CERTAINLY HAS COMPELLED THE ENEMY TO REVISE HIS PLANS. ALLIED PRESSURE ON BOTH HIS FLANKS HAS REDUCED THE AMOUNT OF FORCE HE CAN MUSTER FOR HIS SPEARHEADS.

THIS PRESSURE HAS BEEN MOST EFFECTIVE ON THE GERMANS' SOUTHERN FLANK. THE AMERICANS IN LUXEMBOURG HAVE MADE LIMITED NEW GAINS IN THE DIEKIRCH AREA AND BETWEEN DIEKIRCH AND ECHTERNACH.

ON THE NORTHERN FLANK OF THE GERMAN DRIVE THE ALLIES ALSO MAINTAINED STRONG PRESSURE AGAINST THE ENEMY IN THE STAVELOT-MALMEDY SECTOR. GERMAN ATTACKS WEST AND NORTHWEST OF LAROCHE AND AT LIERNEAUX, BETWEEN LAROCHE AND STAVELOT, HAVE BEEN HELD BACK SUCCESSFULLY.

Rundstedt Sweeps Within Four Miles of Meuse River Near Namur.

Enemy Employing Two Full Armies in Mighty Winter Offensive.

DEC 27 1944

PARIS, Dec. 26—(AP) As Paris underwent an aerial bombardment, Supreme Allied headquarters reported tonight that Field Marshal Karl Gerd Von Rundstedt's infantry and armored forces had burst from the western end of their salient after a 48-hour lull and smashed 11 miles deeper into Belgium.

The latest battlefield information available at Allied headquarters, 48 hours old, said the Nazi attacking force had driven within four miles of the Meuse river south of Namur and were being engaged by Allied troops 50 miles inside Belgium.

Drive Toward Meuse

So far as was known here, the Germans had not yet reached the Meuse tonight.

The bombing of Paris was by a few unidentified planes which coasted in over the capital to drop their loads. The fact that there were few of the attacking planes virtually precluded any chance that the bombs might have been dropped by Allied aircraft through accident as happened shortly after the liberation of the city.

The news of the new German punch deeper into Belgium was coupled with the disclosure that Von Rundstedt has two full German armies and probably a third employed in his offensive.

The American salient at St. Vith near the northern end of the battle line had been wiped out and the Germans held a solid 35-mile assault front across Belgium. At Celles, a village 10 miles northwest of Rochefort, Von Rundstedt's forces were only eight miles from the French frontier.

The Nazis threw their new punch after furious American resistance aided by bludgeoning air power virtually had held the enemy to a standstill for two days.

Two columns struck from the area between Rochefort and Marche, at the extreme point of the enemy's penetration of Belgium. One force shot west and a little north to reach Ciney, nine miles from the Meuse. The other drove due west to the vicinity of Celles, four miles from the city of Dinant on the Meuse.

Nothing was available at Allied headquarters on what progress the Nazis might have made since Sunday night, in keeping with the time lag imposed on news from the front.

Yanks Trapped in Bastogne

Several thousand Yank troops encircled at the important Belgian road hub of Bastogne on the enemy's southern flank continued to hold out valiantly against powerful German pressure while an American relief force driving up from the south reached a point only four and half miles from the city.

Heavy fighting was in progress southeast of Bastogne in the vicinity of Arsdorf and Eschdorf, and American troops were reported to have gained some ground, including heights west of Eppeldorf, four and a half miles southeast of Diekirch and three miles from the German-Belgium border.

Although the weather deteriorated somewhat today, swarms of Allied planes again were out over the battle area, blasting at enemy armor and troops and engaging in swirling dogfights with the Luftwaffe. Up to noon planes of the Ninth tactical air force had destroyed six tanks, six other armored vehicles and 237 motor transport, while shooting down 22 Nazi craft.

It now is believed at Allied headquarters that Adolf Hitler personally planned the German Winter offensive, as the Nazis claimed ever since it began, and it no longer can be doubted that the onslaught had disrupted the schedule of the Allied drive on Germany.

A qualified military expert said Von Rundstedt, who is brilliantly directing the smash across Belgium, has thrown at least two seasoned armies into the great effort and probably a third. It previously was announced that between 13 and 15 German divisions were lashing at the American First army and elements of the Third.

Drive Aimed at Namur

Field dispatches indicated that Von Rundstedt now was seeking to break through toward the large Belgian city of Namur rather than toward Liege, 34 miles northeast of Namur. The enemy column which reached Ciney on Sunday was approximately 14 miles from Namur and was striking in that direction.

It was disclosed that American forces which had held up the German advance near St. Vith, four miles from the German-Belgian border, were withdrawn in the last two or three days to avoid threatened entrapment. This enabled the two jaws of a German pincers to come together and wiped out what had been a troublesome salient in the enemy's front.

The northern line of the German front now runs from Ciney through Marche, Hotton and Grandmenil, then northwest of Lierneux to near Stavelot, then 14 miles east to Bullingen and on to Monschau in Germany.

One German attack near Bullingen, 10 miles east of Malmedy, failed Christmas Eve, but to the west a strong German force attacked on a two-mile front and took Manhay.

Enough has been learned of the enemy's program to prove that the current offensive, which was personally planned by Hitler during a three-months period in which he withdrew from other activities, was in its conception not merely a thrust to relieve Allied pressure on Germany but was an ambitious scheme to break through and roll up the entire Allied front in Belgium and Holland, the military expert quoted above said.

It thus is a daring gamble to inflict decisive defeat on the Allies on the Western front.

The expert said that the Germans had failed to achieve all they planned in the initial phases of the offensive and had been compelled to revise their plans.

DEC 27 1944

The ability of the Nazi forces to achieve anything like Hitler's grandiose plan is highly unlikely, but there is no question that he already has driven a wedge which has compelled the Allies to drop their own Winter offensive and concentrate on coping with the enemy breakthrough.

The dispatch does not necessarily mean the war will be prolonged. On the contrary, it may bring the end sooner, as the Germans have come out of their pillboxes and trenches and have placed a powerful force in the open for what may be a showdown battle.

Drive Executed by Generals

Hitler left the execution of the offensive to his generals, notably Von Rundstedt, who personally is directing it with a highly professional touch.

In a delayed dispatch from the Stavelot sector on the northern flank, dated Dec. 25, Wes Gallagher of the Associated Press said "there is a feeling that the tide of battle has turned in this sector after eight days of desperate fighting."

He told of roads strewn with the wreckage of German tanks and vehicles after Monday's great Allied air attack and quoted an American officer as declaring "we have given the German panzers their worst beating since the Argentan gap debacle." He described German troops in the assault as young and tough.

Officers at Allied headquarters said the Germans might not begin to feel the full effect of the air blows of recent days for another 48 hours. Yesterday's attacks by more than 4,000 Allied planes were aimed mainly at sealing off the battle bulge from the Germans' sources of supply.

At least 56 German tanks were destroyed and another 791 other armored vehicles and transports were destroyed or damaged in air action which cost 13 heavy bombers, seven medium and light bombers and 45 fighters. Seventy-eight Nazi planes were shot down.

(Tuesday's German High command communique claimed more than 700 American tanks and armored vehicles had been captured or destroyed in the present offensive. It declared that American forces trying to fight through to the relief of isolated yanks in Bastogne had been repulsed and the ring around the town tightened).

DEC 27 1944

U. S. Blacks Out News

There was almost a complete blackout of news from the northern, central and southern sectors of the long front. A dispatch from the Seventh army front near Wissenbourg in the German Palatinate said tersely that there was "nothing to report." There was no indication that the Third army in the Saar had registered gains.

Thunderbolt fighters supporting the Seventh army destroyed at least three locomotives and damaged 27 others.

Von Rundstedt had thrown into the break in Allied lines the Fifth Panzer army and the Seventh army—the latter rebuilt since it was badly decimated in France—and probably has still another army at his disposal.

He has some crack units in these forces and also some Volksgrenadier units, far inferior to the Americans in training and not well equipped.

Commanding the Fifth Panzer army is Gen. Hasso Eccard Von Manteuffel—the devil man—a typi-anian family whose main business anian family! whose main business for centuries has been the waging of war. He served in the last war, and in this war he fought in the first battle of France, on the Russian front and in Africa. He is 48 and one of the ablest German generals.

roe 50 Miles Inside Belgium; 2d U.S. Force Trapped

DEC 27 1944

Paris, Dec. 26 (AP)—Two German armored columns by Sunday night had plunged 50 miles into Belgium, reaching within 4 miles of the Meuse River. The Nazis wiped out the American salient at St. Vith and formed a solid front 35 miles wide.

Supreme headquarters disclosed this information today. Two and possibly three Nazi armies have been flung into the battering counteroffensive, believed at supreme headquarters to have been planned by Hitler himself in an effort to shatter Allied forces in the West. Backed up by infantry, the twin German tank pushes had careened 11 miles more into Belgium since the last previous headquarters report.

They had pinched out the American stand west of St. Vith—a salient that had split the German offensive prongs—and formed a single bulge 35 miles wide and now 50 miles or more deep.

Germans At Ciney And Near Celles

Punching due west, one Nazi tank column neared Celles, only 4 miles from the Meuse at Dinant and just 8 miles northeast of the French border.

Another column struck west and north, reaching Ciney in a 10-mile gain. Ciney is 9 miles from the Meuse and 14 from the jutting northeast corner of France. Ciney and Celles are 6 miles apart.

The security news cloak covered any further progress these thrusts have made since Sunday night. At latest reports a battle was raging in this general area, with the Germans building up forces west of Rochefort and south of Marche.

The deep Sunday gains came after the invaders had been held almost to a standstill for 48 hours.

American Force Surrounded At Bastogne

Allied planes hit again today at the German columns, and up to noon the 9th Tactical Air Force alone had destroyed six tanks, six armored vehicles and 237 motor vehicles, besides downing 22 enemy planes.

In the heart of the German bulge a surrounded American force several thousand strong fought doggedly to hold the important Belgian road hub of Bastogne after rejecting a surrender ultimatum. It is under incessant Nazi armor and infantry attacks.

The whole hope of this isolated force focused to the south, where General Eisenhower's counterassault had beaten back up the Arlon road within 5 miles of Bastogne—and was still gaining ground.

DEC 27 1944

The St. Vith Withdrawal

The American wedge west of St. Vith had kept Field Marshal von Rundstedt's drives split.

German stabs had veered north of Laroche through to Grandmenil and Lierneux, threatening to cut off Americans dug in on ridges west of St. Vith and keeping Rundstedt's assault prongs from merging.

These forces had to be pulled out in rear-guard fighting the last two or three days, supreme headquarters said, and the German junction had been formed by yesterday morning.

There were no reports whether this withdrawal was completely successful or whether some of the American armor and infantry that had held the pocket for almost a week had been left behind.

Namur Now Believed German Goal

The northern line of the German bulge now runs from north of Rochefort, 15 miles from the Meuse, northeast through Marche, Hotton and Grandmenil, then northwest of Lierneux to near Stavelot, then 14 miles east of Bullingen and on to Monschau in Germany.

A field dispatch declared Rundstedt apparently now was seeking a breakthrough toward Namur rather than Liege, 34 miles northeast of Namur. The Germans were more than 30 miles from Namur by Sunday.

Besides pounding into Rochefort, German armor and infantry farther southeast had taken Libramont, only 23 miles from Sedan and 16 from the French border. Prisoners said the German timetable called for Paris by January 17.

Yanks Gain Below Duren

Even as the German offensive bit deeper into Belgium, Americans to the northeast had entered Windem, 4 miles below Duren, on Sunday, and cleared Obernaubach, a mile farther down.

While the huge ground battle in Belgium raged on, the 8th Air Force got in its fourth straight day of attacks.

Thousands of German vehicles and 500 enemy planes have been knocked out by Allied flyers since the start of the counteroffensive.

For the first time the main German pressure in Belgium appeared to be turning from the west, where there still were slight gains, to the northwest or north.

Tide Turning At Stavelot

A field dispatch dated yesterday, however, said the tide seemed to be turning against the Germans in the Stavelot sector, along the northern rim of the German breakthrough.

Americans counted 600 German dead and 34 tanks knocked out on the armor-churned snowfield near St. Aumond, five miles west of Stavelot, where the Germans had been held to a standstill. United States forces pinched the Nazis out of La Gleize, three miles west of Stavelot, taking 200 prisoners and wrecking or seizing 15 tanks.

Farther east the Germans lost bloodily in a vicious Christmas Eve assault near Bullingen that failed to gain.

Nazi 'Chutists Wiped Out

The Germans dropped parachutists near Stavelot and Beauraing, intent on disrupting Allied communications, but all were wiped out.

Eisenhower's counterassault along the 25-mile southern flank was striking heavily toward Bastogne, and against the Echternach shoulder of the Nazi bulge. Gains of one to three miles were reported in 24 hours up to yesterday morning.

Fierce fighting thundered around American-captured Chaumont just west of the Arlon-Bastogne road, and the Americans were making steady gains east of the road. They pressed north of Bigonville, cleared Arsdorf, and pushed close to Neuenhausen, two miles farther northeast.

DEC 27 1944

Other U.S. Successes

A few miles farther east Americans gained near recaptured Heiderscheid, eight miles west of Diekirch. German attacks were repulsed at Heiderscheid and at Kehmen, three miles northeast.

In other advances south and east of Diekirch, Americans took Mostroff, four miles south of Vianden, where the Nazis originally broke across the Luxembourg border in their Bastogne drive. Mostroff is nine miles northwest of Echternach.

Elsewhere on the Western front, German patrols were active along the Maas River in Holland. Patrols were active on the 7th Army front near Wissembourg and along the Rhine, and north of Colmar the Allies entered Bennwier.

[Berlin said Schiesseck fort of the Maginot Line north of Bitche, on the 7th Army's front, had been recaptured by the Germans, with Bundenthal, seven miles northwest of Wissembourg, also retaken.]

Air Blows Dealt At Rear

The Allies yesterday sent out more than 4,000 planes, some 600 of which directed their blows at sealing off the battle bulge in the real line rather than in front-line attacks.

For this reason, officers at headquarters said, the full effect of air blows may not begin to be felt heavily on the actual front line for 48 hours or more.

The Allied planes yesterday wrecked at least 56 tanks and destroyed or damaged 791 other armored vehicles and transports.

GERMAN ATTACK SWEEPS FORWARD

GALLAGHER

WITH U. S. FORCES IN BELGIUM, Dec. 26—(AP) Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt hammered ceaselessly at General Eisenhower's northern flank today, embroiling more men in the great struggle in Belgium.

At the same time, there was a sharp increase in patrol activity all the way from Onschau to the Canadian army positions in Holland in a great battle unequalled previously in this war.

Despite the fearful beating the German airforce has absorbed—losing nearly 600 planes since the Nazi offensive started — it continued to fight and the 29th American tactical airforce in a few hours this morning shot down 13 German planes and damaged four more, giving this American unit the biggest day it has had since its organization.

American combat forces chopped off at least two of von Rundstedt's extended Western prongs, capturing 13 assault guns in one place, but Von Rundstedt threw two more in their place.

In general, the northern flank is being held, forcing the German commander even farther west in his efforts to turn north against Liege and Antwerp, while, in the south, American armor and infantry made steady progress toward Bastogne.

German losses have mounted steadily, but von Rundstedt has ignored them in the typical Prussian fashion that cost the Kaiser 400,000 men at Verdun in the last war.

There are more and more indications that the German High command has decided to risk the heart of the German army in this Western front effort. At the present moment, Eisenhower's forces have more or less contained the original penetration and the battle has passed from the "critical stage."

Von Rundstedt still has substantial reserves, reserves that two months ago were thought impossible by most Allied military experts.

If he commits them either in the break-through or in a new attempt farther north, the struggle on the Western front will have a life or death aspect. It will strain every Allied resource.

But if von Rundstedt fails, the German army will be in exactly the same crippled condition it was after the abortive Paris offensive of 1918.

The next few days should tell the story, with strong prospects for the greatest battle of the Second World war in the offing.

GERMANS DECLARE AMERICAN TROOPS STEP UP ATTACKS

DEC 27 1944

LONDON, Dec. 26.—(AP) American commanders in Europe have sent several divisions of the Ninth army into the First army area to join up with units which were rushed in from the Third and Seventh armies, the Berlin radio claimed tonight.

Broadcasting this report, perhaps in an effort to fish for information, the German radio went on to say that the Americans had stepped up their fierce onslaught against the southern flank of Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's offensive during the past 24 hours.

The enemy Supreme command announced that the focal point of the fighting in the west had shifted to the area of western Luxembourg, and claimed Allied attacks around Bastogne were repulsed during grim battles. The encirclement of American troops in the Bastogne area was further narrowed, Berlin said.

U. S. forces, after receiving fresh reserves which presumably were taken from other frontline sectors, tried to press back the Nazi southern wing in order to relieve the Bastogne forces, but the attacks were repulsed, the Berlin radio said.

West of the Ourthe river the Germans claimed their assault spearheads were making headway after warding off numerous enemy counterattacks. Since the beginning of our attack in the west, on Dec. 16, the broadcast said, more than 700 American tanks or armored vehicles were either captured or destroyed.

The German radio also claimed Nazi fighter squadrons had intercepted strong enemy formations yesterday and prevented them from aimed bombing. German fighters and flak artillery destroyed 4 Anglo-American planes, the Nazi High command said.

HITLER CONCEIVED NAZI OFFENSIVE

PARIS, Dec. 26—(AP) The current German counteroffensive on the western front, employing at least two and possibly three armies, is believed at Allied headquarters to have been conceived and planned by Adolf Hitler himself, just as Nazi propagandists have been contending.

According to information available here, the Hitler design was to burst through to the Meuse river all the way between the French frontier and Liege, Belgium, and thus virtually pinch off the Allied forces in the Aachen sector.

It cannot be doubted any more that the German onslaught, which got off to a brilliant start but since has slowed down, has disrupted the Allied schedule for their drive in Germany.

A qualified military expert at Allied headquarters said this ambitious Nazi gamble, which is believed to have been mapped out by Hitler during three months when he withdrew from all other activities, was boldly conceived not merely as a push to relieve Allied pressure but in the hope of rolling up the entire Allied front in Belgium and Holland.

This expert credited German Marshal Karl Gerd Von Rundstedt with brilliant direction of the Hitler plan for decisively defeating the Allies in the west.

He is using the reorganized Seventh army that was so badly cut up by the Allies in Normandy, plus the Fifth Panzer army and probably also another Panzer army.

The Allies admittedly were hit in a thin spot, but the Allied expert said the Germans had failed to achieve as much as they had expected in the initial stages of their offensive and had been forced to revise their program.

There is no inclination at Allied headquarters to suppose that the Germans have yet been brought to a complete standstill, but it is suggested that for all its bold conception and smart execution, the Nazi plan already has begun going wrong and that Von Rundstedt is having to improvise in the field.

There is, however, no question that the Germans have compelled the Allies to concentrate on coping with this counteroffensive rather than on their own Winter offensive in Germany.

GERMANS ATTEMPT TO SPLIT ALLIES BY PROPAGANDA

DEC 27 1944

LONDON, Dec. 26 — (AP) The German propaganda machine is trying to make capital of the military situation on the Western front:

A broadcast tonight by the propaganda agency International Information said that "Eisenhower is forced to meet the German onslaught mainly with American divisions" because Field Marshal Montgomery "so far has given up none of his Canadian or British formations."

"The behaviour of the British command in the West is a most significant sign among the developments in the area of the German offensive," the broadcast said. "The Maas front of the 21st army group (Montgomery's command) has been the quietest in the west for weeks. Montgomery has taken all measures to ensure that the collapse of the (U. S.) First army should have no repercussions on his own front.

"Only two days ago he had to send one division to the area of the First army, but the British commanding general still is anxious to avoid taking part in the campaign of the Americans."

Such propaganda was considered here an attempt to split the Allies and fish for information about Montgomery's dispositions.

A dispatch from Paris, seat of Supreme Allied headquarters, by Associated Press Correspondent Edward Kennedy said:

"German patrols have been probing for weak spots on the British-Canadian fronts in Holland and any big withdrawals from that area would serve German interests.

"French and U. S. Seventh army troops in the south have the job of containing the Germans in the Alsace pocket and in the past 24 hours have enaged in brisk fights northwest of Colmar and cleared up a large German infiltration into their lines.

"Further information on this subject is naturally not permissible at the moment, as it would involve data on the disposition of troops."

In London, a British military commentator, discussing scarcity of information concerning the part taken by British forces in the current crisis, said:

"In the first place we don't know that British troops are not being used by the Supreme commander (Gen. Eisenhower) to help stop the Germans, but whether they are or not and why obviously is a question to be put to Supreme headquarters."

NAZI OFFENSIVE BELIEVED AIMED AT CHANNEL PORTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 — (AP) Unfolding German strategy, in the opinion of military men here, indicates the enemy's counter-offensive is aimed at the channel ports, probably Antwerp.

Success would snap Allied supply lines from the coast and throw a huge noose around the armies on the northern sector of the Western front.

The objective of the German drive has been a mystery since it was launched ten days ago. One German prisoner suggested that Paris was the goal.

But on the basis of the latest news from the front, military spokesmen said the Germans evidently are going to try to cross the Meuse river in the area from Namur south to a point west of Rochefort, then swing to the northeast and northwest.

Here along the Meuse the greatest battle in the offensive—possibly the most decisive battle of the Western front—may develop, these observers say. News dispatches saying that two entire armies are participating in the German offensive—a larger force than first estimated—indicate the extreme importance the Nazi High command is attaching to the drive.

A crossing of the Meuse by small German forces is quite likely, it is said here, although the conviction is expressed that the Meuse will mark the greatest extent of the main German offensive forces.

Despite apparent continued German progress, analysts in Washington saw some favorable aspects in the situation. These included:

1—The width of the German front has been narrowed, particularly in the south.

2—Good weather has given Allied forces a chance to pound the enemy's supply lines and combat forces, inflicting severe losses in personnel and supplies.

3—The rate of advance of the enemy spearheads has been slowed considerably since the opening of the offensive.

Drive Costs Nazis 13,273 Prisoners

DEC 27 1944

Washington, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—The War Department reported today that at least 13,273 Germans have been taken prisoner during the current German counter-offensive.

This report, the department said, is a preliminary one.

Disclosure of the figure was made in an announcement which said that the 800,000th German prisoner had been taken on the western front since the landings in Normandy on June 6. This covered the period up to Christmas Eve.

SUPPLIES DROPPED TO BASTOGNE YANKS

By EDWARD D. BALL

WITH AMERICAN FORCES, Dec. 26—(AP) Hundreds of C-47 transports flew through ack-ack to drop ammunition, supplies and plasma to our troops surrounded in the Bastogne pocket today.

They came in just over the treetops and soon were unburdening themselves, pitching out clusters of cannisters which swayed earthward beneath silken parachutes.

Watching the proceedings were a batch of hardbitten young Nazis who stomped about to keep warm. They were an arrogant and sneering lot, all except Hans, who was smiling.

"Hans," commanded one of his comrades, and Hans wiped that smile off his face.

"They try to look tough, but like the German army they're not as tough as they used to be," said Capt. Henry H. Burchard, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Burchard said, "individually they were pretty good when we first tangled with them up in Normandy. They were fair later. Now they are plain lousy. (35 words censored) during the first few days of the German breakthrough, they fought well and then they began surrendering like that bunch you're looking at.

"We soon found out why. Their ranks have been filled with everything from piccolo players to ham actors."

"Some of these prisoners didn't even know they were having a hand in the German counterattack," added Sgt. Werner Danby, New York City. "All they knew was that they were fighting. That tough front they're putting on is just a front. Some of those taken in the last few days conceded that all they hoped for was better peace terms."

Planes Drop Supplies To Cut-Off Americans

With U.S. Troop Carrier Forces On The 1st Army Front, Dec. 23 [AP—Delayed]—More than 200 troop carrier C-47's, escorted by Thunderbolt fighters, bucked headwinds and flak over the German-Belgian border to drop food and ammunition to stranded American troops today.

DEC 27 1944

The hard-pressed ground forces, veterans who have been cut off from outside aid for nearly a week, are caught in the tightening pincers of Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt's offensive.

The mass carrier formation left English bases on its 200-mile journey and arrived over its snow-covered objective this afternoon.

Parachutes were dropped in excellent concentration. The large red chutes dotted the snow like poppies. The GI's rushed from their foxholes and shelters, waving to the planes and retrieving the supplies with jeeps and trailers.

DOUGHBOYS BITE INTO NAZI FLANK

By LEWIS HAWKINS

WITH AMERICAN FORCES, Dec. 26—(AP) Infantrymen are digging into the Germans' vital southern flank north of Luxembourg despite foot-freezing weather and back-breaking hills and the Nazis are fighting fiercely to save their communications lines to the Bastogne area and westward.

"If these hills were ten feet higher, they'd be mountains," said one weary GI outside the village of Kehman, 21 miles north-northeast of Luxembourg city.

He wasn't exaggerating and Maj. James H. Hayes, a regimental operations officer from Philadelphia, explained why it is not just their height that handicaps the Americans:

"The ridges we're in all run roughly east and west and we are advancing south to north, so we have to go over every ridge and face the fire of everything from six-barrelled mortars and 88's to machinepistols."

These steep hills, so ideally adapted to defensive warfare, are covered by forests of beech, oak, spruce and fir and in some places the latter is so thick that it is almost as dark as night when the sun is shining brightly above.

In one such dense wood a unit which had just taken a town near Kehman had its command post and Capt. Gerald Crowthers, of Coshocton, O., its executive officer, said, "we had to clean the krauts out house by house and the town is all torn up now. They were fighting as hard as I have ever seen them fight."

This unit's boss, Maj. James A. Craig, New Cumberland, Pa., was up ahead in the town consolidating his troops' hold on it.

The troops have moved about 14 miles in the last four days, cutting the main Bastogne-Trier supply road in the capture of Heiderscheid, 19 miles north of Luxembourg, and now threaten a secondary road line at Bourcheid.

German troops now trying to stem this northward push include some first class units which had been headed west into the Bastogne area but had to be diverted to meet this threat from the south.

Nazis Blow Up Armored Vehicles As Yanks Retake Belgian Town

DEC 27 1944

By HAL BOYLE

NEAR STAVELOT, BELGIUM, Dec. 25—(delayed)—(AP A slim major who spent more than 72 hours as a prisoner of a trapped German armored force told today how 800 Nazi survivors tried to break out of an American encirclement after abandoning and blowing up more than 100 of their own tanks and vehicles.

"I was determined to get back here in time for a real Christmas dinner," said Maj Hal D. McCowan of Ruston, La., as he sat at a Christmas table loaded with turkey and cranberry sauce and related his experience to his commanding general.

Had 4 Dogbiscuits

"All I had for Christmas with them yesterday—they eat theirs a day before we do—was four tough dogbiscuits and two nips of apple cognac."

Doughboys who enveloped the small village of La Gleize, west of here, after three days of a hammering battle, found 152 burning Nazi armored vehicles, including 38 tanks of which 16 were royal tigers and 22 panthers.

"The bulk of those were destroyed by the Germans themselves before they pulled out the last 800 men—only about a third of their original force," McCowan said to the division staff officers grouped around the festive Christmas table.

As a result of the German withdrawal the besieging Americans who retook the town captured 150 Nazi wounded and freed 140 imprisoned Yanks who were left behind by the enemy.

"I was captured Dec. 21 when German machinegunners surrounded me, my radio operator and an orderly near Stoumont, west of Stavelot," said the 30-year-old McCowan.

"They were cutting grass above our heads with those machineguns.

"They took us to La Gleize where I found they had about 140 other captured Americans. They abided by the Geneva conventions in every way in dealing with us."

Give Major Third Degree

Although employing no force the Nazis subjected McCowan to a psychological third degree, placing him in a chair under a bright light while one of the questi[illegible]ostentatiously pulled out a p[illegible]nd put it on a table as an unvoiced threat.

McCowan said the SS officers tried to bluff him, but after they found out I didn't bluff, their commander took quite a fancy to me."

The commander, in subsequent chats with McCowan, related how the Germans planned to break through and divide the American armies. He expressed hatred of the Russians, who, he said, took no prisoners and said he preferred fighting the Americans because "they are gentlemen." He spoke with horror of the devastating pow-et of American artillery which he described as "inhuman."

"He was worried about our attitude toward the SS troops and wanted to know if we regarded them as criminals and gangsters," said McCowan, "and he wanted to know if we also regarded Hitler and Himmler in this light."

The major, with the other American captives, had to sweat out the artillery shelling of La Gleize village before their comrades entered it

DEC 27 1944

Surrounded by American tanks and infantry, the German commander was told by his commanding general late Dec. 23 to withdraw. At 3 o'clock the next morning he launched two sharp counter-attacks to deceive the Americans.

Nazi Blow up Vehicles

Two hours later his column of 800 men, armed with mortars and machineguns began to pull out. Behind them their rear guard began blowing up their abandoned vehicles at five minute intervals.

"The whole village was a sea of flame," said McCowan. "The German commander looked back at his burning armored column and if he had been capable of it he would have cried, but he didn't."

"He led us south across the Ambleve river, over a small footbridge, and right through our lines in a single column, a file of 800 men—all in perfect silence without a shot fired."

All that day the German column circled warily through the hills, marching steadily without rest.

Last night, after a series of brushes with American patrols, the Nazi column engaged in a fight with a company of Doughboys. As the Germans fled, McCowan ran toward the American lines until a voice challenged him.

"For Christ's sake, don't shoot," called McCowan, and soon he was back with his own division.

As he finished his story, McCowan, freshly bathed and rested, looked around the Christmas table and told the general:

"My wife would be proud of my waistline now. I'll never be so small again."

And he took another helping of turkey.

Nazis Trapped Ferrying 25 Tanks Over River

Near Stavelot, Belgium, Dec. 25 [AP—Delayed] — American artillery and dive bombers surprised a German force today attempting to ferry 25 tanks across the Ambleve River from a Nazi armored formation trapped a week ago west of Stavelot.

"They managed to float one tank over before we caught them," said Lieut. Col. H. E. Hassenfelt, of Oconto, Wis., "but then we began plastering them with artillery and working them over with dive bombers.

"They had to build pontoon rafts because there were no bridges left for them to escape across the river to the south.

"We have both the east and west entrances to the pockets sealed and they can't get out to the north because of impassable swamps and wooded mountains."

Ruins Of Equipment

A scene of some of the fiercest fighting since the German breakthrough was the village of La Gleize, three miles west of Stavelot. The Americans now have recaptured the town.

In and around the town the doughboys found the ruins of many enemy guns, tanks and vehicles. These included eight tanks—Royal Tigers, Panthers and Mark IV's—halftracks, self-propelled anti-aircraft guns, armored cars and half-ton trucks, three .75-mm. anti-tank guns, one ambulance and one .88-mm. anti-tank gun.

During the battle for the village the Americans took 150 prisoners, Hassenfelt said, "and killed more of the enemy than we have been able to count. Eight hundred survivors managed to escape over small foot bridges across the Ambleve."

"Ended Up In Trap"

Discussing the reasons for the Nazi debacle in this sector, Hassenfelt said:

"As smart as they were in the original advance, they didn't protect their own flanks and so they ended up in a trap. And they stuck their own noses into the noose. All we had to do was pull the string."

In the streets of the battered village this afternoon the doughboys celebrated their victory with an old-fashioned Christmas dinner—turkey, cranberries, mashed potatoes and all the other trimmings.

Nazis Take Big Fuel Dump

With U. S. Forces in Belgium, Dec. 21 [AP—Delayed]—The Germans have captured one substantial American gasoline dump—a total of 35,000 gallons, or about enough to run one armored division for two days.

It is evident that the Germans are short of gasoline. Thirteen Nazi self-propelled guns were captured west of Bastogne when they ran out of fuel.

GENERAL HELD COMMAND POST

With American Troops in Belgium, Dec. 22 (Delayed) (A. P.).—When the enemy threatened to overrun one divisional command post, the commanding general forgot all about his dignity. "We are going to hold this post," he said grimly.

He personally rallied his cooks, orderlies, drivers and clerks, and threw them into a hurried defense line. He directed traffic and supervised, while under heavy artillery and tank fire, the placing of strategic anti-tank defenses.

German Tiger tanks drove to within 200 yards of the post but the "mess shack" army never wavered. They held and knocked out so many Nazi vehicles the enemy finally had to retreat.

He was cut off and the Germans were thirty feet away—but he refused to give up. He grabbed a bazooka and for twenty-four hours held on, although four of his men were killed or wounded.

A private with his hand smashed by an enemy bullet sneaked back to his company command post through the German lines for more ammunition.

"I told him we had to evacuate—but he said to hell with that. Widener needed him and ammunition and he went back carrying it,' declared the company commander.

Charge Chateau.

Wounded men with Sergt. Weidener who were unable to fight kept contact with the command post by telephone until they died. The young private with the smashed hand picked up a revolver in the other hand and, with Sergt. Weidener, charged the chateau. The private was shot in the chest, shoulders and face and only then could his comrades get him into an ambulance.

It was this sort of courage which drove the crack German troops—dazed and beaten—back into a small town in the valley. The Germans established a defense in the town and placed 130 G. I. prisoners in the cellar of a church.

An American tank battalion hauled a giant 155-millimeter self-propelled cannon up on a ledge overlooking the village 800 yards away. They blew houses down on the Germans' heads with direct fire.

Sergt. William Keller, Chicago, Ill., one of those taken prisoner subsequently freed in the final assault late yesterday, said:

"It was terrible—that fire from our guns, particularly that 155. The Germans just stood there and shook and just before the final assault our guards asked us to make a white flag."

The Germans were short of food and all the Americans had to eat for three days were raw potatoes.

"Due" in Paris January 17.

The German captors were young, tough troops and very talkative, according to Sergt. Bruce Tate, Columbus, S. C., another American captive who was released.

"The lieutenant who marched us back said their schedule called for them to reach Paris by January 17," Tate said. He said, 'maybe your Mr. Roosevelt will make peace terms then.'"

Sergt. Tate and other prisoners told American officers that the Germans indicated the present offensive had been designed to inflict crushing casualties on the Allies so Germany might get a soft peace.

"Many Germans had never seen American soldiers before," Sergt. Tate continued. "They asked us why we were fighting Germany and examined our clothes and weapons with great interest. They had been fighting on the Russian front." Among the other released American prisoners were Sergt. Donald Kenshalo, Los Angeles, Cal.; Private Howard J. Spark, Jasper, Tex., and Sergt. Bascom Perdue, Kempton, Ind.

Before the final assault upon the German position a handful of Germans who were left alive despite our artillery fire tried to swim the river and escape in American uniforms. Only a few got through.

In an area of less than two miles were found the wrecks of 39 tanks, 75 half-tracks, eight armored cars, four flak wagons, six self-propelled 150 mm. howitzers, six anti-tank guns, six mortars and a variety of other equipment.

It was apparent that Von Runstedt had lost the heart of one of his armored divisions here.

"We've just started," promised Lieut.-Col. Robert Herlond of Johnston, S. C., a battalion commander who participated in the final assault. Included on his staff were Lieut. Roger Bradley of Plainville, Conn.; Lieut. Nelson Wallers, Columbus, Ohio; Capt. Albert Daykin, 33 West 67th street, New York city, and Capt. Allen Hubbard, 192 West End avenue, New York city.

Heroic Deeds by Doughboys Turned Tide in Stavelot Zone

Germans There Said Timetable Calls for Capture of Paris by Jan. 17 When Roosevelt Will Talk Peace.

By WES GALLAGHER.

In the Stavelot Sector, Belgium, Dec. 25 (Delayed) (A. P.).—There is a feeling that the tide of battle has turned in this sector after eight days of desperate fighting. The Allied air forces delivered a stupendous attack today that left the roads strewn with wrecked German tanks.

"We have given the German Panzers their worst beating since the Argentan gap debacle," declared Major C. S. Sonesifer, of Harrisburg, Pa.

That is the big picture—but it has been etched with the individual exploits of scores of heroic American doughboys.

There was Sergt. William Weldener of Loganport, Ind., who with five other men saw two command posts overrun on each side of him, but held fast to his position in a barn outside a chateau

Tank Fires At One-Foot Range, But Yanks Escape

DEC 27 1944

By Harold V. Boyle

With American Troops in Belgium, Dec. 22 [AP—Delayed]—It isn't often that anyone can claim they escaped alive after an enemy tank fired at them from a one-foot range. But one American officer and three enlisted men did it.

They were in a jeep carrying 300 pounds of TNT to the front to blow up a bridge and halt the German advance. Driving was Tech 5/g Drady O. Berryhiff, of Palestine, Texas. His passengers were Sergt. Joe A. Broadstreet, of San Angelo, Texas, and Pfc. Adolph E. Johle, of Schwertz, Texas, and Lieut. Charles F. Lawyer, of 722 East North avenue, Baltimore.

A tank suddenly roared out of a side road and Berryhiff slammed on the brake, halting the jeep one foot short of the tank. A second later, the tank's gun roared with a blast that bounced Johle clear out of the jeep.

Berryhiff swiftly swung the jeep around and shot down the road, pulling off at the first path and hiding behind a barn. Johle scampered into a doorway and got away, too.

"Mess Shack" Army Clicks

When the enemy threatened to overrun one divisional command post, the commanding general forgot all about his dignity. "We are going to hold this post," he said grimly.

He personally rallied his cooks, orderlies, drivers and clerks, and threw them into a hurried defense line. He directed traffic and supervised, while under heavy artillery and tank fire, the placing of strategic anti-tank defenses.

German Tiger tanks drove to within 200 yards of the post, but the "mess shack" army never wavered. They held and knocked out so many Nazi vehicles the enemy finally had to retreat.

Engineers In New Role

Never before had the two combat engineers fired a bazooka—but then never before had Nazi tanks overrun their positions.

So Tech. 5/g Claofas Hernandez, of San Antonio, Texas, and Tech. 5/g Jack Hoge, of Dunlap, Tenn., took the weapon, knelt behind a fallen tree at the roadside, and waited for a target.

They had three projectiles. Hoge agreed to fire and Hernandez to load.

Down the road came several tanks. The two engineers blasted away, but they forgot to pull the pin and the first projectile didn't explode. Hernandez quickly rammed in a second round and at 50-yard range—an orthodox bazooka man would call if "suicide"—Hoge pulled the trigger.

It was a perfect hit. Smoke billowed from the tank, which later blew up.

"We tried again at another tank with our third shell," Hoge said, sadly, "but it was wide of the mark."

Overcomes His Surprise

Tech. 5/g Arnold A. Betcher, of Red Wing, Minn., was so surprised when the first German tank rolled past him with the commander half-exposed in the turret that he didn't fire a shot.

But he didn't make the same mistake twice. When the second tank of the Nazi column came along Betcher sighted his carbine just above the turret and pulled the trigger. Blood spurted and the commander fell dead back into the tank.

Then Betcher ducked behind a barn and escaped before other tanks could spot him.

NAZI-MANNED P-47S ATTACK YANK PLANES

HEADQUARTERS, FIRST TACTICAL AIR FORCE, European Theatre — (Delayed) — (AP) Two captured German-manned P-47s attacked an American flight of the same type planes from this air force but were beaten off.

Second Lt. Alvin D. Johnson of Nashville, Tenn., related the incident. He said the Americans were flying north of Strassburg when the pair of planes were sighted. "Of course, we were not suspicious," he added.

Then, he said, the Germans maneuvered above and behind the flight, dived, and started firing.

"One of them opened fire on my wingman, who peeled off and fired back," he said, "but the Germans had lost their chance. They put on speed and we lost them almost immediately in the haze."

Nazi Patrols Cross Rhine.

With the United States Seventh Army, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—German patrols are keeping the Yanks along the Rhine alert, usually crossing the river by motorboats at night and returning the following night.

Private William Elliott of Des Moines, Iowa, told how fifteen Germans crossed one night in his area. Private Elliott and his comrades killed twelve of them, and captured one, while two escaped.

Another group of twenty Germans was intercepted by Americans including Private First Class Bernard Oltrogge, also of Des Moines.

"We did not do so good," Private First Class Oltrogge said. "We killed only three and captured only one."

Three Divisions Commended

With the 7th Army, Dec. 26 (AP)—Seventh Army divisions which took part in the breakthrough of the Germans' Vosges winter line were commended for "outstanding achievement" by Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch. The divisions are the 3d, 45th and 36th.

AP Correspondent Meets Son On Front In France

Somewhere in Alsace, Dec. 26 (AP). An Associated Press correspondent driving along an Alsatian road noted something familiar about the GI in a near-by jeep.

The correspondent stopped his own jeep, crossed the road and shook hands with the private (first class) sitting at the wheel, saying: "Hello, son," to George Carleton Werner.

"Hello, dad," said the 22-year-old private to Wade Werner, veteran Associated Press staff writer who has served fourteen years abroad in Moscow, Vienna, London and Geneva.

Werner, whose wife lives in Alexandria, Va., had not seen his son, an infantry man, in a year and a half. Another son of the Werners has been lost in the war.

U.S. ARMY AUTHORITIES PROBE THEFT OF MAIL

PARIS, Dec. 26—(AP) The U. S. Army is investigating the theft of mail in connection with black market activities as the result of finding 28 pouches and 56 sacks of mail along with other government property in an abandoned army truck located on the premises of a civilian home in suburban Nantes.

Also recovered were 4,950 cartons of cigarettes, 150 gallons of gasoline, 2,000 empty cans—indicating at least 10,000 gallons of gasoline had been disposed of—and large quantities of army trucks tires, food and clothing.

The truck driver, missing three weeks, was discovered badly injured in a civilian hospital where he had been taken by civilians. Authorities said it had not been ascertained whether the driver was implicated in the theft or had been injured defending the truck and its contents.

Blow At Black Market Set

Paris, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Finance Ministry is preparing a double blow against the black market, war profiteers and counterfeiters by calling in old banknotes up to 300 francs for exchange, according to members of the finance committee of the consultative assembly.

The Bank of France already has printed 130,000,000,000 francs worth of new banknotes for the exchange, which will be the Government's first step following the "liberation" bond issue which took 155,000,000,000 francs ($3,100,000,000) out of heavy excess currency circulation.

According to the assembly men, sometime in January the Finance Ministry will make an even exchange up to 300 francs per individual in new bills for the old. Persons holding more than 300,000 will be forced to turn the balance to the Government for bonds carrying one and one half per cent interest and the old bills will be declared void.

Persons holding more than 300,000 francs will be required to show their source of income and prove that the money was not from illicit sources. This will be accompanied by an investigation of all purchases of real estate since 1940, the assembly men said.

Tanks Fuelless, Gas Peddled, Is Charge

TUCKER

Paris, Dec. 26 (AP)—A high-ranking American officer predicted today th[illegible] "slimy" details would [illegible]ded in February when th[illegible]y brings to trial another bat[illegible] United States service men accused of selling cigarettes, gasoline and other military supplies to the French black market.

"I know of tanks sitting empty without a drop of gasoline while soldiers behind the lines peddled it by the gallon," the officer said as he discussed thefts and hijacking activities for which scores of soldiers already have been sentenced to prison terms ranging from one year to life.

May Shed New Light

His statement indicated that new light might be shed upon the extent of American soldiers' participation in the black market, although many general officers have denied that the loss of supplies or gasoline—estimated at several hundred thousand gallons a week—has affected the current military situation.

They pointed out that the losses have occurred for the most part many miles behind the battle lines and that fuel supply levels in combat areas are high.

Nevertheless, details already unfolded have revealed fantastic incidents of army truck drivers being ambushed on lonely roads and relieved of vehicles and cargoes at gunpoint, or of drivers delivering loaded trucks to black-market operators at fees reportedly ranging up to $6,000.

Cigarette Traffic

Black-market operations have been so extensive that they are said to have caused the recent breakdown of the cigarette supply for the Allied forces by funneling millions of packages into French brothels, restaurants and private homes.

More than 90 per cent of the cigarettes reached the black market by way of the armed forces, it was disclosed.

Developing from operations that had a patriotic basis under German occupation, the French black market expanded in post-invasion days into a gigantic combine of dealers in stolen goods, counterfeiters, white slavers and speculators. It reached staggering proportions and American soldiers were drawn into its operations.

Since D-day its chief source of supply has been the Army, from which it has drained gasoline, soap, food, cigarettes and post-exchange items.

Civilians Involved

For every American arrested for black-marketing, ten French civilians have been taken into custody, charged chiefly with having American equipment in their possession and selling it illegally. However, 95 per cent of this was delivered to their hands by Americans.

French military and civilian governments have stepped up their efforts to combat the situation.

A total of 184 American officers and men are awaiting hearings at the new series of trials scheduled to open the first week in February. All are members of two special battalions operating French railroads.

Hufendick Not a Negro

Army Private Was Convicted for Selling U. S. Gas in France

An Associated Press dispatch from Paris, dated Dec. 25, which reported the conviction of Private Albert L. Hufendick for selling 225 gallons of Army gasoline to a French civilian, erroneously identified him as a Negro.

War Department records show that Hufendick is white. They list his address as 1434 Sullivan Avenue, St. Louis.

A court-martial sentenced Hufendick, a truck driver on the United States Army's Red Ball supply route across France, to ten years' imprisonment.

FRANCE IS SENDING DELEGATE TO LUBLIN

PARIS, Dec. 26.—(AP) Perhaps foreshadowing future diplomatic moves the French government announced today that it was sending a delegate to the Polish Lublin committee to handle repatriation of Frenchmen escaping from the Nazi lines.

The French news agency in reporting the decision said that the foreign office had found that Polish territories taken by the Russians were being "effectively administered" by the Lublin regime.

The foreign office said that a constantly-increasing number of French war prisoners was being liberated by the Soviet advances, particularly in former Polish areas. Some 1,500 Alsatians already have been repatriated by the Russians to France. They were drafted originally into the German army.

French recognition of the Lublin committee as the Polish government was reportedly one of the agreements reached by Gen. de Gaulle and Premier Stalin during their recent negotiations in Moscow. French resistance leaders have been campaigning for recognition of the Lublin regime instead of the London government in exile.

100,000 NAZIS TRAPPED

Soviet Army Cracks German Winter Line on Way to Austria.

LONDON, Wednesday, Dec. 27—(AP) The Red army yesterday completed the encirclement of Budapest and battled two miles into the city limits from the west in house-by-house fighting against the stubborn but doomed German and Hungarian garrison that originally numbered an estimated 100,000 men.

Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine army troops, thrusting to the Danube both above and below Budapest, seized at least nine of the solidly-built-up suburbs of Buda, that section of the Hungarian capital on the river's west bank, and penetrated the city limits at numerous points.

Smash Into City

One of these, Lipotmezo, was two miles inside the city and only two and one-half miles west of the Margaret bridge (Margithid) in the center of the city. Another, Zugliget, one and one-half miles inside Budapest, was but three and one-half west of the famous Chain bridge (Lanchid).

Although death or capture were the alternatives for the completely-cut-off enemy garrison, with the scanty possibility that a few top men might yet flee by air, the Moscow communique which announced the Red army successes conceded that the Germans were putting up a ferocious resistance.

Budapest's outer and inner rings of fortifications were gone, but the enemy was fighting furiously from the shabby stone buildings that make up most of hilly Buda.

How many of the garrison remained alive was problematical, but Moscow referred to their numbers as still "large."

Already looking ahead, however, a late Moscow supplemental bulletin stressed Tolbukhin's capture of Csakvar, 25 miles west of Budapest and 14 miles north of Szekesfehervar. The garrison of that important strong point was annihilated, Moscow said, and thus the enemy's so-called Winter line before the 2,000-foot mountains of the Bakony forest was cracked.

On that front 32 German tanks and 47 cannon were destroyed during the day, the Russian bulletin said.

Simultaneously with the sealing of Budapest's fall, and the cracking of the Winter line on the way to Austria, another Russian army struck ahead towards Austria from due east.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine army captured at least 13 towns in southern Czechoslovakia along the Hron (Garam) river, reaching within 63 miles of Bratislava and within 96 of Vienna.

Other elements of that Red army operating in northern Hungary near the Czechoslovak border above Gyongyos, reported capture of 16 Hungarian communities, virtually wiping out the enemy-held fringe of Hungarian soil in all the vast expanse northwest and east of the Danube.

Nazi Toll Mounts

The Moscow communique which announced this series of smashing successes disclosed that in fighting Monday on the front west of Budapest alone 2,340 Germans and Hungarians were captured. This brought the bag for Tolbukhin's men alone to more than 7,800 since Dec. 21, with more than 14,000 of the enemy listed as slain in that same period.

The isolation of Budapest was reinforced by a continuing Soviet drive northwestward which reached and seized the Danube river city of Esztergom, 20 miles above the capital.

The Russians have not yet announced a crossing of the Danube in that sector but stand on the north bank almost opposite Esztergom and control the stream with heavy artillery for as much as 50 miles, so that no enemy vessel could run the gauntlet from Budapest.

They cover the river solidly on the south and today took the river bank suburb of Budafok. Directly north of Budapest they were within a mile of the river in the suburbs of Urom, Pilisborosjeno and Pomaz.

Marshal Malinovsky's men, spreading out on the direct westward path toward the Slovak capital, Bratislava, and storied Vienna, still apparently had not crossed the Hron, last important water barrier in their path. They and Tolbukhin's men on the south were in positions, however, to move in conjunction right up both banks of the Danube, on which sit both Bratislava and Vienna.

Tolbukhin's army, in addition, by taking Esztergom, stood opposite the Hron's mouth, so that a Danube crossing there would out flank the Hron line.

The Russians were silent concerning other fronts, except to say that fighting of local importance went on. The communique announced however, that on all fronts Dec. 25 the Germans lost 48 tanks, bringing to 543 the German tank losses since Dec. 21, at least 291 of these were knocked out by the Third Ukraine army that now is within the gates of Budapest.

Budapest Great Prize

Budapest is a great economic as well as a political and military prize. It contains iron and steel works and engineering, textile, chemical, shipbuilding and food industries. A large munitions plant is located in the southern suburb of Csepel. The Germans already have hauled away much of the machinery from these enterprises, but a considerable amount remains.

Enemy resistance northwest of Budapest still was furious, but apparently it lacked strength to hold back the Soviet spearheads thrusting toward Bratislava and Vienna from Szekesfehervar, the fallen Nazi bastion southwest of Budapest, and Leva (Levije) in southern Czechoslovakia.

On both sides of Leva Malinovsky's men were spreading out along the Hron (Garam) river, the principal water barrier on the approaches to the Bratislava gap.

Dispatches from Moscow said that the German High command apparently was moving to set up a defense line through the Bakany forest and extending from the northeast to the southwest, paralleling the Austria border. They were believed to be placing reserve forces there instead of attempting any relief of the Budapest garrison.

But there was an impression in Moscow, however, that the Germans would make a stand in the Hungarian capital and perhaps turn it into a battlefield. Defenders of the city are likely to receive devastating fire from big Soviet guns now in position to rake all of Budapest if their resistance continues. The capital has been under siege for six weeks.

Colonel Ernst Von Hammer, German militafy commentator, said in a broadcast today that a battle still raged on the Courland peninsula in western Latvia where an estimated thirty Nazi divisions have been caught with their backs to the sea.

Von Hammer stated that the Russians had thrown in at least eight fresh infantry divisions and three major tank formations to achieve a penetration of nearly one mile through the Nazi line in Latvia.

The Courland offensive, according to German reports, began last Thursday, the same day that Tolbuhkin began his break-through southwest of Budapest, but it has not yet been mentioned in Soviet communiques.

Moscow Announces Final Encirclement of the Hungarian Capital.

EIGHT DIVISIONS IN TRAP

Panic Reported in City as Red Forces Capture Suburbs of Magyar Metropolis.

London, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—The Russian Army completed its encirclement of Budapest today with the capture of nine western suburbs of the Hungarian capital, Moscow said tonight.

Esztergom, big Hungarian religious center on the Danube River twenty miles northwest of the capital, was one of the places which the broadcast Soviet communique announced had been seized today.

In this same sweep Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's forces enveloped the last remaining land escape routes for the enemy garrison estimated at 100,000 in Budapest.

Russians Closing Trap On Foes In Budapest

Moscow, Dec. 26 (AP)—Eight to ten divisions of Germans and Hungarians were reported trapped in Budapest today—cut off from escape except by air or possibly one road usable only by night—as the Red Army drove to the western city limits in a fifteen-mile advance.

The encirclement of the Hungarian capital was virtually completed, and front dispatches said Soviet guns had begun a systematic shelling of two airports still held by the enemy, while Stormoviks and medium bombers flew incessant sorties over the strife-torn capital.

Panic In City Visible

Great panic was reported from inside the city in full view of Russian units that yesterday drove to the lofty hills of Budakesz, adjoining the city limits of Buda, western half of the capital straddling the Danube.

The Germans were reported to have seized all available automobiles and busses and put them under strict military command, ordering the Hungarian drivers to stand by with blankets and all the warm clothing possible. This led to the speculation that large enemy units might try to make a break for it.

Escape Route To Esztergom

The last narrow escape corridor that appeared still open to them extended 19 miles northwest from the capital to Esztergom, on the southern bank of the big Danube bend.

The ring around the capital was completed in all other directions—at distances ranging from less than 2 miles on the west to about 9 miles on the east.

Today's communiqué also disclosed a continuing Red Army surge westward in southern Czechoslovakia along the Hron (Garam) River in the vicinity of Leva (Levice) in a drive along the routes to Vienna and Bratislava, now less than 98 miles and 65 miles distant, respectively.

14,000 Killed

But the war bulletin emphasized the squeeze on Budapest, declaring that in the last five days of fighting west and southwest of the capital the Russians had slain 14,000 German and Hungarian soldiers, captured 5,468 and destroyed or seized vast quantities of war material, including 101 self-propelled guns, yesterday.

Despite the possibility of an attempted breakout from Budapest the impression in Moscow was that the Germans intend to make a stand and turn the city into a battlefield.

There were no indications that the Russians had yet commenced to shell anything but the airports and suburban escape routes to the northeast, but big Soviet guns were in position to open up fire on the defenders inside the city if resistance keeps up much longer.

11 Miles From Junction

In the drive west of the Danube the Russians, with the capture of Many, got within eleven miles of Felso Galla, an important railway and highway junction on the path to the Austrian border. Forty communities were overrun.

The German high command appeared to be attempting to set up a defense line based on the Bakany Forest, which runs from the northeast to the southwest, parallel with the Austrian border. Here the Nazis were piling up reserves for a defense of Austria, rather than an attempted drive to relieve the beleaguered garrison at Budapest.

Reds Amazed by Japan's Weak Air-Raid Defense

Fleet Newspaper Says B-29's Are Cutting Foe's Strength

MOSCOW, Dec. 26 (AP).—The Soviet Navy newspaper "Red Fleet," in a study of American B-29 operations against Japan expressed amazement today at the weakness of Japanese ground defenses.

"Both sides are very reserved in publishing details of operations and results," the newspaper said. "Direst hits possibly are not very numerous, because the flights are made at night or at extremely high altitudes in the daytime.

"However, it is impossible to understand or explain the weak anti-aircraft defense of the Japanese. Is this due to a deficiency in personnel or technique, or is it a Japanese desire to conceal their anti-aircraft defense system?

"The American super-long-range bombers now are systematically reducing the military potential of the Japanese, disorganizing the life of the people and diverting a part—and no small part—of the Japanese armed forces to defense of vital centers and adjacent areas."

ALLIED BOMBERS LASH NAZI TROOPS

Explosives Dropped Directly on Fighting Units; Supply Lines Blasted.

LONDON, Dec. 26 — (AP) American and British bombers and fighters today hit communication and supply lines and attacked German troop concentrations participating in the Nazi offensive, carrying all-out aerial support of the Allied ground armies into the fourth straight day.

A force of 150 heavy bombers of the U. S. Eighth Air force struck the Coblenz area and returned without a loss. A communique said most of the 300 escorting fighters encountered no enemy planes, but one Thunderbolt group battled about 20 Messerschmitts northeast of Malmedy. Reports on this skirmish were incomplete tonight. Another Mustang group met four German interceptors near Bonn and shot down three.

Drop Bombs on Troops

After American planes had attacked behind the lines, R.A.F. Lancasters and Halifax bombers in the afternoon flew to the St. Vitn area where, escorted by Tactical Air Force Spitfires, they dropped high explosives directly on concentrations of German troops and armor.

Resistance by the German air force slacked off today after three days of stiff air battles.

No enemy fighters were sighted by the R.A.F. bomber fleet, described as large in comparison to the size of the force usually sent on a major attack of a German industrial city.

Visibility was excellent and the airmen reported good results against columns of German transport. "It was just like a furnace," exclaimed one pilot. "Not a bomb was out of place and there was only scattered transport left on the roads."

From Italy the 15th air force bombed three Nazi synthetic oil refineries in the campaign to check the flow of fuel to the Germans' motors of war.

22 Nazis Downed

The Ninth airforce, rising from continental bases despite bad weather there today, found some German planes in the air and had shot down 22 by noon, Supreme Allied headquarters announced. The Ninth's pilots also were credited with destroying six tanks and 237 motor transports today.

Two railyards in the Coblenz area and bridges on rail lines between Coblenz and Bonn were attacked by about 150 Liberators accompanied by more than 300 Mustangs and Thunderbolts who kept the air offensive from Britain alive and raised the Allied sorties to near the 15,000-mark just since early Saturday.

Returning Eighth air force pilots said they encountered little opposition, in contrast to the previous three days, which were packed with dog fights over the continent. One bomber pilot said his fighter colleagues had had a field day shooting up the enemy's ground transportation.

The lack of Nazi opposition might mean that the German air force had been bled deeply by the Allied air attack—the Germans have lost more than 500 planes since their offensive began Dec. 16—or it could mean that Marshal von Rundstedt was facing a shortage of gasoline and was saving his supply for tanks and motorized firepower on the ground.

Refineries Heavily Bombed

The Germans' oil refineries were heavily bombed in the weeks preceding their westward push, and are still being hit regularly. Those hit today by the Italy-based planes were at Oswiecim, Poland and at Blechhammer and Odertal in German Silesia. They were pounded by fighter-escorted Liberators and Fortresses.

The bombing today was almost all done visually. Fifteenth air force headquarters reported it was the first time in many weeks that the skies were clear enough to make visual bombing possible.

All three of the refineries hit had been damaged in earlier attacks, but the Germans had been observed busily repairing the plants.

Eighth air force headquarters announced today that 78 German planes were shot down yesterday, making a total of 404 since the all-out aerial offensive started Saturday.

Today's activity pushed the number of Allied sorties since Saturday to near the 15,000-mark. There were nearly 5,000 Saturday, 7,000 Sunday and nearly 2,500 yesterday and today by the Eighth and Ninth air forces alone.

A communique from the Eighth airforce today reported that in its Christmas day attacks it hit eight road and rail junctions behind the battlefront with good results and scored hits on four railway bridges on routes carrying supplies to the German offensive forces.

Supplies Are Dropped

Allied transport aircraft dropped more supplies to the encircled American garrison at Bastogne today.

The R.A.F. announced that during the Christmas period Spitfire bombers scored direct hits on an apartment building near an occupied Dutch town which was believed to have been used as a billet for Nazis working on V-weapon installations.

Other aircraft bombed a V-weapon storage place and launching sites elsewhere in Holland.

American fighter pilots returned from today's mission with vivid descriptions of fighting in the Belgian-Luxembourg wedge.

"Thousands of shellbursts left a wierd pattern on the snow-covered ground," said Lt. Col. Roy W. Evans of San Bernardino, Calif. "We could see the flaming wreckage of tanks dotting the fields. Along the highways were burning wrecks of trucks and automobiles and half-tracks. Several small villages were in flames."

U.S. Bombers Attack Rail Targets In Coblenz Area

London, Dec. 26 (AP)—In strong support of American troops battling the German offensive, United States bombers and fighters for the fourth day attacked enemy communication and supply lines.

Headquarters of the United States Strategic Air Force announced that the targets included two railroad yards in the Coblenz area and bridges and rail lines between Coblenz and Bonn.

The communique said 150 Liberators and Flying Fortresses, accompanied by more than 300 Mustangs and Thunderbolts, participated in the attacks. The targets, through which most of the traffic for the German western forces flows, were bombed visually.

78 Planes Destroyed

The powerful four-day Allied aerial assault was designed not only to help the hard-pressed American forces but to knock the Luftwaffe out of the skies. Supreme headquarters said that 78 enemy planes were destroyed yesterday. American losses were thirteen heavy bombers, seven medium bombers and 43 fighters.

Up to 500 Fortresses and Liberators of the United States 15th Air Force, based in Italy, made a heavy attack yesterday on a synthetic oil refinery at Brux, 50 miles north of Prague, while rocket-firing Thun-derbolts blasted rail lines, fuel dumps and trains on the Brenner Pass route. Twelve bombers were lost in the Brux raid.

30. 24 — 21659

[A Rome dispatch said the big Nazi synthetic oil refineries at Oswiecim, Poland, and Blechhamer and Ordertal, in German Silesia, were pounded today by fighter-escorted Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the 15th Air Force.]

Fighters of the 12th Air Force also attacked the Milan-Bresso airdrome and railyards in Austria.

A dispatch from Switzerland said an Allied air attack yesterday afternoon was believed to have demolished the largest powder factory in northern Italy. Heavy blasts in the Milan area shook houses on the Swiss-Italian border, the report said.

FIGHTER GROUP FELLS 804 PLANES

London, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—The United States Eighth Air Force's Fifty-sixth Fighter Group, commanded by Col. David C. Schilling of Traverse City, Mich., has become the first in the command to destroy more than 800 enemy aircraft, it was announced today.

Pilots of the Fifty-sixth shot down eight enemy planes Christmas Day, after destroying thirty-seven Saturday. Their total now is 804—641 in aerial battles and 163 by strafing.

Col. Schilling himself shot down five Nazi planes Saturday making his total kills 34½.

The Thunderbolt Group began operations in this theater on April 13, 1943.

Three U. S. Flyers Become Generals

London, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—Three United States Eighth Air Force combat leaders, all pioneers in heavy bombardment in the European theater, have been elevated to the rank of brigadier-general, it was announced today.

They are Archie J. Old of Atlanta, Tex., Frederick W. Castle of Washington, D. C., and John W. Wood of Riverside, Cal.

Gens. Old and Castle are bomber wing commanders and Gen. Wood is chief of staff of the Fifteenth Bomber Wing.

An American bomber station in England, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—Lieut. Loye J. Lauraine, 25 years old, of Mount Calm, Tex., the pilot of a Flying Fortress, ran into trouble high in the flak-filled skies over Merseburg, Germany. His bomber was badly crippled. The control cables were shredded beyond repair, the automatic pilot was shot away. The plane dropped out of formation and headed toward the English Channel.

Lieut. Lauraine made contact with his home base, described the damage and gave his position.

This was the conversation:

Control: See if you can head the ship out to sea.

Pilot. It's all I can do to keep it going. We tried to tie the control cables together to save the plane, but we can't save it.

Control: Use your own discretion.

Pilot: We'll try to turn around and head out to sea. We have no bombs.

Control: Keep in touch with us.

Pilot: We're ready to bail out.

If I don't make it, good luck to you.

Control: I won't need the luck—good luck to you.

Lieut. Lauraine thereupon ordered his crew to bail out. He held the balky bomber level long enough for them to jump from 7,000 feet. He couldn't make it himself.

He was the son of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. L. J. Lauraine of Gonzales, Tex. His father is serving in China. The young pilot wore, when he died, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

GERMAN ROCKET BOMBS HIT NORTHERN ENGLAND

SOMEWHERE IN NORTHERN ENGLAND, Dec. 26.—(AP) Untouched by enemy air activity for two years, some areas of northern England were attacked by V-bombs in the pre-dawn hours of Christmas.

The weapons killed men, women and children and flattened homes.

Christmas trees, tinsel and decorations are visible in the debris along ruined streets and families who awaited servicemen coming home on leave spent Christmas huddled in blankets on emergency beds in the rest centers.

ALLIED INVASION OF NORWAY URGED TO SAVE COUNTRY

LONDON, Dec. 26—(AP) An immediate Allied invasion of Norway from the west as a means of breaking Hitler's power in the north and saving the country from total destruction was urged tonight by Norwegian Prime Minister Johan Nygaardsvold.

Calling upon every Norwegian to hammer in some way the Nazis' northern garrison, he warned that every German soldier who escaped to the south would help lengthen the war.

Nygaardsvold, broadcasting a Christmas message to his homeland, declared that the Germans may attempt to transfer some divisions from the north to other fronts where they are sorely needed.

The Norwegian leader disclosed that his government already had pointed out to Allied leaders arguments favoring an Allied invasion of Norway, declaring there was a definite necessity for it now.

"We ourselves," he said, "are not strong enough to make such an attack with Norwegian forces alone. We must have help from the Allies. . . .

"We considered it our duty to impress upon these (Allied) leaders as strongly as possible the humanitarian considerations and the military advantages which we believe would be associated with such an Allied military operation to cut the Germans' retreat southwards through Norway.

"If and when this will occur, and how many months will still have to pass before the whole of Norway is free, cannot be said, and I do not know what are the plans of the military leaders. But I appreciate that many at the home front may be impatient. We are too. Four and a half years is a long time to wait."

Nygaardsvold made these other points:

1. The Norwegian government has agreed that the Germans must pay dearly for the devastation wrought in Finmark, the extreme northern section of Norway, which is now "a blackened, barren waste with only chimneys left standing."

2. The government will leave nothing untried and will not allow any obstacle to stand in the way of relieving parts of the country razed by the Germans. Food, clothing and medicines already have been sent to liberated areas and materials have been obtained for temporary housing.

3. The Norwegian government will resign at its first cabinet meeting in Oslo castle after liberation.

4. Parliamentary and municipal elections must be held as soon as technically possible.

5. The government is pledged to a rapid trial of traitors and restoration of a free Norwegian press.

6. Norwegian forces of the interior are operating on a large scale. Nygaardsvold urged Norwegian patriots to sabotage every German effort.

"This silent sabotage," he said in connection with the last point, "can be very effective when a whole people participate in it. . . Then we have active sabotage attacks against German installations and against factories working for the Germans.

"This is carried out by organized groups belonging to the Norwegian forces of the interior and is part of a planned offensive now being directed against the Germans on all fronts. . .

"We know that when the time comes for greater operations, we have the men."

Norway Invasion By Allies Urged

London, Dec. 26 (AP)—Johan Nygaardsvold, Prime Minister of Norway, disclosed tonight that his Government had urged the Allies to launch an immediate invasion of Norway from the West.

In a broadcast to his homeland, Nygaardsvold called upon every Norwegian to hamper the Germans in any way possible, by sinking Nazi transports or sabotaging communications. He warned that every German soldier who escapes to the south will help lengthen the war.

"In time to come when the fighting will become still more intense, and may affect the whole of our people more directly, we must be prepared to accept all sacrifices which the situation will demand," he said.

London Subways Run Again After Strikes

London, Dec. 26 (AP)—The war-scarred old British capital resembled a ghost town today on this last day on the long Christmas holiday, but its subways resumed running after a one-day Yule strike.

Busses, trams and subways ran a skeleton service. Many streets were deserted. Among Britons, "Boxing Day" is as much a part of the holiday tradition as Christmas itself. They spend December 26 in family gatherings even more so than on Christmas Day.

Another factor in today's quiet was that seemingly fewer Americans than usual were in town on furlough. However, for those United States soldiers detailed to repair bomb-damaged houses it was no holiday.

They worked as usual, "on a seven-day week until the job is done," as one Yank put it.

The one-day subway strike was a workers' protest against refusal to let them off Christmas or an equivalent day.

Modest In Hero Role

A special joint meeting of the German and foreign press—an unusual event—was called and Prien made a short, snappy, but modest speech. He didn't seem to relish his role as hero.

His crew, a group of young and aggressive lads who stood behind him as he talked, seemed to enjoy the sudden limelight.

Prien and his crew were taken to several schools to "inspire" youth. At one downtown theater a special vaudeville performance was held, with the audience cheering wildly.

Hailed As Superman

Editorials hailed him as a typical product of Hitlerian superman teachings.

Later, when news came that Prien's submarine was lost, and the commander and crew missing, deep gloom spread over the youth of Germany. Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels seized on the occasion to again dramatize Prien as the ideal German.

The Propaganda Ministry emphasized that Prien had preferred danger and sacrifice to the safety and comfort of an easy assignment.

Goebbels In Spot

Now Goebbels will have to think up something new to explain Prien's capture—assuming he imparts the news to the German people—for it hardly fits Nazi superman theories to have a submarine commander not go down with his ship.

Authorities here declined to disclose details of Prien's capture on the ground it would be a tipoff on Allied tactics.

DANES REPORT NAZIS ERECT STRANGE TOWER

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 26 — (AP) The Germans have erected a 190-foot tower, equipped with some undeterminable apparatus, on the Danish island of Bornholm which is the scene of continuing intensive experiments with V-weapons, the Free Danish press service reported tonight.

The research on Bornholm was believed linked with the radio-directed V-weapons, particularly since another important laboratory was established at Peenemunde, only a short distance across the Baltic from Bornholm, the Danes said.

Nazi Sub Hero Capture Is Blow To Boasters

London, Dec. 26 (AP)—The news that the famed German submarine commander Guenther Prien is a prisoner in the United States should cause considerable commotion in Germany.

Prien—after dashing into Scapa Flow early in the war and torpedoing the Royal Oak—became the Reich's No. 1 hero. He paraded triumphantly through Berlin's downtown, with children and adults cheering him. Then he was taken to Adolf Hitler for a high decoration.

NAZI SHIP SUNK

STOCKHOLM, Wednesday, Dec. 27—(AP) A ship of undetermined nationality, but probably German, sunk off Goteborg Tuesday night. Observers on shore believe that Allied planes were responsible.

CANADIAN TROOPS CAPTURE ROSETTA

Allies Move Forward Toward Senio River Line on Adriatic

ROME, Dec. 26—(AP) Canadian, British and New Zealand troops moved forward toward the Senio river line on the Adriatic end of the Italian front today after Canadian troops captured hotly-contested Rosetta, 10 miles northwest of Allied-held Ravenna.

Enemy rear guards in the salient northeast of Faenza, the last remnant of the Lamone river line on which the Nazis had hoped to stabalize their front in the Po valley, have been mopped up, the Allied command announced. The Germans were pushed from all positions east of the Canale Naviglio.

The Canadians after taking Rosetta slashed on to within two miles of Alfonsine on the Ravenna-Ferrara highway.

A heavy snow and below-freezing temperatures curbed activities on the Fifth army's mountainous front south of Bologna. Official reports said the Christmas snowfall there ranged from three to eight inches.

In one sector the enemy laid down considerable fire from six-barreled nebelwerfers yesterday, headquarters disclosed. In other sectors Nazi artillery and mortar fire on Christmas Day was officially described as "normal," which meant that Doughboys trying to keep warm in the mountains had a far from quiet holiday.

Liberator formations of the 15th air force bombed the Ora bridge over the Adige river and the Avisio Viaduct, both important links in the Brenner pass rail line in northern Italy.

In other operations today Lightnings were employed in a new high-level precision bombing technique against the Latisana bridge over the Tagliomento, north of Venice.

Twelth air force Thunderbolts teamed up with RAF fighters and bombers in continued onslaughts on enemy gun positions and communications near the Italian battle-front.

Allies Push On In Italy

Rome, Dec. 26 (AP)—Canadian troops, striking out from their bridgehead over the Canale Naviglio on the Adriatic flank of the Italian front, have captured Rossetta, 10 miles northwest of Allied-held Ravenna, headquarters announced today.

The Canadians were reported to have pushed on a short distance beyond Rossetta to within 2 miles of Alfonsine, on the Ravenna-Ferrara highway.

DEC 27 1944

Rome, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—The big German synthetic oil refineries at Oswiecim, Poland, and Blechhamer and Ordertal, in German Silesia, were pounded today by fighter-escorted Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the Italian-based Fifteenth United States Air Force.

Yesterday up to 500 Fortresses and Liberators made a heavy attack on a synthetic oil refinery at Brux, fifty miles north of Prague, while rocket-firing Thunderbolts blasted railway lines, fuel dumps and trains on the Brenner Pass route. Twelve bombers were lost in the Brux raid.

Fighters of the Twelfth Air Force also attacked the Milan-Bresso airdrome and railway yards in Austria.

Mrs. Luce to Sponsor Two-Year Education of Italian Boy, Eight of our highest office, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Representative Luce dished out criticism and received it in turn from an alert and enthusiastic audience.

Returning To Rome

"... It is doubly regrettable that service men and women who were not there cannot share in the benefits of such a discussion."

Stars and Stripes reported that Representative Luce, who visited Italy with the touring House Military Committee, would return to Rome today after spending Christmas in a 5th Army forward sector. Her visit included a jeep trip to units five miles from the German lines.

Mrs. Luce on her return from the front said she had seen the newspaper's comment and that she understood the Red Cross policy of having the sessions off the record was so the officers and men could say what was on their minds.

"I believe there should be a place and occasion where they can," she added. "But it might work out better if the meeting were divided into two parts—on the record and off the record—as is sometimes done at press club sessions in Washington."

Mrs. Luce said she realized that because of present conditions she could not take the child with her to the United States and that she thought arrangement for his education would be the next best thing to do.

The Republican legislator said her trip had impressed her with the impossibility of doing anything on a mass scale to relieve the suffering of Italy, but she said she wanted to do her share in whatever small way she could.

She said she had arranged for needed medical attention for the child, whose mother was working. Mrs. Luce also bought him some new clothing.

GREEK FACTIONAL LEADERS CONFER

DEC 27 1944

Churchill Tells Parley British Stay Only Because Of Duty

Athens, Wednesday, Dec. 27 (AP). In a dramatic four-and-a-half-hour meeting closely guarded against continuing violence outside, representatives of the major Greek political parties heard Prime Miinster Churchill make a personal appeal last night for a quick end to the political strife which has shaken the country.

British troops came to Greece "with the knowledge and approval" of President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin and in the belief they had an invitation from all Greeks, including the commander of the ELAS army, Churchill asserted.

Stay To Discharge Duty

He said there were Germans to throw out at that time, and the situation is different now; then continued:

"Why is it we cannot leave? Since we've been here the most violent, unexpected troubles have arisen and we've become involved in them in doing what we believed was our duty. This duty we shall discharge faithfully until the end."

He added, "Whether Greece is a monarchy or a republic is a matter for the Greeks and the Greeks alone to decide. All we wish you is good and good for all."

The meeting was held in an atmosphere so tense that even generals had to give up their side arms before entering the cold, dimly lighted conference room.

Dynamite Near Hotel

The sound of gunfire echoed outside the windows during the session and only a short time before it started dynamite had been discovered in sewers near one of the capital's leading hotels, the Great Bretagne.

"The eyes of the world are upon this table," the British Prime Minister declared in a pointed fifteen-minute speech asking the assembled party representatives to solve their differences.

After the session thre was no immediate indication of what decisions might have been reached.

After Churchill's speech and other formalities in the presence of United States, Russian and French representatives, the Allied observers withdrew leaving only delegates of the opposing Greek factions to face each other.

Liberal Leader Leaves

An hour before the meeting ended Themistokles Sophoulis, Liberal party leader, left the room and did not return. His action was not explained.

The conference was held at an undisclosed location and there was no apparent indication that the carefully-layed dynamite found near the Grand Bretagne Hotel represented a plot against the lives of Churchill and Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, whose arrival was a complete surprise even in usually well-informed British quarters.

The meeting started an hour and a half late without representatives of the Left-Wing ELAS group. Archbishop Damaskinos, wearing long black robes and presiding as chairman of the session, made a short introductory speech thanking Churchill and Eden for coming and then the Prime Minister launched into his address.

Churchill had been talking for about five minutes when the noise of scuffling was heard outside the doors, guarded by a predominantly British military guard, and three ELAS representatives then were ushered in.

Everyone arose, bowed and sat down again. The archbishop repeated his introductory remarks, the ELAS trio around the great oak table and shook hands with all present, including Churchill, and the Prime Minister recommenced his speech.

Churchill spoke of the old ties of friendship between Britain and Greece, reminded the delegates of Britain's aims in coming into the country and made a reference to the distress he felt personally, and which the British Government felt at the turn events had taken.

States British Stand

He said the British were in Greece to carry out her obligations under the Caserta agreement and had n ointerest except to see that some government was installed until elections could be held.

[The reference to the Caserta agreement concerned a conference in September at Caserta, an Italian town near Naples, after which it was announced that the rival Greek factions had agreed to accept orders from Premier George Papandreou and from the Allied Command as directly represented by Lieut. Gen. Arnold M. Scobie.]

The British Prime Minister made the point that such elections would be carried out by secret ballot, as in Britain and America, and expressed hope that the terms proposed by Lieut. Gen. Ronald M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, would be accepted.

Alexander Also Speaks

The Prime Minister's address was followed by a five-minute talk by Field Marshall Sir Harold Alexander, British commander in the Middle East.

The Archbishop then asked for questions and short talks were made by George Papandreou, Greek Premier, and spokesmen for the Populist and EAM (National Liberation) parties. Each thanked Churchill and Eden for coming to Athens.

Then the archbishop announced the remainder of the conference would be carried on in the Greek language and all British, American, French and Russian representatives filed from the room.

The whole tone of the meeting to that point had been calm but dramatic. Echoing gunfire could be heard through the windows and strict security measures had been taken. Everyone entering the room, including Generals Scobie and Alexander, Russian colonel Popov and ELAS General Mandakas, gave up his sidearms.

The conference hall, dimly lighted by hurricane lanterns, was unheated and all present wore overcoats throughout the session.

Party Secretaries Attend

The Leftist delegation was composed of the secretary of the Greek Commnuist party, the secretary of the EAM (National Liberation Front Party) and a member of the ELAS (fighting arm of the EAM) administrative council.

The other delegates were Premier Papandreou, Sophoulis, Gen. Nicholas Plasteras, leader of the 1922 Greek revolution; George Kafandaris, former Foreign Minister who was exiled during the dictatorial Metaxas regimé, and a representative of the Populist party.

The Grand Bretagne Hotel, near which the dynamite was discovered, is the residence of General Scobie, some of his staff and many Greek officials.

German-Made Explosive

The explosive, reportedly of German manufacture and wrapped in burlap bags, was found by a British patrol this morning when the soldiers saw that barbed wire barriers they had placed in the neighborhood had been disturbed.

It was announced officially that three fourths of a ton of dynamite of a German type called "penthrite" was removed from the sewers opposite the main entrance of the hotel. Apparently it had been placed there last night.

Greek, British and American flags flew from balconies in the city today and there were more people on the street than had been seen since the fighting began. Small groups gathered in Constitution Square and cheered Churchill and Eden. The British Prime Minister appeared, wearing his RAF commodore uniform, and replied by waving his RAF cap on the end of his stick.

British and Government troops reported further progress against the Leftist fighters in both Athens and its port, Piraeus. In Epirus the Rightist EDES forces continued to fall back before increasing ELAS attacks, it was reported. British headquarters said that no reinforcements had been sent to the EDES center.

Churchill conferred with Greek Government leaders and received calls from Lincoln MacVeagh, United States Ambassador, the French Minister and the chief of the Russian mission here.

Greeks Hold Conference

The Greek conference started this afternoon after British Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and other British representatives left the meeting room, the location of which still is secret.

(A BBC broadcast reported in New York by the Blue network said that British authorities had not found any connection between the placing of the dynamite and the presence in Athens of Churchill and Eden.)

The conference, called yesterday after the dramatic arrival in the embattled capital of Churchill and Eden, included representatives of all shades of political opinion in Greece.

The Left-Wing EAM-ELAS forces who have been conducting hostilities against Greek government and British forces for three weeks were especially invited by General Scobie and their delegates were brought to the conference in British armored scoutcars.

The Leftist delegation is composed of the secretary of the Greek Communist party, the secretary of the EAM (national liberation front party) and a member of the ELAS (fighting arm of the EAM) administrative council.

The other delegates are Premier George Papandreou, Themotikles Sophoulis, Liberal party leader; Gen. Nicholas Plasteras, leader of the 1922 Greek revolution; George Kafandaris, former foreign minister who was exiled during the dictatorial Metaxas regime, and a representative of the Populist party.

Dynamite Found Near Scobie's Athens Hotel

Athens, Dec. 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill sought to end the bloody Greek civil war today as a British patrol reported discovering a ton of dynamite under street-car lines opposite the main doors of the Hotel Grand Bretagne.

Officials of the Greek Government and Lieut. Gen. Ronald M. Scobie live at the hotel.

[The dispatch from Athens did not say whether Churchill was staying at the hotel.] BARBER

Area Searched Earlier

The dynamite, which the patrol said was in boxes bearing German markings, apparently was laid during the night as the area had been carefully searched yesterday evening.

Churchill arrived here yesterday, accompanied by British Foreign Secretary Eden as the ancient capital echoed to the sound of street fighting between left-wing ELAS Partisans and Greek Government forces supported by British troops.

The Prime Minister went into action immediately, communicating with Field Marshal Sir Harold

Publicity Urged For Forum

Rome, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Rome edition of the army newspaper Stars and Stripes declared today that details of an open forum discussion between Representative Clare Boothe Luce (R., Conn.) and service personnel should be made public.

The editorial said Red Cross officials, who arranged the lively session on December 22 at the Red Cross club, had reported such forums were made possible with important speakers "only because they were always off the record."

"Largely Political"

"Representative Luce's discussion had no relation to military security," the newspaper said. "It was largely political, it was very controversial and it certainly was provocative.

"It concerned the postwar world. It concerned American institutions and the directions in which they are heading. It concerned Jefferson as well as the current holder

By RUTH COWAN

ROME, Dec. 26 — (AP) Representative Clare Boothe Luce said today she would sponsor a two-year course in one of Italy's best private schools for an eight-year-old Italian boy whose appearance won her admiration while she was visiting a Catholic orphanage.

The Connecticut congresswoman, who came to Italy with the House Military committee, visited the orphanage during a tour of Vatican-sponsored soup kitchens for the poor. She was accompanied on the tour by Myron C. Taylor, the President's representative in Vatican City.

"I was attracted to Augusto," she said, "because he is a real Roman—a real titian type, with dark eyes, red hair and rosy cheeks. I couldn't forget him and I returned to see him the next day."

Conference Stated

Shortly thereafter British headquarters announced plans to convene today a conference "representative so far as possible of Greek political opinion" with the object of "ending fratricidal strife and enabling Greece to resume her place among the United Nations."

Archbishop Damaskinos of Athens was named to preside over the conference and ELAS representatives were guaranteed safe conduct.

Arrival Well Timed

Churchill's unexpected arrival here was a masterpiece of stagecraft and timing that startled the war-scarred city in the midst of gloom-tinged Christmas festivities.

The chain of letter exchanges between General Scobie and ELAS leaders had reached a stage where it had worn itself out. Most people here pessimistically believed the only solution would be a knock-down, drag-out fight.

Since the civil warfare began three weeks ago, numerous official and unofficial attempts have been made to bring about a truce.

Connection Not Established

British authorities have been unable to establish any connection between the discovery of the Athens dynamite and the arrival there of Prime Minister Churchill, the BBC reported today in a broadcast monitored by the Blue network.

This report said that the tunnel in which the explosive was found was inspected thoroughly last night and that the dynamite must have been planted some time between then and the time of its discovery this morning.

BRITISH ADVANCE IN CENTRAL BURMA

SOUTHEASTERN ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, Dec. 26.—(AP) British 14th Army troops continued their advance in central Burma today following yesterday's 10-mile southward thrust toward the town of Yeu, a southeast Asia command headquarters communique said.

Units pushing toward the town, which is only 70 miles northwest of Mandalay, were driving along the Shwegyin-Yeu road, the communique said.

On the 15th Indian corps front, Arakan forces fired on loaded Japanese sampans in the Mayu river with artillery and machine guns. Elsewhere in Burma, British patrols were active.

Eastern air command planes were active yesterday in the Chindwin region where enemy supply dumps were hit and fires started in raids by fighterbombers, the communique said.

Medium bombers attacked the ferry terminal at Myochaung, and also the ferry town of Thabeikkyin on the Irrawaddy river 26 miles northeast of Shwebo.

CARRIER PLANES POUND SUMATRA

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, Wednesday, Dec. 27—(AP) British planes operating from aircraft carriers attacked Japanese objectives in Sumatra the morning of Dec. 20, scoring direct hits on jetties, warehouses and railyards, a special Southeast Asia command headquarters communique said today.

Avenger aircraft, bombing from 1,500 feet, raided the harbor of Belawan on the east coast of Sumatra setting fire to an oil tank and a gasoline tank.

Low clouds and rain squalls made flying difficult and results could not be fully observed, the communique said, adding that on the same afternoon Hellcats and Corsairs attacked Japanese airfields in the Sabang area and the anchorage at Oeleeheue on the northwestern tip of Sumatra.

Enemy airfield installations and small craft were damaged in low-level attacks. One Japanese bomber was shot down by a Hellcat pilot. The British formations suffered no losses, the communique said.

Burma Soldier Marks His Marriage By Mail

Myitkyina, Burma, Dec. 26 (AP)—There was a wedding party here Christmas Day and beer was distributed to all—but the bride was not present.

Sergt. Robert Sternad, of the Signal Corps, Cleveland, Ohio, was married by mail and received his marriage certificate in a letter as a Christmas present, which arrived December 23.

The bride is Dorothy Marelt, of Cleveland. The marriage by mail took two months of correspondence. Sternad said, "naturally the honeymoon will have to be delayed until after the war."

CHINESE FRONT QUIET

CHUNGKING, Dec. 26—(AP) For the first time in months the Chinese passed up issuance of a communique today, indicating the war fronts in China were quiet.

REPORT CIVILIANS QUITTING NANKING

Chungking, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—Chinese advices declared today that all civilians have been ordered to quit Japanese-occupied Nanking as a result of recent American air raids and fear of further attacks.

Shanghai was reported suffering from a severe coal shortage because of American raids, which were said to have destroyed half the available supply. Street car service has been suspended and many factories have been closed, Chinese advices said.

Yanks Bag 40 Jap Planes, Tanker

Chungking, Dec. 26 (AP)—Bomb-carrying P-51s of the United States 14th Air Force destroyed 40 Japanese aircraft, sank a large tanker and probably sank four other vessels in Christmas Eve raids on the Tsinan airdrome, in Shantung province, and Hong Kong harbor, American communiqués said today.

Another Japanese ship was heavily damaged in the Hong Kong raid, one of widespread aerial assaults during a three-day period.

The force striking Tsinan destroyed 37 Jap fighters on the ground and one in air combat, while two fighters were downed over Hong Kong, the communiqués said.

Tanker Sent Down

A Liberator was credited with probably sinking a large Japanese tanker off Shanghai two days before Christmas.

Meanwhile, Chinese advices declared that all civilians have been ordered to quit Japanese-occupied Nanking as a result of recent American air raids and fear of further attacks.

Shanghai was reported suffering from a severe coal shortage because of American raids, which were said to have destroyed half the available supply. Street-car service has been suspended and many factories have been closed, Chinese advices said.

Jap Raids Reported

Kunming, China, Dec. 25 (AP—Delayed)—Japanese planes made an ineffectual attack last night on the Kunming airbase and a field at Chanyo, eight miles northeast of here. Probably the greatest effect of the raid was to force many persons to spend Christmas Eve in slit trenches.

44 TONS OF BOMBS HIT MANILA BASE

Clark Field Cratered Despite Determined Jap Aerial Resistance.

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Wednesday, Dec. 27.—(AP) Military installations in the Manila area, feeling the daily might of the Far Eastern air forces heavy bombers, were struck for the third time in as many days on Christmas day (Manila time). Forty-four tons of bombs were dropped on Clark Field, General MacArthur reported today.

The bombers met determined resistance from at least 50 enemy interceptors. But escorting fighters, again proving their superiority, downed 39 enemy fighters and probably four more. This brought the total for two days to 72, with 15 more added to the previous day's 18.

38 Kills to Credit

Maj. Thomas Maguire, leading the close cover of fighters, downed three of the Japanese interceptors. He got four more in subsequent combats yesterday, to bring his personal total of kills to 38.

As the full brunt of the aerial warfare shifted to the Manila area, it became increasingly evident the Japanese were husbanding their fighter strength. On Mindoro, where invading Americans are meeting practically no ground resistance, Japanese air reaction continued light and ineffective. Two of three raiding planes were destroyed.

Two more enemy planes were shot down in harassing raids over Tacloban air field, Leyte, on Christmas day.

As the mopup of shattered enemy units on Leyte continued, 899 more Japanese dead were counted. Fourteen more prisoners were taken. This brought the total enemy casualties for the campaign to 114,120.

Striking south, as well as north on Leyte, Liberator bombers raided Mindanao airdromes and harbors. They sank two freighters.

Borneo Hit

Other Liberators blasted installations on Borneo, in the Dutch East Indies.

The capture of Palompon, in a brilliant triple play operation, cut off the Japanese last escape route from Leyte.

MacArthur's communique said six American fighters were lost in the two days over the Manila area.

On Leyte, it added, seven more Americans were killed, bringing the total for the campaign to 11,224.

One American patrol plane was shot down by a Japanese fighter in the Mindanao activity but the crew was rescued.

Fighter bombers attacked the Japanese Silay airdrome on Negros Island.

Another 115 tons of bombs were dropped on enemy positions at Lolobata, Hatetakako and Vasile bay in the Moluccas and air and naval patrols strafed shore installations on northern Halmahera in the same group.

Outposts are Blasted

The air strikes to the south of the Philippines also included bombing of Fuiloro airdrome on Timor and outposts in the Aroe and Tanimbar islands.

Medium bombers harassed the enemy on Muschu island, off Wewak, New Guinea. Airfield and bivouac positions at Rabaul, New Britain, were attacked by medium bombers.

The destruction suffered by the Japanese in this first phase of the Philippine liberation campaign, MacArthur said, "has seldom been paralleled in the history of warfare."

MacArthur's antagonist, Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, "has sustained perhaps the greatest defeat in the military annals of the Japanese army," the American general said.

It was Yamashita, conqueror of Malaya and Singapore, who boasted he would lead Nipponese forces to victory in the Philippines and demand "unconditional surrender" of MacArthur.

The denouement came quickly on the 67th day of battle. While 77th division artillery hammered Palompon, northwestern Leyte port, a force of 77th troops sprung an amphibious move in the enemy's rear, landing at Palompon when dashing PT boats lifted their curtain of fire.

To the north of Palompon, the 24th division reached the coast near San Isidro, sealing off that area. Meanwhile, troops of the 7th division completed the triple play, executing a landing at Puerto Bello on the western shore of Ormoc bay. This operation closed off any escape to the south of Palompon.

Caught by the surprise landing in their rear and pressed by the inland assault of units of the 77th division, the Japanese at Palompon were able to offer little resistance. The 77th closed in from the beaches and from the east and quickly took the town.

Leyte Loss Held Japs' Worst

MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Dec. 26—A Christmas morning surprise for Japan in the form of an amphibious invasion of Palompon harbor brought the bloody, 67-day Leyte-Samar campaign to an end except for mopping-up operations, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur today hailed "perhaps the greatest defeat in the military annals of the Japanese Army."

The United States 77th Division, moving up from Ormoc into Palompon, the enemy's last remaining port on Leyte, stormed ashore under covering fire from patrol-torpedo boats and artillery. The Japanese were caught between these troops and others moving overland and could offer only token resistance.

"Christmas Contribution"

By nightfall of Christmas Day, Maj. Gen. A. D. Bruce, commander of the 77th, sent this message to headquarters.

"The 77th Infantry Division's Christmas contribution to the Leyte campaign is the capture of Palompon, last main Japanese port on Leyte. We are grateful to the Almighty on this birthday of His son."

"The magnitude of this first phase of the Philippines liberation was reflected in MacArthur's announcement that 112,728 Japanese had been killed and 493 captured on Leyte and near-by Samar Island, on which there was considerably less opposition.

The Americans lost 2,623 killed, 8,422 wounded and 172 missing—a total of 11,217.

"Decisive," Tokyo Said

"The enemy's ground forces participating in the campaign have been practically annihilated," MacArthur declared. Some of Nippon's best troops were committed to the defense of Leyte, which Tokyo considered "the decisive battle for our homeland."

Further, the triumphant communiqué said, 2,748 enemy planes have been destroyed in the Philippines since the Leyte invasion October 20, and a total of 27 warships and 41 transports sunk as 10 convoys seeking to reinforce the besieged Leyte garrison were smashed. The totals did not include enemy losses in the naval battle of Leyte Gulf October 25.

Largest Fleet Action

Invasion of the east coast of Leyte involved the most powerful carrier force used in any Pacific operation. The fate of the campaign hung in precarious balance early October 25 when Vice Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid's 7th Fleet met and defeated a Japanese battle force in the largest fleet action of the war in any theater.

Then the Americans fought inland and around to the northeastern shoulder of the island, and on December 8 secured a grip on the west coast by landing daringly in Ormoc Bay.

They seized the port of Ormoc, vital to Japanese supply, three days later. This sealed the doom of thousands of crack Nipponese troops fighting bitterly in a corridor between Ormoc and Carigara Bay to the north. The Yank 32d Division was pressing toward a junction with the 77th at Ormoc in a bottling-up action.

Sealed off at Ormoc, the Japanese had to depend for reinforcement on Palompon, a secondary port at best, but soon this was brought under Yank artillery fire and air assault. Its seizure meant the end of the Leyte campaign for Japan.

On Mindoro Island to the northwest, invaded December 15, the Japanese furnished little opposition either on the ground or in the air.

U.S. Planes Raid Clark Field, Japs Say

DEC 27 1944

San Francisco, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Domei news agency reported twenty Philippine-based American fighters and bombers raided Clark Field near Manila again today, but were beaten off by "new Japanese interceptor planes."

The unconfirmed enemy broadcast, recorded here, did not make clear whether the interceptors were a new type or merely reinforcements flown in from Formosa or Japan.

Claim Eight Planes

The propaganda dispatch claimed six Lightnings and two Liberators were shot down, and a few Japanese planes were missing. A raid today would be the fourth successive daily strike by land-based United States aircraft on fields near Manila.

A Japanese imperial communiqué reported that Nipponese planes bombed the American B-29 base on Saipan Christmas night, "causing conflagration and explosions at seven points.

The report, unconfirmed by United States sources, was recorded here.

were shot down by Yank fighter planes, said Adm. Chester W. Nimitz in reporting the attack today. A fourth was brought down by anti-aircraft fire.

One American plane was destroyed on the ground and several others damaged. Six men were injured in the night's bombing, one of the first raids against Saipan reported since the 10-plane raid of Dec. 6.

The enemy aircraft struck either from IWO Jima, in the Volcano islands or from little Marcus island, both within 800 miles of Saipan. They apparently were ferried to a staging area from Japan with the hope of slowing down the regular Superfort raids on Japanese homeland islands.

The communique did not specify whether the aircraft hit on the ground on Saipan were Superforts, Liberators or Lightning fighters, all of which have been active in the steady assault on Japan's outer defense line in Bonins and Volcanos.

Liberators blasted Iwo Jima Dec. 24 for the 18th consecutive day of the air offensive against that key island 750 miles north of Saipan. The bombers, concentrating on the airstrips and plane dispersal areas, drew "meager" anti-aircraft fire.

The attack followed the second joint pounding of Iwo by U. S. aircraft and warships in the campaign to neutralize the island and protect Saipan from retaliatory raids. Nevertheless, the Dec. 24 attack on Saipan was one of the heaviest the enemy has made since the B29s began their runs on Tokyo and other targets in the empire.

Rota island, midway between Saipan and Guam in the Marianas, was hit Sunday by Marine aircraft. Far to the south other Marine fighter planes destroyed an enemy barge at Babelthuap, which is southeast of the American base on Peleliu, in the Western Carolines.

Second Air-Sea Attack

The Iwo Jima attack was the second in which warships and bombers acted in concert to plaster the island, in the Volcano group, from which the Japanese formerly launched raids on Saipan, base of the Tokyo-raiding Superforts. The first joint assault on Iwo was made December 7, and since then there have been no Japanese raids on Saipan.

In his communiqué, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz gave no indication of the size of the task force or of the number of B-29's participating in the sortie. He said the warships bombarded Iwo's coastal defenses, and that shore batteries "offered some" return fire. He added that none of the American vessels was damaged.

Jap Vessels Sunk

A Japanese destroyer escort vessel was caught by the raiders and sunk by shellfire. Also destroyed were an enemy patrol craft and a medium landing ship.

The heavy bombers were escorted by Lightning fighters, which strafed Iwo Jima's airstrips and harassed shore defenses. Opposition was light. One enemy plane was destroyed on the ground and six others damaged. Anti-aircraft fire was meager.

Strategic air force bombers on the same day raided Chichi Jima, in the Bonins north of Iwo, concentrating on the airstrips.

Marine fighters strafed Babelthuap in the Palau group, firing buildings.

Marine and navy bombers continued attacks in an effort to knock out isolated enemy bases in the Marshall Islands.

out of business with at least 40 per cent of its buildings destroyed or gutted by fire," Hansell reported. "The Kokuki plant has also suffered extensive damage with resultant interruption of production."

Two plants of the Mitsubishi company 9 miles apart in Nagoya were hit December 13 and December 18, respectively.

General Hansell added that in the first month, two B-29's were lost over their target while others were lost operationally at sea.

Losses Below Expectation

"These operational losses have in no sense been heavy," he continued. "They have been fewer than we expected. More than half of the crews have been rescued."

Hansell frankly said "we haven't put all our bombs exactly where we wanted to put them, and therefore we are by no means satisfied with what we've done so far.

"We have much to learn, and many operational and other technical problems to solve. Some of our experiments, however, have been gratifying if not satisfying, and the B-29 airplane has proved itself a magnificent weapon of war."

Hansell said the first Tokyo raid, November 24, did a good deal of damage, although after that raid and the December 3 attack on the Musashino plant, damage was inconclusive. A few buildings were destroyed and plant production possibly interrupted, but the factory was not knocked out.

Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 26 (AP)—From the air and sea, American bombs and shells crashed Sunday (Japanese time) into two Iwo Jima as Superfortresses, Liberators and warships combined in an assault on the Nipponese island base only 750 miles south of Tokyo.

Hansell Reports 1,500 Tons Of Bombs Dropped On Honshu

HAUGLAND

Twenty-first Bomber Command Headquarters, Saipan, Wednesday, Dec. 27 (AP)—Superfortresses in their first month of operations against Japan from the Marianas Islands have dropped more than 1,500 tons of bombs on Honshu targets, Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell, Jr., disclosed today.

General Hansell, commander of the 21st Bomber Command, in a 1,000-word summary of the first month's results said "during 30 days we dropped a rough average of more than 100,000 pounds of bombs per day on urban industrial centers of Japan—including aircraft factory areas."

40% Of Buildings Out

Two substantial fires in a second assembly building were shown. The Nagoya steam power plant and shipyards immediately adjacent to the factory area were damaged.

"In the case of the Hatsudoki plant we have good reconnaissance photographs showing conclusively that 600,000 square feet of factory area was destroyed or gutted by fires, with the insides of the buildings entirely burned out. This represents 40 per cent of the factory area."

Combined Strike On Iwo Called Devastating

DEC 27 1944

By Vern Haugland

Somewhere in the Marianas, Dec. 24 [AP—Delayed—Via Navy Radio]—Col. Lawrence J. Carr, commanding officer of the 7th Bomber Command, said reports of today's co-ordinated raid by his B-24's and by B-29's and naval craft upon Iwo Jima "indicate another devastating and successful attack."

"This second combined strike brings to reality the year-old hope of the men of the 7th Bomber Command and proves that the combined unit bombing of the Kazans, December 8, was not a grandstand play—we have done it again," he added in a prepared statement.

Working Motto

"For the past year these men of the 7th Bomber Command have comprised the only sizable heavy bombardment force in the Central Pacific."

The island-by-island working motto of the 7th as given by Colonel Carr is: "Wreck them, build them, use them; leave them." This has carried the 7th, he said, "from Hawaii to within 650 miles of Japan."

"Today's raid proves that under the leadership of Lieut. Gen. Millard F. Harmon's combined strategic air force in the Pacific Ocean areas, we can continue and undoubtedly accelerate these combined raids against outer defenses until we are ready for the total co-ordinated assault against the Japanese homeland."

One Plane Destroyed

Maj. Gen. Robert W. Douglass, Jr., deputy commander of the Strategic Air Force said the 7th Air Force's Lightnings escorted by B-29's were the first over the target strafing Iwo Jima around noon, destroying one plane on the ground and damaging six others and meeting no interception.

"The 7th then sent B-24's out striking Iwo with more than 100 tons and Chichi, 170 miles north, with more than 30 tons.

"Naval units then shelled Iwo. Just as Iwo Jima's Japanese were coming out of their holes after the bombardment, the B-29's arrived. When they finished their bombing, the naval units returned and shelled until dark."

Lieut. Semmes, Saipan Hero, Awarded D.S.C.

Army Headquarters, Pacific Ocean Areas, Dec. 26 (AP)—Second Lieutenant Harry H. Semmes, Jr., of Washington, who lost his right eye from a D-day injury on Saipan, was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross today.

In the landing operation, Semmes, platoon leader in an army amphibious tank company, was struck by shell fragments which pierced his right eye and lodged in his nose.

He continued to lead the tanks shoreward. On the beach he refused medical aid. Inland, Semmes turned the platoon over to the ranking sergeant, and set off afoot for treatment of the wound.

About 600 yards from the beach, he saw an immobilized tank. He brought repair crews back to the vehicle, and supervised the work.

Walking 900 yards to an aid station, Lieutenant Semmes was given treatment and started to rejoin his outfit. Medical officers restrained him and ordered his evacuation. Semmes is in a mainland hospital recovering from an operation for removal of the eye.

Fleet Co-Ordination Simple, Fraser Says

Brisbane, Australia, Dec. 26 (AP). Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander of the British Eastern Fleet, upon his return from a conference with United States Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Jr., said there will be no difficulty about ammunition and supplies in co-ordinating the British Pacific fleet with the American Navy in the Pacific.

He said adequate docking facilities will be provided where necessary.

Serves Under Nimitz

"It will be a great pleasure," he said, "to command a British fleet to serve with Admiral Nimitz, who is a great commander."

He added: "The British fleet will serve under Nimitz and its activities will be recorded in his communiqués."

Admiral Fraser said he thought his job would be to support Douglas MacArthur, general of the Army, in his northward drive, and he will confer soon with General MacArthur.

Col. Peron Avows Amity For Democratic Nations

Buenos Aires, Dec. 26 (AP)—Col. Juan Peron, vice president, War Minister and strong man in the Argentine military Government, declared today that he was friendly to democratic nations, an admirer of the democratic form of government and decidedly not a Nazi or a sympathizer with the Nazis.

In a detailed appraisal of Argentine political institutions, Peron told a group of visiting Chilean journalists that Argentine Army men now in the Government were sworn to uphold the nation's constitution, which is patterned after the Constitution of the United States and provides for a representative republican form of government.

To Have Statement

Thus by implication the man who seems called upon to run next year as one of the candidates in an expected presidential election espoused democracy as the only regime that can flower and be strong in Argentina.

One of the group of twelve visiting journalists asked Peron to sign an explanation in his own handwriting as to why the regime he symbolizes is not Nazi.

"To be sure," Colonel Peron replied quickly. "If you call around tomorrow I shall have it for you."

Another Chilean asked if it was true that many thousands were imprisoned for political reasons in Argentina.

30. 24— 21563

"Of course not," Colonel Peron said. "The number is hardly a thousand."

He added that Argentina does not have concentration camps, but just jails, like some in Chile.

Against Communists, Too

One of the visitors pressed for definition of the Government's policy toward political prisoners. "Our mission here would end in failure if you were to refuse our request to release those thousand men," he said.

The colonel's reply came without an instant's hesitation:

"Of course, but I think you should address your request to the Minister of the Interior. You could see him tomorrow without fail. However, I should warn you that we already have begun the task of setting these men free."

In reply to another question, Colonel Peron said:

"It is true that I am against the Communists, but not because they are Communists. I am against those Communists who disturb public order, as I also am against Rightists who do the same. Enemies of public order are enemies of government."

5,000 Youths To Enter Mexican Army Monday

Mexico City, Dec. 26 (AP)—Five thousand youths, representing half the draftees of the class of 1926, will enter the army on January 1 for a year's training, the War Department announced today.

An equal number from the class of 1925 obtained releases December 15.

CANADIANS STUDY U.S. RACING BAN

TORONTO, Dec. 26—(AP) Dominion officials said today they would study the U. S. order directing horse and dog tracks to close by Jan. 3, but disclosed Provincial authorities and racing associations would be involved in any decision.

Canadian betting supervision is vested in the minister of agriculture, and Dominion officials may halt betting at any track, but the actual racing is governed by associations in the provinces. Both Provincial and Dominion authorities are interested in taxation revenue from the tracks.

Federal officials said transportation and other requirements of racing have been constantly reviewed in the light of war needs in the last two or three years.

Should racing be permitted here while the ban is on south of the border, Canadian tracks probably would be flooded with better horses from United States tracks to give the Dominion one of its outstanding seasons.

While Federal officials gave no hint as to whether the U. S. lead would be followed, many track officials indicated they were ready and willing to suspend operations should the Dominion request such action.

Among those who said they were "ready to go along" were Fred Livingstoc of Thorncliffe park; Col. K. R. Marshall, president of the Ontario Jockey club, operating Woodbine park, and Thomas Anderson of the Metropolitan Racing association.

Marshall summed up their remarks with: "We are months away from racing here, and by May it is hoped the emergency will be over. Besides, we haven't the transit trouble here that they have in most racing centers in the States. Our tracks are right in the city, readily accessible by street car or on foot. But we've always cooperated with the government, and we will again. We'll do whatever the government suggests."

JAPS WARNED ON PROSPECTS

Hirohito And Premier Tell Of Setbacks As Diet Meets

San Francisco, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Cabinet and the people themselves received notice today from the highest authority, Emperor Hirohito and Premier General Kuniaki Koiso, that the war isn't going so well.

Hirohito said in his address opening the eighty-sixth session of the Diet, as broadcast domestically to Japan and recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, that the "war situation is becoming more critical."

Progress Not "Sufficient"

Koiso was quoted by Radio Tokyo as telling his ministers that despite "efforts to expedite the prosecution of measures to cope with the prevailing situation, we cannot say that we have seen sufficient progress."

He advised the ministers that the Emperor wanted the Diet to transact its business with "simplicity and speed" and criticized the home front for failing to respond in full to the "spirit of the special attack (suicide) units" of the fighting front.

Another home-front shortcoming was indicated in a bill proposed for Diet action by Minister of Justice Kiromasa Matsuzaka for "special measures against labor violators."

Boasts Of "Destroying Enemy"

Hirohito told the Diet that "men of the army and navy are destroying the powerful enemy wherever he is confronted" and that "our 100,000,000 people of the home front have been willingly and vigorously participating in labor service up to date."

He declared that "the alliances with our friendly nations are also being further solidified," and added: "We, the Emperor, feel great joy in this."

Then he issued his warning that the "war situation is becoming more critical" and called for "all truly to devote their total effort."

He concluded by directing the ministers to submit the budget for the 1945 fiscal year and for "extraordinary military expenditures," together with other legislative matters.

'War Critical': Hirohito

San Francisco, Dec. 26 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito's rescript read today at the formal opening of the eighty-sixth session of the Japanese Diet warned that "the war situation is becoming more critical."

The broadcast of his message, recorded here, urged his subjects to "truly devote their total effort to repel the enemy."

The Emperor praised the Japanese Army and Navy for "destroying the powerful enemy," and was quoted:

"While the war situation in Greater East Asia progresses daily, the alliances with our friendly nations are also being further solidified.

"We expect to see an early accomplishment of the objective of this sacred war."

The Emperor called upon his ministers to "submit the budget draft plans for the fiscal year 1945 and for extraordinary military expenditures."

Domei, the Japanese official news agency, later on reported that Gen. Korechika Anami had been appointed Inspector-General of Army aviation to "further strengthen the production and supply of aircraft," now being blasted at their source by American Superfortresses. Anami, a pre-Pearl Harbor Vice-Minister of War and recently an Army commander in the field, succeeds Lieut.-Gen. Michio Sugawara who was transferred, Domei said, to an important post.

In another top-bracket shakeup Lieut.-Gen. Nobura Tazoe, Chief of Army Aviation Headquarters, was made director of the General Affairs Bureau of army aviation headquarters and director of the General Affairs Bureau of Aviation Inspectorate General, succeeding Major-Gen. Saichi Terada, Domei revealed.

SUPERFORTS BLAST TARGETS IN TOKYO

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. — (Wednesday) — (AP) Superfortresses of the 21st Bomber command from bases on Saipan island bombed Tokyo industrial targets in a daylight attack today.

The announcement of the attack by Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the 20th Air Force, said a communique would be issued when operational reports are received in Washington from Brig. Gen. H. S. Hansell, commanding general of the 21st Bomber command.

The raid was the fifth of the war by the big B-29's on Tokyo.

PHILIPPINE PHASE ENDED

Forrestal Says Navy Beat Japs' Land Planes

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP) — The United States has succeeded in the second phase of the naval campaign for the Philippines — the battle with enemy land-based aircraft, James V. Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy, said today.

Reviewing the recent months of the Pacific war, Forrestal said this second phase opened with the crushing defeat of Japanese naval forces late in October.

Jap Fleet Driven Away

"Having driven the Japanese fleet from the Philippine area," he said, "the United States Navy in the phases of the campaign since October 25 has been pitted, not against enemy naval forces primarily but against enemy land-based air forces. We have succeeded in this latter phase of the naval campaign for the Philippines just as we succeeded in the second battle of the Philippine Sea."

Forrestal acknowledged that the American forces have suffered damage, not yet reported in detail, in this second phase, but said it was not sufficient to disrupt plans for continued heavy offensives.

"A concrete demonstration" that it is not, he added, is the fall of Leyte and the American landings on Mindoro.

Conceal Facts From Japs

Announcements of the damage has not been made, Forrestal explained, because "we do not wish the Japanese to know what ships they have hit, nor to what extent vessels have been injured, nor how soon they may be back in action."

He described Japanese claims as "fantastic," and made to fish for information.

The Navy Secretary denied specifically what he said were rumors that the navy had not announced all losses in last October's sea and air battling when the Japanese fleet, thrusting into the Philippines in three prongs, was "beaten, routed and broken."

About 60 Japanese naval vessels were sunk in that fighting, while announced American losses were a light aircraft carrier, two escort carriers, two destroyers, a destroyer escort and "some lesser ships."

Battle Losses All Given

"All vessels lost in that battle have been announced," Forrestal said. "All planes lost in combat during that battle have been announced."

He summed up:

"In spite of all the Japanese have been able to do, both with their navy and with their land-based aircraft, we, and not they, are winning the campaign for the Philippines. We now dominate the waters around those islands and the air over them."

Forrestal Promises Continued Offensives

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—Navy Secretary Forrestal said today that Japanese air attacks have failed to disrupt American plans for continued heavy offensives.

Acknowledging that naval forces in the Philippines area have suffered some damage he said announcements are delayed because "we do not wish the Japanese to know what ships they have hit nor to what extent vessels have been injured, nor how soon they may be back in action."

"Best Way To Assess Results"

This "necessary silence," Forrestal continued in a statement, "has left the field clear for the Japanese to make fantastic claims, perhaps fishing for information.

"Perhaps the best way to assess the results of Japanese air attacks against our fleets since the second battle of the Philippines sea is to ask whether those attacks have disrupted our plans for future action. They have not. The fall of Leyte and our landing on Mindoro are a concrete demonstration that they have not."

Further Evidence

Forrestal's statement, reviewing the course of the Pacific war, pointed also to carrier plane raids on Luzon, an amphibious attack on Ormoc and "our troops' freedom from surface bombardment on Leyte and Mindoro" as further evidence that the Japanese air campaign has failed.

"In spite of all the Japanese have been able to do, both with their navy and with their land-based aircraft," he continued, "we and not they are winning the campaign for the Philippines. We now dominate the waters around those islands and the air over them."

Forrestal denied what he described as "rumors" that the Navy has not announced all losses in the battle of the Philippines last October in which the Japanese fleet was routed.

"All Announced"

American losses announced after that engagement included a light aircraft carrier, two escort carriers, two destroyers, a destroyer escort and "some lesser ships."

Nearly 60 Japanese naval craft were destroyed or damaged in the three-day fight.

"All vessels lost in that battle have been announced," Forrestal said. "All planes lost in combat during that battle have been announced. . . .

"Beaten, Routed, Broken"

"The public should not be led by false rumors of supposedly unannounced facts, to deprecate the achievement of the officers and men of the 3d and 7th Fleets in that action. The Japanese fleet was indeed 'beaten, routed and broken.' . . .

"The second battle of the Philippine Sea was the most decisive event in what is really a prolonged naval campaign in support of General MacArthur's land campaign in the Philippine Islands. This campaign began with our first raids, prior to General MacArthur's landings, on the Island of Formosa on October 11.

"Still In Progress"

"It has continued since the second battle of the Philippine Sea, with our carrier-based air cover over the Philippine Islands and with our landing on Mindoro. This campaign is still in progress.

"Having driven the Japanese fleet from the Philippine area, the United States Navy in the phases of the campaign since October 25 has been pitted, not against enemy naval forces primarily but against enemy land-based air forces. We have succeeded in this latter phase of the naval campaign for the Philippines just as we succeeded in the second battle of the Philippine Sea."

SUPPLY PROBLEMS CITED IN PACIFIC

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 — (AP) Impressed with the "vastness of the Pacific, and its resultant transportation problems, Rep. Smith (R-Me), who returned to her office today after a 17-day, 25,000 mile tour of the Pacific, has concluded that the war in that area has just begun.

Mrs. Smith, in an interview, stressed the problem of supplying the figthing men in the Pacific with the material necessary to fight the Japanese.

"Transportation is the number one problem there," she said. "The more progress we make, the greater is the transportation problem. The longer the European war lasts, the more difficult is the war in the Pacific."

The Congresswoman, who with nine other members of the House Naval affairs committee inspected Naval activities from Pearl Harbor west to Saipan and south as far as Canberra, Australia, pointed out that every bit of supplies must be carried by ships. She added that an idea of the difficulty involved is given when it is realized that East coast residents of the United States are nearer to the European war than are the Philippine islands to Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Smith chalked up another "first" on this trip. Spending one day aboard a Navy airplane carrier watching the men go through their regular training activities, she became the first woman in United States history to go to sea on a carrier.

A year and a half ago she was the first woman to make a trip on a Navy destroyer, from Bath, Me., to Boston, and last August she was the first woman to travel on a Navy battleship, a practice run out of New York harbor.

HEMISPHERE PARLEY DUE IN MEXICO

Argentina Seen Excluded From Talks Among Foreign Ministers

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—Mexico is calling a meeting of American foreign ministers but is excluding Argentina, it was learned reliably today.

The conference, for which no definite date has been set, is to deal with postwar problems. Not only does the plan for the meeting keep Argentina outside the fence from the rest of the American republics, but it provides that these nations will look into the Argentine case without any representatives of that nation present.

The agenda, it was understood, will include discussion of whether the foreign ministers of the various countries should air Argentina's relation to the other countries in the hemisphere at the meeting or whether the case should be taken up afterward.

Stettinius Calls Parley

A United States memorandum analyzing replies from the various capitals to Argentina's request for a meeting at which she would be included is scheduled for delivery, in American foreign offices this week.

It also was learned that Secretary of State Stettinius has called a conference of Latin-American ambassadors in Washington, presumably on the same day.

In order to get together before a United Nations meeting, which diplomats here are anxious to hurry, the inter-American group probably will convene in February or March.

Repercussions Expected

Exclusion of Argentina was expected to cause sharp repercussions in Buenos Aires, where the Government of Gen. Edelmiro Farrell has been working feverishly to break the quarantine imposed by the rest of the American nations.

The diplomatic isolation of Argentina has stemmed from United States charges that she is the Western Hemisphere stronghold of pro-Fascist influence.

U.S. WORKS ON NEW LEND-LEASE TO REDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 — (AP) Secretary of State Stettinius said today that the United States is working on a new Lend-Lease protocol with Russia and that war supplies have continued to move meanwhile.

In the third protocol expired June 30, 1944. Officials said delay in signing the new pact, which is really a schedule of shipments, was due to revisions in requests for supplies and in the designations of available stocks.

A publication of the National Association of Manufacturers said yesterday high government officials expected that Russia would not renew Lend-Lease after the present act under which the protocols operate expires at the end of the present fiscal year. The publication, the NAM News, predicted that Amtorg, Soviet trading agency, would resume its pre-war functions of buying and selling in this country.

Stettinius noted that Canada and England are also involved in drawing up the program of war goods which can be sent to Russia. One of the complications in reaching agreement on the document, Lend-Lease officials said is the difficulty in determining precisely what materials are directly needed for the war effort. An example given was the Russian desire to rebuild the Dnieperstroy dam — a permanent structure but one which provided power for Russian war industries. The decision, he said, was to send moveable power trains and leave reconstruction of the dam to the Soviets.

ARMY CASUALTIES

Washington, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—The War Department announced today the names of 2,403 casualties in the European area.

In all of these cases next of kin have previously been notified and have been kept informed directly by the War Department of any change in status.

Included in the list of today are the following with their next of kin:

Robot And Rocket Bomb Defense Plans Issued

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Office of Civilian Defense has issued instructions for defense against robot bomb and rocket bomb attacks.

In instructions sent to State defense councils to be passed on to the public, OCD pointed out that little or no advance warning is possible, adding:

"The public should realize the danger and be constantly on the alert, particularly along the coastal areas."

The agency emphasized that its action is purely precautionary.

Army Wins Battle Over Trench Foot

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP) — The Army today reported a Western-front victory over trench foot—a disease that can knock a soldier out of combat as effectively as a bullet.

At one time the disease reached 9.82 men out of every 1,000 on the Western front. This has been cut 75 per cent.

The Army enforced precautionary measures, taught treatment, increased supplies of footwear and alerted soldiers to the danger in the disease.

The disease results from prolonged exposure of the feet to cold and moisture. Average hospitalization period is 60 days.

ADMIRAL YARNELL RETIRED FOR THIRD TIME

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP) Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, 69, has been placed on the retired list for the third time.

Yarnell, a native of Independence, Iowa, who now makes his home at Newport, R. I., at one time was commander-in-chief of the U. S. Asiatic fleet.

He was retired first November 1, 1939, and recalled to duty two years later to serve as special advisor to the Chinese military mission until his second retirement, Jan. 15, 1943.

He again was called back to duty in June, 1943, and since August of that year had headed a special section of naval operations.

Navy Commander in Chief Ernest J. King called attention to Yarnell's years of experienced service in a statement and said "he has worked with devotion and distinction in the Office of Naval Operations."

War Training Bill High On Docket Of Congress

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP) — Key Congressmen put this first on the new Congress's work sheet: A national compulsory peacetime service bill for all American youth.

Such a measure would require young men—at some age between 17 and 25—to devote perhaps one year of their lives to a training program laid down for them by the Government.

It would involve about 1,000,000 young men every year. It would cost perhaps billions. For most men it would mean an interruption in their education or occupation.

Three Suggestions

There is support for compulsory service and there is opposition. But what kind of service? There are three chief suggestions:

1. Purely military training. This is what the Army and Navy chiefs want. They say it's necessary and that without it "the continued security of our national life and institutions can no longer be assured."

2. Some military training coupled with other activities—like vocational, citizenship and educational training—to round out the year's work. This suggestion is indorsed by President Roosevelt.

3. No military training, but a year of special studies or body-building activities. Some educators favor this.

The main fight—it seems now—will be on the program of purely military training.

Army Stand Cited

The Army says:

"There will be no place in a sound, universal military training for activities that are nonessential to the tasks of preparing our young men for combat."

They say this training should take no less than one year.

Now it will be up to the people and, through the people, their Congress—to agree or disagree with military thinking. Our future may depend on the outcome of the fight.

The decisions made there will affect the lives of millions of youths, perhaps for generations to come.

May Be Stopped

It is possible that Congress will be choked off before really getting started on all this. There is certainly pressure against doing anything about it at this time, and for some reasons like these:

"Why be stampeded into action now? We're still suffering from war hysteria. Let's wait till after the war. If the world develops a good peace program we may not need compulsory military training at all.

"We can wait. And, besides, we should wait until our soldiers and sailors come back and let them have a say on what we need and what should be done."

Army Points To Polls

But the army says it has conducted polls among troops in the field on this subject and has found:

Two thirds of those answering favor compulsory peacetime military service, while only 25 per cent think we should rely on our regular Army—as we have done in the past—supported by a volunteer system.

MILITARY GROUP SEES DANGER IN GI BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—(AP) An armed forces committee on education expressed concern today that a situation of "explosive character" may develop if the postwar "GI" educational program trains thousands of ex-service men and women for jobs which do not exist.

It suggested that this problem be tackled by cooperation among educational institutions with financial aid from the federal government.

The committee was appointed by President Roosevelt at the time he signed legislation for the drafting of 18 and 19 year olds. Headed by Maj. Gen. F. H. Osborn, it was instructed to study post-war educational opportunities for service personnel and make recommendations

BYRNES' RULING ON ATHLETES TO HIT COLLEGIANS

Selective Service to Review Cases of 4-F Stars in Schools.

By BUS HAM

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 — (AP) College athletics as well as professional sports will be hit by Jimmy Byrnes' crackdown on 4-F athletes.

College stars in this classification will be reviewed by Selective Service right along with profession-

This interpretation came today from the Office of the War Mobilization director, who has asked selective service to check the physical qualifications of professional athletes in view of the manpower shortage.

College athletics were not mentioned in Byrnes' letter to Selective Service Director Hershey, but the White House explained today that "it applies to everybody."

Asked specifically if that meant college athletes who are 4-F, Byrnes' office said that it does.

Almost every college in the country still participating in wartime sports will feel the effect.

Football in particular is vulnerable. Teams playing in Bowl games New Year's Day are spearheaded by athletes who have been rejected for service.

30-24 — 21565

In many instances, a 4-F plays alongside a service trainee.

But another phase of Byrnes' double-barrelled action in which he cracked down on all horse and dog racing, will not be applied to college sports.

In calling on race tracks to close up, Byrnes pointed out that urgently needed transportation facilities were being used at the tracks.

There is no intention at this time of extending this transportation restriction to big college football games, Byrnes' office said.

This apparently leaves the bowl games free to be played without further government limitations, and games next fall may not be affected.

GOVERNMENT SET TO SEIZE WARD CO.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP) Justice department officials were poised tonight for any court action deemed advisable if and when the government seizes Montgomery Ward properties for non-compliance with War Labor Board orders.

White House action, anticipated momentarily since last week, is expected to be accompanied by legal steps to offset any litigation which Wards' might institute, as it did last Spring when the Chicago plant was taken over.

The War department was reported on good authority to be ready to step into the picture, if the President directs it.

The Justice department imposed strictest secrecy on its officials. They declined to give any hint as to the legal steps they might take, either in Chicago where the big mail order plant has its headquarters, or in six other cities where war properties are involved in the non-compliance cases.

The War Labor Board sent the case to Economic Stabilizer Fred M. Vinson last Wednesday. He must dispose of a myriad of preliminaries before any seizure or imposition of economic pressure in the form of sanctions.

Besides a display factory and the printing department in Chicago, the cases involve four Detroit stores where the C.I.O.-retail employes union has been on strike since Dec. 9. Other properties directly involved are located in Denver, St. Paul, Portland, Ore., San Rafael, Calif., and Jamaica, N. Y.

HOUSEWIVES TOLD TO DESTROY ALL INVALID STAMPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 — (AP) Housewives were asked by the OPA tonight to destroy all food ration stamps that became invalid today.

The request was made in order to prevent voided stamps from being used in food purchases either through accident or design, in violation of OPA rules.

Red Tokens Still Good

OPA assured housewives that red ration tokens will continue good for meats, fats, cheese and butter. Grocers will continue to give them as change for red 10-point stamps. The use of blue ration tokens now is banned, having been discontinued in October when OPA began listing processed food point values in multiples of ten.

To clear up another point not brought out in earlier announcements, OPA said that changed point values for canned fruits do not go into effect until 12:01 a.m. next Sunday, although the new values for processed vegetables became effective today and butter was advanced from 20 to 24 points a pound.

The ration stamps invalidated as of 12:01 today (Tuesday), and which OPA asks that you destroy are: red stamps A8 through Z8 and A5 through P5; blue stamps A8 through Z8 and A5 through W5; sugar stamps 30, 31, 32, 33 and 40, along with all home canning coupons outstanding.

Stamps continuing to be good and those soon to be made good are: red stamps Z5, R5 and S5 which became valid Dec. 3. Red stamps T5, U5, V5, W5 and X5 will become good on Sunday, Dec. 31. Blue stamps X5, Y5, Z5, A2 and B2. In addition, blue stamps C2, D2, E2, F2 and G2 will become good on Jan. 1. Sugar stamp No. 34; another sugar stamp will become good on Feb. 1.

At the Capitol, meantime, Rep. Celler, New York City Democrat, announced he will ask Congress to compel placing of ceilings on live cattle. New York butchers have contended that lack of such ceilings was forcing them out of business and New York police reported that hundreds of butcher shops were closed today in protest against OPA price regulations.

Celler denounced the "cattle bloc" which he said "steers the government any way it wishes."

"It says," Cellar declared, "the consuming population of the cities of the East be damned. This bloc, meanwhile, lines its pockets with nice profits while retail butchers must sell at ruinous prices."

But Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) contended the seaboard meat situation could not be blamed on the livestock growers.

He suggested a check-up in seaboard cities to see why more commercial and utility grade beef is not offered for sale and whether some dealers are demanding red points for grades of meat supposed to be ration-free.

"I'm told that in some big cities consumers have been required to surrender red coupons for this ration-free beef," he told reporters.

OPA Officials to Meet

O'Mahoney is a leader among Western Senators who are opposing a suggested OPA order which would impose a ceiling on live beef animals. OPA officials will meet with advisory committees of the live stock industry in Chicago tomorrow and in Kansas City Thursday to discuss the matter.

The Wyoming lawmaker said that 60 per cent of the higher grades of beef is set aside for the armed forces, but that the military has not allocated any of the less desirable grades.

In a recent week, he added, 105,641 steers and heifers were slaughtered by inspected packers. Of that number, 7.1 per cent were graded as choice, about 41 per cent good, 35.7 per cent commercial and slightly more than 16 per cent utility.

"It is perfectly obvious" he said, "that if all the consumers want to buy meat from that 7.1 per cent category there is going to be a shortage.

"If the consumers could be persuaded to purchase the lower grades of meat, and the butchers to sell the lower grades, there probably would be a much greater supply in all the big cities."

O'Mahoney said the meat retailers were unable to sell at the retail ceiling prices because they are unable to buy at the wholesale ceilings.

"According to statements of retailers to OPA enforcement officers," he said, "they are compelled to pay excess prices to packers either by way of tie-in purchases of products they don't want or by way of side-money payments.

"In private conversations retailers will acknowledge this condition but they suffer a convenient lapse of memory in court."

U.S. MOVE ON FUND PLAN SEEN CRUCIAL

Morgenthau Calls Bretton Woods Program Vital

New York, Dec. 26 (AP) — Other nations will view the United States' action on the Bretton Woods international monetary agreements as an index of the country's willingness to co-operate in establishing world peace, says Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

"Ratification would strengthen all the forward-looking elements in every country who wish to translate their craving for peace into deeds, and would be a resounding answer to the pessimists who feel that peace is unattainable," Morgenthau says in the January issue of the publication, Foreign Affairs.

Supplementary Facets

Failure to ratify the agreements for an international monetary fund and international bank for reconstruction and development, he states, will convince other nations that "the American people do not desire to co-operate or that they do not know how to achieve co-operation."

Describing the Bretton Woods program as "the model in the economic sphere of what Dumbarton Oaks is in the political," he adds:

"They reinforce and supplement each other. Political and economic security from aggression are indivisible, and a sound program for peace must achieve both."

General Duncan To Iceland

New York, Dec. 26 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Early E. M. Duncan, formerly deputy commander, Iceland Base command, has been named commanding general of United States Army Forces in Iceland, succeeding Maj. Gen. William S. Key.

New York, Dec. 26 (AP) — Joel Mencher, president of the Association of New York State Young Republican Clubs, Inc., said today that War Mobilization Director Byrnes's recent recommendation that professional athletes be screened again by draft boards could be construed as "absolute discrimination.

In a message to Byrnes, Mencher said:

"Your recent statement recommending the recall of athletes into the armed service . . . or another physical examination for those who failed . . . intimates that athletes as a class have sought to evade military service or that they have used influence to excuse themselves from further service.

"The courage and devotion of our athletes, as a class, are attested to by countless medals and citations. To so characterize, even by innuendo, a segment of our people merely because they are in the public eye is absolute discrimination."

Mencher urged that, should the armed services require the use of 4-F's for certain work, "then by all means induct all 4-F's who so qualify, whether they be athletes, business men, merchants, known or unknown."

Lieut. John Kennedy Up for Retirement

Boston, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—Lieut. John Kennedy, son of Joseph P. Kennedy, former Ambassador to England, whose heroic action as a PT boat commander in the Pacific won several honors, will appear before a Navy retirement board in Washington tomorrow.

Young Kennedy has been under treatment at the Chelsea Naval Hospital for the last six months for injuries suffered in the service.

His appearance before the retirement board was ordered with a view to retiring him for service-connected disability.

Si Rosenthal Treated for Wounds

Boston, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—Simon (Si) Rosenthal, Red Sox outfielder in 1925 and 1926, is under treatment at a Naval Hospital in New York State for wounds received in action in the European theater, friends disclosed today. Rosenthal, who has been in the Navy for two years, was injured when his ship blew up.

Just a year ago, Rosenthal received word, while at his Dorchester home on furlough, that his 17-year-old son, Erwin, a member of the Marine Corps, had been killed in action.

Krug Says New Factories Will Have To Be Built to Keep Army in Supplies

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26 (AP).—The War Production Board is operating now on the theory that the war in Europe will go on indefinitely, Chairman J. A. Krug told a press conference here today.

As an example, he said new factories have to be built to supply demands for trench mortars and the factories cannot go into production before next August.

The factories will cost some $200,000,000, he said; and if the war ends before August a good deal of the money would be lost, but if the war isn't over by then, "as it probably won't be," the new plants will save many American lives.

Mr. Krug said the great German offensive is destroying a lot of Allied equipment and causing a sizable increase in American production requirements.

Before he left Washington this morning, Mr. Krug said, he received a rush message from General Eisenhower asking for six million yards of blanketing material. Jackets and underwear, ordinarily expected to last a soldier five months, are being worn out in half that time under the rigors of the present struggle.

Acknowledging that war production had been affected by overly optimistic statements by "the wise boys in Washington," Mr. Krug said our aircraft program has been upped between 4 and 5 per cent in the past week and a new increase in Navy fighter production is to come, along with an expansion of merchant shipping by about three million tons in 1945.

He said the purpose of his visit here was to make sure that any lags in production are overcome and that Philadelphia's diverse production offered a cross-section of the situation generally.

Warship Commissioning Delayed

General Comes To Aid Of 300 GI's On Leave

Atlanta, Dec. 26 (AP)—A general came to the aid of 300 GI's who sought to take the last possible minute of their Christmas leaves.

The soldiers from Fort Benning waited for the last bus from Atlanta to take them back. There wasn't room for all of them. Disciplinary action would be their lot.

Maj. Gen. Frederick E. Uhl, commanding the 4th Service Command, heard of their plight. He ordered ten army trucks out, and the convoy rolled into Benning in time for reveille.

Stettinius Says Robots Can Be a Peril to U. S.

Asserts Only an Efficient Peace Agency Will Avert Attacks

CHICAGO, Dec. 26 (AP).—Within ten or twenty years robot bombing is "almost certain to befall this country and all other countries unless we are able to establish an efficient" peace organization, Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius jr., said today.

Writing in "The Kiwanis Magazine," Secretary Stettinius said the Dumbarton Oaks proposals are important because they point out the alternative "to unspeakable disaster."

"Let no one forget that the robot bomb and the rocket are still in their infancy, at a stage comparable to the stage of development which aviation reached at Kitty Hawk in 1903. . . . These deadly missiles can be perfected to the point where they can travel thousands of miles at incredible speed.

"In that event our oceans, our industrial strength and our manpower would not be able to prevent surprise attack and vast damage by accurately aimed weapons travelling faster than sound."

The Dumbarton Oaks proposals, Mr. Stettinius wrote, revealed that the four participating powers "recognized that their economic strength and their military potential placed special responsibilities upon them for the maintenance and enforcement of peace."

ANOTHER WARD STRIKE CALLED

CIO Union Head Acts In Kansas City

Kansas City, Dec. 26 (AP)—A strike of all United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employés members in the Kansas City Montgomery Ward retail stores and mail-order houses has been called for tomorrow, Edward Chevlin, international representative of the CIO union announced tonight.

The strike, Chevlin said, was called by Leonard Levy, Chicago, executive vice president of the union, as part of a nation-wide effort of the union to force Sewell Avery, chairman of the Montgomery Ward board, "to comply with directive orders of the War Labor Board."

Chevlin would not estimate the number of union employés in the Kansas City Ward stores. The number fluctuates, he explained, but added that he understood the total number of Ward employés in the Kansas City area was "about 2,500."

Union Support Pledged

Support of all CIO unions in the Kansas City area has been pledged to the strike order, Chevlin said, adding that Irwin de Shetler, the CIO's regional director, is chairman of a committee, formed to cooperate with the local union. International representatives of the United Steel Workers, United Packing House Workers and the United Automobile Workers are also members of the committee, Chevlin said.

De Shetler was out of the city and other members would not comment on what form the committee's "co-operation" might take. A statement of the committee's position probably will be issued tomorrow, de Shetler's office said.

Ward officials were not available for comment.

NAZI PRISONERS DUG TUNNEL IN ROCK TO ESCAPE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 26—(AP) Individual Nazi prisoners worked many months boring in rock a 200-foot tunnel through which 25 Germans escaped from the Papago Park camp during the past weekend, Col. William A. Holden, commandant, said today.

Only six of the escapees, all submarine personnel, have been apprehended since Sunday night. Navy Capt. Jurgen Wattenberg, 43, is the ranking member of the 19 at large which includes 11 other navy officers, many of whom are linguists.

Holden said the tunnel, large enough only for a man to crawl through, started underearth an outdoor coal box and went from 12 to 15 feet below the ground surface.

"Construction of the tunnel," Holden explained, "must have taken many months because obviously only one man could work at a time." The rock was composed of crusts of calcium carbonate of varying degrees of hardness.

"We don't know for certain," the commandant added, "but we believe the prisoners may have had only coal stove fire shovels for tools in cutting the rock.

"The rock removed from the bore must have been granulated and distributed as soil about the camp grounds, which are gravel surfaced."

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and other peace officers were maintaining a close watch of the Mexican border, 191 miles south of Phoenix.

Holden said several of the officers and men at large had been studying Spanish. Some speak French and Danish. Several speak English.

The escape climaxed a weekend during which Army guards used clubs in dispersing a demonstration by a "couple hundred" prisoners.

The brief display, Holden declared, "ostensibly was a combination celebration of Von Rundstedt's success and Christmas."

Holden today denied a report that Guenther Prien, famed U-boat commander credited with sinking the British battleship Royal Oak, was a prisoner here.

Maj. Eugene Tays, security and intelligence officer at the camp, who was originally quoted as saying Prien was a prisoner there, said today that he "misunderstood the inquiry."

Rumors had been current in Phoenix many months that Prien was here.

Clubs Used To Quiet Nazis

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 26 (AP)—A Nazi celebration of Western-front victories was broken up with clubs at Papago Park war prisoner camp near here shortly before 25 Germans escaped, Col. William A. Holden, commandant, has disclosed.

Holden said army guards had to resort to force in ending a demonstration Saturday by a "couple hundred" prisoners in one of the camp's compounds.

All Submarine Men

Only six of the escapees, all submarine officers and men, have been apprehended. The ranking member of the group is Lieut. Col. Jurgen Wattenberg, 43. Many of those at large speak several languages.

Some of the prisoners may have fled during the demonstration, but Holden said probably most of them got away during a severe rainstorm Sunday evening.

The demonstration, Holden declared, "ostensibly was a combination celebration of von Rundstedt's success and Christmas." The activity was mainly singing and shouting.

Famed Commander Prisoner

The escape served to make public a rumor that Guenther Prien, Germany's famed U-boat commander, was a prisoner here.

Prien, decorated by Hitler for sinking the British battleship Royal Oak at Scapa Flow in 1939, did not escape, said Major Eugene Tays, in answering a newspaper inquiry.

Puts Rationing Question Up To "The Germans"

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 26 (AP). The Utah OPA received just one complaint on the sudden change in ration-point values.

It came, Director H. Grant Ivins, said, from a man who asked when he could "trust the Government to leave point values unchanged."

"I replied," Ivins said, "that that time would come when we can trust the Germans to quit attacking us."

Eisenhower Consoles Aunt

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 26 (AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower is one of the world's busiest men, but that didn't prevent him from remembering his aunt Annie after the death, Dec. 13, of Dr. Abraham Lincoln Eisenhower, seventy-nine years old, last of the general's uncles. The widow today received the following message cabled from Europe: "Please accept my deepest sympathy in the loss of Uncle Abe—Dwight D. Eisenhower."

War Correspondent Is Killed In Europe

El Centro, Cal., Dec. 26 (AP)—Jack Frankish, 30, United Press war correspondent on the Western front, was killed Saturday, his widow, Mrs. Barbara Frankish was notified today.

Frankish, who had been with the United Press for nearly ten years, went overseas last spring, serving in London until three months ago when he was assigned to the front lines in Belgium and France.

A native of Ontario, Cal., he attended the University of Southern California. He was a member of the UP staff in Philadelphia and served as manager of its Cleveland and Miami bureaus before being named Ohio Valley division manager with headquarters in Columbus, Ohio, in 1942. He was transferred to New York last January.

Surviving besides his widow are two children, his mother and a sister, the latter residents of Ontario, Cal.

NEARBY, AT THE COMMAND POST OF OTHER FORCES UNDER LT. COL. PAUL F ROBERTS OF SAN ANTONIO, TEX., ANOTHER EXECUTIVE OFFICER, CAPT. H. B. COX, IRVING, KY., SUMMED UP THE BATTLE FOR KEHMAN:

"I'VE BEEN FIGHTING OVER HERE FOR THREE MONTHS AND THAT HILL OUT THERE (POINTING TO A SLOPE ABOUT 500 YARDS AWAY BETWEEN THE POST AND THE TOWN OF KEHMAN) IS THE HOTTEST SPOT I EVER SAW. THIS WOODS ISN'T COOL, EITHER, WITH FLURRIES OF THOSE 120 MILLIMETER MORTARS LANDING EVERY HOUR OR SO."

DEC 27 1944

THE INDUSTRY WITH WHICH THE SOLDIERS AND OFFICERS ALL AROUND WERE DIGGING FOXHOLES THROUGH THE FROZEN GROUND BORE OUT HIS STATEMENT.

"IT'S HOT ALL RIGHT IN PLENTY OF PLACES, BUT NOT HOT ENOUGH TO KEEP OUR MEN FROM HAVING FROSTBITE," SAID LT. ILTON GOETZ, A MEDICAL OFFICER FROM LANSING, MICH. "WEVE HAD SEVERAL CASES OF FROSTBITTEN FEET--BUT TRENCHFOOT ISNT A PROBLEM ANYMORE.

CPL.WILLIAM O'KEEFE OF CAVOUR, S.D., EMERGED FROM A TIGHT SPOT EARLY TODAY WHEN HE AND FIVE OTHERS IN THE FIRST WAVE OF AN ATTACK ON A TOWN WERE CAPTURED BY THE GERMANS.

"THERE WERE ABOUT FIVE OF THEM GUARDING US, INCLUDING A MEDIC WHO WAS WOUNDED," HE SAID. "WE KNEW--OR HOPED--THAT MORE OF OUR GUYS WOULD BE ALONG SHORTLY, SO WE TOLD THEM THEY WERE JUST ABOUT SURROUNDED AND HAD BETTER HANG OUT THE WHITE FLAG AND GIVE UP. AND, SURE ENOUGH, ALONG CAME THE REST OF OUR FELLOWS IN A VERY FEW MINUTES I GUESS I WAS A PRISONER THERE ONLY ABOUT 30 MINUTES, BUT IT SEEMED LONGER--AND, BOY, WAS I GLAD TO SEE THOSE GIS COMING.

BACK ALONG THE RIDGE ROAD, WHICH HAS BEEN POUNDED BY BOMBS AND ARTILLERY FOR FOUR DAYS, I MET CAPT. DOCK RACHELS, 14 MARION PLACE, MANOR, GA., GRINNING FROM EAR TO EAR AND LEADING SOME NAZI SOLDIERS.

"YOU MISSED THE FUN. WE JUST CAPTURED TWO SNIPERS WHO HAVE BEEN SHOOTING ALONG THIS ROAD. I THINK THEY ARE SOME OF SEVERAL SCORES OF HEINIES WE CUT OFF AND PASSED AND THEY ARE TRYING TO WORK THEIR WAY BACK TO THEIR LINES AND TAKING A FEW SHOTS AS THEY GO.

"GENTLEMEN, WE HOLD MANY IMPORTANT MATTERS IN OUR HANDS.

"TODAY GREECE MAY BECOME A UNITED NATION MARCHING WITH THE OTHER UNITED NATIONS OF THE WORLD TOWARDS VICTORY.

"TOMORROW IF ALL OUR EFFORTS FAIL WE SHALL HAVE TO BEND TO OUR HARD TASK, AND WE BRITISH SHALL BE GIVEN A LARGE PART OF THE DUTY OF RESCUING THE CITY OF ATHENS FROM THE ANARCHY AND MISERABLE CONDITIONS NOW PREVAILING AND OF SECURING A SUFFICIENT AREA OF SAFETY AROUND IT TO ENABLE THE PEOPLE OF ATHENS TO GO THROUGH THEIR DAILY LIFE AND WORK, TO RECEIVE THE SUPPLIES WHICH ARE COMING IN AND TO FEEL THAT THEY HAVE PEACE, THAT THEY HAVE SAFETY AND THAT THEY HAVE FREEDOM."

THAT IS WHY I TAKE PAINS TO OFFER TO THE ELAS DELEGATES A STATEMENT OF OUR POSITION THAT WE CONSIDER WE WERE INVITED AND THAT WE CAME WITH GOOD HEARTS AND FULL HANDS, WITH NO THOUGHT IN VIEW BUT THE RESTORATION OF GREECE TO HER PLACE, WON BY HARD FIGHTING, IN THE RANKS OF THE ALLIES WHEN VICTORY IS NOT SO FAR DISTANT.

"WHY IS IT WE CANNOT LEAVE? SINCE WEVE BEEN HERE THE MOST VIOLENT, UNEXPECTED TROUBLES HAVE ARISEN AND WE HAVE BECOME INVOLVED IN THEM IN DOING WHAT WE BELIEVED WAS OUR DUTY. THIS DUTY WE SHALL DISCHARGE FAITHFULLY UNTIL THE END."

CHURCHILL DISCLAIMED THAT BRITAIN "DESIRED ANY MATERIAL ADVANTAGE FROM GREECE." HE DENIED TERRITORIAL AND COMMERCIAL ADVANTAGES WERE BEING SOUGHT, OR THAT THE BRITISH WISHED TO INTERFERE IN GREEK AFFAIRS.

"WHETHER GREECE IS A MONARCHY OR A REPUBLIC IS A MATTER FOR THE GREEKS AND THE GREEKS ALONE TO DECIDE. ALL WE WISH YOU IS GOOD, AND GOOD FOR ALL," HE SAID.

AVBY RICHARD BERGHOLZ (480)

AT A LEYTE AIRBASE, PHILIPPINES, DEC 26-(AP)-IN ANY OTHER WAR THEATER, TOMMY MCGUIRE'S RECORD OF 38 PLANES DOWNED, INCLUDING SEVEN OVER LEYTE AND LUZON IN THE LAST 48 HOURS, WOULD MAKE HIM TOP DOG.

OUT HERE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, MAJ.THOMAS B.MCGUIRE'S ACHIEVEMENT HAS BEEN OVERSHADOWED UNTIL NOW BY AMERICA'S RANKING ARMY AIR ACE, MAJ.RICHARD I.BONG, OF POPLAR, WIS., WHO HAS 40 TO HIS CREDIT.

WHILE MAJOR BONG WAS ON FURLOUGH AFTER BAGGING 27 JAPANESE PLANES, MCGUIRE PLUGGED AWAY TO REACH THE 20 MARK. FLYING TOGETHER OVER THE PHILIPPINES, THE TWO ACES MATCHED VICTORY FOR VICTORY, BUT NO MATTER HOW HOT MCGUIRE FLEW AND FOUGHT, BONG ALWAYS STAYED AHEAD.

ANOTHER DAY LIKE THAT MCGUIRE HAD OVER CLARK FIELD, NEAR MANILA, YESTERDAY MAY LIFT HIM TO THE TOP.

THE YOUNG MAN, WHO GREW UP AT RIDGEWOOD, N.J., AND SEBRING, FLA., LIVES TO KNOCK 'EM DOWN.

"FOR A TIME MAC USED TO BE COURAGEOUS TO THE POINT OF BEING DUMB," HIS COMMANDER SAID. "BUT NOW HE'S SEASONED AND KNOWS HIS PLANE'S LIMITATIONS. HE STILL HAS SO MUCH GUTS IT MAKES IT HARD FOR HIS WINGMEN TO STAY WITH HIM."

THE SHORT, DARK-MUSTACHED ACE, WHOSE WIFE LIVES AT (209 WEST RIDGEWOOD COURTS) SAN ANTONIO, TEX., HAS FLOWN MORE THAN 720 COMBAT HOURS, AND MORE THAN 240 COMBAT MISSIONS.

HE HOLDS NINE AIR MEDALS, FIVE DFCS, THE SILVER STAR AND THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS.

MCGUIRE LEFT GEORGIA TECH EARLY IN 1941 TO ENTER THE ARMY AIR FORCES. LET'S LOOK AT HIS RECORD. HERE IS ONE EXCERPT FROM HIS LOG BOOK:

"OCT.17, 1943: OVER ORO BAY THREE ZEKE PLANES DOWNED ME. I BAILED OUT WOUNDED AND WAS PICKED UP BY A P-T 30 MILES OUT. (HE SPENT 18 DAYS IN THE HOSPITAL).

DEC 27 1944

THIS IS WHAT HAPPENED:

AGAINST A STRONG JAPANESE FORCE MCGUIRE KNOCKED OFF THREE FIGHTERS THEN BROKE OFF TO COVER A CRIPPLED LIGHTNING. MCGUIRE'S PLANE CAUGHT FIRE WHEN IT WAS HIT AND MCGUIRE WAS WOUNDED. HE TRIED TO BAIL OUT AT 12,000 FEET BUT HIS FEET CAUGHT IN THE COCKPIT. HIS BODY WAS PULLED BACK BY THE PROPELLER SLIPSTREAM AND HE HUNG THERE WHILE THE PLANE DROPPED 5,000 FEET.

FINALLY HE BROKE FREE AND REACHED FOR THE RIPCORD, ONLY TO FIND IT SEVERED, WITH A SMALL SIRE DANGLING BEHIND. HE WRAPPED THE WIRE AROUND HIS WRIST AND YANKED, AND THE CHUTE OPENED AT A THOUSAND FEET.

WHEN HE HIT THE WATER HE FOUND HIS RUBBER BOAT FULL OF HOLES AND IT SLOWLY SANK. DESPITE HIS WOUNDS, HE KEPT AFLOAT FOR 40 MINUTES UNTIL THE P-T BOAT PICKED HIM UP.

"DEC.26, 1943: GOT FOUR, GAVE ONE AWAY. HEAVY FIGHT. HAVE 16 CONFIRMED NOW."

THAT'S HIS NOTATION OF THE ACTION IN WHICH HE WON THE DSC. IGNORING MANY ZEROS ON HIS TAIL, MCGUIRE LED HIS LIGHTNINGS AGAINST 14 JAPANESE DIVEBOMBERS ATTACKING A YANK CONVOY LANDING AT CAPE GLOUCESTER. ALL THE DIVEBOMBERS WERE DESTROYED.

"MAY 2, 1944: GOT A SQUADRON." HE WAS MADE A SQUADRON LEADER.

"JUNE 6, 1944: SANK A THOUSAND TON FREIGHTER OFF MANOKWARI."

THIS FLIGHT PROVED THE STRAFING POWER OF THE LIGHTNINGS. HIS GROUP USED 14,000 ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION, AND PUNCHED SO MANY HOLES IN THE SHIP'S STEEL HULL IT ROLLED OVER AND SANK.

SO IT WENT. THROUGH ADVANCES IN NEW GUINEA, AIR SWEEPS INTO THE DUTCH EAST INDIES AND NOW INTO THE PHILIPPINES, MCGUIRE IS ALWAYS CRAVING ACTION.

DEC 27 1944

FRIENDLY, GREGARIOUS AND ENTHUSIASTIC, MCGUIRE IS ONE OF THE MOST WIDELY KNOWN PILOTS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC. HIS CREW CHIEF, TECH.SGT.FRANK KISH, SHARON, PA., SWEARS BY HIM.

RECENTLY THE FIFTH AIR FORCE PUBLISHED A BOOK, "COMBAT TACTICS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC." IT TOLD NEW FIGHTER PILOTS SOME TEAM-WORK TRICKS OF THE TRADE. IT IS AUTHORITATIVE, EASY TO UNDERSTAND AND WAS ADOPTED FOR STANDARD INSTRUCTION.

HAVANA, DEC. 26-(AP)-CUBAN SPORTS CIRCLES CONCLUDED TODAY THERE WAS LITTLE CHANCE THAT HAVANA'S ORIENTAL PARK WOULD FALL HEIR TO ANY OF FLORIDA'S RACING GLAMOR, NOW THAT THE TRACKS ARE CLOSING IN THE UNITED STATES, AT OFFICIAL REQUEST, TO SAVE MANPOWER AND TRANSPORTATION.

DEC 27 1944

THERE ARE NO GOVERNMENTAL REGULATIONS BANNING THE SHIPMENT OF HORSES FROM THE U.S. TO CUBA, BUT OFFICIAL CIRCLES SUGGESTED THAT THEY WOULD BE IMPOSED QUICKLY BY CUBA, THE UNITED STATES, OR BOTH, IF ATTEMPTS WERE MADE TO TRANSFER FLORIDA RUNNERS HERE.

TRANSPORTATION IS HEAVILY RESTRICTED, AND IT WOULD BE DIFFICULT TO OBTAIN SUITABLE BERTHS FOR QUALITY RACERS. CUBA IS SERVED ALMOST EXCLUSIVELY BY SMALL CRAFT, BARGES AND ONE RAILWAY FERRY.

AS IT IS, CUBA HAS RUN THROUGH A SERIES OF FOOD CRISES BECAUSE OF A SHORTAGE OF SHIPPING SPACE TO BRING RICE, FLOUR, EGGS AND OTHER SORELY NEEDED COMMODITIES TO THE CAPITAL.

RACE FANS, TOO, WOULD HAVE DIFFICULTY GETTING TO CUBA. PLANE PASSAGE USUALLY IS AVAILABLE, BUT THE STATE DEPARTMENT COULD PREVENT ANY GREAT EXODUS FROM FLORIDA BY WITHHOLDING PASSPORTS. BEFORE THE WAR PASSAGE WAS UNRESTRICTED, BUT PASSPORTS AND VISAS NOW ARE REQUIRED FOR ALL TRAVELERS.

THERE IS LITTLE IN PRESENT CUBA RACING TO ATTRACT THE BIG STABLES. THE MEETING LAUTS MOST OF THE YEAR, BUT THE TRACK OPERATES ONLY THURUDAYS, SATURDAYS, SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS, AND NO CHANGE IS CONTEMPLATED. THE PURSES ARE SMALL--THE INAUGURAL PURSE LAST SATURDAY AMOUNTING TO ONLY $600.

WASHINGTON,DEC.26-(AP)-HEADS OF SOME ALLIED MILITARY CHIEFS, BOTH BRITISH AND AMERICAN, ARE BOUND TO ROLL FOR THE REVERSE ON THE FIRST ARMY FRONT, IT WAS BELIEVED TODAY IN CIRCLES CLOSE TO THE WAR DEPARTMENT.
PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE GERMAN BREAKTHROUGH APPEARS TO BELONG TO THE INTELLIGENCE SERVICE, THESE SOURCES SAID.
A COMPLETE, CLEAR REPORT ON THE CIRCUMSTANCES SURROUNDING THE START OF THE GERMAN WINTER OFFENSIVE HAS NOT YET BEEN RECEIVED, IT WAS INDICATED, BUT WHEN ONE HAS BEEN DELIVERED AND ANALYZED, MEASURES WILL BE TAKEN TO CORRECT THE SITUATION.
NOW THAT THE FIRST SHOCK OF THE GERMAN SUCCESS HAS PASSED, THE AMERICAN PUBLIC HAS COME TO REGARD THE ENEMY MOVE AS ONLY A TEMPORARY DELAY IN THE INEVITABLE DEFEAT OF THE REICH.
THE GENERAL ATTITUDE, AS EXPRESSED BY THE WASHINGTON POST, HOWEVER, IS THAT "THE DISQUIETING THING TO THE PEOPLE IS THAT OUR COMMAND WAS CAUGHT NAPPING. THE BLAME IS ATTACHED TO THE INTELLIGENCE SERVICE. FOR THE MISTAKE BOTH THE BRITISH AND OURSELVES MUST ACCEPT JOINT RESPONSIBILITY, FOR AT SHAEF THE CHIEF INTELLIGENCE OFFICER IS A BRITON WITH AN AMERICAN AS HIS DEPUTY. THE DEFICIENCY WILL NO DOUBT BE REMEDIED."
THAT NO SUCH ACTION HAS BEEN TAKEN SO FAR IS EXPLAINED BY THE FACT THAT SHAEF HAS BEEN TOO BUSY FIGHTING THE GERMAN OFFENSIVE TO TAKE TIME TO REPORT TO WASHINGTON ON WHAT HAPPENED AT THE START. A REPORT IS EXPECTED TO ARRIVE WITHIN A FEW DAYS.
HIGH OFFICIALS ARE PARTICULARLY INTERESTED TO KNOW WHY THE INTELLIGENCE SERVICE WAS APPARENTLY NOT AWARE OF THE ENEMY PLANS.
THERE ARE POSSIBLE EXPLANATIONS:
1. THE GERMAN CONCENTRATION WAS SHIELDED BY HEAVY FORTIFICATIONS WHICH MADE IT DIFFICULT TO TAKE ANY PRISONERS EXCEPT GARRISON TROOPS.

DEC 27 1944

2. THE WEATHER WAS BAD, REDUCING AERIAL RECONNAISSANCE.
BUT WASHINGTON INTENDS TO GO TO THE HEART OF THE MATTER, AND PROBABLY SOMEONE WILL HAVE TO ANSWER FOR THE FIRST ARMY SETBACK, JUST AS THE PEARL HARBOR CHIEFS PAID FOR THE DISASTER THERE WITH THEIR JOBS.

Germans Report Entire Third Army Slashing at Invading Nazis.

By EDWARD KENNEDY

PARIS, Thursday, Dec. 28.—(AP) German broadcasts acknowledged tremendous Allied counterattacks on both flanks of the Nazi offensive into Belgium last night. The Luxembourg radio asserted the enemy salient had been narrowed to 20 miles and Supreme Allied headquarters announced relief troops had reached the heroic American garrison at Bastogne.

NIGHT

The information, coming from assorted sources, could be pieced into a picture cheering to the Allies.

The beleaguered Doughboys at Bastogne, who had been encircled since Dec. 20 and gallantly smashing back every German attempt to wipe out their position since then, were reached by a hard-hitting column of American armor which drove up from the south.

The official announcement telling of the garrison's relief gave no details, not even the exact time, but field dispatches reporting events more than 24 hours old said the American forces were within five miles of the besieged Belgian town yesterday.

Dispatches from Associated Press correspondents at the front described this thrust as "heavy American forces" and said they had "punched a deep salient into the German southern flank," and made gains of two to four miles.

The forces hammering at Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's armies from the south were not officially identified, but German broadcasts last night declared that "practically the whole Third American army" was battering at the southern sector.

Berlin said some German forces in the frontier region of Luxembourg had withdrawn into pillboxes at the approaches to the Westwall (Siegfried Line) and also told of powerful counterattacks being thrown against Field Marshal Von Rundstedt from the north.

The German account said one of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's crack British divisions along with "still another American division withdrawn from the Aachen" were making "particularly grim counterattacks" in the north.

At the same time these reports of Allied attempts to choke the neck of the German offensive were coming from enemy sources, the Allied-controlled Luxembourg radio said "Von Rundstedt's supply funnel through Belgium has been narrowed to less than 20 miles in width tonight." This mileage coincides with the distance from Bastogne northward to last reported Allied positions near Lierneux.

Premier Hubert Pierlot told the Belgian parliament he had word from "the highest Allied authority that the situation at the front is well in hand," the Brussels radio said.

The drive to Bastogne apparently represented an important break in German lines on the southern side of the enemy wedge. The gains were made over rough terrain in the woods almost due west of Echternach and American successes on this front were spread over several points.

Associated Press correspondent Wes Gallagher said Von Rundstedt's entire southern flank appeared to be sagging and added 'unless he can quickly halt the American advance Von Rundstedt's Belgian bulge is in a critical condition."

The armored column which smashed into Bastogne drove through Remi-Champagne on a back road five miles southwest of Bastogne and it was presumably in this area that the Germans' southern lines were opened.

Eschdorf, Bonnal, Inzendorf and Lingel—villages southeast of Bastogne—were occupied by the Americans, who also were mopping up in Berdorf, three miles northwest of Echternach, and had encircled Befort.

The westernmost spearheads of the German drive into Belgium, which carried the enemy to within four miles of the Meuse river, still were being held, according to the latest available information, but a little to the northeast of this area—in the Hotten, Marche and Rochefort sectors—the enemy lunged out in several attacks. These were broken up, however.

The sharpest of these stabs came around Verdenne, three miles east of Marche, and around the villages of Humain and Havrenne, three miles north of Rochefort.

In the St. Hubert area to the south the enemy apparently decided merely on a holding action for the time being, for American troops encountered mines, roadblocks and blown bridges. Some German tanks were seen roving around in the area of Beauraing, a little farther northwest.

Quarter Million Men

Von Rundstedt, it was learned definitely, now has under his command three armies in this Hitler-conceived offensive. These are the Seventh army, the Fifth Panzer army and another and more powerful Panzer army—involving perhaps a quarter of a million men in all. The size of the force is an indication of the Nazi determination to crush the Allies on the western front at this late period.

Good weather permitted Allied air forces to fly a total of 3,000 sorties during the day in support of the ground troops. Ninety-one enemy aircraft were shot down.

All along the northern flank of the 35-mile-wide salient there were indications that the Nazis were on the defense for the moment, said Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher. With hundreds of American and British planes searching the roads, he said von Rundstedt could not use his tanks on a big scale without risking a massacre.

Spearhead Blunted

News that Gen. Eisenhower had struck his first serious counterblow at the Germans after backtracking 50 miles across Belgium came on top of the two-day-old information that the spearhead of the enemy drive had been blunted short of its Meuse river goal.

American forces met the two-pronged Nazi drive toward the Meuse in the areas of Ciney and Celles two days ago and brought it to a halt, knocking out some enemy armor and compelling von Rundstedt's forward tank units to withdraw from the farthest westward points attained in their 12-day-old push.

"Von Rundstedt has lost the initiative in his great all-out gamble to smash through the American front," Associated Press Correspondent Roger Greene declared in a front dispatch.

After touring the rim of the Germans' salient, Kenneth Dixon of the AP reported, "the Allied position seems the most cheerful since von Rundstedt uncorked his counter-stab."

Planes Are Active

For the fifth straight day swarms of American and British planes lashed at German troops and armor in clear, cold weather, piling roads and snow-covered fields with the smoking derelicts of Nazi tanks and supply vehicles.

There was strong indication that von Rundstedt's extended forces were short of fuel. Of 17 enemy tanks and self-propelled guns which the Americans found abandoned when the pushes to Ciney and Celles were folded back, at least a dozen had dry gasoline tanks.

A field dispatch declared the Germans already had thrown in a vast majority of their reserves and had more than 20 divisions, including 10 Panzer grenadier divisions, committed to the battle. It said the situation "now may be regarded as past the crisis stage."

(Capt. Ludwig Segorious, German military commentator, observed that Allied counterattacks in Belgium "already are more methodic" and said that the great offensive which Hitler planned to inflict a decisive defeat on the Allies was turning "more and more into a battle of attrition.")

According to the latest information issued at Allied headquarters—which presented the situation as of Tuesday morning—American troops were in possession of both Ciney and Celles. The latter town, only four miles from the Meuse, marked the apex of the German drive on Sunday. The Nazis ran tanks through Celles and close to Ciney, but apparently did not attempt to hold them against American counterblows.

Hard fighting was reported continuing in the sector, with small groups of German tanks milling about and apparently probing for soft spots in American defenses. The two-pronged German drive here might have been experimental in nature and in rehearsal for a stronger attack.

American troops reported taking 1,005 prisoners in a 48-hour period to noon on Tuesday.

Eisenhower's counterattack against the German southern flank resulted in new gains between Kiekirch and Echternach, including capture of the village of Haller six miles west of Echternach, and nearby Waldbilling. A German counterattack was repulsed near Haller, and high ground was won south of Echternach.

American and British tactical planes flew 2,814 sorties in support of ground forces Tuesday, destroying 77 German planes in the air and 12 on the ground for a tentative loss of 45 craft. They reported damaging or destroying over 857 German tanks, armored vehicles and motor transport.

In three days the two tactical forces reported they had destroyed 2,228 enemy transport vehicles and 439 Nazi planes, exclusive of the toll taken by American and RAF heavy bombers. After a big force of heavies attacked German-held St. Vith in Belgium a pilot said the town was "burning from end to end with the streets just great sheets of flames."

Up to noon yesterday the Allied Tactical Air forces had flown 300 sorties and reported destruction or damage to 40 enemy tanks and armored cars and 196 motor vehicles. Heavy damage was done to a column of 100 Nazi trucks caught between Bastogne and Marche.

As Allied air power continued to beat at the enemy and the clear weather showed no signs of breaking, dispatches said the enemy's tank forces had become much more cautious than in the opening days of the drive. They were moving much more slowly and in smaller groups.

It was, however, the grim, dogged stand of American infantry and armor, which held on and died in its tracks, that military history will have to credit with slowing and blocking the tremendous rush of enemy armor.

Doughboys still were dying at their guns today to check Von Rundstedt's legions until a real Allied counterblow could be delivered.

(A German broadcast reported that American forces were being withdrawn from the Aachen area and concentrated for new attacks in the Stavelot area on the Nazi northern flank, where the German drive first was checked.)

Hal Boyle of the Associated Press reported Wednesday night that "fighting still is extremely fluid, with small towns in this sector repeatedly changing hands.

"In no battle, however," he added, "has the enemy been able to summon the overwhelming force with which he lashed out from Germany across Belgium and Luxembourg on Dec. 16. Buttered thinly over a wide area, Von Rundstedt's Panzers and Volksgrenadiers are facing critical gas and food shortages as well as the problem of a solidifying and constricting American battle line."

Partial Withdrawal in Luxemburg; U.S. Relief Columns Reach Bastogne

DEC 28 1944

BULLETIN.

London, Dec. 27 (A.P.).—The German radio announced tonight that Nazi forces in some sectors of Luxembourg had been withdrawn to outposts of the Westwall.

Paris, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—American troops and tanks, regaining the initiative, have driven a deep salient into German lines within the last twenty-four hours and dealt the German offensive its first serious setback, a front dispatch declared today. The location of this American plunge and details could not be given in the dispatch, sent at 2 P. M. (9 A. M. Eastern war time) from the Stavelot area of Belgium.

All along the northern rim of the German drive, said the dispatch from the Stavelot sector, "there are indications the Germans are on the defense for the moment with infantry replacing tanks."

[The Brussels radio said tonight that relief columns had reached the American garrison at Bastogne, which had been cut off more than a week. Earlier, a dispatch from the United States First Army headquarters reported that a single United States Army vehicle had broken through the German ring around the Belgian city. A British broadcast said that American columns, officially last reported four and a half miles from Bastogne, had reached a point one and a quarter miles from the town. Hundreds of tons of supplies—mainly ammunition—were parachuted to the Americans in the Bastogne area during the day.]

At the same time the weather continued clear and the Allied air forces whittled away at Nazi tanks and transport. Flight after flight of Thunderbolt fighter-bombers pounded German positions.

Just south of Stavelot, fighter-bombers caught a German tank spearhead milling around on top of a bald ridge and struck heavily, destroying at least two tanks and damaging several others.

"They really gave that column a working over," declared Major Albert Trearse of Lansdowne, Pa.

Marshal von Rundstedt apparently still is trying to turn the American line to the west, but from here east the huge losses convinced him the line was firmly held.

Weather Is in Our Favor.

With Thunderbolts by the hundreds searching the roads in the bulge for targets, Von Rundstedt probably is awaiting bad weather before putting forth a new blow. Despite the aggressiveness of the German air force, which was over the American lines several times this morning, Allied air power has been the biggest thorn in the Germans' side.

An attempt last night to pierce the American north flank west of Stavelot with a moonlight assault was ruthlessly crushed.

"We threw the whole book at them—just piled it on with 155s on down to rifles," said Lieut. Glen Kean of Oil City, Pa. "The attack broke down and was wiped out in four hours."

Bitter cold still grips the front and tanks can operate almost anywhere. Weather conditions in the last four days have been ideal for Gen. Eisenhower's forces in contrast to the first six days, when low-hanging clouds and rain operated all to Von Rundstedt's advantage.

Reports indicated the Germans at least temporarily had lost the initiative in this winter drive. An earlier field dispatch reported doughboys slowly regaining the initiative on flanks of the German breakthrough.

2000 Spies In Action.

Allied officers in the field estimated that more than 2,000 German spies in American uniforms were being used in the German drive, either infiltrating or being dropped behind American lines.

A German-manned American Sherman tank and two tank destroyers slipped into an American column on one road late yesterday, shooting it up and escaping. Damage was heavy for the size of the operation.

Incomplete reports from two sections of the breakthrough area listed destruction of more than 250 Nazi tanks and self-propelled guns and capture of more than 2,300 prisoners since the offensive started.

The German offensive—believed to be powered with some 250,000 troops—had sent light armored combat teams to Celles and Ciney in a bid to reach the Meuse. But American infantrymen in a Christmas Day battle rolled them back one to two miles, Supreme Headquarters disclosed.

A dispatch from the field today declared American armor and infantry, "slowly regaining the initiative, have locked in a series of sharp battles with probing Germans on both flanks of the twenty-mile gap between the Hotton and Bastogne areas." Fighting still is extremely fluid in this sector, it added.

Supreme Headquarters said Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt had been held virtually without gains in the twenty-four hours up to Tuesday morning.

But the German southern flank at that same time stiffened against the American push to relieve the encircled garrison at Bastogne. The Americans last official reports still were four and one-half miles south of the city. Hundreds of tons of supplies were parachuted today to the Bastogne garrison.

Lull Settles Over Front.

Another front dispatch today said the front was comparatively, and almost ominously, quiet today with each side thrusting tentatively and ineffectually at opposing defenses.

Marshal Von Rundstedt's advance tank units had speared into Celles, only four miles from the Meuse and eight from the French frontier, and near Ciney farther northeast, fourteen miles below Namur. At Celles, his men were only fifty miles from Brussels, and had penetrated fifty-seven miles from the take-off positions. By Tuesday morning, Celles was firmly back in American hands.

The Americans folding back these thrusts found at least a dozen tanks and self-propelled guns dry of gasoline—perhaps an indication of the results of air blows on Marshal Von Rundstedt's supply lines.

Fighting continued in this sector near the Meuse, Supreme Headquarters said, but there were indications the main German weight was being [illegible]

The Supreme Headquarters communique said simply that "a few enemy tanks and troop-carriers pushed forwar' in the direction of Celles," four miles from Dinant on the Meuse, but that "these were engaged by our forces and were driven back, some tanks being knocked out."

DEC 28 1944

11-Mile Plunge

An 11-mile Sunday plunge had carried two forward columns of the Nazi offensive—powered by two and perhaps three armies—to Celles and to Ciney, six miles northeastward and nine from the Meuse.

The surrounding Bastogne garrison of several thousand doughboys still held out in an epic stand. General Eisenhower's relieving counter-assault from the south at last reports still was 4½ miles from the city, but the front of his attack had been widened.

Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt was pushing hard to the northwest—toward the Antwerp supply route—from his reinforced line along the Hotton-Marche road, but "our positions have been maintained," said the Allied communique covering actions two days old.

It still was a grinding battle of huge cost in which Von Rundstedt's next moves yet were to shape up. The terrific American defense had slowed but not yet stopped the German armor.

Along the northern rim of their bulge, Germans captured Manhay, 10 miles southwest of Stavelot.

Tanks Destroyed

Von Rundstedt kept bloody Bastogne near the middle of the bulge under incessant day and night attack, hurling in tanks which the defenders methodically knocked out as fast as they came up.

There was no indication how much longer the Bastogne force, originally numbering several thousand men, could hold out, but neither was there any suggestion they were anywhere near the end of their power or determination to resist.

The closest point reached by the relieving force from the south was just north of Chaumont, five miles below Bastogne. Seven miles southwest of Bastogne, Americans pressed near Cobreville. They cleared Hollange and Timtange, six and eight miles below Bastogne, entered Lultzhausen 10 miles to the southeast and fought German infantry and tanks in Eschdorf, 12 miles southeast of Bastogne.

This northward thrust was rolling over high hills carpeted with woods.

Farther southeast of Bastogne, Americans battled strong Nazi units in Kehmen and Ringel, five and seven miles from Diekirch. High ground was won below Diekirch, and a German attack was repulsed near Haller, midway between Diekirch and Echternach 12 miles farther southeast. Waldbillig six miles from Echternach fell. Gains were scored below Echternach.

DEC 28 1944

Aerial Action

For the fifth straight day the Allied aerial whiplash fell across the German offensive path. Heavy bombers from Britain and the armor-busting Tactical Air Forces, British and American, based on the continent, participated.

German patrols were active on the Holland front again yesterday.

Below Duren, Americans cleared the town of Winden.

Doughboys cleaned up an enemy pocket near La Gleize in the Stavelot area, taking 150 prisoners, and seizing 38 tanks, 70 half-track vehicles, eight armored cars and six self-propelled guns, the communique said.

On the Seventh Army front, slight gains were made in forested areas west of Wissembourg, and in the high Southern Vosges an enemy raid on Thann was repulsed.

In a front dispatch last night Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher said there were growing indications that the German High Command had decided to risk the heart of the German Army in this Western front effort. He added:

"The next few days should tell the story, with strong prospects for the greatest battle of the Second World War in the offing."

This dispatch said that in general the northern flank is being held, forcing the German commander even farther west in his efforts to turn toward Liege and Antwerp.

On the basis of latest battlefield information available at Supreme Headquarters yesterday—information that was then 48 hours old—German armor and infantry had smashed 11 miles deeper into Belgium and were within four miles of the Meuse River in the area south of Namur. So far as was known here, the Germans had not reached the Meuse last night.

Paris underwent an air raid last night. The bombing was done by a few planes which coasted in over the French capital to drop their loads.

While the planes were not identified, the fact there was only a small number virtually precluded any possibility the bombs might have been dropped by accident from Allied aircraft.

Panzer Armies

Von Rundstedt is employing at least two and possibly three armies in the current German counter-offensive. He has thrown into battle the reorganized Seventh Army, which was badly cut up by the Allies in Normandy, and the Fifth Panzer Army, and probably has another Panzer Army at his disposal.

The commander of the Fifth Panzer Army is Gen. Hasso Eccard von Manteuffel—the devil man—a typical Junker officer from a Pomeranian family whose main business for centuries has been the waging of war.

"Von Rundstedt still has substantial reserves, reserves that two months ago were thought impossible by most Allied military experts," Gallagher said, adding:

"If he commits them either in the break through or in a new attempt further north, the struggle on the Western Front will have a life or death aspect. It will strain every Allied resource.

"But if Von Runstedt fails, the German Army will be in exactly the same crippled condition it was after the abortive Paris offensive of 1918."

Patrol Activity

This dispatch reported a sharp increase in patrol activity all the way from Monschau to the Canadian Army positions in the Netherlands, and said that American combat forces had chopped off at least two of Von Runstedt's extended western prongs but the German commander threw in two more in their place.

(Berlin broadcasts claimed that American commanders have sent several divisions of the U. S. Ninth Army into the First Army area to join up with units rushed from the American Third and Seventh armies.

More than twenty German divisions, including ten armored or armored-infantry units, were reported to have been thrown into the winter counter-offensive. Associated Press Correspondent Hal Boyle said the Germans in no battle had been able to summon the initial force with which it lashed out on December 16.

"Buttered thinly over a wide area, Marshal Von Rundstedt's Panzers and Volksgrenadiers are facing critical gas and food shortages as well as the problem of solidifying and also of constricting the American battleline," he said.

Heroic Bastogne Garrison Relieved by American Force

By WES GALLAGHER

STAVELOT SECTOR, Belgium, Dec. 27—(AP) American tanks and infantry forces, driving hard from the south, dealt Field Marshal Von Rundstedt the greatest blow to date today when they relieved the besieged garrison at Bastogne and punched a deep salient into the German southern flank.

The American troops at Bastogne had been encircled for more than a week and were supplied by air. Today they reported destroying 32 German tanks in repulsing two attacks. Earlier in the week they destroyed 55, making a total of 87 destroyed by this garrison alone.

Up to the time of being relieved, the Bastogne units were the last important force fighting behind German lines. At times the garrison fought in a perimeter of less than 2,000 yards diameter, absorbing the concentrated fire of German guns and hurling back tanks.

Von Rundstedt's entire southern flank appeared to be sagging under the American onslaught as gains of two to four miles were registered. Unless he can quickly halt the American advance, particularly in the Bastogne sector, the German Marshal's Belgium bulge will be in a critical condition.

Nazi losses continued to mount during the day, with partial reports recording destruction of more than 250 tanks by American ground forces while Von Rundstedt was suffering his first serious setback on one sector of the front since the offensive began.

It was estimated that the Germans are using more than 2000 spies in American uniforms in this drive. Some of these have been dropped behind American lines by parachute. Others have been infiltrating in American jeeps and equipment. It is the largest known espionage assault of this type in this war.

Although von Rundstedt has been definitely checked and hurled back in the breakthrough area, other sectors of the front showed potentialities in his favor. North of Linnich the Germans have built two new bridges across the Roer River. At the same time by controlling dams along the river they have dropped the height of the water two and a half feet in 24 hours which would make crossing easier. There seems to be little doubt that von Rundstedt has new blows up his military sleeve.

German losses of more than 250 tanks did not include those lost to air attack. The 29th Tactical Command alone reported damaging or destroying 45 tanks in yesterday's operations and more today. To escape the air attack the Germans are hiding in the Ardennes woods in the daytime.

Foe Loses Initiative

ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Dec. 27 (AP)—Field Marshal von Rundstedt has lost the initiative in his great all-out gamble to smash through the American front, but the Allies by no means have regained it and today much depends upon the weather.

As the situation has eased appreciably and now may be regarded as past the crisis stage, it was disclosed that von Rundstedt already had thrown in a vast majority of the German reserves that had been carefully hoarded. More than twenty German divisions, including ten Panzer or Panzer Grenadier divisions, have been injected into the flaming battle.

The latest news from the front, detailing information thirty-six hours old under the censorship ban, told of the big battle in the areas of Hotton, Marche and Rochefort. Results were not immediately disclosed.

The Allies now have not only definitely blunted the edge of the German offensive, but have inflicted staggering losses on the enemy in both material and manpower.

General Eisenhower's success in smothering the German campaign is attributed to the resourcefulness and gallantry of American infantry in preventing the front from disintegrating under the initial sledgehammer blows of the Germans and the strength of the Allied hinge around Stavelot, where American troops refused to yield. The performance of the American infantry was remarkable.

Von Rundstedt's next move may not be dictated by purely military appreciation of the situation because he has a political pistol in his back. One interpretation of this might well be that the Nazi Field Marshal, instead of accepting the hard reality of his position, will cast military prudence to the winds and attempt to lunge forward with suicidal fury.

GERMANS REPORT RETREAT ON FLANK

Nazi Troops Near Luxembourg Border Back in Siegfried Line Posts, Berlin Says

FOE SEES BRITISH IN FIGHT

One of Montgomery's Division Is Striking With Americans on North, Enemy Asserts

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The German radio said tonight that Allied troops were striking violently at both the northern and southern flanks of Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's offensive and that at some places near the frontier of Luxembourg German troops had withdrawn to outposts of the Siegfried Line. Berlin asserted that "American attempts to push on failed."

"Battles of the greatest scale" were being fought on both flanks, Berlin said.

"Practically the whole American Third Army" was attacking in the southern sector of the Germans' salient, according to the enemy broadcast, which asserted that Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton was aiming a thrust in the vicinity of Vaux-les-Rosières, nine miles southwest of Bastogne, in an effort "to corner German divisions between the Salme and Ourthe Rivers."

Berlin, which previously had based propaganda on claims that British troops were not taking part in the defense against von Rundstedt, asserted tonight that one of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's crack divisions had joined with "still another American division withdrawn from the Aachen front in making particularly grim counter-attacks" in the north.

The enemy broadcast said the Allied goal on the north of the salient was "to crush the German flank with massed forces and artillery near Grandmesnil."

An earlier German radio comment said the campaign was becoming "a battle of attrition."

Sertorius Uncertain as to "Phase"

Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, Berlin's military commentator on the radio, said:

"It remains to be seen whether the very bitter fighting is approaching a quick climax or whether it is gliding into an intermediate phase. The Allied counter-attacks already are more methodic. They are clearly directed at exerting pressure on the German wedge from both sides and make it collapse."

He contended that General Eisenhower still was "improvising" his defense, but "probably will use up a large part of the forces he has assembled to stem the German drive by flank attacks."

"This may account for the temporary slackening of Allied attacks in the area of Elsborn and Stavelot against the northern flank of the German offensive," said the Nazi broadcaster.

Sertorius said Allied pressure on the German southern flank had increased during the Christmas holidays and was very strong in central Luxembourg and the areas north of Arlon.

"General Patton, who is in command there, is making the strongest efforts to break through to Bastogne to relieve the American force encircled there," Sertorius went on. "It is interesting that the Americans are using the same tactics the Germans have been using in defense against the Allied and Russian offensives—the so-called hedgehog tactics."

The German Transocean news agency said that "the magnetic power of the winter battle is especially noticeable in the Aachen area where the positions of the United States Ninth Army have been taken over by British formations under command of Field Marshal Montgomery."

"In the course of regroupings going on behind the Allied lines the released Americans may soon reappear on the winter battlefield," the Nazi agency added.

Both the German High Command communiqué and Berlin radi reports talked of vast armored battles that the enemy said were in progress in the area north of La Roche in Belgium.

The German High Command asserted a major tank battle had broken out yesterday north of La Roche, and that seventy tanks of the United States Third and Seventh Armored Divisions had been knocked out. There was no Allied report of such a tank engagement, which the German account would put along the northern rim of the Germans' salient between Marche and Stavelot.

PANZER TROOPS BURNING TANKS FLIERS REPORT

By HAL BOYLE

WITH THE AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM, Dec. 27—(AP) Returning fliers reported today that German panzers were setting fire to their vehicles in the Celles area at the point of the Nazis' deepest penetration toward the Meuse river.

American armor in heavy clashes with Nazi tank columns in the vicinity of Celles knocked out numerous enemy tanks, and took more than 450 prisoners in cleaning up Celles alone.

As American fighter bombers swept over German columns for the fourth straight day, harassed panzers on the Marcse-Manhay line—north shoulder of the German salient—dropped their offensive action and began to dig in defensively.

This put them in a most unfavorable role, since armor never has been able to "dig in" successfully against determined infantry attack.

Although ground officers declined to draw any conclusions from air reports of the self-destruction by the Nazis' most advanced elements, one staff officer commented:

"This first phase of the German drive is finished. It has been a failure because of Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's failure to carry out the announced plan. But critical days and much fighting still lie ahead."

After 11 days of ceaseless fighting, Von Rundstedt's forward troops are depleted and so weary they seem unable to press further attacks. Prisoners all tell the same story of being without food for one or two days and complain about "the difficult supply situation."

Although evidence is mounting that the Germans' grand offensive is stalled, the enemy might change the situation by hurling in fresh reserves—if any are available—or worsening weather might rob the Allies of the advantages given them by great air superiority.

BOMBINGS FORCE FOE TO SHIFT SUPPLY LINE

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Aerial photos taken in the last four days show that the northern German rail system has been disrupted by Allied strategic bombings and the southern routes are packed with shunted rolling stock in quantities never before equaled, the United States Strategic Air Force in Europe announced today.

The main rail line from Berlin and central Germany to the western front is the northern route through Hanover, feeding into and through Germany's largest yards at Hamm and at Muenster and Osnabrueck.

The Royal Air Force and the American Eighth Air Force concentrated on these three yards and, as a result of the ripping-up of sidings, main lines and smashing of repair facilities, military traffic necessarily has been diverted to another line running south through Kassel and Frankfort-on-the-Main.

The pictures show the yards at Hamm, Muenster and Osnabrueck practically empty.

"To block traffic along the alternate routes to the south, the yards at Giessen, Hanau, Frankfort and Mainz and elsewhere along the route have been bombed frequently," the announcement said.

One officer of the Eighth Air Force said:

"Pictures taken Christmas showed the Kassel yards to the north jammed nearly to capacity and other yards packed with more rolling stock than photo interpretation had ever seen at these points. This indicates that traffic headed for the battlefront had been sidetracked and other trains had been backed up into sidings at these yards, pending repair or clearance of the line."

FORCE OF NAZIS BLOW SURPRISED HIGH OFFICIALS

By JAMES M. LONG

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Dec. 27—(AP) An outright underestimation of German striking power coupled with either a failure to learn of, or to appreciate, von Rundstedt's mobile reserve movements behind the lines, appeared more than ever today to be the major factors behind this first serious Allied setback since the successful invasion of Europe.

That would seem to place the responsibility for the Nazi breakthrough high up in the Allied staff and to suggest that any important shakeup in the command—none has materialized as yet—would amount to finding a scapegoat.

However, the forthright Allied battle boss, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, has shown no inclination to hunt for scapegoats, either here, or previously during his command of the Mediterranean theater. In this respect it can be recalled that the Allied commander displayed square-tisted directness in supporting his generals right down the line from Field Marshal Montgomery on back in the days when slow progress around Caen brought some public criticism of his British colleague.

Some Troops Shifted

Obviously, as a result of the Nazi counter-attack, certain Allied troop-shifts have been made. When the enemy broke through his forces were running wild against almost no opposition. Now they are meeting a real opponent. German patrols have been probing our lines from the Maas to the Rhine in an effort to find out how the Allied lines were bolstered. But there is no intention here to hand them such vital information on a platter.

It is clear, however, that the Allied command was caught napping more by the force of von Rundstedt's blow than by the fact one was delivered. All of which makes it seem quite certain that someone somewhere made the grievous military mistake of underestimating the enemy.

Headquarters correspondents were told before the break-through occurred that sometime during the winter the Germans might be expected to try a counter-offensive. And one of the areas where such a Nazi blow was regarded as likely was through the Ardennes Forest region into Luxembourg and Belgium. Despite this, von Rundstedt pulled one army out of the line, moved at least one and possibly two others up from reserve, and flung them into a gaping front zone where the doughboy screen was so thin it obviously never was intended for halting anything in real strength.

(Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher with the U. S. forces in Belgium, reported in a delayed dispatch today that prior to the German break-through newsmen at the front had been told that the Ardennes forest was not a good spot for a winter offensive and that it was being used as a sort of "rest sector" by both the Germans and Americans.

Underestimated Reserves

(American officials, who believed the morale of Nazi troops was extremely low, thought von Rundstedt had practically no strategic reserves left for a major attack and that the German plan was to fight a defensive action before the Ruhr valley, Gallagher reported. He said officials also claimed the Luftwaffe was virtually non-existent and that the enemy's gasoline shortage and lack of war material precluded any large-scale offensive.

(Gallagher pointed out this was not the first time U. S. officers had failed to judge correctly the power of the Wehrmacht. A faulty estimate was made of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces in Tunisia in February, 1942, just before the Germans came out of Kaid Pass, he cabled, adding that the enemy potential also was underestimated along the Rapido river and at the Anzio bridgehead in Italy.

(In a dispatch from Washington today Associated Press Writer John M. Hightower said military strategists there are now tentatively adding three to six months to their estimates of a date for a European victory.

(At first, Allied generals thought the European phase would end last Fall, Hightowre reported. Later on they set the date at the year's end, then moved it ahead to spring. Now they talk of next fall or winter.)

Although von Rundstedt's breakthrough achieved tactical surprise it came in a region where Allied troops could best afford to lose ground. There are no major cities in central Belgium, and as long as Allied flanks to the north and south hold firm the enemy thrust can offer no great threat to the Allied source of supplies.

Furthermore, the Luftwaffe's-surprising new challenge may react to Allied advantage. Of an estimated 600 to 700 Nazi planes which took to the air yesterday, 200 were destroyed.

ALLIED KNOWLEDGE GETS ERROR DEBIT

Some Misconceptions Laid to Our Intelligence of German Plans and the Terrain

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Correspondent

WITH UNITED STATES FORCES in Belgium, Dec. 24 (Delayed)—An error in the Allied intelligence service must share a large part of the blame for Field Marshal Karl von Runstedt's break-through on the Western Front.

It is now apparent that the Allied High Command intelligence not only failed to detect the build-up by von Runstedt on the weak spot of the front, but also—not for the first time in this war—underestimated German military strength and ability.

Some Official Opinions

Up to the day of the break-through official opinions as given out to correspondents were that:

(1) The Ardennes Forest was not an advantageous spot in which to launch a winter offensive, and it was being used as a sort of "rest sector" by both the Germans and Americans.

(2) That von Rundstedt had practically no strategic reserve troops to use in a big offensive.

(3) That the morale of the German soldier was extremely low.

(4) That the main German High Command aim was to fight a defensive action before the Ruhr Valley.

(5) That the German air force virtually was non-existent.

(6) That the Germans' shortage of gasoline and war materials precluded any large-scale effort.

Yet von Rundstedt has been able to throw elements of many divisions into this battle while holding the rest of the Western Front and is still known to have a powerful punch left. There may be some shortage of gasoline, but it is not yet apparent, and the Luftwaffe has put forth its greatest effort since 1940.

[A dispatch dated Dec. 26 from another Associated Press correspondent, Hal Boyle, at United States First Army Headquarters, said German tanks were beginning to run out of fuel as a result of Allied air pounding of German forward elements and supply columns. Combat commanders reported finding numerous German vehicles abandoned in Belgium after running out of fuel.]

It is not the first time that Allied military leaders have underestimated German strength. A similar estimate was made of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's condition in February, 1943, just before he came out of Faid Pass, in southern Tunisia. German capabilities also were underestimated in Italy along the Rapido River and at the start of the Anzio beachhead.

The best estimate of German capabilities was made for the original D-day landings in Normandy, when German strength coincided closely with the original Allied appraisal. In the over-all picture, however, many American and British military men believed Germany could not last out this year as a fighting nation.

This overoptimism among officials and this underestimation of Germany were the very things many of these same military leaders had warned against in messages to the people of America and Britain.

Although von Rundstedt's break-through achieved tactical surprise and made rapid progress, it was in territory where the Allies best could afford to lose ground. There are no major cities in central Belgium, and with Antwerp open, no great threat is offered to the Allied source of supplies, so long as the southern and northern flanks hold von Rundstedt's drive canalized into the area directly west and barren of military objectives of major importance.

At the same time, the German army has struck out its neck where Gen. Eisenhower's forces can put a major military ax to it. Should the flanks collapse, however, the military situation would take on a much graver aspect. The German air force's surprising challenge also may react to the Allies' advantage. Out of an estimated 600 to 700 planes put in the air by the Germans yesterday, 200 were shot down.

3 AMERICANS HEAR FOE KILL CAPTIVES

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS ON THE SIEGFRIED LINE, Dec. 26 (Delayed) (AP)—Thirty American Medical Corps men, caught in a street battle for a small town, said today that they had hidden for twelve hours in a church and listened to German Elite Guard and armored troops outside shoot captured American drivers of trucks and jeeps.

T/4 Fred Cannon of Thornton, Tex.; Sgt. James W. Colella of Rochester, Pa., and T/4 James H. Bogley of San Marcus, Tex., told the story.

"We had charge of three four-man litter squads," Sergeant Colella said. "We had withdrawn six miles from another village and hid in this church when the Germans came in and began shooting up the town.

"We could hear the Nazi tank commander stopping our trucks and ordering the drivers and helpers out. Then we would hear shots. The next morning we saw the bodies of our men, lying where they had been killed."

One American firing a Browning automatic rifle, Staff Sgt. Jonathan L. McKinney of Bokoshe, Okla., helped to harass and hold back the enemy infantry and tank men for several hours.

During the firing one German came to the church door in the darkness and called: "Is everything all right?" One of the corpsmen, who spoke German, quickly answered: "Everything is all right." Satisfied, the German left.

Besides worrying about their possible death at the hands of SS troops, the medics also had to sweat out an artillery barrage.

By morning some of the men—as medics they carried no arms—were considering coming out of the church under a white flag, but they were fearful that they might meet the same fate dealt during the night to the helpless truck and jeep drivers. While still debating what to do they saw some doughboys skirmishing in the streets.

"We knew then that part of the town was still in American hands and we found our way out," Colella said.

Nazi Pace In West Slackening, Reds Say

Moscow, Dec. 27—(AP)—The Russian Army newspaper Red Star declared today 'General Eisenhower's successes against the German offensive have compelled the enemy to lower their voices."

'Allied troops are creating conditions for isolating the German group from the main base," the article continued. 'It is surprising there are some foreign press observers who have compared the German breakthrough on a relatively narrow front with the German offensive in the west in 1940.

'Reports indicate a slackening of German operations. The raid by 3,000 Americans planes an enemy communications in Western Germany should be noted."

Uneasy and Ominous Quiet Overhangs Western Front

By KENNETH L. DIXON.

On the Western Front, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—An atmosphere of comparative quiet, uneasy and almost ominous, overhung the western front today. Each side pawed tentatively and ineffectually at the other's defenses.

Discounting the possibility of a calm before the storm as the import of this freakish period, the Allied position seems to be the most cheerful since Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt uncorked his counter-stroke ten days ago. Both sides of the German penetration corridor have been generally solidified by the Allies.

A staff officer said that all enemy progress northward from the deepest point had been "greatly slowed, if not fully stopped," despite repeated powerful German thrusts toward vital Allied supply lines and dumps. Despite the forty-eight-hour time lag in official news, it was apparent yesterday to this reporter, circling the rim of the enemy's penetration into Belgium, that both American and German armored thrusts in recent days have been comparatively costly and unsuccessful.

The doughboy defenders obviously felt that the situation there was much better, despite continued bitter, localized battles, but sporadic outbursts of activity elsewhere served as a reminder that the throbbing bulge in Belgium is only one part of the main Western Front.

Many enemy reconnaissance planes studied front-line positions yesterday and last night. An artillery exchange was the only major action yesterday at the northern hinge of the enemy's penetration.

Shelling near the western tip of the bulge resulted in the destruction of three enemy tanks and scores of German infantrymen. Seven other participating tanks were pinched off and are being moppeed up.

An enemy thrust gained 2,000 yards in a nearby sector, but subsequently was shoved back by an American armored counter-push. At least two of our attempted armored penetrations resulted in losses of some men and much of the equipment involved. Despite the relative failure of such sorties, the generally tense atmosphere seemed to suggest a major blow at any time, anywhere along the western front.

400 AMERICANS ESCAPE FOE'S TRAP IN BELGIUM

EAST OF MARCHE, Belgium, Dec. 28 (Delayed) (AP)—Their faces blacked, their helmets and armored vehicles left behind, the fighting 400 of "Hogan's task force" came out of the woods through ten miles of enemy lines this morning.

Isolated and encircled, miles from any help, they had been given up as lost after six days. But, of slightly more than 400 men who struck across No Man's Land, all but about twenty returned, including their commander, Lieut. Col. Samuel M. Hogan of Pharr, Tex.

They had penetrated enemy lines more than thirty miles and had been trapped by three armored divisions outnumbering them by hundreds to one. They had fought such a mobile, elagey battle that they kept the enemy confused and at bay on all sides until their gasoline ran out.

The 400 dug into a village high point when their own cause seemed hopeless and served so effectively by radio as "forward observers," right in the midst of the enemy, that they called artillery shots that broke up a major enemy counter-attack along the whole sector. They refused to surrender, although they appeared to face almost certain annihilation.

Then they damaged their armored vehicles, rendering them useless to the enemy, and made a bold Christmas night escape afoot, slipping out of a trap just as the Germans snapped the teeth shut with an artillery and mortar barrage and an infantry attack. The Americans hiked over a hilly timbered hogback ten miles to safety.

Leading a swift striking column of approximately sixty vehicles, the colorful Texan jumped off from a little town near here at 2:30 P. M. on December 20. Striking southeast, the column rolled thirty miles during the next two hours. Meanwhile, two German panzer divisions were moving northwest on both sides of them, but nobody knew it then.

Hit Nazi Road Block.

Suddenly at dusk they ran into a German road block and had their first battle against anti-tank guns and small arms fire. They were caught on a narrow strip of road between a river and a mountain precipice and were unable to maneuver or use more than one tank at a time.

That night they took the road block, but the next day the enemy attacked with armor and infantry, the latter shooting down on them from mountain positions.

They finally were forced to pull back about 400 yards.

Subsequently by feeling their way to the north and south they ran head-on into overpowering enemy forces. From their headquarters thirty miles away they received orders to pull back at least a short distance.

New Yorker Goes With Hogan.

Meanwhile, Col. Hogan decided to try to make a run to headquarters for a conference with division officers. He set out in two jeeps with several other officers and men, including Private Philip de Orio of New York city, the Colonel's combination orderly, bodyguard and scout.

They were ambushed and lost the jeeps. Col. Hogan and Private de Orio got away in one direction and finally rejoined the task force. Two other officers got away in another direction, slipping through the German lines to safety two days before the rest of their outfit returned.

Back with the task force Major William S. Walker of Winnfield, La., former executive officer, was now in charge. Carefully conserving vital gasoline, he continued attempting to strike through the enemy's paralleling lines, but each effort drew strong anti-tank, artillery and mortar fire from both the front and flanks.

"Finally we closed up for the night there on the road, with both ends digging in," Major Walker said.

DEC 28 1944

Battle Fore and Aft.

Beating off attacks through the night they were ready to attack again with the first light of dawn on December 22 when they received another radioed message from headquarters to start fighting their way back to our lines. The strength of the German armored divisions had been partly learned, and little hope was held for their getting back.

Literally firing both to the front and rear, Major Walker directed the task force through a continuous gantlet on the road back only to run into a large enemy infantry force. As the enemy trap was beginning to close, Major Walker spotted a village on a high and fairly barren hilltop and his force pushed through the Germans to reach the town. Col. Hogan had reached the town four hours earlier.

Using the last of their gasoline the men moved their tanks, half-tracks and artillery pieces to seven roads leading out of town and set up roadblocks.

During the next two days and nights, still ten miles from their own lines, they beat off attack after attack, radioed back information on enemy armored movements and had the satisfaction of watching American artillery knock out enemy tanks and other vehicles.

Planes Seek to Aid Them.

On the afternoon of December 23 courageous pilots in unarmed C-47's flew supplies in after the artillery unsuccessfully fired medical supplies for them.

But two of the twenty cargo planes were shot down and the supplies parachuted out of their reach. Another attempt to fly supplies in the next day failed.

On the morning of December 24 three German officers appeared in halftracks bearing a white flag and told Col. Hogan his position was hopeless. They nodded and saluted when the Texan said his force had orders to fight till the end.

"It looked like a pretty bleak Christmas Eve," Capt. Cardon said.

On Christmas Day the force was ordered to try and make a run for it. The men blackened their faces, removed their helmets to confuse enemy patrols and at 4:30 P. M. started damaging their armored vehicles. They left a medical captain and three medical aid men who insisted on remaining to attend a dozen wounded.

For the next thirteen hours Col. Hogan's men hiked over terrain so rugged the Germans hadn't bothered to man it heavily. At 7 A. M. the next day they began to show up opposite the American lines. A few of them were arrested and held briefly as prisoners of war by suspicious doughboys and one was slain accidentally by a sentry. The last man to return was Col. Hogan.

"My feet got to hurting me," grinned the Texan when he showed up at mid-day, "so I just sat down and rested awhile."

BOMB BLAST FATAL TO CORRESPONDENT

GOVT

In Belgium, Dec. 23 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Jack Frankish, 30-year-old United Press war correspondent, and three Belgian soldiers were killed by enemy air action today. All were victims of a bomb from one of four dive-bombers which raided a hotel in which some American newspaper men were quartered temporarily.

[The raid was described yesterday in a dispatch by W. C. Heinz, New York Sun correspondent.]

After a single bomb dropped, Mr. Frankish ran out of the hotel entrance to get the story of the raid. As he stepped out on the gravel path, he saw a second bomb falling from one of the planes, which was making a return sweep. Mr. Frankish turned and tried to get back into the hotel, but the bomb landed on the pathway within 18 feet of him. A fragment struck him in the back, killing him instantly.

Three Belgian soldiers near by also were killed and a fourth was injured critically. As other correspondents dived for shelter, two more Nazi planes swept down and dropped two more bombs. Bullets from their strafing guns set two trucks afire. Several correspondents received superficial wounds. These included George Hicks, of the Blue network; Harold Denny of the New York Times, and Neil Sullivan, a Pathe News camera man. The newspaper men were slightly cut on the hands or face.

The United Press man had been covering front-line troops for several months.

Mr. Frankish was one of the first American correspondents to enter Germany, crossing the border with the troops on September 13, in the Aachen Forest, the United Press said. His wife, Mrs. Barbara Frankish, and her two children, Gail and Brian, are living in El Centro, Cal. The correspondent formerly served with the United Press in Philadelphia, Cleveland, Columbus, Miami and New York.

NAZIS SENT TO KILL HIGH U. S. OFFICERS

London, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—The American Army newspaper Stars and Stripes declared today that a well organized "task force of German parachutists clad in American uniforms had been dropped behind the Allied lines on the Western front in an attempt to kill high ranking officers.

The parachutists were equipped with small vials of sulphuric acid, fitted inside match boxes and designed to be thrown in the face of any person stopping them for questioning, the paper said.

It asserted that the parachutists were equal in number to about two battalions, and had been specially trained for sabotage work in connection with the present German offensive. The Germans were said to have taken the uniforms from captured American troops who later were shot.

BELGIAN PREMIER HAS REASSURANCES

DEC 28 1944

London, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Premier Hubert Pierlot told the Belgian Parliament today that "I have it on the highest Allied authority that the situation at the front is well in hand," the Brussels radio reported. "The enemy's advance is being held and Allied counter-attacks are proceeding successfully from both the south and west," the Premier said. "I have all authority to tell you there is no reason for anxiety."

Nazis Boast of Atomic Bomb

Report Using It at St. Vith Despite Allied "Monopoly" Claim

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP).—A German radio station which has been trying to panic the Belgians ever since the opening of the Nazi offensive said today that Field Marshal von Rundstedt's forces are using an atomic bomb in the new attack.

DAY

"This is the type of bomb on which the Allies had claimed to have a monopoly," the announcer said. "The Germans used it at St. Vith. Wherever such a missile is dropped, all animals and plants cease to exist. Huge areas of land are scorched, woods are consumed and any human being caught in the hurricane is shattered to smithereens."

CLERKS, MECHANICS FIGHT NAZI TROOPS

WITH AMERICAN FORCES, Dec. 27—(AP) "Those guys were never trained for that sort of thing, but they fought like hell," Capt. William Rodman, a young tank officer from 5[illegible] Manor road, Wynnewood, Pa., said today.

He was telling about a handful of clerks and military police and mechanics who fought off a whole battalion of Germans for four days at a tiny but valuable village northeast of Marche.

They were relieved two days ago after they had killed more than 40 Germans without the loss of a single one of their own little band.

This little unit of 90 men, holding their little group without even an order to hold it, also knocked out nine of ten tanks they saw and destroyed three armored cars and one American jeep which the Germans were using.

The reason this town, important because of its roads, was held so lightly was that it was supposed to be in the rear area.

"We didn't know the Germans were within 50 miles," said Rodman, "until a mortar shell landed in our midst and mortar fire kept coming for a solid hour.

"We had rifles and machine-guns and bazookas. The battle lasted from 8:30 a.m. Dec. 21 until late Christmas eve. On the morning of Dec. 24, five Sherman tanks and two platoons of paratroops broke through to us, but we had fired a-plenty before they arrived."

The armored divisions are divided into parts called "combat command A, combat command B" and so forth, or "CCA, CCB." This little group now has been christened "CCM" for "cooks, clerks and mechanics."

No Coward's Death Mars U. S. in France

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 27—Since D-day June 6 not a single American soldier in France has been executed for cowardice, desertion in the face of the enemy or any other military offense for which death is mandatory, it was disclosed today.

NIGHT

This is a record believed to be unparalleled in modern war and for a theatre where hundreds of thousands of troops are under arms.

The records show only sixteen instances of capital punishment in which final action has been taken. Four were for murder and twelve for rape.

Lay Mile of Phone Wire in One Minut

WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Dec. 27 (AP)—Sergeant John H. Harris of Cedartown, Ga., and his helper, Private First Class Kelly Jennings of Providence, Ky., don't know what the speed record is for laying telephone wire, but they claim it.

Recently in unreeling wire from their truck across a stretch of road under mortar fire they rolled off one mile in one minute.

"NUTS" IS REPLY TO SURRENDER DEMAND

WITH AMERICAN FORCES, Dec. 27 (AP)—A German commander who should have known better sent an ultimatum to surrender to the Americans beseiged in the Bastogne pocket.

The reply he got back was quick, short and eloquent.

NIGHT

"Nuts," answered an American officer commanding one of the surrounded units.

The German commander's ultimatum was dated Dec. 22, and gave the Americans two hours in which to reply. He got it in 30 minutes.

DRIVE OFF ATTACK BY JAP FLEET

DEC 28 1944

Battle Force Routed, 3 Destroyers Sunk Off Mindoro

BY C. YATES McDANIEL

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Thursday, Dec. 28 (AP)—The battle for the central Philippines flared into action the night of Dec. 26 when a Japanese battle task force steamed in from the China Sea and subjected the 11-day-old American positions on Mindoro Island to what General Douglas MacArthur's communique described as "fruitless and inaccurate shelling."

DEC 28 1944

DRIVEN OFF

American planes, Mitchells and Thunderbolts, and navy P-T boats drove off the enemy ships.

The communique said three of the six enemy destroyers in the shelling force were sunk and a battleship and cruiser fled with the remaining three destroyers after being damaged.

This belated enemy reaction to the virtually unopposed American occupation of Mindoro Dec. 15 was discovered at dusk Dec. 26.

The American bombers and fighters took off from newly-constructed air strips on Mindoro to launch their vicious attack on the enemy warships, steaming in from the direction of the setting sun.

Coast Shelled

Despite the air attacks, the Japanese force held to its course and early night brought the ships off southwest Mindoro. They then shelled the coast.

Until shortly before midnight, the crash of exploding American bombs and the rattle of small guns from the torpedo boats and low level strafers mingled with salvos from the Japanese warships.

The planes and PT boats pursued the enemy in moonlight and saw at least two of the Japanese destroyers burning from direct hits.

Pilots took up the chase yesterday morning, delivering final assaults. No details of this followup attacks were available.

The remaining Japanese ships were racing at 25 knots westward into the China Sea.

Ground Positions Hit

Unofficial reports from Mindoro indicated Japanese planes attacked American ground positions at the height of the fight off the coast. Air raids followed a light attack the night of Dec. 25-26, which the communique said caused only minor damage.

The Japanese offered only ineffectual air opposition and no ground resistance to the landing on Mindoro Dec. 15 by American troops under Brigadier-General William C. Dunckel.

Small and scattered Japanese units have kept well outside the American perimeter and have made no attempt to interfere with construction of an airfield by Australian and American engineers.

The airfield at San Jose is 155 miles from Manila. Mindoro is only eight and one-half miles at its closest point from the enemy communication centre of Batangas in southwestern Luzon.

Clark Field Again Raided

While the planes and torpedo boats were fighting off the warships, American Liberators again blasted Luzon's key Clark Field for the fifth consecutive day. Thirteen of 20 Japanese interceptor planes were shot down.

An additional 827 Japanese were killed in the mopping up of shattered enemy units on the west side of Leyte Island, where small pockets are still resisting.

The communique said the pockets of resistance in Leyte were in the mountains northeast of Palompon. American capture of Palompon on Christmas Day closed the last escape port of the remaining Japanese.

Enemy planes attacked the Tacloban area of Leyte and caused minor damage.

One American plane was lost in the latest raid on Clark Field.

The total of enemy planes shot down or damaged in the last three days over Clark Field was brought to 124, the communique said, by an additional 39 destroyed or damaged Dec. 25 and not previously reported.

American patrol planes harassed airdromes on the northwest coast of Luzon, sank a 1000-ton freighter and shot down two enemy float planes.

RUSSIANS SPLIT NAZI DEFENDERS

DEC 28 1944

House to House Fighting Now Raging on Western Edge of Budapest.

LONDON, Thursday, Dec. 28—(AP)Russian troops, in a bold crossing of the eastern branch of the Danube north of Budapest, split the German-Hungarian forces defending the city and are fighting house-to-house on its western edges, Moscow announced last night.

The crossing of the river, which resulted in the Soviet capture of Szentendrei island, was accompanied by the killing of more than 3,000 Germans and Hungarians and destruction and capture of many tanks and self-propelled guns, the Russians reported.

German losses in Budapest and its suburbs also were heavy as Soviet soldiers carried house after house and quarter after quarter by storm," they added.

Part of the divided enemy garrison has been driven into the mountainous and wooded area in the Danube bend north of Budapest, while the remainder is tightly clenched inside the capital.

The Russian forces on Szentendrei island established contact with their comrades who had moved up to the river's west bank.

Other Red army troops stormed into Budapest from the south, west and east, the communique reporting numerous new penetrations of the city limits, including capture of the Kelenfold district in the southwest.

In a strong, fresh thrust northwest of Budapest toward the Austrian border, Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Soviet forces forged up the Budapest-Vienna railroad and captured Felsogalia, 24 miles west of the Hungarian capital, and took Sutlo and Nyergesufalu, both on the Danube where it turns westward.

Thus, the armies of Tolbukhin and Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky both had reached points approximately 96 miles from Vienna and 65 from Bratislava, Tolbukhin from the south and Malinovsky from the east. Malinovsky's troops today continued their preparations to storm the Hron (Garam) river line guarding Austria, as the communique reported a drive to clear the Germans from the area between the Hron and the Ipoly rivers in Czechoslovakia north of the Danube.

The communique, however, was more detailed in listing successes in the storming of Budapest. It said Soviet assault units captured four fortified suburbs on the east bank of the river and two on the west bank, in addition to entering Kelenfold.

After the capture of Szentendrei island, which begins just above the city limits and extends 13 miles northward, the communique related, Malinovsky's forces got in communication with Tolbukhin's which had just broken into Szentendre, seven miles north of Budapest on the west bank of the Danube.

"Thus, in the course of defensive battles our troops have split the encircled enemy grouping in half," it said, "one half of which has been driven into the mountainous and forested terrain in the Danube bend north of Budapest, while the other half has been caught in a vise in the city of Budapest."

The translation of the broadcast communique by the Soviet monitor here used the word "half," while other translations used "part" instead and it was uncertain whether the separated enemy forces were of equal strength. Their total number, originally estimated at 100,000, is unknown but is said by Moscow to be "large."

Will Speed Victory

Nevertheless, the splitting of the defenders will speed the Russian program of annihilation.

The Germans and Hungarians caught north and northeast of the city are hemmed in by the broad Danube to the east and north on one side and by elements of Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine army on the other. The latter forces are deployed along a line circling from Szentendre to the south bank of the Danube west of the river's bend.

The communique also reported capture of eight places east of Ipoly Sag (Sahy) in southern Czechoslovakia, indicating that Malinovsky was driving on the border rail hub of Losonc from the west as well as the east.

The Tolbukhin drive north and west of Budapest brought the capture of 14 towns and communities, it added.

With Budapest completely surrounded and its garrison split, the once beautiful city on the Danube, shaken by bombs and shellfire from the Russians and the dynamite of German demolition squads, seemed destined to fall into Soviet hands soon.

A correspondent of the German Transocean News Agency reported today that Soviet tanks were in Ujpest, a suburb on the east bank of the Danube a mile north of Pest. Ujpest was the anchor of the Nazi defense line east of the city.

RUSSIANS DIVIDE NAZIS AND MAGYARS AROUND BUDAPEST

London, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—German and Hungarian forces encircled in and around Budapest were split in two today by Russian troops which hurdled the eastern branch of the Danube nine miles north of Budapest, captured Szentendrei Island, and got in touch with other Russian forces on the west bank.

Announcing this smashing success, a communique broadcast from Moscow said that half the enemy garrison thus had been driven into the mountainous and forested terrain in the Danube bend northof Budapest, while the other was caught in a constricting vise in the city itself.

Six Red Columns Advance.

Moscow, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Red Army shock troops charged at Budapest from snowy hills above the Danube River today. The German garrison burned military stores, dynamited public utilities and fought back grimly with field artillery scattered throughout the Hungarian capital.

Half a dozen Soviet spearheads were reported closing in on the western half of the encircled city and all German roads of escape were cut off. Just how many Nazi troops comprise the defending garrison is not known here, but the Russian command said their numbers were large.

Soviet assault units of tanks, plus tommy-gunners, were believed to have slashed some distance into the Buda district on the west bank of the Danube.

Nazi Debacle Described.

A delayed dispatch from Szekesfehervar, about thirty-two miles southwest of Budapest, disclosed that the Nazis had fought for the city street by street. A pillbox was manned outside St. Stephen's Cathedral until it was silenced by a direct hit.

Thousands of German dead were reported to have lined the roads on the battlefields between Szekesfehervar and Budapest following the Russian advance. Burned out armored vehicles, many of them the latest King Tiger and Panther tanks, dotted the fields and endless columns of Nazi prisoners marched miserably to the cages, the dispatch said.

From the hilltops of the Buda district on the west bank of the Danube Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's heavy artillery dominated the entire city—including Pest's massive business and factory buildings on the plain east of the river.

Aim at Two Big Rivers.

Armored columns, already deep inside the city's western outskirts, were blasting their way house by house toward two big bridges that span the Danube and link the two sections of the city.

Field dispatches said other Russian successes achieved simultaneously with yesterday's full encirclement of the Hungarian capital had brought the German command in the east to a moment of supreme crisis.

Marshal Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine Army and Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine Army, it was pointed out, are tactically linked up northwest of Budapest for a joint drive up both sides of the Danube to Bratislava, Slovakian capital, and Vienna.

Advancing along the Hron (Garam), a northern tributary of the Danube, Marshal Malinovsky's troops captured at least thirteen towns in southern Czecho-Slovakia and advanced within sixty-three miles of Bratislava and within ninety-six of Vienna.

Marshal Tolbukhin's gains west of Budapest tightened the Russian battle zone in the Danubian basin into the equivalent of a single front, stretching some 250 miles from the approaches to the eastern Slovakian fortress town of Kassa to the southwestern Hungarian gap below Lake Balaton.

Both Marshal Tolbukhin and Marshal Malinovsky are reported throwing reserves into the central sector of this line, where a new breakthrough might be fatal to German hopes of keeping the war from the soil of Austria. Marshal Tolbukhin's troops, in cutting off the Hungarian capital, captured Csakvar, twenty-five miles west of the city, and reached and seized the Danube city of Esztergom, twenty miles northwest. At Esztergom, the Reds stood virtually opposite the Hron's mouth. A crossing of the Danube slightly to the west would outflank the enemy's Hron River line.

Elements of Marshal Malinovsky's army captured sixteen Hungarian communities near the Czecho - Slovak border above Gyongyos. This advance drove all except a few of the enemy from Hungarian soil east and northeast of the Danube.

The shelf-like banks of the river narrow considerably the further up the river the Reds go, until just south of Bratislav the banks are almost non-existent.

Added to these troubles, which will slow the advance by making the transportation of supplies difficult, the Russians face the necessity of cleaning out the Nazis all along the route they take.

Supply Problem Difficult.

Along the northern border of Hungary runs a range of high and treacherous mountains, from which the German troops, if they are determined to fight, will be flushed only with the greatest of trouble. And without removing those threats to the Russian supply lines, the Reds would be unable to make any advances to speak of.

Another problem which grows more severe as the Russians make progress into the Austrian territory is that of bringing in supplies. The route which must be taken from the industrial sections of the country mean that a great number of transportation facilities must be used. The distances are long and the Russians must also take into account the fact that another push is being made in the northern part of the German line.

ALLIED BOMBS HIT NAZI RAIL CENTERS

At Least 2,500 Warplanes Roar Over Western Germany in Clear Weather.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—(AP) At least 2,500 Allied warplanes roaring over western Germany from bases in Britain and on the continent today showered explosives on eleven big freight yards clogged with traffic bound for Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's offensive in Belgium.

Flying through clear skies, more than 600 Liberators and Fortresses of the American Eighth Airforce, screened by 400 Mustangs and Thunderbolts, pounded Gerolstein, Euskirchen, Andernach and Homburg in the Bonn-Coblenz area, Kaiserlautern west of Mannheim and Fulda, 60 miles south of Kassel.

Five bombers and four fighters of the Eighth Air Force were missing, but two of the fighters were believed to have landed safely in friendly territory.

A communique said the bombers encountered no aerial opposition and only meager to moderate flak over the targets.

One group of probably 45 Mustangs tangled with formations of 300 Messerschmitts and Fockwulfs prowling over the Bonn area and shot down 29. Two other groups did ground strafing, destroying locomotives, freight cars and trucks near Trier and east of Bonn.

Clear weather over most of Belgium gave a free hand to fighter bombers of the Ninth Air Force based on the continent and they lashed at three smaller railyards east of Merzig and another east of Prum. Three hundred sorties were made before noon and three planes were lost to flak. Ninth Air Force fighters destroyed five enemy planes, increasing the toll of the German air force, which is known to have lost more than 500 planes in six days.

In attacks directly supporting the ground troops, an ammunition dump in the Bastogne area was knocked out and 62 buildings near Liege were destroyed or damaged by dive bombing.

62 Buildings Wrecked

In attacks directly supporting the ground troops, an ammunition dump in the Bastogne area was knocked out and 62 buildings, near Liege, were destroyed by dive bombing.

Following up this American blow at secondary supply centres behind the Nazi drive, an estimated 500 RAF Lancasters and a screening force of Spitfires from continental bases attacked railyards at the Ruhr city of Rheydt, 15 miles west of Dusseldorf.

Heavy bombers of the U. S. 15th Air Force in Italy struck at undisclosed strategic targets in the Vienna area and rail points handling supplies from Germany and Austria to the Italian front.

1000 U. S. PLANES BOMB RAIL LINES IN WESTERN REICH

Weather Is Favorable for Flyers—Main Route to Berlin Blocked.

London, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—One thousand American Eighth Air Force planes from British bases raided secondary rail traffic centers in western Germany today, after photo reconnaissance officers reported the principal rail artery from Berlin to the west had been knocked out.

Six hundred heavy bombers, escorted by 400 Thunderbolts and Mustangs, lashed at six railroad yards and one important junction. Favorable weather permitted Allied planes based on the continent to join the attack on Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's counter-offensive. The Thunderbolts and Mustangs bagged at least twenty-five Nazi fighters in a furious battle with enemy planes southwest of Bonn.

Targets included the traffic-glutted yards at Euskirchen and Andernach, northwest of Coblenz; Homburg, southwest of Kassel, and Fulda, sixty miles south of Kassel, as well as a rail junction forty miles west of Coblenz.

A staff officer at headquarters of the American Strategic Air Forces in Europe said all the targets were on the alternate route which the Germans began using during the past week.

"The main rail route from Berlin to the western front was by way of Hannover to Hamm, Munster and Osnabruck," he said. "The American air force and the R. A. F. concentrated the attack on this network and photo reconnaissance on Christmas Day showed all three of the yards empty."

30. 24 — 21581

Pictures taken on Christmas Day showed yards along the southern route through Kassel crammed with a backlog of traffic, much of it apparently for the repair of bomb damage, the officer said.

Meanwhile the German radio reported formations of heavy bombers heading north over Austria, indicating that flying Fortresses and Liberators of the United States Fifteenth Air Force were striking from Italy at Nazi war industries far behind the battle lines.

Coblenz Hit

The Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the U. S. Eighth Air Force attacked rail yards at Coblenz and rail bridges north of the city.

R. A. F. heavy bombers bombed German troops and tank concentrations north of St. Vith.

Much of the front line assault yesterday was borne by the U. S. Ninth Air Force and the British Second Tactical Air Force, both based on the continent.

American fighters and bombers flew 1,400 sorties and the R. A. F. 700. They destroyed more than 1,000 German motor vehicles, including 146 armored cars and tanks, and 71 Nazi planes. Allied losses were set at 30 fighters and one bomber.

Approximately 500 heavy bombers of the 15th Air Force attacked three German synthetic oil refineries yesterday.

Since Saturday, when clearing weather permitted Allied fighters and bombers to lend their powerful aid to ground troops, 475 Nazi planes have been destroyed.

DEC 28 1944

SAYS AIR WAS FULL OF GERMAN PLANES

LONDON, Dec. 27 — (AP) Capt. Ernest E. Bankey of Toledo, Ohio, was credited with five and one-half of his Mustang group's bag of 29 German planes today.

"I never have seen so damn many jerries at one time," said Bankey. "After getting there I got lost and found myself sandwiched between 50 enemy planes. Just as I was getting really worried, 12 friends bounced in and I got back into the fight, getting two more Germans and sharing another.

The same group of Americans—the 364th fighter group—downed 20 of 85 German planes encountered near Trier Saturday.

Lt. Col. John H. Lowell and 2675 Dexter street, Denver, Colo., who led the formation today and got one and one-half enemy planes, described the battle as the most furious he had ever seen.

"We were outnumbered at all times," he said. "Before it was over we had encountered about 300 enemy fighters. I saw some of our pilots break in single-handed on as mnay as 15 Huns."

V BOMB KILLS CHILDREN

LONDON, Dec. 27—(AP) Seven children in one family, four girls and three boys ranging in age from one to 17 years, were killed recently when a German V-bomb landed just outside their house.

Their mother, Mrs. James Walter Jervis, who has four other sons with the British Army in France escaped death. She had gone to visit a neighbor a few hundred yards away.

NAZIS SAY ROBOTS HIT MANCHESTER

London, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Berlin said today that Manchester had been struck by V-1 bombs, indicating either that German pick-a-back planes were making daring sweeps toward northern England, or that an improved type of V-1 had a longer range.

(Censorship has not permitted British correspondents to comment.)

Describing the V-1 bombing of the textile city as an "important factor" in the military situation, a broadcast declared: "The Allies see now there is no defense against V-1 or V-2."

Untouched by enemy air activity for two years, some areas of northern England were attacked by V-bombs in the pre-dawn hours of Christmas. The weapons killed men, women and children and flattened homes.

Christmas trees, tinsel and decorations are visible in the debris along ruined streets and families who awaited service men coming home on leave spent Christmas huddled in blankets on emergency beds in the rest centers.

Norse Premier Urges Allies Invade His Nation

London, Dec. 27 (AP)—Johan Nygaardsvold, Prime Minister of Norway, disclosed last night that his Government had urged the Allies to launch an immediate invasion of Norway from the west.

In a broadcast to his homeland Nygaardsvold called upon every Norwegian to hamper the Germans in any way possible, by sinking Nazi transports or sabotaging communications. He warned that every German soldier who escapes to the south will help lengthen the war.

"In time to come when the fighting will become still more intense, and may affect the whole of our people directly, we must be prepared to accept all sacrifices which the situation will demand," he said.

DEC 28 1944

GERMAN GENERAL DIES

London, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Gen. Theodore Geib, commander of a German Army group, has died of wounds received on the western front, the Berlin radio said today. The broadcast, which described Gen. Geib as an artillery officer, said that he received fatal head wounds soon after receiving his command.

Norwegians Fight Off Own Coast

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—A Norwegian-manned light naval patrol force sank two German vessels, including a destroyer or minesweeper, and damaged a third off Norway recently, a Norwegian naval communiqué announced tonight. The same force bombarded enemy coastal installations in Norway.

Nazis Warned on Aliens

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower warned the Nazis today not to harm foreign workers in Germany, declaring "grave penalties will fall on those who are guilty of treating them badly." The Luxembourg radio said the Allied commander's warning was carried in leaflets printed in many languages and dropped over Germany.

LLOY GEORG... TO RUN FOR RE-ELECTION

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Lloyd George, stormy figure in British politics for more than half a century and prime minister during the World war, announced today he would not seek re-election to Parliament.

The white-haired Welshman who first won a seat in the House of Commons in 1890 and never lost an election, disclosed he was retiring on the advice of his physician. He will hold his seat until the next general election, however. He will be 82 Jan. 17.

LLOYD GEORGE TO QUIT

London, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—David Lloyd George, who led Britain to victory in the last war, announced today he would retire from Parliament when his term expires, on advice of his physician. The 81-year-old statesman is known as the "father" of the House of Commons, where he has sat for fifty-four years.

Despite his years, Mr. Lloyd George has remained one of the leading Liberal members of Commons—although he has spoken only a few times in Parliament during this war.

As a young lawyer, son of a school headmaster, the noted Welshman first won a seat in Commons by eighteen votes in Carnarvon boroughs in 1890. Since then he never lost an election.

Nazis Use V-Bombs to Transport "V-Mail"

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Germans are using their V-bombs as carriers for "V-mail" letters from British prisoners of war, it was disclosed today.

After one recent attack on northern England by the vengeance bombs, a packet was found marked "V-weapon prisoner of war mail."

It contained three letters in photostat, and the notation:

"Finder is requested to cut out or copy the letters printed here and transmit them to the addresees so that they will receive them as early as possible. The original letters are being sent through the Red Cross in the usual mail channel."

With today's disclosure that letters now are being sent in this grisly fashion, inevitably there arose the story that one woman whose northern England home was wrecked by a V-weapon returned to the ruins to find a Christmas card from her prisoner son.

ENGLISH CHRISTMAS COLDEST SINCE 1872

LONDON, Dec. 27—(AP) Now it can be told that Christmas, 1944, was England's coldest Christmas since 1872, the date that systematic temperature readings were begun.

London was the coldest spot, with the reading 16 degrees Fahrenheit, but there were record sales of ice cream, newly returned to the market after a wartime economy ban.

In one restaurant waitresses wearing overcoats sold out the ice cream stock in two hours.

Eight Collaborators Shot

PARIS, Dec. 27 (AP).—A military firing squad today executed Henri Chamberlin, alias La Fonte; Pierre Bony and six other members of Vichy's French Gestapo who were convicted of collusion with the Germans against French patriots during the occupation of France.

The eight condemned men were shot at Fort Montrose, on the southern outskirts of Paris.

Demands Seizure Of Paris Subway

Paris, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—The Paris Liberation Committee has demanded that the Government confiscate the sprawling Metro subway system because it charged the management had collaborated with the Germans during the occupation.

PARIS IS BOMBED; 3 DIE, 13 INJURED

Paris, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Three persons were killed and thirteen others injured last night by bombs which fell on the Paris area near world famous landmarks. It was the French capital's first air raid since August 27, immediately after the city's liberation.

The casualties were the occupants of a house in (thirteen words censored). Some damage was caused to buildings (eleven words censored) where two bombs fell.

The bombers were not officially identified, but the fact that only a few appeared over the city virtually precluded any possibility that the bombs might have been dropped by accident from Allied aircraft.

A service men's club was wrecked by a direct hit which caused some casualties. French air raid defense authorities said a hospital was hit. Night fighters took to the air immediately in pursuit of the bombers.

32,000 FRENCHMEN ARE HELD IN CAMPS

PARIS, Dec. 27.—(AP) Frenchmen being held in internment camps or jails on suspicion of pro-Nazi activities now total 32,000, Minister of Interior Tixier told the consultative assembly today.

Of the total held Tixier admitted that 5,000 cases have not yet been investigated. They are being held on general charges without any examination yet as to their guilt, he said.

The minister added that it was necessary to restrict the orders of internment and said the regional commissioners had been so instructed in an effort to avoid arbitrary arrests.

The minister said that some fifth columnists recently had parachuted into the Paris region, but that none had done any damage. In more than 2,000 cases of suspected espionage the police have arrested 1,300 German and French spies, he said.

Meanwhile, the judicial police reported a Christmas night riot in a prison on the outskirts of Paris where suspected Vichyites and brigands were being held and an attempted escape by the prisoners. They set fire to the offices of two magistrates, the report said.

NAZIS IN ITALY IN COUNTERATTACK

ROME, Dec. 27.—(AP) The enemy has counterattacked in the Sevio Valley sector of the Fifth Army front at the western end of the Italian battleline and has forced Allied outposts to withdraw to prepared positions, the Allied command announced today.

The enemy attack was made "in some strength," the daily headquarters communique said. It was launched both east and west of the road town of Gallicano, some 14 miles inland from the Tyrrhenian coast and along the Serchio river itself.

The assault opened under cover of artillery fire and, although few details were made public, it was known the withdrawals were made in bitter fighting, the first in this sector for some time.

(The German communique said that German and Fascist Italian troops "in a surprise attack" in the Gallicano sector "broke through American positions and drove back several kilometers southward a formation of the 92nd American Infantry division." The bulletin added that "numerous prisoners, mostly Negroes, were taken." The 92nd Division is a Negro unit.

(The Brazilian Expeditionary Force is known to have been among the Allied troops employed in the Gallicano sector.

FIFTH PUSHED BACK ON ITALIAN FRONT

Rome, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—A strong German counter-attack near Italy's west coast has forced Fifth Army forces to withdraw from advance positions in the Serchio River valley, Allied Headquarters announced today.

The enemy thrusts came east and west of the road town of Gallicano, some fourteen miles inland from the Tyrhennian coast, after artillery preparation.

[The German communique said that Nazi and Italian Fascist troops, in a surprise attack in the Gallicano area, "broke through American positions and threw back a formation of the Ninety-second American Infantry Division." The Brazilian Expeditionary Force has been in operation along that sector of the Fifth Army front.]

It was announced here that the withdrawals were made only after bitter fighting.

The Eighth Army front on the opposite coast was generally quiet, although the Canadians still were fanning out northeast of newly-captured Rossetta, clearing fortified buildings. Other Eighth Army troops were advancing in the same manner in the area of Bagnacavallo and Faenza.

The German Air Force struck again yesterday in the American sector in the center. Anti-personnel bombs were dropped north of San Benedetto, immediately south of Bologna, and around Grizzana, on the southwest.

YANKEES IN ITALY PROUD AND BITTER

Rep. Clare Luce Tells Folks Back Home the Reason

DEC 28 1944

BY RUTH COWAN

ROME, Dec. 27 (AP) — The American infantryman on the Fifth Army front is "both the proudest and bitterest man in the army," Representative Clare Boothe Luce said tonight in a broadcast to the United States following her return from a Christmas visit to the Italian war zone.

NOT "SUNNY ITALY"

He is bitter, the Connecticut Congresswoman said, "that any American, particularly any American at home who belongs to him, should think that he is or has been on an inactive front and in a countryside that only an idiot could call sunny Italy."

He is proud, she added, because "he knows the infantry has borne the hardest brunt of the battle in these endless mountains, because he knows of platoons—hundreds of them—that ever since the days of Anzio and Salerno have gone again and again into battle 120 strong and perhaps come out 10—got replacements and repeated that bloody arithmetic as far as Bologna."

But despite this, the Congresswoman said, she found the doughboy in Italy has "faith in himself, faith in his commander in the field, faith in his Commander-in-Chief at home and above all faith in his God."

Home Letters No Help

She criticised those who have contributed to the bitterness of the Fifth Army troops with "overly complacent letters which tell him how it is all going to be over at any minute."

She quoted Lieutenant-General Lucian K. Truscott, commander of the Fifth Army, as saying "some of the boys even get letters from their families saying how glad their families are that they are not in France, where all the shooting is, but here in sunny Italy."

To the family of the Fifth Army doughboy Mrs. Luce broadcast a plea to "tell him this which he wants to believe and which I, please God, believe to be the truth—and thanks to him and the like of him in France and the great war leaders we have had, can be the truth—that this is the last Christmas of war in Europe."

"One has not been able to say Merry Christmas to a GI in this theatre, but God willing a happier New Year is certain for the Fifth Army and all those at home who have loved ones in it."

Attempting to analyze what she believed the doughboys at the front were thinking about on Christmas, Mrs. Luce said: "Of course, he was thinking about home."

"He is the most homesick soldier in the world because he has been away from the happiest country in the world," she added. "He aches almost with physical pain to see those he loves and yet he does not whine, though he gripes plenty—which is a different thing."

American Attempt to Establish Air Liaison Between Italy, Red Army in Balkans Fails

ROME, Dec. 27 (AP)—The American air command in Italy, seeking a close liaison with Russian military forces that would enable hundreds of Fifteenth Air Force heavy bombers to be employed with maximum effectiveness against the common enemy, has apparently achieved no tangible results thus far in its overtures.

Close cooperation was attained last summer when Fifteenth Air Force bombers and fighters, as well as Eighth Air Force planes, shuttled to bases in Russia, bombing and strafing German targets en route.

The desirability of shuttle operations ceased, however, when Rumania was knocked out of the war and the Russian armies moved into Poland, Hungary, Slovakia and Yugoslavia. Authoritative sources here asserted that shuttle-bombing had been discontinued merely because it had ceased to be profitable when bases built for American bombers were left great distances behind the Russian fighting front and the targets between them and Italy ceased to exist.

The problem troubling Lieut. Gen. Ira C. Eaker and his staff, however, is fighter bases. It would obviously be ideal if the Americans could base fighters in the newly won area near Budapest where bombers could pick up escorts while en route to Germany. The tactical air forces are now compelled to use all the available airfields near the northern Italian battlefront.

The elimination of the enemy from France and the Balkans and substantially from Hungary has left the Fifteenth Air Force with only a limited sphere of operations. It could be a tremendous support weapon for the Russian drive across Hungary if adequate liaison with the Russian command were achieved.

Tragic consequences when close liaison is lacking were disclosed in a recent announcement that a group of American Lightnings lost its bearings and attacked a Russian column in Yugoslavia last month. That was one of the last times when the Americans tried any target in that neighborhood.

NARROW ESCAPES THEIR SPECIALTY

Rome, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—A thirteen-man crew returned from the raid on an oil plant in Oswiecim, Poland, yesterday, with seventy-five flak holes in their Liberator bomber and part of its tail shot away, but it was nothing new to them.

They have sent six bombers to the service squadron for major repairs after returning to the home base, and made three crash landings, twice without brakes. Throughout it all not one of them was injured.

Lieut. Frank Vernon Jr., of Dallas, Tex., the pilot, caught a handful of spent flak fragments after a burst broke the cockpit plexiglass almost in his face, but he was unscratched

WOULD THROW IN SIX ITALIAN DIVISIONS

ROME, Dec. 27 (AP)—Premier Ivanoe Bonomi, declaring the German western front offensive clearly shows increased effort is necessary for "common victory," proposed today that more than six Italian divisions be thrown against the Germans in Italy, and that they fight on one sector as a national unit.

GREEK FACTIONS APPROVE REGENCY AT PEACE TALKS

Churchill Reveals He, Roosevelt and Stalin to Meet Soon.

DRAMATIC MEETINGS.

Next Step Up to King George, Prime Minister Defends Course.

By STEPHEN BARBER

ATHENS, Thursday, Dec. 28—(AP) Prime Minister Churchill, who came here to help solve the armed strife which has rent this country, was fired upon by an ELAS sniper yesterday morning as he stood outside the British embassy.

The bullet whistled by him and struck a young woman 300 yards away.

Churchill, dressed in the uniform of an R.A.F. commodore, was about to enter the embassy when the sniper fired. He was with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Ambassador Reginald W. A. Leeper. None was injured although the bullet narrowly missed the group.

At a later press conference in the embassy the sound of sniper fire outside continued and the thud of British artillery shelling the ELAS forces rattled doors and windows.

Agree on Regency

It was learned that the opposing Greek factions had agreed unanimously upon a regency as the principal step toward ending the civil warfare and that during the all-party conference Greek premier George Papandreou had offered his resignation. Whether it was accepted was not disclosed.

Churchill told reporters that he, Premier Stalin and President Roosevelt would take up the Greek question at a meeting to be held in the near future and suggested that some form of an international trust might be installed in Greece after Attica (the capital district) had been cleared. The intention of such a trust would be to see fair play at a fair democratic election with the secret ballot for, firstly, a monarchy or a republic, and secondly, the form of a new government, he said.

Next Step up to King

In view of the agreement of the all-party conference upon a regency, the next step appeared up to King George, now in London. He was reported to be cool to the regency propcsal when it was first broached by Greek leaders.

Churchill told newsmen that when the leaders of the three great powers get together soon, the Greek question would be "one of the most important items on the agenda."

"We feel our course has been absolutely right," he asserted. "In August, in consultation with President Roosevelt, we agreed to bring in food and relief and help until things settled down. Premier Stalin was consulted and gave his consent to this course.

"At Caserta, Britain was invited by the All-Party Government, including the Communists and the EAM (National Liberation Party) to come to Greece."

Churchill said, "it is clear to me there would have been a massacre if we had not intervened. It has been said that Britain is endeavoring to bring back the King and impose a particular rule in this country. All these stories are without the slightest foundation."

Desire Only Friendship

He went on to deny allegations that Britain had territorial claims or desired bases in Greece, saying "we desire nothing but Greece's friendship."

The Prime Minister agreed that Britain, having entered into the Greek turmoil, had contracted many responsibilities, but added that the British would not withdraw until the rebels had been driven out of Attica, or withdrawn from the "built up area" around the capital.

"We are absolutely determined the whole of this built up area must be cleared of armed forces other than those under government control," he asserted. "Then we must hope that some good sense must come to these tortured people."

The only difference of opinion in the conference concerned the date when the regency should be established, it was said by an authoritative source, with the majority urging that the plan be effected immediately.

After the regency decision had been reached, Archbishop Damaskinos, the presiding officer, adjourned the conference.

(The British Broadcasting company said in London it had received a dispatch from an Athens correspondent quoting Prime Minister Churchill as telling a press conference in that city that he, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin would review the Greek situation in a meeting soon. He added that if the Greeks did not soon solve their differences an "international trust" might be necessary to rule the country.")

During the day peace proposals offered by the Left-wing ELAS (National Liberation Front) were declared unacceptable by members of the Greek Populist party. However, other conference delegates agreed to consider the ELAS terms. The Populists are a royalist, conservative group.

Greek Populist Party Rejects Peace Proposals From ELAS

Ex-Premier Gonatas Asserts That Such Terms Would Mean Dissolution of State as It Exists.

Athens, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Greek Populist party members declared today that peace proposals by representatives of the left-wing ELAS were unacceptable and the conference called by Prime Minister Winston Churchill ended its second meeting without an agreement.

The ELAS offered terms which Stylianos Gonatas, former Premier, said were inadmissible. He declared that "if accepted, they would mean complete dissolution of the State."

Reply to Come Later.

Other members of the conference said that they would consider the terms and reply later. Even while the conferees met in the Grand Bretagne Hotel, the British accused ELAS artillerymen of breaking a conference truce late yesterday and fresh fighting flared in the district behind British headquarters. Parachute troops forged ahead with tanks and armored cars in a drive to clear the southern triangle leading into Omonia Square.

Proposal of ELAS

The main terms of the ELAS proposal are:

1. Agreement to a regency, so long as no objections are raised by others.

2. Formation of a new cabinet, with a president enjoying the confidence of all parties.

3. The new Government's program to be the existing one, which the ELAS charged Premier George Papandreou failed to carry out.

4. Punishment of collaborationists and all responsible for unpatriotic acts.

5. A purge of all governmental services, including town police, and the dissolution of the gendarmerie, with all officers and men to be sent home and recalled to active service only after each one was examined by a committee.

6. Disbanding of national guards formed since the outbreak of the civil war and reorganization of the service.

7. Dissolution and reorganization of the naval services, with all officers to be purged.

8. Committees to purge military and naval services to be appointed by the Government and not by cabinet ministers.

9. A plebiscite to be held on the first Sunday in February, at the latest, to decide if King George II is to return.

10. A general election for the National Assembly to be held in April, at the latest.

ELAS representatives said that they would accept the presence of international delegates during the plebiscite to insure a fair election. British headquarters said that offensive air action against the ELAS would be resumed because ELAS shells were fired at a British warship and at Anglo-Greek naval headquarters during a conference truce yesterday.

The Populists make up a conservative, royalist faction in Greek politics.

The British informed the Elas that the truce was regarded as null and void.

It had been agreed that no artillery action would be taken on one side or air action on the other for three quarters of an hour from 3 P. M., while Elas delegates were being brought to last night's conference at which Prime Minister Churchill appealed for the warring factions to end their strife.

Tense Conference

The conference was so tense that all delegates surrendered their side arms at the door.

The British announced that the first shell fell at 3:10 P. M. near a British warship at Piraeus. The second landed a little later near the naval headquarters.

Nevertheless, the British said another 45-minute truce would be arranged today for the protection of Elas delegates attending a second session of an-all party conference to discuss Greece's political troubles.

British guards returned the Elas' delegates guns to them when they left last night's conference under a safe conduct.

"Whether Greece is a monarchy or a republic is a matter for the Greeks and the Greeks alone to decide," the Prime Ministtr told the assemblage before he and other British representatives retired and left the Greeks to continue the conference alone. "All we wish you is good, and good for all," Churchill added.

Secret Site

Britain's only interest in using her troops in the current civil war, Churchill asserted, is to bring an end to disorder and make possible an election by secret ballot.

The session, convened at a secret site while continuing gunfire sounded in the distance, broke up after four and one-half hours with word it would be resumed later, possibly today, when additional delegates may be present.

An hour before the meeting ended, Themistokles Sophoulis, Liberal Party leader, left the conference room. There was no explanation. Neither was there any announcement of what occurred after the Allied representatives left.

Stockholm, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—The Germans have erected a 190-foot tower, equipped with some undeterminable apparatus, on the Danish island of Bornholm which is the scene of continuing intensive experiments with V-weapons, the Free Danish Press Service reported last night. The research on Bornholm was believed linked with the radio-directed V-weapons, particularly since another important laboratory was established at Peenemunde, only a short distance across the Baltic from Bornholm, the Danes said.

New Hungary Regime Gets Soviet Support

Reds Say Miklos Operates Democratic Government Behind Russian Lines

MOSCOW, Dec. 27 (AP).—The Soviet press, breaking its editorial silence on Hungary's political reconstruction, praised the new provisional government under Colonel General Bela Miklos today as enjoying "the overwhelming support" of the Hungarian people. Commentator Konstantin Hoffman, in an international review in the army newspaper "Red Star," said the Cabinet named by the Provisional National Assembly at Debrecen includes prominent military, scientific and political figures.

Declaring that the new regime operating behind the Red Army lines is founded on the principles of democracy, "Red Star" said: "Its appeal for a mobilization of all forces for the struggle against the Germans and the Szalasi clique is expected to be achieved."

Ferenc Szalasi is the Axis-puppet Premier of Hungary, which now is approximately three-fourths occupied by the Red Army. The Miklos government, formation of which was announced Saturday, operates in the territory won from the Axis.

"Red Star" even approved of a Hungarian plan fostering private enterprise, saying: "Land reform will play a very important role . . . in the democratic development of Hungary and the extermination of the poison of Hitlerism. Fifty per cent of the rural population have been landless and 36 per cent had an average of less than three acres per capita, while half of all Hungarian territory belonged to 10,760 landlords."

REDS PRAISE NEW HUNGARIAN REGIME

Moscow, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—The Russian press, commenting on Hungary's political reconstruction behind Red Army lines, praised the government of Col. Gen. Bela Miklos today as founded upon the principles of democracy.

An international review in Red Star by Commentator Konstantin Hoffman said that the Cabinet named by the Provisional Hungarian Assembly at Debrecen included prominent military, scientific and political figures.

The Russian newspaper even liked a Hungarian plank about fostering private enterprise.

"Land reform will play a very important role. . . . in the Democratic development of Hungary and the extermination of the poison of Hitlerism," Red Star said. "Fifty per cent of the rural population has been landless. Thirty-six per cent had an average of less than three acres per capita and half of all Hungarian territory belonged to 10,760 landlords."

FRENCH EMISSARY IS SENT TO LUBLIN

Moscow, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—The official Russian news agency, Tass, announced today that Gen. Charles de Gaulle's French Government had exchanged representatives with the five-months-old Polish regime at Lublin, which is expected here to declare itself as the provisional government of Poland before the new year. The announcement said that Gen. de Gaulle's emissary, Christian Fouche, already had arrived in Lublin and that the Lublin committee is represented in Paris by Stefan Jedrychowski, its former Moscow representative.

Polish sources in Moscow say that Czecho-Slovakia is expected to follow France's example in exchanging representatives with Lublin.

British Win Burma Village

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, Dec. 27 (AP)—British troops driving south along the west Burma coastal plain in Arakan have captured a village east of the Mayu River about fourteen miles south-southeast of Buthedaung, Allied Headquarters said today.

CHINESE PLEDGE HUGE LAND FORCE

FOR FINAL DRIVE

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Dec. 27—(AP) Minister of Information Wang Shih-Chieh said today the Chinese considered it their duty to supply "by far the largest land forces" in the forthcoming campaign to drive the Japanese out of China.

The Chinese high command believes the enemy intends to consolidate a transcontinental line from Korea to Malaya in preparation for the coming struggle, he said.

This route, which would extend roughly over some 3,500 miles of rugged terrain, would not be considered by the Japanese as an avenue of retreat, Wang said, but as a long-studied means for waging "very stubborn" war in China, French Indo-China and Malaya.

The enemy already has spent more than eight months in offensive operations to open the route and the objective has been largely achieved, the Chinese spokesman explained. He added, however, that at many points the Japanese lines of communications were "certainly very vulnerable."

Chinese cabinet spokesman P. H. Chang said he had received information that the Japanese were bolstering their defenses along the China coast both north and south of Shanghai in fear of a possible American landing.

Chang said the commander of the enemy garrison at Shanghai had openly informed a mixed Chinese-Japanese audience that if his forces had to withdraw from the city they first would destroy everything, leaving nothing of any value for the Allies.

This announcement, Chang said, indicated that the Japanese intend to commit "all kinds of crimes and atrocities" when their forces retreat from Shanghai or any other important occupied towns. He warned the Japanese that they would be held responsible for all crimes and urged Chinese civilians living in big cities to guard against wanton enemy acts of destruction.

Meanwhile, Japanese Army leaders apparently are preparing for a drive to close the gap in the Canton-Hanow railroad, a section of which still is in Chinese hands, Chang said.

Tsinan Is Bombed Again

CHUNGKING, Dec. 27 (AP) — A formation of P-51 fighters of the United States Fourteenth Air Force struck the Japanese airdrome at Tsinan in Shantung Province again yesterday and destroyed twenty-nine enemy aircraft, boosting to sixty-nine the number knocked out there in two days, an American communiqué announced today.

The planes destroyed in the latest assault included nine fighters and twenty bombers, all caught on the ground.

Yesterday the Fourteenth Air Force announced its fighters had destroyed thirty-seven Japanese planes in a raid on the same airdrome Dec. 24. Today's communiqué said it had been ascertained that three additional enemy aircraft had been destroyed in that raid.

Yesterday's assault upon Tsinan was carried out in conjunction with sweeping operations over Central China, South China, Burma and Thailand at a cost of one plane missing.

Superforts Raid Tokyo, Bomb Industrial Center

B-29's Over Japanese Capital for Hour and Half in Clear Weather.

21ST BOMBER COMMAND, SAIPAN, Dec. 27—(AP) Taking advantage of the first really clear weather they have found over Tokyo, a sizable force of Superfortresses bombed the teeming industrial sector of Japan's largest city for an hour and a half today.

One B-29 was lost over the target, but the Superforts in turn shot down perhaps the greatest number of enemy planes yet destroyed over Honshu.

Crewmen reported that large fires were started. First strike photos failed to disclose the extent of this damage.

The Japanese employed a new defense technique by setting off smudge pots for a smokescreen but the fliers described the maneuver as unsuccessful.

The attacking force was similar in size to that making the first Tokyo raid Nov. 24 when, Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell, Jr., declared, some formations inflicted damage "which you can easily envisage if something like 150 tons of high explosives hit the waterfront areas of New York or San Francisco."

As in the previous raids, the early planes found interception and anti aircraft fire light, but later formations reported increasingly heavy resistance in both respects. Fighter interception was the strongest yet, except possibly for the last raid on Nagoya Dec. 22.

Capt. Vance E. Black, Fairfax, Okla., flew the lead ship of the first formation. He came in downwind and hit the dock area, starting large fires, the greatest of which appeared to be an oil refinery in the industrial area.

He dropped his bombs at 12:37 p.m. Tokyo time (1:30 p.m. Saipan time).

Said Black:

"Our formation laid bombs in a pattern two blocks wide and about seven long in the northeast part of the city between two major rivers. The bomb train started at a railway junction where a bridge crossed the river, and extended toward the waterfront in an area where no bomb could fail to hit a target."

The first planes arrived over the target a couple of hours earlier than usual. It was the fifth time in a little more than a month that the B-29s had raided the enemy capital in force.

"We saw about 15 fighters," Captain Black said, "and downed at least one of them. I don't think the fighters were alerted today. We usually see them climbing at a steep angle. Today we saw nothing like that, and radio Tokyo was still on. Nor was there anti-aircraft fire until we got over the target."

"We came in earlier than usual and from a different direction, which must have confused them."

Black's co-pilot, 2nd Lt. Woodrow G. Mathison, (32 East 6th St.), Salt Lake City, Utah, said the plane, aided by a 150-knot tailwind was making 450 to 500 miles an hour when it swept across the target. Japan looked extraordinarily peaceful, with snow covering the mountain peaks. Fujiyama's snowline was higher than the last time over, which indicated a thaw.

Lt. Col. William McDowell Brady, Tex., an observer with Black, could see smoke from bomb fires eighty miles away.

LARGE B-29 FORCE BOMBARDS TOKYO AT NOON RUSH HOUR

Japs Say Attack on Their Capital Is Made by Fifty Planes.

Saipan, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Tokyo, bombed in force four times previously by Superfortresses and hit many times by harassing planes alone or in small groups, was pounded again this afternoon by a sizable force of B-29s. The first of the raiders, which struck during the noon rush—a couple of hours earlier than the Japanese capital has come to expect bombings—reported good visibility around targets in the great industrial area. The early elements reported a total absence of clouds and good bombing.

This was the first Superfortress visit to Tokyo since December 3. Since then, however, they twice have raided Nagoya, great Japanese aircraft center, and have twice bombed Iwo Jima, the small island halfway between here and Tokyo from which Japanese planes have been attacking Saipan.

[It was announced at Pearl Harbor today that American warships and planes bombarded Iwo Jima, in the Volcano Islands, on December 26 in the third joint air-Navy attack on that enemy base.]

Today's raid came just one month after the second B-29 bombing of Tokyo, November 27.

B-29 Bombs Set Fires in Tokyo In Noon Raid on Aircraft Plants

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Fires were set in Tokyo today by about forty Superfortresses which found clear weather for precision bombing of industrial targets, including the great Nakajima Aircraft Works.

A War Department communique said one B-29 was lost to enemy action in this fifth bombing in force of the enemy capital by Brigadier General Haywood S. Hansell jr.'s Superfortress command.

The big planes, flying from Saipan bases, roared over their objective at noon.

"Based on early reports, anti-aircraft fire and fighter opposition are believed to have been moderate," the communique said.

However, Verr. Haugland, Associated Press correspondent, said in a dispatch from Saipan that some of the returning pilots described today's operation as the toughest of the five.

Beyond the statement that fires were observed, the communique, based on preliminary reports, gave no details of the bombing results.

It was the first time, however, that the Superfortresses have found really good bombing weather over Tokyo. When they last raided the city on Dec. 3, they were forced to use instruments to locate targets through an overcast.

[After Wednesday's raid, the Tokyo radio broadcast that explosives and incendiaries were dropped at random and declared they did "insignificant damage." It estimated the number of participating B-29's at fifty and said nine were shot down, five others probably shot down and twenty-seven damaged. Four Japanese fighters were acknowledged lost.]

B-29s Strike in Daylight.

Washington, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Tokyo industrial areas were bombed today for the fifth time by Saipan-based Superfortresses. The daylight strike by B-29s of the Twenty-first Bomber Command was the first of the sort on the sprawling Japanese capital since December 3. A War Department communique did not report further details.

The Tokyo radio said the giant planes "dropped explosives and incendiaries at random, causing insignificant damage." The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, was not clearly heard throughout but apparently the enemy claimed that some interceptors "chalked up" victories against the Superfortresses.

A Japanese Imperial communique later said that about fifty Superforts were in the attacking force and claimed nine were definitely shot down, five probably and twenty-seven others damaged.

War Minister Tells of Raid.

Japanese War Minister Gen. Sugiyama interrupted his war report to the diet this afternoon to make a statement on a B-29 raid then in progress over the city.

According to a Japanese broadcast, he said: Approximately fifty of the B-29s have penetrated the skies over the Tokyo-Yokohama area up to the present time. They have dropped explosives and incendiaries on several points in the Tokyo-Yokohama area."

The Tokyo radio said "downtown Tokyo resounded with cheers and applause as the throng was given the treat of witnessing a B-29 break formation amidst a cloud of anti-aircraft barrage" and fall.

The Imperial communique stated that two of the Superforts were knocked down by suicide Nipponese pilots who crash-dived the big bombers. The High Command admitted the loss of four interceptors.

In previous raids on Tokyo the flying battleships have concentrated on whittling down Japanese fighter plane production. One of the empire's top producers of military planes, the Musashima engine factory of the Nakajima aircraft plane, was the target of the December 3 attack.

Returning pilots tabbed this the toughest of the big B-29 Tokyo strikes beginning November 24 and recurring roughly at three-day intervals through December 3. The Superfortresses dodged intense anti-aircraft fire on the December 3 smash and fought off swarms of fighters. One B-29 was lost. "Good" results were obtained with precision bombing, the War Department announced.

Although the size of today's force was not revealed in Washington, some 60 to 150 planes have participated in previous Tokyo raids.

Report by Nimitz.

Today's smash followed a report from 21st Bomber Command headquarters that the Saipan-based planes have dumped over 3,000,000 pounds of bombs on Honshu targets. Honshu is the principal Nipponese home island.

Japanese planes, seeking to destroy the Superfortresses in their home nests, hit the Saipan bases Christmas Eve, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported. About 25 Japanese planes swooped in and destroyed one plane on the ground, damaged several others and injured six men. Four of the attackers were shot down.

The Japanese Domei news agency said today Nipponese planes raided the United States Saipan B-29 base for the second consecutive night last night, "causing huge explosions." The broadcast intercepted by Federal Communications Commission was not confirmed immediately by United States headquarters.

U. S. FLEET GUNS POUND IWO JIMA

Jap Warships Blown Up in Air-Sea Attack

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 27 (AP)—American warships and planes bombarded Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands, Dec. 26, in a combined joint air-navy attack on the enemy base, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported today.

Heavy guns of the fleet units set afire an enemy landing ship and blew up a gunboat.

The warships and Liberator bombers which participated in the attack blasted coastal defenses and airstrip installations.

Nimitz announced two U. S. vessels suffered slight damage from the return fire of enemy coastal guns.

Liberators also bombed the air strips, Dec. 25, making the 19th consecutive raid on the little island this month.

Pilots returning from the Christmas Day raid reported seeing two enemy fighters, but the only damage—and it was minor—was caused by antiaircraft fire. All the bombers returned to their Marianas base.

U. S. FLIERS HIT JAP AIRFIELDS IN MANILA AREA

Plane Bases Bombed for Fourth Day — Clark Field Pounded

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Dec. 27—(AP)—Land-based American bombers for the fourth consecutive day blasted Japan's airfields at Manila on Luzon Island, now regarded as vulnerable to reinvasion by Yank forces mopping up in the Central Philippines.

Clark Field was the principal target as it was in two of the previous attacks. It was plastered Monday with 88,000 pounds of explosives, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Interceptors Downed

The Japanese showed a disposition to make a fight of it. They sent up at least 50 interceptors, of which 39 were shot down by Yank fighter escorts. Four more were listed as probably downed. The day's bag brought to 72 the total of Japanese planes shot down in 48 hours in the Manila raids. The Americans lost six fighters on the two days.

On conquered Leyte, American ground forces mopped up small and isolated Japanese remnants which the communique said, were "capable of only minor opposition." During Monday, 899 more of the enemy were killed and 14 captured, at a cost of seven American dead and 21 wounded.

Thus enemy casualties for the Leyte campaign were raised to 114,120.

Fighter Cover

The fighter cover in the Manila raid was led by Maj. Thomas McGuire, of San Antonio, Tex., who bagged three Japanese. That brought his total to 38, within shooting range of the 40 credited to Maj. Richard I. Bong, Poplar, Wisc., leading American ace.

The Americans got two more Japanese planes over Mindoro Island, invaded by the Yanks December 15. Two enemy planes were shot down Christmas Day over Tacloban Air Field on Leyte.

Liberators raided Mindanao airdromes and harbors, sinking two freighters, and fighter bombers assaulted the Japanese Silay Airdrome on Negros Island.

Medium and fighter-bombers dumped 115 tons of bombs on Halmahera at Lolobata, Hatetakako and Wassile Bay.

A 2,000-ton cargo ship and small freighter were sunk by air patrols off Borneo.

Nimitz Report

(At Pearl Harbor, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced that between 16 and 25 Japanese planes attacked the airstrips on Saipan Island, in the Marianas, base for the Tokyo-raiding American superfortresses.

(In the raid, made Christmas Eve, three attacking planes were shot down by American fighters, and a fourth bagged by anti-aircraft batteries. One American plane was destroyed on the ground and several others damaged. Six Americans were injured.

(The raiders probably came from Iwo Jima in the Volcanoes, a base which Nimitz announced was pounded for the eighteenth consecutive day by Liberator bombers).

Ridgewood Ace Gets 38th Jap

Major McGuire, Author of Combat Text Book, Bags 7 in 48 Hours—2 Behind Bong.

A U. S. Airbase, Leyte, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Major Thomas B. McGuire Jr. of Ridgewood, N. J., and Sebring, Fla., shot down seven Jap planes in the forty-eight hours ending yesterday to become America's second ranking ace with a total bag of thirty-eight.

Major McGuire's latest flock of triumphs brought him within two victories of the country's champion fighter pilot, Major Richard I. Bong, to whom Major McGuire has long been a close second in the Southwest Pacific. He first emerged as a threat to Major Bong's laurels by reaching the twenty mark while the Wisconsin flyer was on furlough with a bag of twenty-seven.

A native of Paterson, N. J.—his family resided in the area since 1817—Major McGuire was educated in Ridgewood, where his father lives at 51 Chestnut street, and in Sebring. He married the former Marion Geisler of San Antonio, Tex., now residing there at 209 West Ridgewood Courts.

Wrote Combat Text Book.

He was a bandsman and held a civilian pilot license at the time he left in his junior year at Georgia Tech to enlist in the Army Air Forces early in 1941. Since then he has flown for more than 720 combat hours and on more than 240 combat missions, won nine air medals, five distinguished flying crosses, the distinguished service cross and the silver star. He is the author of the Fifth Air Force's recently published standard instruction book on "Combat Tactics in the Southwest Pacific."

Associated Press correspondent Richard Bergholz looked over Major McGuire's log and picked out these excerpts with the following explanations:

"October 17, 1943: Over Oro Bay three Zeke planes downed me. I bailed out wounded and was picked up by a PT thirty miles out." (He spent eighteen days in the hospital.)

This is what happened:

Against a strong Jap force, Major McGuire knocked off three fighters, then broke off to cover a crippled Lightning. Major McGuire's plane caught fire when it was hit, and the Major was wounded. He tried to bail out at 12,000 feet but his feet caught in the cockpit. His body was pulled back by the propeller slipstream, and he hung there while the plane dropped 5,000 feet.

Finally he broke free and reached for the ripcord, only to find it severed, with a small wire dangling behind. He wrapped the wire around his wrist and yanked and the chute opened at 1,000 feet.

When he hit the water he found his rubber boat full of holes and it slowly sank. Despite his wounds he kept afloat for forty minutes until the PT boat picked him up.

"December 26, 1943: Got four, gave one away. Heavy fight. Have sixteen confirmed now."

That's his notation of the action in which he won the D. S. C. Ignoring many Zeros on his tail, Major McGuire led his Lightnings against fourteen Jap dive bombers attacking a Yank convoy landing at Cape Gloucester. All the dive bombers were destroyed.

"May 2, 1944: Got a squadron." He was made a squadron leader.

"June 6, 1944: Sank a thousand-ton freighter off Manokwari."

This flight proved the strafing power of the Lightnings. His group used 14,000 rounds of ammunition, and punched so many holes in the ship's steel hull it rolled over and sank.

So it went. Through advances in New Guinea, air sweeps into the Dutch East Indies and now into the Philippines, Major McGuire is always craving action.

'A Great Kid,' Says Father.

Thomas B. McGuire Sr., father of Major McGuire, commented last night that his son was "a great kid, who deserves all the credit." By telephone from his home, after hearing a broadcast of an Associated Press story, the elder McGuire said his son always had an interest in flying.

JAPANESE SEE WAR'S DECISION IN PHILIPPINES

By the Associated Press

Japan's war and Navy ministers reported today the United States has suffered 503,000 casualties since Pearl Harbor and the decisive battles of the war would be fought in the Philippines.

Nipponese broadcasts, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said their statements were made in formal reports to the 86th session of the Nipponese Diet.

Tokyo radio said that in his report to the 86th session of the Japanese Diet Navy Minister Mitsumasa Yonai emphasized that all the efforts of the Japanese Navy are now concentrated in the decisive battles in the Philippine area."

The broadcast quoted Yonai as saying "We are determined to acquire the final victory through the death-defying defense of the Philippine Islands."

"The enemy's persistent operations are concentrated in this area, vital because it is "situated in a strategic point for Japan," Yonai said. "Fierce air battles are being continued."

War Minister Field Marshal Gen. Sugiyama made the unrealistic claim of 503,000 American casualties. A Domei News Agency dispatch reporting his speech to the House of Peers gave no details.

Neither mentioned the rout of the Japanese Army on Leyte where the only major land action of the Philippines has been fought.

Japs Claim Second Raid On U. S. Base at Saipan

(By The Associated Press)

Japanese Domei News Agency said today Nipponese planes haided the U. S. Saipan B-29 base for the second consecutive night Tuesday, "causing huge explosions."

The broadcast intercepted by Federal Communications Commission was not confirmed immediately by U. S. headquarters.

PELUFFO EXPLAINS ARGENTINA'S STAND

By RAFAEL ORDORICA

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 27—(AP) Argentina's foreign minister, Gen. Orlando Arras Peluffo, avowed personal faith in the principles of the Pan-American union today, but warned that in the future Argentina would judge for herself whether that cooperative body binding the American republics was really effective.

He sounded his warning at a press conference for visiting Chilean newsmen from which other reporters were barred. In his barely perceptible intonation, he told his listeners that his ministry was aware of published reports from Washington that the Pan-American Union meeting set for Jan. 3 would decide against Argentina's request for an inter-American conference to consider her participation in hemisphere defense.

Peluffo put it this way:

While Argentina in the future would judge the effectiveness of the Pan-American Union, "she will never give up her faith in the concept of inter-American solidarity."

Asked if he believed a prerequisite of Argentina's return to "inter-American unity" was "democratization of the country," Peluffo at first demurred from the question, but then, smiling, asserted that Argentina was in fact a democracy.

He referred his guests to the interview they had yesterday with Vice President Juan Peron, war minister and strong man of the government, who said the regime sought a restoration of constitutional government.

FOUR YEARS AGO TODAY

Dec. 27, 1940.—Air attacks over western Europe renewed after two-day Christmas lull. Enemy cruiser shells island of Nauru, former German colony under British mandate, between Australia and Hawaii.

NAZI OFFENSIVE DISRUPTS ALLIES WAR TIMETABLE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(AP) Terrific losses suffered by American armies on the Western front have completely disrupted the Allied timetable for the war in Europe.

Authorities here have lost none of their confidence in the ultimate victory over Germany but, as a result of the German advance, they now estimate that victory may be won only by three to six months more of hard fighting than they had believed necessary only two or three weeks ago.

Even incomplete reports from the battle lines have made it evident to strategists here that General Eisenhower has suffered very heavy losses in materiel—guns, tanks, shells, food and thousands of other items—and also has taken a beating in manpower—killed, captured and wounded.

This means that many weeks which might have been spent in shoving the advance into Germany must now be spent instead in reorganizing and outfitting units battered by the German assault.

It means, in the last analysis, that barring a hoped-for but unlikely break for the Allied side that the fighting in Europe will go on far into 1945.

The great break hoped for is that the Nazi high command will expand its full reserve power on the present offensive and then suffer a complete defeat at the hands of General Eisenhower's reorganized forces.

However, there is no disposition in high Washington quarters to gamble even personal hopes for victory on such a possibility.

Moreover it is admitted that military intelligence was thrown off guard by the time and place of the enemy assault which also had much to do with its success.

Since the initial German advance, Eisenhower's problem has been to take counter measures which would allow him to withdraw and regroup his forces and at the same time prevent the loss of any vital strategic points.

Such points are Namur and Liege, highway hubs extremely important to the supply system in Belgium. The fate of the fighting during the next few hours or days when the Germans seek to reach or isolate those places may well determine just how much longer the war will have to go on to victory.

Gen. March's 'Hard War' Borne Out; He Scores Our Army Intelligence

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Gen. Peyton C. March, on his eightieth birthday today, deplored what he termed the Allied failure to hit the advancing German armies "on the nose." [General March's comment was made before the latest news from the Western Front became available.]

The United States Army Chief of Staff in World War I also:

(1) Declared a complete breakdown in Allied military intelligence preceded the Nazi counter-offensive into Belgium.

(2) Intimated that talk of "unconditional surrender" had hampered military operations.

(3) Expressed doubt that Russia would join in the war against Japan.

Clad in brown mufti and a gay Christmas necktie, the retired general gave his views to reporters in his Washington apartment.

One year ago he said the Germans would not be beaten in 1944. You could almost hear the expression on his face today. It said, "Hah!"

The way Nazi Field Marshal Gen. Karl von Rundstedt had been pushing the Allies back, General March would not even predict victory for the Allies in 1945. He would go only so far as to say the Germans are going to lose, some time.

The Japanese are even tougher, he said.

Waiting for his birthday cake, baked big enough to hold eighty candles, General March said that one reason the Allied military intelligence "broke down completely" was Hitler himself.

"In the other countries we depended a lot on the underground for invaluable information," he remarked. "Hitler got rid of all such elements in Germany itself. He has a homogeneous nation."

Weather Alike for Both, He Says

General March would not accept the theory that the weather interfered especially in Allied operations.

"I never saw it snow on one side and not on the other," he said.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's statement just a year ago that the war in Europe could be won in 1944 if everyone did "his or her full duty," was "too iffy" and never should have been made, General March added. It just wasn't "in the cards."

He said it was very important now to see how long it would take General Eisenhower to blunt the German offensive.

It was apparent, he went on, that the German nation intended to "fight this out to the end."

"All this talk of unconditional surrender and what we're going to do to them hasn't been very helpful to us," he declared.

The Japanese would be even more of a problem on their home soil, General March predicted.

In doubting that Russia would get into the war against Japan, General March said:

"I suppose this Government is trying to get Siberian bases, and this was the year when we were in the best position to demand them. But don't forget that Stalin once told a Japanese, 'I'm an Asiatic, too.'"

Asked if he could pin down reasonably the probable length of the war, General March stated:

"Well, I no longer count by anything but decades. So come back on my ninetieth birthday and I'll tell you."

March's Statement a Year Ago

On Dec. 27, 1943, General March in an interview as reported by The Associated Press—after declaring, "I'm for Eisenhower"—said:

"The war hasn't even started. Wait until Germany and Japan begin fighting on their own soil... We can lose this war right here at home thinking it is almost over."

NAZIS USE WEATHER AS WAR INSTRUMENT

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(AP) Robert A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war for air, said today the counter-attacking Germans in Belgium and Luxembourg "can be counted on to keep up the pressure on the ground and perhaps increase it if the weather turns bad again, as seems likely."

The Nazis were "absolutely on the button" as far as weather was concerned in selecting a time for their counteroffensive, Lovett declared, adding "the Germans understand fully that weather is a weapon."

Bad weather, he told a bond club of New York luncheon, is not a barrier to strategic, or long-range bombing, but to tactical bombing—the strafing and bombing of moving objects such as tanks and trucks.

Lovett reviewed the number of German planes, tanks and vehicles destroyed by Allied planes during the present offensive, and said "the Germans have suffered greatly in these attacks."

Praising the Army airmen, he said:

"The war casualties of the Army Air Forces up to the first of December are greater than the combined total war casualties of the Navy, Marine corps and Coast Guard. And the end is, in my opinion, not yet in sight."

FRANCE TO JOIN UNITED NATIONS

Ceremony Is Planned for New Year's Day

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—France will become the 36th United Nation on New Year's Day.

The State Department announced France will sign the declaration by United Nations here that day in the presence of representatives of the United Nations.

Under General Charles De Gaulle's committee of liberation and the recent weeks of his provisional government the country has been considered as associated with but not a member of the United Nations.

Ambassador Henri Bonnet will sign for his country.

ARMY UNITS SAIL WITHOUT NURSES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP) Eleven Army hospital units are about to be sent overseas without any nurses because of the lag in nurse recruitment, Red Cross Chairman Basil O'Connor said today.

Appealing to Red Cross chapters throughout the country to aid in the drive for 10,000 additional nurses, O'Connor said:

"Rapidly mounting casualties make it imperative that these nurses be procured at once or many of our wounded will be deprived of essential nursing care."

December was the second lowest month in Army nurse recruitment since Pearl Harbor, O'Connor said, at a time when war casualties are the highest.

He urged Red Cross chapters in a telegram to "appeal to hospital officials, to physicians, to industry, to nurses' families and to the public in general to release every eligible nurse for the highest service she can give her country in time of war."

The Red Cross is the official agency for Army and Navy Nurse recruitment.

U. S. LANDING SHIP IS SUNK OFF LEYTE

Washington, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—The Navy announced today the loss off Leyte of the LSM 20, medium landing ship, as a result of enemy action. At the same time, the Navy identified as the 2,200-ton destroyer Cooper the vessel receently lost in the same Philippine waters as a result of night action against the enemy.

The loss of the destroyer, not identified by name at the time, was announced by Gen. MacArthur in a December 5 communique. Commanding officers of both vessels survived, the Navy said. No estimate was given of the number of casualties.

The normal complement of the U. S. S. Cooper was estimated at 275 and of the LSM 20, four officers and forty-eight enlisted men. Lieut. John R. Bradley of Oak Creek, Col., was in command of the LSM 20, and Comdr. Mell A. Peterson of Algona, Iowa, commanded the Cooper.

JAPANESE CARRIER SUNK BY U.S. SUB

American Underwater Boats Account for 27 Enemy Ships.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP) The first definite sinking of a Japanese aircraft carrier by a United States submarine was reported today by the Navy.

The announcement came in a Navy communique which disclosed the destruction by the far-ranging submersibles of a total of 27 vessels, including the large carrier and six other combatant ships.

The announcement raised the total of Japanese fighting ships which have fallen victim to American submarine warfare to 99, including a carrier, 14 cruisers, 44 destroyers, three tenders and 37 miscellaneous types.

Today's communique reported the sinking, in addition to the carrier, of a converted light cruiser, a destroyer, two escort vessels and two destroyer transports. Noncombatant vessels also claimed today were two large transports, 10 medium cargo vessels, three small cargo vessels, a small transport, two medium cargo transports and two medium tankers.

In addition to the 99 combatant vessels sunk by submarines since the start of the war, 835 non-combatant enemy ships have been sent to the bottom by submersibles alone. These total more than 3,500,000 tons, or about one-half of the estimated pre-war merchant fleet.

In releasing the communique at a news conference, Secretary Forrestal expressed "true regret" that considerations of security made it impracticable to detail all the accomplishments of the "silent service," the submarine fleet.

Referring specifically to the carrier sinking, however, he added that was "hitting one of the most painful spots on the Japanese body at the moment."

While today's communique marked the first unqualified claim of a Japanese carrier sunk by submarines, two others have been reported previously as "probably sunk."

That record has been hung up with a reported loss to the submarine fleet of 33 ships, including four sunk, 27 overdue and presumed lost, and two destroyed to prevent capture.

Seabees Prepare For Celebration Of Third Birthday

Washington, Dec. 27—(AP)—The Navy's Seabees celebrate their third birthday tomorrow with a record of having participated in every major amphibous invasion launched by our forces in both hemispheres.

Since December 28, 1941, the Seabees have licked what the Navy calls the toughest military construction job in history—building of advanced naval bases fast enough to keep pace with the needs of our expanding fleet.

The Seabees are the Navy's construction battalions.

Drawn from some 60 different trades, the Seabees, says the Navy, are not only the world's fastest and most skillful construction men but . . . are able to substitute guns for tools and put up a first class fight."

ESCAPED GERMANS MAY BE CAPTURED WITHIN 36 HOURS

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 27—(AP)—The next 36 hours may determine if there will be a quick roundup of 19 Germans still at large after a sensational escape from the Papago Park Prisoner of War Camp, an Army officer said today.

Six of 25 Nazi U-boat officers and men who fled through a 200-foot tunnel were recaptured Sunday night a few hours after the escape was discovered. None has been apprehended since.

The ranking escapee is Navy Capt. Jurgen Wattenberg, 43, former officer on the Admiral Graf Spee, scuttled German pocket batleship. He was later decorated by the Nazis for sinking a Brazilian freighter.

Col. Wiliam A. Holden, camp commandant, said 12 of the 19 fugitives were first-rate submarine officers. Some speak English and are accomplished linguists.

ARMY CASUALTIES

Washington, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—The War Department announced today the names of 2,465 casualties in the European area.

In all of these cases next of kin have been notified previously and have been kept informed directly by the War Department of any change in status.

Young Kennedy Appears Before Retirement Board

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Lieutenant John F. Kennedy, 27, son of former ambassador to Great Britain Joseph P. Kennedy, appeared before the Naval Retirement Board here today, the navy disclosed.

Wounded more than a year ago, Lieutenant Kennedy has undergone a medical survey and appeared before the Retirement Board in connection with the survey, a navy spokesman said. "There is no indication when the board will reach a decision in the case," the spokesman added.

WON SECOND D.S.C. BEFORE HIS DEATH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Captain Thomas F. O'Brien of Lincoln, N. H., won the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Service Cross, second highest award for gallantry, before he was killed in action in Germany Nov. 11, the War Department announced today.

The cluster was awarded in lieu of a second DSC for "extraordinary heroism in action."

CANADA READY TO ASK MORE U. S. AIR ROUTES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—Canada is expected to seek a larger share of the air routes connecting her and the United States.

Officials of the two countries, it developed today, would probably confer next month on a new agreement covering these routes.

An air services agreement between this country and Canada was reached originally in December, 1940, and was to expire at the end of 1942. Because of the war, it was decided in March, 1943, to extend terms of the agreement for the duration, after which a conference was to be held.

Apparently, the impetus to international flying resulting from the fifty-four-nation conference at Chicago has pushed ahead plans for new negotiations. Informed officials believe that Canada will sign the "two freedoms" or transit agreement—this is a mutual exchange of the right to cross a country and make non-commercial stops—before the meeting with the United States. Later she may sign the transport document, already bearing eighteen signatures, which is a general exchange of the right of commercial flight.

The original agreement divided the routes between the United States and Canada, with the United States taking Bangor-Moncton, Buffalo-Toronto, any United States point to Windsor, and Great Falls (Mont.)-Lethbridge, while Canada received Toronto-New York and any Canadian point to Detroit. Later the United States began flying Seattle-Vancouver, Fargo-Winnipeg and New York-Montreal routes. Canada now is flying only one route into the United States.

One of the things the Canadians seem almost certain to ask is a route to Chicago.

AIRLINES LIKELY TO CUT FARES

DEC 28 1944

United Expected to Lead Way on Long Haul Travel

BY JAMES J. STREBIG
Associated Press Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—Several airlines were reported today to be considering fare reductions, although only United Air Lines has made its intentions public.

UNITED IN LEADING ROLE

United is a coast-to-coast operator, and any cuts it might make on long services would be reflected in similar reductions by competing lines. The practice has been to have identical fares between competitive points, just as the railroads do. The airlines clear their tariffs through the Air Traffic Conference, which is set up within the Air Transport Association of America.

The last general change in airline charges took place early in the war, when the Civil Aeronautics Board ordered the carriers to show why a reduction should not be made to offset the cancellation of special discounts. The airlines finally offered a compromise which amounted to about a 7½ per cent reduction, and the board accepted it.

The discounts cancelled at the start of the war provided 15 per cent reduction for round trips or one-way trips by holders of credit cards.

ODT Against Boosting Travel

Any attempt at widespread reductions may run into oppositon from the Office of Defense Transportation on the ground that it would encourage the public to travel. The ODT tok that stand when the Interstate Commerce Commission recently considered a reduction of railroad fares, while the Office of Price Administration supported lower fares. ODT previously had complained that airline advertising tended to encourage travel.

United Air Lines announced it will cut fares within the next two months in amounts to be determined by studies now being made. The proposed new fares must be filed with the Conference and with the CAB, after which they become effective if the board does not object.

The likeliest places for reductions is in long haul operations, which have been doing a very heavy war business. Some of the regional operators feel less inclined toward lower fares because their operating costs per plane mile generaly are higher than for long hauls.

SHIP LINE CANCELS PLEA TO ENTER AIR

United Fruit Notifies CAB of Change of Mind—Sees Trend Against Multiple Operation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The United Fruit Company, steamship operators, has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to withdraw its application for air routes between New Orleans and Caribbean places.

The Boston company filed its application in November, 1943, and participated in the Latin-American hearings before the CAB this year. It filed a brief in support of its case Dec. 14. The company proposed to fly from New Orleans to Balboa and Guatemala City, touching about twenty cities along the way.

Three other applications have been withdrawn since the hearings, those of the Gordon North-South Airline, the New York and Bermudian Airline and Aerovias Nacional of Brazil.

An official of the United Fruit Company explained in New York last night that the withdrawal action was taken because the Government lacked an international aviation policy which would embrace steamship companies. He maintained that the company would adhere to its decision until the United States adopted such a policy, removing the doubt which now confronted American flag shipping lines.

The request for permission to withdraw the application for seaair routes was contained in a letter from William K. Jackson, general counsel for the company, to L. Welch Pogue, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, and Vice Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission.

United Fruit believes a negative trend in the Administration's thinking in the matter of surface carriers, including steamship lines, operating air routes to foreign countries has been indicated in various quarters.

It has been reported that a letter from President Roosevelt to Chairman Bland of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee looked with disfavor on shipping entering the aviation field, on the ground that not enough routes would be left for the air lines to operate.

NATION'S INCOME HITS NEW RECORD REPORT REVEALS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 — (AP) The national income broke all records again in 1944, stepping up to approximately $159,000,000,000, the Commerce department announced today.

But it added that the nation now has passed the peak of its wartime economic activity.

Business hit the top early in the year and leveled off.

Commerce department experts don't think 1945 will be as active.

Here are the official estimates for 1944—all new records:

1—"National product": 197 billion dollars. This is the total value of goods and services produced. In 1943 it was 186.5 billio and in 1939 only 88.6 billion.

2—"National income": 159 billion dollars. This is defined as all income earned by individuals through participation in production (wages, salaries, dividends, interest). Last year it was 147.9 billion. In 1939 it was 70.8 billion.

3—"Income payments to individuals": 155 billion dollars. In some ways this is a better economic yardstick than "national income" because it consists of money actually received by individuals. It doesn't include the retained earnings of corporations. It does include social security benefits and payments to dependents of servicemen, which aren't a part of "national income."

Income payments last year were 142.3 billion. In 1939 they happened to be the same as national income, 70.8 billion.

A Commerce department economist broke down the 1944 figures of 197 billion dollars in "national product" this way:

War purchases—85 billion.

Consumer spending—96.6 billion (a new record, announced last week).

Governmental non-war spending—13 billion.

"Private capital formation"—2.6 billion.

(Total—197.2 billion.)

"Private capital formation" is a technical term for such items as private construction, private purchases of machinery and other producers' goods, and changes in business inventories and foreign trade balance.

10 P. C. SLASH IN TAX HINGES ON WAR COURSE

DEC 28 1944

George Sees Reduction if Corner Is Turned in Next 3 Months.

GERMAN COLLAPSE A FACTOR

State Studies Question of Piling Up Revenue Surplus or Reducing Levies.

DEC 28 1944

Washington, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—A 10 per cent cut in Federal income taxes will be possible next year only if the war in Europe draws near an end, Senator George (D.-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee declared today.

"If we come around the corner in January, February or March," Mr. George told reporters, "and can see a tentative end to the war, it is my thought that there should be a horizontal cut in individual and corporate income taxes while we worked on a general revision of the tax laws."

The Georgian, whose committee handles all revenue and legislation in the Senate, emphasized strongly that the only chance for any kind of a tax cut rests on "a fortuitous turn in the tide of fighting." If the end of the European war isn't apparent, then we would advise against any reduction in the rates.

Must Await Events.

"We've got to await events before we do very much with general taxes," he said, looking ahead to the committee's work in the coming seventy-ninth Congress. "There can't be any general revision of the tax act at this stage. I have no doubt we will handle a certain amount of tax work during the spring, but it will be largely a matter of revising and making workable our present law."

Mr. George repeatedly has declared that Congress should be alert to changing economic conditions and be ready to step in with downward revisions of tax rates when the fighting ceases and business men need encouragement in reconverting to peacetime production. It is at that time that he would favor a general revision of the revenue laws, tailored to peace.

Meanwhile, he believes that if the collapse of Germany is evident, a moderate horizontal cut in taxes would be "an evidence of good faith to the people."

State Takes Up Study.

Albany, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—The question of whether the State should pile higher its surplus, currently estimated at more than $200,000,000, or reduce its taxes loomed large today in a tax plan and proposed fiscal policy being mapped by the Senate Finance Committee.

The study, headed by Senator William Bewley, Lockport Republican, is the first of its kind undertaken by a standing legislative committee. It will give special attention to the effect of business taxes upon the State's competitive position in commerce and manufacturing and upon employment opportunities relative to other States, Mr. Bewley said.

Questionnaires have been sent 2,000 corporate taxpayers seeking information on the total of various taxes on their business operations for comparison with taxes on similar operations in other States.

Initiated last September when a research staff and consultants began a study of the entire State tax system, the survey includes all of the forty-seven taxes levied by State and local governments.

As of last March 31, the State's surplus stood at $163,000,000. Revenues for the current fiscal year have exceeded estimates so greatly that some sources have predicted the surplus will be boosted another $100,000,000 by next March 31.

BRIDGES IN NEW FIGHT TO REMAIN

Asks Highest Court to Review Order to Deport

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Harry Bridges, CIO labor leader on the West Coast, asked the Supreme Court today to review legal proceedings in his fight against deportation as an alien.

DEC 28 1944

FOUGHT SINCE 1942

Attorney-General Biddle had ordered Bridges deported to his native Australia in May, 1942. Biddle then said Bridges was a member of the Communist party and stated the party advocated "violent overthrow of the United States government." Bridges denied he is or has been a Communist.

Bridges fought the order by means of habeas corpus proceedings in lower federal courts. He petitioned the Supreme Court today to review action of the Ninth Federal Circuit Court in upholding the deportation order.

The longshoremen's executive told the Supreme Court that evidence relied upon by Biddle "is only the debris of an elaborate and ambitious structure built upon the testimony of witnesses most of whom were the dregs of the waterfront and whom the government should have quickly recognized as such."

Bridges said the conclusion to deport him—"an end so persistently sought for a decade by vindictive private groups"—had been reached "through flagrant abuses of due process of law."

The Supreme Court will announce later whether it will consider Bridges' case.

Service Vote In November Election Far Below Estimates Of States

Washington, Dec. 27—(AP)—Best estimates obtainable from election officials place the service vote in the recent Presidential race at around 2,800,000. This is far below the 3,392,000 estimated by state officers prior to the November 7 election as likely to be cast. But it is a far greater percentage of the service strength than that recorded in the 1942 congressional elections.

The total military and civilian vote this year was 47,971,156, corrected to date.

The only official figure available on potential voters in the armed services was that furnished by the Census Bureau. It listed males in uniform as of January 1, 1944 at 7,860,000. The actual figure is higher considering the fighting growth since then, women eligibles and the fact that uniformed men and women as young as 18 are allowed to vote in Georgia.

But based on that total of 7,860,000, the 1944 estimate of the service vote is around 35 per cent. That compares with the less than one-half of one per cent who voted in the off-year elections in 1942. In a message to Congress last January urging a new Federal ballot law President Roosevelt said only 28,000 out of 5,700,000 in the service voted two years ago.

The Census Bureau and the Federal Ballot Commission are trying to find out the total service vote for 1944. The best they can hope for is a guess as few states tabulated their military and civilian ballots separately.

Report To Congress

The Federal Ballot Commission will report to Congress within three or four weeks the total number of Federal ballots—as distinguished from the lengthier State ballots—received in the 20 states which authorized them.

Pending a more complete estimate of the military vote, official returns and estimates from 24 states today placed it at 1,399,208.

Only five states broke down the vote by parties—Colorado, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island. They gave Roosevelt 293,328 and Dewey 207,063, or roughly three to two in the President's favor.

Here's the way the 24 states recorded or estimated their uniformed balloters: (x) denotes estimate.

Alabama 5,000 (x); Colorado 28,348; Connecticut 39,419 (x); Florida 27,492; Illinois 200,000 (x); Iowa 4[illegible]362; Kansas 30,597; Kentucky [illegible]72 (x); Maryland 34,548; Minne[illegible]2,517; Missouri 79,277 (x); [illegible]9,340; [illegible] 23,454; [illegible]shire [illegible] Jersey 160,329; New Mexico 7,032; North Carolina 49,541; Ohio 164,472; Oregon 33,377; Pennsylvania 255,226; Rhode Island 23,100; Tennessee 27,933; Virginia 38,475; Wyoming 7,385. (Wyoming's total is incomplete).

Here's how five states divided their service vote by parties:

Colorado — Roosevelt 14,419, Dewey 13,386; Maryland—Roosevelt 21,317, Dewey 13,231; New Jersey—Roosevelt 95,581, Dewey 64,748; Pennsylvania — Roosevelt 146,820, Dewey 107,789, and Rhode Island—Roosevelt 15,191, Dewey 7,909.

Stores in Seven Cities Affected—Plant in Detroit Damaged

BY HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Government seizure of Montgomery Ward & Company's properties in seven cities where it has failed to comply with War Labor Board directives is expected by tomorrow night.

This includes four stores in Detroit, where the CIO Retail Employees Union has been on strike since Dec. 9 in an effort to force the company to put the directives into effect. Other properties are in Chicago, Denver, St. Paul, Portland, Ore., San Rafael, Calif., and Jamaica, N. Y.

MANY STRIKES THREATENED

Adding pressure on the government for swift action are a threatened epidemic of strikes at Ward stores, demonstrations at some, and suggestions from CIO leaders that delay might influence a referendum the CIO United Automobile Workers Union has scheduled on the question whether to revoke its no-strike pledge.

At one of the Detroit stores, in suburban Dearborn, more than 50 demonstrators today overturned several counters and destroyed merchandise, Store Manager R. L. Estabrook said. He blamed "flying squadrons" of the United Automobile Workers.

Detroit police arrested a man at the Grand River avenue store, alleging that he used abusive language and chased a customer to a street car.

The Retail Union called a strike at the Kansas City store because, it said, of "Avery's persistent refusal to abide by the WLB decisions." Sewell Avery is chairman of Ward's.

The War Labor Board sent all the cases to Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson a week ago. He has been laying the foundation for seizure, or the government's other weapon—economic pressure through withholding material priorities.

Violence in Ward Store

Counters Are Thrown Over and Merchandise Damaged in Dearborn Shop.

Detroit, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—A group of more than fifty persons who entered the Montgomery Ward & Co. department store today in suburban Dearborn, where a strike has been in progress since December 9, were reported to have overturned several counters and destroyed some merchandise.

DEC 28 1944

R. L. Estabrook, store manager, said the damage would amount to several thousand dollars. He said the demonstrators were members of "flying squadrons" of the United Automobile Workers (C. I. O.).

U. A. W.-C. I. O. unions have been supporting the strike at four Montgomery Ward stores in the Detroit area by members of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employees (C. I. O.) Union. These unionists struck in an attempt to force the Ward management to comply with War Labor Board directives.

Mr. Estabrook said the demonstration lasted only about ten minutes.

Erving Nielson, Dearborn chief of police, who sent more than thirty policemen to restore order, said he was informed that "about ten carloads" of men went into the store and tipped and broke show cases and threw merchandise about.

No injuries were reported, but two men, whose names were not released, were arrested following the disturbance.

Expect U. S. Action.

Action by the Government to seize Montgomery Ward property for non-compliance with WLB orders has been expected since last week, and at Washington last night the War Department was reported on good authority to be ready to step into the picture if the President directs it.

A U. A. W.-C. I. O. spokesman said today that although the union has been supporting the retail clerks' strike, that "under no circumstances, so far as we know, has any illegal activity been engaged in."

Merritt Martin, leader of the pickets at the Ward store, said he did not know who the "flying squadrons" were.

Meanwhile Detroit police said they had arrested Fred Lamting, 35 years old, on a charge of disturbing the peace at a picket line near Ward's Grand River avenue store in Detroit. Officers said Lamting used abusive language to a customer leaving the store Saturday and chased the customer to a street car.

Some Workers Return.

Kansas City, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—An undetermined number of workers streamed through picket lines at the Montgomery Ward & Co. mail order plant today, where a C. I. O. union had called a strike.

Union officials, who estimated that there are "about 2,500" employees, said "hundreds" failed to report to work.

A sound truck, operated by the United Retail, Wholesale & Department Store Employees (C. I. O.), urged the workers to quit their jobs and "get a war job at the United States Employment Service office."

Harold Edwards, union spokesman, said, "This is not an ordinary strike." He said it was "a direct result of Avery's (Sewell Avery, chairman of the company board) persistent refusal to abide by the WLB decisions."

LONDON, DEC. 27-(AP)-A BERLIN BROADCAST TONIGHT SAID THE NAZI OFFENSIVE INTO BELGIUM WAS BECOMING "MORE AND MORE A BATTLE OF ATTRITION," AND THAT "ALLIED COUNTERATTACKS ALREADY ARE MORE METHODIC."

THESE ASSAULTS, THE RADIO SAID, ARE "CLEARLY DIRECTED AT EXERTING PRESSURE ON THE GERMAN WEDGE FROM BOTH SIDES AND MAKE IT COLLAPSE."

"IT REMAINS TO BE SEEN WHETHER THE VERY BITTER FIGHTING IS APPROACHING A QUICK CLIMAX, OR GLIDING INTO AN INTERMEDIATE PHASE."

THE GERMAN HIGH COMMAND DECLARED A MAJOR TANK BATTLE HAD BROKEN OUT YESTERDAY NORTH OF LAROCHE, AND THAT 70 TANKS OF THE U.S. THIRD AND SEVENTH ARMORED DIVISIONS WERE KNOCKED OUT.

"THE LARGE-SCALE BATTLE IN SOUTHEASTERN BELGIUM AND CENTRAL LUXEMBOURG IS INCREASING IN VIOLENCE," THE GERMAN COMMUNIQUE ADDED.

THERE WAS NO ALLIED REPORT OF A BIG TANK ENGAGEMENT NORTH OF LAROCHE--WHICH WOULD PUT THE ACTION ALONG THE NORTHERN RIM OF THE GERMANS' BELGIAN CORRIDOR, BETWEEN MARCHE AND STAVELOT--NOR CONFIRMATION OF SUCH TANK LOSSES. BERLIN SAID 158 ALLIED TANKS WERE SHOT UP OR CAPTURED ON THE WESTERN FRONT YESTERDAY.

THE HIGH COMMAND SAID AMERICAN EFFORTS TO RELIEVE BASTOGNE, AND ASSAULTS IN CENTRAL LUXEMBOURG HAD FAILED, BUT ADMITTED U.S. GAINS WEST OF ECHTERNACH.

BY HOWARD COWAN

LONDON, DEC.27-(AP)-THE BRUSSELS RADIO SAID TONIGHT THAT AMERICAN RELIEF COLUMNS HAD REACHED THE AMERICAN GARRISON AT BASTOGNE WHICH HAD BEEN CUT OFF BY THE GERMAN ADVANCE FOR MORE THAN A WEEK.

"THE RELIEF FORCES HAVE LINKED UP WITH ALLIED DEFENDERS AROUND THE TOWN," THE BELGIAN BROADCAST SAID.

HAVING REJECTED A NAZI ULTIMATUM FOR SURRENDER, THE TRAPPED DOUGHBOYS HAVE BEEN HOLDING OUT AGAINST TREMENDOUS ENEMY PRESSURE AND WERE REPORTED TO HAVE TAKEN A LARGE TOLL OF GERMAN ARMOR IN THEIR DEFENSE OF THE TOWN. THE AMERICAN FORCE IS DESCRIBED AS SIZABLE, BUT ITS NUMBER HAS NOT BEEN DISCLOSED.

THE BESIEGED TROOPS RECEIVED HUNDREDS OF TONS OF SUPPLIES, PRINCIPALLY AMMUNITION, TODAY. IT WAS DROPPED FROM TRAINS OF C-47 TRANSPORT PLANES WHICH FLEW FROM BOTH BRITAIN AND FRANCE WITH THEIR CARGOES.

THE FIRST TRANSPORT SLIPPED OVER THE GERMAN LINES AT DAWN AND DROPPED A UNIT OF PARATROOPERS TO GUIDE THE OTHER C-47'S TO THE SCENE.

HALF AN HOUR AFTERWARD THEY RADIOED BACK THAT THEY HAD LANDED SAFELY BUNDLES OF AMMUNITION, FOOD AND MEDICINE WERE BEING DROPPED TO THE SURROUNDED AMERICANS.

THE TRANSPORT PILOTS ENCOUNTERED NO OPPOSITION FROM GERMAN PLANES, BUT FLEW THROUGH HEAVY GROUNDFIRE. THEY SAW FOUR TANKS, WHICH THEY BELIEVED WERE GERMAN, BURNING IN THE BASTOGNE AREA, SPOTTED AN ENEMY TANK COLUMN RESTING BY THE ROAD AND NOTIFIED AIRFORCE HEADQUARTERS THAT IT WAS A PERFECT TARGET FOR FIGHTERBOMBERS.

THE C-47 MISSION WAS CARRIED OUT WITHOUT ANY FIGHTER ESCORT.

THE MAJORITY OF THE PARACHUTED CARGO CONSISTED OF ARTILLERY SHELLS, ROLLS OF TELEPHONE WIRE FOR RESTORING COMMUNICATIONS AND CASES OF RATIONS. THERE WAS ROOM ALSO FOR CIGARETTES, GUM, CANDY AND GI MESSAGES OF CHRISTMAS CHEER.

FIRST LEAD BASTOGNE

LONDON, DEC. 27-(AP)-THE BRUSSELS RADIO SAID TONIGHT THAT RELIEF COLUMNS HAD REACHED THE AMERICAN GARRISON AT BASTOGNE, WHICH HAS BEEN CUT OFF FOR MORE THAN A WEEK.

EARLIER A DISPATCH FROM THE U.S. FIRST ARMY HEADQUARTERS REPORTED THAT A SINGLE U.S. ARMY VEHICLE HAD BROKEN THROUGH THE GERMAN RING AROUND THE BELGIAN CITY. A BBC BROADCAST SAID AMERICAN COLUMNS, OFFICIALLY LAST REPORTED 4 1/2 MILES FROM BASTOGNE, HAD REACHED A POINT 1 1/4 MILES FROM THE TOWN.

HUNDREDS OF TONS OF SUPPLIES--MAINLY AMMUNITION--WERE PARACHUTED TO THE AMERICANS IN THE BASTOGNE AREA DURING THE DAY.

TWIN-ENGINED C-47 SKY TRAINS FLEW FROM BRITAIN AND FRANCE WITH CARGOES FOR THE DOUGHBOYS WHO HAVE WITHSTOOD REPEATED NAZI TANK ATTACKS WHILE WAITING FOR RELIEF COLUMNS LAST OFFICIALLY REPORTED 4 1/2 MILES AWAY.

LAST WEEK THE AMERICAN GARRISON, ORIGINALLY NUMBERING SEVERAL THOUSAND TROOPS, REJECTED A GERMAN ULTIMATUM TO SURRENDER.

A LONE C-47 PILOTED BY LT.COL.JOEL L.CROUCH, RIVERSIDE, CALIF., SNEAKED OVER THE GERMAN LINES AT DAWN AND DROPPED A PARACHUTE TROOP PATHFINDER UNIT TO GUIDE NOTHER CARGO PLANES TO THE SCENE.

THEY RADIOED BACK THEY HAD LANDED SAFELY AND AN HOUR LATER TROOP CARRIER PLANES BEGAN DROPPING BUNDLES OF AMMUNITION, FOOD AND MEDICINE TO THE SURROUNDED AMERICANS.

DEC 28 1944

CROUCH, WHO FLEW THE FIRST PARATROOPER SPEARHEADS ON EVERY ALLIED LANDING IN THE WAR AGAINST HITLER, SAID GERMAN PLANES DID NOT MOLEST HIS CRAFT BUT THAT HE ENCOUNTERED HEAVY GROUND FIRE FROM A GERMAN TANK CONCENTRATION.

"I NOTICED THREE OR FOUR TANKS BURNING IN THE AREA AND SAW ONE HUGE TANK--PROBABLY GERMAN--ABOUT 400 YARDS FROM THE POINT WHERE OUR PARATROOPS WERE DROPPED," HE SAID.

"THE ENTIRE AREA WAS COVERED WITH SHELL HOLES THAT SPOTTED THE FROST-COVERED GROUND IN THE AREA. THERE WAS AN ENEMY ARMORED COLUMN RESTING ALONGSIDE THE ROAD WHICH WOULD HAVE BEEN DUCK SOUP FOR OUR FIGHTERBOMBERS. I RADIOED THE INFORMATION BACK IN HOPES THAT THE FIGHTERS WOULD COME OUT."

LONDON, DEC. 27-(AP)-THE BRITISH BROADCASTING COMPANY REPORTED TONIGHT THAT PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL HAD TOLD AN ATHENS PRESS CONFERENCE THAT HE, PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND PREMIER STALIN WOULD REVIEW THE GREEK SITUATION IN A MEETING SOON. HE ADDED THAT IF THE GREEKS DID NOT SOON SOLVE THEIR DIFFERENCES AN "INTERNATIONAL TRUST MIGHT BE NECESSARY TO RULE THE COUNTRY."

BBC SAID A DISPATCH FROM ITS CORRESPONDENT, JOHN NIXON, SAID CHURCHILL HAD DECLARED THE BRITISH HAD "ENOUGH TROOPS ON THE SPOT AND ON THE WAY TO GAIN COMPLETE MASTERY OVER ATHENS" AND ADDED "IT SEEMS THE OTHER SIDE WOULD SEE THIS AND STOP FIGHTING."

NIXON'S DISPATCH ADDED THAT THE ALL-PARTY PEACE CONFERENCE CONVENED BY CHURCHILL AND FOREIGN SECRETARY ANTHONY EDEN HAD DECIDED UNANIMOUSLY IN FAVOR OF A REGENCY FOR GREECE AND THAT THE CONFERENCE HAD ADJOURNED.

"THERE IS A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION AS TO WHEN THE REGENCY SHOULD BE SET UP, BUT A MAJORITY OF THE DELEGATES ARE IN FAVOR OF IT IMMEDIATELY," NIXON REPORTED.

DEC 28 1944

CHURCHILL, WHOSE WORDS TO NEWSMEN AT THE EMBASSY FREQUENTLY WERE DROWNED OUT BY THE SOUND OF GUNFIRE, SAID DETERMINEDLY THAT THE BRITISH ARMED INTERVENTION WOULD NOT STOP UNTIL THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE GREEK GOVERNMENT AND THE LEFTIST ELAS HAD BEEN SETTLED, "EITHER BY FREE NEGOTIATION OR BY INCREASING THE USE OF MILITARY FORCE."

THE BRITISH, NIXON QUOTED CHURCHILL AS SAYING, WILL NOT LEAVE UNTIL THEY RECEIVED "GUARANTEES IN WHICH WE CAN BELIEVE THAT A FAIR AND DECENT GOVERNMENT WOULD BE SET UP WHICH WOULD NOT PAY OFF OLD SCORES ON EITHER SIDE."

THE PRIME MINISTER SAID, NIXON REPORTED, THAT HE WAS CONVINCED THAT IF THE BRITISH HAD NOT INTERVENED, THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN A "SERIOUS MASSACRE IN ATHENS."

WITH THE U.S. SEVENTH ARMY, DEC. 27-(AP)-THE ROAR OF PLANES OVERWHELMED THE SOUND OF ARTILLERY AND RIFLES ON THE SEVENTH ARMY FRONT TODAY AS THE LULL IN GROUND ACTION CONTINUED AND THE AIR OFFENSIVE THUNDERED THROUGH ITS FIFTH CONSECUTIVE DAY IN COLD, CLEAR WEATHER.

DEC 28 1944

PATROL CLASHES AND LIGHT ARTILLERY EXCHANGES WERE THE ONLY ACTIVITY FOR LT.GEN.ALEXANDER M.PATCH'S DOUGHBOYS.

TO THE SOUTH, AROUND COLMAR, THE GERMANS CONTINUED TO HAMMER AT THE ALLIED LINES AND FOUGHT THEIR WAY BACK INTO PART OF SIGOLSHEIM NORTH OF THE CITY.

THUNDERBOLTS HIT AMMUNITION DUMPS IN THE AREA OF KAISERLAUTERN AND PIRMASENS IN THE REAR OF THE SIEGFRIED LINE JUST WEST OF THE RHINE. THE TOLL OF ENEMY TRANSPORT CONTINUED TO RISE, WITH 53

LOCOMOTIVES AND 392 RAIL CKRS DESTROYED OR DAMAGED. ONE TRAIN CARRYING FUEL EXPLODED, SENDING FLAMES 1,500 FEET IN THE UIR.

TWO MESSERSCHMITT PLANES WERE DESTROYED IN A DOGFIGHT BY LT. BERNARD KNOLL OF HOLLAND, MICH., AND LT.LEROY TRAN, 1729 67TH STREET BROOKLYN, N.Y.

STAVELOT SECTOR IN BELGIUM, 2 P.M., DEC. 27-(AP)-DURING THE PAST 24 HOURS FIELD MARSHAL VON RUNDSTEDT HAS SUFFERED HIS FIRST SERIOUS SETBACK SINCE THE GERMAN OFFENSIVE BEGAN 11 DAYS AGO.

DEC 28 1944

AT THE SAME TIME THE WEATHER CONTINUED CLEAR AND THE ALLIED AIR FORCES WHITTLED AWAY AT NAZI TANKS AND TRANSPORT. FLIGHT AFTER FLIGHT OF THUNDERBOLT FIGHTERBOMBERS POUNDED GERMAN POSITIONS.

JUST SOUTH OF HERE, FIGHTERBOMBERS A FEW MINUTES AGO CAUGHT A GERMAN TANK SPEARHEAD MILLING AROUND ON TOP OF A BALD RIDGE AND STRUCK HEAVILY, DESTROYING AT LEAST TWO TANKS AND DAMAGING SEVERAL OTHERS.

"THEY REALLY GAVE THAT COLUMN A WORKING OVER," DECLARED MAJ. ALBERT TREARSE OF LANDSDOWNE, PA.

ALL ALONG THE NORTHERN FLANK THERE WERE INDICATIONS THE GERMANS WERE ON THE DEFENSE FOR THE MOMENT, WITH INFANTRY REPLACING TANKS AND MACHINEGUN POSITIONS BEING SET UP. VON RUNDSTEDT APPARENTLY STILL IS TRYING TO TURN THE AMERICAN LINE TO THE WEST, BUT FROM HERE EAST THE HUGE LOSSES CONVINCED HIM THE LINE WAS FIRMLY HELD.

WITH THUNDERBOLTS BY THE HUNDREDS SEARCHING THE ROADS IN THE BULGE FOR TARGETS, VON RUNDSTEDT PROBABLY IS AWAITING BAD WEATHER BEFORE PUTTING FORTH A NEW BLOW.

DESPITE THE AGGRESSIVENESS OF THE GERMAN AIR FORCE, WHICH WAS OVER THE AMERICAN LINES SEVERAL TIMES THIS MORNING, ALLIED AIR POWER HAS BEEN THE BIGGEST THORN IN THE GERMANS' SIDE.

AN ATTEMPT LAST NIGHT TO PIERCE THE AMERICAN NORTH FLANK FARTHER WEST WITH A MOONLIGHT ASSAULT WAS RUTHLESSLY CRUSHED.

"WE THREW THE WHOLE BOOK AT THEM--JUST PILED IT ON WITH 155S ON DOWN TO RIFLES," SAID LT.GLEN KEAN OF OIL CITY, PA. "THE ATTACK BROKE DOWN AND WAS WIPED OUT IN FOUR HOURS."

BITTER COLD STILL GRIPS THE FRONT AND TANKS CAN OPERATE ALMOST ANYWHERE. WEATHER CONDITIONS IN THE PAST FOUR DAYS HAVE BEEN IDEAL FOR GEN.EISENHOWER'S FORCES IN CONTRAST TO THE FIRST SIX DAYS, WHEN LOW-HANGING CLOUDS AND RAIN OPERATED ALL TO VON RUNDSTEDT'S ADVANTAGE.

ONE GROUP OF 12 SELF-PROPELLED GUNS WAS FOUND IN THE WOODS IN A SECTOR WHERE THE ENEMY HAS MADE HIS MOST SPECTACULAR ADVANCES. THEY WERE IN GOOD CONDITION, EXCEPT FOR THE LACK OF FUEL. NEAR A SMALL VILLAGE, 17 FUELLESS ENEMY TANKS WERE DISCOVERED. THE CREWS HAD FLED.

THE CLARK FIELD RAID WAS A CONTINUATION OF THE STEPPED UP AERIAL INVASION OF LUZON, WHERE A SIZEABLE YANK AIR FORCE WAS DESTROYED BY THE JAPANESE AT THE WAR'S OUTSET.

DEC 28 1944

LIBERATORS DROPPED 59 TONS OF BOMBS ON PALAWAN'S PUERTO PRINCESS AIRDROME WHILE FIGHTERS HIT MASBATE HARBOR WATERFRONT INSTALLATIONS.

HEAVY AND MEDIUM BOMBERS SMASHED AT AIRDROMES AND SHIPPING AT ZAMBOANGA AND DAVAO, MINDANAO ISLAND. THREE SMALL COASTAL FREIGHTERS, A BARGE AND A JETTY WERE DESTROYED IN DAVAO GULF.

IN THE DUTCH EAST INDIES, AMERICAN PLANES DROPPED 161 TONS OF BOMBS ON BORNEO AIRFIELDS AND RAILROAD SHOPS AND STRUCK AT CELEBES HARBOR FACILITIES AND INSTALLATIONS AT MANADO, MAPANGET AND KENDARI. TWO SMALL FREIGHTERS WERE DESTROYED AND A THIRD DRIVEN AGROUND.

HALMAHERA, IN THE MOLUCCAS, WAS HIT WITH 160 TONS OF BOMBS, BRINGING THE TWO-DAY TOTAL AIMED AT AIRDROMES, BIVTUAC AND SUPPLY AREAS TO 275 TONS. THIS WAS A HEAVY SMASH AT THESE TARGETS.

MITCHELLS RAIDED POSITIONS ON TIMOR AND HEAVILY DAMAGED A SMALL FREIGHTER NEARBY.

ONE PLANE LOST DURING A RAID OF MEDIUM BOMBERS ON SHIPPING AND INSTALLATIONS ALONG THE NEW GUINEA COAST.

NINETY TONS OF BOMBS WERE DROPPED ON RABAUL, NEW BRITAIN. FIGHTER BOMBERS RAIDED ENEMY ENCAMPMENTS ON NEW IRELAND AND BOUGAINVILLE. TWO PLANES WERE BROUGHT DOWN BY ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE BUT THE CREWS WERE RESCUED.

WHILE THESE ATTACKS ARE WIPING OUT THE ENEMY'S HOPE OF AERIAL RESISTANCE TO FURTHER LANDINGS IN THE ARCHIPELAGO OF AMERICAN LIBERATION FORCES, AMERICAN INFANTRY MOPPED UP MINOR OPPOSITION ON RECONQUERED LEYTE ISLAND AND STRENGTHENED POSITIONS ON MINDORO, JUST SOUTH OF LUZON.

THE MINISTER USED THE 86TH SESSION OF THE DIET AS THE SOUNDING BOARD FOR HIS STATEMENT.)

SOME SECTION OF LUZON HAS BEEN HIT EVERY DAY SO FAR THIS MONTH WITH FIVE EXCEPTIONS. PRIME TARGETS OF THE BOMBERS HAVE BEEN THE SCORES OF ENEMY AIRFIELDS LOCATED ON THE ISLAND. DEFENSE INSTALLATIONS AND SHIPPING IN THE HARBORS FROM ONE END OF THE ISLAND TO THE OTHER ALSO HAVE BEEN BLASTED.

DEC 28 1944

IN THE LAST EIGHT DAYS OF RAIDING, 107 NIPPONESE PLANES DEFINITELY HAVE BEEN DESTROYED. IN ADDITION, A "MAJORITY OF 100 PLANES" CAUGHT ON THE GROUND AT CLARK FIELD WERE DESTROYED, GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR REPORTED ON DEC. 24.

CLARK FIELD, THE ENEMY'S MAJOR AIR CENTER, HAS BEEN HIT BY LAND-BASED HEAVY BOMBERS FOR FOUR CONSECUTIVE DAYS. THE FOURTH ATTACK, REPORTED IN WEDNESDAY'S COMMUNIQUE, NETTED 39 ENEMY FIGHTER PLANES, BRINGING THE TWO-DAY TOTAL TO 72, AGAINST U.S. LOSSES OF SIX. THE MABALACAT RUNWAY AT CLARK FIELD WAS CRATERED WITH 44 TONS OF EXPLOSIVES.

ENEMY AIRDROMES IN THE VISAYAN ISLANDS AND ON MINDANAO ARE BEING HAMMERED REGULARLY IN THE CAMPAIGN TO DESTROY JAPANESE AERIAL STRENGTH THROUGHOUT THE ARCHIPELAGO.

THE JOINT ANNOUNCEMENT YESTERDAY CAME THREE DAYS AFTER YANK WARSHIPS STOOD OFF IWO TO POUR SHELLS INTO ITS INSTALLATIONS. THIS FOLLOWED A RAID ON SAIPAN DEC. 24 BY A FORCE OF 16 TO 25 ENEMY PLANES, APPARENTLY BASED ON IWO.

DEC 28 1944

THE FIRST COORDINATED ATTACK FROM THE AIR AND SEA ON IWO WAS MADE DEC. 7, FOLLOWED BY ANOTHER DEC.23. AMERICAN SUPERFORTRESSES TEAMED WITH THE WARSHIPS AND OTHER PLANES IN HITTING THE ISLAND, STAGING BASE FOR RAIDS ON THE SUPERFORT BASE ON SAIPAN, 750 MILES TO THE SOUTH IN THE MARIANAS.

AMERICAN WARSHIPS HAD SHELLED THE ISLAND FOUR TIMES PREVIOUSLY, THE FIRST ATTACK BEING MADE LAST JULY 3.

IWO, WHICH HAS AN AREA OF ONLY EIGHT SQUARE MILES, HAS BEEN RAIDED 23 DAYS THIS MONTH, WITH MORE THAN ONE ATTACK ON SOME DAYS. THE ISLAND HAS THUS BEEN ROCKED BY THE MOST INTENSIVE NEUTRALIZATION RAIDS IN THE PACIFIC WAR OVER SUCH A BRIEF PERIOD.

NEUTRALIZING RAIDS CONTINUED AGAINST ISOLATED ENEMY BASES IN THE MARSHALL ISLANDS WITH ATTACKS DEC. 25 AND 26 BY MARINE AND NAVY AIRCRAFT.

TWENTYFIRST BOMBER COMMAND, SAIPAN, DEC 27-(AP)-AMERICAN SUPERFORTRESSES, TURNED LOOSE ON JAPAN NOV. 24, DROPPED 3,000,-000 POUNDS OF BOMBS THE FIRST 30 DAYS, COMPLETELY KNOCKING OUT THE ENEMY'S LARGEST TWIN-ENGINE BOMBER PLANT, CRIPPLING A SECOND AIRCRAFT FACTORY, DAMAGING TOKYO'S CROWDED WATERFRONT AND BLASTING NAGOYA'S SHIPYARDS AND POWER PLANT.

"THE B-29 AIRPLANE HAS PROVED ITSELF A MAGNIFICENT WEAPON OF WAR," SAID BRIG.GEN.HAYWOOD HANSELL, JR., IN SUMMARIZING THE RESULTS TODAY.

THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS, AUTHENTICATED BY RECONNAISSANCE PHOTOGRAPHS, ARE BUT A FORETASTE OF WHAT CAN BE DONE TO JAPAN AFTER THE LESSONS OF THE "EARLY EXPERIMENTAL STAGES" HAVE BEEN LEARNED, THE 21ST'S COMMANDER POINTED OUT.

"JAPAN IS BLEEDING INTERNALLY NOW," HIS STATEMENT CONCLUDED, "AND WHILE THE CAUSE OF THIS CRITICAL AILMENT IS EASILY DIAGNOSED, THERE IS NO CURE FOR IT THAT THE JAPANESE CAN DEVISE UNTIL THE WAR WITH JAPAN IS ENDED."

TWO B-29S WERE LOST DURING THE FIRST MONTH OVER THE TARGETS--VITAL INDUSTRIAL AREAS OFTEN DEFENDED BY INTENSE ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE AND ON OCCASIONS BY SWARMS OF ENEMY FIGHTER PLANES--AND AN UNDISCLOSED NUMBER OF OTHER GIANT BOMBERS WENT DOWN AT SEA AS OPERATIONAL CASUALTIES OF THE 3,000-MILE ROUNDTRIP FLIGHT FROM SAIPAN. MORE THAN HALF THE CREWS HAVE BEEN RESCUED, WITH THE POSSIBILITY OF ADDITIONAL RESCUES PROMPTING THE WITHHOLDING OF THE EXACT FIGURES.

"THESE OPERATIONAL LOSSES HAVE IN NO SENSE BEEN HEAVY" AND THEY "HAVE BEEN FEWER THAN EXPECTED," GENERAL HANSELL SAID.

SOME OF THE RESULTS:

"I CAN BELIEVE I CAN SAY FLATLY THAT THE HATSODOKI PLANT (NAGOYA'S PRODUCER OF TWIN ENGINE BOMBERS AND FIGHTER PLANES), LARGEST OF ITS KIND IN JAPAN, IS AT THIS TIME OUT OF BUSINESS WITH AT LEAST 40 PERCENT OF ITS BUILDINGS DESTROYED OR GUTTED BY FIRE.

"THE KOKUKI (AIRCRAFT) PLANT (AT NAGOYA) HAS ALSO SUFFERED EXTENSIVE DAMAGE WITH RESULTANT INTERRUPTION OF PRODUCTION."

"HEAVY CONCENTRATIONS OF BOMB HITS" ALSO WERE REGISTERED ON NAGOYA'S STEAM POWER PLANT AND SHIPYARDS.

AT TOKYO, EFFORTS TO DEAL A CRIPPLING BLOW AT THE MUSASHINO AIRCRAFT FACTORY--IT WAS THE B-29S INITIAL TARGET NOV. 24--WERE THWARTED BY OBSCURING WEATHER BUT A FEW BUILDINGS WERE DESTROYED AND "A GOOD DEAL OF DAMAGE" WAS DEALT THE ALTERNATIVE TARGET OF THE INDUSTRIAL WATERFRONT.

GENERAL HANSELL SAID "THE RAIDS ON NAGOYA (JAPAN'S THIRD LARGEST CITY AND CENTER OF HER AIRCRAFT PRODUCTION) WERE MORE ALONG THE LINES OF WHAT WE INTEND TO DO AGAIN AND AGAIN TO ENEMY WAR PLANTS IN OUR PINPOINT STRATEGIC BOMBARDMENT OF JAPAN FROM OUR BASES IN THE MARIANAS."

"I WOULD SAY IN SUMMING UP OUR ACCOMPLISHMENTS IN THE 30 DAYS SINCE WE FIRST BOMBED TOKYO," THE GENERAL CONSERVATIVELY COMMENTED, "THAT THESE FIRST ACCOMPLISHMENTS HAVE BEEN ENCOURAGING BUT THAT THEY ARE FAR FROM THE STANDARDS OF PERFECTION.

"AND WHEN THEY FAIL TO PUT BOMBS RIGHT ON THE PRIMARY TARGETS, THEY DO NOT CONSIDER THAT THEY HAVE DONE A GOOD JOB EVEN THOUGH THEIR BOMBS HIT OTHER FACTORY AREAS AND EVEN THOUGH THEIR BOMBS DO GREAT DAMAGE IN THOSE ADJACENT AREAS.

OF CONSIDERABLE IMPORTANCE IN ADDITION TO THE BOMB DAMAGE, THE B-29S HAVE "DEMONSTRATED IN TERMS WHICH THE MOST IGNORANT JAPANESE COULD UNDERSTAND THAT THE JAPANESE MILITARY LEADERS WERE NOT DOING VERY WELL IN THEIR EFFORT TO LICK AMERICA."

THE NAVIGATOR, WHOSE NAME WAS WITHHELD, WAS NOT SEEN AFTER HE CAME DOWN WITH HIS PARACHUTE IN THE SEA.

BALDWIN AND SMITH BAILED OUT AND CAME DOWN JUST OFF THE ENEMY-HELD ISLAND. THEY SWAM AND WADED TO THE BEACH.

CONNELL'S PARACHUTE CAUGHT ON THE TOPS OF TREES IN THE JUNGLE, A MILE INLAND. HE MANAGED TO FREE HIMSELF AND CRAWLED DOWN THE TRUNK OF THE TREE. AFTER TWO HOURS OF WANDERING AND STUMBLING, ONCE OVER A CROCODILE, HE JOINED BALDWIN AND SMITH.

THE EXPERIENCES OF MORRISON AND RODRIGUEZ WERE SIMILAR, EXCEPT THAT THE LATTER ENCOUNTERED TWO MEAN LOOKING WILD PIGS INSTEAD OF A CROCODILE.

DROLLINGER ALSO CAME DOWN IN THE JUNGLE AND MADE HIS WAY TO THE OPPOSITE SIDE OF THE ISLAND. THERE HE WAS MET BY VAN GORDER, BLAKE AND WINGERT, ALL OF WHOM HAD DRIFTED DOWN INTO THE WATER, AND BY AVENIUS, COMING OUT OF THE JUNGLE.

BALDWIN'S PARTY SPENT THE REMAINDER OF THE DAY AND THE NIGHT IN CORAL ROCKS JUTTING OUT INTO THE SEA AFTER THEY HAD BEEN SPOTTED BY A FRIENDLY PLANE, WHICH DROPPED EMERGENCY PROVISIONS.

DROLLINGER'S PARTY MADE THEIR WAY, ONCE SWIMMING A RIVER, TO AN ABANDONED NATIVE HUT IN A COCONUT GROVE. THEIR ONLY FOOD WAS COCONUTS AND CHOCOLATE BARS. THEY WERE KEPT AWAKE BY LAND CRABS, ANTS AND MOSQUITOES. THE NEXT MORNING THEY SIGHTED THE PATROL VESSEL AND WERE TAKEN ABOARD AFTER IT RESPONDED TO THEIR SIGNALS. THE BOAT THEN WENT AROUND THE ISLAND AND PICKED UP BALDWIN'S GROUP.

THE O'BRIEN'S CAPTAIN, COMMANDER W.W.OUTERBRIDGE OF WASHINGTON, D.C., HAD A LUMP IN HIS THROAT AND SUSPICIOUS MOISTURE ABOUT HIS EYES AS HE WATCHED THE DESTROYER'S FIVE-INCH GUNS TRAINS SQUARELY ON THE ABANDONED WARD AND GAVE THE ORDER:

"COMMENCE FIRE."

THE WARD HAD BEEN BADLY DAMAGED BY ENEMY BOMBERS SHORTLY AFTER LANDING HER COMPLEMENT OF TROOPS AT ORMOC BAY AND NOW SHE WAS TO BE DESTROYED BY OUR OWN GUNFIRE. EVERY OFFICER AND MAN HAD BEEN REMOVED TO SAFETY.

THE FIRST SALVO LANDED SQUARELY ON THE TARGET. THERE WAS A CRIMSON FLASH AND THEN THE WARD WAS ENVELOPED BY A MIGHTY BLOSSOM OF SMOKE AND STEAM AS AN EXPLOSION BURST HER OPEN. IT WAS THE END OF A GALLANT SHIP AND ONE FOR WHICH COMMANDER OUTERBRIDGE HAD PARTICULAR AFFECTION.

(LOSS OF THE WARD WAS DISCLOSED IN A DEC.22 NAVY COMMUNIQUE.)

EXACTLY THREE YEARS BEFORE--DEC.7, 1941--OUTERBRIDGE HAD BEEN IN COMMAND OF THE WARD AT PEARL HARBOR. HIS SHIP WAS ON ANTI-SUBMARINE PATROL THAT MORNING AND HAD ESTABLISHED A DEFINITE SUBMARINE CONTACT. IT DROPPED DEPTH CHARGES WHICH BROUGHT UP AN OIL SLICK. FINALLY BITS OF A JAPANESE SUBMARINE FLOATED TO THE SURFACE. THE WARD THUS HAD FIRED THE FIRST OFFICIAL SHOT OF THE WAR.

OUTERBRIDGE WAS GIVEN A NAVY CROSS FOR HIS PERFORMANCE. NOW HE HAD BEEN CALLED UPON TO DESTROY THAT VESSEL AND IT WAS THE TOUGHEST ASSIGNMENT OF THE WAR FOR HIM.

OUTERBRIDGE'S GUNNERY OFFICER AT THE TIME THE WARD SANK THE SUBMARINE WAS LT.RICHARD W.FARWELL OF SAN DIEGO, CALIF. BY A STRANGE TWIST OF CIRCUMSTANCE IT WAS FARWELL WHO WAS COMMANDING OFFICER OF THE WARD TODAY.

AMERICAN DOUGHBOYS BESIEGED IN BASTOGNE, BELGIUM, SINCE DEC. 20 CONTINUED TODAY TO FIGHT OFF GERMAN EFFORTS TO PENETRATE INTO THE TOWN. THEIR EPIC STRUGGLE MAY GO DOWN IN HISTORY ALONG WITH THE SIEGES OF BATAAN, SEVASTOPOL, TOBRUK, LUCKNOW, STALINGRAD, LADYSMITH AND LENINGRAD.

DEC 28 1944

TWO DAYS AFTER THE CURRENT GERMAN WESTERN FRONT OFFENSIVE TRAPPED THE YANKS THE GERMANS SENT THEM AN ULTIMATUM TO SURRENDER. IT WAS IMMEDIATELY TURNED DOWN. TODAY AMERICAN RELIEF COLUMNS WERE REPORTED OFFICIALLY FOUR AND A HALF MILES FROM THE TOWN AND PLANES DROPPED SUPPLIES TO THE GARRISON.
THE SIEGE OF BATAAN BEGAN JAN. 3, 1942. OUTNUMBERED AMERICANS AND FILIPINOS HELD OUT DOGGEDLY UNTIL APRIL 9 WHEN THE LAST WEARY REMNANTS WITHDREW TO CORREGIDOR OR SURRENDER TO THE JAPANESE. CORREGIDOR CAPITULATED MAY 6.
SOME 92,000 FILIPINO AND 14,000 AMERICANS WERE ENGAGED IN THE ENTIRE PHILIPPINE CAMPAIGN. IN BATAAN THESE FORCES WERE REDUCED TO 36,853 FILIPINO AND AMERICAN EFFECTIVES WHO FOUGHT OFF SOME 150,000 JAPANESE FOR THREE MONTHS.
DURING STALINGRAD'S 162-DAY SIEGE THE GERMAN ARMY LOST SOME 330,000 TROOPS PLUS FIELD MARSHAL FRIEDRICH PAULUS AND 15 OF HIS GENERALS. STALINGRAD MARKED THE HIGH TIDE OF THE GERMAN ADVANCE INTO RUSSIA.
SEVASTOPOL, RECAPTURED BY THE RUSSIANS MAY 9, TWICE BEFORE HAD UNDERGONE MEMORABLE SIEGES--FOR 11 MONTHS IN 1854-55 WHEN THE BRITISH AND FRENCH FOUGHT THE CRIMEAN WAR WITH RUSSIA, AND FOR NINE MONTHS, FROM OCT. 1941 TO JULY 3, 1942 WHEN THE GERMANS FINALLY TOOK IT.
LENINGRAD, RUSSIA'S SECOND LARGEST CITY, WITHSTOOD A GERMAN SIEGE FOR 2 1/2 YEARS BEFORE THE RED ARMY FORCED THE NAZI TROOPS TO RETREAT FROM THE APPROACHES TO THE CITY. DURING THE MONTHS THAT THE GERMANS POUNDED AT THE GATES OF THE CITY THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS OF TONS OF SHELLS WERE HURLED AT THE CITY, AS THE NAZIS SOUGHT FUTILELY TO FORCE ITS SURRENDER.

B53
THE BRITISH FIRST CAPTURED TOBRUK, 80 MILES FROM THE EGYPTIAN BORDER, ON JAN. 22, 1941, AND HELD ON TO IT FOR 17 MONTHS. WHEN IT WAS FINALLY TAKEN, JUNE 22, 1942 BY FIELD MARSHAL ERWIN ROMMEL'S TROOPS SOME 33,000 BRITISH TROOPS WERE CAPTURED. ITS LOSS WAS ONE OF THE WORST DEFEATS SUFFERED BY THE BRITISH IN NORTH AFRICA. FIELD MARSHAL BERNARD L.MONTGOMERY'S EIGHTH ARMY RECAPTURED THE LIBYAN PORT FOUR MONTHS LATER.
ONE OF THE MOST TRAGIC AND GLORIOUS STANDS OF THE PRESENT WAR WAS MADE BY BRITISH AIRBORNE TROOPS AT ARNHEM WHERE ONLY ABOUT 2,000 OF AN ORIGINAL FORCE OF 8,000 CAME BACK. BUT IT COST THE GERMANS HEAVILY WITH SOME 12,000 TO 15,000 NAZIS ESTIMATED KILLED IN FIERCE ATTACKS ON THE TRAPPED PARATROOPERS. THE MAIN REMNANTS OF THE BRITISH FORCE WERE RESCUED SEPT. 26 AFTER AN EIGHT-DAY STAND.
ANOTHER FAMOUS BRITISH STAND WAS MADE DURING THE BOER WAR AT LADYSMITH WHERE FORCES COMMANDED BY SIR GEORGE WHITE WITHSTOOD A FOUR MONTHS SIEGE BEFORE BEING RESCUED FEB. 28, 1900 BY SIR REDVERS BULLER.
AT LUCKNOW, INDIA, DURING THE MUTINY OF 1857 1,700 BRITISH RESIDENTS AND TROOPS HELD OUT FOR 12 WEEKS AGAINST 10,000 BESIEGERS.

tanks joined the attack on the beleaguered band so two jeeps carrying a total of five men were slipped out to seek help, but fire from the east bank of the Sure had become too heavy to enable relieving forces to reach the town.

Radio communication had failed by then and while the Americans slowly fought their way back toward the river, news of the lost unit, which up to Tuesday had lost one man, came from prisoners.

All Dead Or Captured

On December 33, one German said his men still were giving wide berth to the town area where "crazy Americans" still were firing. The next day another prisoner said he had seen about 50 Americans being marched out of the town to the east. Still hope was not abandoned.

Nothing more was heard until yesterday when Private John B. Sampley, of Fort Payne, Ala., came out. He had hidden in cellars by day and moved a few blocks each night. He finally got out to open country. He said he feared his companions were all dead or captured.

CARNAGE SPREAD OVER FROZEN SOIL

Wreckage Of Panzer Army 3 Miles From Meuse Described

By HAROLD V. BOYLE

Near Celles, Belgium, Dec. 28 (AP)—Here on the raw cold soil of Belgium, where an American armored outfit stopped von Rundstedt's great offensive 3 miles short of its Meuse river goal, is spread some of the ghastliest carnage of the European war.

Destroyed in four days of unceasing battle which kept the American armies from being chopped in half, the human and steel wreckage of the German Panzer army lies in frozen ruin over miles of Belgium's fields and woodland.

An incomplete inventory of this disaster discloses hundreds of enemy dead and at least 63 tanks, 49 guns and 177 vehicles destroyed or captured.

1,200 Prisoners Taken

More than 1,200 prisoners have been taken from this shattered and broken elite Panzer formation that made up Adolf Hitler's farthest thursting spearhead.

"It is one of the bloodiest battles I ever fought," said an American tank commander, a veteran of three campaigns.

Heavy fog shrouds the hillock and valley with a gray veil that gives fantastic shapes to the leafless trees, burned-out tanks and dead soldiers.

It is a sight to sicken any human who is taught only the glory of war and never the price of defeat. That price is spread everywhere on this wintry landscape of torn flesh and bomb and shell blasted guns.

There has been no time yet to clean up the battlefield. Men are still grimly slugging black remnants of German shock troops.

A light snow lies on crisp fields and ice-sheathed roads. It has collected in little ridges around the blackened yellow bellies of burnt-out German tanks and wheels of silent breech-blown German guns.

It goes unheeded on spent chill faces of German soldiers stretched in death's perpetual frost.

RUSSIAN FORCES TIGHTEN CORDON AROUND BUDAPEST

Fierce Street Fighting Rages in Invaded City as Nazi Losses Mount.

DRIVE TOWARD AUSTRIA

Germans Hurled Out of 12 Suburbs of Burning Hungarian Capital.

LONDON, Friday, Dec. 29—(AP) Russian troops, tightening their trap on invaded Budapest, yesterday hurled the enemy out of 12 eastern suburbs two to four miles from the Hungarian capital as other mobile columns raced through the Danube valley to within 58 miles of Austria and 92 of Vienna.

Budapest was partly in flames, shelled heavily by Russian artillery and its installations dynamited by an enemy which Berlin admitted had retreated into the capital's "inner defenses."

Reds Close In On Pest

Soviet troops, fighting street by street through Buda, western half of the Danubian capital, were within nine miles of a cross-city junction with other units slowly closing in on Pest, the eastern part of the city.

At times Junker transport planes attempted to fly in supplies as they did when Field Marshal von Paulus' army was encircled and smashed at Stalingrad, but Soviet dispatches said that Red army planes dominated the skies over the doomed city.

On the eastern side of the capital the Russians were within two miles of the city limits, within six miles of the capital's heart, and also only four miles from the eastern end of Vasuti bridge, one of six spans across the Danube connecting Buda and Pest.

Other Soviet units which had invaded the western part of the city apparently were in control of the western approaches to Vasuti bridge in the Kelenfold district, but Moscow did not announce the progress of the troops infiltrating the western part of the capital.

A midnight Moscow communique said the Germans were suffering "enormous losses," with battlefields littered with the enemy dead, smashed arms and other equipment.

North of the city the Russians also narrowed the noose on a second body of enemy troops surrounded in the Pilis Hills, capturing Pilisszenkereszt in a mile and one-half advance through the forested uplands in the Danube loop.

Nazi Forces Annihilated

The Germans in this area tried desperately to break out to the west, Moscow said, and while they are being annihilated by Soviet shock troops other Red army units were rolling on toward Austria and Bratislava, puppet Slovak capital.

Units of two powerful armies were engaged in the westward drive, attacking through the broad Danube valley on both sides of the river.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine army, striking through Hungarian-annexed Czechoslovakia north of the Danube, reached the Hron (Garam) river on a 30-mile front from Leva (Levice) down to the Danube. His men were within 65 miles east of Bratislava and 96 miles from Vienna.

Below the river Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine army drove 34 miles northwest of burning Budapest along the main railway to Vienna, capturing Tovaros, only 63 miles southeast of Bratislava and 92 miles from Vienna.

Dispatches delayed through neutral countries said Vienna's war-swollen refugee population was in panic, with thousands fleeing the Austrian capital and the Germans pressing other thousands into fortification work.

By capturing Tovaros the Russians were only 11 miles southeast of Komarom, an important Danube crossing on the route to Bratislava, and 30 miles east of Gyor, big transit center in west Hungary. The Russians also were attacking the stronghold of Tata, less than a mile south of Tovaros, and also had taken Neszmely, on the south bank of the Danube six miles northeast of Tovaros and 12 east of Komarom.

The Russians also gained ground southwest of Szekesfehervar, 32 miles southwest of Budapest, in their effort to break open invasion routes through the Bakony mountains toward Vienna. The communique announced the capture of Polgardi, nine miles south and slightly west of Szekesfehervar, and a number of other towns between that Russian-held stronghold and Lake Balator, including Nadasdladany, eight miles southwest.

A total of 5,454 German and Hungarian prisoners were taken in Wednesday's operations, both in Hungary and Slovakia, Moscow said. Among them was a Hungarian general and eight colonels, captured in the encircled Danube loop north of Budapest.

Gains also were made by Russian troops hitting northeast of Ipolysag (Sahy), in Czechoslovakia 34 miles north of Budapest, as the Russians sought to trap thousands of Germans fighting in the Losonc-Kassa sectors of eastern Slovakia.

On a 20-mile semi-circle around Pest, eastern half of doomed Budapest, the Russians closed in steadily against the Germans, but Moscow did not mention any further progress in Buda, on the western side of the river where the Russians already are within two miles of the city's heart.

Among the places seized on the eastern side were Dunakeszi, on the Danube, three miles north of Upjest, industrial suburb adjoining Pest; Alagi, two miles northeast of Upjest; Arpad, two miles northeast of the municipal city limits; Cinkota, three miles east of the city limits; Rakoskeresztur, four miles east of Budapest; and Pestszentlorinc, six miles from the heart of the city on the southeast.

REDS TIGHTEN SIEGE LINES AT BUDAPEST

Germans Reeling Back in Western Part of City Lose Airport.

NAZIS SPLIT ABOVE CAPITAL

Commander of Hungarian Forces Reported Killed Fighting Russians.

Moscow, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—A doomed Nazi garrison reeled backward in the smoke-filled streets of western Budapest today, but clung with suicidal resistance to positions in the eastern sector of the capital.

[A Berlin broadcast monitored in London said early today that the German garrison in Budapest "has taken up positions on an inner defense ring of the capital" after several Russian penetrations of the German-Hungarian lines. "The Russians are now attacking from the southeast, northeast and west," the broadcast said.

[Tonight's Russian communique announced the entire east bank of the Hron River in Slovakia had been cleared of Germans, the Associated Press reported from London.]

The German and Hungarian defenders were reported to have already been denied the use of one of two remaining airports for evacuation of troops as Soviet forces advanced toward the heart of the city.

With the Red Air Force holding complete mastery in the skies German transports were able to operate only at night from this last field, near Pest, and the casualties were reported great.

Russian troops pushed across the eastern arm of the Danube north of Budapest yesterday, splitting the Nazi troops and driving part of them into the mountainous area in the Great Danube Bend. The remainder were pressed back into Buda, where Soviet units engaged them in house-to-house fighting.

The crossing of the river, which resulted in the Russian capture of Szentendrei Island and a juncture of Red forces on the west bank, cost the Germans and Hungarians 3,000 killed, a Soviet communique said.

Other Red Army troops stormed into Buda from the west and southwest in numerous new penetrations of the suburban arc.

Simultaneously, Marshal Feodor Tolbukhin's First Ukraine Army made new gains northwest of the capital along the Budapest-Vienna railroad and captured several localities in the Great Danube Bend.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's forces north of the Danube continued preparations today to storm the Hron (Garam) River line guarding Austria as the Russian communique reported a drive to clear the Germans from the area between the Hron and Ipoly rivers, in the Czecho-Slovakian-Hungarian frontier region.

The communique, however, again emphasized the proportions of the squeeze on Budapest, reporting the capture of four fortified suburbs on the east bank of the Danube and two on the west bank.

There was no clear delineation of the relative sizes of the split German troops west of the Danube, but the total number of Nazis defending Budapest was originally estimated at about 100,000 men.

[The Budapest radio announced today that Gen. Ivan Hindy, identified as commander of the Hungarian troops defending the capital against the Russian advance, was killed in action.]

Other Soviet forces captured eight places east of Ipolysag in the drive on the key border rail hub of Losonc. More than 3,500 prisoners were taken in the fighting along the Czecho-Slovakian fronts Tuesday, it was announced.

GERMAN RAILWAY LINES BOMBARDED

Big RAF Fleet Follows Up 3,000-Plane Daylight Blow

London, Friday, Dec. 29 (AP)—A big fleet of RAF heavy bombers struck railway targets at Bonn and Munchen-Gladbach in Germany last night after a daylight Blitz by more than 3,000 Allied warplanes from Britain had pounded rail lines supplying Field Marshal von Rundstedt's western salient.

While sleet cut off the battle-front from close aerial support for the first time in six days, upward of 1,200 Fortresses and Liberators of the United States 8th Air Force escorted by 700 Mustangs and Thunderbolts dumped 3,600 tons of bombs on ten targets between the German salient and the Rhine.

Four American bombers were lost, but all the escorting fighters returned safely.

Railway yards, bridges and other critical points in the German transport network came under the aim of "magic eye" instruments, which probed through snowstorms below the bombers to give bombardiers a line on their objectives.

Railway Workshops Hit

In the early dawn, a force of 500 RAF Halifaxes and Lancasters hit rail workshops at Opladen, 12 miles north of Cologne, where the Germans have been repairing military rolling stock. Later this afternoon Lancasters escorted by Mustangs and Spitfires attacked railway yards at Cologne.

The main weight of the American armada was hurled at rail yards and bridges in the vicinity of Neunkirchen, near Saarbrucken on the French border, and at Kaiserlautern, Coblenz and Bonn. This was the first trip in six consecutive operations that United States flyers were able to carry out their missions without being tackled by the German air force.

In the six-day period ending today, the United States 8th Air Force made nearly 6,000 bomber and fighter sorties against more than 70 rail and road line targets essential to the German salient. During this period they also attacked eleven Luftwaffe air bases used for tactical support of von Rundstedt's drive.

3,080 Tanks Destroyed

Incomplete reports for the past five days reveal American planes have destroyed 3,080 tanks, armored vehicles, trucks, locomotives and freight cars. The RAF has accounted for at least 1,000 more. Approximately 600 enemy planes have been shot down by Allied fighters and bombers.

Meanwhile, Italian-based heavies of the United States 15th Air Force ranged northward today and smashed at scattered German oil facilities in Czechoslovakia and hit Brenner Pass rail lines. These raids followed an attack by 500 15th Air Force Fortresses on Austrian oil plants yesterday.

RAF Spitfire pinpoint bombers today resumed their attacks on German V-bomb sites in Holland and destroyed two storage and maintenance depots for rockets. One of these, returning pilots reported, was hidden in the shadow of a large hospital.

GERMANY RAIDED BY 1700 BOMBERS

London, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—Seventeen hundred heavy bombers hammered eleven rail targets in western Germany today despite bad weather which curtailed close air support for American ground forces.

Five hundred British bombers struck just before dawn, aiming their bomb load of about 2,500 tons on ground flares planted by pathfinder planes at Opladen, twelve miles north of Cologne.

The United States Eighth Air Force's 1,200 heavies, also based in Britain, bombed the other targets by instruments through dense clouds. They were escorted by 700 United States Fighters which encountered no opposition from German planes. The British escort, likewise, had no opposition in the air.

The 4,000-ton bomb load of the American armada fell on ten rail yards and bridges and on junction points between the German salient in Belgium and the Rhine. The R. A. F. hit the railway workshop at Opladen, where the Germans have been trying to repair damaged military rolling stock.

Italian-based 15th United States Air Force heavy bombers struck at oil storage centers and rail yards at Regensburg in southern Germany, and Liberators attacked oil refineries in Czechoslovakia.

Official accounts said almost 2,000 pieces of German rail and road transport were demolished yesterday and ninety German fighters were shot down by some 4,000 Allied bombers and fighters which took the air. Allied losses were five bombers and twenty-three fighters.

Rail And Bridge Targets

The heavy bombers concentrated on rail traffic. The medium bombers picked out bridges and supply dumps. The fighters scouted roads and fields for German tanks, trucks and troops.

Allied losses were five bombers and 23 fighters.

Colonel Gets 2 Medals For Bagging 5 Planes

London, Dec. 28 (AP)—Col. David Schilling of Traverse City, Mich., received today the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Service Cross for his destruction of five German fighter planes in combat last Saturday.

Schilling commands the 56th Fighter Group, formerly under Col. Hubert Zemke, now a prisoner of war. He has shot down 24 German planes and destroyed 10½ on the ground.

German Air Force Strength Dwindling

London, Dec. 28 (AP)—Aeroplane, authoritative British magazine, estimated today that the German air force has only about 1,700 aircraft available at any one time for defense of the Reich and support of von Rundstedt's drive.

The bulk of the air force is concentrated in Western Europe where it has a strength of about 2,300 planes, of which about 75 per cent are available at any time, Aeroplane estimated.

Hitler 'Shuns Joys Of Life': Goebbels

London, Dec. 28 (AP)—Silent and secluded, Adolf Hitler is having sleepless nights, goes around with his head bent from poring over maps and is living a frugal existence in which he "shuns the daily joys of life and all its comforts," Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels reports in the publication, Das Reich, the DNB news agency said today.

Calling Hitler a "man the whole world would worship if it only knew what his message is," Goebbels described intimate details of Hitler's current daily program and explained his five months' silence this way:

"He can afford to remain silent for months even if his enemies wish him to speak so that he would reveal his intentions."

Flu Sweeping

Reich, Report

London, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Brussels radio said today an influenza epidemic had broken out in Germany.

The broadcast said the situation was particularly serious in the southern sections of the Reich, where the cold weather and shortages of food, doctors and medicine have been felt acutely. It said there have been many deaths in Munich.

Civilians Building Nazi Line.

London, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—The Moscow radio declared today the Germans were employing 10,000 civilian workers to fortify the Austrian frontier against the Russians.

The entire faculty and student body of the University of Vienna are among the workers, and additonal helpers are arriving in large numbers from Moravia and western Austria, the broadcast said.

Gen. Brownrigg Declares Eisenhower's Burden Is Too Heavy.

HE SUGGESTS A DEPUTY

Would Put Land Operations in Western Europe in Charge of U. S. Chief's Aids.

London, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—Sir Douglas Brownrigg, a retired lieutenant-general, said today that Gen. Eisenhower was trying to carry too heavy a load in personally directing the land fighting and suggested that he delegate some of his duties.

Gen. Brownrigg was adjutant-general to the British expeditionary force in France at the time of his retirement in 1940.

He wrote in the London Evening News that "I have met no one who has any doubt whatever that Gen. Eisenhower is the ideal man as supreme commander, but no one can carry the load he has imposed upon himself."

Gen. Brownrigg said that in the North African campaign Gen. Eisenhower left the running of the land battle to Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, but on September 1 "Eisenhower descended from the supreme perch and took over the personal control of the land fighting without, so far as I am aware, shedding any of his other responsibilities."

Montgomery's Opinion.

Up to the time Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery was Allied ground commander, Air Chief Marshal Trafford Leigh-Mallory was air commander, and Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay was sea commander.

Since then, Gen. Browning said, Leigh-Mallory has been killed and no single commander for combined Allied air forces has been named.

Four days before the Germans started their counter-offensive, Gen. Brownrigg said, he talked with Marshal Montgomery and the British commander told him "it will require the greatest military skill to beat Von Runstedt."

Gen. Brownrigg suggested that Gen. Eisenhower choose his best subordinate to conduct the land battle "or else let him have Alexander once more as his deputy."

Allies Urged To Close Ranks For United Fight

London, Dec. 28 (AP)—The United States Army publication Stars and Stripes urged the Allied nations today to close ranks for a united fight against Germany.

The newspaper editorial referred to British troubles in Greece, the controversy over Italian politics, the unrest in Belgium, the Canadian crisis over conscription, the disputes about the Polish-Russian setup, and complaints concerning the international air conference at Chicago.

"Unity and solidarity," the newspaper said, "were strong when the United Nations were militarily weak and the war was in a bad way. Well, the bugles of battle are heard again above the bickering. For the holy love of God, let's listen to the dead. Let's learn from the living. Let's join ranks again against the foe and toward the future."

Bombs and Robots Kill 8,098 Britons in 1944

21,137 Civilians Seriously Injured in 11 Months

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP).—German bombers and V bombs killed 8,098 British civilians and seriously injured 21,137 in the first eleven months of this year, the government announced tonight. This brought the total dead since Jan. 1, 1940, to 54,205.

Deaths in previous years were 1940, 19,779; 1941, 20,844; 1942, 3,122; 1943, 2,362. Seriously injured were 1940, 25,655; 1941, 21,788; 1942, 3,953; 1943, 3,409.

V-Bombs Again Skip Whole Day

London, Dec. 28 (AP)—For the second time in less than a week England has had a 24-hour period unmarred by German V-bombs, the Air Ministry disclosed today.

The Germans withheld long-range bombardment of England up until dawn, although today's communiqué from Berlin said "Liege and Antwerp were subjected to strong shelling."

Last night's respite and that of Christmas Day were the only two breathing spells in four months.

Danielle Darrieux Gets Lead Part In 'Yseult'

Paris, Dec. 28 (AP)—Danielle Darrieux prepared today to step from two years of seclusion with her first stage appearance in seven years as the leading lady of a two-act play, her first attempt at serious drama.

The one-time Hollywood star, now the wife of a Dominican diplomat, signed a contract with the manager of the Theatre Edouard VII to play the heroine in "Yseult" beginning in February. The actress described it as the hardest role of her career.

French Critics of Allies Berated by Paris Paper

'Combat' Assails Grumbling Over Lack of Supplies

PARIS, Dec. 28 (AP).—Frenchmen were reminded by a Paris newspaper today that if the Americans failed to bring all the supplies which some had hoped for at the time of the liberation, then the Americans now were offering France something more precious—their lives.

Commenting upon the tendency among some Frenchmen to berate the Allies for not bringing enough foodstuffs, chocolate and fuel for the civilian population, the newspaper "Combat" editorially pointed out that many young Americans seen in the Paris subways are on their way to death in battles on the Rhineland fronts.

"There you have their Christmas gift—instead of chocolate.

"There these days you have products which the United States is throwing in profusion upon the European markets—strong flesh and young blood."

French Editor Gets 15 Years At Hard Labor

Paris, Dec. 28 (AP)—Lucien Combelle, owner of the weekly newspaper National Revolution since 1942, was sentenced today to fifteen years at hard labor by the purge court.

He was charged with constantly praising Gauleiter Sauckel and with friendliness to German aims, but newspaper friends testified he was the only journalist who supported Pierre Laval without profiting by it.

The prosecutor had demanded the death penalty.

[Fritz Sauckel, Gauleiter or governor of the German province of Thuringia, became a factor in French life after he was named Nazi High Commissioner of Labor. In this post he was responsible for the conscription of French workers taken to Germany for compulsory labor.]

French Exporters Ask Same Prices For GI's

Paris, Dec. 28 (AP)—Representatives of great French exporting industries adopted a resolution today asking French merchants to give Allied soldiers the same treatment in prices as given French customers.

Spokesmen for dressmaking, perfume, textile, wine, jewelry, linen and other trades took the action while meeting with the commercial committee of the group "France-Amerique" to study postwar trans-Atlantic business relations.

Seine Base Head Honored

Paris, Dec. 28 (AP)—As a token of their gratitude to Allied troops for the liberation of Paris, members of the capital's police force presented a captured German rifle to Brig. Gen. P. B. Rogers, commander of the Seine base section and American troops stationed here.

Souvenir Stamps Help French War Victims

Paris, Dec. 28 (AP)—Wives and children of Frenchmen killed while participating in resistance against the Germans became the beneficiaries today of $200,000 collected from the first day of public sale of counterfeited stamps printed by Patriots during the occupation.

The stamps were printed by the underground to save money in the circulation of clandestine newspapers and pamphlets.

The sale was conducted jointly by the War Ministry and the national liberation movement.

Billy Conn Has Two Narrow Escapes in Plane

By FRANKLIN F. BANKER

PARIS, Dec. 28—(AP) Corp. Billy Conn, who was cool as an iceberg when he faced the fearsome fists of heavyweight champion Joe Louis, said today he had two close calls all in one day—a plane mishap and German bombing—which "scared me half to death."

Shortly after Corporal Billy and his party of GI boxing mates, who are touring the European theater, took off from a French airfield Tuesday, the pilot of their C-41 plane discovered his elevator controls were locked.

"We circled over the field and sweated for two hours," Conn said, "while a mechanic chopped his way through part of the plane in an attempt to unlock the controls.

"But it was 'no soap,' and it looked like we'd all get killed.

Finally the pilot figured out a plan. He had me and three others run up and down the plane so our weight would lower the tail, then the nose, so we could land.

Hit at 150 M.P.H.

"We hit the runway at 150 miles an hour, and made it okay, but it left me shaking for two days."

Billy and his entourage no sooner hit Paris that night than the Germans decided to bomb the city for the first time in four months. One bomb landed so close to Conn's hotel that the blast blew out the window panes.

"They left me nervous like buzz-bombs in London," Conn said. "I don't like them worth a damn."

It was back on June 18, 1941, that Conn met Louis in a world title heavyweight match in New York. The Pittsburgh flash, boxing like a master, had the champ outpointed for 12 rounds and apparently had the crown all wrapped up. Then he elected to slug it out with Louis and was kayoed in the 13th.

Despite that knockout, the "Brown Bomber" is the only bomber Bill is anxious to meet again.

The first thing he wants to do when the war ends is to fight Louis and try again to win the title to which he came so close. Until then, Conn said, he is happy with his job of giving boxing exhibitions for doughboys thousands of miles from home.

DEC 28 1944

Since arriving in England last June he's traveled 50,000 miles about the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Corsica and Sicily, boxing four nights weekly and cheering up wounded GI's in hospitals.

Tipping the scales at 189 pounds, 27-year-old Conn looked rugged and fit despite continuous travel, K-rations (he called them the worst food on earth) and the knockabout life of a GI.

"Boxing's my game," he chuckled. "I'm a corporal, and I'll never get any higher. They can make me a private any day—you have about 9,000,000 bosses, but it doesn't make any difference."

Degrelle Condemned By Belgian Court

Brussels, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—Leon Degrelle, chief of the now outlawed Belgian Rexist (Fascist) movement, has been condemned in absentia to be shot to death. The Brussels court of collaborators and traitors pronounced the judgment yesterday by default. Degrelle has been in the hands of the Germans since before they left Belgium.

Charges included allegations that Degrelle, as Rexist chief, supplied the Germans with soldiers, workers, food, arms and ammunition, tried to foment civil war, bore arms against Belgium and was promoter of the Walloon Guard, made up of combat formations under German officers.

YANKS ...LL BACK ON ITALIAN FRONT

Germans Attack in Serchio River Valley, Capture Barga.

ROME, Dec. 28—(AP) Strong Allied air and ground forces were thrown into battle today in an effort to halt the German assault on a six-mile front in the Serchio river valley, where American Doughboys have been driven from the important road town of Barga in two days of fierce fighting.

The Germans declared that the U. S. 92nd Negro division had been knocked back "some kilometers" by the stubborn drive, which evidently was aimed at the vital Allied supply port of Livorno (Leghorn) 33 miles away. Barga is a mile and a half east of the Serchio river and about 15 miles north of the provincial capital of Lucca.

Nazis Smash Forward

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's forces hit through flatlands and mountains on both sides of the Serchio in the first action of any importance in the Fifth army's west coast sector in several weeks. The attacking Nazis were supported by artillery.

The Allied tactical air forces hurled the full fury of their bombs, cannon and machineguns against the attacking enemy, with well over 1,000 warplanes participating in headlong strikes against troop concentrations, gun posts, occupied buildings and road junctions in the battle area.

American Thunderbolt and Mustang fighters and Mitchell medium bombers were joined by British and South African Spitfires and Kittyhawks in the blistering assault. Many fires and explosions were seen around Barga and two towns to the immediate northwest, Castelnuovo and Gallicano.

In three days of clear weather the tactical air forces had flown well over 4,000 sorties, their greatest burst of activity since the invasion of Southern France in mid-August.

Nazis Capture Barga

Despite the furious ground and air resistance, Allied headquarters announced that the German attack still was being pressed "with determination" and had forced Allied troops to make a "further slight withdrawal," including the surrender of Barga.

Although the extent of the withdrawal was not disclosed, the American 92nd division was known to have been at least a mile north of Barga two days ago.

In support of their push near the Tyrrhenian sea the Nazis became unusually active in the central sector of the Fifth army front and there was bitter fighting before strong enemy units were repulsed south of Monte Sole, a 2,100-foot peak 12 miles south of Bologna.

To the east British Eighth army troops pushing north along the Senio river slashed into German defenses at Alfonsine, nine miles northwest of Ravenna. Enemy strongpoints were being mopped up all the way from captured Faenza on the Bologna-Rimini highway to Bagnacavallo, 19 miles to the northeast.

MORE GROUND LOST BY YANKS IN ITALY

Rome, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—German forces are continuing their counter-attacks in the Serchio Valley sector on the western flank of the Italian front and Fifth Army troops have made further withdrawals, in that area, Allied Headquarters announced today.

The town of Barga, captured a month ago by the Fifth Army, was enveloped in the German counter-assault that struck out on a six-mile front on each side of the Serchio. Barga is a mile and a half east of the river and about fifteen north of the city of Lucca, capital of Lucca province.

The Nazi drive through the valley flatlands and the flanking mountains was supported by light artillery.

Meanwhile, Eighth Army troops in the Adriatic sector fanned out along the east bank of the Senio River and drove into fortified German positions at Alfonsine, nine miles northwest of Ravenna.

Allied patrols ran into heavy German mortar fire in the area north of Bagnacavallo. South of that town enemy strongpoints were being mopped up all the way to captured Faenza, on the Bologna-Rimini highway.

Allied positions below Monte Sole, twelve miles south of Bologna, underwent several attacks by the Germans who were repulsed with a number of casualties. Heavy enemy guns fired on Allied positions at Monte Grande, due south of Bologna.

ITALIAN GENERAL OUSTED

Azzi Had Urged Army Be Made National Rather Than Loyal

ROME, Dec. 28 (AP)—Gen. Arnaldo Azzi, who wrote a newspaper article calling for reorganization of the Italian Army, has been relieved of his command in the Lazio-Umbria-Abruzzi region, the War Ministry announced today.

General Azzi, 59-year-old officer who fought the Germans in Albania after the Italian armistice, advocated making the army national rather than royal, eliminating the oath of the King, and "democratizing" relations between officers and men. He made his suggestions in an article that appeared Christmas Eve in the Actionist newspaper L'Italia Libera.

The afternoon newspaper Voce Repubblicano, in a two-column editorial, endorsed General Azzi's views. It asserted that under the present set-up the "generals are a caste at the beck and call of the King."

The Labor-Democrat organ Ricostruzione said "Azzi doesn't seem to know that during battle soldiers need to know only how to fight," in supporting the War Ministry's action.

Italian War Ministry Relieves Azzi of Post

General in Article Asked for 'Democratizing' of Army

ROME, Dec. 28 (AP).—General Arnaldo Azzi, who wrote a newspaper article calling for reorganization of the Italian Army, has been relieved of his command in the Lazio-Umbria-Abruzzi region, the War Ministry announced today.

In his article, which appeared Christmas Eve in the Actionist newspaper "L'Italia Libera," the general advocated making the army national rather than royal, eliminating the oath to the King and "democratizing" relations between officers and enlisted men.

The Leftist Italian press promptly assailed the War Ministry's action. The Socialist organ "Avanti," in an editorial titled "The Azzi Scandal," asserted that Fascist generals, war criminals and capitulators remain in service. Azzi, fifty-nine, fought the Germans in Albania after the Italian armistice.

Pope Praises U.S. Charity

Vatican City, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano, commenting on the arrival in Rome of the first shipment of goods sent by Americans for Italian relief, praised "the spirit of charity which animates the citizens of the United States."

Bishop Of Faenza Dies, Result Of Bombardment

Vatican City, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano announced today the death of Msgr. Antonio Scarante, 71, Bishop of Faenza, and said he succumbed to "heart disease caused by the bombardments of the town."

100 PERSONS KILLED IN VIENNA RIOTS

Workers in Armament Factories Battled Gestapo, Bern Reports.

DEC 28 1944

BERN, Dec. 28—(AP) Labor riots in Vienna where 750,000 foreigners are employed in German armament industries resulted in the deaths of more than 100 persons Dec. 23, according to information reaching here today.

The reports said that 72 workmen were killed, either in street fighting against the Gestapo and Ukrainian mercenaries or in public hangings. Many others were wounded.

The Gestapo and mercenaries themselves lost 45 killed and some wounded in the outbreak which occurred after the Gestapo tried to halt numerous acts of sabotage by beating workmen, the reports said.

GREEK REGENT TO BE URGED

Churchill And Eden Leave To Press King For Consent

What Cheek!

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill used just two words to comment on a sniper's attempt to shoot him on the steps of the British Embassy in Athens yesterday, the London radio said today. According to the broadcast, Churchill's comment was:

"What cheek!"

Athens, Dec. 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, left for London today to recommend to King George II, exiled Greek monarch, that he consent to the immediate establishment of a regency as the first essential step toward solution of Greece's political problems.

A statement issued by the British Ambassador here tonight said that the Archbishop of Athens, acting as chairman of the peace conference which began two days ago at Churchill's request, had told Churchill and Eden there was an "overwhelming desire for an immediate establishment of a regency."

Conference Adjourned

"Churchill and Eden undertook on behalf of his Majesty's Government to recommend acceptance of this course to the King of the Hellenes," the Ambassador said, adding that the conference had been adjourned pending developments.

[A London dispatch said King George of Greece was holding long conferences with his advisers at a London hotel. The feeling persisted in Greek circles there that the King still opposed a regency.]

Fighting continued, meantime, between British troops and the Left-wing ELAS, and before he left Athens Churchill watched the beginning of cleaning-up operations by Tommies and tanks in the central part of the capital.

The British leader saw stiff fighting in narrow, winding streets northwest of the Acropolis and south of Omonia Square. ELAS forces fought back with mortars, machine guns and hand grenades, and before finally giving in they blew entire buildings into the streets in many places. The British took 170 ELAS prisoners, most of them in civilian clothes.

Push Toward Market Area

Considerable progress was made in clearing the industrial section west of Athens. Pushing up Piraeus street toward the market section of the city, British paratroopers and newly enrolled Greek National Guardsmen eliminated all snipers to within 300 yards of Omonia Square.

Once-fashionable Piraeus street was piled with the rubble of houses and littered with tangled streetcar cables and household belongings. Sewers are damaged and refuse lies in heaps. Thousands are living in the wreckage of what were their homes. Drainage systems are wrecked and water gushes from broken water mains.

News reached British headquarters from the Epirus front that Gen. Napoleon Zervas, chieftain of the Rightist EDES guerrillas, was fighting a rear-guard action against between 15,000 and 20,000 ELAS troops as he fell back toward a 20-mile line north of Preveza.

Zervas was reported to have lost half his original forces of 10,000 men by desertion.

Churchill, Eden Quit Athens For London

DEC 28 1944

Athens, Dec. 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden have left for London, a communiqué from the British Ambassador announced today, and will recommend to King George II of Greece the acceptance of a regency for his nation as a step toward Greek peace.

The communiqué said Archbishop Damaskinos, who presided at the two-day conference between Greek parties and the Greek and British Governments, told the British Ministers that those present "reported an overwhelming desire for the immediate establishment of a regency as an essential prelude to the solution of many other problems before the conference."

As warring Greek political factions agreed to the formation of a regency, British military authorities reported a withdrawal of some ELAS forces from Athens to positions on highways leading into the city.

A majority of the conferees expressed themselves in favor of an immediate regency while a minority favored postponement, it was announced by Archbishop Damaskinos, the chairman.

An Allied force headquarters communiqué said insurgent troops which entered the city appeared to be evacuating and leaving the fighting in the "built up" areas to the original Athens ELAS corps, concentrated at Piraeus and in the northern and southern districts of the city.

Bullet Misses Churchill

The communiqué said the process of clearing Athens of the ELAS was progressing slowly but satisfactory.

In a prelude to the political discussions a sniper's bullet narrowly missed Prime Minister Churchill yesterday morning as he stood in front of the British embassy.

British headquarters commented this morning that sniping had been fairly continuous across the front entrance of the embassy and that there was no indication the sniper, who was manning a machine gun, aimed especially at Churchill.

Watch Fighting

The Prime Minister and the British commander, Lieut. Gen. Ronald M. Scobie, watched British parachute troops, infantry, tanks and armored cars begin driving the ELAS from central Athens today.

Standing on Filopappas (Monument) Hill, they saw stiff fighting waged in the narrow, winding streets of the Iroon district northwest of the Acropolis and south of Omonia Square.

The ELAS fought back with mortars, machine guns and grenades and before finally giving in they blew whole buildings into the streets in many places. Teller mines were found sown in the debris.

The British took 170 prisoners, most of them in civilian clothing.

Rear-Guard Action

A dispatch to British headquarters from the Epirus front said that Gen. Napoleon Zervas, commander of an EDES army reduced from 10,000 to 5,000 by desertions, was fighting a rear-guard action against ELAS forces and falling back to the neck of the Preveza Peninsula. The attacking ELAS army was estimated to number from 15,000 to 20,000 men.

Meanwhile, in view of the regency agreement, it appeared that the next move would be up to the Greek King, now in London, who has been reported as unfavorably inclined toward a regency.

Greeks Still Divided.

Although all factions appeared agreed upon the proposal for a regency, now or later, divisions persisted upon other points in the Greek crisis. The ten-point program advanced by the ELAS negotiations yesterday drew from Themistocles Sophoulis, the Liberal leader, the comment: "When I heard the Insurgents' terms, I took my hat and went off. There is no ground for an understanding or continuation of the negotiations. Apart from 50 per cent of the seats in the Cabinet, they want a Premier of common confidence, which means their own Government."

"Of course, we must expect that in a not very long time President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin and myself will meet again and we will certainly review the situation," Mr. Churchill told a press conference.

Hill U.S. Air Chief in Russia

8th Air Force General Gets Post: End of Shuttle Service Denied

MOSCOW, Dec. 28 (AP).—The United States Air Force's Russian command has a new chief, Brigadier General Edward Hill, from the 8th Air Force, and the shuttle service to and from American bases in the Soviet Union has not ended, despite reports to that effect published abroad.

Some of the staff at the American bases have left them, but the main body are still there. The shuttle service is not operating now, it is explained, because present American bases are considered too far behind the westward-moving Russian front.

The shuttle service, according to the best information available here, had no connection with Soviet failure to attend the Chicago air conference.

SHUTTLE BOMBING STALLED BY WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—(AP) An air force spokesman said today no consideration other than the weather and the military situation were involved in the suspension of shuttle bombing of Germany through the use of Russian bases.

American planes have not been stopped from flying over Russian soil and will continue to do so, he emphasized.

The shuttle bombers flew from British and Italian bases to Russia and returned, bombing German targets on the two-way trip. Drew Pearson, newspaper columnist, said yesterday that shuttle bombing had been stopped because of a Russian refusal to continue to provide bases for the planes.

Any resumption of the shuttle bombing system, the air force spokesman said, will depend upon whether it is desirable or necessary from a military viewpoint. He pointed out that many former targets of the shuttle bombers have been captured and that, currently, winter weather makes such operations extremely difficult.

BRITISH ADVANCE 20 MILES IN BURMA

CALCUTTA, India, Dec. 28—(AP) British troops driving southward in Burma have gained up to 20 miles against light Japanese resistance and have advance elements within approximately 95 miles of the big enemy supply base on Mandalay, Allied headquarters announced today.

The leading British force was reported in the vicinity of Kanbalu, on the main north-south Burma railroad 95 miles above Mandalay, while a parallel force pushing down the Irrawaddy river to the east made satisfactory progress, said the announcement, issued by the Allied land forces of Southeast Asia command.

Japanese troops were opposing the British advance only with suicide rear guard units as their main forces apparently withdrew to a prepared defense line some 20 miles above Mandalay. They were reported destroying some stores they could not take with them.

Troops of the 25th Indian division driving down the Burma west coast were disclosed to have advanced southward 30 miles in the past 14 days, reaching Foul point at the tip of the Mayu peninsula, just across a bay from the important Japanese base of Akyab.

Another Indian force pushing inland from the coast reached a village about 22 miles southeast of Buthidaung. These Allied troops were approximately 330 airline miles from Rangoon, enemy supply port for all Burma.

Reports from the northeastern Burma combat area indicated that the developing threat to Mandalay by British troops was having a "tenderizing" effect on all Japanese forces in the sector near Bhamo and that this enemy group was slowly pulling southward.

Capture of Mandalay would cut the main supply line to this Japanese army, which is opposed by Chinese troops and an American task force. Chinese patrols were reported active along the Bhamo-Namkham road.

Allied heavy bombers yesterday attacked enemy dumps and stores at Prome and a railway bridge at Pyinmana [illegible]th in southern Burma. Pyinmar[illegible] on the railway between R[illegible]n and Mandalay.

AMERICANS CLAIM NO JAPS LANDED ON MINDORO ISLAND

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, PHILIPPINES, Dec. 29—(Friday)—(AP) American Liberation forces on Mindoro island ascertained today that the Japanese did not use their Tuesday night naval attack on Yank positions there to screen the landing of troops on other portions of the island.

The Nipponese task force which fired erratically on the U.S. beachhead area disappeared into the China sea, pursued by American planes, and enemy ground and air activity on the island was lacking Wednesday, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Jap Landings Expected

It was thought at first that the Japanese naval units had taken the great risk to draw American attention while putting their troops ashore at some other point.

One reason for this suspicion was that the shelling itself not only was ineffective but came only from light guns—5-inchers—although the task force included a battleship and a heavy cruiser which could have used much bigger guns.

After the attacking force had been driven off with a loss of three destroyers sunk and bomb hits on the battleship and cruiser, cub planes flew reconnaissance missions extensively on the Mindoro west coast and found no evidence of any enemy beachhead.

The Japanese naval force was last sighted off Busuanga island, above the north tip of Palawan island, southwest of Mindoro. Lightning fighters carrying 1,000-pound bombers patrolled the Sulu sea approaches to Mindoro for any possible remnants of the enemy force.

The island search for possible Japanese amphibious action was conducted under the direction of Brig. Gen. William C. Dunckel, commander of the Mindoro garrison.

The mopping up of isolated Japanese on Leyte island went on along the Valencia-Palompon highway and another 912 enemy dead were counted, most of them in the sector held by the U. S. 77th infantry.

Mop Up On Leyte

Yanks who landed on Leyte behind Japanese troops at Palompon Dec. 25, continued to meet only light resistance. The main American force, pushing toward the west coast through mountain country ran into tough localized fighting.

Jim Hutcheson, Associated Press war correspondent who flew back to headquarters from the Palompon beachhead, reported the terrain was extremely difficult and that much mop-up work lies ahead. Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce, commander of the 77th, described it as "the battle of bridges." Yank progress has been slowed by the difficulty of replacing or installing bridges to bear mechanized units.

The Americans made rapid time against strong Japanese resistance on the west Leyte lowlands but they now are pushing slowly against stubborn hill positions. Hutcheson described their route as a series of tortuous "S" curves, resembling the Burma road, through a succession of ridges.

General MacArthur announced the knocking out of another 20 Japanese planes and another probable in an attack on Clark field near Manila on Tuesday, bringing the total in three days of raiding to 144.

American planes also bombed airdromes and other Japanese installations on Negros and Mindanao islands and hit shipping and oil storage in the Borneo, Celebes and Moluccas areas. The communique listed the loss of one U. S. bomber and one fighter.

The Japanese navy has suffered its second defeat within two months in futile efforts to bolster Nippon's steadily worsening position in the Philippines, where Japanese militarists look for "final victory."

Sneaking within range of Mindoro island at dusk Tuesday, an enemy force of eight warships lobbed a few shells toward positions American Liberation forces have occupied for 11 days on this strategic island just south of Luzon.

3 Destroyers Sunk

They stirred up aerial and PT boat resistance that sent the force reeling seaward after three destroyers had been sunk and a battleship and heavy cruiser hit. Apparently only three destroyers escaped unscathed, and they were pursued by American warplanes.

General MacArthur said the enemy shelling was "fruitless and inaccurate." A coordinated air attack on Mindoro likewise was broken up, only "minor damage" being caused.

It was the first enemy naval opposition to the Mindoro landings, and it was doomed to failure from the moment that a sharp-eyed Navy Liberator pilot spotted the task force in fading day and radioed a report to the American bombing headquarters on Mindoro.

That report by Pilot Lt. P. F. Stevens of Joplin, Mo., really agitated the base. Spencer Davis, AP War correspondent, reported these things happened in a hurry:

Brig. Gen. Donald F. Hutchinson, chief of staff of the 5th Airforce, ordered all available planes gassed and bombed. Before this could be completed an enemy air force swarmed over the hills to attack the airdromes at San Jose.

Some American planes roared away to the attack before they could be loaded with bombs. To assist in the takeoffs on new, dusty fields, all lights were turned on.

The first planes headed seaward to meet the enemy challenge just as the first target-marking star shells from destroyers began to fall. Other planes tore into the attacking enemy air force and smashed it, downing three Nipponese planes.

PT boats swung into the attack on the enemy warships. So devastating was the American air and light naval response that the enemy force retired toward the China sea without loosing an expected heavy bombardment.

PACIFIC NAVIES TRADE BLOWS

Jap Force Shells Mindoro —Yanks Hit Iwo Jima.

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—Heavy guns of Jap and American naval task forces traded raiding blows Tuesday and Wednesday on island bases, 1,500 miles apart, but the Nipponese came off worse, with three destroyers sunk, a battleship and cruiser damaged. Two United States warships of undisclosed type were dealt slight damage.

The Japs shelled Mindoro, Central Philippines, from the China Sea Tuesday night, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

[The Americans, making their third appearance this month within 750 miles of Tokyo, bombarded Iwo Jima, Volcano Islands, from the Pacific, Tuesday, United States date, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday at Pearl Harbor. That is Wednesday in the time zone where the attack occurred.]

The enemy warships—a battleship, cruiser and six destroyers—accomplished "some fruitless and inaccurate shelling" of the American invasion scene on southwest Mindoro, Gen. MacArthur said. From the time the warships approached at dusk until they withdrew around midnight, they were under attack by Mind[illegible] based Mitchell bombers and [illegible] underbolt fighters and by sw[illegible] patrol-torpedo boats.

How U.S. Planes Smashed Jap Raid Told

By Spencer Davis

Bomb Wing Headquarters, Mindoro, Philippines, Dec. 28 (AP)—The enemy attempt to bombard American installations at Mindoro with a formidable surface battle force can be added to the long list of failures of the Japanese Navy suffered in the Philippine compaign.

Although an enemy battleship, a heavy cruiser and six destroyers stood off Mindoro's western coastline at what might be considered a safe distance to lob star shells and a few five-inch shells toward the airfields, they were not prepared to withstand the fury of an almost continuous air assault.

Arriving at one of Mindoro's airstrips a few hours after the Japanese naval attack, this correspondent was not able to find a single shell crater marring the field. There were no burning structures or rubble heaps of smoking aircraft.

A Few Fires

There were two grass fires and one fire off San José was still smoking and this appeared to be the extent of the damage.

Once again the enemy's threat has been far more serious than the actual damage he accomplished.

When the Nipponese came within airplane striking range at dusk, they were spotted by a single Navy Liberator search plane piloted by Lieut. P. F. Stevens, of Joplin, Mo., who reported them immediately to

30. 24 — 21609

Bomb Wing Headquarters, Mindoro.

The force consisted of one Kagi class battleship, one heavy cruiser and six destroyers. Stevens said they were heading toward Mindoro at 28 knots.

Planes Get Orders

Brig. Gen. Donald F. Hutchinson, chief of staff of the 5th Air Force, immediately ordered all available planes gassed and loaded with bombs.

DEC 28 1944

Before this could be completed, enemy fighters swept over the hill and onto San Jose's airdromes for bombing and strafing runs.

Thunderbolts, Lightnings, Mitchells and Black Widow night fighters had to take off whether or not they had bombs under their wings. It was growing dark and to help the takeoffs the fields were completely lighted.

As fighter after fighter cleared the runways and headed for the approaching Japanese task force, the first star shells broke overhead. They were fired by the enemy destroyers in an apparent effort to set the range for the shelling to come.

Heavy Shelling Never Started

But the heavy sustained bombardment never did start and the answer seemed to lie in the violence of the attacking planes.

Lieutenant Stevens, who first spotted the force, returned to Mindoro and had his Liberator tanks filled to capacity and his bomb bay loaded with four 500-pound bombs and streaked back to a point where he had last seen the enemy.

He located the battleship and dropped the bombload in a low level attack. No. 3 and No. 4 bombs hit squarely.

Although his bombs were expended, Stevens stayed with the enemy, reporting its course.

A flight of Mitchell bombers, part of a reconnaissance unit, led by Major Howell C. Wise, of Beverly Hills, Cal., struck the lead destroyer. Wise saw his bombs explode amidship and set the enemy ship aflame. Other Mitchells dived on the second destroyer, hitting it repeatedly. It was seen to explode violently three times.

PT Boats In Action

PT boats had likewise responded and they closed with the heavy cruiser for a torpedo run and secured a possible hit but thereafter they were called back to avoid confusion with friendly aircraft overhead. In the moonlight several PT boats had suffered an inadvertent attack from our own aircraft.

The Japanese destroyers had approached closest to shore as the enemy force swept down from the north to the south of Mindoro. As the air attack gained in fury, the battleship and cruiser headed into Sulu Sea and made an 180-degree turn to the north.

The destroyers opened fire with the 5-inch guns, and from later investigation it appeared they had fired less than 50 rounds. Then they rejoined the rest of the task force while Thunderbolts and Lightnings nagged them in continuous bombing and strafing runs.

One pilot said he thought he was approaching a destroyer and opened up at him with his 20-mm. cannons blazing, but then "he opened up on me and I found out he was a battleship. Wow!"

A West Virginian, Second Lieutenant Charles A. Gregg, piloting a Thunderbolt, made two bombing runs and returned to the field to plead for 1,000-pounders for a third attack. His anxious request was denied and he sat on the field the rest of the night.

Major Carroll C. Smith, of Monrovia, Cal., commanding a newly arrived night-fighter unit, had an aerial view of the entire attack as he directed the fighters to the targets.

He said: "Sam Goldwyn would have paid a million dollars for that show."

Task Force Withdrew

At approximately 1.30 this morning, Manila time, the Japanese force retired to the north, having accomplished very little after their bold approach. When last seen the force was retiring toward the China Sea and there they remained all of today while bomb-laden Lightning fighters scoured the Sulu Sea for the remnants of the task force.

There was no evidence that the Japanese had made any sort of landing—if that had been their intent.

General Hutchinson said that the Japanese surface force was under attack from 7 P. M. until almost 11 30 P. M., Manila time.

"The almost continuous air attack broke up a sizable Japanese threat," the general said. "They may have been able to get a few troops ashore who disappeared into the undergrowth, but reconnaissance has given no evidence of this and certainly no supplies were landed to support them. It was a highly successful action for us."

Honolulu Barge Blast Kills 2

Honolulu, Dec. 28 (AP)—Two men were killed in the explosion of a tank barge in Honolulu harbor today. The blast, of unknown cause, shattered windows in many waterfront buildings.

JAP BOMBERS RAID B-29 BASE

Damage In Attack On Saipan And Tinian Slight

DEC 28 1944

Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 28 (AP)—Japanese bombers raided the American Superfortress base on Saipan and Tinian islands in the Marianas on December 26 for the second time within three days, inflicting minor damage, a navy communiqué announced today.

These attacks, in small force, were made from the enemy's Iwo Jima base in the Volcanos, 750 miles north of Saipan, despite the heavy bombardments of Iwo this month by American warships and the almost daily raids by Yank planes, including Superfortresses.

7 Planes In 2 Groups

Five planes made up the first raiding group, the communiqué said. There were only two in the second. Two of the raiders were downed by American fighter planes.

The fact that the enemy employed seven planes in his latest slashes at the Marianas indicates the difficulty he is having in staging these attacks from Iwo.

Iwo has been pounded for twenty consecutive days by American warplanes, starting with December 7, and shelled by Yank warships three times this month.

The Japanese also can stage raids on Saipan from Marcus Island and probably from bases in the Bonin Islands, north of Iwo.

Iwo Bombed On Same Day

The same day Saipan and Tinian were bombed the Strategic Air Force, Pacific Ocean area, sent Liberators and Lightning fighters to bomb and strafe Iwo. One enemy plane was shot down over Iwo, two destroyed on the ground and two others damaged.

A navy search plane, reconnoitering in the Bonins, caught and shot down an enemy bomber.

Strategic Air Force Liberators also took a crack at Chichi Jima in the Bonins, December 26, bombing airfields and shipping. A direct hit was scored on a coastal cargo ship, the Navy reported.

Marine planes bombed Babelthuap in the Palau Islands December 26 and enemy bases in the Marshalls the next day.

Sea-Air Attack on Iwo

SOMEWHERE IN THE MARIANAS (via Navy Radio), Dec. 27 (Delayed) (AP)—In the second coordinated Army and Navy assault upon Iwo today, Seventh Air Force Lightnings and Liberators strafed and bombed that Japanese base for staging raids against Saipan, then withdrew to permit naval units bombard the enemy installations.

The Lightnings, reversing the usual procedure, were escorted by two Superfortresses which remained offshore and did not participate in the bombing.

The Lightnings, operating near the limit of their fuel capacity, in some cases remained near the target area almost an hour. When they and their B-29 guides departed B-24 Liberators roared in and bombed visually with results described as good. Airstrips and various installations were their particular targets.

Maj. Gen. Robert W. Douglass, commander of the Seventh Air Force and deputy commander of the Strategic Air Force, which directs coordinated missions, said the results were "pleasing." He added:

"Those bombs got a hell of a lot of Japanese troops."

When the Liberators finished their bombing runs, fleet surface units opening up and setting afire an enemy landing ship, blew up a Japanese gunboat and hit coastal defenses.

Leading the P-38's in their strafing sweep only 100 feet above the ground, was Maj. Warren K. Roeser of 20-40 169th Street, Flushing, Queens, a 24-year-old operations officer.

Roeser's flight, which included Lieut. Anthony J. Stolz of College Point, N. Y., downed the only airborne enemy plane encountered, a twin-engined Nick headed northward toward Japan. Stolz sighted it twenty-five miles northwest of Iwo. All three Lightnings attacked and saw it crash into the sea and explode.

Mitscher Sees Another Battle with Jap Fleet

Lanteborg

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 28—(AP) Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, who directed the Navy's air arm in the two battles of the Philippines sea, said today he anticipated another action with remnants of the enemy's surface force.

The small, grizzled commander of U. S. fast carrier forces, returning from a month and a half leave in California, told war correspondents:

"They've reached the point where they'll throw everything in the fight. I think in another year we should have their Navy pretty well cleaned up."

Mitscher said if the Japanese refused to commit their remaining fleet units in a sea battle "we will be in a position to clean them out wherever they are."

He expressed conviction that land-based bombers of the Philippines will be able to bar the enemy use of the China sea.

"They will be able to cover the whole area," he added.

The carrier commander, whose fliers cut Japanese carrier air strength to pieces in the first battle of the Philippines sea off Saipan last June and helped defeat the enemy off the Philippines in October served the Nipponese this warning:

DEC 28 1944

"By next Summer, Tojo will be sitting on a decidedly uneasy seat in the Empire."

Admiral Mitscher, who turned over his carriers to Vice Adm. John S. McCain at the end of October following rout of the enemy fleet, said the Nipponese lost face as a result of heavy air losses and ship casualties in the first battle of the Philippines sea.

"They had to do what they did" when MacArthur's troops landed on Leyte, he explained.

"They were pretty clever."

In the three-pronged naval offensive, the enemy "tried to get our flank."

"We were fortunate enough in discovering them in plenty of time," Mitscher said.

He called out mysterious directions such as "go see" and "scram."

"That's how they make decisions in Washington," he said as a smile wrinkled his face.

Mitscher did not amplify his remark, but joined correspondents in a hearty laugh at his sally.

WASHINGTON DECISIONS REBUKED BY MITSCHER

Tokyo Caught by Surprise.

Headquarters, Twenty-first United States Bomber Command, Saipan, Dec. 28 (A.-P.).—Superfortresses, streaking in through a clear sky, yesterday pummeled a surprised Tokyo for an hour and a half, and one returning pilot said that his formation alone laid a pattern of explosives two blocks wide and seven blocks long across an important industrial area.

The Musashima factory of the Nakajima Aircraft Company was the primary target, but the first formation, led by Capt. Vance Black of Fairfax, Okla., was pushed by a terrific tailwind and overshot the plant.

Capt. Black declared, however: "The bomb train started at a railway junction where a bridge crossed the river, and extended toward the waterfront in an area where no bomb could fall to hit a target."

Early photographs showed at least a dozen new bomb hits in the plant, and pictures of budding bomb bursts gave rise to hope that later photographs would show heavy damage in the works, one of the keys to Japan's aircraft production.

One of the Superfortresses was lost over Tokyo, but the formations shot down perhaps the largest number of enemy planes so far destroyed over Honshu, the island in which the capital is situated. The total bag has not been officially announced.

It was the fifth time in little more than a month that the B-29s had hammered Tokyo in force. The city's busy industrial center was swept by great fires, returning airmen reported. The smoke could be seen eighty miles away.

Japanese Warships Hunted

ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS on Leyte, Friday, Dec. 29 (AP)—Only a few light shells hit Mindoro in the Japanese task force attack. The withdrawing enemy warships were last sighted off Busuanga Island, above the north tip of Palawan Island, southwest of Mindoro. Lightning fighters carrying 1,000-pound bombers patrolled the Sulu Sea approaches to Mindoro for any possible remnants of the enemy force.

The Americans who landed on Leyte behind Japanese troops at Palompon, on Dec. 25, continued to meet only light resistance, but the main American force, pushing toward the west coast through mountain country ran into tough localized fighting.

American planes bombed airdromes and other Japanese installations on Negros and Mindanao Islands and hit shipping and oil storage in the Borneo, Celebes and Moluccas areas.

Salvador War Threat Charged By Guatemala

exico City, Dec. 28 (AP)—The temalan Embassy charged to- El Salvador is preparing for a litary invasion of Guatemala.

'Osmin Aguirre (President of Salvador) continues by means the radio and press to make opaganda to create an atmosere that would justify his aggresn against Guatemala and even obtain the help of some foreign overnment and to organize a mili- ary expedition to our country," said a statement issued by the embassy.

The embassy also asserted that Aguirre is soliciting the aid of émigrés in Mexico who supported the fallen Ubico and Ponce Governments in "leading the public to believe that the Government of Guatemala is weak and unpopular."

The embassy attributed to such a campaign reports of preparations for another revolution in Guatemala, and said the country is quiet after the recent Presidential elections.

Canada's 1944 War Output

DEC 28 1944

Ottawa, Dec. 28 (AP)—Canada's war production, although entering 1945 at close to its peak output, is still to be stepped up sharply in some items, particularly certain types of ammunition, Munitions Minister Howe said tonight.

In a statement reviewing activities of the Dominion's war industries during the last year, Howe said that there was no prospect of any substantial over-all cutback for at least the next three months.

Although production continued at a high level throughout 1944, improved manufacturing methods and virtual completion of all war construction meant a drop in expenditures.

DEC 28 1944

Over-All Figures

During the year the department spent nearly $8,000,000 a day for shells, ships, guns, fighting vehicles, planes and other war supplies. This was about $1,000,000 a day less than in 1943 and $1,000,000 a day more than in 1942.

Canada also has produced 15,000 planes, more than 1,400,000 machine guns and other small arms, more than 50,000 complete artillery units and more than $450,000,000 worth of radar equipment.

Figures of ammunition production are: 110,000,000 heavy projectiles, 4,200,000,000 rounds of small-arms ammunition and 150,000,000 tons of chemicals and explosives.

Lumber And Steel

Since the war started Canada has felled about 25,000,000,000 board feet of lumber, enough to build some 2,400,000 homes.

Steel output for the war period is estimated at 11,982,000 long tons of ingots, more than enough to build a double-track railroad around the world. Canada's contribution toward the Allied metals pool has been nickel, 85 per cent.; zinc, 20; copper, 14; lead, 19; asbestos, 78, and aluminum, 35.

Only about 30 per cent of the Canadian war production is delivered to Canadian forces at home and abroad, the remainder going to the Dominion's allies.

General equipment purchased by the munitions department for both Canada and her allies is estimated to have reached a total of $1,467,000,000 at this year end. It includes: food, $242,000,000; clothing, $412,000,000; gasoline, oil and fuel, $230,000,000 and electrical equipment, $178,000,000.

Capital commitments estimated to October 31, 1944, amounted to $1,422,000,000, of which $790,000,000 was for Government-owned industrial facilities and $632,000,000 for defense construction and wartime housing.

Japs Produce Gasoline From Pine Tree Roots

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Japanese are producing from the roots of their pine trees high-octane aviation gasoline equal, if not superior, to that type of fuel obtained from petroleum, Domei News Agency said today in a Tokyo broadcast.

"The picturesque Japanese pine, indispensable in every Japanese garden, has at last joined the ranks as a valuable munitions raw material," Domei said in the broadcast heard by the Federal Communications Commission.

Reporting an "official disclosure," the news agency said the new synthetic gasoline was under production through a "simple patented process, and already is being mass-produced on an industrial scale."

JAPS COMPLETE TUNNEL CONNECTING ISLANDS

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Japanese Domei news agency reported today completion of the Honshu-Kyushu tunnel under the strait separating these two principal industrial islands.

"Following two years of steady and strenuous labor," said Domei in an overseas broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications commission, "the boring of the Kanmon underground national highway connecting the mainland (Honshu) and Kyushu was completed at 10 o'clock tonight."

The dispatch said the project was started in January, 1943, and that 130,000 workmen had been employed on it.

Taxes Forgiven Japs Hit By Quake

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—An indication that heavy damage may have been caused in Japan by the December 7 earthquake, although Japanese broadcasts previously had given no such impression, came from the Tokyo radio today.

A broadcast recorded by FCC said the Japanese Government had decided to grant "total exemption or postponement" of income and house taxes to corporations and individuals "who suffered losses" in the "fire and tidal waves resulting from the quake."

It will be the first time, Tokyo reported, that Japanese corporations have been included as beneficiaries of such an action.

'Bombs Fall Near Tokyo'

San Francisco, Dec. 28 (AP)—A Japanese broadcast said a "minor formation" of Superforts dropped incendiaries on Ibaraki prefecture north of Tokyo today. The broadcast, recorded here, said the Saipan-based B-29's were kept from the Tokyo area by the "might of our crack units." FCC monitors reported a Japanese radio station, apparently on Kyushu Island, sounded an airalert at 8.27 P.M. [Tokyo time].

Domei, the Japanese news agency, said the Superforts "fled eastward" after hitting the Ibaraki prefecture and causing a "small fire" in the forest area.

The news agency also broadcast the unconfirmed report that Japanese night bomber units Wednesday night (United States time) raided Allied airfields at Suichwan and Kanchow in Kiangsi province, southeastern China, hitting runways and destroying seven American planes. Domei said despite anti-aircraft fire all Japanese planes returned to their bases.

Von Kluge, Nazi Field Marshal, Kills Himself

DEC 28 1944

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge, former supreme commander of German forces on the western front, killed himself in remorse over his refusal to join the revolt against Hitler last summer, a military correspondent of the British radio said last night.

Earlier yesterday the British radio said that Von Kluge's suicide had been confirmed in a captured order of the day issue by the German high command Aug. 31. The order was quoted as saying:

"In view of the depressing responsibility for the outcome of the battle in Normandy, Von Kluge resigned from his post as commander of the western front and subsequently committed suicide. Further comments on this incident are banned."

However, the BBC military correspondent said in the later broadcast—beamed to Germany and recorded by OWI—that the reason given in the German order was not the true one.

Nazis Confirm Suicide Of Marshal Von Kluge

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—The British radio said in a broadcast recorded by the OWI today that a newly received copy of a German high command order August 31 confirmed that Nazi Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge had killed himself.

"In view of the depressing responsibility for the outcome of the battle of Normandy," the order was quoted, "von Kluge resigned from his post as commander of the Western front and subsequently committed suicide.

"Further comments on this incident are banned."

Von Kluge had relieved Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt as supreme commander of German forces on the Western front early last summer. Von Rundstedt was returned to the command later.

STIMSON SEES NAZI FAILURE

Predicts Disastrous Consequences From 'Throw Of Dice'

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP)—Secretary Stimson, though describing the present situation on the European front as "critical," expressed confidence today that the Germans eventually will reap "disastrous consequences" from their gambling counteroffensive.

"War is not an easy game to play and you can't always win every battle," the War Secretary told a news conference, "but I am confident that we are winning and that time will reveal that this German throw of the dice will have disastrous consequences for him."

The Secretary acknowledged that American efforts to stem the German drive have cost us "severe" casualties, but asserted that the Nazi Army, too, has "taken hard blows" in personnel and matériel losses.

Looks To Air "Superiority"

Indicating that the Allied high command is relying heavily on air superiority to throw back the German thrust, he said that aside from the fighting spirit of our troops "no other factor in the present situation means so much to us as flying weather."

DEC 28 1944

In the five-day period beginning Saturday, he reported, Allied airmen destroyed 483 German planes and 507 armored vehicles and destroyed or damaged 3,177 motor vehicles. In addition, Stimson said, the enemy's marshaling yards are "being blown to bits."

He emphasized the continuing advance of Allied flanking troops attempting to narrow the German offensive corridor in Belgium.

It is too early to predict, he said, what additional power the enemy may be able to throw into the salient and added that as long as any Nazi column progressed it would not be "appropriate to say that the Germans have been contained or that the danger is over."

Too Early To Assess Blame

Likewise, he said in obvious reference to some criticism of Allied intelligence, it is soo soon "to pass judgment as to whether any person or group should be censured" as a result of the German breakthrough.

Undoubtedly, he added, the Germans made use of every advantage in weather, forest cover and long nights, to mobilize their forces under "excellent" staff supervision.

Stimson asserted that "an important factor" in the German decision to risk the offensive was the use to be made of it in Nazi propaganda efforts to divide the Allies.

628,441 Casualties By Dec. 14

Casualties in the armed forces increased 65,973 during the two weeks ended December 14, boosting the total losses to 628,441, the Army and Navy reported today.

The Army's killed, wounded, missing and taken prisoner accounted for 547,823 of the total, an increase of 63,866. These figures, however, do not include the losses in the current German counter-offensive which Secretary Stimson said have been "severe."

Navy casualties amounted to 80,618, an increase of 2,107.

Casualties Classified

Army casualties by classification and the increases:

Killed 102,961, an increase of 10,826.

Wounded 319,935, increase 47,584.

Missing 65,762, increase 2,976.

Prisoners of war 59,165, increase 2,480.

Navy figures:

Killed 31,182, increase 1,153.

Wounded 35,942, increase 1,439.

Missing 9,010, decrease 483.

Prisoners of war 4,484, decrease two.

The decreases in the latter two categories apparently represent a shifting to other classifications.

U.S. WILL PROTEST NAZI SHOOTING OF CAPTURED YANKS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—(AP) The United States, in angry helplessness, is preparing to protest the shooting of American soldiers captured by the Germans during their forward rush into Belgium.

The State department is gathering from the War department evidence which will form the basis of the protest. The information and the warning that German authorities will be held responsible when the day of reckoning comes will then be transmitted to Berlin through Swiss diplomats.

But there is little expectation that this gesture will accomplish any positive results. Among military men there is a growing conviction that the German High command has thrown the rules of war completely out the window.

The evidences are cited to support this conclusion. One is the shooting of prisoners, particularly by Von Rundstedt's leading armored elements. Apparently they had orders not to bother with prisoners since that would have slowed up their advance.

The other is the use of a "spy" force, trained saboteurs and assassins dressed as American soldiers and equipped with American munitions.

Both the shooting of prisoners and the assignment of men to fight in the uniform of the enemy are contrary to the basic rules of war.

The belief is now pretty firmly fixed here that the Germans will stop at nothing to gain their objectives. It is said they have forsaken all hope of retaining any of the outside world's good-will or respect which might modify the treatment accorded them.

It is assumed that the attitude of the Army leadership has come to be about the same as that of the Nazi party leadership whose record for atrocities goes back far beyond the start of the war.

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP)—The United States, Britain and Russia apparently are preparing to deal with the provisional Hungarian Government of Col. Gen. Bela Miklos.

The first act to regularize relations probably will be the signing of an armistice, which the Allies are now rushing to completion.

Miklos was about to ask for an armistice last October when the Nazis poured troops into Hungary and took over the government. He later escaped to Russian controlled territory.

Jolted Into Action

The Russian drive to Budapest and establishment of the new Government in a large part of Hungary occupied by the Red Army have now jolted the three major allies into finishing up the armistice terms.

So far as is known here, negotiations have not yet begun with Miklos. Soviet favor for him is evidenced in a Moscow dispatch which declares that it has "the overwhelming support" of the Hungarian people.

Seek Oil-Plant Data

Miklos, who was commander of the 1st Hungarian Army, brought over most of the general staff when he left Budapest for Russian-occupied territory.

British and American diplomats taking up the Hungarian situation in Moscow are also seeking details from the Russians on the removal of oil equipment from Romania.

According to latest reports here, the Russians have stopped removing such goods, but the Allies want to find out how much has been taken and to reach an understanding with the Russians on what they are entitled to remove in fulfillment of their assurances that they will protect American and British interests.

Moscow Queried On Oil Move

DEC 28 1944

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP) — The United States and Great Britain are asking Russia to explain in detail the removal of equipment from the oil fields of Romania to the Soviet Union.

Officials here said no criticism of Russia's action in seizing the equipment is implied. Washington and London are merely trying to get the facts of a very confused situation, it was explained.

Inquiries have been made in Moscow by the British and American Ambassadors.. Russia's initial answer, regarded here as incomplete in that it supplies no details, is said to have given assurances that American and British interests in the oil fields would be protected and to have claimed that the equipment removed was German.

The United States and Britain now have political representatives in Bucharest, but Romania is under the military command of Russia in the name of all the Allies. In line with Russian policy, wherever Soviet control exists the movements of non-Russians and the information they are allowed to gather are sharply restricted.

Lend-Lease For France Planned

DEC 28 1944

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP)—Negotiations are now under way here on a lend-lease agreement for France and allocation of shipping for French civilian requirements.

Jean Monnet, French minister without portfolio who is conducting the talks, said today the object is to enable France to make a positive contribution to the Allied war effort.

Monnet told a news conference that the French import program, which for the next six months is on an average of twenty per cent of prewar imports, is based on what supplies possibly can be obtained rather than on needs.

Buying U.S. Housing

While Monnet held his conference, announcement was made that France is buying from the United States temporary housing for 150,000 workers engaged in repairing French dock areas for war use.

The Foreign Economic Administration and the national housing agency announced that the deal involves about 5,000 barracks, 20 by 48 feet each, and that the French Provisional Government has agreed to pay cash on delivery.

As much of the order as possible will be filled from surplus war housing in this country. Some of the housing units are at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Port Capacity Up

Monnet said there has been a tremendous improvement in French port capacity and internal transportation since D-day but that over 50 per cent of available facilities presently are used directly for the war.

He estimated that 80 per cent of French industrial plants remain in good shape but said factories are rapidly closing down because they lack raw materials and fuel. Unemployment now stands at about 1,000,000 men and is shooting upward.

On the point of fuel, Monnet said coal production jumped from a million tons a month in September to over 2,500,000 in December. Electricity has increased from 10 per cent to 90 per cent of prewar production.

Imports Nil Up To Now

Monnet said that France has imported virtually nothing up to now. Financing of the proposed import program depends on Washington and is expected to be divided among lend-lease, cash and credits.

An important item on the program is cotton from which France hopes to produce textiles for Allied armies and other liberated countries as well as to meet her own needs.

Monnet was unable to say how much additional tonnage would be needed to meet the French program but emphasized that shipping is what is needed to enable France to contribute further to the war effort.

"France's capacity to fight depends on arms made available, not on men, who are there," he said.

SUPPLY STEALING IN FRANCE FOUGHT

Washington, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—Steps have been taken to break up hi-jacking and pilfering of military supplies in France, the War Department said today, and reported that they are achieving success.

As soon as the thefts became known, the department said, security forces and military police battalions were increased to make certain that shipments of supplies reached their destinations.

News dispatches from Paris have said that diversion of supplies became so widespread at times that military operations were menaced.

Success of counter-measures, the department said, is reflected in the number of convictions of soldiers for the theft and sale of Army supplies to the French black markets. Gasoline, clothing, food and cigarettes have been included in the loot cited in Paris accounts of various courts-martial. Sentences ranging up to life imprisonment have been imposed.

ATTEMPT TO KILL FRANCO IS DENIED

DEC 28 1944

Washington, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—Recent reported attempts to assassinate Gen. Francisco Franco were strongly denied today by the Spanish Embassy here on information received from its foreign office in Madrid. Referring to the report, which originated in Paris, the Spanish foreign office cable quoted by an embassy official, read:

"Alleged attempts on the life of Generalissimo Franco can be denied in the strongest terms. The reports are so fundamentally false that no other comment seems necessary."

The report, quoting two persons who had just left Spain, first appeared in the French newspaper Aurore a week ago. Shots were said to have been fired at Gen. Franco's car, wounding the chauffeur. The account said that the general, together with his passenger, Eduardo Aunos, Spanish Minister of Justice, escaped harm and the assailants fled.

SUB SEAWOLF BELIEVED LOST

Craft Under Previous Skipper Honored For "Epic" Cruise

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP)—The submarine Seawolf, scourge of Japanese shipping in far Pacific waters, is overdue from patrol and has been given up for lost.

The 1,450-ton vessel was under command of Lieut. Com. Albert M. Bontier, of White Plains, N.Y., who was reported missing. No announcement was made of casualties, but vessels of that type normally carry a crew of 62. Next of kin of casualties have been notified.

Compare Losses And Toll

The Seawolf was the 34th United States submarine lost during the war from all causes, and 239th combat vessel of all types. On the other side of the ledger, submarines have exacted a toll of 99 Japanese combat ships and 835 noncombatant vessels, totaling more than 3,500,000 tons.

Built at the Portsmouth (N.H.) Navy Yard, the Seawolf was commissioned December 1, 1939. Her first skipper was Lieut. Com. (now captain) Frederick B. Warder, of 706 Maple avenue, Grafton, W.Va., who won the Navy Cross and a gold star in lieu of a second cross for his services.

Commander Bontier took over her command in June, 1944.

Much more than the usual detail on the Seawolf's career was revealed by the Navy in connection with award of Captain Warder's decorations.

Score In Single Patrol

During a single patrol in February, March and April, 1942, the Seawolf sank a light cruiser, a destroyer, and a large transport and damaged two light cruisers, a large transport and another unidentified vessel. These actions took place off Bali and off Christmas Island, south of Java.

It was this patrol, described by the Navy as "one of the epic stories of submarine warfare," for which Captain Warder won the Navy Cross.

A second patrol of the Seawolf under Captain Warder, not identified as to time or place, resulted in destruction of 16,810 tons of enemy shipping and damage to an additional 5,000 tons. For that patrol he received his second decoration.

Fourth Providence, A Cruiser, Launched

Quincy, Mass., Dec. 28 (A. P.).—The light cruiser Providence, the fourth vessel so named, was launched today at the Bethlehem Steel Company Shipyard, the thirty-seventh vessel sent down the ways at that plant in 1944.

Three sailing vessels, which participated in the Revolutionary War, bore the name Providence.

FDR, AVERY CLASH ON ARMY SEIZURE OF 7 WARD PLANTS

Order Follows Company's Refusal to Comply with WLB Directives.

DEC 28 1944

NO OPPOSITION OFFERED

Avery Charges Action Violates Constitution, Refuses to 'Accept or Obey'.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(AP) President Roosevelt and Sewell Avery, chairman of the board of Montgomery Ward and company, collided headon tonight on the issue of the presidential powers in seizing company facilities in seven cities.

The Army took over under Presidential executive order in the climax of Ward's long refusal to comply with War Labor board directives for employes' wage increases and maintenance of union membership.

Avery Assails Seizure

Avery, remaining at company headquarters throughout the day, asserted the Presidential order violated the Constitution and the company could not "accept or obey." By afternoon he and the military manager, Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Byron, were functioning in separate offices.

Army public relations officers said no restrictions were placed on Avery's movements but the military position was that authority now rests with General Byron, not Avery.

President Roosevelt in an accompanying statement declared Avery guilty of "consistent and wilful defiance" of WLB decisions, threatening the structure for impartial adjudication of disputes. He said the government "can not and will not tolerate any interference with war production in this critical hour" and that Ward's would not be allowed to set aside government wartime policies "just because Mr. Sewell Avery does not approve of the government's procedure for handling labor disputes."

There was no physical or outward opposition to the Army taking control in Chicago, Detroit, St. Paul, Denver, Jamaica, N. Y., Portland, Ore., and San Rafael, Calif.

But after a long conference with the military manager, Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Byron, director of the Army's Special Service division, Avery issued a statement asserting that the President's order was "a violation of the Constitution," that Congress "has given the President no power to seize the non-war business of Montgomery Ward" and that:

Will Not Obey Order

"Ward's cannot in good citizenship accept or obey the commands of those who have no legal power to give them and who are seeking to deprive Ward's of its constitutional rights and liberties."

Avery said Ward's welcomed the opportunity to present its case in the courts.

This would come in Chicago Federal court where government attorneys simultaneously with the seizure petitioned for an injunction to restrain Ward's from possible interference with Army operations and for a declaratory judgment establishing legality of the Presidential power and the seizure.

The company has 20 days to answer and Harold Smith, company attorney, said "Ward's doesn't contemplate any hasty action; we will study the issues closely before taking any counter-action."

Under the Presidential order the WLB directives would be put into effect by the military operators, including retroactive back pay. Samuel Wolchock, president of the union involved, the CIO United Retail, Wholesale and Department store employes, estimated the back pay at $2,000,000.

When the Army took over, strikes were in progress in Chicago, stetting early today, and Detroit, since Dec. 9, and Kansas City, since yesterday. After the Army moved in Henry B. Anderson, Chicago union local president, said this action terminated what he called a "lockout" and pickets were withdrawn.

Detroit union officials also said the strike ended when the Army seized the properties and indicated unionists would return to work tomorrow. Kansas City was not included in the seizure order because the labor dispute there still is in the hands of the WLB.

Gen. Byron and his staff arrived at the main offices here in four Army staff cars. Avery greeted the general pleasantly, shook hands and they were closeted for several hours.

Avery slipped out of his own office, finally, and with reporters and photographers pursuing, rushed down four flights of stairs to the executives' lunch room for luncheon. He shut the door, grinning. Later he returned to his office and Gen. Byron, refusing to comment until the formal statement was issued.

Second Seizure in Year

This was the second seizure in Chicago this year. After a strike which began April 12 the Department of Commerce, with the aid of troops, took over April 26. Avery was carried from his office bodily by two soldiers the next day. On May 9 the union won a National Labor Relations board collective bargaining election and the property was returned to the company.

The government also seized a Ward's subsidiary, the Hummer Manufacturing company, Springfield, Ill., engaged in war work, on May 21 and is still operating that plant.

DEC 28 1944

General Byron, 52, of Williamsport, Md., a leather tanning company executive in civil life, in a statement issued when he arrived to take charge of Ward's facilities asked for cooperation of all Ward executives and employes.

Hugh B. Cox, assistant to the solicitor general, heading the Government attorneys who came to Chicago from Washington to handle the court proceedings, told reporters the Government hoped to settle "once and for all" the extent of executive powers in labor-industry disputes and the Ward dispute in particular.

The attorneys worked through the night until 5 a. m., then returned to file the complaint shortly after 10 a. m. when General Byron served the seizure order on Avery. The law suit was assigned to Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Accompanying the complaint were affidavits by William H. Davis, WLB chairman; Fred M. Vinson, economic stabilization director; Clifford E. Mack, Treasury department director of procurement; Robert P. Patterson, Undersecretary of War, and others.

WARD CO. FILES SUIT AGAINST CIO UNION

DETROIT, Dec. 28.—(AP) Montgomery Ward & company today filed a $50,000 suit against a CIO union, whose members were involved in a strike at four of the company's stores in the Detroit area.

The action was entered in Wayne County Circuit court even as Army officers took over the stores on Presidential orders and as Roy Scoggins, Union spokesman, declared the strike was over. He promised the army representatives that all union workers would be back at their jobs Friday.

The suit is based on a disturbance at the firm's Dearborn store Wednesday, during which about 50 persons entered the store, overturned counters and tossed merchandise about.

Defendants are Local 832 of the United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employes, CIO; Scoggins, Michigan director of the union; Merritt Martin, local president, and two United Auto Workers union (CIO) members, who were detained by Dearborn police after the disturbance.

The pair, William E. Smith and Stanley Bukowski, were released in $2,500 bond when arraigned in Circuit court today on a writ of habeas corpus. Hearing was set for Jan. 4.

No incidents marred the Army's entry into the four stores. Pickets cheered as the officers entered and union representatives as well as company officials held brief conferences with the army men.

Two special assistant U. S. Attorneys, Edward J. Ennis and George F. Spangler, arrived from Washington and conferred with U. S Attorney John C. Lehr here. Ennis said they would advise the military on any legal questions arising from government possession of the stores.

Roosevelt-Avery Statements

By The Associated Press

The statement issued yesterday by President Roosevelt explaining his action in ordering the seizure of Montgomery Ward facilities in seven cities and the declaration issued by Sewell L. Avery, chairman of Montgomery Ward's board of directors follow:

PresidentRoosevelt'sStatement

We are today at a crucial point in the war. Great battles which will determine the fate of the world are raging in Europe and in the Pacific. The tempo and the fury of the conflict are mounting.

Our commanders in the field are demanding weapons in increasing quantities so that they may hit the enemy harder and harder. The supreme effort of all of us here at home is imperative if we are to give them what they need. Nothing less will suffice.

The government of the United States cannot and will not tolerate any interference with war production in this critical hour.

Nearly three years ago we set up war-time labor relations machinery to insure that our troops and our allies would get essential supplies without interruptions caused by industrial disputes. This machinery, embodied in the National War Labor Board, has had the support of all responsible elements in American management and American labor. It has been a vital element in the attainment of our unparalleled record of war production.

Now the confidence which employers and workers rightly place in this structure for the impartial adjudication of disputes is being threatened by consistent and willful defiance of its decisions by the head of one of the great corporations of this country—Sewell Avery, chairman of the board of Montgomery Ward & Co.

This company, under Mr. Avery's leadership, has waged a bitter fight against the bona fide unions of its employees throughout the war, in reckless disregard of the government's efforts to maintain harmony between management and labor. Its record of labor relations has been a record of continuous trouble.

Twice the government has had to seize properties of Montgomery Ward as a result of Mr. Avery's defiant attitude, once in Chicago and once in Springfield, Illinois, where the Hummer Manufacturing Company, a Montgomery Ward division, has been operated by the War Department since last May.

For more than a year the company has refused to accept decisions involving workers in ten of its retail stores. Four of these stores are in the Detroit area, the very heart of war production from the viewpoint of urgency. A strike is in progress in these four stores, and strikes are threatened in other cities where the company's stores are located. There is a distinct threat that workers in some of our most critical war plants may join the strike in support of the Montgomery Ward employees if the government fails to act. We are not going to let this happen.

Strikes in war time cannot be condoned, whether they are strikes by workers against their employers or strikes by employers against their government. All of our energies are engrossed in fighting a war on the military battle fronts. We have none to spare for a war on the industrial battle fronts. It is up to us to uphold and strengthen our machinery for settling disputes without interruptions of production. We cannot do this in a total war if we permit defiance to go unchallenged.

The findings submitted to me by the War Labor Board were unanimously adopted by the board, including the representatives of industry.

We cannot allow Montgomery Ward & Co. to set aside the wartime policies of the United States government just because Mr. Sewell Avery does not approve of the government's procedure for handling labor disputes. Montgomery Ward & Co., like every other corporation and every labor union in this country, has a responsibility to our fighting men. That responsibility is to see that nothing interferes with the continuity of our war production. It is because Montgomery Ward & Co. has failed to assume this obligation that I have been forced to sign an Executive order directing the Secretary of War to take over and operate certain properties of Montgomery Ward & Co.

Sewell L. Avery's Statement

The order of the President of the United States to effect the seizure of the property and business of Montgomery Ward is a violation of the Constitution of the United States, which the President has sworn to uphold and defend. The Congress, which is the sole law-making authority under the Constitution, has given the President no power to seize the non-war business of Montgomery Ward.

The purpose of the President's order is to enforce by an exercise of arbitrary power orders of the War Labor Board which the courts have declared to be merely advisory and unenforceable. The courts have held that any one who refuses to comply with orders of the War Labor Board is not defying a command of the government and that, since the orders are merely advisory, no government official has the right to impose punishments on those who do not comply.

The President's order does not arise from any failure on Ward's part to pay fair wage rates. Ward's policy is, and has been, to pay wages as high or higher than those paid by other employers in the community for similar employment. Ward's only objection to any of the War Labor Board's wage recommendations has been in those instances where the board has arbitrarily demanded that Ward's substantially increase its rates above those of its competitors in the highly competitive retail field.

The President has ordered the Army to restrict the liberties of Ward's employees by imposing upon them the closed shop in the form of union maintenance. This is the final step in the coercion used by the administrative agencies of the government to force the closed shop upon employers and employees throughout the nation. Ward's has long believed that when the public awakens to the extent of this coercion, it will rise in indignation.

Ward's defense of the freedom of its employees has not been prompted by any feeling of anti-unionism. All employees at Ward's are free to join or not join a union, as they wish. Ward's fully recognizes this privilege and has assured all employees that their opportunity with the company will be the same whether they are union members or not.

Ward's cannot in good citizenship accept or obey the commands of those who have no legal power to give them and who are seeking to deprive Ward's of its constitutional rights and liberties. Ward's takes this position in defense of the constitutional rights and liberties of every citizen of the United States.

The issues are now before the courts, where Ward's has sought for two years to have them decided. Ward's welcomes the opportunity to present its case to the courts.

U. S. Spending, Borrowing, Taxing Set New World Records in 1944

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 — (AP) In 1944 the United States government collected more, spent more, and borrowed more money than in any previous year of its history.

Uncle Sam established new world records which may stand up a long time.

However, the deficit—the amount by which spending exceeded income—did not set a record, and that's considered good news. It was still huge—52 billion dollars—but in 1943 it was 53 1-2 billion.

An unofficial analysis of the daily Treasury statements through December 26 shows that in the calendar year 1944:

Total expenditures, not counting several billions spent by government corporations, will hit 97 billion dollars. Last year they were 88 billion. In 1939, less than 10 billion.

If you subtract the net receipts from the total expenditures, you arrive at the aforementioned deficit of 52 billion.

Of the 97 billion expenditures, war spending amounted to about 89 billion. Adding 1 1-2 billion dollars spent on the war by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the grand total of 1944 war costs is over 90 billion. The comparable figure for last year was around 85 billion.

To pay for the war, the government increased its public debt by a record-breaking 62 billion dollars. For the first time, three war loans were held in one year.

The total debt, including obligations guaranteed by the government, rose from 170 to 232 billion dollars. The greatest previous increase in the debt in any one year was 58 billion last year.

Borrowing of 62 billion in 1944 was enough to take care of the 52-billion deficit and, in addition, raise the net Treasury balance by 10 billion. This balance was 12 billion a year ago. It's about 22 billion now.

By pure coincidence, government spending this year was the same as estimated consumer spending—97 billion dollars.

Dean Landis To Return To Harvard Law School

Cambridge, Mass, Dec. 28 (AP)—Harvard University officials said today that James M. Landis, who has been serving as American Minister in the Middle East, would return to Harvard "in the near future" to resume his duties as dean of the law school.

He was returning, they said, under an arrangement reached several months ago.

Landis went to Cairo as American director of economic operations in the Middle East and principal American civilian representative at the Middle East supply center with the personal rank of minister.

NORDEN OFFICIALS PLEAD INNOCENT

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 — (AP) Pleas of innocent were entered in Federal court today by six defendants indicted on charges of conspiracy to hamper the output of the world-famed Norden bombsights used by U. S. Army and Navy air forces.

G. Osmond Hyde, special assistant to the attorney general's office, asked bail of $1,000 be fixed for each defendant and requested they be fingerprinted and photographed.

Judge Edward A. Conger denied the first request, paroling the defendants in custody of their attorneys, but granted the second with the stipulation that the records be kept in the court building and be destroyed if the defendants were acquitted.

The Federal Grand Jury indictments, returned Dec. 19, charged conspiracy to impede and defeat Navy supervision of production of the war-vital bombsights and named the following as defendants:

Carl L. Norden, Inc., and Theodore H. Barth, president, and Warde E. Marvelle, vice president of the firm, and Navy Comdr. John D. Corrigan and Robert H. Wells and their survey firm, Corrigan, Osburne and Wells.

Declaring that the Norden company possessed several Navy "E" awards, former U. S. Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, counsel for the firm and its two officers, told the court the present situation was fomented by the "powerful Remington-Rand company."

The Norden concern, the indictments charged, supplied faulty information to the Remington-Rand, Elmira, N. Y., plant, a sub-contractor, and as a result Corrigan, then in charge of the Navy Ordnance Bureau's production sub-section, could recommend that the plant be taken over by the Navy.

Attorney for the Corrigan, Osburne and Wells firm issued a statement in which Wells reiterated that there had been no misconduct by Corrigan, the firm or him.

FINDS GUAYULE IS PROFITABLE

But House Group Would End Federal Production.

Washington, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—The House Special Rubber Committee recommended today that the Government get out of the guayule production business, but continue experiments in growing and processing of the latex-bearing plant.

In a report filed with the Speaker of the House, the committee advised that no existing guayule rubber plantings be destroyed as long as the war continues and sources of natural rubber in the Dutch East Indies are not available.

Shortly after Pearl Harbor Congress appropriated $45,083,000 to develop natural rubber supplies in the southwestern part of the United States. Under the emergency program the Government acquired ownership and control of all guayule production in the United States. Plantings then were carried on in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Headed by Representative Poage (D.-Tex.), the House committee expressed a conviction that guayule might be produced profitably in this country and suggested that in order to establish "a sound post-war industry in private hands," the Government establish and guarantee for a period of from seven to ten years a definite floor under the price of domestically produced guayule rubber.

DEC 28 1944

Urges 28-Cent Price

"We believe this floor should be somewhere between 20 and 30 cents per pound of rubber content," the committee said. "Probably it should be fixed at the established price of 28 cents per pound.

"It should be offered for a definite acreage only so as to prevent any undue drain on the Treasury if the cost of production is reduced as low as we hope it may by quantity production."

The committee observed that in 1930 Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, then a major, investigated guayule production possibilities in connection with a War Department study of vital materials, and had suggested that 400,000 acres be devoted to its cultivation in the Southwest.

Commenting on its recommendation that the Government continue a comprehensive program of research and experiment, the committee report stated that there still exists a question how far north and how far east guayule can be grown in the United States.

The changeover of production and processing from Government to private ownership should be done "just as soon as reasonable arrangements can be made with private interests" to buy the Government holdings, the report added.

Guayule Held Satisfactory.

As to the results obtained from guayule rubber, the committee said the B. F. Goodrich Company advised the War Production Board on November 21, 1944 that "guayule is satisfactory as a 100 per cent replacement for other rubber in the outer carcass plies of heavy duty, S-4 tires."

The report said experiments show the Russian dandelion "does not seem to offer a solution to the wartime rubber needs" because of the expense incurred in keeping plants free of weeds.

The committee disclosed plans for an inspection trip this weekend to Haiti to see a 43,000-acre cryptostegia development. The Rubber Development Corporation, a United States Government agency, financed the project in Haiti as a part of the war emergency program.

Pan Am To Resume Trans-Atlantic Trips

New York, Dec. 28 (AP) — Pan American World Airways today announced its trans-Atlantic division would return to commercial operations January 1 following termination of its contract with the Naval Air Transport Service.

The company said its fleet of 42-ton Boeing clippers would be operated on regular schedule to Europe and Africa, but that priority control would remain with the Navy Department.

Describing its planes as the largest in commercial service anywhere, the company said that in the last five and one half years it had flown 6,700,000 plane miles, carrying 68,000 passengers and 9,820,000 pounds of express and mail.

Coffee Quota Raised To Spur Importation

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Inter-American Coffee Board today substantially raised coffee quotas above the basic quotas to encourage importation of coffee.

The coffee board ordered an emergency increase in the quotas for the United States market as of January 1, 1945, for three months to 200 per cent of the basic quotas.

The board announced that the quotas (given in bags), beginning the first of the year will be as follows:

Brazil — 16,607,475, Colombia—5,622,071, Costa Rica — 357,150, Cuba—142,860, Dominican Republic—214,290, Ecuador—267,863, El Salvador—1,071,450, Guatemala—955,376 Haiti—491,081, Honduras—35,715, Mexico—848,231, Nicaragua—348,221 Peru—44,644, Venezuela—750,015.

Stored Fuel Oil Drops

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—A further drop in stored stocks of fuel oils was reported today by the American Petroleum Institute in its weekly statistics.

Light fuel oils decreased 1,567,000 barrels to a total of 40,846,000, and heavy fuel oils were down 771,000 barrels to 58,509,000. Stocks of gasoline increased 618,000 barrels to 83,365,000.

The week's production of light fuel oil was estimated at 4,605,000 barrels compared with 4,353,000 the previous week and 4,411,000 a year ago. Heavy fuel oil output was 8,798,000 barrels against 8,727,000 the week before and 8,697,000 a year ago.

Gasoline production for the week was 14,635,000 barrels compared with 14,145,000 in the previous week.

Civilian Output Hits New Snag

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP)—Shortages of two important war metals, copper and lead, threatened today to cause further civilian belt-tightening in 1945.

Because of the sharply rising army demands for bullets and artillery shells, the Office of Civilian Requirements may be called upon to give back half the tonnage of copper brass mill products allotted to it for the manufacture of civilian goods next quarter, WPB officials revealed.

Stock Pile Dwindles

A 40 per cent cut in civilian use of lead, required in a WPB order announced last night, was explained as necessary to protect the Government's stock pile, which has dwindled to less than one month's wartime consumption.

The lead curtailment will affect storage batteries, paint, tetraethyl for civilian gasoline and other items. The copper deficit is expected to hit hooks, eyes, fasteners and—to a severe degree—civilian shotgun shells and cartridges.

Other Metals "Easy"

Aside from copper and lead, however, the metal picture was described as the "easiest supply situation" in two years.

Steel supplies were reported "fairly well balanced" with prospective demand, and aluminum "relatively easy." Only about half the country's plant capacity for producing ingot aluminum now is being used.

The steel plate supply was considerably eased by a big drop in Maritime Commission requirements for the January-February-March quarter.

Less Carbon Steel

Nevertheless, the carbon steel allotment to Office of Civilian Requirements, for consumer goods and other civilian activities, has also been cut rather deeply—from 228,000 tons this quarter to 163,800 tons next quarter.

In addition, 250,000 tons have been allotted for civilian goods manufactured under the "spot" authorization plan—where individual plants may apply to make civilian items if they can prove they have machinery and labor not needed for war work. WPB officials frankly stated, however, they did not believe half the tonnage would be used, because of limitations placed on the spot program to conserve manpower.

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER BASE, ENGLAND, DEC. 28-(AP)-THE EXPLOITS OF MAJ. MIKE CLADYCH, "THE FLYING POLE," ARE BECOMING LEGENDARY AMONG ALLIED FIGHTER PILOTS.

CLADYCH HAS BEEN SERVING WITH THE FAMED 56TH THUNDERBOLT GROUP -- WHICH HAS A RECORD OF 800 NAZI PLANES TO ITS CREDIT -- FOR MORE THAN A YEAR NOW WITHOUT ANY OFFICIAL STATUS. THE AMERICAN PILOTS CHIP IN EACH MONTH TO GIVE HIM SPENDING MONEY, AND MEANWHILE HE GOES ON TAKING THUNDERBOLTS OVER GERMANY TO SHOOT UP ANYTHING BEARING THE HATED SWASTIKA.

THE STORY OF THIS AMAZING AIRMAN HAS BEEN PIECED TOGETHER BIT BY BIT BY OTHER FLIERS. IT FORMS ONE OF THE MOST FANTASTIC TALES TO COME OUT OF THE WAR.

DEC 281944

CLADYCH, NOW 35, WAS A MEMBER OF THE POLISH AIR FORCE WHEN THE NAZIS OVERRAN POLAND, KILLING HIS PARENTS, HIS SWEETHEART AND MANY OF HIS FRIENDS. HE ESCAPED BY PLANE TO FRANCE AND JOINED THE FRENCH AIR FORCE. SHOT DOWN IN A GERMAN-OCCUPIED AREA, HE WAS HIDDEN BY A FRENCH DOCTOR IN AN INSANE ASYLUM WHILE THE GESTAPO SEARCHED FOR HIM.

LATER HE WAS WAYLAID IN A PARIS ALLEY BY THE GESTAPO, WHO LEFT HIM FOR DEAD AFTER BEATING HIM OVER THE HEAD WITH LEAD PIPES, BUT THE FRENCH DOCTOR MANAGED TO GET HIM BACK TO THE ASYLUM AND TREATED HIM THERE FOR MONTHS.

HE DID NOT FULLY RECOVER UNTIL AFTER ALL FRANCE HAD BEEN OCCUPIED BY THE NAZIS, AND THEN WAS SMUGGLED TO BRITAIN. HE JOINED THE RAF AND FOUGHT IN THE BATTLE OF BRITAIN, LATER BECOMING A MEMBER OF THE POLISH SQUADRON FORMED BY THE BRITISH.

A YEAR AGO HE WAS ASSIGNED TO THE EIGHTH AIR FORCE FOR DETACHED DUTY. HE ASKED TO BE SENT TO THE 56TH THUNDERBOLT GROUP AFTER HEARING OF ITS REPUTATION FOR KNOCKING ENEMY PLANES FROM THE SKY.

CLADYCH CHECKED IN WITH THE 56TH FOR 48 HOURS, HAS STAYED A YEAR AND WANTS TO STAY ANOTHER.

GARBED GENERALLY IN A GRAY UNIFORM WITH THE POLISH EAGLE INSIGNIA, THE DARK-HAIRED CLADYCH WILL NOT TALK OF HIS EXPLOITS. APPARENTLY ALL HE WANTS TO DO IS KILL NAZIS, BUT THE MEN OF THE FIGHTER GROUP, INTENT UPON KEEPING UP THEIR RECORD OF KILLS, HAVE A HARD TIME PUMPING FROM HIM THE NUMBER OF HIS VICTORIES.

"MAYBE I GET TWO PLANES," HE SAYS UNCONCERNEDLY WHEN ASKED TO REPORT ON THE OUTCOME OF A DOGFIGHT. "BUT I CANNOT COUNT BECAUSE I AM TOO BUSY SHOOTING WHAT'S AHEAD OF ME INSTEAD OF LOOKING BACK TO SEE WHAT I LEFT BEHIND ME."

HIS WING CAMERAS SHOW HE HAS SHOT DOWN AT LEAST 11 ENEMY PLANES, BUT HIS BUDDIES HE HAS ACTUALLY ACCOUNTED FOR AT LEAST 15 MORE. DURING HIS TIME WITH FOUR DIFFERENT AIR FORCES HIS TOTAL IS BELIEVED TO RUN TO PERHAPS 45.

ARTILLERY GENERAL ERIC BRANDENBERGER'S REFORMED SEVENTH ARMY, ORIGINALLY MET IN NORMANDY, WAS MEETING ANEW THE SHOCK OF THE AMERICAN ATTACK ON THE SOUTHERN FLANK.

TWO ARMORED ARMIES, THE FIFTH COMMANDED BY LT.GEN. HASSO ECKHARDT VON MANTEUFFEL AND ANOTHER COMMANDED BY SS GEN. JOSEPH DIETRICH, ONE-TIME BARTENDER TURNED NAZI STRONG MAN, ALSO WERE UNDER HEAVY ATTACK.

(THE GERMANS IN THEIR COMMUNIQUE TODAY SAID AN ARMORED BATTLE "OF THE GREATEST POSSIBLE SCALE" WAS RAGING ON BOTH SIDES OF THE PENETRATION.)

GERMAN BROADCASTS TOLD OF VIOLENT ALLIED ATTACKS AT THE SAME TIME FROM THE NORTH, AND AN ASSOCIATED PRESS FIELD DISPATCH SAID ENEMY TANK FORMATIONS HAD BEEN FORCED TO DROP OFFENSIVE ACTION ON THE MARCHE-MANHAY LINE--THE GERMAN SALIENT'S NORTH SHOULDER--AND DIG IN DEFENSIVELY.

THE ALLIED-CONTROLLED LUXEMBOURG RADIO SAID LAST NIGHT THAT AMERICAN ATTACKS HAD CUT THE WIDTH OF THE GERMAN-HELD TERRITORY TO LESS THAN 20 MILES--A FIGURE THAT COINCIDES WITH THE DISTANCE BETWEEN BASTOGNE AND LAST REPORTED AMERICAN POSITIONS IN THE LIERNEUX AREA TO THE NORTH.

IN A DISPATCH SENT FROM THE FIELD ABOUT THE SAME TIME, HOWEVER, ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT HAL BOYLE SPOKE OF THE SALIENT'S WIDTH AS 29 MILES.

DEC 281944

BOYLE QUOTED RETURNING FLIERS AS REPORTING YESTERDAY THAT THE GERMANS WERE SETTING FIRE TO THEIR TANKS AND OTHER SELF-PROPELLED VEHICLES IN THE CELLES AREA, AT THE POINT OF THE NAZI'S DEEPEST PENETRATION TOWARD THE MEUSE RIVER, AND THAT AMERICAN ARMOR WAS IN OPERATION THERE. PREVIOUSLY, MANY GERMANS HAD BEEN REPORTED ABANDONING THEIR ARMOR FOR LACK OF GASOLINE.

BOYLE ALSO WROTE THAT THE LATEST GERMANS TAKEN PRISONER COMPLAINED ABOUT "THE DIFFICULT SUPPLY SITUATION" AND DECLARED THEY HAD BEEN WITHOUT FOOD FOR ONE OR TWO DAYS--AN INDICATION THAT THE FIVE DAYS OF UNCEASING ALLIED AIR ATTACKS WERE BEGINNING TO STARVE BOTH VON RUNDSTEDT'S MEN AND MACHINES.

THE AMERICAN THRUST TO BASTOGNE WAS DESCRIBED BY ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT WES GALLAGHER AS FIELD MARSHAL VON RUNDSTEDT'S "GREATEST BLOW TO DATE."

"RUNDSTEDT'S ENTIRE SOUTHERN FLANK APPEARED TO BE SAGGING UNDER THE AMERICAN ONSLAUGHT AS GAINS OF TWO TO FOUR MILES WERE REGISTERED," WROTE GALLAGHER. "UNLESS HE CAN QUICKLY HALT THE AMERICAN ADVANCE, PARTICULARLY IN THE BASTOGNE SECTOR, THE GERMAN MARSHAL'S BELGIUM BULGE WILL BE IN A CRITICAL CONDITION."

THE FORCES ATTACKING FROM THE SOUTH HAVE NOT BEEN OFFICIALLY IDENTIFIED, BUT BERLIN SAID LAST NIGHT THAT "PRACTICALLY THE WHOLE THIRD AMERICAN ARMY" UNDER LT.GEN.GEORGE S.PATTON HAD MOVED UP.

PATTON, BERLIN SAID, WAS AIMING A THRUST IN THE VICINITY OF VAUX LES ROSIERES, NINE MILES SOUTHWEST OF BASTOGNE, IN AN EFFORT TO "CORNER GERMAN DIVISIONS BETWEEN THE SALM AND OURTHE RIVERS." THE GERMANS ACKNOWLEDGED WITHDRAWALS IN LUXEMBOURG NEAR THE GERMAN FRONTIER.

THE BASTOGNE DEFENDERS, WHOSE STAND DENIED THE GERMANS BADLY NEEDED SUPPLY ROADS, WITHSTOOD THREE FIERCE ENEMY ATTACKS IN THE 24 HOURS BEFORE BEING RELIEVED. A FIELD DISPATCH SAID THEY REPORTED DESTROYING AT LEAST 87 GERMAN TANKS DURING THE SIEGE. AT TIMES THE AMERICANS WERE COMPRESSED IN AN AREA LESS THAN 2,000 YARDS IN DIAMETER.

DEC 281944

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS GAVE NO LATE INFORMATION ON THE SITUATION ALONG THE NORTHERN FLANK OF THE ENEMY SALIENT, BUT THE GERMANS THEMSELVES DECLARED "BATTLES OF THE GREATEST SCALE" WERE BEING FOUGHT THERE AS WELL AS ON THE SOUTH.

BERLIN ASSERTED LAST NIGHT THAT A BRITISH DIVISION HAD JOINED WITH "STILL ANOTHER AMERICAN DIVISION WITHDRAWN FROM THE AACHEN FRONT IN MAKING PARTICULARLY GRIM COUNTERATTACKS" IN THE NORTH.

ACCORDING TO LATEST AVAILABLE INFORMATION, THE WESTERNMOST SPEARHEADS OF THE GERMAN DRIVE WERE BEING HELD, AND POSSIBLY PUSHED BACK.

ALL THE LATEST ALLIED AND ENEMY REPORTS COULD BE PIECED INTO A PICTURE DEFINITELY CHEERING TO THE ALLIES, BUT IN HIS DISPATCH LAST NIGHT BOYLE CAUTIONED THAT "THE ENEMY MIGHT CHANGE THE SITUATION BY HURLING IN FRESH RESERVES--IF ANY ARE AVAILABLE--OR WORSENING WEATHER MIGHT ROB THE ALLIES OF THE ADVANTAGES GIVEN THEM BY GREAT AIR SUPERIORITY."

GALLAGHER LIKEWISE SUGGESTED THAT NEW CRISES MAY COME--POSSIBLY ON ANOTHER SECTOR OF THE WESTERN FRONT.

"THERE SEEMS TO BE LITTLE DOUBT THAT VON RUNDSTEDT HAS NEW BLOWS UP HIS MILITARY SLEEVE," GALLAGHER WROTE.

ON THE COLOGNE PLAIN, WHERE THE AMERICAN NINTH AND FIRST ARMIES TRIED THROUGHOUT THE FALL TO BREAK THROUGH TO THE RHINE, THE GERMANS HAVE NOW BUILT TWO NEW BRIDGES ACROSS THE ROER RIVER NORTH OF LINNICH, GALLAGHER SAID, ADDING:

"AT THE SAME TIME, BY CONTROLLING DAMS ALONG THE RIVER, THEY HAVE DROPPED THE HEIGHT OF THE WATER TWO AND A HALF FEET IN 24 HOURS, WHICH WOULD MAKE CROSSING EASIER."

THE GERMANS ALSO WERE WATCHING THIS SECTOR. ONE ENEMY BROADCAST SAID "POSITIONS OF THE U.S. NINTH ARMY HAVE BEEN TAKEN OVER BY BRITISH FORMATIONS UNDER COMMAND OF FIELD MARSHAL MONTGOMERY" WHILE THE AMERICANS WERE HURRIED TO THE BELGIUM BATTLE.

THERE WAS ALSO THE POSSIBILITY THAT VON RUNDSTEDT BELIEVED GEN. EISENHOWER HAD SUMMONED ENOUGH STRENGTH TO CHECK THE OFFENSIVE, AND MIGHT BE PULLING THEM BACK INTO RESERVE, LEAVING THE SEVENTH ARMY AND THE RAG-TAG VOLKSTURM DIVISIONS TO TRY TO HOLD THE GAINS.

SHOULD VON RUNDSTEDT ACCOMPLISH SUCH A WITHDRAWAL, HE DEFINITELY WOULD HAVE WON TWO ROUNDS INSTEAD OF ONE BY NOT ONLY BREAKING UP THE ALLIED OFFENSIVE BUT BY WITHDRAWING WITH THE BULK OF HIS ARMORED RESERVES INTACT.

ON THE NORTHWEST, WHERE THE GERMAN PLANNERS PROBABLY HOPED TO BREAK THROUGH TO ANTWERP, THE FORCE OF AMERICAN COUNTERBLOWS NOT ONLY PUSHED THE ENEMY FROM GRANDMENIL BUT NEARBY MANHAY AS WELL. THE GERMANS ALSO GAVE GROUND NEAR MARCHE, 14 MILES SOUTHWEST OF GRANDMENIL.

DEC 281944

ONE GERMAN ARMORED FORCE WHICH HAD PUSHED TO NEAR CINEY, 15 MILES SOUTHEAST OF THE MEUSE RIVER CITY OF NAMUR, HAD BEEN SHOVED BACK UNTIL THE BATTLE LINE NOW WAS SEVEN TO EIGHT MILES TO THE SOUTHEAST OF THE VILLAGE.

ENEMY ARMORED FORCES IN THIS SECTOR APPEARED DISORGANIZED, LARGE NUMBERS OF PRISONERS WERE TAKEN IN 24 HOURS, AND LARGE FIRES BLAZED FROM BLASTED EQUIPMENT, A FRONT DISPATCH SAID.

THE ENEMY'S TROUBLES WERE MULTIPLYING ALONG THE WHOLE LINE OF THE SURE AND CLERF RIVERS OF NORTHERN LUXEMBOURG, WHERE COUNTERBLOWS HAD CARRIED EISENHOWER'S TROOPS ACROSS THE SURE AT FOUR POINTS AND UP TO THE TWO RIVERS' SOUTH BANKS OR DOMINATING HIGH GROUND ALL ALONG THE FRONT.

THREE CROSSINGS OF THE SURE WERE FORCED 22 MILES NORTHWEST OF THE DUCHY'S CAPITAL, WHERE THE VILLAGE OF LIEFRANGE WAS RECAPTURED. A FOURTH CROSSING WAS MADE FARTHER WEST NORTH OF MARTELANGE.

TO THE NORTHEAST OF THE CAPITAL, THE AMERICANS FIGHTING THROUGH FIR-COVERED HILLS OVERWHELMED A GERMAN FORCE WHICH TRIED TO MAKE A BASTOGNE-LIKE STAND AT BEAUFORT, A MILE AND A HALF FROM THE REICH'S FRONTIER.

FROM BEAUFORT, WHICH IS 17 MILES NORTHEAST OF LUXEMBOURG'S CAPITAL, THE AMERICANS SMASHED ON TOWARD THE BORDER. SOME ENEMY TROOPS TRYING TO GET BACK INTO GERMANY SOUTHWEST OF NEARBY ECHTERNACH WERE ATTEMPTING TO REPAIR A BRIDGE ACROSS THE SURE RIVER UNDER ARTILLERY FIRE.

FARTHER NORTH, WHERE THE OUR BECOMES THE BORDER STREAM AS THE SURE BRANCHES WEST, 250 GERMANS WERE SEEN TRYING TO SWIM THE ICY CURRENT.

STRONG GERMAN PATROLS WERE LANCING INTO ALLIED POSITIONS IN HOLLAND, APPARENTLY TRYING TO LEARN IF BRITISH AND CANADIAN FORCES HAD BEEN SENT SOUTH TO JOIN THE BATTLE IN BELGIUM. THEY CAME ACROSS THE MAAS IN NORTHWEST AND EASTERN HOLLAND, BUT WERE BEATEN BACK.

THE LINES WERE UNCHANGED ELSEWHERE ALONG THE SPRAWLING WESTERN FRONT.

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY IN LUXEMBOURG, DEC. 28—(AP)—VIGOROUS SHOUTING IN ENGLISH, GERMAN AND ITALIAN AND TWO PISTOL SHOTS FIRED INTO THE AIR BROUGHT ABOUT THE SWIFT SURRENDER OF 13 SUPPOSEDLY TOUGH GERMAN PARATROOPERS TO FOUR AMERICANS LAST NIGHT—BUT THE YANKS DO NOT GUARANTEE THIS FORMULA.

CAPT. DOMENIC PRATO, OF 46 NORMAN ST., BOSTON, MASS., PROVIDED THE SHOUTING, WHILE LT. WILLIAM A. SIGARD, OF 219 LYON AVE., EAST PROVIDENCE, R. I., DID THE SHOOTING. AND HERE IS THE WAY THE LIEUTENANT—WHO RECENTLY WON A BATTLEFIELD PROMOTION FROM A SERGEANT'S RANK—DESCRIBED THE EPISODE:

DEC 28 1944

"FOUR OF US WERE IN A JEEP DRIVING BACK TO A TOWN WE JUST HAD TAKEN WHEN I SAW A MAN WEARING A WHITE CAMOUFLAGE CAPE STANDING IN THE MOONLIGHT BESIDE A CULVERT. HE STOPPED THE JEEP AND CAPT. PRATO AND I JUMPED OUT. AS WE DID SO, SOME MORE GERMANS CLIMBED OUT OF A DITCH AND THEY—SOME 13 IN NUMBER—STRUNG ACROSS THE ROAD IN FRONT OF US.

"THEY WERE POINTING BUMP GUNS AND SOME OF OUR CAPTURED GARAND RIFLES AT US WHILE WE WERE ARMED ONLY WITH PISTOLS. AS WE STOOD FACE TO FACE A FEW FEET APART, CAPT. PRATO BEGAN SHOUTING AS BOLDLY AT THEM AS IF WE WERE AT THE HEAD OF A STRONG COLUMN. HE TOLD THEM IN ENGLISH AND IN GERMAN AND FINALLY IN ITALIAN TO DROP THEIR GUNS BECAUSE RESISTANCE WAS USELESS.

DEC 281944

"THEY SEEMED UNDECIDED SO I FIRED TWO SHOTS OVER THEIR HEADS AND THE NEXT FEW SECONDS REALLY WERE TOUGH ONES. WE DID NOT KNOW WHAT EFFECT THE SHOOTING WOULD HAVE ON THEM. WE DID KNOW THEY WOULD EITHER USE THOSE GUNS OR DROP THEM. I AM STILL HERE SO YOU KNOW WHAT THEY DID."

THE UNIT COMMANDED BY PRATO CAPTURED 160 GERMANS LAST NIGHT AND TODAY IN CLEANING OUT A TYPICAL LITTLE HILL TOWN THAT SITS DOWN INSIDE A BOWL FORMED BY SNOW-CLAD, WOOD-PATCHED RIDGES.

A BATCH OF 49 OF THESE PRISONERS WERE SNATCHED FROM THEIR FOXHOLES BY A DETAIL OF NINE MEN LED BY SGTS. WOODROW WILSON MAXWELL, OF GLENVILLE, WEST VA., AND CORDELL HULL DISHMON, OF LIVINGSTON, TENN. HERE IS THE WAY MAXWELL TOLD OF THIS FEAT:

"WE WERE SENT ALONG A RIDGE OVERLOOKING THE TOWN TO PROTECT A PLATOON MOVING IN BELOW AND WE DREW FIRE FROM A SNIPER IN SOME WOODS SO WE MOVED DOWN INTO IT.

DEC 281944

"JUST AS WE GOT INTO THE TREES, WE SAW THERE WAS MORE THAN ONE SNIPER. THERE WERE DOZENS OF TWO-MAN FOXHOLES THERE AND MOST OF THEM WERE FULL. WE FIRED A FEW ROUNDS AS THE SURPRISED KRAUTS STUCK THEIR HEADS OUT. THEY WERE ARMED WITH MACHINE PISTOLS AND HAD FIVE MORTARS, THREE HEAVY MACHINEGUNS AND PLENTY OF RIFLES. BUT THEY NEVER FIRED A SHOT AS WE CLOSED IN ON THEM.

"WHILE SIX OF US KEPT THE HOLES COVERED, PVT. SAUL LEAVITT (1418 PRESIDENT ST., BROOKLYN) AND TWO OTHER MEN MOVED FROM HOLE TO HOLE, MAKING THE GERMANS CLIMB OUT AND DROP THEIR WEAPONS."

DEC 281944

"I DON'T KNOW WHY, WITH ALL THOSE WEAPONS THE GERMANS DIDN'T RESIST. BUT THEY APPARENTLY WERE VERY SURPRISED AND MUST HAVE THOUGHT WE WERE THE FIRST OF A MUCH STRONGER FORCE. I HATE TO THINK WHAT WOULD HAVE HAPPENED IF THEY HAD KNOWN THERE WERE ONLY NINE OF US."

DEC 28 1944

MAJ. DONALD HEALEY, OF WESTFIELD, MASS., WAS AS PUZZLED AS MAXWELL ABOUT THE SPOTTY CHARACTER OF GERMAN RESISTANCE THROUGH THESE HILLS AND SUMMED IT UP IN THIS WAY:

"THESE TROOPS WE ARE TAKING NOW ARE MEN OF GOOD QUALITY PHYSICALLY, MANY OF THEM ARE STRONG NAZIS AND PRACTICALLY ALL INSIST THAT GERMANY IS GOING TO WIN THE WAR EITHER THROUGH THEIR PRESENT OFFENSIVE OR THROUGH SECRET WEAPONS. SOMETIMES THEY FIGHT WELL BUT, AT OTHER TIMES, THEY GIVE IN WITH MINIMUM RESISTANCE."

IN THE CASE OF THE TOWN JUST TAKEN BY PRATO'S MEN, THE LATTER WAS TRUE AND HIS OUTFIT SUFFERED ONLY FOUR CASUALTIES FROM THE TIME THE ATTACK ON THE VILLAGE STARTED LAST NIGHT UNTIL IT WAS CLEARED COMPLETELY AROUND NOON TODAY. ONLY ABOUT SIX GERMANS REFUSED TO SURRENDER AND HAD TO BE KILLED.

DEC 28 1944

HERE IN THE WOODS OUTSIDE BASTOGNE IS A COLUMN OF 21 ARMORED VEHICLES, SOME BURNED OUT, OTHERS INTACT. THE FACT THAT SO MANY VEHICLES BORE NO DAMAGE INDICATED THE POSSIBILITY THAT THEY WERE HALTED BY LACK OF FUEL.

SOME QUARTERS HAVE DRAWN A PARALLEL BETWEEN VON RUNDSTEDT'S "FINAL EFFORT" OFFENSIVE AND THE KAISER'S LAST CAMPAIGN OF 1918. WHETHER THIS IS TRUE REMAINS FOR THE FUTURE, BUT THE FACT TODAY IS THIS--VON RUNDSTEDT DEFINITELY HAS LOST THE FIRST ROUND.

HE LOST IT TO AMERICAN FIGHTING MEN WHO DID NOT KNOW WHAT IT WAS TO SURRENDER, MEN WHO FOUGHT ON RATIONED AMMUNITION AND SCANT FOOD UNTIL PATTON'S THIRD ARMY BROKE THE RING ABOUT BASTOGNE WITH SPECTACULAR AID FROM OUR AIR FORCES.

IF THE GERMANS ACTUALLY ARE EXPERIENCING A SHORTAGE OF FUEL--WHICH IS LIKELY AFTER THE BLOWS GOTTEN IN BY OUR AIR FORCE BEFORE FOG SETTLED OVER THE BATTLEFIELD AGAIN TODAY--THEN THE REST OF THEIR BREAKTHROUGH FORCES ARE IN SERIOUS STRAITS.

IN THIS CONNECTION, PRISONERS SAY SOME ENEMY FORCES JUMPED OFF WITH ONLY TEN DAYS SUPPLY OF FOOD, FUEL, AND AMMUNITION AND WERE DEPENDING ON "VAST AMERICAN STORES" WHICH THEY WERE TO SEIZE AT BASTOGNE BUT DID NOT.

TO NAME THE HEROES OF BASTOGNE WOULD BE TO CALL THE ENTIRE ROLL OF OFFICERS AND MEN WHO STOOD OFF THE GERMANS. IN FACING AND SQUARING THIS FIRST SERIOUS AMERICAN REVERSE SINCE BATAAN THEY ALL WERE HEROES.

DEC 28 1944

MEN LIKE SGT.RICHARD DEASTER, OF OSHKOSH, WIS., WHO KNOCKED OUT SEVEN GERMAN TANKS OF 31 DESTROYED IN ONE BATTLE.

DEASTER, WHO WAS IN AN OUTFIT COMMANDED BY CAPT.STEPHEN P.CHOR OF MOUNT SHASTA, CALIF., BAGGED ALL HIS VICTIMS WITH ONE SHOT APIECE EXCEPT THE LAST ONE, WHICH TOOK TWO TO GET.

LT.DAVID K.HAGENS, OF GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., DEASTER'S SECOND IN COMMAND, DESCRIBED THE SERGEANT'S SHOOTING GALLERY PERFORMANCE AS ONE OF THE OUTSTANDING PIECES OF MARKSMANSHIP DURING THE WHOLE BASTOGNE BATTLE.

SGT.SABIN LANDRY, OF BATON ROUGE, LA., CAME IN SECOND FOR GUNNERY HONORS IN HIS OUTFIT. LANDRY PICKED OFF FOUR GERMAN TANKS IN 15 MINUTES IN SEPARATE PARTS OF THE TOWN. HE KNOCKED THEM ALL OFF WHILE UNDER THE HEAVIEST KIND OF ENEMY FIRE.

WHEN EVERY OTHER GUN AROUND HIM WAS KNOCKED OUT, CORP.CHARLES SCOTT, A SOUTH CAROLINIAN (HOME TOWN UNAVAILABLE), TURNED HIS MULTIPLE MOUNT OF FOUR .50 CALIBER ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS AGAINST A TIGER TANK COMING DOWN THE ROAD. THE TIGER, APPARENTLY DAMAGED BY SCOTT'S FIRE, TURNED TAIL AND BEAT IT.

"MOST OF THE TIME WE WERE SURROUNDED, MY OUTFIT LIVED ON K-RATION CRACKERS AND COFFEE. WE WERE THINKING MORE ABOUT AMMUNITION THAN EATING," SAID SGT.GILBERT OKEN, OF 627 JEFFERSON ST., WASHINGTON, D.C.

A121

DEC 28 1944

CONCERN ON THIS SCORE WAS JUSTIFIED BECAUSE ON THE AFTERNOON OF DEC. 24--BEFORE SUPPLIES HAD BEEN PARACHUTED TO SOME POCKETS--SEVERAL UNITS HAD ONLY 25 ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION FOR EACH OF THEIR ARTILLERY GUNS. THIS IS LESS THAN ENOUGH FOR A SUSTAINED TEN MINUTE BARRAGE. THE GASOLINE RESERVE HAD FALLEN TO 350 GALLONS BEFORE BEING REPLENISHED.

AN ARTILLERY OFFICER HELD OFF ONE GERMAN COLUMN THREATENING THE TOWN BY RALLYING A BUNCH OF STRAGGLERS WHO COLLECTIVELY REPRESENTED VIRTUALLY EVERY BRANCH OF SERVICE IN THE U.S. ARMY. THE COMMANDER HIMSELF WAS WOUNDED MORTALLY WHILE THE BATTLE WAS IN PROGRESS BUT HIS LITTLE MAKESHIFT ARMY KEPT FIGHTING UNTIL THE GERMANS WITHDREW.

THE FINISHING TOUCH IN BREAKING THE BASTOGNE RING WAS CREDITED TO A SPIRITED UNIT OF DOUGHBOYS WHO PULLED A FAST ONE ON THE GERMANS.

THE DOUGHBOYS OVERRAN ONE GERMAN FORCE WHICH WAS SCREENING ANOTHER ENEMY OUTFIT PREPARING TO JUMP OFF ON ANOTHER ATTACK AGAINST THE TOWN.

"PRISONERS TAKEN FROM THE SECOND OUTFIT EXPRESSED A POOR OPINION OF THEIR FELLOW SUPERMEN WHO WERE SUPPOSED TO BE SCREENING THEM," SAID LT.COL.HARRY E.BROWN, 4701 CORNELIUS ST., INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

WITH U.S. THIRD ARMY--~~FOURTH~~ ADD PATTON (BY HAWKINS)

X X X PATTON'S FRONT.

DEC 28 1944

THE GERMAN RADIO PREVIOUSLY HAD REPORTED THAT PATTON WAS HITTING FROM THE SOUTH AND TODAY'S OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION WAS THE STRONGEST KIND OF EVIDENCE THAT THE INAUGURAL PHASE WAS PAST AND THE ISSUE SQUARELY JOINED IN A BID TO BREAK THE WEHRMACHT'S OFFENSIVE.

DETAILS OF MOVEMENTS OF THE THIRD ARMY STILL WERE CLOAKED BY THE SECURITY TIME LAG, BUT THE FEATS ALREADY ACCOMPLISHED BY UNITS UNDER THE SALTY-TONGUED GENERAL EQUAL SOME OF THOSE WHICH MADE THE THIRD FAMOUS FOR ITS GREAT PURSUIT OF THE NAZIS ACROSS FRANCE.

ALL ALONG THE FRONT THIS DRAMATIC RUSH INTO THE BREACH HAS LIFTED THE SPIRITS OF THE MEN AND DESPITE FIERCELY COLD WEATHER, HEARTBREAKING TERRAIN AND STUBBORN GERMAN RESISTANCE, THE MORALE SEEMS HIGHER THAN IT HAS BEEN FOR WEEKS--AND IT NEVER WAS BAD.

NORTHEAST, NORTH AND NORTHWEST OF LUXEMBOURG CITY THE GERMANS HAVE BEEN SHOVED BACK TWO TO 14 MILES, ROUGHLY TO LINES ALONG THE OUR RIVER FORMING THE LUXEMBOURG-GERMAN BORDER AND TO THE SURE RIVER WHICH WINDS ACROSS NORTHERN LUXEMBOURG.

THE LATTER STREAM HAS BEEN CROSSED AT SOME POINTS A FEW MILES WEST OF THE LUXEMBOURG-BELGIUM BORDER.

(THIRTY-THREE WORDS CENSORED) THE RELIEF OF THE GALLANT DEFENDERS OF BASTOGNE WAS PROBABLY THE HEAVIEST BLOW YET DEALT THE GERMANS' HOPES FOR FORCING A COMPROMISE PEACE BECAUSE THIS BELGIAN CITY IS THE CENTER OF A ROAD AND RAIL NET NEEDED FOR EFFECTIVE SUPPLY OF NAZI ELEMENTS FARTHER WEST. LACKING IT THEY ALREADY HAVE BEEN FORCED ON THE DEFENSIVE ALL THE WAY TO THE MEUSE.

PROVIDENCE SMILED, PERHAPS SYMBOLICALLY, ON THE THIRD ARMY BY SENDING THE FIRST REALLY GOOD FLYING WEATHER IN WEEKS ON THE DAY AFTER THE PUSH STARTED AND THEN RUNNING UP A STRING OF FIVE CONSECUTIVE CLEAR DAYS. FOG AND CLOUD RETURNED AGAIN TODAY, BUT VANISHED LATE THIS AFTERNOON.

WITH THE U.S. THIRD ARMY OUTSIDE ECHTERNACH--FIRST ADD LOST INFANTRYMEN (BY HAWKINS) X X X DEAD OR CAPTURED.

STILL, SAMPLEY HAD BEEN SEPARATED FROM THE MAIN BODY SINCE SOON AFTER THE GERMAN ATTACK SO UNDER THE DIRECTION OF LT. COL. JOSEPH GOLDEN, OF ARLINGTON, VA., AND LT. WILLIAM ANDERSON, OF ST. PAUL, MINN., AND SEATTLE, WASH., A RELIEF PATROL WAS ORGANIZED AND IT ENTERED THE CITY, NOW HALF ENCIRCLED BY AMERICANS AND WITH THE GERMANS WITHDRAWING.

DEC 28 1944

TWO MEN WHO RAN THE GANTLET OUT OF THE TOWN LAST WEEK, PFC. ARTHUR B. GILLEY, OF ATMORE, ALA., AND PVT. EARL R. CARR, OF MUNCIE, IND., WENT IN LAST NIGHT WITH PFC. JOHN PENDERGRASS, OF SANTIAGO, CALIF., PVT. JAMES MCQUILLAN, OF 15529 NORBORNE AVE., DETROIT, MICH., PFC. LLOYD B. FLOYD, OF OLANTA, S.C. AND PVT. FRED G. PRAYNE, OF 2217 WEST ROOSEVELT ROAD, CHICAGO, ILL.

THROUGH SILENT AND DESERTED STREETS THEY SEARCHED, SOFTLY CALLING THE NAMES OF THE MEN THEY SOUGHT. THEY FOUND GERMANS STACKED HIGH BY AMERICAN BULLETS AND LEFT UNBURIED BY THEIR OWN COMPANIONS. THEY FOUND THE KITCHEN WHICH HAD BEEN AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS BUT THEY SAW NO LIVING SOLDIER, AMERICAN OR GERMAN.

THE ONLY ENCOURAGING NEWS THE COURAGEOUS PATROL COULD BRING BACK TO THEIR LINES IN THE HILLS OUTSIDE THE TOWN WAS THAT THERE WERE FEW KHAKI-CLAD CORPSES. FROM THIS, THEY THOUGHT THAT MANY OF THE LITTLE LOST BAND STILL MAY LIVE IN PRISON CAMPS.

DEC 28 1944

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, PARIS, DEC 28-(AP)-A MILE-WIDE AMERICAN-CUT CORRIDOR TO BASTOGNE HELD FIRM AGAINST GERMAN COUNTERATTACKS UP TO MID-DAY YESTERDAY, SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED TODAY.

THERE WAS EVERY INDICATION THAT THE LIFELINE TO THE HEROIC GARRISON WAS REGARDED AS FIRM AFTER A HAPPY-ENDING TO THE ALAMO-LIKE STAND. IT WAS HELD BY ARMOR AND INFANTRY.

THE AMERICAN GARRISON OF SEVERAL THOUSAND MEN WAS BOLSTERED DURING ITS WEEK-LONG SIEGE BY THE BIGGEST AERIAL SUPPLY TASK FORCE EVER ATTEMPTED BY THE ALLIES, HEADQUARTERS SAID TODAY AS A PART OF THE STORY UNFOLDED.

AT LEAST 842 C-47 TRANSPORT AND 50 GLIDER DROPS WERE MADE IN FOUR DAYS. THESE MISSIONS WERE CARRIED OUT ON DEC. 23, 24, 26 AND 27.

IF THE ALAMO HAD BEEN REACHED IN TIME; IF FLEET-GUARDED TROOPSHIPS COULD HAVE GUNNED THEIR WAY THROUGH TO BATAAN, THAT WOULD HAVE BEEN THE STORY OF BASTOGNE, THE AMERICAN ARNHEM, AS IT APPEARED TODAY.

IT WAS A BLOODY, HEROIC, SUICIDE STAND WITH PROMISE OF A BRIGHT ENDING.

THE MEN WHO FOUGHT AND DIED IN THE TANK-POUNDED OUTPOSTS AROUND THE TOWN FOR A WEEK, AND SOME OF THEM PROBABLY STILL ARE FIGHTING AND DYING THERE, CANNOT YET BE IDENTIFIED.

THEY ARE SEVERAL THOUSAND STRONG -- OR WERE WHEN THE BATTLE STARTED IN WHICH THEY TIED UP THE BETTER PART OF FIVE GERMAN DIVISIONS AND DENIED FIELD MARSHAL VON RUNDSTEDT THE MOST IMPORTANT ROAD HUB IN HIS OFFENSIVE BULGE.

BUT IT CAN BE DISCLOSED THAT MANY WERE VETERANS OF BATTLES FOUGHT UNDER MUCH THE SAME CIRCUMSTANCES.

DEC 28 1944

NEITHER CAN THE ARMOR AND INFANTRY WHICH FOUGHT THEIR WAY THROUGH TO THEM BE IDENTIFIED. IN THAT DRIVE THE AMERICAN TANKS CARRIED TEN MILES OR MORE UP THE ARLON-BASTOGNE ROAD AND HELD A THIN, HARD RELIEF CORRIDOR OPEN THROUGH THE FIRST 24 TO 36 HOURS WITH A DETERMINATION WHICH SUGGESTED IT WOULD STAY OPEN.

THE BASTOGNE POCKET WAS UNDER DAY AND NIGHT PRESSURE FROM EVERY SIDE AGAINST ODDS COMPARABLE TO THOSE WHICH BRITISH PARACHUTE TROOPS FACED AT ARNHEM, IN HOLLAND. THERE WAS NO WAY OF TELLING HOW MUCH LONGER THE AMERICAN GARRISON COULD HAVE HELD OUT -- BUT THE STORIES OF THE MEN WHO FOUGHT THERE NOW MAKE CLEAR HOW THEY WITHSTOOD THE SIEGE.

WHEN THE RELIEF COLUMN BURST THROUGH IT FOUND THE AMERICANS NOT SMASHED BACK INTO THE STREETS BUT CLINGING GRIMLY TO THE OUTPOST LINE.

THERE WAS NO INDICATION AT HEADQUARTERS THAT THE GERMANS HAD BEEN ABLE TO SMASH INTO THE TOWN ITSELF FROM ANY SIDE, ALTHOUGH TIME AND AGAIN TANKS DID BREAK THROUGH THE PERIMETER.

AROUND THE SHELL-TORN BASTOGNE RING THE WRECKAGE OF 87 GERMAN TANKS ATTESTED TO WHAT SUCCESS THE NAZI THRUSTS ENJOYED.

THUS FAR THERE IS NO OFFICIAL WORD TO INDICATE WHAT THE NEXT DEVELOPMENTS MAY BE. THERE ARE THESE POSSIBILITIES:

THE BATTLE-WORN BASTOGNE DEFENSE FORCE MIGHT BE WITHDRAWN AS QUICKLY AS IT IS POSSIBLE TO MOVE IN FRESH TROOPS.

THE WHOLE FORCE MIGHT BE WITHDRAWN THROUGH THE CORRIDOR AND BASTOGNE GIVEN UP -- ITS JOB DONE.

IT MIGHT ONLY BE SUPPLIED AND REINFORCED QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE TO CONTINUE THE HOLDOUT IN THE EVENT A NAZI COUNTERATTACK PINCHES OFF THE CORRIDOR.

A FRENCH SPITFIRE AIRDROME, DEC 28-(AP)-FRENCH-PILOTED SPITFIRES NOW ARE SUPPORTING U.S.SEVENTH ARMY OPERATIONS FROM THIS AIRDROME WITHIN A STONE'S THROW OF GERMANY. PROBABLY NO OTHER OPERATIONAL AIRDROME ON ANY OTHER BATTLE FRONT IS CLOSER TO THE ENEMY.

THE FRENCH PILOTS--ABOUT HALF OF WHOM WERE IN THE FRENCH AIR FORCE BEFORE THE 1940 ARMISTICE--CAN TAKE OFF AND BE OVER ENEMY LINES BEFORE THEIR ENGINES HAVE WARMED UP. IN THE FIRST MISSION FROM THIS FIELD, EIGHT SPITFIRES WERE JUMPED BY 20 GERMAN ME109S. THE FIGHT LASTED ONLY FIVE MINUTES. THE FRENCH DESTROYED FIVE OUT OF THE 20 GERMANS, GOT TWO PROBABLES AND LOST TWO OF THEIR OWN.

MANY OF THE FRENCH PILOTS HAVE BEEN TRAINED IN THE UNITED STATES. ONE OF THE SQUADRON LEADERS, 30-YEAR-OLD MAJ.MICHAEL DORANCE, SERVED AS ASSISTANT AIR ATTACHE AT WASHINGTON FOR THE VICHY GOVERNMENT FOR NEARLY TWO YEARS. INTERNED FROM NOVEMBER, 1942, TO JANUARY, 1943, HE WENT TO SARASOTA, FLA., WHEN RELEASED AND TOOK REFRESHER COURSES FOR TWO MONTHS. HE THEN JOINED OTHER FRENCH FLIERS IN NORTH AFRICA.

DORANCE DOWNED 13 GERMANS BEFORE THE FRENCH ARMISTICE BUT HAS NOT HAD A CRACK AT A NAZI PLANE SINCE THE FRENCH AIR FORCE RETURNED TO ITS HOMELAND.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM DEC 27-(DELAYED)-(AP)-NINE MEMBERS OF A QUARTERMASTER COMPANY TRAPPED BY THE RECENT GERMAN BREAKTHROUGH IN THIS AREA TOLD TODAY HOW THEY HID IN AN OLD CREAMERY STORAGE VAULT WHILE NAZI TANKMEN RANSACKED BINS OF NEW AMERICAN COMBAT CLOTHING "LIKE A BUNCH OF CHILDREN."

"THE HEINIES WERE TICKLED PINK TO GET THAT CLOTHING," SAID PVT.B.C.MALLORY OF MINERAL WELLS, TEXAS. "THEY ALL PICKED SOME UP, WAVED IT AROUND AND KEPT YELLING: 'AMERICANS KAPUT (AMERICANS FINISHED)."

THE NINE MEN HID IN THE CREAMERY SEVEN HOURS WATCHING THROUGH A WINDOW AS THE GERMANS HELPED THEMSELVES TO AMERICAN EQUIPMENT BEFORE PULLING OUT WHEN U.S.ARTILLERY STARTED TO SHELL THE TOWN.

(120) WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM DEC 27-(DELAYED)-(AP)-CORP. WILLIAM S.SIMPSON OF 2822 NORTH WILDON AVE., CHICAGO, TOLD TODAY HOW A FLAT-TIRED JEEP CARRIED HIM SAFELY THROUGH THE GERMAN LINES WHEN HE WAS CUT OFF FROM HIS UNIT BY THE RECENT NAZI BREAKTHROUGH IN THIS SECTOR.

SIMPSON SAID HE SET OUT TO RUN THE GAUNTLET OF RAMPAGING ENEMY ARMORED FORCES IN A TRUCK, BUT ABANDONED IT FOR A JEEP WHICH HE FOUND IN A PARKING AREA.

DEC 28 1944

"THE JEEP HAD A FLAT TIRE, BUT EVEN SO I FIGURED IT WOULD BE FASTER THAN A TRUCK," HE SAID. "STARTING THROUGH THE NEXT TOWN I SAW AHEAD OF ME A GERMAN WEAPONS CARRIER WITH EIGHT JERRIES STANDING BESIDE IT. "I JUST POURED ON THE GAS AND WENT BY SO FAST THEY DIDN'T EVEN FIRE A SHOT."

SIMPSON KEPT ON GOING FOR FOUR MILES BEFORE HE STOPPED AND CHANGED THE TIRE.

SITUATIONER (800)

BY WES GALLAGHER

WITH U.S. FORCES IN BELGIUM, DEC. 28-(AP)-HAVING LOST AT LEAST THE EQUIVALENT OF TWO PANZER DIVISIONS, FIELD MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT WITHDREW TODAY TO REFIT, REST AND REORGANIZE HIS FORCES FOR THE NEXT BLOW.

PRELIMINARY ARMY ESTIMATES PLACED GERMAN TANK LOSSES AT 400 THROUGH GROUND ACTION SINCE THE GERMAN OFFENSIVE STARTED WHILE THE AIR FORCE CLAIMED ANOTHER 415 TANKS AND ARMORED VEHICLES DAMAGED, WITH AN ADDITIONAL 310 DESTROYED.

"THE ENEMY HAS WITHDRAWN BEHIND DEFENSIVE POSITIONS IN THE BREAKTHROUGH AREA TO REST AND REFIT IN THE LULL BEFORE THE NEXT STORM," A HIGH STAFF OFFICER SAID. "THIS LULL MAY LAST TWO OR THREE DAYS. HE EXPENDED HIMSELF IN THE INITIAL EFFORT AND NOW FACES A DIFFICULT DECISION.

"HE CAN EITHER GO ALL OUT AND COMMIT ALL THE BIG RESERVES HE HAS OR COMMIT HALF OF THEM TO FIGHT A REARGUARD ACTION TO GET HIS PRESENT FORCE BACK INTO GERMANY."

EXCEPT FOR THE STEADY AMERICAN PROGRESS ON THE SOUTH IN THE BASTOGNE AREA, THE BREAKTHROUGH FRONT IS COMPARATIVELY QUIET, WITH THE GERMANS BREAKING CONTACT AND ESTABLISHING DEFENSIVE POSITIONS AROUND THE GROUND GAINED.

VON RUNDSTEDT STARTED HIS OFFENSIVE WITH DIVISIONS THAT WERE AS WELL EQUIPPED AS THOSE WHICH HAD RACED THROUGH FRANCE IN 1940. EXCEPT FOR MORE USE OF TIGER AND PANTHER TANKS, THERE WAS LITTLE NEW IN THE WAY OF FIGHTING EQUIPMENT.

BURSTING THROUGH A WEAK SPOT IN THE WESTERN FRONT, NAZI LEGIONS OVERWHELMED AMERICAN DEFENDERS TO BREAK OUT INTO THE OPEN BUT, UNLIKE PREVIOUS BREAKTHROUGHS, THE TREMENDOUS ALLIED SUPERIORITY IN THE AIR, ARTILLERY AND MANPOWER EXACTED A TERRIFIC TOLL IN BRINGING THE DRIVE TO A HALT.

GROUND FIGURES ARE INCOMPLETE BUT, BESIDES THE EQUIPMENT OF TWO PANZER DIVISIONS, THE GERMANS SUFFERED HEAVILY IN CASUALTIES. IT PROBABLY WILL BE SOME TIME BEFORE THESE ARE FULLY ASSESSED. WHEN THEY ARE ASSESSED, THE PROPORTION OF DEAD IS LIKELY TO BE HIGHER THAN FOR ANY ALLIED BATTLE IN THIS WAR. COMPARATIVELY FEW PRISONERS ARE BEING TAKEN. THE GERMANS ARE FIGHTING TO THE LAST.

DEC 28 1944

A116

VON RUNDSTEDT'S WITHDRAWAL FOR REST AND RENOVATION HAS BEEN FAVORED BY THE WEATHER AS BLACK CLOUDS, SNOW AND RAIN ARE GIVING HIM A MUCH-NEEDED BREATHING SPELL AND A CHANCE TO GATHER HIS STRENGTH TOGETHER AGAIN.

JUST WHAT THIS REST MEANS TO THE GERMAN HIGH COMMAND MAY BE SEEN IN THE OFFICIAL COMBINED AIR FORCE FIGURES RELEASED FOR THE PAST 12 DAYS OF HEAVY FIGHTING.

ALLIED AIR FORCES HAVE FLOWN 33,930 SORTIES, DROPPING 30,478 TONS OF BOMBS, ALL IN THE BATTLE OR REAR AREAS.

THIS TERRIFIC TONNAGE DESTROYED 3,355 MOTOR TRANSPORT AND DAMAGED 1,619; DESTROYED 415 TANKS AND ARMORED VEHICLES AND DAMAGED 310; DESTROYED OR DAMAGED 337 LOCOMOTIVES, 4,332 RAILWAY CARS AND 1,655 MISCELLANEOUS TARGETS.

SEVEN HUNDRED THIRTY-FIVE GERMAN PLANES HAVE BEEN DESTROYED IN THE AIR OR ON THE GROUND FOR A LOSS OF 455 ALLIED PLANES. IN ADDITION, 355 GERMAN PLANES WERE DAMAGED OR PROBABLY DESTROYED.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO ASSESS EXACTLY THE VALUE OF THIS DESTRUCTION ON THE GERMAN GROUND EFFORT BUT IT PROBABLY IS IN CLOSE PROPORTION TO THIS TABLE OF THE REDUCED EFFORT OF THE GERMAN AIR FORCE, WHICH IS VON RUNDSTEDT'S WEAKEST LINK.

IN THE LAST FIVE DAYS OF FURIOUS AIR BATTLES, GERMAN FIGHTER SORTIES OVER THE BATTLE AREA HAVE FALLEN OFF AS FOLLOWS: DEC.23, ABOUT 600; DEC.24, ABOUT 550; DEC.25, ABOUT 400; DEC.26, ABOUT 350; AND DEM27, ABOUT

ABOUT 600; DEC.24, ABOUT 550; DEC.25, ABOUT 400; DEC.26, ABOUT 350; AND DEC.27, ABOUT 325.

"THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT THIS DROP IN THE LUFTWAFFE EFFORT IS DUE TO THE TOLL EXACTED BY THE ALLIED AIR FORCES," AN AIR FORCE STAFF OFFICER SAID.

IN THE SAME MANNER, VON RUNDSTEDT HAS BEEN FORCED TO HALT HIS DRIVE TO MAKE UP FOR THE LOSSES SUFFERED ON THE GROUND AND IN THE AIR.

THAT HE IS ABLE TO MAKE UP MOST OF THESE LOSSES AND PUT FORTH A TREMENDOUS EFFORT IF HE WANTS TO IS TAKEN FOR GRANTED. ALLIED INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS HAVE BEEN SURPRISED BY THE STRENGTH THE GERMANS HAVE SHOWN. EXCEPT FOR A SHORTAGE OF GASOLINE, THE DIVISIONS VON RUNDSTEDT HAS HURLED INTO THIS DRIVE SINCE THE START--ESTIMATED AROUND 15---HAVE BEEN FULLY EQUIPPED IN TANKS, GUNS AND MUNITIONS AND ARE UP TO 1940 STANDARDS. TIGER AND PANTHER TANKS HAVE REPLACED THE CONVENTIONAL MARK IV'S OF 1940 ALTHOUGH A FEW MARK IV'S STILL ARE BEING USED.

THE GERMANS HAVE USED LIBERAL QUANTITIES OF CAPTURED AMERICAN EQUIPMENT BUT THIS HAS BEEN DUE TO THE DESIRE TO DECEIVE AND INFILTRATE RATHER THAN DUE TO ANY SHORTAGE OF THEIR OWN MATERIALS.

THE WESTERN FRONT BATTLE THUS FAR IN THE BREAK-THROUGH HAS NOT BEEN DECIDED BY ANY QUALITATIVE SUPERIORITY IN GERMAN TANKS AND EQUIPMENT BUT RATHER BY THE OVERWHELMING FORCE OF ONE SIDE OR ANOTHER.

DEC 281944

A117

THE FIRST GERMANS BROKE THROUGH BY A COMBINATION OF SURPRISE AND SUPERIOR TACTICS AND OVERWHELMED THE THIN AMERICAN DEFENSE LINE. THEN THE AMERICANS THREW IN GREAT QUANTITIES OF EQUIPMENT, COMBINED WITH THE SHEER DETERMINATION OF INDIVIDUAL GI'S THAT THE GERMANS SHOULD NOT PASS AND THIS SLOWED THE DRIVE. THEN, ALLIED AIR SUPERIORITY TIPPED THE SCALES ENOUGH TO BRING VON RUNDSTEDT TO A HALT.

WITH CLOUDS TO CLOAK HIS MOVEMENTS AND GIVE HIM A RESPITE, VON RUNDSTEDT NOW SITS REORGANIZING AND PREPARING FOR HIS NEXT MOVE.

JUST WHEN AND WHERE IT WILL COME IS ANYONE'S GUESS.

ASKED WHAT WAS LIKELY TO HAPPEN IF NO SETTLEMENT WERE REACHED AT THE ALL-PARTY CONFERENCE, CHURCHILL REPLIED:

"IF NO AGREEMENT IS REACHED, THE GUNS WILL GO ON FIRING, THE TROOPS WILL CLEAR THE DISTRICT AND WE SHALL ESTABLISH PEACE, ORDER AND SECURITY IN ATTICA." DEC 281944

DURING THE SESSION, WHICH WAS HELD IN A TENSE ATMOSPHERE AS FIGHTING FLARED UP THROUGHOUT THE CITY, GREEK PREMIER GEORGE PAPANDREOU WAS SAID TO HAVE OFFERED TO RESIGN AS A MEANS OF EXPEDITING THE REGENCY, PRESUMABLY UNDER ARCHBISHOP DAMASKINOS OF GREECE.

(A GREEK POLITICAL COMMUNIQUE BROADCAST BY THE ATHENS RADIO LAST NIGHT AND REPORTED BY THE FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION SAID A MAJORITY AT THE CONFERENCE HAD AGREED ON THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A REGENCY "WHILE THE MINORITY REQUESTED POSTPONEMENT.") DEC 281944

CHURCHILL WAS FIRED UPON BY AN ELAS SNIPER YESTERDAY MORNING AS HE STOOD OUTSIDE THE BRITISH EMBASSY. HE WAS WITH FOREIGN SECRETARY ANTHONY EDEN AND AMBASSADOR REGINALD H. A. LEEPER. THE BULLET WHISTLED CLOSE BY THE PRIME MINISTER AND STRUCK A YOUNG WOMAN 300

YARDS AWAY.

AT A LATER PRESS CONFERENCE CHURCHILL'S COMMENTS WERE PUNCTUATED BY THE SOUND OF SNIPER FIRE OUTSIDE THE EMBASSY AND THE THUD OF BRITISH ARTILLERY SHELLING ELAS POSITIONS. DEC 28 1944

CHURCHILL TOLD NEWSMEN THAT WHEN THE LEADERS OF THE THREE GREAT POWERS GET TOGETHER SOON, THE GREEK QUESTION WILL BE "ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT ITEMS ON THE AGENDA."

"WE FEEL OUR COURSE HAS BEEN ABSOLUTELY RIGHT," HE SAID. "IN AUGUST, IN CONSULTATION WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, WE AGREED TO BRING IN FOOD AND RELIEF AND HELP UNTIL THINGS SETTLED DOWN. PREMIER STALIN WAS CONSULTED AND GAVE HIS CONSENT TO THIS COURSE."

CHURCHILL DENIED THAT BRITAIN IS ENDEAVORING TO BRING BACK KING GEORGE II AND "IMPOSE A PARTICULAR RULE" ON GREECE.

A20

"IT IS CLEAR TO ME THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN A MASSACRE IF WE HAD NOT INTERVENED," HE SAID, ADDING A FURTHER DENIAL OF ALLEGATIONS THAT BRITAIN HAD TERRITORIAL CLAIMS OR DESIRED BASES IN GREECE. HE SAID THE BRITISH WOULD NOT NOW WITHDRAW UNTIL THE REVOLTING FORCES HAD BEEN DRIVEN OUT OF ATTICA OR WITHDRAWN FROM THE "BUILT UP AREA" AROUND THE CAPITAL. DEC 28 1944

MEANWHILE, IN VIEW OF THE REGENCY AGREEMENT, IT APPEARED THAT THE NEXT MOVE WOULD BE UP TO THE GREEK KING GEORGE II, NOW IN LONDON. HE HAS BEEN REPORTED AS UNFAVORABLY INCLINED TOWARD A REGENCY SINCE IT WAS FIRST SUGGESTED BY GREEK POLITICAL LEADERS.

BEFORE THE VOTE ON THE REGENCY YESTERDAY'S CONFERENCE SEEMED HEADED FOR ANOTHER DEADLOCK. PEACE PROPOSALS OFFERED BY THE LEFT WING ELAS WERE DECLARED UNACCEPTABLE BY MEMBERS OF THE GREEK POPULIST PARTY. HOWEVER, OTHER CONFERENCE DELEGATES SAID THEY WOULD CONSIDER THE ELAS TERMS AND PRESENT THEIR REPLY LATER. DEC 28 1944

MOSCOW, DEC 28-(AP)-A RED ARMY MILITARY COMMENTATOR SAYS THE GERMANS' STRATEGY IN THEIR WESTERN FRONT OFFENSIVE VIOLATED THE ELEMENTARY REQUIREMENTS OF MILITARY SCIENCE.

"THAT A DECISIVE VICTORY CAN BE ACHIEVED ONLY BY ANNIHILATING OR DEFEATING THE STRONGEST ENEMY GROUPING IS AXIOMATIC," DECLARED LT.COL. V.KRAVTSOV IN TODAY'S MOSCOW NEWS. "THE GERMAN COMMAND RESORTED AGAIN TO ITS FAVORITE BUT BY NOW RATHER HACKNEYED METHOD OF STRIKING CONCENTRIC BLOWS AT TWO POINTS WITH THE AIM OF ENCIRCLEMENT. BUT THIS CHOSE AT THE OBJECT OF ENCIRCLEMENT A SECTOR WHERE THE ALLIED TROOP CONCENTRATION WAS LOWEST.

"TO STRIKE AT A WEAK SPOT CAN BE EFFECTIVE ONLY WHEN DEVELOPMENT OF THIS BLOW BRINGS THE ATTACKING FORCE IN CONTACT WITH THE MAIN ENEMY FORCE; OTHERWISE, SUCCESS MAY BE NO MORE THAN TACTICAL AND THUS MAY LEAD TO A MAJOR CATASTROPHE. THE GERMANS NOT ONLY FAILED AT COMPLETE ENCIRCLEMENT BUT LEFT A CLAW OF THEIR PINCERS HANGING IN MIDAIR."

SPEAKING AT THE FOURTH ANNUAL REPRESENTATIVE ZIONIST CONFERENCE HELD AT TELAVIV UNDER AUSPICES OF THE PALESTINE FOUNDATION FUND, DR.WEIZMANN CONTINUED:

"IT IS NOT FROM A FEELING OF DESPERATE PESSIMISM, BUT FROM SOBER APPRAISAL OF HARD REALITIES THAT WE STATE THE INCONTRAVERTIBLE FACT THAT NO OTHER SOLUTION EXISTS FOR THE JEWISH PROBLEM THAN REESTABLISHMENT OF THE JEWISH PEOPLE IN THEIR OWN LAND.

(THE COMMUNIQUE CLAIMED THAT ON THE SAME NIGHT JAPANESE NAVAL CRAFT OFF SAN JOSE ATTACKED A UNITED STATES CONVOY, SINKING FOUR TRANSPORTS, A TORPEDO BOAT AND TWO SMALLER VESSELS)

(NIMITZ SAID THE AMERICAN TASK FORCE, COORDINATING ITS ATTACK WITH PLANES OF THE STRATEGIC AIRFORCE, PACIFIC OCEAN AREAS, POUNDED COASTAL AND AIRSTRIP INSTALLATIONS AT IWO JIMA, SET A LANDING SHIP AFIRE AND BLEW UP A GUNBOAT. ENEMY COASTAL GUNS SCORED THE HITS ON THE WARSHIPS)

THE YANKS HAVE AN AIR BASE ON MINDORO WITHIN A HALF HOUR'S FLYING TIME OF MANILA WHOSE AIRFIELDS, MACARTHUR DISCLOSED TODAY, WERE BLASTED TUESDAY FOR THE FIFTH STRAIGHT DAY BY LAND-BASED BOMBERS WITH A FIGHTER ESCORT.

(IWO JIMA, TAKING ITS 20TH STRAIGHT DAY OF AERIAL NEUTRALIZATION WHILE THE WARSHIPS SHELLED IT, IS THE AIR BASE FROM WHICH THE ENEMY HAS SENT PLANES 750 MILES SOUTH TO SAIPAN IN AN ATTEMPT TO KNOCK OUT THE TAKEOFF POINT FOR B-29S RAIDING JAPAN)

THE JAPANESE AIRFORCE RAIDED YANK GROUND POSITIONS ON MINDORO IN COORDINATION WITH THE ENEMY NAVAL STRIKE. ENEMY PLANES ALSO STRUCK THERE THE NIGHT BEFORE, TODAY'S COMMUNIQUE ACKNOWLEDGING "MINOR DAMAGE" AND REPORTING THREE RAIDERS DOWNED.

THE NAVAL MOVE AGAINST MINDORO REPRESENTED THE ENEMY'S FIRST SUCH OFFENSIVE EFFORT IN BATTLESHIP STRENGTH SINCE NIPPON'S DISASTROUS DEFEAT IN LATE OCTOBER IN THE SECOND BATTLE OF THE PHILIPPINES SEAS.

MACARTHUR SAID THE ENEMY FORCE, SPOTTED BEFORE IT GOT WITHIN SHELLING RANGE, "WAS IMMEDIATELY ATTACKED BY OUR MEDIUM BOMBERS AND FIGHTERS AND OUR PT BOATS."

(GEORGE FOLSTER, NBC CORRESPONDENT, REPORTED THAT A NAVY PATROL PLANE LUCKILY DISCOVERED THE TASK FORCE WHILE THE PLANE WAS OFF ITS COURSE. ALTHOUGH ALREADY IN THE AIR 10 HOURS, IT RACED TO MINDORO, PICKED UP BOMBS AND JOINED IN THE ATTACK.)

THE WARSHIPS KEPT ON UNTIL THEY COULD LOOSE SALVOS BY MOONLIGHT ON THE COAST BUT WITHDREW AFTER SEVERAL HOURS UNDER "REPEATED ASSAULT SORTIES BY OUR AIR ELEMENTS." THE ACTION WAS BROKEN OFF SHORTLY BEFORE MIDNIGHT BUT THE PURSUIT ACROSS THE CHINA SEA WAS RESUMED YESTERDAY MORNING.

(THE WARSHIP BOMBARDMENT OF IWO JIMA ANNOUNCED BY NIMITZ QUICKLY FOLLOWED ONE ON DEC. 23. A SIMILAR WARSHIP-PLANE POUNDING WAS GIVEN IWO ON DEC. 7. WARSHIPS HAVE SHELLED IWO FIVE TIMES, DELIVERING THEIR FIRST PUNCH LAST JULY 3)

REPORTS OF GROUND ACTION WERE LIMITED TO THE KILLING OF 827 MORE JAPANESE TUESDAY IN MOP UP OPERATIONS ON THE WEST COAST OF LEYTE BUT EXTENSIVE AIR ACTION WAS REPORTED THROUGHOUT THE PHILIPPINES AND OVER ISLANDS TO THE SOUTH.

LIBERATORS CRATERED MANILA'S CLARK FIELD WHILE THEIR GUNNERS AND ESCORTING FIGHTER PLANES SHOT DOWN 13 OUT OF 20 ENEMY INTERCEPTORS. IN THREE DAYS, THROUGH TUESDAY, 124 ENEMY PLANES HAVE BEEN SHOT OUT OF THE SKIES OVER THAT BIG AIRFIELD.

IN OTHER ATTACKS SOUTHWARD TO MINDANAO, AIRDROMES WERE BOMBED, A HARBOR WATERFRONT HIT, A JETTY DESTROYED, THREE SMALL FREIGHTERS, A COASTAL VESSEL AND BARGE SUNK.

AT HALMAHERA, 300 MILES SOUTHWEST OF MINDANAO, AND CLOSE BY THE AMERICAN AIR BASE ON MOROTAI, 160 TONS OF EXPLOSIVES WERE DUMPED ON AIRDROMES AND BIVOUACS.

(A DUTCH NEWS AGENCY CORRESPONDENT IN A DISPATCH FROM MOROTAI SUGGESTED THE INTENT OF THESE ATTACKS BY REPORTING THE ENEMY IS MAKING STRENUOUS NIGHT-EFFORTS TO SEND BARGE-LOADS OF SOLDIERS FROM HALMAHERA TO MOROTAI AND ALSO IS PRESSING NUISANCE AIR RAIDS AGAINST THE AMERICAN POSITIONS).

LIBERATORS PLASTERED JAPANESE AIRFIELDS AND RAILROAD SHOPS ON DUTCH BORNEO WITH 161 TONS. PATROL PLANES SANK TWO FREIGHTERS AND FORCED ANOTHER TO BE BEACHED.

B-29S HAD HAMMERED TOKYO IN FORCE.

A SUPERFORT COMMANDED BY LT.AL WILLIAMS, DALLAS, TEX., HAD A NARROW ESCAPE. NEAR THE TARGET, ONE ENGINE CAUGHT FIRE. IT WAS EXTINGUISHED, AND THE SHIP FLEW ON THREE ENGINES UNTIL ANOTHER STARTED TO FAIL JUST OFF HONSHU.

LIMPING ALONG ON TWO ENGINES, WITH A THIRD CUTTING ON AND OFF, THE PLANE WAS IN THE LAST FORMATION OVER TOKYO. IT WAS ATTACKED REPEATEDLY BY ENEMY INTERCEPTORS. APPROXIMATELY 50 PASSES WERE FENDED OFF BY THE B-29'S GUNNERS, THE LAST ON THE HOME TRIP BY A GROUP OF FIGHTERS WAITING OVER THE HONSHU COAST TO PICK OFF CRIPPLES. THE PLANE WAS THE LAST ONE TO RETURN, ENDING A TRIP OF 16 HOURS, 25 MINUTES.

A PLANE PILOTED BY CAPT.HAROLD F.SCHRAMM, ST. LOUIS, MO., WHOSE WIFE LIVES AT ARANSAS PASS, TEX., ALSO CAME HOME ON TWO ENGINES WHEN FORCED TO FEATHER THE OTHER TWO PROPELLERS TO CONSERVE FUEL. HE TRAVELED THE LAST 150 MILES IN THIS FASHION, AND LANDED 15 MINUTES AFTER HE HAD ABOUT DECIDED TO ABANDON SHIP.

WHEN LIEUTENANT WILLIAMS' PLANE GOT IN ITS JAM, A B-29 COMMANDED BY LT.CHARLES W.MORGAN, OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., TURNED BACK TO HELP AND ALMOST MET DISASTER ITSELF. THE SHIP WAS CAUGHT IN WILLIAMS' SLIPSTREAM AND FELL OUT OF CONTROL FOR 4,000 FEET. MORGAN ESCORTED WILLIAMS MOST OF THE WAY HOME.

A GERMAN GARRISON ISOLATED MORE THAN 150 MILES BEHIND THE WESTERN FRONT RETAINS ITS HOLD ON HISTORIC DUNKERQUE.

SOME 8,000 ENEMY TROOPS WERE CUT OFF WHEN THE ALLIES' SUMMER DRIVE SWEPT PAST THE FRENCH PORT FROM WHICH THE BRITISH HAD EVACUATED AN ARMY OF 335,000 ABOARD MOTLEY RESCUE FLEETS BEFORE ABANDONING IT JUNE 4, 1940.

THE ALLIES HAVE A 25-MILE SIEGE LINE ABOUT DUNKERQUE AND SUBJECT THE GERMANS REGULARLY TO BOMBARDMENT. NEUTRALIZED, SHORT OF TRANSPORT, MUNITIONS AND SUPPLIES, THE GARRISON IS CAUSING NO REAL TROUBLE.

HOWEVER, THE GERMANS DO TIE UP WITH SIEGE DUTY ALLIED REGIMENTS WHICH MIGHT BE EMPLOYED IN MORE ACTIVE SECTORS AND PREVENT THE USE OF PORT FACILITIES FOR SUPPLIES, BOTH MILITARY AND CIVILIAN.

MUCH THE SAME SITUATION APPLIES AT LORIENT, ST.NAZAIRE, BORDEAUX, THE VANNES AREA AND THE CHANNEL ISLANDS. IT WAS ESTIMATED IN LONDON TWO MONTHS AGO THAT A TOTAL OF 116,000 GERMAN TROOPS WERE QUARANTINED IN THESE POSITIONS BEHIND THE ALLIED LINES.

THE GERMAN RADIO ANNOUNCED NOV.11 THAT THE ENTIRE CIVILIAN POPULATION OF DUNKERQUE, 62,500 PERSONS, HAD BEEN EVACUATED. FRENCH AIRMEN HAVE PARTICIPATED IN BOMBARDMENT OF THE CITY.

HEAVY EXPLOSIONS EMANATING FROM THE DIRECTION OF DUNKERQUE THREE WEEKS AGO LED LONDONERS TO BELIEVE THAT THE GARRISON WAS DESTROYING INSTALLATIONS, PERHAPS IN A PRELUDE TO SURRENDER. BUT NOTHING HAS COME OF IT.

FRENCH

WASHINGTON, DEC. 28-(AP)-NEGOTIATIONS ARE NOW UNDER WAY HERE ON A LEND-LEASE AGREEMENT FOR FRANCE AND ALLOCATION OF SHIPPING FOR FRENCH CIVILIAN REQUIREMENTS.

JEAN MONNET, FRENCH MINISTER WITHOUT PORTFOLIO WHO IS CONDUCTING THE TALKS SAID TODAY THE OBJECT IS TO ENABLE FRANCE TO MAKE A POSITIVE CONTRIBUTION TO THE ALLIED WAR EFFORT.

MONNET TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT THE FRENCH IMPORT PROGRAM, WHICH FOR THE NEXT SIX MONTHS IS ON AN AVERAGE OF 20 PERCENT OF PREWAR IMPORTS, IS BASED ON WHAT SUPPLIES POSSIBLY CAN BE OBTAINED RATHER THAN ON NEEDS.

WHILE MONNET HELD HIS CONFERENCE, ANNOUNCEMENT WAS MADE THAT FRANCE IS BUYING FROM THE UNITED STATES TEMPORARY HOUSING FOR 150,000 WORKERS ENGAGED IN REPAIRING FRENCH DOCK AREAS FOR WAR USE.

THE FOREIGN ECONOMIC ADMINISTRATION AND THE NATIONAL HOUSING AGENCY ANNOUNCED THAT THE DEAL INVOLVES ABOUT 5,000 BARRACKS, 20 BY 48 FEET EACH, AND THAT THE FRENCH PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT HAS AGREED TO PAY CASH ON DELIVERY.

AS MUCH OF THE ORDER AS POSSIBLE WILL BE FILLED FROM SURPLUS WAR HOUSING IN THIS COUNTRY. SOME OF THE HOUSING UNITS ARE AT NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y.

MONNET SAID THERE HAS BEEN A TREMENDOUS IMPROVEMENT IN FRENCH PORT CAPACITY AND INTERNAL TRANSPORTATION SINCE D-DAY BUT THAT OVER 50 PER CENT OF AVAILABLE FACILITIES PRESENTLY ARE USED DIRECTLY FOR THE WAR.

HE ESTIMATED THAT 80 PERCENT OF FRENCH INDUSTRIAL PLANTS REMAIN IN GOOD SHAPE BUT SAID FACTORIES ARE RAPIDLY CLOSING DOWN BECAUSE THEY LACK RAW MATERIALS AND FUEL. UNEMPLOYMENT NOW STANDS AT ABOUT 1,000,000 MEN AND IS SHOOTING UPWARDS.

ON THE POINT OF FUEL, MONNET SAID COAL PRODUCTION JUMPED FROM A MILLION TONS A MONTH IN SEPTEMBER TO OVER 2,500,000 IN DECEMBER. ELECTRICITY HAS INCREASED FROM 10 PER CENT TO 90 PER CENT OF PRE-WAR PRODUCTION.

MONNET SAID THAT FRANCE HAS IMPORTED VIRTUALLY NOTHING UP TO NOW. FINANCING OF THE PROPOSED IMPORT PROGRAM DEPENDS ON WASHINGTON AND IS EXPECTED TO BE DIVIDED AMONG LEND-LEASE, CASH AND CREDITS.

DEC 28 1944

D136WX

AN IMPORTANT ITEM ON THE PROGRAM IS COTTON FROM WHICH FRANCE HOPES TO PRODUCE TEXTILES FOR ALLIED ARMIES AND OTHER LIBERATED COUNTRIES AS WELL AS TO MEET HER OWN NEEDS.

MONNET WAS UNABLE TO SAY HOW MUCH ADDITIONAL TONNAGE WOULD BE NEEDED TO MEET THE FRENCH PROGRAM BUT EMPHASIZED THAT SHIPPING IS WHAT IS NEEDED TO ENABLE FRANCE TO CONTRIBUTE FURTHER TO THE WAR EFFORT.

"FRANCE'S CAPACITY TO FIGHT DEPENDS ON ARMS MADE AVAILABLE, NOT ON MEN, WHO ARE THERE," HE SAID.

AMERICANS SQUEEZE GERMAN SALIENT TIGHTER; PATTON'S ADVANCE CUTS ITS WAIST TO 13 MILES; FOE'S SPEARHEAD DRIVEN BACK TO ROCHEFORT

ENEMY CORRIDOR CUT TO 13 MILES BY HEAVY ATTACKS

Third Army Strengthens Life-line Leading to Strategic Bastogne.

15 TOWNS OVERRUN

German Forces Reorganize For Defensive Stand Against U. S. Blows.

PARIS, Saturday, Dec. 30.—(AP) Powerful blows by the U. S. First and Third armies have knocked back the Germans 12 miles at the western end of their thrust into Belgium and compressed the enemy's corridor from the Reich to 13 miles.

There were indications that the Germans, their initiative lost, were preparing for a defensive stand as long as possible on the lines of their bulge. Observers reported intensive movements inside the enemy salient and at many places along the perimeter Nazi soldiers were feverishly throwing up fortifications and planting mines.

The First army, punching forward a mile and a half, reached the edge of Rochefort—12 miles from the point where the German advance once was within three miles of the Meuse river.

Bastogne Positions Strengthened

At the same time Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army pounded to the Reich border at three points in northeast Luxembourg, broke the enemy's Sure river line and cemented positions four miles north of Bastogne—only 13 miles from the point where the First is fighting down from the north.

In a dispatch covering developments up to yesterday morning, Associated Press Correspondent Lewis Hawkins said the corridor into Bastogne was strengthened against stout resistance from the west, but lesser opposition from the east.

In this period at least 15 more towns had been overrun by the two American armies and Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's steel spearheads had been shattered with fearful slaughter.

Some of the best news was that clear weather returned today to the Third army front. The sky was laced with condensation trails as everything from heavy bombers to fighterbombers blasted the Germans who for two days had moved under the cover of fog.

(Reuters correspondent William Steen with U. S. forces in Belgium said the German withdrawal from the Ardennes salient "has developed into a rout at some points tonight.")

Once more Supreme headquarters was able to announce that the Germans had been unable to score gains up to yesterday morning.

It is almost three days now since there was an announcement that the Germans had advanced in Adolf Hitler's ambitious scheme to crack the line and roll up the Allied front from behind.

3 Divisions Held Nazis

Supreme Headquarters disclosed that three divisions figured prominently in stemming the German rush—the First infantry which landed on D-Day and broke the Siegfried Line at Aachen; the Seventh armored which saved the Antwerp offensive by beating off German counterblows, and the 82nd airborne, which landed in Cherbourg and in the Holland invasion.

On the northern flank, the Germans sent two battalions against the African lines in the "hot corner" near Monschau under cover of a heavy artillery barrage but they were thrown back without gaining ground, a front dispatch said.

To the west, 100 Germans slipped past American lines in the neighborhood of the small but important crossroads hamlet of Grandmenil, but were surrounded and at last reports were being wiped out.

The Germans falling back from northern Luxembourg held stubbornly to high ground inside the duchy with their backs to the Sure river, but Third army forces drove up to that borderline stream east of Bigelbach, 18 miles northeast of the Duchy's capital.

American and British heavy bombers, flying from Britain, attacked railheads, bridges and other targets between the front and the Rhine, while the Ninth Air Force alone put up 450 planes which knocked out 63 armored vehicles and 125 trucks along the front.

A late front dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army had advanced up to three miles in the last 24 hours east and west of liberated Bastogne, tightening the squeeze on the German bulge.

Two more attempts by the Germans to slash the Bastogne lifeline—now broadened to as much as six miles—were beaten back.

Enemy Forces Regroup

For the second day in a row, however, sleet and fog protected the movement of German forces and it was considered possible that despite his enormous losses, Von Rundstedt was regrouping and planning fresh blows, possibly from a new quarter.

Far to the north pilots had reported heavy German troop movements of an undisclosed nature in Holland, where enemy patrols still lashed out aggressively at the British and Canadian positions.

Supreme headquarters looked askance at reports bannered in the Paris press that the enemy agency DNB had announced the withdrawal of Von Rundstedt's powerful forces to the Siegfried Line.

(This report may have sprung from one recorded by the Associated Press both in London and New York which merely announced withdrawal of forward elements in the west and south and made no mention of a retreat to the Siegfried Line inside Germany).

Latest dispatches to the Associated Press from its front correspondents suggested that Von Rundstedt still had powerful forces in the center of the Belgian bulge and might lunge out in one more big attack before giving up. There was no sign, however, that such an assault was imminent.

Reports of German fortifications of its Belgian and Luxembourg positions indicated that he might pull out his two crack armored armies for another day and leave poorer troops to fight it out.

In addition to having failed to seize the main east-west railways to feed his enormous forces in the bulge, Von Rundstedt now must deal with the gathering threat of Patton's hard-charging veteran Third army on the south, and Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' resurgent First army on the north.

For 50 hours up to yesterday morning the three German armies committed to the Winter offensive had failed to attack.

Von Rundstedt has the power to strike again, but with the massing of Allied power there could be no repetition of the Luxembourg-Belgian breakthrough.

Bastogne Positions Cemented

The position at Bastogne, 17 miles south of where the U. S. First army is banging away at the enemy's northern flank, was becoming more secure and was developing swiftly into an acute threat to the whole German position.

Here the 101st airborne and parts of the Ninth and Tenth armored divisions had by their stand denied the Germans the use of seven highways and a railway for their push toward Sedan.

Now Patton, who sent the 80th Infantry and the Fourth Armored divisions into the city Tuesday, was pouring in fresh troops and building up his power close to the heart of Von Rundstedt's entire position.

The Germans were routed from Jodenville and Villerous, five and three miles southwest of Bastogne, and from Sainlex and Liverchamps five miles to the south in fighting up to yesterday morning.

East of Bastogne, the Third army was across the Sure river at numerous points and had sent vanguards to within three miles of the town of Wiltz, 25 miles north of Luxembourg's capital.

They had thrust to the German border at three points along the Sure river northeast of the capital, where the veteran Fourth and Fifth Infantry divisions were revealed to be in action.

At one point on the border they were drawn up at Rosport, four miles east of Echternach, which the Germans announced yesterday they had evacuated. A number of the escape routes back into Germany were under American shellfire.

In the break across the Sure, which turning westward from the German border forms a river barrier in northern Luxembourg, the Third overran Boulaide, Baschleiden, Bavigne, Mechner-Dubkredt and Kaundorf, all 19 to 22 miles north of the capital. Kaundorf is but three miles south of Wiltz.

Another crossing was forced at Esch-Sur-La-Sure, 22 miles north of the capital.

Mop-up forces swinging up behind the spearheads seized Ettelbruch, three miles southwest of Diekirch, and Eppeldorf, four miles southeast of Diekirch, in fighting 15 miles north and northeast of the city.

To the west of Bastogne it was the Germans who now were fighting a battle of encirclement and at heavy cost.

Yanks Reach Rochefort

American armor chased shattered remnants of the armed column which had speared 60 miles through Belgium and Luxembourg to within three miles of the Meuse back across the narrow Lesse and Homme rivers around Rochefort. They took at least 1,000 prisoners.

Ten miles northwest of Rochefort the battle of the Celles pocket was ended with more than 1,000 Germans slain and the remainder of the regiment of 3,000 either captured or straying through the woods trying to rejoin the main force.

Resistance ended in Humain only after bitter and sustained fighting in which the Americans routed panther tankers and panzer grenadiers with planes, artillery infantry and tank destroyers.

All the way from Celles to Rochefort the Doughboys cleaning up behind the tank columns flushed stray Germans, deserters and stragglers while armored cars and light tanks seized wandering German trucks and armored vehicles trying to find a way out.

The western portion of the north flank was quiet. The Germans sent out patrols, one of which lost 129 men as captive Wednesday night. German small arms and artillery fire increased along the Malmedy sector to the east.

The failure of the Germans to take two main rail lines leading westward out of Germany played an important part in bogging down the surprise offensive.

One of these crosses the frontier near Buchholtz and loops northward, where the Germans on the northern flank were unable to clear it of American forces.

Another enters the bulge at Echternach, but this too was never secured, and now it is under artillery fire even at Echternach.

Another line enters the bulge from the Prum region. Allied fighter-bombers concentrated on this one, and it is doubtful if it was kept open all the way through.

Nazis Attack Near Gangelt

On the Roer river front to the north of the Belgian bulge, the Germans made two counterattacks near Gangelt, five miles north of Geilenkirchen, capturing two villages which Allied troops then retook, snaring 70 prisoners.

The German Winter offensive succeeded in reducing Allied pressure on the Reich on the Saar front, but the Roer front positions have been maintained each of Aachen and even some small gains have been made, it was said here.

Tension in Aachen, a German city of 15,000, was reported eased with news that the drive of the civilians' own countrymen had been halted. Fear had swept through the city that all citizens found there if the army came back would be shot as collaborators.

Heavy fog over the front made extensive air operations impossible today but the Ninth air force made almost 100 flights in attecking trains and other objectives.

back and United States Third Army troops advanced up to three miles today in a squeeze from the south.

Von Rundstedt's December offensive had been kicked into reverse by American forces which slammed into all three sides of his extended bulge, with Lieut.-Gen George S. Patton's Third Army sensationally changing its front and advancing twenty miles into the German flank in six days.

German Rout Reported.

The situation was not an unmixed success, however, for Gen. Patton's shift of front brought his own offensive along the Saar to a stop, and obliged the Americans to give up their hard-won bridgehead across the Saar at Dillingen, where they had broken into the initial defenses of the Siegfried Line.

[A late dispatch from London quoted a British correspondent on the Belgian front as saying that Von Rundstedt's withdrawal from the Ardennes salient had developed into a rout at some points tonight. Over-all gains of three miles have been made today, with most of the progress on the southern flank, where Gen. Patton's men are attacking, the dispatch said.]

Yanks Reported Near Rochefort.

American armored forces, hitting Von Rundstedt's offensive on the nose, had driven his forward elements back ten miles and thrown them across the rivers Lesse and Homme, according to one front-line dispatch, and according to another, the Americans had entered Rochefort's outskirts on the east bank of the Homme by 10 A. M. yesterday. Rochefort is a tourist center dating from medieval times and is three and a half miles north of the famous Han Grottos, where the Lesse flows through a series of subterranean chambers.

fog which limited visibility to fifty yards.

The Lesse and Homme at Rochefort wind approximately fourteen miles east of the Meuse and ten miles southeast of Celles, deepest point of German penetration toward Dinant.

Here the critical battle was fought in the hamlet of Humain, four miles southwest of Marche and four miles north of Rochefort.

The Germans were driven out of the village with planes, artillery, infantry, tank destroyers and finally flamethrowers, and the Americans were firmly in control of the town, including its old chateau where a cornered German group made its last stand.

Celles, where the enemy offensive was stopped, was one of the ghastliest carnage scenes of the war.

Here a German pocket was wiped out, 1,200 prisoners were taken, and sixty-three enemy tanks, forty-nine guns and 177 military vehicles littered the terrain. The Germans said a British Second Army Division of Highlanders had a part in this battle.

Another small pocket of infantry and tanks was cleared up in the vicinity of Marche.

That was the situation as of thirty-six hours ago.

Given the task of caving in Von Rundstedt's southern flank three days after the German offensive started on December 16, Gen. Patton had swung his divisions into the battle with a spectacular dash and by swift and decisive action had hurled the Germans back as much as twenty miles in six days.

The prisoner count in the first seven days of the Patton counterattack mounted to 5,351 and Von Rundstedt's over-all tank losses from air and ground action mounted to 710—the equivalent of nearly four German armored divisions.

200 Wrecked at Bastogne.

Of these burned out and disemboweled tanks, 200 alone were counted in Bastogne, sixty-three more at Celles and ten near Hotton on the northwestern rim.

Allied air power had knocked out 3,355 trucks used in the German offensive and 755 planes.

But for the second straight day winter cracked a frozen whip over the front, spreading a fog umbrella over the German Army's operations and interfering with Allied air attacks.

Gen. Patton's powerful armored formations repulsed fresh attacks on their corridor to Bastogne and chewed off the German strongpoints which hemmed in the corridor.

On the west side they reached Sibret, four miles southwest of Bastogne and mopped up Salvacourt and Hompre, three and four miles south of Bastogne.

Third Army troops have entered the villages of Jodenville and Villeroux, near Sibret, Villeroux is two and a half miles southwest of Bastogne.

Heavy Fighting In Woods.

Heavy fighting was in progress in the woods north of Assenois, but three miles southwest of Bastogne.

The Americans also occupied two more towns to the east. These were Ettelbruck, three miles southwest of Diekirch, and Eppeldorf, four miles southeast of Diekirch in further advances toward the Sure River. They continued to gain upon Wiltz from their bridgeheads across the Sure.

On the east they captured Sainlex, Livarchamps, Surre, Boulaide, Baschleiden, Bavigne, Kaundorf and Mercher-Dunkredt from five and one-half to ten miles southeast of Bastogne. All these towns are twenty-three to twenty-seven miles northwest of the city of Luxembourg.

Kaundorf is but three and a half miles southwest of Wiltz in northern Luxembourg, and just to the east the Third Army made a new crossing of the Sure River at Esch, three miles south of Wiltz.

Still further east on this southern flank the Americans reached the Sure on the German border at three more points, including Rosport, three miles east of Echternach.

Echternach itself was disclosed as another epic point of American resistance after armor again had forged into the town. A small infantry garrison, which had refused to leave the town with a relieving armored force, was not found. All around were stacks of German dead. But there were few khaki-clad dead. Presumably most of the garrison still lived in Nazi prison camps.

While Patton's personally directed power assault appeared to have broken the back of the high-geared Von Rundstedt offensive, front dispatches cautioned that the Nazi Field Marshal might yet lash out with vicious new attempts to extend the bulge or attack in entirely different sectors.

Achieved One Objective.

The German commander already had achieved one of his objectives, however, bringing Patton's Saar drive to a stop and obliging the American general to pull his tanks out of hard-won Dillingen.

The Third Army still held bridgeheads across the Saar between Saarlautern and Saarbrucken, however.

Typical of Nazi probings elsewhere in their constant efforts to feel out Allied lines was a strong assault by two enemy companies at dawn Wednesday against British Second Army troops in the Gangelt area five miles north of Geilenkirchen, Germany.

The Germans captured two hamlets in the initial stages, but the British quickly threw the Germans out and took seventy prisoners.

British flyers spotted German road movements over a wide area in northern Holland, but the direction was not clear. British planes sank eleven small German boats off the Dutch island of Schouwen, north of Allied-held Beveland and Walcheren islands.

German patrols also stabbed at Canadian positions at scattered spots in Holland.

The Germans pressed with renewed vigor against the northern hinge of their Belgian penetration, in the Monschau sector, but their pressure northwest along the Stavelot-Hotton stretch tapered off.

Doughboys caught one German column infiltrating this hot corner, captured 120 of the enemy and broke up the attack. To the northeast, just below Duren on the Cologne Plain, another fifty-man German patrol tried to slip through American First Army lines, but it was taken under fire and mopped up.

In Alsace, west of Colmar, French troops occupied Le Gras, southeast of Lapoutrie.

The Germans themselves admitted their drive had been halted and that the Allies were lashing back with fierce counterattacks on both the northern and southern flanks.

The Berlin radio quoted a spokesman as saying: "The days of the blitzkrieg in the 1939-40 style have passed. Von Rundstedt's gains in the new offensive have been hard come by. Today we must seek to apply different standards."

The London optimism once again soared. The Reuters military commentator declared: "Von Rundstedt may be on the verge of a major disaster. His position in his corridor is worse than was thought."

Once again it was Patton who claimed British headlines, with the Evening Standard's banner reading, "Patton Chases Them."

SPEARHEAD CHASED ACROSS TWO RIVERS

DEC 30 1944

Enemy's Escape Gap Cut to 17 Miles—London Hears Retreat Becomes Rout in Some Places.

Paris, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—American armored blows on the nose of Field Marshal von Rundstedt's offensive have beaten his most advanced spearheads back more than ten miles and chased them across the narrow Lesse and Homme rivers into Rochefort.

Field dispatches, reporting this development up to Thursday morning, said the Von Rundstedt escape gap at the same time was cut to less than seventeen miles north of Bastogne.

Von Rundstedt's troops were reported digging in at the western end of their salient while his armor drew

The French press put banner headlines today on a report attributed to DNB that Field Marshal von Rundstedt has ordered withdrawal of his forces from the Belgian pocket. Supreme Headquarters had no comment on the report, but some eyebrows were raised at the idea that if Von Rundstedt had issued such an order it would have been broadcast.

The big turning point was the seven-day stand of the United States 101st Airborne Division and other units at Bastogne, one of the gateways to French Sedan.

Germans Driven Out.

And now the Americans were hitting back. Throughout the northwestern area of the German penetration, from Celles to Rochefort doughboys, tanks and greyhound armored cars slashed across the frozen fields, overrunning German trucks, armored cars and infantrymen wandering blindly. The Americans groped for their disorganized enemy in a fled Jamblinne, five miles west of Rochefort, were chased by American tank formations which claimed more than 1,000 prisoners.

Other Spearheads Isolated.

Other spearheads in the southwestern tip of the salient were isolated near St. Hubert and were fighting a death struggle.

The long, thin corridor by which hard-driving Third Army reached the beleagured 101st United States Airborne Division and other troops in Bastogne was broadened to six miles wide and six miles deep.

Twelve more towns were captured as Gen. Patton poured men in, building up this area to a power wedge close to the heart of the Nazi bulge, and expanded his grip on the north side of the Sure River to a width of fourteen miles.

More Germans were thrown back into Germany in the Echternach area at the southeastern

GERMANS ADMIT REVERSES IN WEST

Wheeler

LONDON, Dec. 29—(AP) Berlin military commentators focussed the home front's attention tonight on the southern flank of Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's front, where Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's sledge-hammer blows sobered the hitherto optimistic broadcasts.

Berlin radio spoke concernedly of the Marshal's problems in the south "where the German flank is exposed to the strongest pressure from the Third American army."

"The Americans are storming with vastly superior forces and have at some places continued to make further gains of ground," said Capt. Ludwig Sertorius.

"The Allies have started very strong counterattacks from the south against the German penetration area and have launched other attacks on single sectors of the northern flank," said a foreign office spokesman.

Guenther Weber, correspondent at Von Rundstedt's headquarters, indicated the German High command had ceased attempts to lunge westward, adding that "this may last until new reserves are brought up from the rear."

Reichsminister Paul Joseph Goebbels in a new year's message to the German press, said the Reich still "must overcome immense dangers and difficulties."

The propaganda chief asserted, however, that by the German offensive "we've not only completely upset the Allied timetable but above all gained time—most valuable time—which allows us to be active again."

The High command's communique claimed progress only on the Stavelot-Marche sector in the northwest and admitted the Allies "made some local territorial gains."

The war bulletin asserted that Gen. Eisenhower had committed only 24 of 44 American divisions posted along the western front, indicating that still heavier blows might be impending.

For want of ground gains, the German broadcasts bore down on what it said were Allied losses. DNB claimed the Americans had lost 65,900 men in the 14 days of the German Winter offensive.

McAuliffe Man Who Said 'Nuts!' Didn't Give Up

Bastogne, Dec. 29 (AP)—The commander of Bastogne's 10,000, who made history with a single word—"Nuts"—was 46-year-old Brig. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, one of America's youngest generals.

He was acting commander of the 101st Airborne Division and odds and ends of the United States 3d Army's 9th and 10th Armored divisions, which had been thrown in hurriedly to stem the German rush toward Sedan.

This soldier from Washington, D. C., and his troops had been in tough spots before, for they were in the Normandy landings and the airborne penetration of Holland.

And so when the commander of the German forces drawn up in a siege ring around Bastogne sent in an ultimatum to surrender, McAuliffe sent back this now-famous reply which deserves to rank with John Paul Jones' "We have just begun to fight!"

It was simply this one word:

"Nuts!"

Then the young general told his tough fighters what he had done, and this typical bit of American repartee became a rallying call for the garrison of 10,000.

Besides the 101st ("Screaming Eagle") airborne and the Ninth and Tenth armored divisions, these other Third army divisions took relief roles in the Bastogne drama: the Fourth armored, the 80th ("Blue Ridge") infantry and the 26th ("Yankee") infantry.

Two other units, the Fourth ("Ivy") and Fifth ("Red Diamond") infantry divisions, were named today as having aided in the Third army's great offensive against the south of the German bulge, operating in northeast Luxembourg.

The answer of "nuts" went back to the German lines on Dec. 22.

Four days later, when the 80th infantry and fourth armored divisions broke through to their relief, the fields before the American lines around Bastogne were littered with the debris of 200 German tanks which had butted in vain against the Doughboy positions. They had been attacked by five German divisions.

Units of the 26th infantry division also had helped to smash the encirclement of Bastogne.

Next day, the 101st's regular commander, Major Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, arrived after a trip by plane and Jeep from Washington, D. C. Taylor had been in Washington on Christmas Eve.

More and more of the epic story of American courage at Bastogne was disclosed today. The stand well may have frustrated the well-laid plans of Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt.

Certainly, the Germans could not keep the drive toward France going at full steam without Bastogne's seven highways and one railroad.

And McAuliffe and his troops told the enemy in terms that fighting men understand that they could not have the roads.

The 101st airborne had been spoiling for a fight, and they got one when they were rushed into Bastogne by truck just before the waves of attacking Germans closed around the city.

Elements of the two armored divisions and remnants of other infantry units who had been able to make it into Bastogne completed the garrison.

"In Normandy and Holland I jumped out of a C-47," said one dismounted parachute trooper. "Here I jumped out of the rear of a truck."

"These parachute troopers were the best morale bucker-uppers we had," said Major Charles E. Fife, Los Angeles. "Those boys fought like hell from the word go."

Lt. Col. Harry E. Brown, Indianapolis, a Fourth armored staff officer, was high in the praise of the seasoned 80th infantry which fought in to the Bastogne garrison's relief.

"80th's Doughboys really did themselves proud," he declared. "You can't say too much for them."

The 80th helped weld the Normandy trap that destroyed the Seventh German army, broke across the Seine, Marne and Meuse and made the first crossing of the Moselle.

The Fourth armored division which came up and made certain that the relief corridor held firm is another famous outfit. It spearheaded the Normandy breakthrough and the Moselle river crossings at Metz and the Saar river crossings into Germany.

The first actual contact with the surrounded garrison was made by an infantry patrol led by Lt. Walter P. Carr, Hot Springs, Ark., who worked his way through the enemy lines without being challenged to an outpost of the 101st Engineers.

Then came the 80th division's 318th regiment, commanded by Col. Lansing McVickar, Cold Springs Harbor, Me., whose battalion commanders were Major George W. Connaughton, Paris, Ark., and Lt. Col. Glenn S. Gardner, Athens, Ohio.

The 26th division, commanded by Major Gen. Willard S. Paul, Shrewsbury, Mass., was a newcomer to the European theater, having been committed on the Saar front just before going into action against Von Rundstedt's breakthrough.

The Ninth armored is under Major Gen. John W. Leonard, Toledo, Ohio, and the Tenth armored is commanded by Major Gen. William H. Morris, Jr., Washington. These also were relatively new outfits in European combat.

The Tenth participated briefly in the Saar and Moselle operations while the Ninth saw first action along the Luxembourg border.

It also was disclosed that the Fourth and Fifth infantry divisions had engaged the Germans northeast of the city of Luxembourg.

The Fourth landed on the coast of France on D-day and captured Cherbourg and sent the first troops into Paris. As part of the U. S. First army, the Fourth broke into the Siegfried Line and participated in the bloody Hurtgen forest fighting before shifting to Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army command.

The Fifth infantry, commanded by Major Gen. LeRoy Irwin Stafford, Fort Monroe, Va., had a big role in the Moselle river campaign around Metz and was in on the capture of the city.

The 80th's present commander is Major Gen. Horace L. McBride, Elgin, Neb. Commanders of the Fourth armored and Fourth infantry divisions cannot now be disclosed.

Gen. Taylor Made His Way Through Enemy Line to Reach Bastogne.

By EDWARD D. BALL.

Bastogne, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Brig.-Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe was disclosed today as the leader of the gallant Bastogne garrison of almost 10,000 men—the commander who said "Nuts" to the German demand that he surrender.

DEC 30 1944

Gen. McAuliffe was serving as acting commander of the 101st Airborne Division, which was encircled seven days in this Belgian road hub together with elements of the Ninth and Tenth Armored Divisions. The 101st's regular commander, Major-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, was in Washington when his division was hurled against the Germans in the Belgian bulge, as a stopgap measure.

Gen. Taylor arrived in Belgium on December 26, made his way through enemy lines and reached Bastogne early on December 27. Armored elements and stragglers from various infantry units were hemmed in the town along with the 101st.

Gen. McAuliffe is 46 years old and one of the youngest generals in the Army. He is a native of Washington, D. C. His wife and two children, Patricia and John, live in Washington.

The relief corridor from the south was opened by Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton Jr., waging a kind of war that is to his liking.

Screaming Eagle Division In.

Gen. Patton used the veteran Fourth Armored Division and units of the Eightieth and Twenty-sixth Infantry divisions to smash the siege of Bastogne. Two other Third Army divisions, the Fourth and Fifth Infantry divisions, were disclosed to be fighting the Germans in the area northeast of the city of Luxembourg.

Troops of the 101st (Screaming Eagle) Division had been rushed into Bastogne by trucks just before the German encirclement was completed The hard fighting youths, who participated in airborne operations in Normandy and Holland, were spoiling for action and they found it here.

"In Normandy and Holland I jumped out of a C-47; here I jumped out of the rear of a truck," said a dismounted parachute trooper who started fighting less than hour after arriving in Bastogne and kept on until he was carried off, wounded.

Major Charles E. Fife of Los Angeles, member of an armored force headquarters staff, said: "These parachute troopers were the best morale bucker-uppers we had.

"Those boys fought like hell from the word go," he said. "They know their stuff and they proceeded to show it."

Where They Hail From.

The Fourth Armored Division, which spearheaded the St. Lo breakthrough and the Moselle and Saar river crossings, drove into Bastogne behind units of the Eightieth Infantry Division from the south while the Twenty-sixth Infantry was battling toward the town from the southwest.

Contact with the Bastogne forces was established by the Eightieth Division's 318th Regiment, commanded by Col. Lansing McVickar of Cold Spring Harbor, Me. The first actual link-up with the pocketed units was made by a doughboy patrol led by Lieut. Walter P. Carr of Hot Springs, Ark. He wormed his way through the German line without once being challenged, and reached an outpost held by 101st Airborne Engineers.

"Never before have men fought like these boys," said Lieut.-Col. Harry E. Brown of Indianapolis. "The Eightieth's doughboys did themselves proud. You can't say too much for them."

The Twenty-sixth (Yankee) Division, is commanded by Major-Gen. Willard S. Paul of Shrewsbury, Mass., a newcomer to the European theater. It had been committed to action on the Saar front just before Von Rundstedt's breakthrough.

The Ninth Armored was under Major-Gen. John W. Leonard, a native of Toledo, Ohio, and the Tenth Armored was commanded by Major-Gen. William H. Morris Jr. of Washington, also a relatively new outfit in European combat.

The Tenth Armored participated briefly in the Moselle-Saar operations while the Ninth Armored saw its first action in October along the Luxembourg border.

Veterans of D Day.

The Fourth (Ivy) Infantry Division landed on a French beach on D day, captured Cherbourg and sent the first American troops into Paris. As part of the First Army it broke into the Siegfried Line and participated in the bloody Hurtgen Forest fighting before being shifted to Gen. Patton's command.

The Fifth (Red Diamond) Infantry Division, commanded by Major-Gen. Leroy Irwin Stafford of Fort Monroe, Va., had a big part in the Moselle campaign and helped capture Metz.

The 80th (Blue Ridge) Division had a part in fashioning the Falaise-Argentan trap which destroyed the bulk of the German Seventh Army, slashed across the Seine, the Marne and the Meuse and threw the first bridgehead across the Moselle. The division's commander is Major-Gen. Horace L. McBride of Elgin, Neb.

TOUGH FIGHTING UNITS IDENTIFIED

1st Infantry, 7th Armored, 82d Airborne Divisions Named

Kennedy

Supreme Allied Headquarters, Paris, Dec. 29 (AP)—Three more of the American divisions which helped to wreck Adolf Hitler's ambitious scheme to roll up the Allied lines on the Western front were identified today.

They are the 1st Infantry, the 7th Armored and the 82d Airborne divisions.

Their valor was of the same caliber as that of the 101st Airborne and elements of the 9th and 10th Armored divisions, which held out for a week in beleaguered Bastogne.

Some Brooklyn Boys

And the same as the 80th Infantry and 4th Armored Division, which fought to the relief of the Bastogne garrison.

And the same as the 4th Infantry in northern Luxembourg. And many another whose stories cannot yet be fully told.

The 1st Infantry, which saw long and hard service in North Africa and Sicily before coming to France, originally was composed of boys from New York—especially from Brooklyn—and from adjacent States.

In line with the Army's later policy of not making divisions regional, it now includes soldiers from all over the country, but that does not mean there no longer are Brooklyn lads in the ranks.

"Roosevelt's SS"

This division bore the brunt of the enemy's strong attacks around Monschau on December 21, 22 and 23.

[An Associated Press dispatch from the front disclosed that the German divisions hurled against the American 1st were the crack 1st Adolf Hitler Panzer and the 12th SS Panzer, both of which were badly mauled in the initial twelve days of the offensive.

[Since its heroic stand around Monschau, the American 1st Division has been nicknamed "Roosevelt's SS" by the Germans, the front dispatch said.]

The 7th Armored was around Vith and prevented the junctio the Germans' two big drives time to be effective. It was t action which largely upset Germ plans for cutting northward toward Liege and Antwerp.

Was Resting At Time

The 82nd Airborne Division, with its companion 101st Airborne was resting at the time the German offensive broke.

Both were many miles from the front, but they were rushed forward to handle the situation.

The 82d was thrown into line as elite infantry on the north flank and fought savagely around Stumont and Stavelot, cutting off the attacks of the 1st and 12th SS German Panzer divisions.

The 101st soon found itself surrounded in Bastogne, quite unaccording to Allied plan, but in much the same position as if it had been dropped there from the air.

It fought as it would have fought if dropped, perhaps better, because the soldiers were angry at being trapped in a pocket not of their own making.

Described By Miss Evans

The 4th Infantry was resting behind an area in which the Germans attacked. It jumped into action and engaged in heavy fighting around the Echternach area, near the German border northeast of the capital of Luxembourg.

To know the two airborne divisions, it is perhaps worth listening to the testimony of Drucilla Evans, daughter of John Evans, former chief of the Associated Press foreign service.

Miss Evans, a Red Cross worker, was assigned to them while they were resting.

"They are like caged lions," she said. "We have doors to our Red Cross club, but they prefer to come in the windows. Immediately after dinner they come in for doughnuts and eat until they are all gone."

When some of the stalwart airborne fighters once were arrested by MPs in Rheims while attempting to burn down a cafe because the proprietor refused to sell them any more cognac, they said: "Nobody understands us here."

They sat around cafe tables then telling anyone who would listen what killers they were, but when a certain WAC said she wouldn't have dates with them because they were killers they got indignant and blamed the airforce for that sort of thing and vowed they would waylay the next airforceman who showed up.

While some were confined to quarters for misconduct one welfare worker put on a test to amuse them. "What famous airborne regiment has been confined to quarters for misconduct?" she said

They thought hard but couldn't get it.

She finally said "your own, o course," and one of the men sai "oh, yeah, I hadn't thought of that."

Hemmed in and restrained whil on a rest period they now hav gone into action—and the worl knows the results.

Yanks Made 100-mile Dash to Smash Nazi Push for the Meuse.

By HAL BOYLE.

Near Celles, Belgium, Dec. 28 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Everywhere over this abandoned front, which yesterday rocked with the crashing sounds of battle as an American armored outfit stopped Von Rundstedt's drive three miles short of the Meuse River, lies a silence compounded of cold, fog and death.

The evidence of recent battle, however, is plain to see—the bodies of hundreds of enemy dead and the wreckage of Nazi tanks, armored cars, trucks and field guns scattered over miles of field and woodland.

Sharing equally in the victory over the enemy striking force were American doughboys, tanks and artillery teamed in perfect co-ordination with Allied air power.

"The airmen gave us wonderful support," said one American tank commander, who personally knocked out four tanks during the engagement. "Those planes helped us get nineteen of our sixty-three enemy tanks. And some British Typhoons which pitched in with us did a particularly fine job. They knocked off seven out of a column of eight German tanks coming up behind us and trying to break through to relieve their friends in the Celles pocket."

Tells Story of Battle.

Striding up and down before a log fire in the booklined library of a house which he had converted into a command post, the stocky little commander told the story of the battle.

"We reached the front after rolling a hundred miles overnight across country we had never seen before," he said. "We didn't even have time to assemble and plan our operation. Some of our reconnaissance men were shot up by the Germans.

"The Germans were moving up fast and there wasn't any time to prepare defenses. There was time to do only one thing—attack them.

"I grabbed hold of one of my captains and said: 'Son, get to hell up there near Ciney village with what tanks you've got and start kicking hell out of them. We'll be along soon to back you up.'"

Fought for Four Days.

"That was the way it started, and it hasn't let up for four days and four nights—but the morale of my boys has picked up 200 per cent because they know they're doing fine. It's like they were making a breakthrough again themselves.

"That first night we were moving up with infantry ahead of us when we ran into a German column head-on. Our doughboys just pulled off the road and our tanks let go at forty yards and butchered up the Germans.

"We knocked out seventy-five vehicles and there were dead Krauts lying all over the place."

The closest German vehicles to the Meuse were three tanks which Allied armor caught and destroyed just east of the river town of Dinant.

"At Celles," the commander continued, "we surrounded a big bunch of Krauts and fought them all night and all the next day—the damnedest Christmas week I ever spent. We hit them with everything — artillery, fighter-bombers, tanks and doughboys.

British Typhoons Helped.

"They just wouldn't surrender. We really had the drawstring around them, too, and were going after them hammer and tongs from three directions. That was when their relieving column of eight tanks and infantry came up behind us. And that was where those British Typhoons came in, too.

"We could have turned around and dealt with those tanks all right, but some of the Germans in the noose in front of us might have slipped out. But the Typhoons got rid of seven of the tanks and their infantry scattered for home.

"Later we cornered what was left of the Germans around Celles in a woods east of the town. They still wouldn't quit, so we wiped them out. Now there are dead Krauts all over the ground—thrown all over the woods for miles."

Some of the fiercest fighting raged in the streets of the village of Humain, four miles southwest of the Marche Road junction, where seven Panther tanks kept firing even after they were plastered by five heavy American artillery serenades.

"I got two of my tank destroyers working on one Panther," said the commander. "He was sneaking back down the street away from one when my other sneaked up behind him. He let the Panther get within six feet of him before he let go. That shell blew the rear end of the Panther up in the air and knocked off the turret.

Flame Throwers Turn Trick.

"Some more Krauts holed up in an old chateau and we couldn't blow them out with anything. They wouldn't budge, so I sent back for flamethrowers. As soon as they came up the Germans came out with their hands up. It broke the heart of my flamethrowers.

"In one village one of my captains who had only twelve tanks with him at the time stopped sixteen Panthers and knocked out seven of them. That was Capt. Henry Chatfield (a Harvard Law School graduate who lives at Third and Plum streets in Cincinnati). He lost only one gun and the turret off one tank. I am going to recommend a medal for that boy."

Nazis Asleep Upstairs.

The tank commander told of one humorous incident that occurred during the battle.

"Last night some of my boys were dog tired and went to sleep on the ground floor of a building without searching it. In the morning one woke up early and got curious. He climbed to the second floor and there were seven Germans asleep. They're prisoners now—but it makes me feel bad because my boys were so careless. It's good one of them was an early riser.

"They're really worn out—my boys. They've been fighting hard for days and, by God, they can keep on for days more if they have to."

The commander was dull-eyed with fatigue. But a gleam lit his weary eyes and he grinned through his frazzled gray moustache as he said: "Well, all in all, I guess we did a pretty good job on those 'Krauts.' My boss just sent me over a bottle of whisky."

COL. HEYDTE IS CAPTURED

Swaggering, "Cheeky" Nazi Paratrooper Surrenders

Monschau, Germany, Dec. 29 (AP). A kingpin prisoner taken by the Americans in the German offensive is swaggering Lieut. Col. Friedrich von der Heydte, parachute troop commander who fought the Allies in Africa and Normandy.

Arrogant as ever, von der Heydte was dropped on his most important mission the night of December 17 as the leader of 600 Nazi parachute troops in the Eupen-Malmedy area for the purpose of disrupting Allied communications and gathering information on Allied troop dispositions.

Most of his men were rounded up quickly, but for five days, although suffering injuries, the obdurate officer hid in the woods, cold, hungry and useless to his Führer.

Finds Shelter

Then on December 22, hearing a German propaganda broadcast that Monschau was in Nazi hands, he started into this town—only to learn it was firmly held by the Americans.

He managed to find shelter in the home of a Belgian civilian who soon hurried to the office of Capt. Robert A. Goetcheus, of Temple, Texas, commander of a Military Government detachment, and handed him a letter containing the voluntary surrender of the German officer.

The Colonels' Letter

Von der Heydte wrote:

"Dear Sir—I tried to meet German troops near Monschau. As I could find there no German troops I surrender because I am hurt and ill and at the end of my physical forces.

"Please be kind enough to send me a doctor and an ambulance because I am unable to walk.

"I am lying in bed at Herr Bouschery's and am waiting for your help and your orders.

"Yours sincerely,

"Freiherr von der Heydte, lieutenant colonel commanding the German parachute troops in the section of Eupen and Malmedy."

Von der Heydte was taken to an American army hospital where he was treated for what may be pneumonia and trench feet. Later in the day German civilians brought in four more enemy parachute troopers who surrendered to Captain Goetcheus.

A Lot Of Cheek

Von der Heydte is the German commander who at El Alamein in Egypt attempted a bluff by sending an ultimatum to New Zealanders under the command of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, telling them they were surrounded and demanding their surrender. The ultimatum was ignored.

Last June in Normandy, Montgomery had his revenge when Americans fighting under Montgomery sent an ultimatum to a German parachute unit declaring:

"Surrender or withdraw immediately, or we will level your position with the full weight of our entire air force."

The German commander thought it over for a few hours and then withdrew under cover of night. The withdrawal permitted the Allies to link up two beachhe[illegible]. The commander was von der Heydte.

"Too bad we didn't catch this von der Heydte," said a British captain at the time. "Our lads would like to have a look at him. He certainly had a lot of cheek."

BIG GERMAN TANKS FAILED IN BATTLE

With United States Tanks Near Humain, Belgium, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Adolf Hitler's black-clad SS armored crews and their touted heavyweight tanks have failed to live up to advance billing in the current battle.

Outweighed and outgunned American Shermans and tank destroyers, in a series of heavy battles with the most advanced prong of the German winter offensive, knocked out forty-four Nazi tanks for a loss of four—a victory margin of eleven to one.

Lieut.-Col. Eugene A. Trahan of Lafayette, La., said that he believed that the American success was due to the maneuverability of American armor and more experienced crews.

"Most of the prisoners we took from the Panzer outfits were good soldiers—young, strong and eager — but they weren't what you would call well-trained troops," he said. "They had been intensively trained, but for too short a time to learn all they needed. They were arrogant and cocky because things had gone so well the first few days, but after they ran short of food and ammunition and began to take a beating, their morale dropped quickly. They don't think now they are going to win the war. At least, they have strong doubts."

United States First Army 90-mm. anti-aircraft guns also have played an important part in stemming German attacks, particularly when they were turned down and used as anti-tank guns. They are powerful enough to smash through even six-inch armor plate, such as that of the Royal Tiger, German armored kingpin.

From Nazi Front to West Point

Brooklyn G. I. Bolts German Captivity and Learns He Is to Be Military Cadet.

With United States Troops Near Bitche, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—With bewildering speed Pfc. Murray Lafkowitz found himself a prisoner of the Germans and then a few hours later an appointee to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

It happened like this:

Lafkowitz, a resident of 1801 50th street, Brooklyn, N. Y., was a mortar gunner. In the shadow of the Maginot Line forts at Bitche he left his company's column to adjust his equipment, and was overtaken by darkness.

He lost his way in his hurried effort to rejoin his outfit—hurried, because he held the sight to a section gun, without which the weapon would be no good.

In the dark woods he ran into a German who quickly thrust a rifle against his chest and headed him toward the German lines. They were joined en route by a Nazi non-commissioned officer and three German privates.

Apparently the enemy soldiers also lost their way. In a moment Lafkowitz heard a G. I. voice twenty yards ahead, which he recognized as that of his platoon sergeant, Bill Grant, of Utica, N. Y. The Germans halted nervously. Soon there was a sound of an approaching jeep.

Lafkowitz identified the voices of Sergt. Robert Williams of Irvington, N. J.; Corporal Lewis Marone of 306 East 155th street, the Bronx, N. Y., and Pfc. Mike Confirti of Hoboken, N. J.

As the Nazi holding the gun turned his head toward the noise, Lafkowitz shoved him into the others and yelled, "Jerries!" Then he dived for the dirt.

The jeep trio also hit the dirt, their rifles in hand.

Three Germans rose, their arms in the air. The non-commissioned officer vanished.

Lafkowitz spent a calm night in a foxhole. At daybreak he was told to report to his commanding officer. He did and was told:

"Your application to enter the United States Military Academy at West Point has been approved."

Dummy Paratrooper Rounded Up Quickly

With American Troops in Belgium, Dec. 26 [AP—Delayed].—The Germans are dropping dummy parachutists in American front lines simultaneously with real parachute troops, apparently to deceive observers as to the strength of their landing forces.

"One dummy and one live paratrooper came down together within 20 feet of one of our command posts," said Lieut. Gen. Stuart L. McClure, former San Francisco Examiner reporter, whose wife lives in Richmond, Va.

"We picked up the dummy pretty quick, but the live one ran into some woods and it took us several hours to capture him. The dummy wore blue pants, light-blue shirt and had a white cloth face. He was dropped in a camouflaged mottle-green parachute."

"They make swell souvenirs," a soldier commented.

G. I. WON'T GIVE PASSWORD AWAY

Humain, Belgium, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Even a battle commander can't pull enough rank now to get spy-wary doughboys along the front to give him the password. One commander was in such a hurry to get to a sector of his battlefront that he forgot to ask headquarters for the password for the day.

When challenged by a G. I. sentry he said, "Son, I don't know the password, but you recognize your commander don't you?"

"Sure, sir, I've seen you lots of times."

"Then you'll let me pass?"

"Sure, sir."

"That's fine," said the commander. "Now tell me the password."

The doughboy gripped his rifle nervously and replied:

"I hate to turn you down, sir, but I have been told not to tell that password to anybody and I ain't goin' to."

"That's a good soldier," the commander commented, driving on.

GALLANT YANKS MAY BE CAPTIVES

With United States Third Army Outside Echternach, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—German bodies are stacked high in Echternach, left unburied by their comrades, but most of the gallant band of American infantrymen who held out in the town against topheavy odds still may be living in German prison camps behind the Nazi lines.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's swift reaction to the German counter-offensive had not been fast enough to rescue the men, cut off when the Germans slashed across the Sure River from Germany into Luxembourg December 16. But few of the bodies found in the town by a relief patrol were clad in khaki.

On the fourth day of the battle American tanks managed to enter the city and offered to take all back to the American lines two miles outside the town. The young commander replied he had no orders to retreat.

Later that day and throughout the next enemy pressure mounted. Five men slipped out in two jeeps to seek help, but fire from the east bank of the Sure had become too heavy for a relieving force.

One German, on December 23, called them "crazy Americans," and said they still were firing. Another prisoner said on Christmas Eve he had seen fifty of the Americans marched from the town eastward.

The relief patrol entered the town and found it silent and deserted. No living German or American was to be seen.

TWO 'DEVILS' LEAD MIGHTY GERMAN DRIVE IN BELGIUM

LONDON, Dec. 29.—(AP) A daredevil and a "man-devil" are Marshal Von Rundstedt's panzer commanders in the great battle in the Ardennes, and capture of either by the Allied forces would be a big feather in the Allied cap. They are S. S. Col. Gen. Sepp Dietrich and Gen. Hasso Eckhardt Von Manteuffel.

Gen. Dietrich's rise was meteoric. Until June 30, 1934, when Hitler purged Ernst Roehm, his most intimate friend, Gen. Kurt Von Schleicher, former chancellor, Karl Ernst, leader of Berlin's brown-shirted Storm Troop division, and some 1,000 lesser Nazi lights — Dietrich was merely Hitler's trusted personal chauffeur.

Suddenly Dietrich became commander of a large Elite guard unit. People asked why. Dietrich was known merely as typical Bavarian beer hall roustabout, a compact, wiry bit of humanity of distinctly a buccaneer type who lounged about in Hitler's anterooms until ordered to dash off with his Fuehrer at breakneck speed.

The story generally circulated in Berlin at the time was that Hitler came within an inch of being killed during the purge but was saved by Dietrich.

News of Roehm's revolt reached Hitler at the delightful Rhine resort of Godesberg, where in 1938 he later met British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain for a talk on the Czechoslovak situation. All through the night Dietrich drove him to Lake Wiessee in Bavaria where Roehm with his trusted friends was staying.

Reaching Wiessee about 4 a. m., Hitler reportedly jumped out of the car brandishing a revolver, and from the hotel emerged the Storm Troop leader for Silesia, named Heines, notorious as a murderer of men suspected of revealing Nazi secrets.

Heines carried a gun. Except for intervention by Dietrich, who knocked the gun from Heines' hand, Hitler might then have been a dead man.

From then on Dietrich's rise was phenomenal. Daredevil that he was, he proved a dashing military leader and gave a good account of himself as a panzer division leader during the Normandy battle.

But he also acquired an ugly reputation for cruelty. During the Russian campaign when old-line generals often proved squeamish about exterminating civilians, Dietrich with his fanatic Elite guard troops committed acts which made the Russian government place him on its list of war criminals for atrocities committed at Kharkov.

Unlike Dietrich, Manteuffel is just another Prussian general. But his name, literally meaning "man-devil," is as significant as is his lineage. His forebears probably acquired the name because of their fierceness as warriors.

The most distinguished of the family was Baron Edwin Von Manteuffel, whom Prussian King William the fourth in 1848 made an aide-de-camp for his part in defence of his sovereign during the Berlin uprisings.

Later this ancestor fought in the Danish war in 1864, the Austrian war in 1866,—and especially in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870. Much of the territory being covered by the present-day Manteuffel was also the scene of battles fought by Field Marshal Edwin.

London Paper Praises Patton For His Attack

London, Saturday, Dec. 30 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton received a tribute today in a Daily Express editorial for his slashing of Field Marshal von Rundstedt's flank.

"There is need for a quick thruster as well as a deep thinker to show the way to Berlin. A fine example of the thruster is Patton. As he led that amazing dash through the gap in the Normandy line right across the width of France his soldiers said, 'Give Georgie a pint of petrol and he'll go anywhere.'

"Patton's vigor once caused controversy. There is nothing but praise for him today."

NAZIS USE HITLER'S FAVORITE TROOPS

IN THE MONSCHAU SECTOR, Dec. 29.—(AP) Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt used Hitler's favorite troops to spearhead the German drive into Belgium—the First Adolf Hitler SS division and the 12th Hitler Jugen SS division, it was revealed today.

The First SS division, which originally was composed of Hitler's bodyguard, has been virtually annihilated several times—the last time in Normandy—but always has been rebuilt with the cream of German soldiers and the best equipment.

Leading the drive, the first SS division pushed directly west through St. Vith and then northwest, trying to crack through the roads leading to Liege from Stavelot, Malmedy and Stoumont.

There it was stopped and its heart was torn to pieces by the heroic stand of an American division—as yet unnamed—which the Germans have nicknamed "Roosevelt's SS."

The 12th SS division was assigned the task of trying to break through to Spa and Liege at the vital northern hinge of the breakthrough at Monschau. In a dozen savage battles near Butenbach, it was stopped cold by a U. S. infantry division.

The rolling hills between Butenbach and Bullinger became a graveyard for Nazi youths and equipment as they tried to beat through the American divisions' stonewall defense. This veteran Yank division had been rushed into the line from a rest area after experiencing heavy losses in the fighting near Duren.

TENSION IN AACHEN EASED BY WAR NEWS

AACHEN, Germany, Dec. 29. — (AP) -Tension in this American-held German city of 15,000 eased today with the news that Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's drive was halted.

For several days there was a widely expressed fear among the Germans that the city would be overrun and all the citizens left here would be executed by the German army as collaborators.

"Many of the population were terrorized at the prospect of the German army getting back, and came to us for reassurance," said Maj. Jack Bradford of St. Paul, Minn. "They heard on the radio that the Nazis had characterized them as traitors because they refused to leave their homes."

Bradford said there had been no evidence thus far that any Germans in the city had tried to get in touch with Nazi parachutists or agents who might have been left to hide behind American lines.

German Planes Bomb U.S. Hospital In France

With the Sixth Army Group, Dec. 29 (AP)—A United States general hospital at Mirecourt, France, was bombed and strafed in moonlight Tuesday by two German planes.

The buildings are clearly marked with red crosses—some of them placed there by the Germans, who used the buildings as a hospital before their withdrawal. A number of soldier patients and military personnel were wounded.

Gen. Patton Decorated For Battle Last Summer

With U.S. 3d Army, Dec. 29 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley today decorated Lieut Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., for leading the 3d Army's spectacular dash across France last summer, presenting him the oak-leaf cluster to the Distinguished Service Cross.

"He has contributed immeasurably to the success of Allied operations on the Continent," the citation said.

RUSSIANS SMASH TOWARD HEART OF DOOMED BUDAPEST

Savage Street Fighting Rages as Troops Enter New Parts of City.

REDS TIGHTEN NOOSE

Soviet Army Crosses Hron River in Drive Toward Austrian Frontier.

LONDON, Saturday, Dec. 30. — (AP) Russian shock battalions smashed into new sections of encircled Budapest from the west yesterday and began slaughtering a trapped Axis garrison in hand-to-hand fighting raging through streets clogged with enemy dead and wrecked guns and tanks, the Soviet High command announced at midnight.

Berlin said the Russians already were in the "heart" of the burning Hungarian capital, locked in a struggle unrivalled in ferocity since Stalingrad where another German army met disaster in the snow.

Reds Tighten Death Trap

As the great churning struggle raged on the western side of the Danube, in the Buda section of the tottering capitol, other Soviet units tightened their death trap on German-Hungarian units caught in the Pilis hills north of the city, killing 2,500 of them during the day and capturing 2,200 the previous day.

Still other Russian units forced the Hron river, one of the last big water barriers to the Bratislava plain leading to Vienna, Austrian capital, and sped two miles beyond, capturing Nana and Parkany near the Hron's confluence with the Danube.

This last stroke put the Russians within 76 miles southeast of Bratislava and 105 miles from Vienna. Other sections of the same army arrayed on a 35-mile front along the east bank of the Hron to the north were only 64 miles from Bratislava, and they killed or captured 11,000 Germans in two days, the bulletin said.

South of the Danube, meanwhile, other mobile Russian units were attacking on the approaches to Komarom, only 53 miles southeast of Bratislava and 81 miles from Vienna. The phalanx of the two armies moving westward, even without awaiting the fall of Budapest, was 100 miles wide.

A midnight Soviet bulletin said that Budapest's western streets were studded with anti-tank and anti-infantry obstacles. Corner buildings and all cellars had been converted into blockhouses and "saturated with machineguns, mortars and anti-tank artillery."

Nevertheless the communique said the Russians were decimating the garrison. "The enemy is suffering heavy losses," it said. The streets are blocked with the bodies of Hitlerites and smashed and abandoned weapons."

Nazi Forces Withdraw

Earlier in the week the Russians were only two miles from the Danube in the northwestern part of Budapest and less than that distance south of the Royal Palace, in the center of the city on the west bluffs of the Danube. Berlin admitted that its troops now had withdrawn "into the inner fortress" part of the city.

The Budapest garrison inside the city, and another segment trapped to the north in the Pilis hills in the Danube loop, originally was estimated at 100,000 men. Although Moscow gave no indication of the size of the trapped enemy groups the Russians said they were killing and capturing thousands and taking an enormous toll of enemy equipment.

Moscow's bulletin did not identify the new west Budapest districts seized during the day.

The combined forces of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine army and Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine army captured 8,200 German and Hungarian prisoners during Wednesday and Thursday and killed more than 5,000, Moscow said.

Since Oct. 6 when Malinovsky's invasion of Hungary was announced, the two armies have inflicted more than 438,198 casualties on the enemy, on the basis of Moscow announcements. Of this total Malinovsky's men have taken 262,491 prisoners and killed more than 130,000 of the enemy in drives through Hungary, northern Transylvania and old Czechoslovakia.

Many Prisoners Taken

In the liberation of Belgrade, Yugoslav capital, and the surge northward through western Hungary since Oct. 8, Tolbukhin's forces have captured no less than 25,907 enemy trops and killed more than 20,000.

In the Pilis hills north of Budapest Tolbukhin's units narrowed the ring around trapped German and Hungarian troops to a 50-square-mile area, the communique disclosed, and drove to within three miles of the Danube with the capture of Pilisszentlaszlo, 11 miles north of Budapest. Once the Danube is reached the Russians will have split the enemy pocket, and there is no escape across the river because Malinovsky's men hold the north bank.

Curving around inside the rim of the Danube loop the Russians also took Visegrad, on the Danube four miles south of Pilisszentlaszlo, while other units took Pilisszentlelek, six miles west of Pilisszentlaszlo and only four miles from the Danube, thus pinning the remaining enemy units gainst the river in a 10-mile stretch between Visegrad and Esztergon on the west.

During Thursday's fighting in the Pilis hills the Russians captured 2,200 Germans and Hungarians, the communique said.

BERLIN ADMITS REDS ARE DEEP IN BUDAPEST

House-to-house Clash Said to Be Raging in Heart of Hungarian Capital.

RUSSIANS ATTACK HEAVILY

German Reports Declare Fury of Battle Is Unequaled Since Stalingrad.

London, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—The Russians are fighting in the heart of Budapest, the German High Command announced today as house-to-house battles for the Hungarian capital reached a fury unequaled on the Eastern Front since Stalingrad.

Referring briefly to the fighting in the capital, the German communique said that "the garrison of Budapest defended the heart of the city against heavy Soviet attacks." It declared the Germans had checked Russian breakthrough bids between Lake Balaton and the Danube.

The German news agency DNB said United States and British planes were operating over the western Balkans from an airfield near Ungvar, at the Hungarian-Czecho-Slovak border, and that the field had been "put at the Allies' disposal by the Soviet command with the consent of the Czecho-Slovak mission."

Inner Defense Cracked.

Moscow, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Russian forces cracked the first of three inner defense rings of the encircled Nazi garrison at Budapest today while the Austrian-bound Red Army to the north stepped up its drive along both sides of the Danube River.

The Red Forces made an all-out bid to win strategic control of the Hungarian capital in a matter of days, if not hours, as fanatical Nazi troops in the hilly district of Buda and the populous flatlands of Pest gave ground under a score of assaults by Russian combat teams of tommy-gunners, tanks and self-propelled guns.

The enemy was hurled out of twelve eastern suburbs of the city yesterday by the hard-driving Soviets.

[BBC, heard by NBC, quoting German reports, said today that the Germans have blown up the famous Danube bridges in Budapest, and that retreating German troops this morning blew up the ancient Budapest City Hall.]

A battle of even greater military importance raged on the approaches to the Danubian communications center of Komarom, which is less than eighty-five miles southeast of Vienna and within fifty-three miles of Bratislava.

Two columns from Marshal Feodor Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army group converged on the city from the east and southeast, while across the Danube to the northeast Marshal Rodion Malinovsky mounted a powerful smash at the Nazi Hron River defense line.

There was evidence that Russian vanguards may now be fighting on the west bank of the Hron, whose confluence with the Danube, west of the Great Danube Bend, has already been outflanked by Tolbukhin.

Komarom has several big railway and highway bridges across the Danube and of the six rail lines radiating from the city, four lead to Vienna.

Fighting down the northwestern slopes of the Vertes Mountains, Russian troops reached points less than ten miles from Komarom, while another Soviet force advancing along the Danube River highway from captured Esztereom was reported even closer to the city.

This two-pronged Russian drive by Tolbukhin was supported stoutly by Malinovsky, who threw in massed infantry and armored divisions along twenty-five miles of the east bank of the Hron, striking in the direction of Ersekujvar, fifteen miles due north of Komarom.

The Nazi salient, which had extended six miles outside the eastern limits of Pest, was whittled down to barely a mile in several sectors as Budapest shook from the concussion of heavy gunfire. Frontline dispatches said that the Germans clung to each crumbling wall and rubble-strewn cellar before withdrawing toward the center of the capital in the face of incessant Soviet attacks.

The Pest zone was described by an Izvestia combat correspondent as three belts of fortifications protecting the inner city, with the first of these already smashed and the remaining two under the blasting fire of Soviet artillery.

REICH ROADS BOMBED AGAIN

RAF Follows Up Day Blows By 2,300 Allied Heavies

London, Dec. 29 (AP)—Two large fleets of RAF heavy bombers kept the Allied around-the-clock aerial offensive against Germany going tonight by attacking rail yards at Troisdorf, near Bonn, and a synthetic oil plant at Scholven-Buer in the Ruhr Valley.

The double night raid followed daylight attacks by some 2,300 heavy bombers and more than 1,000 fighters on the transportation network serving the Germans' western offensive. The day raiders dropped nearly 9,000 tons of explosives.

The United States 8th Air Force spearheaded the attacks again, sending 800 Fortresses and Liberators with an escort of 700 fighters against communications behind the German lines. Ten bombers and three fighters were missing tonight.

Before this fleet of American planes returned to its bases in Britain the RAF also launched an attack involving 800 heavy bombers with fighter escort.

Double Raid On Coblenz

Halifaxes and Lancasters made a double-header raid on two congested rail yards at Coblenz, on the Rhine, and other Lancasters dropped cargoes of six-ton "earthquake" bombs on boat pens at Rotterdam.

Despite poor flying weather, heavy bombers of the United States [illegible] in It[illegible] 15th Air Force [illegible]aly hit rail targets at Innsbruck and Salzburg in Austria and unannounced objectives in Germany. The Brenner Pass into northern Italy also was attacked for the fourth day.

The United States 8th Air Force Fortresses and Liberators from Britain struck five rail and road junctions in a 15-mile arc behind the German offensive bulge in Belgium. The main weight of the attack struck glutted freight yards at Bingen. Aschaffenburg and Frankfurt, which are on the southern rail route, now overburdened since the northern lines have been all but immobilized by previous bombings. The Trier-Euskirchen area also was hit.

Results Obscured

Thick clouds masking some sectors obscured the results near the battle area, but the main loads were spread visually over the three main rail centers, and returning crewmen were elated with the effectiveness. One pilot said a 10-square-mile area was set afire with incendiaries at Bingen.

The German air force again was grounded, and anti-aircraft fire was reported intense only over Frankfurt, which was hit by the Americans for the fifteenth time. Escorting Mustangs and Thunderbolts strafed targets.

Thick weather masking most sectors of the battlefront postponed the aerial assault on the halted German army in Belgium, but Thunderbolts and Lightnings of the Continental 9th Air Force were able to make 90 sorties before noon.

Locomotive Knocked Out

One locomotive was knocked out near Kaiserslautern and 60 cars packed with equipment were destroyed. Rail yards at Dilsburg, 8 miles north of Saarbrucken and Lebach, 15 miles east of Merzig, were strafed and 70 motor trucks shot up.

These American sweeps along the United States 3d Army front were unopposed, but RAF pilots of the 2d Tactical Air Force making 700 patrol flights between the Rhine and Munster despite dense fog shot down nineteen enemy fighters.

During Thursday night RAF Mosquitos and Lancasters attacked enemy supply lines and freight yards at Bonn and Munchen-Glabach and some formations also flew far to the north and attacked shipping at Oslo, Norway.

German Underground Fuel Reservoir Is Hit

London, Dec. 29 (AP)—American pilots scored a direct hit on a German underground fuel reservoir near Bingen today during an attack on communication routes in rear areas by 800 United States-British based bombers.

"A bomb landed in a wooded area and a huge plume of flame and black smoke spilled into the sky," said Lieut. Richard Tevens, of Ferris, Ill., a Mustang pilot. "It must have struck such an underground oil dump."

Sergt. John Porcher, of Littlefield, Texas, said enemy ground gunners seemed to be using a new type of ack-ack shell.

UNITED ALLIED POLICY URGED FOR LIBERATED LANDS

LONDON, Dec. 29—(AP) Allied diplomatic difficulties stemming from Europe's ideological struggles raised the likelihood today that Britain soon would attempt to establish a united "Big Three" policy for preventing violence in liberated lands.

Amid sharp criticism of Britain's intervention in Greece, the report circulated in London's diplomatic colony that the joint policy effort would be based on a proposal to establish a temporary inter-Allied control over newly-freed governments if trouble threatened.

Suggestion Circulated

There were reliable reports that this "suggestion" had been circulated among some of the exiled governments in London.

The possible attempt to extend the Allied Control commission plan—originally intended only for enemy territory — was hinted at in Churchill's declaration that some kind of "international trust" may have to be set up in Greece if a compromise among fighting factions cannot be reached.

Significantly, in mentioning this possibility at an Athens press conference, the Prime Minister did not confine it to Greece. He said that he, Premier Stalin and President Roosevelt would review the situation "in not a very long time," and added that "we cannot afford to see whole peoples drifting into anarchy."

Speculation over establishment of any form of an "international trust" was pinned squarely to the condition that, to be successful, it would have to receive unqualified support and participation from the United States. There yet, however, was no clear-cut indication that the U. S. State department was ready to abandon its hands-off policy in Europe's political woes.

There was mounting concern among the Allies, including the United States, over the impact of diplomatic differences on the military situation, as reflected by War Secretary Stimson's remark yesterday that propaganda designed to split the Allies undoubtedly was one consideration of the Germans in launching their Winter offensive.

Here in London there is no tendency to discount the gravity and grief involved in the use of Allied forces to preserve peace in liberated lands at a time when the demands of war both for men and materiel are underscored by the enemy's Western front attack.

There is a feeling in many quarters that the political troubles of Europe are just beginning, with these alternatives confronting the Allies:

1. To let the factions fight it out without intervention.
2. To take single-handed action, such as that by Britain in Greece.
3. To establish commission rule by Allied countries until the people of each country gain a ballot box opportunity to decide for themselves the type of government they want and the people they want in it.

Support for the third idea has developed chiefly among those who see in single-handed intervention an increasing trend toward regional blocs and spheres of influence.

This school of thought is backed by those whose political future would be precarious if Europe were carved into spheres. For example, few members of Poland's exiled government in London could expect to return to power if their country were left in a Russian zone. But many feel they would have a chance in a free, post-war election.

Would Meet Some Opposition

By the same token, any "international trust" plan probably would be opposed by groups supported by a neighboring great power or by exiled governments who have worked out detailed plans for their return to authority as soon as their countries are freed—such as the Dutch and the Czechoslovaks.

For example, Dutch officials—apparently confident they will be able to avert the difficulties which have arisen in Belgium, Greece, Poland and, in some measure Yugoslavia—want no part of even a temporary inter-Allied control plan.

The chief reasons for the belief that the United States may give at least consideration to the proposal are these:

1. General American antipathy toward regional blocs, in the fear that they would endanger Dumbarton Oaks world security hopes.
2. Huge U. S. war commitments on the continent, with the need for preventing any disruption of traffic and communication lines.
3. America's chance to preserve Allied diplomatic equilibrium as a neutral in any clash of Anglo-Russian political interests.

BRITISH ASSAIL CRITICISM BY U.S.

LONDON, Dec. 29 (AP) The liberal magazine "Economist" spoke out today at what it called "the recent most violent and sustained criticism and abuse" of Britain in the United States and asked for "an end to the policy of appeasement" toward America.

The magazine listed what it said was American criticism of British policy in Italy and Greece and toward Poland, as well as performance on the Western Front, and charged that the Roosevelt government, "or at least some parts of it," was playing along with Britain's critics.

The periodical described itself as pro-American and claimed therefore the right to do some "plain speaking."

Criticism, it said, is falling on a British people "struggling through their sixth winter of blackout, blockade and bombs, of queues and rations and cold" from a nation "that was practicing cash-carry during the battle of Britain," and such a situation "is not to be borne."

British policy in Italy, the magazine declared, was misunderstood "and quite inadequately explained," and brought a "moralizing rebuke from the State department."

"The fat really was in the fire with the outbreak of fighting in Greece and the Prime Minister's latest speech on Poland redoubled the fury."

The publication detailed other points it said were being made — that Britain was stealing a march "on the poor, repressed American exporter," that "Britain has no intention of fighting the Japanese," and that "Britain is not really fighting in Europe." All these were "painfully familiar," it said.

The magazine added that America had shown no willingness to 'get down into the dust of the arena and attempt to work out" a feasible policy in Greece, Poland, India and Palestine.

loaded with [illegible] of them suffering from shellshock, the Amsterdam was torpedoed by a German submarine and sank in fourteen minutes after breaking in two.

Torpedo Hit Stern

Censorship permitted a London newspaper to publish the bare fact of the sinking November 21, but no announcement of full details has yet come from official quarters.

Accounts of the bravery displayed by six officers—three of them nurses—and four enlisted men, all British, disclosed that the torpedo hit the stern of the ship. Some patients in a ward under the afterdeck were killed by the explosion. Others drowned.

The Order of the British Empire was awarded to Lieut. Oliver Gray, of Glasgow, who was in charge of the ward, which was sheared in half when the vessel parted.

"He did not leave the ward until all living patients had gone," the citation read. "The ship capsized and sank while this officer was standing on the horizontal starboard side trying to rescue a nurse through a porthole of the lower deck where she was trapped."

Three Nurses Stayed Aboard

Three nurses, instead of taking positions in lifeboats, remained aboard the stricken vessel, evacuating the seriously wounded until the ship sank and they were thrown into the sea.

One of these was Miss Lily McNicholas, who could not swim and was floundering about in the water until rescued by a United States Navy cutter.

Four enlisted men were awarded the British Empire Medal. One, a sergeant, Alistair Mitchell, was blown out of his cot in the stern deckhouse but he entered the wrecked ward and began carrying patients to the deck.

England Forming 2 Carrier-Heavy Units For Pacific

London, Dec. 29 (AP)—The British Navy is assembling two mighty fleets with greatly reinforced carrier strength to help the Americans deal knockout blows to the Japanese in the Pacific in 1945, it was disclosed tonight.

An officially approved year-end

review of the Royal Navy's activities said:

"As the year 1944 ends, interest in the war at sea moves from the west to the vast areas of the Pacific and Indian oceans where Britain is assembling two mighty fleets to fight beside our American allies against Japan."

Back To Singapore

These two naval forces are the British fleet under Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser and the fleet of the East Indies Station under Vice Admiral Sir Arthur Powers. The latter's job will be to push the Japanese all the way out of the Indian Ocean and get back to its old base—Singapore.

Fraser's fleet—packed with carriers—will operate under the strategic command of United States Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The review said Admiral Fraser, commander in chief of British naval forces in the Pacific, "is in full accord with the American strategy of using a large number of aircraft carriers, so it can be assumed that the British carrier fleet will be the strongest that can be assembled there."

[In an interview at Melbourne, Australia, December 12, Admiral Fraser indicated his belief that Britain's contribution in the war against the Japanese would be best confined to sea and air support.]

The Royal Navy's achievements in 1944, which made possible turning attention to the Pacific in 1945, were listed as:

Virtual defeat of Germany as a naval power.

A series of successful operations in which fewer British warships were sunk by enemy action than in any previous year of the war; not a single battleship or aircraft carrier was lost.

Acknowledgment by Germany at the end of March, 1944, that the Atlantic U-boat warfare was a failure and withdrawal of all but a few U-boats from the North Atlantic.

British submarines during the year sank at least 400 enemy ships in addition to 23 warships.

Light coastal forces won a complete victory in the battle of the English channel which lasted nearly 90 days—"a victory as important to success of the invasion as the winning of the battle of the Atlantic was to the war as a whole."

Up to the end of September, 1944, the Navy had moved 10,600,000 British army personnel by sea with a loss of only 2,978 lives, representing .0028 per cent of the total.

Churchill Is Home.

London, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden arrived in Britain today from their conferences in Greece.

V Bombs Blast Southern England

London, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Breaking a one-night lull in their aerial assaults upon Britain, the Germans struck at southern England with V bombs again during the night. The Government announced some damage but no casualties.

Moscow Predicts Nazi Defeat in '45

London, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Russia's top-flight commentator, Ilya Ehrenburg, in a New Year message broadcast today by the Moscow radio, said: "We will finish off the Germans this year."

Wilson Is Elevated To Field Marshal

DEC 30 1944

London, Dec. 29 (AP)—General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, new chief of the British joint staff mission in Washington, has been elevated to field marshal, the War Office announced tonight.

Wilson, former supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean theater, succeeded the late Field Marshal Sir John Dill in the assignment at the American Capital.

FOREST HILLS MAN TOP ACE IN EUROPE

Paris, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—The United States Ninth Air Force announced today that Lieut.-Col. John C. Meyer of Forest Hills, L. I., with thirty-four German planes to his credit, had become the leading ace in the European theater.

By bagging four planes in the last week Col. Meyer took the lead from Major George Preddy of Greensboro, N. C., who has 32½.

Col. Meyer is a member of a Mustang group commanded by Col. James D. Mayden of Junction City, Kan., which has destroyed forty-seven of 100 enemy planes encountered in its last seven engagements. Two Mustangs were lost, both to ground fire.

Col. Meyer, son of Mrs. August H. Meyer of Forest Hills, Queens, enlisted in the Air Corps while a senior at Dartmouth College. He was trained in this country, sent to Ireland and then to England where he completed a 250-hour combat tour of duty, returned to this country for a thirty-day leave and then went back to England.

Col. Meyer, who is engaged to Lieut. (j.g.) Mary Justina Moore of the Waves, holds the Distinguished Flying Cross with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, the Distinguished Service Cross and the Silver Star.

Four Collaborationists Killed

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP).—The French News Agency said today that townspeople from Arles, frustrated in an attempt to lynch a convicted collaborationist who had been their mayor, took four condemned Vichyites from guards in the Fort Vauban prison at Montpellier yesterday and shot them to death in the prison corridors. The ex-mayor was identified as Marcel Farge.

Novelist Beraud Sentenced To Die

Paris, Dec. 29 (AP)—Author Henri Beraud, who replied to charges of collusion with the explanation that he always had been anti-British and still was, was sentenced to death by a purge court jury tonight at the end of a one-day trial.

The jury deliberated only twenty minutes before bringing in the verdict on testimony concerning Beraud's writings during the German occupation. The announcement precipitated a violent courtroom demonstration on behalf of the defendant.

The novelist, tried for his articles in the weekly Gringoire, had been assailed by the prosecutor for writing against Britain. He replied:

"I have always opposed the British. Before the war everyone had the right to express his opinion freely and I continued to do the same afterward. I don't like the English." The defendant hastened to add he also "detested" the Germans.

FRANCE TO PRODUCE 25,000 MOTOR CARS

Paris, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—French automobile manufacturers, apparently acting on the theory that the next few months may see the end of the war in Europe, are going ahead with plans to produce 25,000 civilian cars for public sale in the last half of 1945.

Military needs will continue to take precedence in the first half of the year. The French Army expects to take 50,000 trucks from French assembly lines before any materials or man power are released for civilian production.

If the European fighting is ended by July, the manufacturers will be free to start turning out civilian cars under Government supervision. The plans call for concentration on fifteen authorized types—perhaps fewer—instead of the 169 which existed under free production before the war. Various factories will be grouped to turn out the same type. The No. 1 model will be a small two-seater with a four or five horse power motor, designed to make between sixty-eight and seventy miles a gallon of gasoline. These will be built to sell for about $400 at present exchange.

A concentration of producing plants is expected to contribute to lower costs. Present plans call for only fifteen manufacturing units instead of the pre-war forty-eight. Construction will be standardized so that the same type of vehicle can be produced from several factories.

GI'S SEEK KIN IN EUROPE

Men From U. S. Put Red Cross on Trails—Send Many Letters

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP)—American soldiers in Europe are so keen on finding family relatives on the continent that they have been besieging the American Red Cross at the rate of 200 letters a week for help in tracing their kin.

Miss Dorothy Reeder, Washington, D. C., who is handling civilian war relief for the Red Cross here, said 2,000 such requests had piled up in the last ten weeks.

She is trying her best to be helpful. Her outfit works closely with the advancing Army in attempting to keep up health levels and fulfilling civilian mercy functions until such time as the Army turns over the areas to the UNRRA.

Paris is an old story for her. She was head of the American Library here for sixteen years up to 1941.

GERTRUDE STEIN RETURNS TO PARIS

Paris, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Back in Paris after living among the Maquis near Lyons during the occupation, Gertrude Stein and her secretary, Alice B. Toklas, found that their most distressing problem today was trying to get telephone service restored in their Left-Bank flat.

The enigma of the literary world has not been in the United States since her lecture tour in 1935, and has no immediate intention to return now, but as soon as she was settled again in Paris, she said, she would like to take an airplane trip to America.

Bundled in sweaters and scarves against the cold, her cheeks rosy under her close-cropped gray hair, the author said: "You bet your life we welcomed the Americans when they came up with the Seventh Army. . . . For all the time I have been in France, I have never been called an expatriate, and that I am proud of. I proved that you can be a good American anywhere in the world."

German Attacks In Italy Halted

Rome, Dec. 29 (AP) — German attacks down the Serchio River valley near the western end of the Italian front appeared to have been checked tonight after four days of hard fighting in which American troops were forced back along a 6-mile sector and driven from at least two towns.

An Allied announcement described the situation as "fairly quiet," indicating that the main force of the Nazi assault had been spent. The announcement conceded that the emeny had captured Gallicano, 15 miles north of Lucca, as well as Barga, 2 miles to the northeast.

No Estimate Of Gain

There still was no official estimate of the Germans' total gain. Neither was there an indication whether the attack merely was a large-scale diversionary raid intended to relieve pressure on Nazi defenses south of Bologna, or was a genuine attempt to break through to Lucca and Livorno (Leghorn).

The enemy radio declared that German and Fascist forces had inflicted "heavy losses of men and material" on the 5th Army and had advanced as far as the village of Fornaci, a mile and a half south of Barga.

Credit To Air Force

There were indications that Field Marshal Albert Kesselring had massed a big force behind his attacking units for the purpose of exploiting any breakthrough achieved by the surprise onslaught.

American Mitchell medium bombers battered a large enemy troop concentration around Aulla, a road junction 25 miles northwest of the site of the attack, from which reinforcements quickly could have been thrown into the fighting.

8th Mops Up

Much credit for stemming the German drive before it became dangerous went to the Allied Tactical Air Forces, which flew a total of 4,353 sorties in the first three days, most of them aimed directly at the advancing Nazis. RAF and Brazilian fighter-bombers participated in the assault.

At the opposite end of the front 8th Army troops continued mopping-up operations through the water-sliced areas of the eastern Po Valley. Canadian tanks and infantry cleared the Germans out of Villa Quaglia, a strongly defended hamlet on the east bank of the Naviglio Canal 4 miles northeast of Faenza.

Lieut. Gen. Charles Foulkes, commander of the Canadian corps, estimated in an order of the day that his forces had knocked out at least 4,000 German troops and had cleared the enemy from more than 145 square miles of territory since December 1.

GERMAN DRIVE IN ITALY SLOWED

Rome, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Allied Headquarters announced today that fighting has died down in the Serchio Valley area, where a strong German counter-offensive had driven the American Fifth Army from the important road town of Bargo.

The four-day-old German drive south toward Lucca also had pushed Allied forces from the area of Gallicano, two and a half miles from Barga on the west bank of the Serchio, before it was slowed.

A Fascist radio broadcast claimed that the Germans seized the village of Fornaci, two miles south of Barga.

Headquarters said that the area had become fairly quiet except for enemy artillery pounding and some patrol engagements. It was not stated whether this marked a definite end of the Nazi drive along a six-mile front in the Serchio Valley, which the Fascist radio said had resulted in "heavy losses of men and material" to the Fifth Army.

The central sector of the Fifth Army front south of Bologna also was quieter.

Eighth Army troops continued fanning out through the eastern Po Valley. The Nazis were cleared from Villa Quaglia, four miles northeast of Faenza. Canadian troops inched along toward Alfonsine.

BRITISH HOLD HALF ATHENS

OEC 30 1944

Piraeus Also Controlled As Solid Operations Base

London, Dec. 29 (AP)—King George of Greece conferred with Prime Minister Churchill tonight after the latter had reported to the British War Cabinet on the results of his personal intervention in the Greek civil war.

It was announced officially at 10 Downing Street that King George came to see the Prime Minister and that they remained together a "considerable time." Undoubtedly, however, they discussed the question of a regency for Greece—one point on which the rival factions agreed.

Athens, Dec. 29 (AP)—British forces now hold more than half of Athens and have acquired Piraeus, harbor area of the Greek capital, as a solid base for operations against the ELAS, it was announced tonight.

(King George of Greece conferred with Prime Minister Churchill in London tonight after the latter had reported to the British war cabinet on the results of his personal intervention in the Greek civil war, an official announcement said. King George came to see Churchill and they remained together a "considerable time," the report said. No other details were given although they undoubtedly discussed the question of a Greek regency).

British paratroopers and Greek National Guardists, supported by tank and armored-car units, completed an important phase in the drive to clear the capital by pushing ELAS groups back from a secondary highway that runs through the industrial west side of Athens from Omonia square to the harbor.

This roadway wrested from the ELAS now forms a rough boundary for British-held territory lying between Athens and Piraeus. The fighting between these two points—except for sporadic sniping—has moved to the northwest sector of this "line."

Churchill, Eden Back

The British completed clearing of the southeastern suburbs of Athens and the capital's east main line communications along the Phaleron road, thus strengthening their grasp on the city's environs.

[Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden arrived back in Britain today following their conferences in Athens seeking to end the civil strife. They immediately convened the War Cabinet to report on the situation. Churchill and Eden are expected to confer shortly with King George of Greece and urge him to accede to the appointment of a regency.]

The climax of clearance operations on the south side of Omonia square came when British paratroopers wearing tennis shoes silently sneaked up on the ELAS forward headquarters and dropped gasoline fire bombs into the building last night after clambering over roof-tops to get to their objective.

British Link Up

British and Greek troops pushing southward from the center of Athens linked up with another column that moved northward from areas in the southeastern sector which were cleared of ELAS Wednesday, it was announced.

Rocket-firing Beaufighters and Spitfires continued to support Anglo-Greek operations.

British units recaptured Arditos Hill in the capital itself after advancing south through Zappion Park against slight opposition. The hill overlooks Averoff stadium, a strong point which the ELAS still hold. The British also entered the Pankrati Cemetery, from where ELAS mortars have been firing into cleared sections across the Phaleron road below the Acropolis.

An official announcement said 7,500 prisoners have been taken by the British and regular Greek forces.

Greek Rightist forces under Gen. Napoleon Zervas, a communiqué said, were fighting a hard rear-guard action against the ELAS while withdrawing toward the port of Preveza in northwest Greece.

BRITISH ATTACK ELAS SOLDIERS

Open Three-pronged Push in Athens Suburbs.

Athens, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—The British opened a three-pronged drive against ELAS forces in the eastern suburbs of Athens today jumping off after a prolonged artillery barrage in the second phase of operations designed to clear the embattled Greek capital.

Against slight opposition, the British forces advanced from the south through Zappion Park on Arditos Hill, which changed hands in a mortar duel a week ago.

After taking Arditos Hill, overlooking a former ELAS strongpoint in the Averoff Stadium, the British troops entered the Pankrati Cemetery, from which ELAS mortars have been firing into cleared sections across the Phaleron road below the Acropolis.

An ELAS raid last night on the Greek-held sector of the northwestern slopes of monastery-topped Likabettos was beaten off by British artillery.

An official announcement said that 7,500 prisoners have been taken by the British and Greek forces.

A Greek mountain brigade meanwhile advanced southward on the suburb of Kissariani—one of the largest ELAS strongholds in the Athens area.

JAP ECONOMY SEEN IN SERIOUS STRAITS

Pravda Says U.S. Victories Have Sharp Effect On Foe

Moscow, Dec. 29 (AP)—Pravda said today that steady American Pacific victories had "sharply worsened economic, especially food, conditions inside Japan," and also declared that the frequent Superfortress raids on Tokyo were affecting the general Japanese internal and political situation.

Spread over five columns of the foreign-news page, the Pravda article was considered the most significant Soviet utterance about Japan since Premier Stalin's November speech declared her an aggressive nation.

"Continuous Defeat"

Japan, "last and single ally of Hitlerite Germany," has been suffering "continuous defeat on land, sea and in the air," said G. Zhukov, Pravda staff political writer. "The development of Pacific events becomes evermore unfavorable for Japan.

"Continuous defeat in the war with Britain and the United States has, sharply worsened economic, especially food, conditions inside Japan."

Zhuvov's article said, in part:

"The Koiso Government faces extremely complicated internal and political problems while the war makes new demands on the tardy industrial facilities of Japan. Japanese militarists will continue to insist upon increasng severe economic controls.

Freedoms Called For

"Japanese public opinion becomes incomparably more somber in evaluating the real strength of Japan's European ally, than two or three years ago. Meanwhile the Koiso Government still tries to persuade the citizenry otherwise. . . .

"Some Japanese newspapers appeal to the Government to guarantee freedom of speech, freedom of the press and reorganization of governmental powers. One pointed out that the time is past for delivery of lectures on the national crisis. This statement indicated that efforts of Fascist propaganda to renounce 'liberal conceptions foreign to the Japanese' have been ineffective."

Army, Capital At Odds

Pravda declared that tension had increased between Japanese capitalists anxious to regain old-time freedom of action and the militarists determined to enforce even more rigid economic controls.

"The military prospects frighten many Japanese business men," it said. "The Japanese press recognizes that home manufacturers are extremely reluctant to make investments in the occupied countries of southeast Asia. The conversion of the capital of Tokyo into a frequent target for American air-raids affects the general internal and political situation."

PRAVDA CALLS JAPS NAZIS' LAST ALLIES

Moscow, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Pravda, describing Japan as Hitler's last ally, said today that she had been suffering continuous defeat on land and sea and in the air.

The article, spread over five columns, appeared to be the most significant Soviet utterance about the Orient since Premier Stalin's November speech classifying Japan as an aggressive nation.

"The development of Pacific events becomes ever more unfavorable for Japan," said the article by G. Zhukov, Pravda staff political writer. "Continuous defeat in the war with Britain and the United States has sharply worsened economic and especially food conditions inside Japan."

Russia Getting Romanian Oil

MOSCOW, Dec. 29 (AP).—Romania has shipped 386,000 tons of petroleum to the Soviet Union in three months, the Tass News Agency said today in a report on fulfillment of armistics terms. It added that 880 freighters loaded with goods ranging from machine tools to beehives, described as recovered Soviet property, had arrived at Constanta for reshipment to Odessa.

Berlin Fights Threat Of Disease In Ruins

Stockholm, Dec. 29 (AP)—Berlin's municipal authorities are battling the threat of epidemics in the ruins of the capital, the German-controlled news agency Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau said today.

The dispatch said Mayor Steeg called the ruined sections of the city a "constant danger" although health authorities had thus far managed effectively.

LOIWING CAPTURED BY ALLIED FORCES

MYITKYINA, Burma, Dec. 29—(AP) Chinese troops under Lt. Gen. Daniel Sultan's command in Burma have crossed the border into China and captured Loiwing, where an American-Chinese aircraft factory was situated before the Japanese overran Burma.

The Chinese troops crossed into China in a 10-mile drive which carried them within 30 miles of Wanting, Burma road town now under siege by other Chinese forces pushing from China.

For many Chinese soldiers it was their first time on Chinese soil since they retreated out of Burma into India with Gen. Joseph Stilwell.

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 29 (AP)—Japanese troops, evidently ordered to fight to the death to keep the Burma Road supply route closed to the Allies, have opened a series of counter-attacks against Chinese forces near Wanting, road town near the Chinese-Burma border, it was announced today.

All attacks have been repulsed, said a Chinese military spokesman. The main enemy blows were delivered in the vicinity of the Japanese-held village of Mangpeng, twelve miles northeast of Wanting.

The spokesman said Japanese garrisons along the dwindling enemy-held stretch of the highway plainly were prepared to die to prevent military supplies from reaching Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese armies in the overland route from India.

JAP SHIPPING HIT OFF LUZON ISLAND

American Bombers Damage Enemy Freighter in Lingayen Gulf

JAN 2 1945

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Saturday, Dec. 30—(AP) Mitchell bombers hit Japanese shipping in Lingayen gulf, off the western coast of Luzon island in the Philippines and heavily damaged a 7,000-ton freighter, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Nipponese planes again attacked American positions on Mindoro the night of Dec. 27. Eight of the 23 attacking aircraft were brought down.

Another 268 dead Japanese were counted Dec. 27 in the mopping up of isolated enemy units on Leyte island.

American heavy bombers dropped 72 tons of explosives on San Jose airdrome of Panay island, between Leyte and Mindoro, and knocked out six grounded planes.

General MacArthur acknowledged that the Dec. 27 raid on th Yank airfields and shipping a Mindoro caused "some damage." Ack-ack got some of the attacking aircraft and night fighters brought down the remainder. This raid came about 24 hours after a Japanese naval force had shelled th area and fled after losing three destroyers.

Navy Liberators helped in th Lingayen area raid, shooting down two Japanese planes and damaging a small surface craft.

An enemy airfield at Davao, on Mindanao, major island of the southern Philippines, also was hit by heavy U. S. bombers. Fires and explosions were observed there afterward.

Six small enemy freighters were bombed, strafed and left sinking by U. S. patrol planes off Borneo.

IWO HIT 21ST DAY IN ROW BY LIBERATORS

Anti-Aircraft Fire Intense But Yanks Plant Bombs On Airstrip

Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 29 (AP)—American Liberators bombed Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands Wednesday for the 21st consecutive day this month, running into intense anti-aircraft fire, the Navy announced today.

The heavy barrage of ground fire, however, failed to prevent the Yank raiders of the strategic air force from planting their explosives on the airstrip, which may have based enemy planes that have been raiding the American Superfortresses base at Saipan, less than 700 miles to the south.

Campaign One Of Hottest

Iwo, tiny volcanic island 750 miles south of Tokyo, is currently receiving one of the most intensive neutralizing campaigns of the Pacific war.

Iwo has an area of only eight square miles. It has two volcanic cones.

Today's communiqué also reported a raid, the same by marine Corsair planes on Bablethuap, in the Palaus, where docking facilities were strafed. The marine flyers hit Nipponese positions in the Marshall Islands December 28, continuing their almost daily schedule of neutralizing raids in that group.

Tex. Of Communique

The communiqué said:

Liberators of the strategic air forces, Pacific Ocean areas, bombed airstrip installations on Iwo Jima in the Volcanos, December 27 (United States time). Our planes encountered intense anti-aircraft fire but all returned safely.

"Corsairs of the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing bombed and strafed enemy-held bases in the Marshalls December 28 as neutralizing attacks continued in that area."

Japs Blasted Over Saipan.

Saipan, Dec. 26 (Delayed) (A. P.).—For the second night in a row, half a dozen or more high-flying Japanese medium bombers twice attempted to raid the American Superfortress bases tonight. Most of their bombs were jettisoned harmlessly into the sea, however, and the only hit on Saipan was on a Quonset hut. On the nearby island of Tinian, bombs hit a mess hall and another Quonset hut.

Five raiders were shot down, making at least nine destroyed near Saipan in two nights.

Again taking advantage of moonlight and a few convenient clouds, the first planes made individual runs from 8 to 8:30 o'clock. After the all clear, the attacks were renewed from 10:07 to 10:30.

Anti-aircraft gunners shot two in the first raid. P-61 Black Widow night fighters from a nearby Marianas base got one in the first attack and two in the last ten minutes of the raids, all north and northwest of Saipan.

One P-61, the Midnight Mighty, closed with a Japanese Betty and sent her flaming down in a spiral. The gunner was Private Peter Dutkanicz of Hamden, Conn.

Another P-61 set a Betty afire at 1,000 feet and followed her down for 4,000 feet before she exploded. The P-61 carried Second Lieut. Charles A. Ward of 214 Forest avenue, New Rochelle, N. Y., observer, and Sergt. Leroy F. Mozzi of 320 65th street, West New York, N. J., gunner. Ten minutes later, another P-61 caught a Betty at 2,500 feet and shot her down. The observer was Second Lieut. Jean Desclos of 110 Mount Pleasant avenue, Stratford, Conn.

JAPS TOLD AERIAL RAIDS TO INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — (AP) Admiral Chester Nimitz today notified the Japanese people that the United States navy will "carry the fighting to the very vitals of Japan" and inevitably defeat her.

The recorded message of the commander in chief of the Pacific fleet was carried in the First American medium-wave broadcast aimed at the home radio sets of Japanese citizens. It was accompanied by an appeal, also recorded, from Undersecretary of State Joseph C. Grew that the Japanese overthrow military rule and create "a government of free men."

The program was relayed by a new psychological warfare transmitter built by the Office of War Information on Saipan. It originated at a new 100 kilowatt short wave station, KRHO, built at Honolulu and described as the highest power short wave station in the central Pacific. Completion of both stations was announced by OWI today.

Admiral Nimitz warned the Japanese that industrial targets in Japan and Manchuria will be ravaged by Superfortresses "just as Allied aerial warfare reduced the productive capacity of Germany."

He gave a factual review of areas taken by American forces, and added:

"The preponderance of United States ships, war materials and manpower portends increased casualties and hardships for Japan's military, increased destruction and suffering for her industrial sectors."

Grew, former U. S. ambassador

30.24 — 21637

at Tokyo, told the Japanese:

"I have today only the same advice that I gave you when I was in Japan; retrace your steps. Resume again your authority over your policies, and create a government of free men which will have no place for war-mongering and will discharge its responsibilities to other countries."

AUSTRALIA'S RETORT

Canberra, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Replying to the criticism voiced by Representative Ward Johnson (R.-Cal.), that the "Australians are not working as hard as they should be" in their war work, the Navy Minister, N. J. O. Makin, said today that he was sure the United States would accept Gen. MacArthur's assessment of Australia's war effort rather than that of a quick-touring Congressman.

Back from a visit Down Under, Mr. Johnson told reporters in Washington on Wednesday: "There is no indication that we have had any assistance from the British, French or Dutch in the Pacific. Australia has helped some, but I feel disgusted with her present attitude."

CABINET IN PANAMA RESIGNS IN CRISIS

JAN 2 1945

BALBOA, Panama, C. Z., Dec. 29.—(AP) President Ricardo Adolfo de La Guardia's cabinet resigned today, it was announced officially, as intense political agitation swept Panama.

At the headquarters of the Panama Canal department, Maj. Gen. Ralph G. Meyer, deputy department commander, ordered a full alert for U. S. armed forces in the zone because of the political situation across the boundary line which separates the canal zone from the republic of Panama.

The immediate effect of Meyer's order, which was issued at noon, will be to keep U. S. personnel out of Panamanian jurisdiction and at their stations and military posts.

De La Guardia — target of a national Youth Congress blast which asserted that he held the presidency "arbitrarily"—met with political leaders to plan his next step following the cabinet's action. An unofficial report said De La Guardia may form a government junta including himself, Francisco Arias and Domingo Diaz.

The Youth Congress, which called for De La Guardia's resignation yesterday, urged a general strike in opposition to the government's decree calling for a constituent assembly on May 2, 1945. Regular elections are held on Jan. 2 and this move would lengthen the De La Guardia stay in office.

REVOLT IN PANAMA REPORTED BREWING

Not

Balboa, Panama, Canal Zone, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Intense political activity directed against President Ricardo Adolfo de la Guardia developed today. A shake-up appeared likely after twenty-four hours of the most extreme agitation in Panama since the bloodless overthrow of former President Arnulfo Arias on October 9, 1941.

As the President met with members of his Cabinet and prominent political leaders last night, the National Youth Congress adopted a resolution demanding his resignation, asserting that he held the presidency arbitrarily.

The question hinges on a constitutional provision requiring the National Assembly—to be convened on January 2—to elect three Vice-Presidents within ten days after convening. The first of these Vice-Presidents by law would automatically succeed the President.

There have been no Vice-Presidents in Panama since President De La Guardia took office. Two years ago the Assembly abstained from electing Vice-Presidents, holding that it would be unwise to change horses during the war.

The Government said recently that a majority of the Assembly had agreed to again abstain from such an election, thus permitting the incumbent to retain office until February, 1947. However, ten of the thirty-two deputies announced yesterday that they would move for the election of vice-presidents, and at least five more deputies expressed approval of this move. Two more adherents would assure an affirmative vote.

Today the administration was reported considering a decree calling for a constituent assembly, in order to gain time. This would entail dissolution of the regular assembly.

Argentina To Regulate Its Electric Power

Buenos Aires, Dec. 29 (AP)—Argentina's military Government, confronted with a serious shortage of liquid fuel supplies, today ordered its fuel distribution monopoly, Yacimientos Petroliferos Fiscales, to take over regulation of electric power throughout the nation.

The Government earlier announced a ban on the exportation of flaxseed on the grounds that all available supplies were necessary for conversion into substitute fuels. Today's order makes clear that even the available stocks of flaxseed are not enough to cover the country's needs.

Camacho Now Can Send Mexican Troops Abroad

Mexico City, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Senate today authorized President Avila Camacho to send Mexican troops to the battlefronts whenever and in whatever way he deemed advisable to contribute to the victory of the Allied nations.

This authorization applies particularly to the 201st Aviation Squadron of 300 members, now at Greenville, Texas, where on January 20 it will receive its war flag. It is in the final stages of its combat training.

On May 28, 1942, Congress authorized the President to declare war on Germany, Italy and Japan. Mexico would be the second Latin-American country to send troops to a war front. A Brazilian expeditionary force now is in Italy.

Cuba's Presidential Palace Put Under Guard

Havana, Dec. 29 (AP)—Unusual precautions were taken tonight to guard the presidential palace after dismissal of Brig. Gen. Francisco Tabernilla, commandant of La Cabana fortress.

Sandbags were piled up on the roof and guards were doubled at all doors. Sentries also were posted on the roof.

REPORT RIO SEIZURES

Buenos Aires, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Brazilians residing here said today that five men well known in Brazilian business and newspaper circles were arrested on December 22 and were still detained incommunicado in a cavalry regiment barracks in Rio de Janeiro, pending disposition of the case by War Minister Eurico Gaspar Dutra.

These informants said that the five men were Virgilio de Melo Franco, among the younger leaders of the 1930 revolution which brought President Getulio Vargas to power; Lucio Cardoso, a young and prominent business man; Raphael Corrier de Oliveira, who recently returned from London, via New York, on a Government mission; Austregesilo de Athayde, editor of the evening Diario da Noite, which is a Rio member of the Diarios Asociados chain of newspapers; Dario de Almeida Magalhases, a young lawyer, until five years ago director-general of the chain.

U. S. BASES AFTER WAR OPPOSED BY ECUADOR

QUITO, Equador, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Ecuadorean Assembly has opposed proposals that the United States be granted air and naval bases in Ecuadorean territory after the war, it was disclosed today. The United States now has use of bases it constructed at Salinas and in the Galapagos Islands as a wartime measure in agreement with the Ecuadorean Government.

The Assembly advised President José Maria Velasco Ibarra last night that "negotiations which may affect the territorial integrity" of post-war Ecuador "are deemed inadvisable," said a statement issued by the Assembly secretariate. While emphasizing that Ecuadorean-United States relations were friendly, the Assembly declared that the Salinas and Galapagos bases "are indispensable as a safeguard for Ecuadorean sovereignty and national interests."

The bases have been valuable in defense of the Panama Canal Zone and in patrolling the South American west coast.

Recent Washington reports said that the United States had suggested negotiations to permit American forces to use the bases after the war. Ecuador was to receive in return a loan for road building and other purposes.

President Velasco Ibarra asked the Assembly for advice, the statement said, and its decision incorporated his views.

Canadian Aircraft Missing

MONTREAL, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Dominion Department of Transport and Transcanada Airlines, in a statement tonight announced that a Lancaster aircraft in the transatlantic service was unreported "since the early hours of this morning." The plane was carrying one passenger and a crew of four. The passenger was Sir Alfred E. Evans of the British Admiralty Technical Mission at Ottawa.

AIR RAID SIRENS SOUND IN TOKYO

U.S. Bombers Are Reported Over Kobe and Osaka.

JAN 2 1945

In a broadcast recorded by the FCC and distributed by the Associated Press, the Tokyo radio declared today (9 P. M. in Japan) that American planes were sighted approaching the Tokyo-Yokohoma metropolitan district, but that after the sirens had sounded the bombers "again" altered their course and began circling over the north Kwanto district. The great industrial cities of Kobe and Osaka lie in this area.

Single B-29s carried out three raids over south central Honshu between 8:30 P. M. and 5:30 A. M., Japanese time, last night, radio Tokyo added saying that incendiaries were dropped. Shortly thereafter, the broadcaster said "enemy planes" are raiding the same section tonight.

Reporting upon last night's raids, radio Tokyo said that single B-29s had "dropped several incendiary bombs" in the "eastern sector of the capital" at 8:30 P. M. and 10:30 P. M., yesterday, but claimed that "no damage was inflicted."

Another lone B-29 dropped "several incendiary bombs" over the "south Kwanto area" of southeastern Honshu, at 4 A. M., today, Japanese time. "Only a little damage to civilians" was caused in this raid, Domei said.

Jittery Japs Approve New Blackout Measure

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Japanese cabinet has approved a new blackout measure, the Tokyo radio said today, which provides the "alerting" of all lights in homes after 5 p.m. daily.

Other provisions of the measure, said the FCC recorded broadcast, included:

Persons in charge of street, traffic and factory lights "will plan fully so as to be able to black out lights as soon as an air defense warning is issued."

Lights for general traffic, on railroads and for shipping are to observe the alert blackout or be reduced "to the extent of an air raid blackout, according to circumstances."

Lights in homes "should be put out without fail upon retiring, as well as all other unnecessary lights."

CONVOYS REPORTED OFF PHILIPPINES

DEC 30 1944

The Tokyo radio reported late today that several American convoys were attempting to force their way westward through the Mindanao Sea to the Sulu Sea. In a broadcast recorded by the Blue Network, says the Associated Press, Toyko declared that Japanese units have been striking hammering blows at the convoys since the night of December 27.

In a broadcast communique picked up by the FCC and distributed by the Associated Press, Japanese Imperial Headquarters clared earlier that Japanese planes sank six large transports and damaged two others yesterday in the course of an attack on thirty such craft "heading westward in the Mindanao Sea through Suriago Straits." The enemy also declared that Japanese air units on Wednesday night attacked the American air field at San Jose, on Mindoro Island, and set fires at fifteen places and caused a big fire at a gasoline dump.

All these enemy assertions were wholly unconfirmed.

U. S. ARMY RECALLS SEVERAL GENERALS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP) The War department has recalled several general officers from overseas commands within recent months, demoting some of them, it was learned tonight.

The recalls have been individual cases, not involving any single situation, but are manifestations of a firm policy adopted by the department.

The most recent case is that of a major general ordered back from France and reduced to the rank of colonel. This case predates the present German offensive.

Explaining that it prefers to avoid public discussion out of regard for the individual officers and because of possible morale effect, the Army declined comment. No names were given.

Those familiar with the situation say the Department's policy is predicated upon its insistence that there be efficiency in command and that recall of commanders is not necessarily a punitive measure.

It is pointed out that frequently a general officer is given an assignment for which he proves unsuited, but later gives an excellent account of himself in another battle command.

In recalling earlier instances, the case of Major General Terry Allen was cited. Allen went overseas in 1942 for the North African campaign, commanding the First division there and in Sicily.

He was returned to the United States in the midst of the Sicilian campaign, but retained his rank and recently reappeared as commander of the 104th Infantry division in France.

In some instances, officers "busted" to lower ranks have been restored to general rank when their cases were re-examined. Ernest J. Dawley was a major general and commander of an Army corps in September, 1943, when he was taken from his command at Salerno, Italy, and reduced to his permanent rank of colonel. Nine months later, President Roosevelt sent his nomination for promotion to brigadier general to the Senate. Those who knew him said that in the interim he again had demonstrated his abilities as a military leader.

U.S. SENDS STRONG PROTEST TO REICH

Shooting Of Captured American Troops Subject

DEC 30 1944

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—The United States is forwarding "the strongest possible protest" to Germany over the shooting of captured and disarmed American soldiers.

The State Department tonight issued this announcement:

"The Department of State is forwarding the strongest possible protest to the German Government through the Swiss authorities with regard to the killing by German forces near Malmedy, Belgium, of all but fifteen of a group of about 130 American soldiers and officers who had been taken prisoners by German tank corps and stripped of their equipment."

Accuracy Unquestioned

The official announcement made clear that the American Government has accepted as beyond any question of accuracy reports from army headquarters and front-line correspondents that the Germans have ruthlessly killed some American prisoners.

These reports said that after capturing the men the Germans lined them up and shot them in violation of the basic and internationally accepted rules of war.

Rules Of War Thrown Over

In military headquarters here, speculation is that the Germans were deliberately ordered ahead of time not to bother sending prisoners back to their rear areas since that might slow the speed of their forward advance in the early hours of their breakthrough.

Military men have concluded therefore that the enemy high command has completely thrown over the rules of war and from now on may be expected to wage campaigns more ruthless than any it has yet organized.

Officials here are not at all optimistic about accomplishing anything with the protest to Berlin.

Nevertheless, it will become a part of the formal international record of war and stand as a matter for which the Germans will be held to account when victory is won.

Stettinius Plans No Trip.

Washington, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Stettinius has no plans at present for going to London to discuss international affairs. This was learned on the highest authority today.

Mr. Stettinius personally declined comment when asked about a published report that he might make the trip to discuss the Greek situation with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Minister.

The Inferences

The appointment indicates that:

The American commander in Italy—and therefore the British commander under whom he works, General Sir Harold Alexander—has a direct interest in the impending liberation of Austria.

The boundary between Hungary and Austria roughly represents the western limit of Russia's area of primary interest in southeastern Europe as recognized by Moscow, London and Washington.

What form the American and British participation in the struggle for Austria will take is a military matter. There are, however, some obvious possibilities.

Air Units At Least

Allied conquest of northern Italy at an early date would place the troops now fighting on the Italian front in position to strike into Austria.

There is also always the possibility of amphibious operations at the head of the Adriatic. Quick clean up of political conditions in Greece would release the British units now held there.

Whether or not Allied ground forces are sent into action, it is apparently certain that powerful air units from the Italian theater will support Russian ground troops already approaching Austria through Hungary.

Tighter Liaison Needed

The close co-ordination required for such air support would require a tighter liaison between Russian, American and British commands than ever before, while the actual introduction of Anglo-American ground forces alongside the Red armies would require some sort of joint or co-ordinated operational command.

There is a basic difference between the political situation expected in Austria and that which has existed in the Balkan countries where relations between Russia and the Allies have not always been considered satisfactory.

Basis Laid At Moscow

The basis for co-operation in Austria was laid at the Moscow conference of foreign ministers more than a year ago when all three powers promised to restore the independence of the nation that Hitler absorbed early in 1938.

Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria, on the other hand, have been recognized as spheres of primary Russian interest, although Hungary is considered less so than the other two. In all three countries the Red Army has done all the fighting, Soviet commanders have been in exclusive control and American political and military observers have had to move entirely at Russian discretion, seeing what the Russians were willing for them to see.

Mixed Forces To Free Austria

DEC 30 1944

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—American and British as well as Russian forces will participate in the liberation of Austria from seven years of Nazi tyranny, it was reported tonight.

The battle for Austria is expected by officials here to mark an advance toward closer relations among the three Allied powers by bringing their forces into joint military action on such a scale for the first time.

This was learned after Edward R. Stettinius, Secretary of State, designated John G. Erhardt as political adviser on Austrian affairs. Significantly Erhardt was assigned to work with Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark, commander of the Allied 15th Army group in Italy. Erhardt was given the personal rank of

Giant U.S. Navy Has 1167 Warships

DEC 30 1944

Fleet Totals 61,045 Vessels and Air Arm Numbers 37,000 Planes.

Washington, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—The largest Navy in the world, fighting the most extended war in history, now has 1,167 men-of-war to carry the battle to the enemy. And it is still growing.

This was reported by the Navy today in a review of ship production which showed that in the last year 39,971 new vessels—420 of them fighting ships—joined the fleet, boosting the over-all total to 61,045 Navy ships of all types.

Broken down, the mighty striking force of the Navy—in its warships—is shown in this compilation of warship construction since 1941:

	1941	1942	1943	1944	Total
Battleships	2	4	2	2	10
Carriers	1	1	15	8	25
Carriers, escort	2	13	50	37	102
Battle cruisers	0	0	0	2	2
Heavy cruisers	0	0	4	2	6
Light cruisers	1	8	7	11	27
Destroyers	16	81	128	84	309
Destroyer escorts	0	0	306	197	503
Submarines	11	34	56	77	178
Totals	33	141	568	420	1,162

Much emphasis was placed during 1944 upon landing craft and attack vessels, with construction of 37,724 of the little ships used to batter the way for landings on enemy-held shores.

The new construction also included, the Navy said, 640 patrol boats and mine craft, 630 auxiliaries and 557 harbor craft.

More Landing Craft.

"Important in these statistics," the Navy reported, "is the slightly decreased emphasis on combat and patrol craft, denoting a leveling off in the need for more warships and escort vessels, and the tremendous increase in landing craft, auxiliary attack ships and other supply vessels which have carried the Allied offensive to enemy shores, both in Europe and the Pacific."

Accounting for the Total.

The total of 1,167 warships now with the fleet was described as more than three times the number on hand when the war began three years ago. The Navy announcement added: "Ship losses in action, and the transfer of certain vessels, especially escort carriers, destroyer escorts and landing craft to other Allied nations accounts for the difference between the total number of new ships completed for the Navy and the total on hand."

Two hundred thirty-nine Navy vessels of all types have been announced as lost.

The air force striking arm, the Navy continued, also called for major production in 1944 when 30,070 planes of all types were manufactured to maintain the Navy's Air Force at a stabilized total of about 37,000.

"These figures," the Navy explained, "demonstrate the high rate of obsolescence and attrition attendent upon keeping naval air power supplied with the newest and best planes."

It placed on the critical list for 1945 carriers and cruisers, some of which have been delayed by labor shortage as much as seven to nine months; rockets, ammunition and 40 mm. guns; maintenance and repair parts for the fleets, aircraft, and numerous miscellaneous supplies. Manpower needs were called critical.

Destroyer Rowan Launched

SEATTLE, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Rowan, a 2,200-ton destroyer, was launched today at the Harbor Island plant of Todd Pacific Shipyards. It was the 100th launching by the company at its Seattle and Tacoma yards since Pearl Harbor. The destroyer was named for Vice Admiral Stephen C. Rowan, hero of the Civil and Mexican Wars.

Blast at Houston Sinks Channel Boats

Houston, Tex., Dec. 29 (A. P.).—A tug boat and a barge were sunk and another barge and fireboat damaged by a terrific explosion in the ship channel, east of here early today. No lives were known to have been lost.

E. H. Furstenweld, lieutenant on the Port Houston fireboat, said the tug boat, which was pulling barges loaded with oil, sank along with one of the barges.

Flames from the burning vessels damaged the second barge, the United States Government fireboat and docks of the American Liberty Pipeline Company along the channel. The blast was felt over an area of twenty miles.

Wac to Cut Down Recruiting Personnel

Washington, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—The recruiting personnel of the Women's Army Corps will be reduced next year when emphasis will shift to enlisting women with special skills.

Although over-all WAC quotas will be cut, the War Department has stressed what it terms an acute need for medical and surgical technicians. The range of other skilled personnel sought runs from typists to parachute riggers.

Recruiting personnel no longer needed for that duty will be transferred to other Wac activities. Assignments will be made by the service command to which the present recruiting personnel are attached, Army spokesmen said.

NEW LANDING SHIP SHOWN

Medium 'Pacific Puddle Jumper' Aided Philippines Invasion

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 29 (AP)—The Navy unveiled to public view today the latest of its landing ships, a craft described by some officers as the "Pacific puddle jumper."

Now coming off the ways on the Great Lakes, the Atlantic and Gulf coasts by the score, the landing ship, medium, has already made its weight felt in the Japanese struggle when it was used in the Philippines invasion.

More than 200 feet long and 24 broad, the vessel is manned by forty-eight enlisted men and four officers. Its Diesel engines, more powerful than previous designs, enable the craft to slide on a shelving beach and then, with a shove, move inshore with only perceptible shock. It is designed to transport light tanks and gun carriers.

Text of Lehman's Report of Tour

DEC 30 1944

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—The text of a statement by Herbert H. Lehman, Director General of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, on relief problems:

I have just returned after six weeks at our European regional office at London. During the course of my work there I spent ten days on the continent, becoming acquainted with relief problems in liberated areas.

On Nov. 9, two days before I left for London, I met with the Washington press, reporting to them the then current position of United Nations relief programs and the UNRRA part in them. There have been many new developments since then. These have been reported in part. This summary will give the present situation.

DEC 30 1944

1. GREECE

Under an agreement with the Allied military liaison (which is responsible for the civilian relief operations for which the military has assumed responsibility in Greece), detachments of UNRRA personnel went into the liberated areas of Greec soon after the Germans were expelled. There they have been operating as agents of the military authorities, who have the responsibility for providing civilian relief supplies and services.

Since all transport and stocks of supplies must in the early period after liberation be under military control, it was long since agreed that the liberating military authorities will carry the responsibility for procuring and shipping imported relief goods during the first six months after liberation of any United Nations area by them. The military relief authorities in Greece have been making the imported goods available to the local authorities in the various communities and districts. UNRRA has been assisting the military authorities.

This continues to be the case in and about Salonika and Patras on the mainland, and in the Aegean and Cyclades Islands, and will shortly be true in Crete. In the Athens-Piraeus arear, where combat conditions prevail, members of the UNRRA contingent acted as volunteers, working on both sides of the lines to help in moving civilian wounded and needy people to hospitals and other refuges, and gathering and burying the dead. In the course of this work seven of them were wounded.

Last week, on the advice of military authorities, we evacuated some thirty of the UNRRA personnel from this combat area, sending them to Cairo. From Cairo they will be transferred to the islands and provinces in Greece where relief operations continue at full scale. Some forty UNRRA personnel remaining in the Athens area are assisting in the operation of soup kitchens, hospitals, etc.

The executive chiefs of the UNRRA mission for Greece, who remain in Athens, are proceeding with plans to cooperate with the military authorities during the period of military responsibility and with the Greek Government following that.

2. YUGOSLAVIA

I am considerably concerned at some of the stories which have been appearing in the press indicating that there are serious disagreements between UNRRA and the Yugoslav authorities with respect to the administration of relief in that country. This is not the case.

It is important to understand that two series of negotiations have been going forward with respect to relief for Yugoslavia. One is carried on by the Yugoslav Government and the Allied military liaison, which represents the American and British military authorities. Their aim is to reach agreement on the terms and conditions of relief operations to be carried on with military supplies under military direction during the period of military responsibility for civilian relief in Yugoslavia.

A second series of negotiations has been going on between Yugoslav and UNRRA representatives both at Washington and at London. These discussions have to do with the relief program for Yugoslavia in the post-military period when UNRRA will assume responsibility for the provision of supplies and the overseeing on its own authority of relief activities in Yugoslavia.

With respect to arrangements for this post-military period I can report that there is virtually complete agreement between the representatives of this administration and the representatives of both the Royal Yugoslav Government and Marshal Tito. UNRRA, as has always been contemplated, will permit the Yugoslav authorities themselves to handle all distribution of supplies provided by UNRRA.

The only condition that UNRRA has made is that it be permitted a sufficient number of observers so that it will be possible to certify to the contributing nations and other members of UNRRA that distribution has been made in accordance with the principles laid down by the council of UNRRA. I have been informed by Yugoslav authorities that they are in substantial agreement with the principles which we have established concerning the administration of relief where supplies are provided by UNRRA, and the conclusion of this agreement awaits only the further clarification and consolidation of the political position in Yugoslavia.

UNRRA has a staff of relief specialists and administrative personnel assembled in Italy ready to go to work assisting either the Allied military liaison during the period of military responsibility or directly assisting the Government of Yugoslavia when UNRRA assumes a direct responsibility for relief operations in this area.

DEC 30 1944

3. WESTERN EUROPE

During my stay in London a formal agreement was signed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Commander, Allied Expeditionary Forces, and myself fixing the responsibilities of UNRRA for assisting the Allied military authorities in occupied Germany and in western Europe during their period of responsibility for civilian relief.

Under the agreement we are placing a liaison officer and such staff as the military decides is necessary with the G5 division of SHAEF. He reports to us through military channels. He works under the direction of the military authorities.

This officer calls forward the UNRRA personnel desired to give assistance to the military authorities in carrying on relief and rehabilitation work. His detachment coordinates and supervises the activities of non-Governmental civil agencies other than those of the individual liberated nations that are doing relief work in the liberated territory.

Under the agreement UNRRA personnel on field service will wear a distinctive uniform and will carry identification as persons accompanying the armed forces.

The chief responsibilities of UNRRA in the countries of western Europe for assistance to the military are in the fields of health, welfare and displaced persons operations. In occupied Germany UNRRA will work with displaced persons under the direction of the military.

It is important to realize the magnitude of the problem of caring for and repatriating displaced persons. There are some 9,000,000 of these most unfortunate victims of war in Germany alone. Under the excellent cooperative arrangements between UNRRA and the United States and United Kingdom military forces, the latter will take on a good deal of the burden in the area which they occupy, particularly in the initial periods. Even so, UNRRA will need at least 2,000 people to help handle this gigantic humanitarian task.

While I was in London we also concluded agreements with the governments of all the western European United Nations—Norway, Belgium, the Netherlands, France and Luxembourg—for the dispatch of UNRRA liaison missions to them. These missions will be concerned mainly with assistance to these governments in the parts of their relief programs having to do with health, welfare and displaced persons activities.

It is hoped that all relief imports to these nations will be financed by their own governments, thus making more of UNRRA's limited supply of goods available to the people whose governments lack foreign exchange resources. It has never been contemplated that UNRRA would furnish supplies to countries with adequate foreign exchange resources.

4. EASTERN EUROPE

The headquarters office of UNRRA in Washington has just completed arrangements with the Combined Shipping Adjustment Board for the assignment of a moderate amount of shipping space to carry relief supplies for Poland and Czechoslovakia—contingent upon assurances that these supplies will be accepted in ports of the U.S.S.R. and given internal transport by U.S.S.R. facilities. These assurances have not yet been received, but it is hoped they will be forthcoming shortly.

We have accepted the invitation of the Czech Government to send a representative with a group of Czech health experts to the liberated parts of that country. Medical supplies will make up an important part of the first relief shipments to Czechoslovakia.

As previously announced, we stand ready to send a delegation of technical experts to Poland. Personnel for the mission is recruited. It will move forward upon the completion of arrangements for transport and for transit visas. We are likewise ready to send an initial mission to Czechoslovakia as soon as circumstances permit.

5. ITALY

The UNRRA mission is in Italy. It is concluding detailed arrangements for the relief program authorized by the UNRRA council at its recent meeting in Montreal. Meantime, on this side of the water arrangements have been completed with the Combined Shipping Adjustment Board which assure a moderate amount of tonnage to transport supplies in the months of January and February.

6. OTHER RELIEF PROGRAMS

The mission to Ethiopia has gone forward. This mission will report on the needs of the Ethiopian people for relief, particularly in the field of health.

Dr. Eduardo Santos, deputy director general, and Lawrence Duggan, assistant diplomatic adviser, and their party have completed visits to eleven Latin American republics and a report on the results of their discussions will be issued next week when Dr. Santos comes to the headquarters office in Washington.

The Southwest Pacific office in Sydney, Australia, has been opened. The staff for the office in Chungking is assembled and will leave shortly. The problems of relief in the Far Eastern United Nations, liberated and to be liberated, are being outlined for consideration by the UNRRA committee of the Council for the Far East, which will meet in Sydney on Feb. 15.

During my stay at European headquarters the staff there worked with me on tightening up the organization for action after the completion of the planning stage and in the light of relief problems as they have now become clarified.

To date UNRRA has been primarily a planning organization. It is only during the last three to four months that areas have been liberated that are accessible to United Nations shipping. Initial responsibility for civilian relief has been the military's.

We are on the threshold of our first major operations. The highest authorities of the major supply and shipping countries are aware of this. We are counting on them to provide us with the goods and the ships. We know they will give us fullest possible support.

Biddle Says Ward Holds Lend-Lease Contracts

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Government disclosed today that Montgomery Ward & Co., seized by the Army in seven cities, has been under contract to supply quantities of lend-lease goods.

Francis Biddle, Attorney General, made public an affidavit of Clifton E. Mack, director of the Treasury Department Procurement Division, which entered into the contracts with the mail-order firm.

The affidavit was filed in Federal court in Chicago, along with statements from other Government officials intended to show that Ward's is essential to the civilian war economy and the war effort.

Jack said contracts totaling $1,215,685 — three of them entered into this month—had been awarded in 1944 for shoes, coats, suits, dresses and cloth for use in liberated areas.

Other contracts totaling $8,347 went for refrigerators, milk cans, cream separators and hand tools to fill British, Icelandic and French North African requisitions.

During 1943 and 1944 contracts were awarded for agricultural equipment and spare parts on British, French North African and Syrian requisitions.

WARD SEIZURE

IN COURT JAN. 8

Judge Sets Hearing Date As Army Operates Plants

DEC 30 1944

Chicago, Dec. 29 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Byron and his staff went briskly about the business of operating Montgomery Ward & Co. properties in seven cities in the name of the Government today.

Sewell Avery, Ward's board chairman, was in the headquarters building today, his secretary said, but reporters said they did not see him enter his private office or meet General Byron.

As action continued on the Federal court front, Judge Philip L. Sullivan set January 8 for a hearing on a Government petition for a declaratory judgment establishing legality of the seizure and the executive authority under which it was made, and for an injunction to restrain Ward's officials from interference, should any develop, with the Army men in command.

The court told Hugh B. Cox, assistant to the Solicitor General, if interference arose before January 8 the Government could ask for an immediate temporary injunction. Cox told the court he had not yet heard of any interference.

Meets Union Officials

General Byron's labor relations officer, Lieut. Col. Daniel L. Boland, conferred with officials of the CIO United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employés. Colonel Boland and Lieut. Col. Paul Hebert, legal adviser, requested H. L. Pearson, Ward vice president and treasurer, to turn over certain books and records to the Army.

Pearson told them he would discuss their request with Avery, who had declared the seizure unconstitutional and could not be accepted or obeyed by Ward's.

The company's treasurer later informed the army officers that Avery had not returned to the plant as expected this afternoon and that a decision on their request probably would not be announced until Tuesday.

Labor Contract Sought

Colonel Boland conferred with Samuel Wolchok, international president of the union; Leonard Levy, executive vice president, and Henry B. Anderson, president of the Chicago local.

Wolchok said the union's main objective now was to learn what the Army planned to do about a labor contract. He said the union was ready to negotiate either with Army officers or company officials "as long as we get a contract in black and white."

The seizure of company facilities in Chicago, Detroit, St. Paul, Denver, Jamaica, N.Y.; Portland, Ore., and San Rafael, Cal., resulted from Ward's refusal to comply with War Labor Board directives granting union employés maintenance of union membership, the principal issue, and wage increases.

Highest Court May Get Case

Attorney General Francis Biddle said in Washington he expected the case to reach the United States Supreme Court eventually, no matter which side won in the lower courts. Biddle said he was confident the Government would be successful and that the seizure had congressional backing.

In the first seizure of Ward's Chicago properties last April there was no court determination of the issues. Federal Judge William H. Holly granted a temporary order restraining Ward's from interfering with the Government, but the day before the judge was to make a final decision on the merits of the case the union won a collective-bargaining election and the property was returned to the company. Judge Holly ordered his already prepared decision destroyed and dismissed the case.

In court today Stuart Ball, company attorney, said, "It is not the desire of the defendants to impose any physical obstruction to the Army."

Six More Specialists Arrive

In addition to fifteen officers who took over yesterday under the presidential seizure order, General Byron brought in six more specialists from the Army Special Services Division at Washington.

Draftsmen were busy under army directions in the large board of directors' room, used for a pressroom at the moment. They apparently were preparing to install office facilities for the army men.

The presidential order provided that terms of the WLB directives which Ward's refused to follow on the ground they were only advisory and not legally enforceable should be adopted by the army operators.

"SOME OF THE BIGGEST FLAK EVER SEEN WAS SNAPPED AT OUR FORMATION OVER FRANKFURT," PORCHER SAID. "SMOKE FROM THE BURSTS HAD A DIAMETER OF NEARLY SIX FEET WHEN THEY BURST NEAR US."

SGT. MARIO CRUZ, OF PUEBLO, COLO., DESCRIBED THE BOMBING OF ONE OF THE ROAD AND RAIL JUNCTIONS NEAR MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT'S BREAKTHROUGH.

"AS WE APPROACHED THE TARGET," HE SAID, "WE COULD SEE TRUCKS MOVING AT THE CROSSROADS AND A TRAIN ON THE RAILROAD. OUR BOMBS HIT RIGHT IN THE CENTER OF THE CROSSROADS AND ON THE TRACKS. WE TORE UP THE WHOLE SYSTEM DOWN THERE, INCLUDING WHAT WAS ON IT."

LONDON, DEC 29-(AP)-THE BATTLES OF BERLIN AND THE RUHR, THE SINKING OF THE GERMAN BATTLESHIP TIRPITZ AND THE DEFEATING OF THE FLYING BOMB ASSAULT HIGHLIGHTED RAF AERIAL WORK FOR 1944, A BRITISH YEAR-END ROUNDUP RECOUNTED TODAY.

AMERICAN AUTHORITIES SAID A SIMILAR REPORT ON THE OPERATIONS OF THE U.S. EIGHTH, NINTH AND 15TH AIR FORCES WAS BEING COMPILED.

FIVE MONTHS OF AN INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN TO PUT BERLIN ON ITS KNEES ENDED IN MARCH. THE RAF ESTIMATED THAT THE BOMBINGS COST THE GERMAN CAPITAL'S 980,000 INDUSTRIAL WORKERS A TOTAL OF 19,650,000 WORKING DAYS.

AFTER THE MAIN BATTLE OF BERLIN, THE RAF SWITCHED TO ATTACKING FRANCE'S IMPORTANT RAIL CENTERS IN PREPARATION FOR D-DAY, SMASHING 37 OF THEM WITH 46,000 TONS AND LATER CONCENTRATING 26,000 TONS ON GERMAN-HELD FRENCH PORTS.

THE FIRST BATTLE OF THE RUHR OPENED IN JUNE. BY SEPT. 10 SYNTHETIC OIL PLANTS IN THE AREA WERE REPORTED COMPLETELY OUT OF ACTION AFTER BEING SATURATED WITH 10,000 TONS OF EXPLOSIVES.

BADLY DAMAGED, THE RUHR WAS GIVEN RECONSTRUCTION PRIORITY BY THE GERMANS AND THE RAF LAUNCHED ANOTHER CAMPAIGN TO DESTROY THE GREAT INDUSTRIAL REGION. THE MAIN CITIES WERE HEAVILY BOMBED, COLOGNE GETTING MORE THAN 9,000 TONS IN FOUR DAYS. RAILWAYS AND FACTORIES WERE PRIMARY TARGETS.

THEN CAME THE TURN OF THE WATERWAYS, WHICH WERE DISRUPTED BY THE BREACHING OF THE DORTMUND, EMS AND MITTELAND CANALS, OVER WHICH ENORMOUS TRAFFIC NORMALLY WAS CARRIED.

HISTORY MAY RECORD THAT THE MOST DRAMATIC ACHIEVEMENT BY RAF BOMBERS IN 1944 WAS THE SINKING OF THE GIANT TIRPITZ BY A SMALL FORCE OF LANCASTERS.

AT A TIME WHEN DEMANDS UPON IT WERE GREATEST, THE RAF FACED A TASK OF COMBATTING THE FLYING BOMBS LAUNCHED AGAINST LONDON AND SOUTHERN ENGLAND IN JUNE. WITHOUT SLACKENING THE BOMBING PROGRAM, THE RAF DESTROYED NEARLY 2,000 FLYING BOMBS IN THE AIR IN THREE MONTHS AND WENT AFTER THE LAUNCHING SITES, ALONG WITH AMERICAN SQUADRONS.

LINKED CLOSELY WITH THE STRATEGIC BOMBING WAS THE DRIVE TO KNOCK THE GERMAN AIR FORCE FROM THE SKIES. DURING THE YEAR BRITISH FIGHTERS DESTROYED MORE THAN 700 NAZI PLANES, AT LEAST 500 OF THEM AT NIGHT.

THREE DAYS AFTER FIELD MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT LAUNCHED HIS OFFENSIVE DEC. 16 ALONG THE BELGIAN-LUXEMBOURG FRONTIER, THE U. S. THIRD ARMY COMMANDER WAS HANDED THE JOB OF STEMMING THE ENEMY DRIVE.

THE RESTLESS, PISTOL PACKIN' GENERAL WENT INTO ACTION AT ONCE. IN RECORD TIME HIS MEN AND ARMOR WERE ROLLING IN A SWELLING TIDE TOWARD THE CRITICAL FRONT.

ONE OF HIS OBJECTIVES WAS TO RELIEVE THE BESIEGED GARRISON HERE IN THIS STRATEGIC ROAD HUB. HE DID. DEC 30 1944

BASTOGNE NOW IS A SHAMBLES, BUT IT STILL IS FIRMLY IN AMERICAN HANDS.

HIS HARD-HITTING MEN AND ARMOR ADVANCED UP TO 16 MILES IN SIX DAYS ALONG AN EAST-TO-WEST FRONT EXTENDING FROM THE LUXEMBOURG-GERMAN BORDER TO WEST OF BASTOGNE.

THEY LIFTED A THREAT TO THE CITY OF LUXEMBOURG BY POUNDING THE GERMANS BACK TWO TO 14 MILES AFTER THEY HAD SPEARED WITHIN 13

MILES OF THE DUCHY'S CAPITAL.

THEY REACHED BASTOGNE THROUGH A CORRIDOR THAT NARROWED TO ONLY ONE MILE AS IT ENTERED THE TOWN, BUT WIDENED AT ITS BASE TO THREE MILES.

THE TASK OF COUNTERING VON RUNDSTEDT WAS A READY-MADE ONE FOR PATTON, AN OLD CAVALRY HAND WHO NOW IS CONSIDERED THE WORLD'S FOREMOST TANK EXPERT.

MEETING THE GERMAN CHALLENGE REQUIRED A SPEEDY SHUFFLING OF TROOPS. PATTON ACCOMPLISHED THIS SWIFTLY AND EXPERTLY.

IN BASTOGNE, BULLDOZERS HAD TO CLEAR THE STREETS. LITTER SQUADS LIFTED THE DEAD FROM THE RUINS.

VON RUNDSTEDT THREW ALL HE COULD AGAINST BASTOGNE BUT HE FAILED.

TODAY THERE WERE SOME 200 DESTROYED GERMAN TANKS LYING IN AND ABOUT THE TOWN, HUNDREDS OF DEAD AND MORE HUNDREDS OF GERMAN PRISONERS IN CAGES.

DEC 30 1944

VON RUNDSTEDT DEFINITELY HAS LOST THE FIRST ROUND OF WHAT MAY WELL BE THE WAR'S DECISIVE BATTLE. HE LOST IT TO AMERICAN FIGHTING MEN WHO DID NOT KNOW WHAT IT WAS TO SURRENDER, MEN WHO FOUGHT ON RATIONED AMMUNITION AND SCANT FOOD UNTIL PATTON'S THIRD ARMY BROKE THE RING ABOUT BASTOGNE WITH SPECTACULAR AID FROM OUR AIR FORCES.

(A BERLIN BROADCAST SAID THE HOLDOUT GARRISON CONSISTED OF THE 101ST AIRBORNE, THE TENTH ARMORED AND THE "LAST REMNANTS" OF THE 28TH INFANTRY DIVISION.)

TO NAME THE HEROES OF BASTOGNE WOULD BE TO CALL THE ENTIRE ROLL OF OFFICERS AND MEN WHO STOOD OFF THE GERMANS. IN FACING AND SQUARING THIS FIRST SERIOUS AMERICAN REVERSE SINCE BATAAN THEY WERE ALL HEROES.

MEN LIKE SGT. RICHARD DEASTER OF OSHKOSH, WIS., WHO KNOCKED OUT SEVEN GERMAN TANKS OF 31 DESTROYED IN ONE BATTLE. DEASTER BAGGED EACH OF HIS VICTIMS WITH ONE SHOT EXCEPT THE LAST. THAT TOOK TWO.

SGT. SABIN LANDRY OF BATON ROUGE, LA., PICKED OFF FOUR GERMAN TANKS IN 15 MINUTES. AT THE TIME HE HIMSELF WAS UNDER THE HEAVIEST KIND OF ENEMY FIRE.

"MOST OF THE TIME WE WERE SURROUNDED, MY OUTFIT LIVED ON K-RATION CRACKERS AND COFFEE," SAID SGT. GILBERT OKEN, OF 627 JEFFERSON ST., WASHINGTON, D.C. "WE WERE THINKING MORE ABOUT AMMUNITION THAN EATING."

CONCERN ON THIS SCORE WAS JUSTIFIED. ON THE AFTERNOON OF DEC. 24--BEFORE SUPPLIES HAD BEEN PARACHUTED TO SOME POCKETS--SEVERAL UNITS HAD ONLY 25 ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION FOR EACH OF THEIR ARTILLERY GUNS. THIS IS LESS THAN ENOUGH FOR A SUSTAINED TEN-MINUTE BARRAGE. THE GASOLINE RESERVE HAD FALLEN TO 350 GALLONS BEFORE BEING REPLENISHED.

HOTTON, BELGIUM, DEC 28-(DELAYED)-(AP)-THERE ARE A FEW ACRES OF PASTURELAND JUST BEHIND THE PEASANT HOUSES IN THE TINY HAMLET A MILE OR SO SOUTH OF HERE WHICH BEAR,STRIKING EVIDENCE OF WHAT AMERICAN GI'S WITH BAZOOKAS AND MINES CAN DO AGAINST SOME OF THE BEST ARMOR THE WEHRMACHT HAS TO OFFER.

SCATTERED OVER THESE ACRES ARE SOME 17 PIECES OF NAZI MOTORIZED FIGHTING EQUIPMENT, FROM MARK IV TANKS TO HALF-TRACKED MOTORCYCLES. THEY REPRESENT ONE CHUNK BITTEN OUT OF A WEHRMACHT PAN ER DIVISION WHICH, WITH NEIGHBORING OUTFITS, WAS CHEWED UP SO BADLY IN THE LAST FEW DAYS THAT ONE OF THEM MAY ALREADY BE IN A CROSS-COUNTRY WITHDRAWAL.

LT.JACK GENESER, WHOSE WIFE LIVES IN GRAPEVINE, TEXAS, TOOK US DOWN TO SHOW US WHAT TWO COMPANIES OF AMERICAN INFANTRY FROM A BATTALION COMMANDED BY LT.COL.WILLIAM BARRETT, TUSACLOOSA, ALA., HAD DONE YESTERDAY MORNING IN HALTING THE ENEMY COUNTERATTACK.

LT.CHARLES WIARD, 837 HUDSON ST., COLUMBUS, OHIO, TOOK US OVER THE SCENE OF SMALLSCALE SLAUGHTER, WHICH NETTED FIVE OFFICERS AND 60 GERMAN PRISONERS.

THE NAZI TANKS AND HALFTRACKS HAD BEEN SENT TO ATTEMPT TO BREAK-THROUGH OUR LINES SOUTH AND SOMEWHAT WEST OF HOTTON--AN IMPORTANT ROAD JUNCTION NOW FIRMLY IN OUR HANDS--BUT BEGAN FOULING UP IN SHORT ORDER WHEN THE LEAD TANK HIT A MINEFIELD ON THE NARROW COUNTRY ROAD THEY WERE USING.

AS THE ENEMY FANNED OUT THE AMERICAN BAZOOKA BOYS PICKED OFF TWO MORE TANKS, WHILE A FOURTH WAS KNOCKED OUT BY MINES. THAT THOROUGHLY BLUNTED THE GERMAN SPEARHEAD, AND AS THE AMERICANS BEGAN GETTING THEIR BEARINGS ON THE HALFTRACKS THE GERMANS PILED OUT.

THOSE WHO WEREN'T CHOPPED DOWN BY MACHINEGUN FIRE AND SMALL ARMS WERE ROUNDED UP AND SENT BACK TO A PRISONER CAGE.

ABOUT THREE COMPANIES OF GERMAN INFANTRY WITH EIGHT PANTHER AND TIGER TANKS WERE SURROUNDED BY OUR FORCES IN A SMALL WOODS WEST OF HERE. THEY WERE SUBJECTED TO A TERRIFIC ARTILLERY BOMBARDMENT WHICH KILLED OR WOUNDED ABOUT 80 OR 90 PER CENT OF THE FORCE.

INFANTRYMEN FROM A BATTALION COMMANDED BY LT.COL.NORMAN CARNES, XENIA, OHIO, CLEANED OUT THE REMAINDER.

KK433AEW

IN THE HOTTON SECTOR, BELGIUM, DEC.28-(11:55 P.M.--6:55PEW)-(AP)-THE GERMANS IN THE SECTOR EAST OF HERE AS WELL AS WESTWARD TOWARD THE MEUSE NOW ARE DEFINITELY ON THE DEFENSIVE AND APPEAR TO BE PULLING BACK THE FORWARD ELEMENTS OF THEIR BREAKTHROUGH FORCES.

IN THIS AREA ALONE YESTERDAY THEY LOST 119 TRUCKS, 10 TANKS AND 12 ARTILLERY PIECES. A SINGLE AMERICAN ARMORED DIVISION ACCOUNTED FOR ALL THE TANKS AND TOOK 500 PRISONERS.

WHILE FROM WEST OF MARCHE THE ENEMY HAS BEEN WITHDRAWING STEADILY, TAKING ONLY WHAT CAN BE CARRIED AFOOT, HIS TROOPS EAST OF THE TOWN HAVE BEEN BUILDING DEFENSIVE POSITIONS WHICH WERE ENCOUNTERED BY OUR PATROLS.

THE GERMAN MANEUVERS APPARENTLY ARE DICTATED BY THE FACT THAT THEY FAILED TO CAPTURE THE KEY ROAD CENTERS OF MARCHE, HOTTON AND GRAND MENIL IN THE FACE OF DETERMINED RESISTANCE BY AMERICAN ARMOR, INFANTRY AND ARTILLERY.

IN THE HOTTEN SECTOR OF BELGIUM, DEC. 28-(DELAYED)-(AP)-THE SITUATION ALONG THE AMERICAN LINES FACING THIS WESTERN END OF THE NORTH FLANK OF GERMAN PENETRATION WAS SO FLUID UNTIL STABILIZED IN THE LAST TWO DAYS THAT ONE AMERICAN DIVISION "LOST" A BATTALION FOR 48 HOURS.

THE OUTFITS RETURN TO THE FOLD, WITH VIRTUALLY NO CASUALTIES, WAS ENGINEERED LARGELY BY LT. BILLY SLOAN OF LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS, RECONNAISSANCE PLATOON LEADER. AFTER LIAISON PARTIES HAD BEEN SENT OUT AND GOT BADLY MIXED UP WITH TANKS AND ARMORED VEHICLES OF ONE OF THE BEST NAZI PANZER DIVISIONS, HE VOLUNTEERED TO GO ON THE MISSION ALONE.

IT WAS DECIDED THAT SLOANE SHOULD TAKE A STRONG RADIO SET IN ORDER TO ESTABLISH CONTACT WITH THE DIVISION AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. SO HE SETTLED FOR A DETAIL OF TWO MEN WITH A WEAPONS CARRIER AS THEIR VEHICLE.

SETTING OUT AT NIGHT IN FULL AWARENESS HE MIGHT STRIKE A STRONG ENEMY FORCE AT MOST ANY POINT (HIS ARGUMENT FOR TAKING TWO MEN INSTEAD OF 50 WAS THAT IT WOULD SAVE LIVES IF HE DID RUN INTO ANYTHING), SLOAN SWUNG WEST OVER THE BANKS OF THE MEUSE AND THEN CUT BACK IN A SOUTHEASTERLY DIRECTION AND RAN SMACK INTO THE BATTALION.

THE DOUGHBOYS, COMMANDED BY LT. COL. NORMAN CARNES, XENIA, OHIO, WEREN'T IN BAD SHAPE EXCEPT FOR A SHORTAGE OF GASOLINE AND RATIONS. IN FACT, THEY WERE HOLDING WHAT COULD BE CALLED AN ISLAND OF ISOLATION IN THE MIDST OF FORAGING ENEMY COLUMNS. ALTHOUGH THEY HAD PATROLS FANNING OUT IN ALL DIRECTIONS WHEN SLOAN REACHED THEM, THEY STILL HAD NOT MADE ANY MAJOR CONTACT WITH THE GERMANS.

ONCE SLOAN HAD GOTTEN THROUGH, THE DIVISION WAS ABLE TO USE THE SAME ROUTE AND SEND A CONVOY OF TRUCKS WITH GASOLINE AND FOOD. THE BATTALION THEN GOT ITSELF TOGETHER AND BY MAKING A LONG END RUN WHICH BACKTRACKED THE ROADS SLOAN HAD TAKEN, WORKED ITS WAY BACK TO THE DIVISION.

THE BATTALION NOW IS IN LINE IN THE SECTOR BETWEEN HOTTON AND MARCHE. SLOAN WAS SOMEWHERE OUT IN THE FIELD AGAIN WHEN I VISITED HIS REGIMENTAL COMMAND POST THIS AFTERNOON. HE WAS DECORATED WITH THE SILVER STAR FOR EXPLOITS IN FIGHTING EARLIER IN THE CAMPAIGN.

IN THE HOTTON SECTOR, BELGIUM, DEC. 28-(DELAYED)-(AP)-THIS IS WHAT IS MEANT BY "A FLUID FRONT," ON WHICH THE ENEMY USES ALLIED EQUIPMENT AND WEARS ALLIED UNIFORMS IN ATTEMPTS AT DECEPTION:

LT.DAVIS SMITH OF BOSTON, MASS., WAS ON A SCOUTING MISSION WITH TWO JEEPS AND SEVEN MEN, AND FOR AN ENTIRE DAY AND NIGHT WAS IN AND OUT OF ENEMY LINES. HE NEVER COULD BE QUITE SURE WHERE HE WAS.

AT ONE POINT HE RODE INTO A LITTLE CROSSROADS HAMLET AND, SWINGING AROUND A CORNER, SAW A GERMAN TANK AND HALF-TRACK. THE AMERICANS WERE GOING NO MORE THAN 15 MILES AN HOUR. THE DRIVER TURNED TO SMITH AND ASKED: "WHAT'LL I DO NOW, SIR?"

SMITH TOLD HIM TO KEEP GOING AT THE SAME PACE. THE GERMANS IN THE HALF-TRACK, SOME OF WHOM WERE IN AMERICAN UNIFORMS, WAVED AT THE SMALL PARTY AND THE TANK CREW OPENED THE HATCH AND BEGAN CLIMBING OUT, WITHOUT PAYING ANY ATTENTION TO THE AMERICANS.

ON THE FIRST SIDE ROAD THEY CAME TO, SMITH TOLD HIS DRIVER TO TURN OFF. A FEW MOMENTS LATER HE DISCOVERED THAT THE USE OF THE BACK LANES SIMPLY HAD LED HIM BACK INTO THE VILLAGE FROM A DIFFERENT DIRECTION.

THE TWO NAZI VEHICLES WERE STILL THERE, AS WELL AS AN ADDITIONAL VOLKSWAGEN. FARTHER DOWN THE STREET WERE TWO GERMANS IN AN AMERICAN JEEP.

THE MEN IN THE NAZI HALF-TRACK, TANK AND VOLKSWAGEN AGAIN JUST NODDED CASUALLY. BUT THE TWO IN THE JEEP, PERHAPS KNOWING THAT NO OTHER AMERICAN VEHICLES WERE BEING USED BY THE GERMANS IN THE AREA, JUMPED OUT OF THEIR CAR AND DODGED INTO A HOUSE.

SMITH AND HIS MEN PROMPTLY OPENED UP WITH RIFLES AND CARBINES ON ALL VISIBLE GERMANS. AT THE SAME TIME THE JEEP DRIVER BORE DOWN ON THE THROTTLE. THEY FIGURE THEY MUST HAVE CAUSED SOME CASUALTIES, BUT THEY CAME OUT UNSCRATCHED.

PRECEDE PARIS DIVISIONS

BY HAL BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM, DEC 29-(AP)-A NEW AMERICAN HONOR ROLL WAS UNVEILED TONIGHT, NAMING THREE FIGHTING DIVISIONS WHICH HALTED THE GERMANS' MIGHTY OFFENSIVE IN SOME OF THE BLOODIEST BATTLES OF THE WAR.

THE FIRST OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE UNITS WHICH BORE THE BRUNT OF SOME OF THE HEAVIEST FIGHTING NAMED THESE DIVISIONS:

THE IMMORTAL FIRST INFANTRY, BROOKLYN AND THE NATION'S PRIDE IN TWO WORLD WARS; THE VETERAN 82ND AIRBORNE WHOSE COCKY LADS GAVE THEIR LIVES HALTING PANTHER TANKS WITH BAZOOKAS, AND THE SEVENTH ARMORED HEROES OF THE HOLLAND CAMPAIGN.

OTHER UNITS WHICH HELPED TO BREAK UP ADOLF HITLER'S "WIN THE WAR" DRIVE WILL BE ANNOUNCED AS SOON AS MILITARY SECURITY PERMITS -- AND THERE ARE OTHERS WHO PERFORMED AS GLORIOUSLY.

LIFTING OF CENSORSHIP ALSO PERMITTED DISCLOSURE THAT TWO OF GERMANY'S CRACK ARMORED DIVISIONS--THE FIRST SS ADOLF HITLER PANZER AND THE TWELFTH SS PANZER--WERE BADLY MAULED IN THE FIRST 12 DAYS OF THE OFFENSIVE.

THE PROUD TWELFTH, BLACK-CLAD AND SPORTING A SKULL AND BONES INSIGNIA, ATTACKED NEAR MONSCHAU ON THE "HOT CORNER" AND EXPECTED TO BREAK THROUGH WHAT WAS REGARDED AS THINLY-HELD LINES ON THE SHORTEST ROAD TO LIEGE AND THE MEUSE.

INSTEAD THEY RAN HEAD ON INTO THE MOST EXPERT TANK FIGHTING DOUGHBOYS IN THE AMERICAN ARMY--THE FIRST INFANTRY DIVISION.

THESE VETERANS OF VICTORIES OVER THE GERMAN PANZERS IN AFRICA, SICILY AND NORMANDY WERE THROWN INTO LINE FROM A REST AREA AND EASILY HURLED BACK THE ENEMY ARMOR.

AGAIN AND AGAIN THE TWELFTH PANZERS ATTACKED IN STRENGTH. EACH TIME THEY WERE STOPPED COLD IN PROGRESSIVELY BLOODIER FIGHTING.

FINALLY, THEY WITHDREW TO EXPLORE A ROUTE TO LIEGE THE LONG WAY AROUND, WITH NOT A DENT SHOWING IN THE FIRST INFANTRY'S FRONT.

"THE FIRST INFANTRY WITHSTOOD SOME OF THE HEAVIEST FIGHTING OF THE ENTIRE OFFENSIVE," SAID ONE OFFICER. "ANY GROUND THEY LOST THEY IMMEDIATELY RETOOK. THEY DID A NOBLE JOB OF HOLDING DANGEROUS ARMY."

DEC 30 1944

IN GRINDING BATTLES IN AND AROUND THIS POCKET, THE FUEHRER'S FAVORITE DIVISION--THE FIRST SS ADOLF HITLER PANZERS--WAS CUT TO HALF OF ITS PERSONNEL STRENGTH AND SO BADLY CHEWED UP IT NO LONGER WAS EFFECTIVE AS A FIGHTING UNIT.

OUR PARATROOPERS--VETERANS OF COMBAT JUMPS IN SICILY, ITALY, NORMANDY AND HOLLAND--ARRIVED WITH ONLY THREE DAYS' RATIONS. FIGHTING AS USUAL WITH ONLY NOMINAL ARTILLERY SUPPORT, THEY ATTACKED AT NIGHT, WIPING OUT GERMAN ARMORED SPEARHEADS WITH BAZOOKAS AND HAND GRENADES IN SAVAGE, CLOSE-RANGE BATTLES.

THE FIRST SS PANZERS WERE FOES TO THEIR LIKING--TOUGH, ROUGH AND DIEHARD--AND AND PRISONERS WERE TAKEN. THE PARATROOPERS WERE LED BY 37-YEAR-OLD MAJ.GEN.JAMES "SLIM JIM" GAVIN, OF MOUNT CARMEL, PA., WHO ROVED ALONG FRONT LINES WITH A CARBINE IN HIS HANDS LIKE ANY OF HIS MEN.

AT ST.VITH, THE SEVENTH ARMORED DIVISION MADE ONE OF THE FINEST DEFENSIVE STANDS OF ANY AMERICAN FORMATION--HOLDING THAT VITAL ROAD NET FOR DAYS AGAINST WAVE AFTER WAVE OF ENEMY ARMOR AND INFANTRY WHILE, TO THE WEST, THE MAIN AMERICAN DEFENSE LINE WAS FORMING.

HAD VON RUNDSTEDT BEEN ABLE TO SEIZE ST.VITH IN THE FIRST TWO DAYS OF HIS DRIVE, IT IS A MATTER OF CONJECTURE WHERE HIS PANZERS COULD HAVE BEEN SLOWED. WHEN THE SEVENTH FINALLY WITHDREW UNDER OVERWHELMING PRESSURE, IT TOOK UP NEW POSITIONS WITH THE 82ND PARATROOPS AND FOUGHT ON, INFLICTING HEAVY CASUALTIES ON ENEMY PERSONNEL AND EQUIPMENT.

DEC 30 1944

THE SEVENTH ARMORED HAD SPLIT THE GERMAN WEDGE IN TWO BY ITS ST. VITH STAND AND HELPED TO CHEW UP THE PIECES. IT HAD HELD ST.VITH THREE DAYS LONGER THAN ORIGINALLY ORDERED TO AND BEAT BACK FIVE GERMAN DIVISIONS AND ELEMENTS OF A SIXTH.

THE SEVENTH WENT INTO COMBAT IN FRANCE LAST AUGUST. IT TOOK CHARTRES, MELUN, CHATEAU THIERRY, REIMS AND VERDUN--THE LAST FOUR TOWNS IN AS MANY DAYS. IT ALSO HELD DOWN THE BRITISH RIGHT FLANK DURING THE CRITICAL BATTLE OF ARNHEM.

FOR THE LAST TWO MONTHS, THE DIVISION HAS BEEN COMMANDED BY AN ARTILLERYMAN, BRIG.GEN.ROBERT W.HASBROUCK, A NEW YORKER AND FORMER DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF OF LT.GEN.OMAR BRADLEY'S TWELFTH ARMY GROUP.

THE FIRST INFANTRY DIVISION WAS CREDITED WITH KNOCKING OUT AT LEAST 43 TANKS AROUND BULLINGEN, KILLING 600 TO 700 GERMANS AND CAPTURING 90 PRISONERS. ITS 26TH INFANTRY REGIMENT, WHICH SPEARHEADED THE DEFENSE, DUPLICATED THE HISTORIC STAND IT MADE 27 MONTHS BEFORE AT EL GUETTAR, TUNISIA--WHERE THE GERMANS ALSO HAD FAILED TO BREAK THROUGH ITS LINE.

GAVIN'S SKYTROOPS ALSO KILLED SOME 700 OF THE ENEMY, CAPTURED 200 AND DESTROYED MORE THAN 20 TANKS AND ARMORED VEHICLES.

WITH U.S. FORCES, DEC 28-(DELAYED BY CENSOR)-PARACHUTE TROOPS OF THE 82ND AIRBORNE DIVISION, THROWN INTO LINE AS ELITE INFANTRY, NEEDED ONLY AN HOUR TO CAPTURE MANHAY IN SOUTHEASTERN BELGIUM EARLY WEDNESDAY.

THEY CLEANED OUT THE VILLAGE OF 15 HOUSES FROM 2:30 TO 3:30 A.M.

DESPITE ITS WANT OF SIZE, THE VILLAGE CONTROLLED FIVE ROADS WHICH THE GERMANS NEEDED TO EXPAND THEIR WESTERN BULGE TO THE NORTH.

THE GERMANS RETIRED TO WOODED HILLS EAST OF MANHAY AND THERE SHOWED HOW BADLY THEY WANTED THE TOWN. THEY KEPT THREE TANKS FIRING DOWN THE MAIN STREET WHILE MACHINEGUNS WORKED THE SIDE STREETS.

DOUGHBOYS COMMANDED BY LT.COL. FOREST PAXTON, SAN FRANCISCO, WERE WORKING AMONG THE SHELL-TORN RUINS THIS AFTERNOON. PAXTON DECLARED:

"OUR GENERAL TOLD ME WE HAD TO HAVE THIS TOWN. IN ITS ACTUAL CAPTURE OUR ONLY CASUALTIES FROM GERMAN FIRE WERE TWO MEN WOUNDED BY SNIPERS. BUT YESTERDAY AFTERNOON GERMAN TANKS FIRING STRAIGHT DOWN THIS STREET KILLED TWO OF MY MEN."

HE SAID THERE WERE REPORTS THE GERMANS HAD INTENDED TO LAUNCH A MAJOR ATTACK FROM MANHAY THIS AFTERNOON, BUT HIS TROOPERS BEAT THEM TO THE PUNCH.

EXCELLENT ARTILLERY PREPARATION MADE PAXTON'S JOB A GREAT DEAL EASIER AND LEFT THE TOWN IN DUSTY RUINS.

DENSE FOG LAY OVER THE VILLAGE THIS AFTERNOON AND SOLDIERS STEPPING THROUGH THE FROSTY RUBBLE WERE FORAGING FOR FOOD.

THEY HAD SKINNED A PIG AND HUNG IT ON A LIMB. NOW THEY WERE STALKING CHICKENS. A COW WAS BEING WELL FED AND THEY WERE DECIDING WO SHOULD MILK HER.

WITH U.S. THIRD ARMY IN LUXEMBOURG, DEC. 29-(AP)-FROM A BALCONY SEAT 1,500 FEET ABOVE THE SNOWY LUXEMBOURG HILLS I SAW TODAY ONE REASON WHY AMERICAN FOOTSLOGGERS ARE DIGGING STEADILY INTO THE GERMAN FLANK DESPITE TERRAIN WHICH IS ALMOST IDEAL FOR DEFENSE.

FROM A PIPER CUB I WATCHED FIVE THUNDERBOLTS TEAR ASIDE AN OBSTACLE WHICH HAD BEEN HOLDING AN INFANTRY UNIT AWAY FROM A TOWN FOR HOURS.

WITH A DUG-IN TANK AS A DEFENSIVE CORE A SMALL GROUP OF GERMANS DOMINATED A CROSS ROADS IN LUXEMBOURG EAST OF BASTOGNE. THROUGH THIS CROSS ROADS THE AMERICANS WERE TRYING TO MOVE.

A FEW MINUTES BEFORE I WENT UP FROM A SNOW-COVERED FROZEN PLOWED FIELD IN THE LITTLE PLANE PILOTED BY LT.RAYMOND (RED) JOHNSON OF HILL CITY, S.D., THE AIR FORCE HAD BEEN CALLED IN AND, AS WE WHIPPED ALONG ABOUT 700 YARDS FROM THE CROSS ROADS, ONE OF THE FIRST BOMBS SLAMMED DOWN--AND ROCKED THE CUB BRISKLY WITH ITS CONCUSSION.

FOR THE NEXT 30 MINUTES WE WERE TREATED TO THE TEXTBOOK EXAMPLE OF FIGHTER-BOMBER TECHNIQUE AS THUNDERBOLTS CHASED EACH OTHER AROUND, PLOPPING BOMBS IN FROM SEVERAL ANGLES OUT OF THE BRIGHT AFTERNOON SUN AND LACING THE TANK AND THREE BUILDINGS WITH EIGHT .50 CALIBER MACHINEGUNS ON EACH RUN.

AFTER THE FIRST FEW MINUTES, ONE BUILDING WAS TORN UP AND THE EARTH ALL AROUND THE TANK WAS CHURNED AND SMOKING AND THERE WAS NO FLICKER OF GUNFIRE OR LIFE IN THAT 100-YARD SQUARE SAMPLE OF HELL.

NEAR THE END OF THIS INFERO, ONE BOMB PLOPPED RIGHT ON THE SPOT WHERE JOHNSON HAD POINTED OUT THE TANK TO ME. LONG BEFORE THAT BLAST SHOOK US, WE COULD SEE WHAT APPEARED TO BE A GREAT SLAB OF STEEL FLYING 50 YARDS OR MORE THROUGH THE AIR. TO THIS UNTRAINED EYE, IT APPEARED THAT THE REMAINDER OF THE BOMBS WERENNOT NEEDED AS FAR AS THE TANK WAS CONCERNED.

WASHINGTON, DEC. 29-(AP)-PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT REFUSED TODAY TO SIGN A BILL ABOLISHING THE 222,000-ACRE JACKSON HOLE MONUMENT IN WYOMING WHICH HE CREATED BY EXECUTIVE ORDER LAST MARCH.

DISAPPOINTED WYOMING LEGISLATORS PROMPTLY PROMISED TO RENEW WHEN CONGRESS CONVENES THEIR BATTLE AGAINST THE MONUMENT. "THE FIGHT HAS JUST BEGUN," DECLARED REP. BARRETT R-WYO), AUTHOR OF THE BILL WHICH THE PRESIDENT GAVE A POCKET VETO.

SENATOR O'MAHONEY (D-WYO) SAID HE PROBABLY WOULD REINTRODUCE A BILL DESIGNED TO PREVENT THE SETTING ASIDE OF LARGE ACREAGES AS NATIONAL MONUMENTS BY PRESIDENTIAL ORDER.

IN A MEMORANDUM OF DISAPPROVAL EXPLAINING HIS POCKET VETO, MR.ROOSEVELT DISAGREED WITH THE CONTENTION OF MONUMENT OPPONENTS THAT HE LACKED AUTHORITY TO ESTABLISH THE SCENIC RESERVE ADJOINING THE 98,000 ACRE GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK.

HOWEVER, HE RECOGNIZED THE PROBLEMS RAISED BY STATE AUTHORITIES WHO CLAIMED THE MONUMENT MEANT LOSS OF LOCAL TAX REVENUES, AND BY PRIVATE LANDOWNERS WITHIN THE RESERVATION WHO FEARED LOSS OF GRAZING AND OTHER PRIVILEGES.

HE SUGGESTED THAT CONGRESS ENACT NEW LEGISLATION TO PERMIT THE USE OF FEDERAL REVENUES FROM THE NATIONAL PARK AND MONUMENT SYSTEM TO OFFSET ANY LOSS OF TAXES DUE TO FEDERAL ACQUISITION OF PRIVATE LANDS WITHIN THE AREA.

HE ALSO FAVORED INCORPORATION INTO LAW OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE POLICY STATEMENT ISSUED BY INTERIOR SECRETARY ICKES SOON AFTER THE MONUMENT WAS CREATED WHICH PROVIDES:

1. CONTINUANCE OF ALL FEDERAL PERMITS FOR USE OF LANDS WITHIN THE RESERVE DURING THE LIFETIME OF THE PRESENT HOLDERS AND MEMBERS OF THEIR IMMEDIATE FAMILIES.

2. RECOGNITION OF EXISTING GRAZING AND STOCK DRIVEWAY PRIVILEGES PERMITTING CATTLEMEN, AMONG OTHER THINGS, TO DRIVE THEIR STOCK ACROSS MONUMENT LANDS BETWEEN THEIR RANCHES AND SUMMER RANGES.

THE LONG CONTROVERSY OVER JACKSON HOLE FIGURED IN THE RECENT PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN. THE PRESIDENTS OPPONENTS CHARGED THAT HE USURPED AUTHORITY TO SET UP THE MONUMENT AGAINST THE WISHES OF WYOMING AUTHORITIES AND CITIZENS.

TAKING ISSUE WITH THIS TODAY, THE PRESIDENT SAID HE ACTED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE ANTIQUITIES ACT OF 1906 AS HAD MANY OF HIS PREDECESSORS, BEGINNING WITH THEODORE ROOSEVELT, IN SETTING UP 82 SUCH MONUMENTS OVER THE COUNTRY.

"IN THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE JACKSON HOLE MONUMENT," HE SAID, "CONSIDERATION WAS GIVEN TO THE INTERESTS OF THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES AS A WHOLE IN ORDER THAT THE AREA MIGHT BE PRESERVED AND MADE AVAILABLE TO OUR CITIZENS FOR THE REALIZATION OF ITS HIGHEST VALUES, INCLUDING ITS SCENERY, ITS SCIENTIFIC INTERESTS, ITS WILDLIFE AND ITS HISTORY."

CHAIRMAN PETERSON D-FLA), OF THE HOUSE PUBLIC LANDS COMMITTEE SAID HE WELCOMED THE PRESIDENT'S ACTION BECAUSE IT CLEARED THE WAY FOR HIS BILL WHICH WOULD ATTEMPT TO OVERCOME ALL OBJECTIONS TO THE MONUMENT.

INTRODUCED IN THE 78TH CONGRESS BUT NEVER ACTED UPON, THE PETERSON BILL WOULD REDUCE THE BOUNDARIES OF THE RESERVE, PROVIDE COMPENSATION TO TETON COUNTY FOR TAXES LOST ON THE PRIVATE LANDS INCLUDED, SAFEGUARD THE GRAZING RIGHTS OF THE STOCK GROWERS WITHIN THE PARK AND THE PRIVILEGE OF "DRIFTING" CATTLE FROM ONE SIDE OF THE PARK TO THE OTHER.

THE MONUMENT CONTAINS ABOUT 170,000 ACRES CONTROLLED BY THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, IN FOREST AND GRAZING DISTRICTS; 32,000 ACRES BELONGING TO JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, 4., AND OFFERED TO THE GOVERNMENT FOR PARK PURPOSES; LESS THAN 18,000 ACRES OF PRIVATELY OWNED RANCH PROPERTIES AND 1,400 ACRES BELONGING TO THE STATE.

REFERRING TO THE OWNERS OF PRIVATE LAND WITHIN THE MONUMENT AREA, O'MAHONEY SAID IN A LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT URGING APPROVAL OF THE BILL: "THESE SETTLERS ENTERED JACKSON HOLE LAWFULLY AND AT THE INVITATION OF THE GOVERNMENT. X X X NOW THEY ARE CONFRONTED BY THE ALLIANCE OF A WEALTHY PHILANTHROPIST AND THEIR OWN GOVERNMENT TO COMPEL THEM IN EFFECT TO LEAVE THEIR OWN HOMES. X X X

"THE FOUR FREEDOMS, THE STANDARD OF WHICH YOU HAVE SO ELOQUENTLY RAISED BEFORE ALL NATIONS AND PEOPLES, ARE HUMAN FREEDOMS. X X X IT IS A CARDINAL PRINCIPLE OF AMERICAN FAITH THAT THE INDIVIDUAL HAS RIGHTS WHICH THE GOVERNMENT ITSELF CANNOT PROPERLY UNDERMINE.

GERMANS COUNTER-ATTACK BASTOGNE CORRIDOR AS PATTON BITES DEEPER INTO SOUTHERN FLANK; GREEK KING ACCEPTS ARCHBISHOP AS REGENT

PATTON'S TROOPS HAMMER GERMANS ON 50 MILE FRONT

Von Rundstedt Renews Attacks Against Vital American Lifeline.

YANKS ENTER MOIRCY

Hodges' First Army Smashes at Enemy's Westernmost Positions.

PARIS, Sunday, Dec. 31—(AP) Three German divisions have been hurled by Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt at both sides of the Bastogne corridor held by Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's U. S. Third army, a field dispatch reported last night, as American troops hammered heavily all along the shrinking perimeter of the German bulge.

The hard-won corridor supplying Bastogne was hit by two of Von Rundstedt's divisions from the west and by a third from the east while in Bastogne itself U. S. artillerymen poured withering shellfire into the 16-mile-wide escape gap of the Germans' hour-glass shaped front and blasted areas where the Germans have been gathering for new thrusts.

Nazis Renew Attacks

The renewed attacks—breaking a four-day lull — came as Lt. Gen George S. Patton's hard-driving forces broadened their front along the south of the German bulge to nearly 50 miles, struck west of Bastogne, sheared supply roads and threatened to cut off enemy armor thrust to within 23 miles of Sedan at Libramont.

American counterblows had rewon nearly one-third of the territory overrun in the Germans' surprise counteroffensive, badly narrowing the maneuvering ground for Von Rundstedt's three armies. Progress of the new battle was not at once disclosed, nor was the time at which it broke.

Previously, Supreme headquarters had reported under the 36-hour security blackout that by yesterday morning one third army force drove into Moircy, 11 miles east of Bastogne and but four and a half miles southeast of St. Hubert, where another American garrison has been making a small-scale Bastogne-like stand and holding off far larger forces.

Von Rundstedt's westernmost positions were being assailed by Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' resurgent First army, which fought in the streets of Rochefort, 24 miles northwest of Bastogne, and plastered the German lines with shells.

Battle Rises in Fury

As the battle rose in fury the enemy fought back with mortars and artillery, bent on holding the town to the last.

(Brussels radio, often optimistic, said Rochefort had fallen and a violent tank battle raged near the town. This was without official confirmation.)

Patton's forces had been ripping apart the German positions on both sides of the Bastogne corridor, and Von Rundstedt threw in reinforcements in a strong bid to stop advances in this salient.

Necessity for action was multiplied by the American artillery commanding his east-west routes of supply or retreat.

In the 16 miles between Manhay on the north flank and Longchamps—three miles north of Bastogne—there are but two good highways. There are two railroads but the Germans never succeeded in clearing them.

The northern highway runs three and a half miles south of Manhay, where American gunners lie in wait.

The southern highway runs a mile and a half north of Longchamps, where Patton is steadily building up his firepower.

In between lie numerous secondary roads, and even these are hazardous.

Associated Press Correspondent William F. Boni reported that American batteries commanded all but about a mile of the sector between Manhay and Longchmaps.

The weather today favored the enemy, but limited forces of fighters and fighterbombers struck communications and supply concentrations and heavy bombers from Britain hammered at the same sort of targets.

Pilots along the 3d Army front reported destruction of thirty-two tanks, in incomplete reports, along with 135 motor transport, twelve locomotives and 154 railroad cars.

Boni was able to report that the northern front was relatively quiet today and on some sectors patrols had to press forward nearly three miles before striking even the slightest resistance. The enemy was digging in, and using tanks as impromptu pillboxes.

Yanks Drive in Moircy

The sudden appearance of Patton's far-ranging forces in Moircy spelled trouble for the Germans, who had captured Libramont and dug in there against attacks from the southwest.

Moircy is astride the best retreat route out of Libramont. Three and a half miles west is a second road which leads eight miles north from Libramont to St.Hubert. And unrestricted use of the latter is impossible with the Americans holed up in St. Hubert.

In this onslaught west of Bastogne, the Third army captured at least three villages and drove the Germans into woods a mile north of Sibret and three miles west of Bastogne.

The Americans made new gains in the Bastogne area, reaching Lavaselle and Chenogne, some four miles west of Bastogne and a little to the south. In this sector the Americans captured at least three villages and drove the Germans into woods a mile north of Sibret.

South of Bastogne, the Germans still clung to a mile or so of the important highway to Arlon, and it may have been in this sector that the new blows came from the east.

One Doughboy force had reached the highway about two miles south of Bastogne in a push from the west, and another had driven east to the edge of Lutrebois, a mile east of the highway and less than three miles southeast of Bastogne.

East of Bastogne, Patton's divisions were flushing the Germans from the hills of northern Luxembourg and had pressed to the Reich's border along a six-mile front from Echternach northwest of Bigelbach.

Resistance here, stiff the previous day crumpled by early yesterday. American patrols entered Echternach, 18 miles northeast of the city of Luxembourg, which the Germans have announced they abandoned.

Artillery fire broke up enemy tanks massing for an attack three and a half miles southeast of Echternach.

Close On Wiltz

In new gains of up to a mile, the Third army was closing to within two miles of the key point of Wiltz, 25 miles north of Luxembourg.

In the four days in which the Germans had been stalled, the American counterblows made this progress:

On a 25-mile-wide northern front from Malmedy west of Hotton, advances of two to five miles.

On an 18-mile front from Marche southwest to Beauraing, gains of 12 miles from near Celles to Rochefort, with the steel spearhead pinched off.

On a 23-mile front from Beauraing south to Libramont, gains of one to three miles.

On a 49-mile front from Moircy eastward to Rsport, gains up to 20 miles—as much as seven and a half miles west of Bastogne.

The U. S. Seventh army front remained quiet while the Germans to the south laid down heavy artillery fire in the Colmar-Mulhouse sector.

In eastern Holland, the Germans still fished for information, sending patrols across the Maas four miles southwest of Roermond, where they ran into heavy British fire and fled.

Meanwhile, more pieces of the story of American valor that tripped the well-laid German plans to split the Allied armies were being fitted together.

Lead By Gen. Clarke

It was disclosed that a Seventh armored division combat team, commanded by Brig. Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, Syracuse, N. Y., was the slender band that split the German drive by holding St. Vith, in the center of the breakthrough, for five days.

Against overwhelming odds, Clarke's combat team held out three days more than it was supposed to while waves of enemy tanks swept around and behind it. Then he was ordered to fight back to the American lines with his team and remnants of other divisions which had been overrun.

Whereupon the former University of Tennessee and Cornell university wrestling coach fought his way back with amazingly low casualties.

It also was disclosed that Texas-born Major Hugh S. Gaffey, long one of Patton's right hand staff officers, now was commanding the Fourth Armored division, which helped to lift the siege of Bastogne.

THREE DIVISIONS TRY TO PINCH OFF YANKS

Enemy's Big Bulge Is Cut by One-third—Big U. S. Guns Rake 16-Mile Gap of Main Nazi Wedge.

BULLETIN.

With United States Forces in Belgium, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—The Germans have launched a heavy new attack on the Bastogne corridor, throwing three divisions into an attempt to close that gap in their front.

Two German divisions on the west and one on the east tried to close the relief corridor to Bastogne.

On the rest of the front sporadic fighting was reported, with Field Marshal von Rundstedt not tipping his hand for the next move. There was considerable patrol activity on the American front from Lindern to Schmidt, south of Duren.

U. S. Gains 13 Miles.

Paris, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—American counter-attacks have narrowed the deep German salient into Belgium down to sixteen miles at one point and won back almost one-third of the area in Belgium and Luxembourg overrun in the Nazi winter offensive.

The blows of the American Third and First armies up to Friday morning had driven back as much as thirteen miles or more from the south and ten miles from the north. The German bulge into Belgium had been narrowed to a width averaging twenty miles.

A front dispatch said this salient had been reduced to thirteen miles wide above Bastogne by Thursday. Later developments at this potential trap thrust into the heart of the enemy salient were not disclosed under the news security screen.

Field reports earlier had reported the German corridor narrowed to thirteen miles above Bastogne, but Supreme headquarters announced this was the result of an erroneous measurement at an Army Group Headquarters, and that the distance actually was sixteen miles—itself hazardous enough to the whole German position.

Guns Rake Gap.

The sixteen-mile neck was between Grandmenil on the north and Longcharaps, nearly four miles above Bastogne. Headquarters added that this did not represent a new drive north from Bastogne by Friday since Longchamps had been held at the north end edge of the original Bastogne pocket.

A front dispatch this evening declared American infantry and armor hitting the waist of the German salient "have narrowed the distance between the north and south flanks to such an extent that our gun batteries now command all but about a mile of the enemy sector between Manhay in the north and Bastogne in the south."

The deepest German plunges westward—reaching within three miles of the Meuse—had been rolled back twelve miles, and American infantrymen had fought into the outskirts of Rochefort.

The corridor to Bastogne had again been widened and strengthened, with armored elements apparently pouring in assault forces to drive northward.

The Germans up to Friday had been held without gains for almost four full days.

Nazi Pocket Below Bastogne.

Supreme headquarters disclosed the Germans yesterday still had a foothold along a mile or two of the highway below Bastogne to Arlon, but that this in no way cut the relief corridor to Bastogne nor represented any comeback gains by the Germans. The Fourth Armored Division, headquarters explained, had driven its wedge to Bastogne slightly from the southwest, up secondary roads parallel to the main highway along the last few miles. The Germans steadily were being cleared from the main road.

Flying weather improved and up to noon the Nineteenth Tactical Air Command alone reported damaging or destroying thirteen tanks, fifty-nine motor transports and thirty-two railway cars.

The positional advantage of American artillery, plus the already proved superiority of that arm in weight and accuracy, was bound to restrict the areas in which Von Rundstedt can build up forces for a new thrust.

The most acute question today was whether the German commander was pulling his armor out.

Admittedly he still had enough armored power poised for another blow and forty-eight hours of concealing haze and mist had given him opportunity to bring up supplies and regroup his forces.

But there was no immediate indication that Von Rundstedt was prepared to risk his armies against the force Gen. Eisenhower had assembled.

[A Berlin broadcast said the Americans had thrown twenty-five divisions against the German drive.]

Von Rundstedt had fallen short of his probable purpose—decisive victory—but had succeeded in knocking the props from under the Allied winter offensive, and in creating a salient seriously threatening Allied plans.

At the same time he had thrust his way into trouble. Either he must continue his offensive threat by smashing back the United States Third Army's flanking counter-attack on a forty-five-mile front, or get his armor out before the gap is pinched shut.

Northern Flank Quiet.

The northern flank continued quiet. In this sector where the Germans earlier had delivered their heaviest blows, Von Rundstedt's attacks dwindled down to two-company size. Americans made limited, position-restoring gains.

Germans were reported digging in along the northern flank of their Belgian bulge. The Twelfth SS Panzer Division and Twenty-fourth Infantry Division were identified among enemy units met in the Stavelot area.

In Holland on the Britsih sector, German night patrols crossed the Maas (Meuse) River four miles southwest of Roermond but were driven off while trying to sneak up the Wessem Canal in boats.

In the Saar Valley, Third Army troops met enemy patrols in Fraulautern east of Saarlautern.

Patrol clashes occurred east of Wissembourg on the Seventh Army front. Germans infiltrating Sigolsheim north of Colmar were mopped up.

Mighty German Offensive Gave Allied High Command Biggest Scare of the War

JAN 1 1945

By WES GALLAGHER

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN BELGIUM, Sunday, Dec. 31. — (AP) How and why did the Germans break through the Allied positions on the Western Front?

Military students will puzzle over that question for years to come. No one can give all the answers now or perhaps for years, until all the facts are gathered by historians, but here is the picture of the past two weeks as gathered from personal observation daily at the front and from the collective views of several dozen American officers:

The great lunge by Field Marshal Karl Gerd Von Rundstedt has given the Allied High command its biggest scare of the war and, for a few dark hours, came close to delivering a blow which might have delayed the outcome of the war one or two years.

If Von Rundstedt had reached Liege he might have destroyed not only the American First and Ninth armies but the British and Canadian forces as well.

His place of attack was chosen carefully; his troops were gathered secretly on a 50-mile front from the Monschau forest south to Trier.

In this area, which served to cloak his 1940 drive through the Ardennes at the same spot, Von Rundstedt assembled at least 20 divisions, including most of his crack armored units.

Allied intelligence completely failed to detect and evaluate his movements. On the day before his attack, American intelligence maps carried only the names of five worn-out infantry divisions in the area from the Monschau forest to Trier.

This failure was one of the great contributing factors to German success. Another was an attitude which had grown up among Allied officers, from the field to the high command, that the Germans were beaten and were incapable of a great offensive.

This feeling led to carelessness in professional defensive measures such as laying extensive minefields behind their own lines, preparing possible road blocks and planning a complete defensive system.

Yanks Offensive Minded

The armies as a whole were only offensive minded and gave little or no thought to defense. One whole sector of the American front was regarded as a "rest" area, for new or battle-worn divisions.

It is easy to note the change now, where every sector has been prepared feverishly for a defense in depth.

Meanwhile, the American offensive to the north was making little progress in the Aachen area, and Von Rundstedt was able to fend off this attack easily while preparing to snatch the initiative farther south for the first time since the Normandy landings.

That the Germans were fully informed on the American attitude has been revealed by prisoners and captured notices to commanders. One of these German advices to lower commanders read:

"In view of his (American) intentions east of Aachen and heavy losses there the enemy has occupied the Eiffel front only very weakly. These units are only capable of strong resistance if the enemy succeeds in bringing reserves from the north quickly at risks. As learned from experience, it is assumed that the enemy will not quickly recover from his unexpected reverses."

While the first part of this report cannot be denied, it turned out that Gen. Eisenhower was not as slow as expected.

On the morning of Dec. 16 the Germans struck. They sent out two spearheads, one led by the first SS Adolf Hitler Panzer division south of St. Vith, the other by the 12th SS Hitler Jugen Panzer division north of St. Vith. These were what the Germans called "reconnaissance in force." They were heavily armored combat teams designed to hit a terrific punch on a narrow front and go as far as they could.

At the same time the Germans ordered local attacks all the way from Monschau to Trier to divert attention from the main blow.

Speed Through U. S. Defenses

These two combat teams of two Panzer divisions met with unexpected success. They burst through the thin American defenses and in the first 24 hours the spearhead to the north had made a salient ten miles wide and six miles deep. The one to the south of St. Vith, executing a pincers move to the north, had gone almost as well, penetrating five miles on a five-mile front.

Local attacks north of Trier also found a soft spot in the American lines in the direction of Bastogne.

Through these three gaps Von Rundstedt put on the pressure. The next day the north and south spearheads joined just east of St. Vith, making one salient 12 miles deep and 20 miles wide.

The road junction of St. Vith was vital to the Germans, who made a determined effort to take it, but the combat command of the Seventh Armored division under Brig. Gen. Bruce Clarke of Syracuse, N. Y., had reached that Belgian town in an all-night race, and put up fierce resistance with the aid of regiments which had been overrun by the Nazi thrust.

This was the first of the famous stands of sheer courage that delayed the Nazi rush and, in the long run, saved the situation.

The First and 12th Nazi SS divisions had other and bigger fish in the fire, however, and bypassed St. Vith to the north in their rush towards Liege.

The 12th headed northwest to drive through Bullingen to Butenbach and then, on secondary roads, towards Spa and Liege. The First headed west toward Malmedy, Stavelot and St. Oumont in a three-forked drive with the same objective.

Nazis Hit Bastogne

At the same time in the south, through a weak spot north of Trier, another German force drove seven miles toward Bastogne through an ever-larger hole in the American lines.

The third day, Dec. 18, was the first of the critical days.

The 12th plunging northwest on the shortest route to Liege ran head-on with the veteran American First infantry rushing south. The meeting came just south of Butenbach, and the First with another American division, as yet unrevealed, on its left flank, halted the 12th SS, at least for the moment.

JAN 1 1945

Von Rundstedt knew he had to race west and then turn north faster than American divisions could be sent into the line running due west from Butenbach to the Meuse river. It was like rushing along opposite sides of a fence, trying to get to a gate at the end and through first.

The American strategy was clear, it was right out of the rule book. It was the job of the Allied High command to keep the American armies' Liege flank from being turned and to channelize the German effort due west.

Exactly the same sort of race was in progress on a smaller scale in the south, where the U. S. Third army was throwing up a fence.

Once the German offensive was channelized to the west efforts could be made to halt it or let it run, then try to cut it off with a flank attack.

Fortunately, the Ardennes area did not contain any key cities nor any great quantities of supplies, and Von Rundstedt's advances gained little of military value. Every mile to the north toward Liege was worth ten miles to the west.

The first SS. division on Dec. 18 began a real race, tearing 18 miles west over mountain roads, then trying to turn north at Malmedy, Stavelot and Stoumont, in the Liege direction. Here they met another American veteran division which had raced south, and another fierce struggle ensued.

Eisenhower Throws in Troops

The next day Eisenhower threw in more troops, and so did Von Rundstedt, but the German marshal was greatly handicapped by the failure to take St. Vith, where the U. S. Seventh armored division still held out, although virtually surrounded. The division was an island in heart of the Nazi drive, splitting it. The same day, Dec. 19, another "island" of American cour-age appeared. It was the 101st Airborne division and other units which were rushed to the front in trucks and met the Germans at Bastogne for an epic defense.

Another crack American airborne division, the 82nd, raced into line just west of St. Oument to make the first effort to blunt the first SS Panzer division's drive westward.

In the south, from Luxembourg, General Patton threw up a flank defense composed of elements of the Fourth, Ninth and Tenth armored divisions and the Fourth, Fifth, 26th and 80th infantry division.

In the center of the Ardennes break through there was nothing to halt the Germans, and in the next few days armored combat teams drove 50 miles into Belgium, almost reaching the Meuse river between Namur and Dinant. These were the only armored prongs, however, and gained little of military value.

Rundstedt Turns North

Von Rundstedt had to turn north to get at the American and British supply bases and deal an all-out crippling blow.

Time was precious. Every hour gave the Allies time to push in men.

Dec. 20 was the most critical day of the offensive. Von Rundstedt had poured in new panzer and infantry divisions and made a do-or-die effort to move north.

The struggle ceased to become a matter of high strategy. It became a knock-down, drag-out brawl. Only American Doughboy courage stood between the German panzers and a great military victory. And the Doughboys held the gates to Liege against Hitler's prized war machine at Butenback, Malmedy, Stavelot and St. Qumont. At nightfall the German dead were piled in heaps and German war machine wreckage burned brightly in the snow.

The next day Von Rundstedt's attacks slackened and the turning point came. The Germans had carefully planned the attack for a spell of bad weather to keep the Allied airmen aground. The weather broke, and Von Rundstedt called on an all-out air effort by the German air force to keep thousands of Allied bombers and fighters from beating his lifelines to a pulp.

The German air force made its best effort since 1940, but it was not good enough. In the next five days the Germans lost more than 600 planes, while thousands of American fighters, fighter-bombers, light, medium and heavy bombers sucked at Von Rundstedt's strength.

On Dec. 22 General Patton started a drive from the south to relieve the surrounded 101st division and around St. Oumont American attacks started to hammer back the Germans into a round salient.

At the same time the Seventh armored fought out from St. Vith and with other elements pushed back the exhausted western elements of Von Rundstedt's men.

Von Rundstedt's first quick grab at the rich prize of Liege had been beaten back with some broken fingers. The Nazi Field Marshal needed time to regroup for a new effort and went on to the defensive. He threw up an armored ring around the Belgium bulge and a rugged defense to Patton's drive from the south.

Within this ring he now is planning his next move and juggling his forces. Adverse weather again has come to his aid, cloaking his movements.

That is how the battle now stands.

Nazis Still Strong

Even though the first attempt failed, the Germans still have a powerful punch left. They have many more uncommitted divisions in addition to two panzer armies already in the deep salient in the Western front.

The Nazi Field Marshal has two choices of action. He can launch a new all-out assault to grab Liege, committing his reserves in a final attack north probably along with another attack in another sector of the front to divert Allied strength.

Or he can withdraw into Germany, satisfied that his offensive has achieved a great slowing effect on Allied military plans for the winter.

This would give him the advantage of conserving his strength for future battles and retiring from the battlefield with victory.

Allied Front Scrambled

If Von Rundstedt goes back. It now is on the record that he dealt Allied military might a severe blow and scrambled the Western front with a giant spoiling attack. The Germans did the same thing in the winter of 1943, upsetting the Russians who were readying their offensive. It was estimated then that the Germans had gained as much as three months' valuable time.

If Von Rundstedt goes on he risks defeat from Allied counter-blows which may cripple Germany,s war effort. At the same time he may have decided that it is now or never and throw everything into a final lunge, gambling Germany,s fate.

This latter course appears more possible as the German people have been "sold" by Nazi propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels that this blow would crush the Allies, and they would be satisfied with nothing less.

M'AULIFFE RETORT TYPICAL, SAY GI'S

General Had Promised Wounded Man Earlier That He Would Not Give Up Bastogne

BASTOGNE, Belgium, Dec. 30 (AP)—"That's the 'Old Crock' for you," was the GI reaction to the "Nuts" reply handed the Germans by Brig. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe of the 101st Airborne Division to their demand for the surrender of Bastogne before the siege was broken.

To the tough fighting men of the 101st, the general is known as "Old Crock," or "General Mac." To fellow officers he is "Tony."

General McAuliffe is 46, stands 5 feet 5, is ruddy faced with sharp blue eyes and carries himself like the West Pointer he is.

"During business hours he's all business," said a fellow officer today, "but when the flag is down—after retreat sounds—he relaxes. Like the rest of us, he enjoys an occasional snort."

Offhand, you would not think of this slight man, who weighs 135 pounds, as second in command of one of the world's toughest fighting outfits. He parts his slightly graying hair in the middle, and takes on something of a professional appearance when he uses shell-rimmed glasses while poring over maps.

Variety of Transport

He parachuted into Normandy on D-day and landed by glider in the Netherlands. Here he just jumped out of the back of a truck.

"Parachuting and gliding in combat is something for a general, but that's what he did," a private who came down near him in both operations said.

As deputy commander of the 101st, General McAuliffe took charge of the situation here. With Brig. Gen. Gerald J. Higgins of Utah, a Regular Army man and an assistant division commander, he ran the show until Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the division commander, returned from Washington when the German encirclement was being smashed.

All during the encirclement, General McAuliffe was out in the front line, sizing up the situation, or back at the command post, outguessing the Germans. On one of his frequent visits to a crowded hospital, a wounded GI raised up from his litter and said: "Don't give up on account of us, General Mac." The general assured him there would be no giving up.

It was on the same day that a German major and captain, holding aloft a white sheet, came over to the American lines with the surrender ultimatum. The Germans were met and blindfolded. They were led as far as a battalion command post and their ultimatum was sent on back by messenger to General McAuliffe while the Germans cooled their heels.

Scrawled Reply Laughing

"Old Crock laughed and scrawled his one-word reply," said Lieut. Frederick D. Starrett, a paratrooper from Maine, serving as the general's aide, "and with that he became the briefest and best-known note writer in these parts."

When the tanks of Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Gaffey's Fourth Armored Division made their appearance, General McAuliffe was on the outskirts to meet them. With a hearty handshake and a "Welcome, stranger," he greeted Capt. William A. Dwight of Grand Rapids, Mich., who was at the head of the tank procession.

The tanks did a spectacular job in the final plunge through the German lines with the aid of the Eightieth Infantry Division. Coming up from the south they overran the villages of Clochimont and Assenois, going through the latter just as American artillery was cutting loose with a heavy barrage. Later 400 of the enemy were cleaned out of Assenois.

At the time Captain Dwight's tanks swept through, the Germans were too busy ducking shells to do anything about it. When the barrage lifted the Germans came out and scattered mines along the road.

Under mortar, machine-gun and bazooka fire, some of Captain Dwight's following tank crews dismounted, cleared the mines, tossing them right and left, while another tank column led by Lieut. Charles P. Boggess Jr. of Greenville, Ill., went to work on the Germans.

The audacity of the tankmen won high praise from General McAuliffe, whose son, Jack, is a private in a tank destroyer training base at Camp Bowie, Tex. The rest of the general's family, his wife and daughter Pat, live at 4919 Yuma St., NW, Washington, D. C.

Patton Sends His Praise To 4th Infantry Division

By The Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN THIRD ARMY on the Western Front, Dec. 30—High praise for the Fourth Infantry Division for saving Luxembourg was expressed by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. in a letter today to the division's commander, Maj. Gen. Raymond O. Barton of Ada, Okla.

General Patton's letter said in part:

"Your fight in the Huertgen Forest was an epic of stark infantry combat, but in my opinion your most recent fight—from Dec. 16 to Dec. 26—when with a tired division you halted the left shoulder of the German thrust into the American lines and saved the city of Luxembourg * * * is the most outstanding accomplishment of yourself and your division."

The Twelfth Corps commander, Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, also sent a letter of commendation to General Barton, noting the division's proud record from D-day onward.

36-Hour News Delay Continued by Army

Fresher Reports in Belgium Would Aid Enemy

PARIS, Dec. 30 (AP).—Supreme headquarters announced today that the present news time lag from the Belgian front, roughly thirty-six hours, would be continued a while longer because spot news disclosures would aid the German command in evaluating the weight and location of Allied counter-measures.

Correspondents were told that the supreme headquarters communique and front-line accounts would be brought back to the normal time lag, something under twelve hours behind actual battle-front developments, when possible.

Supreme headquarters acknowledged concern in both America and Britain over the curtailment of news by an artificial time lag, but said that right now front-line pinpointing by the Allied press and radio would be more helpful to the German command than to Allied people at home.

7th Held Off Panzers at Key Point to Prevent Split in Lines.

On the Belgian Front, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—They're all singing praise today for soldiers of the Seventh Armored Division—those oft-orphaned waifs of the Western Front who have been bounced from army to army and had their noses bloodied at almost every turn.

For it was the scrapping Seventh, slung swiftly into the breach when Field Marshal von Rundstedt's spearhead was stabbing deeply into Belgium's side ten days ago, which put the brakes on the Panzer plunge and finally split the German penetration, forcing the enemy to fight a two-way battle.

More than that the boys sat grimly there alone in the St. Vith sector taking a terrific mauling from half a dozen German divisions—denying them the use of that vital road junction, keeping them partly cut off from supplies and never letting them relax a moment to fight elsewhere.

Often their own supplies were cut off. Sometimes they were sliced into separate segments by attacking armor. But they plowed through the enemy lines to reach supply dumps or travelled backroads at night. And when individual units were isolated they formed into deadly bands and wrought havoc until able to rejoin the main body.

Now commanded by Major-Gen. Robert W. Hasbrouck, Kingston, N. Y., and boasting as its most famous guy, young Lieut. Will Rogers Jr., who is a popular platoon leader, the Seventh has fought under four armies, British and American, during its four months in combat.

It fought through Chateau Thierry and the Argonne Forest, encircled Reims and captured Verdun.

Somehow the Seventh always got hurt. The last big wound was late October when it was forced to hold a thin twenty-five-mile line in the Weert sector of Holland and had to face the brunt of an overpowering German attack which pounded it plenty.

On Sunday, December 17, it got word to come quickly. Swiftly it split into two combat teams—one headed by Brig.-Gen. Bruce C. Clark, Syracuse, N. Y., and another by Col. Dwight A. Rosebaum, St. Joseph, Mo., Clark's crew struck into St. Vith, Rosebaum's covered the rear and north flank — both of which promptly became fronts.

Ordered to St. Vith.

Officially the Seventh was ordered to hold the St. Vith sector for two days. It held for five despite all six surrounding Nazi divisions could do.

Although officially they scrapped almost alone without outside help, the Seventh's troops actually accumulated one of the most savage little armies of soldiers ever seen on any front—straggling survivors of two semi-slaughtered units who had fought viciously back to that sector.

They formed a semi-circle front, fanning eastward around St. Vith, which forms the hub of a road network. Slowly the German power crushed all around the Seventh.

Even back where the division's supply center was set up the Germans came by the thousands.

From almost every command post—normally far behind the combat line—combat command leaders literally could look at the battle a few hundred yards away at any time.

Finally after the fifth day the Seventh was relieved and ordered into a "rest period."

That lasted only a few hours. The boys went back into battle elsewhere.

First Stopped German Spearhead in 8-Day Battle—Not an Inch of Ground Lost—Tore Heart Out of SS Force.

Near Monschau, Germany, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—Worn and weakened by months of steady fighting, the Americans of the Fighting First Infantry Division were thrown against Field Marshal von Rundstedt's offensive and tore the heart out of one of Germany's crack divisions.

The enemy force was Heinrich Himmler's Twelfth SS (Elite Guard), a Hitler youth division.

As the veil of security secrecy was partly rolled away from this section of the Western Front, it was disclosed that the battle trained shock troops of the First Division had done their share and more to blacken the enemy's hopes.

On the slopes before the Belgian town of Butgenbach, east of Malmedy, is a ghostly graveyard of wrecked tanks, armored vehicles and the frozen bodies of Germans.

That was the work of First Division veterans who already had engraved their division's name in history of the fighting in Africa and Sicily.

It had been Von Rundstedt's plan to have the Twelfth SS Division spearhead the drive on the First's flank, going through Butgenbach toward Spa and Liege.

The Twelfth cracked through north of St. Vith and headed for Butgenbach.

At that moment the United States First Infantry Division had had months of hard fighting across France and Belgium into Germany. Heavy losses in the drive toward the Roer River had drained its strength. But a call came and the First rushed into positions around Butgenbach and its small ice-covered reservoir The German attack came at once

The First did not give up one inch of ground in eight days of assault.

On one occasion six German tanks burst through the American lines. The doughboys held firm and continued to mop up the Nazi infantry. Anti-tank gunners, engineers, clerks and cooks went on a tank hunt behind their own lines and wiped out the tanks.

Two days later an all-out assault carried German patrols into Butgenbach and the First Divisional Regimental Headquarters fought hand to hand with them. The Germans were wiped out.

It was savage fighting throughout. It was just south of this area that SS troops massacred about 140 American doughboys who had been taken prisoner.

Clarke Led Seventh.

With United States Forces in Belgium, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—A former American wrestling coach put a headlock on the vital road junction of St. Vith and held it against overwhelming odds three days longer than he was supposed to in the face of the German winter offensive, it was disclosed last night.

He is Brig.-Gen. Bruce C. Clarke of Syracuse, N. Y., commander of a combat team of the Seventh Armored Division which virtually single-handed split the Nazi offensive in two by holding the key town in the center of the breakthrough for five days while German tanks and armor flowed all around and behind it.

Gen. Clarke, who coached wrestling at the Universities of Tennessee and Cornell, had to fight his way into the city and then fight his way out. That was nothing new for the western front's newest armored force general. As colonel and commander of a combat team of the Fourth Armored Division coming across France he spent more time behind German lines than in front of them.

As a matter of fact, that is where he likes to fight best. He explained his theory of tank warfare as "warfare is mental not physical. Tanks are weapons of terror and when they get behind the German lines they create chaos and the Germans take to the woods."

In the case of St. Vith he had no choice. The Germans, finding his defenses too tough, flowed around him and cut him off.

Gen. Clarke held on, delaying the German advance the three days longer than ordered and then fought his way back to American lines with remnants of other divisions overrun in the fighting.

The youthful tank expert, who is looked upon by no less an authority than Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton Jr., as one of the most outstanding combat team commanders in Europe, won his promotion to general by an end run through France on the flank of the United States Third Army.

His combat team raced across Brittany to contain the U-boat base of Lorient. Then he turned north and fought to the Moselle River. Gen. Clarke's crossing of the Moselle with his combat team under fire to sweep around Nancy and cause its fall is considered a classic of armored warfare.

In a shake-up of the Seventh Armored Division's command last month Gen. Clarke was promoted from colonel and received his present command under the new division commander, Major-Gen. Robert W. Hasbrouck, of Kingston, N. Y., with orders to revitalize the unit.

ALLIES REPORTED REVISING COMMAND

London Press Says Changes Are Imminent—No Official Confirmation Available

LONDON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Reports that a reorganization of the Allies' command on the western front was imminent were prominently displayed today by the London press.

One military commentator declared that an official statement covering some aspects of the regrouping of the Allies' commands and armies was expected shortly. The reports, the publication of which coincided with a definite improvement of the Allies' position on the western front, were without any official confirmation.

The London Evening News declared that "important changes in the organization of the Allied Supreme Command on the western front are imminent." It listed the present commanders without speculating what the changes might be.

The Evening Standard reported that "the big regroup is on." It quoted a Reuter military correspondent as saying that "the second phase of Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's offensive has reached the poker stage."

The report of changes in the command appeared on the front page of The Star under the headline: "Allied Command: Statement Soon." The London press also carried reports from Washington that an American major general had been recalled from France and demoted, but not because of the German counter-offensive.

Despite the setback suffered by the Allies in Belgium, there appeared to be no disposition here to question Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's ability to control the situation. The Supreme Commander retains the prestige that he won in North Africa, Italy and the smashing success of the Normandy invasion.

G. Ward Price, Sunday Dispatch war correspondent just returned from the western front, declared that the setback "should bring about changes which, before it occurred, were already known to be necessary by those on the inside of Allied stategy. Eisenhower is genuinely popular with all his subordinate commanders, but his responsibilities are too depressed and widespread for him to direct operations of seven armies under his orders with the necessary detailed knowledge of the situation of each."

Mr. Price recalled that during the Normandy campaign, when things went well, Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery had been strategic Commander in Chief in the field, exercising powers conferred upon him by General Eisenhower, whose headquarters were then in England. Since September, when General Eisenhower went to France, Marshal Montgomery "has been but one of the army group commanders under Eisenhower," Mr. Price said.

Those inside, Mr. Price added, have been disturbed by the Allied armies' dispersing their strength instead of concentrating it. He said that one authority had told him: "If Montgomery's advance into Nijmegen had been backed by ten United States divisions, we should have been in the Ruhr by now."

The Sunday Chronicle also published an article declaring that "Eisenhower's burden should be eased. The old combination of Eisenhower [Field Marshal Sir Harold R. L. G.] Alexander and Montgomery had a non-stop run of success, Brig. J. G. Smyth said in a prominently displayed article. "Might it not be repeated? Or must Alexander really stand by to quell riots in Greece?"

REPORTS SHAKE-UP IS NEAR AT SHAEF

DEC 31 1944

London, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—The London Evening News declared tonight that "important changes in the organization of the Allied Supreme Command on the western front are imminent."

The newspaper did not amplify its statement, other than listing the present line-up on the western front.

The Evening Standard also printed a front page report that "the big regroup is on," and Reuters News Agency's military correspondent added that an official statement covering some aspect of the regrouping of Allied commands and armies is expected shortly.

These reports followed the comment of Sir Douglas Brownrigg, a retired lieutenant-general, this week that Gen. Eisenhower had too many duties and should delegate some of his tasks.

Gen. Brownrigg pointed out that until last September Gen. Eisenhower had deputies for air, land and sea operations, but had assumed personal direction of the land forces, placing Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, his former chief of land operations, on a par with the other Allied army group commanders in Europe.

U. S. Saves 12,000 Belgians

WITH AMERICAN FORCES on the Western Front, Dec. 28 (Delayed) (AP).—In three days, 12,000 civilians of fifty small Belgian towns were removed to safety by American forces under Lieutenant Colonel Harry P. Cain, Mayor-on-leave of Tacoma, Wash. In some areas the civilian population was forced to remain, while the Americans kept the roads open for military traffic.

NAZIS SAY ALLIED OFFENSIVE FAILED

LONDON, Dec. 30—(AP) Berlin broadcasts today ranged from veiled threats of a new offensive by Marshal Karl Gerd Von Rundstedt to a somewhat negative claim that "we have at least foiled the enemy's plan for a Winter offensive."

A Transocean agency broadcast asserted that Von Rundstedt's operations now were in "an interim phase."

But in the voluminous reports of the German radio there were no claims of new military successes.

"The advance of our spearheads has changed into a battle of movement," one propaganda agency broadcast said.

"American counteroperations already have developed into a bid for a decision and aim at striking at the root of the German wedge," another commentator said.

The official German communique claimed that the Allies had "gone over to the defensive on both sides of Stavelot," and added that "southwest of Bastogne the enemy is trying in heavy but fruitless attacks to break down this bastion of our front."

The claim that General Eisenhower had been forced to regroup Allied forces on the entire Western front was made at least twice.

Capt. Ludwig Sertorius asserted in a Transocean broadcast that Eisenhower had thrown "26 of his 44 American divisions in the west" against Von Rundstedt's wedge into Belgium and said that despite his desire to "make good American set-backs with American divisions," the Allied commander "will be forced to make greater use of British divisions if he wishes to increase further his counter pressure."

Transocean's commentator, Guenther Weber, said:

"It can be regarded as sensational that more than half of all the American divisions are stationed on a front sector of about 50 kilometers, along a front of 700 kilometers. The 15 American divisions reported by the German command as severely mauled since the Winter offensive began are about one-third of the American strength in the west."

Belgians Reported at Front

LONDON, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Luxembourg radio said tonight that the first battalions of the newly formed Belgian Army had joined the Allied armies on the western front. The broadcast was recorded by The Associated Press.

KING APPOINTS GREEK REGENCY

DEC 31 1944

Archbishop Damaskinos Named Regent by Monarch in London.

LONDON, Dec. 30—(AP) King George II of Greece tonight announced appointment of Archbishop Damaskinos of Athens as regent of his strife-torn country, taking a step generally regarded here as tantamount to relinquishment of his throne.

The 54-year-old monarch's road has been rocky for years, and most observers in London's diplomatic quarters believe the Greek people, who are swinging to the left, would vote against a monarchy in a plebiscite which is expected to be held.

To Assume Duties Today

Appointment of the regent was announced in a royal proclamation issued after a statement in Athens that the Archbishop probably would assume his duties as regent tomorrow.

The proclamation, stating that the King had "deeply considered the terrible situation" into which Greece had fallen, said he had resolved not to return to the country "unless summoned by a free and fair expression of national will" and authorized Damaskinos to "take all steps necessary to restore order and tranquility."

The King, reported to have opposed the regency, was believed to have been convinced of the necessity of the measure by Prime Minister Churchill, who had just returned from Athens. Reliable sources said Churchill told the Greek King that a regency would be established by the government in Athens regardless of his consent.

Establishment of a regency had been unanimously agreed upon by the all-party conference convened by Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden last Tuesday in an effort to restore peace in Greece.

Damaskinos, an open opponent of dictatorship who was exiled for two years during the Mextaxas regime in Greece, was considered one of the main organizers of the resistance movement by the Germans during their occupation of Greece. He is 62 years old and has been an official of the Greek church since 1923 when he was named bishop of Corinth.

The archbishop's first task will be to form a new government.

Indications that 85-year-old Themostikles Sophoulis, dean of the Greek liberal party, would be asked to head a new administration followed reports that Premier George Papandreou had submitted a tentative resignation to the King before the latter's conference with Churchill.

There were reliable reports in Athens today that the left-wing ELAS forces which have been battling British and Greek government troops through the streets of the capital for more than three weeks had sent a message to Churchill proposing an immediate truce and suggesting British arbi-

Fierce Fighting Continues

There was no slackening in the fighting today, however, as the British and Greek regulars continued their drive against the ELAS in the eastern suburbs. The ELAS were reported continuing strong pressure against the Rightist Edes forces of Gen. Napoleon Zervas in northwestern Greece. The Rightists apparently were evacuating to the island of Corfu, held by the British and forces friendly to Zervas.

Hopes for an early cessation of hostilities rose, however, when the archbishop's secretary said today in Athens:

"His grace, in all probability, will take the oath before the government and the holy synod tomorrow in accordance with the Greek constitution. Immediately after his installation, he will assume his official duties and, complying with a telegram from the King expressing 'hope you will try to restore order and peace in Greece,' will start his efforts to solve the major problems —firstly, the formation of a new government and, secondly, the cessation of the civil war."

Athens newspapers reported today that the EAM (National Liberation Front party which controls the ELAS) cabled Mr. Churchill last night giving complete acceptance of the terms of Lieut.-Gen. Ronald M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, including cessation of hostilities. Gen. Scobie denied knowledge of this message, but said it might have been sent directly to London.

More than half of Athens now si under British control and the ELAS also have been cleared from the city's port, Piraeus.

Gen. Scobie today declared that the ELAS were not observing the Geneva conventions in their treatment of prisoners. He said the prisoners, most of whom have been removed to the island of Thebes, had been mistreated and that Red Cross parcels had been denied to them. The ELAS countered with a charge that their captured men had been mistreated by Greek police.

Greece's Regent Known as Sage In State Affairs

DEC 31 1944

Metaxas Exiled Him; Nazis Arrested Him for Aiding Victims of Occupation

LONDON, Dec. 30 (AP).—Archbishop Damaskinos, who becomes the principal figure on the Greek political scene with his appointment to the regency, long has been considered an expert in matters of the state. He is sixty-two years old and has been an official of the Greek Church since 1923, when he was made Bishop of Corinth.

Eleutherios Venizelos once said of him: "Damaskinos must devote himself to politics, because I believe him a far-sighted politician."

Born into a family of clergymen at Dovitsa near Lapanto, the tall bespectacled and stoutish clergyman won a reputation in the United States when he went there in the '20s and mediated a quarrel, largely political, between factions of the Greek Orthodox Church.

He was elected Archbishop of the Holy Synod of the Greek Church on his return from America, but Premier General John Metaxas later found technical grounds to cancel the election and exile him.

When pro-Nazi Premier George Tsolakoglou took office, during the German occupation, Damaskinos displayed great energy in alleviating the distress of the civilian population.

He made repeated representations to German and Italian military authorities when executions or arrests were about to be made. At last the Germans put him under house arrest at Psychico.

During the devastation of Greece, he organized soup kitchens and distributed clothing and supplies to the poor and, in circulars read in churches, criticized the wealthy and urged them to show a spirit of solidarity for the salvation of their country.

RED ARMY BEGINS ANNIHILATION OF BESIEGED ENEMY

DEC 31 1944

Soviet Forces Smash Into Eastern Side of Doomed Capital.

2 EMISSARIES KILLED

New Hungarian Government Under Miklos Declares War on Germans.

LONDON, Sunday, Dec. 31—(AP) The hopelessly outnumbered and surrounded German garrison in Budapest's battle-torn streets had refused a Russian surrender ultimatum, killing two Red army emissaries carrying a white flag, and the annihilation of a group originally estimated at nearly 100,000 men now is in its final stage, Moscow announced last night.

The German refusal occurred Friday and Moscow announced that Soviet troops yesterday had smashed into the eastern side of the city for the first time. Soviet dispatches said they had linked up with the western invasion wing on Danube islands in the heart of the burning Hungarian capital.

Hungarians Declare War

Moscow also announced that the new Soviet-sponsored Hungarian government headed by Premier-General Bela Miklos had declared war on Germany. The declaration, issued by a regime set up in Debrechen in eastern Hungary and dated Thursday, said that Germany forced Hungary into the war against Russia, and "attacked and occupied" Hungary March 19, 1944, imposing a Nazi regime on the country.

Russia's ultimatum demanded immediate cease-fire orders on the part of the German commander in Budapest, and the surrender of all arms and equipment. It offered all who quit security—"Hungarians, after interrogation, to be allowed to disperse to their homes and Germans, after the war, to return to Germany or any other country they desire." Food and medical aid were promised to all enemy troops.

"Your answer," it said, "is awaited on the right (west) bank of the Danube at noon, December 30, in writing brought by your representatives who must ride in automobiles bearing a white flag."

"If you reject . . ." it concluded, "the troops of the Red army and air force will begin operations for the annihilation of your encircled troops and all responsibility for their annihilation and also for the destruction of Budapest and the ruin of its inhabitants will rest on you."

Emissaries Killed

One Soviet officer, Moscow said, "in spite of his clearly visible white flag," was riddled by German rifle and machinegun fire as he drove through the suburb of Kispest Friday.

Simultaneously, another Russian officer with an interpreter set off toward the German lines from the west bank of the Danube, also bearing a white flag. This officer was taken to German headquarters, told that his ultimatum was rejected and that there would be no negotiations.

"While this officer was on his way back the Germans opened fire on him and he was shot dead in the back," Moscow said, charging the enemy with "premeditated murder and violation of the rules of war." The interpreter got back to Soviet positions "through sheer luck," the announcement said.

In offering the Germans a choice other than death the ultimatum pointed out that the German army was nailed down or retreating everywhere on the Eastern front and that "in the west the German offensive so widely acclaimed by the Hitlerites is fizzling out and can change nothing in the course of the war."

Now inside the heart of the ravaged city, once one of Europe's most beautiful capitals, the savage war of attrition had resumed with the Germans battling hand-to-hand against the Russians in an effort to delay the steady westward movement of two Red armies toward Austria.

Soviet front dispatches said the fighting was extremely fierce in the Royal Park, in northeastern Budapest less than two miles from the Danube and the city's center.

One German commentator, Lt. Col. Alfred Von Olberg, admitted that Budapest, as a battle, was lost and that the Germans' only hope "in this hell" was to take the biggest possible toll of Russians and delay the sweep westward toward the southern part of the Reich.

Soviet troops, the Moscow communique disclosed, already had completed the liquidation of a smaller German-Hungarian force, trapped in the Danube loop north and northwest of Budapest, thus releasing powerful formations for the swelling offensive which has rolled to within 92 miles of Vienna, Austrian capital.

Both marshals Feodor I. Tolbukhin and Rodion Y. Malinovsky, commanders of the Third and Second Ukraine armies, signed the surrender ultimatum to the Germans.

Reds Spurt For Vienna

Reach Bratislava's Plains by Crossing the Hron

LONDON (AP) — Austrian-bound Russian troops plunged forward today in new gains after forcing strong Nazi defenses above the Danube and crossing the Hrone River. To the south fighting in the streets of Budapest raged with increased fury.

In the Buda section of the tottering Hungarian capital Russian shock battalions were slaughtering the trapped Nazi garrison in hand-to-hand fighting. In Pest, on the east bank of the Danube, Nazi and Hungarian defenders fought desperately to stave off powerful Russian armor that already had penetrated the first of three inner defense rings.

Still other Russian units tightened the death trap on German and Hungarian troops caught in the Pilis Hills north of the city.

The Russians crossed the Hron River, one of the last water hurdles before the Bratislava Plains leading to Vienna, sped two miles beyond and captured Nana and Parkany near the Hron's confluence with the Danube.

Drive for Komaron

Units of Marshal Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army already have outflanked the point of confluence of the two rivers west of the big Danube bend and were driving along the approaches to Komaron, situated 53 miles southeast of Bratislava and 81 miles from Vienna.

The crossing of the Hron put the Russians within 76 miles of Bratislava. Other sections of the same army arrayed along the east bank of the Hron to the north were only 64 miles from Bratislava.

(United Press quoted a German spokesman who said another Red Army bridgehead was established 29 miles north around Kalinca, 97 miles east of Vienna.)

In another important gain Red Army units drove within nine miles southeast of Losonc (Lucenec), Hungarian annexed defense point in Southern Slovakia 60 miles north east of Budapest.

REDS ADVANCE YARD BY YARD INTO BUDAPEST

Drive Toward Heart of City Clears Several Main Streets of Foe.

GERMAN FORCE IN DEATH TRAP

Russians Cross Last Big Barrier Before Bratislava Plains Leading to Vienna.

Moscow, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—Fighting their way yard by yard into the heart of Budapest, the Russian forces have cleared the defenders from several main streets after all-night bayonet battles and grenade throwing at close range. Numerous buildings fell into Russian hands during the night, and it is believed that a major part of Buda—the part of Budapest that stands high on the west bank of the Danube—is now held by the Russians.

In Pest, across the Danube from Buda, the Red Army troops have made steady progress, especially in the southern sector where most of the Hungarian capital's docks and quays are situated.

The German resistance has stiffened both in Buda and Pest, but the Russian advances along the Danube River have given Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's forces an opportunity for denying virtually all future river traffic to the Germans and Hungarians.

[The Russians are fighting in the park of the Royal Palace of Budapest, on the west bank of the Danube and thousands of dead Germans are lying in the streets of the city, the British radio declared in a broadcast picked up in New York this afternoon by NBC.]

Foe Has No Airfields.

Striking out from the docks in Pest, the Russians have advanced toward the heart of the town. None of Budapest's airfields is in German hands, and every enemy soldier in the encircled capital apparently faces death or capture.

Light tanks and armored cars found the going especially tough because of numerous mines and light anti-tank weapons which fired down the streets and at intersections. Dozens of enemy tommy-gunners and machine-gunners are hidden in hundreds of the city's buildings.

The Russian Army newspaper, the Red Star, claimed that the position of the enemy's Budapest group is hopeless, and that the Russians advancing westward and eastward through the city have joined up on islands of the beleaguered city. This probably means Margaret Island, which lies in the center of the Danube separating Buda from Pest, and Csepel Island, south of the city, where the Russian forces have been holding positions for weeks.

2,000 RAIDERS STRIKE IN FOG

DEC 31 1944

American Planes From Britain Pound Nazi Supply Lines

With U.S. 7th Army, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Germans bombed eight towns on the 7th Army front today, using eleven captured American Thunderbolt fighter-bombers in one of the attacks.

London, Dec. 30 (AP)—More than 2,000 British-based American bombers and fighting planes pierced through fog today and pounded German supply lines to the Western front for the eighth consecutive day.

Eight bombers and three fighters were reported missing from these operations.

While the German air force stuck to its bases for a third day, more than 1,300 Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the United States 8th Air Force, escorted by approximately 700 Thunderbolts and Mustangs, struck unmolested at railroad bridges on lines leading directly from Berlin and at freight yards at Mannheim, Kaiserlautern and Kassel.

Nazi Ack-Ack Only Moderate

The points attacked on the roads from Berlin were not specified.

The Americans encountered only moderate fire from German anti-aircraft guns, headquarters of the United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe said.

A heavy toll of German supplies already has been taken by Allied air attacks, the 8th Air Force reported. It said reconnaissance photographs of yesterday's raid on Frankfurt's railyard showed at least 1,500 freight cars, most of them carrying ammunition and oil, were destroyed, and that a bridge, barracks, roundhouses, warehouses and industrial targets had been damaged.

Bingen Freight Lines Cut

All rail lines from Bingen's freightyard were "cut," it was announced officially, and five direct hits were scored on the main railway station in that city.

Heavy damage also was reported at Schaffenburg and on tracks northwest of Coblenz.

Bad weather apparently grounded the 15th United States Air Force in Italy today and dispatches from the front lines on the Western front indicated that the weather was not favorable to large-scale operations by fighter-bomber units based on the Continent.

1300 U. S. BOMBERS BLAST NAZI RAILS

London, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—Thirteen hundred heavy bombers of the United States Eighth Air Force bombed railroad yards and bridges today for the eighth successive day under a cloud cover which grounded Nazi fighter planes. The big bombers were escorted by less than 700 Thunderbolts and Mustangs and headquarters of the United States Strategic Air Forces said early reports indicated no fighter opposition to the bombers and only moderate flak.

The American assault fallowed twin raids last night by R. A. F. four-engined bombers on railroad yards at Troisdorf and the synthetic oil plant at Schloven-Buer in the Ruhr.

Principal targets today were Mannheim, Kaiserlautern and Kassel. The location of the bridges were not given. It was the third straight day that the supposedly rejuvenated German Air Force has failed to offer any serious opposition as the big bombers ripped apart the rail network supplying German western armies.

VICTORY IN '45 HOPE IS AIRED

Churchill Says Allies 'Should' Win In The Coming Year

London, Dec. 30 [Reuter]—Prime Minister Winston Churchill tonight, replying to rumors current in the United States that he had died, said: "In the words of Mark Twain, the reports are highly exaggerated."

London, Dec. 30 (AP)—At the end of a year which had brought the United Nations far along the road to their goal, Prime Minister Churchill expressed hope today that at least half their task would be completed in the new year—that victory in Europe would be achieved in 1945.

Observing that the Allies were entering upon a year "that should bring us victory in Europe," he said in a New Year's message to the Primrose League, a Conservative organization of which he is Grand Master:

"Before (many months have passed the evil gang that has long dominated that unhappy continent will be wiped out.

Then—Normal Habits

"Until that end has been achieved, there can be no return to our normal habits.

"It would be tragic folly to prolong by any slackening in the last phase the agony that megalomaniac ambition has loosed on the world."

Already that agony had been relieved to some extent. All over Europe the lights were going on again. Paris, Rome, Brussels and Athens had been freed from their oppressor.

The year had brought a nightmare of bombardments, devastation, sudden death and eternal fear to Berlin and a dozen other German cities.

It was the year in which Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin set the stage for final victory.

At The Count Of Nine

It was the year in which the battered German Army, hurled back to its own frontier, rose like a prize fighter at the count of nine to lash out with frenzied strength in an effort to prolong the war or win a lenient peace.

It was another year of what Churchill has called "blood, sweat and tears."

The Germans were driven from France, Romania and Greece, from most of Italy and Belgium and from parts of Holland, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Norway.

In America, the names of 628,441 casualties appeared in newspapers from Maine to Florida and New York to California, a symbol of the nation's sacrifice.

Joe, Tommy, Ivan

It was the year in which the Russians broke from the Ukraine, cleared the Germans from the Soviet soil and swept to the borders of the Reich.

It was the year in which Adolf Hitler barely escaped assassination and a group of German generals failed in their attempt to overthrow the Nazi regime.

Also, it was the year in which the Germans introduced their V-2 rocket bomb, faster than sound, and revolutionized warfare with it and their other V-weapons.

It was a year in which Europe swung to the left politically in every liberated nation and the chances of Royalty returning in many countries were diminished.

But principally it was the year which saw America's GI Joe, Britain's Tommy Atkins and Russia's Ivan bearing the hope of humanity and passing a milestone on the road to freedom.

'45 DEFEAT OF NAZIS SEEN BY CHURCHILL

London, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Churchill expressed the cautious hope today that Germany will be vanquished in 1945.

In a New Year's message to members of the conservative Primrose League he observed that the Allies were entering a year "that should bring us victory in Europe."

"Before many months have passed," he said, "the evil gang that has long dominated that unhappy continent will be wiped out.

"Until that end has been achieved there can be no return to our normal habits.

"It will be tragic folly to prolong by any slackening in the last phase the agony that megalomaniac ambition has loosed upon the world."

'Open Season' Declared On Quislings In Norway

London, Dec. 30 (AP)—An official Norwegian source said today that 30 quislings had been assassinated in Norway in the past six weeks.

He said patriots in the country had declared "an open season" on traitors and "hardly a day passes without some quisling creature who has worked for the Germans being shot or liquidated."

The Norwegian Government charged today that the Germans were staging commando raids against defenseless villages which they had already evacuated along the coasts of northern Norway.

"Not content with evacuating the greater part of the population of north Norway and destroying most of their homes and means of existence," a Government spokesman said, "the Germans are sending back raiding parties to finish off the work."

BRITISH M. P. IS KILLED

Macnamara Dies in Italy—He Led 'Invasion' of Yugoslavia

LONDON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Col. John Robert Jermain Macnamara, 39, who led an "invasion" of Yugoslavia with fifteen men to prepare the way for British land and air assistance to Marshal Tito, has been killed in action in Italy, it was announced today.

At the time of the "invasion" he was chief of staff of the Adriatic Command. He had been a Conservative Member of Parliament since 1935.

Germans Active in Atlantic

LONDON, Dec. 30 (AP)—A Berlin broadcast asserted today that German submarines "and other small but dangerous weapons" had been thrown into action in the Atlantic to cut Allied supply lines to the Western Front.

Great Britain's Income Increases During 1944

London, Dec. 30 (AP)—Treasury returns for the first nine months of the financial year published today show that Great Britain's total ordinary revenues were £1,990,520,238 (about $7,962,080,952), a net increase of £153,156,102 over the same period last year. The fiscal period ends March 31.

Britain's total ordinary expenditures reached £4,447,276,710, compared with £4,226,175,254 at the end of last year.

The deficit, or difference, between revenues and expenditures amounted to £2,456,756,472, which was raised by treasury borrowing.

Among revenue items showing increases the largest was income taxes, which altogether brought in £595,512,000 to date.

French Navy Bombards Foe On Italian Frontier

Paris, Dec. 30 (AP)—The "forgotten front" along the French-Italian frontier popped into the news today with the announcement of a series of bombardments by the French Navy.

The Ministry of Marine announced that the desetroyers Le Fortune, Trombe and L'Alcyon had shelled effectively German concentrations and barracks at Ventimiglia several times between December 21 and 28.

For the last three months Nazi guns have been lobbing occasional shells into Menton across the French border.

Nazi Spies Rounded Up In Paris Area by Allies

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 30—Many Nazi spies and saboteurs, some in American uniforms, have been trapped within and around Paris by American military authorities and French police, it was disclosed tonight. In one of a number of raids on spy hangouts thirty persons were arrested.

The extensive spy hunt began recently when it was learned that Germans were attempting to infiltrate the Allied lines in Allied uniforms to kill high-ranking officers and sabotage communications.

One German wearing an American officer's uniform was recognized by the FFI and arrested in a night club, Stars and Stripes reported, while two others were found in a house where a French girl had given them refuge.

Edouard Pisani, Prefect of Police, said several of the Germans had been hiding out in Paris since the liberation and had timed their emergence to coincide with the counter-offensive.

Catroux Named French Ambassador To Russia

Paris, Dec. 30 (AP)—Gen. Georges Catroux has been named French Ambassador to Russia, the Cabinet announced today. He is expected to leave for Moscow shortly.

The designation of Catroux, former Governor General in Algeria and French leader in the Middle East, completes the renovation of France's major diplomatic posts by the Provisional Government.

FRENCH PLANE FIRMS BUSY

Now Employ 50% More Workers Than Before Liberation

PARIS, Dec. 30 (AP)—French aircraft factories have swung back into war production with 55,000 more employes at work than the 100,000 who were employed by the industry before France's liberation, Air Minister Charles Tillon announced today.

He said that all the factories, which during the occupation turned out aircraft for the Germans, were shifting to the manufacture of the Allies' plane types as quickly as possible.

French Editor Talks; Wins Execution Stay

Marseille, France, Dec. 30 (AP)—Albert Lejeune, former manager of the newspaper Petit Nicois, won postponement of his execution today by promising "sensational revelations" as he was being led before a firing squad.

Lejeune was under sentence of death for collusion with the enemy in the operation of a newspaper at Nice.

As he was led out he told his guards he wished to make a statement. Summoned before a regional commissioner, he talked steadily for nine hours, the French press agency reported.

The Socialist daily Populaire said the reported statements concerned relations of high Vichyites ith the Nazi embassy in a case scheduled before the Paris purge court.

At Montpellier an enraged throng followed up yesterday's lynching of four Vichyites awaiting execution by seizing and shooting former Mayor Marcel Farge of the town of Ales. An order commuting Farge's sentence to twenty years precipitated the incident.

Tragedy: In a Garden a Garden

One Act, For and By Children—You've Guessed It—Gertrude Stein Is Busy Again.

Paris, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—There is a hint of "A Rose Is a Rose" in Gertrude Stein's newest play—a one-act tragedy to be played by and for children.

Miss Stein calls it "In a Garden." It is one of the things she tossed off while living in the heart of the Maquis country where she and her companion-biographer, Alice B. Toklas, were caught at the outbreak of the war.

In the new play the characters are one girl named Lucy Willow and two boys—Philip Hall and Kid Roccoon.

The scene opens with Lucy Willow talking:

"I am thinking how to be a queen. I am not thinking about how to be a princess. I am thinking about how to be a queen. I am thinking not about being Lucy Willow but how to be a queen."

Philip Hall answers:

"Be a queen. Be a queen."

The action develops with both boys offering her crowns and then battling to death with her looking on.

In the concluding dialogue Lucy Willow places both crowns on her head and says:

"It is lovely to be a queen. I must be a queen. I am a queen. I can tell by feeling I am a queen and it is lovely to be a queen."

Germans Increase Movements of Troops And Materials in Western Sector of Italy

ROME, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Germans have speeded the movement of troops and material in the western coastal sector of the Italian front, and the situation in this area, where the enemy has pressed a counter-attack all week, remains "fluid," the Allies' command announced today.

The enemy "has not renewed his attack on the previous large scale" in the Serchio River Valley fifteen miles inland, official reports said. They added that "our troops occupy commanding positions on high ground in this area." However, the exact situation in this region, where American Ninety-second Infantry Division units were shoved earlier from their forward positions, remained obscure. An announcement from the Fifteenth Army Group, besides reporting increased German movements, said that "the enemy has become more sensitive and his patrolling more aggressive than previously."

The possibility that the Germans were moving a substantial force down the west coast, however, was seen in an air force announcement that hundreds of the Allies' medium bombers and fighter-bombers had spent yesterday blasting bridges and other targets along the coastal road below La Spezia.

Activity on the British Eighth Army's front in the southeastern part of the Po Valley was highlighted by sharp patral engagements on both sides of the Senio River. On the west bank the Germans were digging in for a determined stand.

Particularly vigorous small-scale actions were reported along the upper stretches of the Senio south of Highway 9 near the Apennine foothills. There one enemy force crossed the stream and knocked Eighth Army troops out of one position after an artillery preparation.

Northeast of Faenza the British continued clearing out the last positions of the enemy salient in the direction of Bagnacavallo despite strong opposition by German tanks, infantry and artillery.

Great masses of guns brought nto action along the Eighth Army's front in recent weeks were extremely active. Particularly heavy shelling was laid down on Eighth Army positions near the Senio west of Bagnacavallo.

FOE SHIFTS TROOPS ON ITALIAN FRONT

Rome, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—The Allied command reported increased movement of enemy troops and materials today in the Tyrrhenian coastal sector of the Italian front and said the situation in the Serchio Valley, fifteen miles inland, remains fluid.

Five days ago the Germans launched a counter-offensive on a six-mile front down the Serchio Valley which the Germans claimed has carried as far as Fornaci, a mile and a half south of Barga, and representing a gain of about three and one-half miles.

American Fifth Army troops were forced out of Barga and Gallicano before the Nazi drive appeared to have died down.

The exact situation in the coastal sector remained obscure. The possibility that the Germans were moving substantial forces down the west coast was seen in an air force announcement that hundreds of Allied medium and fighter bombers spent yesterday blasting bridges and other targets along the coastal road below La Spezia.

Activity on the Eighth Army Po Valley front was highlighted yesterday by sharp patrol engagements on both sides of the Senio River.

Masterpiece Stolen by Germans Recovered Near Colmar

PARIS, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Isenheim altar screen painted by Mathias Grunewald, one of the world's great art treasures believed to have been looted by the Germans, has been found safe and in excellent condition in the castle of Haut-Koenigsbourg near Colmar.

The masterpiece was discovered by Capt. Marvin C. Ross of Baltimore, who learned indirectly of its whereabouts through captured German records and hurried to the castle with M. Haug, director of Strasbourg's municipal museum. Many other famous paintings were recovered.

MANCHURIAN UNITS ON LEYTE

Japs Drew On Asiatic Forces, MacArthur Says

DEC 31 1944

General MacArthur's Philippine Headquarters, Sunday, Dec. 31 (AP). Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed today, while a new Mindoro-bound convoy pressed on under Japanese attack to reinforce his conquering forces, that the enemy had drawn troops from Manchuria in an effort to stop him on Leyte Island.

The American commander's communique said Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita had lost in the futile defense of Leyte four army divisions and the elements of two more, besides a naval brigade and other special forces.

Total Japanese losses, including 301 more killed in recent mopping-up operations, reached 116,770, the communiqué said.

16th Was At Bataan

In a "historical resume" of the Japanese forces of Yamashita's 35th Army, destroyed on Leyte, MacArthur said one division, the 16th, had participated in the battle of Bataan against him early in the war.

The opposing forces on Leyte were declared about eyual in number.

MacArthur declared the campaign ended Christmas Day when his troops captured Palompon, the last enemy port of escape.

Since then mopping-up operations have continued against remnants of the Japanese force.

Tokyo's Claim

The communiqué said Japanese planes atacked a Mindoro-bound American convoy off Panay Island the night of December 28-29.

[Tokyo radio yesterday broadcast a claim that Japanese planes in three days of attacks on a 50-ship convoy headed for Mindoro had sunk ten transports and a PT boat, and had damaged two transports, a cruiser and one destroyer.]

MacArthur's communiqué said that eight of the attacking planes had been shot down. No mention was made of convoy losses.

Patrol planes from newly established American fields in the central Philippines continued harassing raids on enemy fields on Luzon Island, the communiqué said.

It added that a Japanese air raid on Mindoro was ineffective.

Jap Aids to Be Interned.

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today ordered military internment of Filipinos who "have given aid, comfort and sustenance to the enemy." Hutcheson

A proclamation issued by his headquarters said: "Military necessity requires that such persons be removed from any opportunity to threaten the security of our military forces or success of our military operations."

As commander of the Southwest Pacific area, the general declared his intent to "remove such persons when apprehended from any position of political and economic influence in the Philippines and hold them in restraint for the duration of the war, whereafter I shall release them to the Philippine Government for its judgment."

Sergio Osmena, President of the Philippine Commonwealth, said after the American troop landing on Leyte that every suspected person would get a prompt and open hearing. In explaining today's modification he said that it establishes a procedure for cases which involve, the Army feels, military security. He emphasized that suspected persons would be held as internees and not as prisoners.

Gen. MacArthur's proclamation was issued, apparently, to plug a loophole. Several dozen persons have been held since shortly after the liberation of Leyte. One hearing has been completed but no action has been taken.

MANY JAPS KILLED BY CHINESE UNITS IN HUNAN DRIVE

CHUNGKING, Dec. 30 — (AP) Chinese units in Hunan province have killed scores of Japanese soldiers in an attack by mobile columns near Hengyang as Allied warplanes ranged over the whole China theater to carry out successful raids on enemy road, rail and shipping installations, Chinese dispatches said tonight.

About 100 Japanese were killed and five machineguns were seized when Chinese infantrymen stormed enemy positions outside the north gate of Hengyang at the junction of the Hunan-Kwongsi and Canton-Hankow railroads, the reports said. Hengyang is 190 miles northeast of the former American air base at Kweilin.

An American communique announced that U. S. 14th Air force bombers and fighters had lashed at Japanese communication lines and transportation centers in three countries, and one Chinese dispatch said Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's airmen had crippled enemy river transport along the Yangtze river, main supply line to central China.

As a direct result of the American attacks, the dispatch said, Japanese supply troops now are forced to move most of their troops and supplies overland along the riverbank instead of by boat. There are indications that the enemy is bolstering anti-aircraft defenses at many points along the Yangtze in an effort to ward off the American blows, the Chinese report added.

On the south China front 14th Air force Liberators hit and probably sank a Japanese freighter in the Yangtze Dec. 28, and fighter-bombers raided an enemy ammunition dump at Leiyang where the Japanese have built a new airfield 35 miles southeast of Hengyang.

In a fighter sweep the same day Chennault's pilots bombed a railroad bridge and tunnel at Tsingsing 30 miles west of the Shihchiachuang rail junction which is 150 miles south of Peiping. The east end of the tunnel was blocked and the bridge approaches were damaged, the U. S. communique said, adding that other fighters bombed Hsishihkuan bridge 30 miles east of Loyang.

P-51s sank a freighter and set a river tug afire yesterday at Unking. A second freighter was left smoking and two other vessels were damaged. P-40s of the Chinese-American wing hammered Japanese supply lines and ground installations in the Hengyang-Leiyang area destroying one locomotive and damaging six others, the communique said.

During the past two days American fighter pilots attacked key enemy strongpoints in the French Indo-China border region blasting airfields at Nanning, Haiphong and Gialam, and strafing river and rail convoys. Japanese cavalry units also were strafed in the Nanning area, the communique said, adding that one formation of Liberators had bombed the Donghoi railroad bridge 225 miles south of Hanoi on the Saigon-Hanoi railway.

CHINESE CAPTURE 2 YUNNAN TOWNS

DEC 31 1944

Chungking, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—Chinese troops in Yunnan province have captured two Japanese-held towns where the enemy has been holding up the Chinese drive toward the Burma border town of Wanting, the Chinese High Command announced today. The towns, Toulungchai, seven and one-half miles northeast of Mengmao and Tuka, eleven miles northwest of Wanting, were taken in brisk fighting with the Chinese ground troops closely supported by American planes.

FOE STILL FLEEING TOWARD MANDALAY

DEC 31 1944

Only Suicide Rearguards Are in Path of British in Push Southward in Burma

CALCUTTA, India, Dec. 30 (AP) —The abandonment of important sectors of northern Burma by the Japanese continued today with mounting evidence that the enemy does not plan to make a major stand north of Mandalay.

In the past forty-eight hours British troops have advanced nine miles east toward the town of Ye-u, seventy miles northwest of Mandalay, and only suicide Japanese rearguards are contesting the drive, dispatches to headquarters of Allied Land Forces, southeast Asia, here said today.

The enemy is beginning to destroy the railroad from Ye-u south to Monywa, evidence of an intention to continue the southward retreat. This railway is the backbone of the enemy's supply line north and west of Mandalay.

Tawhyin, thirty-four miles northwest of Ye-u, has been reached by British troops advancing along the Ye-u road, the Kandy communiqué said.

Front-line reports emphasize that the Japanese withdrawal is orderly, but the precision of the retreat does not obscure the fact that Japanese military leaders are abandoning northwestern Burma.

One Enemy Force Fighting

Allied troops, moving south in three parallel columns between the Mandalay railroad and the Irrawaddy River, report that one fairly large enemy force is offering opposition east of Kanbalu, on the Myitkyina - Mandalay railway, about ninety-five miles from Mandalay.

An advance of ten miles has been made by West African units of the Fourteenth Army which crashed through Japanese lines on the east bank of the Kalapanzin River in the Arakan area. In this region the enemy's position is worsening hourly. The west coast of the Mayu Peninsula now is firmly held by British and West African units which are closing in on Rathedaung, key enemy base twenty-four miles north of Akyab.

In the northern combat area Chinese forces under the command of Lieut. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan probed Japanese jungle positions south of Namhkam following the occupation of Loiwing and Paghkam, a communiqué from Southeast Asia Command Headquarters in Kandy, Ceylon, said.

Loiwing is on the Chinese side of the China-Burma border. Paghkam is four miles from Namhkam on the Bhamo-Namhkam road.

Eastern Air Command pilots kept up their attacks on enemy river and road traffic yesterday, the communiqué said. Monywa, vital Japanese base in the lower Chindwin region, was bombed, and other Allied aircraft sank ten river boats in the Akyab area. Thirty-seven other river craft were damaged, the communiqué added.

Kandy, Ceylon, Dec. 29 (A. P.).—Chinese forces attacking through the North Burma jungles under American air support are probing Japanese positions south of Namhkam following the capture of Loiwing and Paghkam, a headquarters communique said today. Loiwing, site of a Chinese-American airplane factory before the fall of Burma in 1942, fell to troops under the command of Lieut.-Gen. Daniel I. Sultan.

LITTLE IWO JIMA BLASTED AGAIN

Island Bombed for 21st Straight Day.

United States Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—American heavy bombers blasted little Iwo Jima for the twenty-first straight day Wednesday in one of the most intensive neutralization campaigns of the Pacific war.

Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands only 750 miles from Tokyo, is only eight miles square, but is important as a take-off point for Japanese planes attacking the Superfortress base at Saipan, less than 700 miles to the south.

Intense anti-aircraft fire greeted Wednesday's raiding flight of Liberators of the Strategic Air Force, but not a plane was lost, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said in a communique. Explosives raked the field and installations.

The fact Iwo Jima is still operating after so many previous raids gave emphasis to the remarks Thursday of Major-Gen. Robert W. Douglass, deputy commander of the Strategic Air Force, who said "It would take thousands of planes, dropping bombs every hour, to keep Iwo Jima knocked out all the time."

Nimitz Warns Japanese War Will Reach Nippon's Heart

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

DEC 31 1944

Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 30 (AP)—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, inaugurating a new phase of psychological warfare against Japan, told the people of that country by radio that the United States Navy was "determined to carry the fighting to the very vitals of Nippon."

Nimitz's transcribed statement was made in the opening broadcast on December 26 on Office of War Information's new short-wave station on Saipan, one of two erected primarily in the Pacific area to intensify psychological activity against the Japanese. It was beamed directly to Japan.

Calls Defeat Inevitable

"As the blockade of Japan tightens, as the bombing of Japan is stepped up, as United States productive capacity is enlarged—it is inevitable that Japan will be defeated," Nimitz said.

The Fleet Admiral listed the great gains made by the Allies across the Pacific in the last year, enumerated the islands captured, neutralized or isolated and told of United States task force attacks throughout the Japanese empire.

Even with the United States Fleet already the strongest in the world Nimitz said, still larger and faster ships and planes are being built in quantities.

Cannot Be Matched

"Japan's," he added, "cannot hope to match these with its present industrial limitations."

He told the Japanese people that fleets of Superfortresses were bombing industrial targets in Tokyo and other sections of Japan and Manchuria "just as Allied aerial warfare is reducing the productive capacity of Germany."

He reported important Japanese supply lines were being severed; that intensified United States submarine operations were continuing to sink more Japanese merchant ships loaded with supplies desperately needed at the front or at home.

"Our progress in the Pacific campaigns," he said, "has been so successful and uninterrupted that even high Japanese have indicated their concern.

"The preponderance of United States ships, war materials and manpower portends increased casualties and hardships for Japan's military, and increased casualties and hardships for Japan's military and increased destruction and suffering for her industrial sectors."

'Satan's Angels' Destroy 500th Japanese Plane

Is Second 5th Air Force Group to Pass Mark

FIFTH AIR FORCE BASE, Philippines, Dec. 30 (AP).—"Satan's Angels" have become the second 5th Air Force group to pass the 500 mark in bagged Japanese planes. The "Angels"—the 475th Group—reached the 500 mark on Christmas Day and now are raising that total rapidly.

The outfit's top ace is Major Thomas McGuire jr., of San Antonio, Tex., who has shot down thirty-eight planes, only two planes less than the Pacific record held by Major Richard I. Bong, of Poplar, Wis.

[Lieutenant Colonel John C. Meyer, of Forest Hills, Queens, has shot down thirty-four planes in the European theater, which gives him the highest American ranking there for planes destroyed in air combat.]

PANAMA PRESIDENT REFUSES TO RESIGN

DEC 31 1944

De la Guardia Tells Junta He Plans to Stick to June 15—Opposition Seems Divided

BALBOA, C. Z., Dec. 30 (AP)—President Ricardo Adolfo de la Guardia of Panama declined tonight to resign, as demanded by a group of political leaders, lawyers and business men known as the Junta de Notables.

Earlier, the President's brother-in-law, Augusto Boyd, had said that Señor de la Guardia was ready to resign if that were the only means of returning the country to normalcy.

However, President de la Guardia told the Junta de Notables that unless all political parties backing his administration demanded that he quit, he intended to remain in office until June 15.

The leaders of the move to force the President out began work immediately to convoke a meeting of representatives of the seven administration parties, but for the moment a unanimous agreement appeared unlikely.

The President's term was due to expire Jan. 2, but he and his Cabinet issued a decree yesterday suspending the republic's Constitution, thereby dissolving the Assembly—which was scheduled to meet Tuesday—and providing for elections May 6 to choose delegates to meet June 15 to draft a new Constitution.

The situation throughout Panama was tense, but no disorders were reported. Because of week-end closings the effect of the general strike appeal by the National Youth Congres was difficult to determine. The Government broadcast a warning to police to be ready to prevent any forced closings.

PANAMA SUSPENDS 1941 CONSTITUTION

Balboa, Panama, Canal Zone, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—A decree suspending Panama's 1941 Constitution has opened the way for President Adolfo de la Guardia to retain office. Under normal conditions, he would yield the presidency soon to a successor elected by the National Assembly.

President de la Guardia and his Cabinet issued the decree yesterday, while intense political agitation swept the little republic. Subsequently it was officially announced that the Cabinet had resigned and a high placed spokesman said that the next step might be the formation of a Government Junta. There was an unconfirmed report that such a junta had already been formed, including the President and two political leaders, Francisco Arias andDomingo Diaz.

There were repercussions in the Canal Zone. American military policemen and white-clad Navy shore patrolmen were on duty along the boundary between the Canal Zone and Panama City to keep American servicemen within the Zone limits.

CANADA TO SEND MORE

Defense Chief Pledges Greater Forces Overseas

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Dec. 30 (AP)—The Defense Minister, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, said today that Canadian overseas reinforcements "to an even greater scale than that demanded and promised are well assured."

He did not elaborate on the statement, which was made in a New Year's radio address. The statement might mean that a remustering process and volunteers from the ranks of home-defense, draftees had given him a number of infantrymen in addition to the 16,000 conscripted for overseas service by the new Government reinforcement policy..

Troops to Get Floating Clubs

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 30 (Canadian Press)—Two 8,000-ton former passenger liners of the Blue Funnel Line, converted into minelayers at the outbreak of war, are at near-by Esquimalt, B. C., to be reconverted into floating night clubs to entertain troops in the South Pacific. The British Admiralty has ordered the work.

Japs Minimize Raids.

While it is not impossible to burn Tokyo out of existence through bombing alone, said Radio Tokyo today, it would be extremely costly and would take the enemy from fifteen to twenty years to do it.

The broadcast, intercepted by the Federal Communications Commission and reported by the Associated Press, said: "Even in daylight raiding the enemy's practice of sending over B-29 bombers without fighter escorts is not particularly effective because of the effective Japanese air opposition."

"Counter-attacking efficiency of the Japanese air force," added the broadcast, is "rapidly rising."

WLB STEEL WAGE AWARD IS APPROVED

OPA Sees No Resultant Rise In Prices, Says

Vinson Decision

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Steel workers received an okay from Fred Vinson, Director of Economic Stabilizatio.n tonight for wage increases approved by the War Labor Board and estimated to average 5 to 7 cents an hour.

Announcing his decision, Vinson said the Office of Price Administration had advised that this boost for the more than 400,000 workers in the iron and steel industry would not necessitate general increases in prices of steel products.

The OPA did advise, Vinson said, that an increase in price of some steel products was overdue and would have to be made.

OPA As To Efefct On Prices

In a letter to William H. Davis, WLB chairman, Vinson said the OPA's conclusion was this:

"These increases will be made irrespective of the wage decision. It is the judgment of the price administrator that after these price adjustments are made the proposed wage increases will not require any further net rise in the general level of iron and steel prices.

"Accordingly, the wage increases required by your directive order may become effective."

In talking of required price increases Vinson referred to the requirement of the Price Stabilization Act that price increases be authorized in "hardship" cases determined on the basis of present earnings records compared with pre-war earnings.

WLB Decision November 25

The WLB decided the steel wage case on November 25, but said the pay changes it approved should not become effective unless the OPA found they would not necessitate an increase in steel prices or Vinson ordered them into effect.

Although 400,000 workers in 86 companies are the only ones affected directly, the decision may finally affect some 500,000 other workers in 600 companies where the CIO-United Steel Workers have collective-bargaining agreements.

The OPA, after cost studies, wound up with an estimate that the boost would cost between $75,000,000 and $80,000,000 a year. Steel company figures ranged up to $150,000,000.

Difficulty In Figuring Cost

A difficulty in figuring the cost is the fact that the increases approved are not in the basic wage. The steel workers asked 17 cents an hour increase in basic wage, but the WLB turned this down on the grounds it would violate the Government's wage-stabilization policy.

The main increase approved was a premium of 4 cents an hour for the second or early night shift and 6 cents for the third or late night shift. This will affect the majority of workers since in most steel plants it is a practice for workers to rotate through the shifts at intervals.

Increases Retroactive

These increases are retroactive to the expiration of old contracts. The expiration date varies from plant to plant but most contracts expired around December 26, 1943.

In addition, the WLB directed adjustments to correct "inequities" within plants, but ordered that increases under this directive should not average more than 5 cents an hour for all of a plant's employés. Also approved were vacations with pay.

The WLB directed, too, that the companies and the union negotiate on a plan for severance pay. If they could not agree, the board said, it would undertake to settle the issues.

For Study Of Annual Wage

To another union demand—for a guaranteed annual wage—the board replied that it would recommend to President Roosevelt that the whole question be studied on a national scale.

Davis contended at the time the WLB reached its conclusions that increases approved would "not even bend"—much less break—the wage-stabilization policy. This policy is based on allowing no general wage increases greater than fifteen per cent above the level of January, 1941.

LATIN AMERICAS ASK POST-WAR ROLE

State Department Gets Views From Nine for Dumbarton Oaks Organization

DEC 31 1944

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Latin-American nations want wider, and even direct, representation in the top policy-making body of the proposed international security organization.

This is the most outstanding general conclusion drawn from the suggestions of nine Latin-American countries that have forwarded their ideas to the State Department.

The nine replies are summarized in a report which was distributed to the Latin-American diplomatic envoys at their meeting yesterday with Secretary Stettinius.

Two other countries made oral suggestions with the approval of their Governments yesterday, but the State Department would not identify them, locating them vaguely "in Central America."

Summary of Proposals

From a synthesis of the replies received so far these general conclusions can be made:

1. The Latin-American countries want the right to vote directly on matters affecting the putting down of aggression. They argue that since they share in the responsibility for maintaining the peace they should have the right to vote in decisions on the use of force.

2. They want more representation on the eleven-member security council. Brazil and Costa Rica both have suggested that one Latin-American country get a permanent seat on the policy-making security council.

3. They would like to change the name "United Nations," feeling that this title has a war connotation that might have an adverse psychological effect on an organization devoted to maintaining peace.

The Latin-American countries, however, agree on the principle of the organization, and their suggestions are explained as directed toward building the most workable organization.

Assembly Plan Under Fire

The criticisms of the nine countries are principally directed at the Assembly, since this is the general body in which all participating nations would be represented.

DEC 31 1944

The Assembly under the Dumbarton Oaks proposals limits the powers of this body to a consultative role in the decisions on applying sanctions to a potential aggressor and declaring war on an active aggressor.

These powers would be lodged in the eleven-man Security Council where the Latin American nations might be represented by one of their own group on a nonpermanent basis.

The desire of the American republics is to give the Assembly concomitant power with the Security Council in voting privileges. Chile, for instance, has suggested that the decisions of the Council should be approved by a two-thirds vote of the Assembly.

Most of the discussion on the Dumbarton Oaks proposals has revolved around that point, since it will determine in large measure how large a part the Latin-American countries will have in assuming their role of guardians of the peace.

The ten American republics which have not yet sent in their suggestions were urged to do so at the earliest possible moment at yesterday's meeting.

The group wants to have a complete file of the ideas of each country before going to the projected inter-American meeting of "those nations that have cooperated in the war effort." This would exclude Argentina.

'CRY ABOUT BLUNDERS' BY ALLIES ASSAILED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Army and Navy Journal, in an editorial today on the German counter-offensive in the west, asserted that "this is no time to cry about blunders and errors, to denounce the failure of American intelligence, as did General March, Chief of Staff in World War I."

Gen. Peyton C. March said in an interview on his eightieth birthday Wednesday that a complete breakdown in Allied military intelligence preceded the Nazi drive in Belgium and Luxembourg.

The Army and Navy Journal, an unofficial service publication, referring to the criticism by General March and from other sources, said:

"Rather than doubting General Eisenhower or his staff and the leaders of our armies in the field, we should, we must, recall their past performance, their sensational breach of Hitler's European fortress, and their series of victories which brought them into the German homeland. They are meeting the desperate gamble of a desperate Nazi leader, and it is our business to show that we are supremely confident of their ability to bring it to utter failure.

"The time for inquiry as to the alleged failure of intelligence, why we did not do this or that, will come after the battle is over, and we may be sure that the sharpest critic of any blunder or error will be General Eisenhower and General Marshall and the Army commanders."

HeroGivenHighestMedal For Saving His Company

Killed 2 Days After Cleaning Up Machine-Gun Nest in Italy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP).—An infantryman, whose "grim wrath and determination" saved his company when disaster threatened, has received the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously.

The War Department announced today that the nation's highest military honor had been conferred on Private Patrick J. Kessler, of Middletown, Ohio. He was a member of Company K, 30th Infantry Regiment, 3d Division. The action occurred at Ponpe Rotto on May 23, just after the Allied breakout from the Anzio beachhead in Italy.

"In the furious trend of battle,' the department said, "the company had progressed more than 800 yards in front of its division and enemy machine gunners and riflemen to the flanks and rear supported by concentrated mortar and artillery fire, were doing their utmost to destroy the partly isolated unit.

"In one whirlwind action Private Kessler dealt alone with an enemy machine-gun nest, a strong point with its machine gunners and riflemen, and individual snipers. His furious attacks enabling his company to continue its advance to its objective."

Private Kessler escaped death by inches a score of times when small-arms fire and artillery struck close to him in the action. He captured seventeen Germans and killed a number of others.

The infantryman's anger was aroused when he saw twenty-one of his comrades killed and fifty-four wounded by the close-range fire of the enemy.

Two days after this engagement, "while still fighting his way forward to the glory of the regiment and division, he met a hero's death in battle," the War Department related.

EISENHOWER'S FAITH IN MEN CITED BY WIFE

FORT BENNING, Ga., Dec. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Dwight David Eisenhower, wife of the Allied Supreme Commander in western Europe, said today her husband "has always felt that a leader is only as good as the men he leads." Mrs. Eisenhower is here for a visit with her son John.

"This is everybody's war," she remarked. "Alone, no one man can win it.

"Ike has always felt that way, and I know he feels that way now. I am sure that is why he said, 'I call upon every man of all the Allies to rise now to new heights of courage.'

"His statement of 'unshakable faith in the cause for which we fight' came from the very bottom of Ike's heart.

"When he said, 'We will, with God's help, go forward to our greatest victory,' you may be sure it was said with the reverence of prayer. I know Ike. He is calm and sincere—he keeps calm command of the most complicated and difficult situations."

U.S. Tanker's Personnel Cited By Admiral Nimitz

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Officers and crew of the American tanker La Placentia have been cited by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz for "excellent service and outstanding cooperation" in the conquest of the Marshall Islands.

"Officers and crew of the S.S. La Placetia stood by to give prompt and efficient action to all vessels requiring their service regardless of the time of day or long hours at station," said the citation from the commander in chief of the Pacific fleet and Pacific Ocean areas.

Master of the tanker is 32-year-old Capt. Maurice V. Ring, of Dillon, Mont.

The ship, built at San Pedro, Cal., in 1921, is operated for the War Shipping Administration by the Union Oil Company, of California.

EAST ABSORBS SOUTH IN DEFENSE COMMAND

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Army's Southern Defense Command will be absorbed by the Eastern Command, effective Monday, the War Department announced today.

The consolidation is to effect "an economy in personnel, as well as to simplify procedures in operation," the department said.

Lieut. Gen. George Grunert, chief of the Eastern Defense Command, will head the consolidated organization with headquarters in New York City.

The Southern Command was headed by Maj. Gen. Henry C. Pratt, who recently left that assignment to become chief of the Western Defense Command. Brig. Gen. Raymond H. McQuillan has been acting as General Pratt's successor. His new assignment has not been announced.

The United States now will have only two defense commands, the Central Command having been consolidated previously with the Eastern Command.

States to be absorbed in the consolidated command include Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and a strip of Florida west of the Apalachicola River.

The Eastern Defense Command will embrace the entire country with the exception of the States of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona.

Com. Conley Name Navy Press Chief

Washington, Dec. 30 [Special]—Lieut. Com. John E. Conley, of Baltimore, has been appointed officer in charge of the press section of the Navy Department's bureau of public relations, it was announced today.

Announcement was also made of the designation of Lieut. W. Joynes MacFarlan, of Arlington, Va., as executive officer of the Navy press section.

Commander Conley, formerly a member of the editorial staff of the Baltimore Evening Sun, joined the Navy in August, 1941, with the rank of lieutenant (j.g.).

His previous Navy assignments include public relations posts in the Ninth Naval District at Chicago, the Fifth Naval District at Norfolk and at the Fifth Naval District branch office in Baltimore.

Commander Conley, who is 31 years old, is married and has two children.

Army To Pay Veterans For Part-Time Studies

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Veterans taking part-time studies under the GI Bill of Right will be put on the payroll "immediately," Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, Administrator of Veterans' Affairs, said today.

All veterans taking part-time courses are eligible for payments unless they are gainfully employed in full-time jobs not related to the course of training. In this case no payment will be made.

General Hines announced payments to both veterans and educational institutions will be in proportion to the time a veteran devotes to the educational or training program.

Thus, if a veteran is going to school half time, he will be paid at half the full-time rate, but he may continue the course twice as long, until his full allotment is used up.

Envoy Urges Speedy Liberation Of Norway

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Norway's Ambassador, Wilhelm Morgenstierne, added his voice today to a swelling chorus from his countrymen calling for speedy liberation of Norway.

He expressed keen disappointment that the Nazis were not ejected in 1944. Morgenstierne spoke after his Government in London had issued a similar appeal.

"While we all realize that we must accept the supreme strategy of the military leaders," the Ambassador said in a New Year's message, "it is our ardent hope that means may be found to expedite the full liberation of Norway."

Germany's Imports Of Metals Cut Heavily

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—Germany's imports of metal have been cut to a point which ultimately will result in equipment deterioration, the magazine Iron Age says in its annual review of non-ferrous metals.

Loss of Nikopol, the Balkans and Hungary has cut deeply into the Germans' supply of contained manganese and chrome. They have lost important lead, molybdenum and cobalt supplies from Finland, and loss of mines in the Karelian peninsula and Yugoslavia has cut off about 60 per cent of their copper supply.

DEC 31 1944

3 Kaiser Yards Claim Record With 200 Ships

Portland, Ore., Dec. 30 (AP)—The three Kaiser shipyards in this area claimed a new record today, with 200 vessels—an estimated 2,000,000 deadweight tons—delivered in 1944.

The pay roll also hit a new high, with $290,000,000 paid out to the nearly 92,000 workers.

In addition to 200 ships built—tankers, attack transports, aircraft carriers, Victory and Liberty freighters—nine military ships were outfitted.

Since the birth of the yards in 1941, workers have turned out 614 vessels—more than 6,000,000 deadweight tons, and have collected pay checks totaling more than $711,000,000.

The six major shipyards in this area—both Kaiser and Independent—delivered 420 vessels in 1944. Many of these were small craft.

Increased Helium Sales Laid To Use In Welding

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Helium, the lightweight non-inflammable gas, now is widely used in the aircraft industry in welding magnesium and its alloys.

This, the Bureau of Mines said today, accounts for a sharp increase in sales of the gas to commercial distributors in 1944. The bureau, sole producer of helium, reported sales averaged about 250,000 cubic feet monthly throughout the year.

In addition, the bureau said, "considerable helium" is being sent to private industries working on Army and Navy contracts.

Sales to commercial distributors increased from about 88,000 cubic feet in 1942 to the present rate, the bureau reported.

ARMY EXPANDS HOLD ON WARDS

Desks and Clerical Help Are Moved Into Office.

Chicago, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—The Army consolidated its position today in its occupation of Montgomery Ward & Co.'s main offices here and facilities in six other cities. Overnight forty desks, with typewriters and telephones, were installed for Army officers and their clerical help in the company auditorium on the eighth floor near the executive offices. Mimeograph machines and files were placed there by the Army.

A complete switchboard was set up, supervised by a Wac, Tech. Sergt. Marie E. Kuzma of Pittsburgh, attached to Sixth Service Command Headquarters in Chicago. She was the telephone operator in charge at the Roosevelt-Churchill conference in Quebec.

Avery Busy in Office.

Sewell L. Avery, chairman of the board of Ward's arrived at his own office and busied himself in conferences with Stuart S. Ball, company secretary and chief counsel, and John A. Barr, Ward's labor relations attorney. Major-Gen. Joseph W. Byron, the military manager, is using an office near Mr. Avery's.

Mr. Avery contends the Army seizure Thursday and the presidential order under which it was made are unconstitutional and could not be accepted or obeyed by Ward's.

When H. L. Pearson, Ward's treasurer, declined to turn over certain books and records to the Army yesterday, at least without Mr. Avery's approval, it appeared that the Government might ask for immediate Federal Court action to prevent company interference.

Army Studies Records.

Today, however, Hugh C. Cox, assistant solicitor-general, said he did not contemplate immediate legal action and that he understood the Army was satisfactorily going over some records without company assistance.

A hearing is set for January 8 on the Government's petition for an injunction to prevent interference and for a declaratory judgment to establish legality of the seizure and executive order.

The auditorium into which the Army moved ordinarily is used for stockholders' meetings and company festivities. It seats several hundred. The Army piled company chairs, tables, blackboards and a piano on the platform to make room for its office facilities.

A score of reporters and photographers have used the auditorium for a press room since Thursday.

Wheeler Urges, S...

Senate to State Its Peace Aims

Files Resolution Seeking a European Federation; Cites Roosevelt Silence

DEC 31 1944

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP).—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, proposed today that the Senate formally proclaim its own peace aims, "in the absence of the President's taking a stand."

He filed with the Senate secretary, for introduction when the new Congress meets Wednesday, a resolution which would place the Senate on record for creation of a "federation of European nations" and for:

A United Nations political council to settle European territorial issues.

Plebiscites under international supervision to let liberated countries pick their own forms of government and leadership.

A United Nations economic and social council to promote economic advancement, social security and labor standards.

Adoption of a universal bill of rights.

Extension of democratic principles and "preservation here of our American way of life."

Often a critic of Administration foreign policy, Senator Wheeler told reporters he had prepared his resolution for this reason:

"With the Administration apparently doing nothing with reference to activities of Russia in taking over the Baltics, Balkans and a big slice of Poland contrary to the Atlantic Charter and everything the United States has stood for with England seeking to grab off spheres of influence and control over Greece, Italy, Belgium and Holland, it is high time that in the absence of the President's taking a stand, the Senate of the United States ought to declare itself and state the peace aims of the United States of America."

The Montana Senator beat another group of legislators to the punch. Senators Carl A. Hatch, Democrat, of New Mexico, and Joseph H. Ball, Republican, of Minnesota, have been wrestling for days with the idea of some declaration of Congressional views on current international issues and peace problems.

The suggestion for a United States of Europe, or a Federation of European Nations, is nothing new to Senator Wheeler.

"It is the only thing," he told reporters, "that is going to prevent a future war between Great Britain and Russia."

Russia has announced her peace terms for Germany and said repeatedly she so does not want to destroy the German people or nations, Senator Wheeler said.

"But we have sat back and all we've said is 'unconditional surrender,'" he added. "That is meaningless without any explanation. We ought to state our terms to Germany. We ought to say to them: 'Get rid of Hitler, Goebbels, Himmler and that whole gang and set up a democratic country.'"

The Senator said adoption of his resolution would "affirm our faith in the uncompromised principles" of the Atlantic Charter.

DURING THE DAY THE RUSSIANS KILLED 3,600 AXIS TROOPS AND CAPTURED TEN FACTORIES IN THE WESTERN PART OF THE CITY AS THEY DUG THE ENEMY OUT OF CELLARS AND BUILDINGS, A MIDNIGHT SOVIET BULLETIN SAID. THEY CAPTURED 20 GERMAN TANKS AND SELF-PROPELLED GUNS AND DESTROYED SIX A ALSO CAPTURED SIX LOCOMOTIVES AND MUCH OTHER BOOTY, IT SAID.

THE FEROCITY X X X 8TH GRAPH 2ND N-L.

THE MIDNIGHT SUPPLEMENT TO THE SOVIET COMMUNIQUE SAID RUSSIAN SOLDIERS, IN OVERCOMING LINES OF TRENCHES, ENCOUNTERED ELECTRIFIED BARBED WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS IN THE STREETS OF THE BURNING CAPITAL. THIS GERMAN DEVICE FAILED

DEC 31 1944

TO HALT THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE.

THE SOVIET ULTIMATUM WAS ADDRESSED TO THE COMMANDERS OF FIVE GERMAN DIVISIONS AND FOUR HUNGARIAN DIVISIONS WHICH IT NAMED AS PENNED IN THE CITY, AS WELL AS TO THE COMMANDERS OF SEVERAL SMALLER UNITS.

THE FEROCITY OF THE GERMAN STAND IN BUDAPEST'S GUTTED STREETS AND SQUARES WAS INDICATED BY A SPECIAL SOVIET ANNOUNCEMENT THAT NAZI TROOPS HAD "MURDERED RUSSIAN TROOPS WHO WERE CARRYING A WHITE FLAG DURING AN ATTEMPT TO NEGOTIATE A TEMPORARY TRUCE IN THE CITY."

FIGHTING OVER STREETS CHOKED WITH GERMAN DEAD AND SMASHED TANKS AND GUNS THE RUSSIANS WERE BAYONETTING THEIR WAY THROUGH WALLS OF GERMANS ORDERED TO HOLD OUT AS LONG AS POSSIBLE IN AN EFFORT TO DELAY POWERFUL RUSSIAN THRUSTS THROUGH WESTERN HUNGARY AND SOUTHERN SLOVAKIA TOWARD BRATISLAVA AND VIENNA.

THE RUSSIAN NEWSPAPER RED STAR SAID THAT THE TRAPPED ENEMY'S POSITION WAS HOPELESS AND THAT SOVIET UNITS HAD JOINED UP FROM EAST AND WEST "ON ISLANDS OF THE BESIEGED CITY," APPARENTLY U REFERENCE TO ST.MARGARET'S IS

AND WEST "ON ISLANDS OF THE BESIEGED CITY," APPARENTLY A REFERENCE TO ST.MARGARET'S ISLAND, FASHIONABLE SPA WITHIN SIGHT OF PARLIAMENT ON THE EASTERN PEST SIDE OF THE DANUBE.

IN THE SOUTHERN QUARTER OF THE CITY THE RUSSIANS OVERRAN BUDAPEST'S VITAL DOCK SECTORS ON AND NEAR CSEPEL ISLAND AND THE GERMANS NOW DID NOT EVEN HAVE A SINGLE AIRFIELD WITH WHICH TO SUPPLY THEIR DYING FORCES, SOVIET FRONT DISPATCHES SAID.

ON THE PEST SIDE OF BUDAPEST, EAST OF THE DANUBE, THE RUSSIANS WERE FIGHTING THROUGH THE FLAT, MOST POPULOUS SECTIONS OF ONE OF EUROPE'S MOST BEAUTIFUL CAPITALS, BUT IN THE BUDA SECTION ON THE WEST SIDE OF THE RIVER THE GOING APPEARED TO BE MORE DIFFICULT.

THERE THE ENTRENCHED ENEMY HAD THE ADVANTAGE OF 770-FOOT BLUFFS, AND NATURAL DEFENSIVE TERRAIN, AND APPARENTLY THE FIGHTING FLOWED AROUND THE ROYAL PALACE WHERE GERMAN GUNS COULD FIRE DOWN ON THE RUSSIANS IN THE EASTERN SIDE OF THE CITY.

LIGHT TANKS AND ARMORED CARS WERE PENETRATING INTO THE CITY, GREATEST PRIZE YET WITHIN THE GRASP OF THE RUSSIANS, BUT THE GERMANS HAD SOWN THOUSANDS OF MINES WHICH HAD TO BE REMOVED BY SOVIET ENGINEERS.

PICKED SOVIET TEAMS OF TOMMY-GUNNERS AND SAPPERS CLEARED THE WAY FOR THE BULK OF THE RUSSIAN FORCES. THEY CREPT AROUND STREET BARRICADES AND MINED AREAS, FLASHING BACK RADIOED MESSAGES TO SOVIET ARTILLERY WHICH BATTERED DOWN ENEMY STRONGPOINTS.

THE SIZE OF THE TRAPPED BUDAPEST GARRISON AND THE OTHER POCKET WHICH HAS BEEN WIPED OUT IN THE PILIS HILLS BETWEEN BUDAPEST AND THE BIG DANUBE BEND TO THE NORTH ORIGINALLY WAS ESTIMATED AT 100,000.

THESE GERMAN AND HUNGARIAN TROOPS, MANY OF THEM ELITE FORCES ESPECIALLY CHOSEN FOR THE SACRIFICIAL STAND IN THE STALINGRAD MANNER, HAVE BEEN ORDERED TO DIE FIGHTING THE RUSSIANS OR BE SHOT IN THE BACK BY THEIR OWN LEADERS, MOSCOW SAID.

THE NEWSPAPER RED STAR CONCEDED THAT THE GERMANS WERE "FIGHTING WITH THE COURAGE OF THE DOOMED," BUT SAID "SOVIET INFANTRY IS RELENTLESSLY BREAKING DOWN RESISTANCE AND ROUTING THE ENEMY PIECEMEAL."

JUST BEFORE WIPING OUT THE ENEMY FORCE IN THE PILIS HILLS THE RUSSIANS CAPTURED 1,258 GERMANS AND HUNGARIANS ON FRIDAY, THE COMMUNIQUE SAID.

BUT ONE OF THE BIGGEST HAULS YET ANNOUNCED WAS ACHIEVED IN SOUTHERN SLOVAKIA, IN A 35-MILE SECTOR NORTH OF THE DANUBE-PILIS HILLS AREA.

IN THIS AREA THE RUSSIANS HAVE FORCED THE HRON RIVER TRIBUTARY OF THE DANUBE AND ARE WITHIN 64 MILES OF BRATISLAVA AND 98 FROM VIENNA. IN RECENT FIGHTING BETWEEN THE HRON AND IPOLY RIVERS IN THAT CLEARED AREA LEADING TO THE BRATISLAVA PLAIN THE RUSSIANS SAID THEY CAPTURED 7,550 GERMANS AND KILLED 7,600.

LONDON, DEC. 30-(AP)-A BLIZZARD OF "PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE" LEAFLETS FLUTTERED DOWN FROM ALLIED BOMBERS TO ENEMY-OCCUPIED EUROPE DURING 1944 IN A TRUTH CAMPAIGN WHICH BRITISH INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS SAID TODAY IS HAVING A "TERMITE" EFFECT ON GERMAN MORALE.

GROWTH OF THIS PAPER OFFENSIVE FROM A FEW THOUSAND IN EARLY WAR DAYS WAS INDICATED BY AN AIR MINISTRY DISCLOSURE THAT MORE THAN 250,000,000 LEAFLETS WERE SCATTERED OVER 12 EUROPEAN COUNTRIES THIS YEAR BY ITALY-BASED R.A.F. NIGHT BOMBERS ALONE.

ONE OF THE MOST SUCCESSFUL PROPAGANDA EFFORTS OF THE WAR, IT NOW CAN BE REVEALED, HAS BEEN A MESSAGE FOR GERMAN FRONT-LINE TROOPS TELLING THEM "THE WAY HOME TO GERMANY LIES THROUGH CANADA."

UNDER THIS HEADING, THE LEAFLET CONTAINS A CRISPLY-WRITTEN ACCOUNT OF THE LATEST ALLIED SUCCESSES WITH THE IMPLICATION THAT WISE USE OF A SAFE-CONDUCT PASS LEADS TO COMFORTABLE INTERNMENT IN CANADA AND EVENTUALLY BACK TO THE FATHERLAND.

WHILE ALL OCCUPIED COUNTRIES RECEIVE A REGULAR PAMPHLET SERVICE OF STRAIGHT NEWS, OTHERS ARE SPECIALLY PREPARED FOR SPECIFIC AREAS. FOR FRANCE, BEFORE THE INVASION, THERE WERE MESSAGES OF ENCOURAGEMENT. THE BALKANS GENERALLY WERE EXHORTED TO OVERTHROW QUISLING LEADERS.

ALLIED LEAFLETS HAVE BECOME THE ONLY SOURCE OF ACCURATE NEWS FOR THE GERMAN SOLDIER AND THERE IS INCONTROVERTIBLE EVIDENCE IN ALLIED INTELLIGENCE FILES THAT HE LOOKS FOR THEM.

JR236AEW

(EDITOR'S NOTE: THE G-2 SUIT, A SENSATIONAL FORWARD STEP FOR FIGHTER PLANE PILOTS, HAS BEEN USED BY AMERICAN AIRMEN SINCE SHORTLY BEFORE THE INVASION OF FRANCE. A CLOSELY GUARDED SECRET, THE ARMY DID NOT PERMIT DISCLOSURE OF IT UNTIL TODAY. ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT FRANKLIN BANKER OBSERVED ITS USE DURING THE INVASION, STUDIED ITS FUNCTIONS AND WROTE THE FOLLOWING DISPATCH WHICH HAS JUST BEEN CLEARED BY ARMY CENSORS.)

BY FRANKLIN BANKER

AN AMERICAN FIGHTER BASE, JULY 22-(DELAYED)-(AP)-AN ANTI-GRAVITY SUIT WHICH RESEMBLES SOMETHING WHICH CAME OUT OF THE BLOOMER GIRL ERA HAS HELPED AMERICAN FIGHTER PILOTS BEAT DOWN THE GERMAN AIR FORCE.

IT IS KNOWN OFFICIALLY AS THE BERGER G-2 SUIT, BUT THE POPULAR NAME FOR IT AMONG PILOTS AND GROUNDS CREWS IS "ZOOT SUIT." THIS ANTI-GRAVITY GARMENT PREVENTS PILOTS FROM "BLACKING OUT" IN STEEP CLIMBS OR SHARP TURNS BY FORCING BACK UP TO THE BRAIN BLOOD WHICH HAS BEEN PULLED DOWN INTO THE ABDOMEN AND LEGS BY THE FORCE OF GRAVITY.

THE SUIT LOOKS LIKE A COMBINATION CORSET AND OVERALLS WITH TIGHTLY LACED LEGS. BUT ITS LOOKS ARE DECEIVING. THIS QUEER GARMENT GREATLY INCREASED THE MANEUVERABILITY OF THUNDERBOLT PILOTS AND ENABLED THEM TO RUN RINGS AROUND THE SWIFT ME-109'S AND FW-190'S. CAUGHT NAPPING BY THE NEW TACTICS OF THE P-47'S MANY GERMAN PILOTS WERE SHOT DOWN WITH EASE.

THE SUIT ALSO GAVE THE PILOTS OF THE MORE MANEUVERABLE MUSTANGS AND LIGHTNINGS, A BIG ADVANTAGE IN LESSENING FATIGUE ON LONG MISSIONS. IT DID THIS BY PUSHING THE BLOOD BACK UP TO THE HEART AND LUNGS WHICH FILL IT FULL OF LIFE-GIVING OSYGEN. FATIGUE LIKEWISE IS DECREASED IN THE CASE OF THUNDERBOLT PILOTS.

NINTH AIR FORCE PILOTS WERE EQUIPPED WITH THE OLIVE DRAB SUITS IN TIME FOR THE NORMANDY INVASION AND THEIR HEAVY PROGRAM OF PATROL, DIVEBOMBING AND STRAFING MISSIONS IN CLOSE SUPPORT OF GROUND TROOPS. AS ADDITIONAL SUITS ARRIVED FROM AMERICA THEY WERE ISSUED TO PILOTS OF THE EIGHTH AIR FORCE WHOSE MAIN JOB WAS ESCORTING BOMBERS ON LONG-RANGE MISSIONS.

DEC 31 1944

THE NEW DEVICE, HOWEVER, IS NOT NEEDED BY BOMBER CREWS WHO NORMALLY FLY IN FORMATION WITH GRADUAL CHANGES OF ALTITUDE AS COMPARED WITH THE SUDDEN HIGH-SPEED DIVES, CLIMBS AND TURNS OF THE FIGHTERS.

THE SECRET OF THE "ZOOT SUIT" IS FIVE RUBBER BLADDERS WHICH FIT TIGHTLY AGAINST AREAS OF THE BODY WHERE BIG VEINS DILATE WITH BLOOD WHICH IS PULLED DOWN BY GRAVITY. ONE BLADDER RESTS AGAINST THE FRONT OF THE LOWER ABDOMEN AND IS HELD IN PLACE BY TWO FLAPS WHICH ARE FASTENED TOGETHER WITH A ZIPPER IN CORSET FASHION.

OTHER BLADDERS, ONE RESTING ON EACH THIGH AND ONE ON THE CALF OF EACH LEG, ARE KEPT SNUG BY LACES ON THE BACK OF THE "OVERALL" LEGS.

AS HE CLIMBS INTO HIS COCKPIT THE PILOT PLUGS IN A RUBBER HOSE FROM THE BLADDERS TO AN AIR PRESSURE APPARATUS, AND WHEN HIS PLANE ZOOMS SUDDENLY UPWARD IN FLIGHT AIR AUTOMATICALLY IS FORCED INTO THE BLADDERS. THIS INFLATES THEM AND FORCES BLOOD BACK UP TO THE HEAD.

THE AIR PRESSURE IS MADE AUTOMATIC BY REGULATING VALVES. THESE VALVES AND A LENGTH OF ALUMINUM TUBING WERE THE ONLY EQUIPMENT WHICH HAD TO BE INSTALLED IN THE PLANES TO OPERATE THE SUITS. THEY WERE HOOKED UP WITH A PUMP ALREADY IN THE PLANE TO PRESSUREIZE THE GASOLINE OF THE WING TANKS.

"I'M SOLD ON IT," SAID MAJ. JOSEPH THURY OF 618 EDMUND AVE., ST.PAUL, MINN., A MUSTANG PILOT, AFTER HE HAD WORN ONE OF THE SUITS FOR TWO WEEKS. "WE DON'T FEEL AS TIRED NOW AS WE USED TO AFTER OUR LONG MISSIONS. THE BLADDERS MAKE YOU FEEL JUST LIKE SOMEONE IS GIVING YOU A GOOD MASSAGE THE WAY THEY PUSH THE BLOOD AROUND.

"NOW WE ARE ABLE TO LOOK AROUND AND TURN OUR HEADS IN A CLIMB. THAT'S PRETTY IMPORTANT IF AN ENEMY FIGHTLUCMLSURGEON FROM WILLIAMSTOWN, TOLD ME THAT PILOTS START BLACKING OUT AT 4 1/2 G'S--OR WHEN THE FORCE OF GRAVITY IS 4 1/2 TIMES NORMAL. THE BODY THEN WEIGHS 4 1/2 TIMES ITS NORMAL WEIGHT.

ANYONE WHO HAS RIDDEN A ROLLER COASTER CAN EASILY VISUALIZE THE GRAVITY PULL. ON A STEEP COASTER RIDE A FORCE OF TWO OR 2 1/2 G'S IS FELT WHEN YOU START A SHARP CLIMB.

OF THE GERMAN DRIVE.

ON THE NORTHERN FLANK THE GERMANS SENT TWO BATTALIONS AGAINST AMERICAN POSITIONS IN THE "HOT CORNER" NEAR MONSCHAU UNDER COVER OF A HEAVY ARTILLERY BARRAGE, BUT THEY WERE THROWN BACK WITHOUT GAINING GROUND.

TO THE WEST 100 GERMANS SLIPPED PAST FIRST ARMY LINES IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF THE CROSSROADS TOWN OF GRANDMENIL, BUT WERE SURROUNDED AND AT LAST REPORTS WERE BEING WIPED OUT.

NEAR ST. VITH, BELGIUM, DEC.23-(DELAYED BY CENSOR)-(AP)-FROM THE TIRED LIPS OF SURVIVORS TODAY CAME THE FIRST FULL STORY OF HOW THE GERMANS LAUNCHED THEIR GRAND OFFENSIVE AND HOW TWO "LOS" AMERICAN GERMANS LAUNCHED THEIR GRAND OFFENSIVE AND HOW TWO LOST AMERICAN FORMATIONS STALLED IT FOR TWO CRUCIAL DAYS BY FIGHTING GAMELY UNTIL ENGULFED.

ONLY A SMALL NUMBER OF THESE WEARY SOLDIERS HAVE MANAGED TO STRAGGLE THROUGH THE TIDE OF NAZI ARMOR THAT EVENTUALLY OVERRAN THEM, BUT THEY BROUGHT WITH THEM THE TALE OF AN AMERICAN THERMOPYLAE IN THE FROZEN FASTNESSES OF THE BELGIAN ARDENNES.

ISOLATED BY THE FIRST CRUSHING SURGE OF NAZI TANKS IN THE EIFEL MOUNTAINS NEAR THE GERMAN BORDER, THESE TWO AMERICAN FORMATIONS FOUGHT BACK IN THE WAY OLD COVERED WAGON TRAINS DEFENDED THEMSELVES AGAINST ENCIRCLING INDIANS.

DURING THE STRUGGLE THEY RELAYED BY RADIO TO AMERICAN DEFENSE FORCES ASSEMBLING BEHIND THEM VITAL NZYARMCT OOVVM

THEM VITAL INFORMATION ON THE ENEMY'S STRENGTH AND MOVEMENTS.

THE SPOKE MAN FOR THE HEROES OF THE BLOODY STAND WAS LT.COL. ROBERT P.STOUT, 711 MANHEIM ROAD, KANSAS CITY, MO.

"THESE FORMATIONS TOOK THE FIRST BIG NICK OUT OF THE EDGE OF THE GERMAN AXLE AND BLUNTED THE F

GERMAN AXE AND BLUNTED THE FORCE OF THEIR ATTACK," HE SAID. WE CAPTURED ONE NAZI CAPTAIN WHO PAID THEM THIS COMPLIMENT, 'WE WERE TOLD THAT WE WOULD BE ABLE TO GO RIGHT THROGH YOU TO S

THAT WE WOULD BE ABLE TO GO RIGHT THROUGH YOU TO ST. VITH. BUT I WAS THE ONLY COMMANDER ABLE TO REACH OUR FIRST DAY'S OBJECTIVE ON SCHEDULE--AND NOW LOOK AT ME.'"

DESCRIBING THE START OF THE MIGHTY GERMAN BLOW, STOUT SAID, "OUR OUTFIT HAD BEEN IN POSITION ONLQ A FEW DAYS AND HELD A LONG SECTION OF THE BATTLEFRONT--27 MILES. IT WAS IN THE SCHNEE EIFEL SECTION, A LONG RIDGE LINE ALMOST 2,500 FEET HIGH AND HEAVILY WOODED. IT IS VERY RUGGED COUNTRY AND FOR THE MOST PART UNSUITABLE FOR TANKS.

"ON THE NIGHT OF DEC. 15 WE LEARNED THAT THE ENEMY WAS GROUPING FOR SOME KIND OF ATTACK AND WE INFORMED THE FRONTLINE UNITS.

"AT 7 O'CLOCK THE NEXT MORNING THE GERMANS HIT US. ONE OF THEIR FIRST OBJECTIVES WAS TO THROW US OUT OF THE SLIGHT PENETRATION WE HAD MADE INTO THE SIEGFRIED LINE--ABOUT 4,000 YARDS LONG AND A SIMILAR DISTANCE DEEP.

DEC 31 1944

B67

"THEY STRUCK DOWN FROM THE NORTH OF THE SCHNEE EIFEL. THAT WAS THE SITE OF THE FIRST BREAKTHROUGH, AND IT WAS THE ONLY PLACE WHERE THEY COULD GET TANKS THROUGH IN STRENGTH.

"ANOTHER COLUMN ATTACKED FROM THE SOUTH OX THE SCHNEE EIFEL. BOTH COLUMNS WERE HEAVILY ARMORED AND WE LOST CONSIDERABLE CAVALRY WHO WERE TOO LIGHTLY GUNNED TO WITHSTAND THE ONSLAUGHT--BUT THE MEN DIED IN THEIR VEHICLES TRYING TO HALT THE ENEMY.

"OUR TWO INFANTRY FORMATIONS THAT WERE CUT OFF WERE ON THE SCHNEE EIFEL AND FOUND THEMSELVES SURROUNDED WHEN THE TWO NA I COLUMNS LINKED UP WEST OF THIS RIDGE."

ALTHOUGH THEY HAD ONLY A SMALL NUMBER OF GUNS TO OPPOSE THE ENEMY PANZER AND INFANTRY DIVISIONS, THE DOUGHBOYS ON THE RIDGE LINE REFUSED TO GIVE UP.

"THEY ORGANIZED A LAST STAND," STOUT SAID, "AND SENT WORD FOR US TO TRY TO SUPPLY THEM WITH FOOD AND AMMUNITION BY AIR. BUT THE FOG WAS SO HEAVY THE PLANES WERE UNABLE TO CARRY OUT DELIVERIES.

"ONE OF OUR OTHER INFANTRY UNITS TRIED TO SPEARHEAD THROUGH TO THEM AND CREATE A CHANNEL IN WHICH THEY COULD FALL BACK, BUT FAILED.

"AS A RESULT OF THE FIGHTING BY TWO LARGER FORMATIONS, HOWEVER, THE BULK OF THE GERMAN ATTACK IN THAT SECTOR WAS TIED UP IN DEALING WITH THEM, AND THE ENEMY FOR SOME TIME WAS ABLE TO SEND ONLY RELATIVELY SMALL COLUMNS AHEAD TO THE ST.VITH AREA--THUS UPSETTING HIS ADVANTAGE OF SURPRISE.

"OUR TWO FORMATIONS REGROUPED AND FOUGHT BACK TO BACK--ONE HOLDING OFF THE GERMANS FROM THE EAST AND THE OTHER ATTACKING TOWARD THE WEST TRYING TO BATTLE THROUGH TO OUR MAIN FORCES. ALTHOUGH THEY WERE GREATLY OUTNUMBERED, I THINK THEX WOULD HAVE MADE IT IF THE WEATHER HAD ENABLED US TO GET TO THEM THE FOOD AND AMMUNITION THEY NEEDED."

"YES," SAID LT.-COL. EARLE WILLIAMS, DIVISION SIGNAL OFFICER, AND FORMER LOUISVILLE, KY., TELEPHONE COMPANY EXECUTIVE, "WE KEPT IN RADIO CONTACT WITH THEM UNTIL THE LATE AFTERNOON OF DEC. 18--TWO DAYS AFTER THE OFFENSIVE STARTED. OUR LAST MESSAGE TO THEM WHICH THEY FAILED TO ANSWER WAS TO ASK THEM IF SUPPLIES THEY HAD ASKED FOR HAD REACHED THEM BY AIR.

"BUT WE KNOW THEY KEPT ON FIGHTING EVEN AFTER COMMUNICATIONS FAILED. EVERY FIVE MINUTESNFOR THREE DAYS WE SENT MESSAGES TO THEM TRYING TO REESTABLISH CONTACT."

RESUMING HIS ACCOUNT, LIEUT.-COL.STOUT SAID:

"BECAUSE OF THE FIGHT THEY MADE, THE REST OF OUR OUTFIT WAS ABLE TO PULL BACK ONTHE NIGHTNOF DEC. 17, LINK UP WITH ARMORED AMERICAN UNITS, AND AGAIN PRESENT A CLOSED LINE TO THE ENEMY, FURTHER DELAYING HIM. HE NO LONGER HAD THE GREAT GAP HE HAD COUNTED ON THROUGH

...UGH WHICH TO POUR HIS ARMOR AND INFANTRY IN WAVES.
CAPTURED WITH THE CRESTFALLEN NAZI CAPTAIN WHO SOUGHT TO WIN FAVOR IN HIS COMMANDER'S EYES BY BEING THE FIRST MAN INTO THE FIRST DAY'S OBJECTIVES WERE 107 OF HIS MEN PINCHED OFF BY THE QUICK DEVELOPMENT.
STOUT AND EVERY OTHER MAN IN HIS DIVISION TREASURE THIS COMMENDATCON FROM THEIR CORPS COMMANDER:
"YOU ARE DOING A HELL OF A SWELL JOB."
LOOKING ABOUT THE COLD LITTLE BELGIAN FARMHOUSE WHERE OFFICERS STILL ARE DIRECTING THE BATTLE STOUT SAID IRONICALLY:
"YOU KNOW WHAT THE OUTFIT WE RELIEVED TOLD US WHEN WE MOVED INTO THE SCHNEE-EIFEL SECTOR? THEY SAID THIS IS A QUIET SECTOR--YOU WONT HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT THIS ONE."

WAR OUTLOOK
BY JAMES M. LONG
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, PARIS, DEC. 30 -(AP)-HOPEFUL 1944, A YEAR WHEN THE ALLIES MIGHT HAVE WON THE WAR BY COLLAPSE WITHIN THE REICH, HAS GIVEN WAY TO A REALISTIC 1945, WHEN THE ALLIES EXPECT TO WIN BY HARD AND COSTLY BATTLES.
FIELD MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT'S FIERCE COUNTEROFFENSIVE, WHICH ALL BUT SPLIT THE WESTERN FRONT IN ONE ANXIOUS AND CRITICAL WEEK, HELPED TO USHER IN THAT REALISM.
IT WAS FINAL PROOF THAT THE LAST-STAND STRENGTH OF THE GERMAN ARMY HAD BEEN UNDERESTIMATED, JUST AS THE ALLIES OVERESTIMATED THE EXTENT OF THE CRACK IN THE GERMAN HOMEFRONT MORALE IN THE VICTORY-SPANGLED FALL DAYS OF THE WIDE OPEN SWEEP THROUGH FRANCE.
9'5TBAD SONSRUNDS NEZ,

FALL DAYS OF THE WIDE OPEN SWEEP THROUGH FRANCE.
THAT VON RUNDSTEDT WAS STOPPED SO SOON FAR SHY OF HIS BREAKTHROUGH TO BRUSSELS, ANTWERP AND SEDAN--IF THOSE WERE HIS OBJECTIVES--PROVIDE THE HOPE FOR VICTORY NEXT YEAR.
ALTHOUGH GEN.EISENHOWER'S WINTER OFFENSIVE FROM HOLLAND TO SWITZERLAND WAS SLAPPED TO A STANDSTILL, THE SPEED AND FORCE WITH WHICH VON RUNDSTEDT WAS CONTAINED SHOWED THE WEIGHT OF MANPOWER AND BATTLE EQUIPMENT--THE ODDS WHICH WILL FORGE VICTORY IN 1945.
PERHAPS MOST SHARPLY AND MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL, IT SHOWED THE FIGHTING STUFF OF WHICH THE DOUGHBOY HAS BEEN MADE IN TWO YEARS OF BATTLES IN EUROPE. THE STAND HE MADE OF INFANTRY AGAINST ARMOR ANSWERED ANY QUESTION OF HIS MORALE.
VICTORY WILL NOT BE CHEAP. THE BATTLES OF THE AACHEN GAP AND THE COLOGNE PLAIN PROVED THAT.
PROBABLY NEVER BEFORE WAS THE SOIL OF EUROPE PURCHASED AT A HEAVIER PRICE IN HUMAN LIFE. IT SEEMED BITTERLY PLAIN THAT MORE AMERICAN BOYS WOULD REST IN GRAVES IN GERMANY THAN HAD BEEN BURIED IN FRANCE.
THERE WAS NO WAY OF TELLING HOW SOON IN THE NEW YEAR THE ALLIES WOULD RETURN TO AN ALL-OUT OFFENSIVE TO BURST OPEN THE WAY INTO THE HEART OF THE REICH, CRUSH THE GERMAN ARMY AND TEACH THE LESSON OF MILITARY DEFEAT TO THE GERMAN PEOPLE.
PURELY ON THE BASIS OF NEWS UP TO NOW, THE DISPOSITION HAS BEEN TO DEAL WITH VON RUNDSTEDT'S ASSAULT AS THE QUICKEST WAY OF GETTING TO THE HEART OF THE GERMAN ARMY--ITS ARMOR AND MOBILE FORCE.
THERE NO LONGER IS ANY CAUSE TO DOUBT THAT THE ALLIED TOP COMMAND HAS SHELVED ANY IDEA OF COUNTING UPON A BREAK-UP WITHIN THE REICH THAT IS NOT ADMINISTERED BY FIRE AND STEEL.
A172

DEC 31 1944

THERE WAS A TIME IN THE LATE SUMMER AND EARLY FALL WHEN THE HOPE OF INTERNAL CRACKUP DID GIVE THE ILLUSORY PROMISE OF QUICK VICTORY.
GEN.EISENHOWER HIMSELF SUMMED IT UP. HE TOLD CORRESPONDENTS AT HIS PRESS HEADQUARTERS THAT THERE HAD BEEN SOME REASON TO BELIEVE THE TERRIFIC GERMAN BEATING AND THE ALLIED RACE THROUGH FRANCE MIGHT HAVE BROUGHT THE EXPLOSION FROM WITHIN.
BUT, HE DECLARED, ADOLF HITLER AND HIS STRONG ARM GANG CAME THROUGH THE CRISIS STILL IN HARD CONTROL AND GERMANY WAS FIGHTING IT OUT TO THE FINISH.
ONCE EISENHOWER PREDICTED THAT IF EVERYONE DID HIS PART, THERE WAS REASON TO HOPE THE WAR MIGHT END IN 1944.
NOW HE IS MAKING NO PREDICTIONS. AT HIS LAST PRESS CONFERENCE HE TOLD CORRESPONDENTS "NEVER AGAIN" AND THEN LAID ON THE LINE HIS FORMULA OF INCESSANTLY INCREASING THE PRESSURE WHICH, HE DECLARED, WOULD WIN VICTORY.
THERE IS NO WAY OF TELLING NOW JUST HOW MUCH THE UNFULFILLED HOPE OF VICTORY BY INTERNAL GERMAN COLLAPSE HURT THE ALLIED EFFORT.
THIS MUCH IS CERTAIN. SOME TIME IN THE SWEEPING SMASH TOWARD THE RHINE, THE ALLIED OFFENSIVE RAN SHORT OF SUPPLIES.
HAD LT.GEN.GEORGE S.PATTON JR., NOT RUN OUT OF GASOLINE JUST SHORT OF METZ HE MIGHT HAVE KEPT ON GOING ALL THE WAY TO BERLIN.
IN THAT PHASE IT PROBABLY WAS NOT THE MATTER OF PRODUCTION AND SHIPMENT TO FRANCE, BUT THE ACTUAL PHYSICAL IMPOSSIBILITY OF KEEPING SUPPLIES APACE WITH THE TREMENDOUS SPEED OF HIS ADVANCE.
IN LATER SHORTAGES THAT DID NOT SEEM TO BE THE CASE. IT WAS NOTEWORTHY THAT EVEN AFTER THE START OF HIS WINTER OFFENSIVE, THE SUPREME COMMANDER FELT IT NECESSARY TO CALL UPON THE HOME FRONT FOR RENEWED AND INCREASED PRODUCTION.
THERE WAS A FEELING IN MANY QUARTERS AT THAT TIME THAT THE SLACK-OFF IN SOME FIELDS OF MILITARY OUTPUT MIGHT BE TRACED TO THE HOPE OF A FEW MONTHS EARLIER THAT GERMANY MIGHT CRACK UP WITHOUT BEING BEATEN UP.

ATHENS, DEC. 30-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL'S EFFORTS TO SOLVE THE GREEK CRISIS BORE FRUIT TODAY WITH AN AUTHORITATIVE STATEMENT THAT ARCHBISHOP DAMASKINOS PROBABLY WOULD BE SWORN IN AS REGENT TOMORROW AS THE RESULT OF THE ASSENT OF KING GEORGE II.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S SECRETARY SAID DAMASKINOAS "IN ALL PROBABILITY" WOULD TAKE THE OATH TOMORROW AND IMMEDIATELY ASSUME HIS NEW DUTIES.

EARLIER AUTHORITATIVE REPORTS SAID KING GEORGE II HAD CONSENTED TO THE FORMATION OF A REGENCY AFTER A LONG TALK WITH CHURCHILL WHO HAS JUST RETURNED TO LONDON FROM ATHENS.

"HIS GRACE IN ALL PROBABILITY WILL TAKE THE OATH BEFORE THE GOVERNMENT AND HOLY SYNOD TOMORROW IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE GREEK CONSTITUTION," THE SECRETARY SAID. "IMMEDIATELY AFTER HIS INSTALLATION HE WILL ASSUME HIS OFFICIAL DUTIES AND, COMPLYING WITH A TELEGRAM FROM THE KING EXPRESSING 'HOPE YOU WILL TRY TO RESTORE ORDER AND PEACE IN GREECE', WILL START HIS EFFORTS TO SOLVE THE MAJOR PROBLEMS--FIRSTLY THE FORMATION OF A NEW GOVERNMENT AND SECONDLY THE CESSATION OF THE CIVIL WAR."

[illegible]

RELIABLE REPORTS SAID THAT ELAS LEADERS HAD SENT PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL A MESSAGE OFFERING TO PLACE THE COUNTRY'S POLITICAL SQUABBLES IN HIS HANDS FOR ARBITRATION AND HAD PROPOSED AN IMMEDIATE TRUCE TO THE BRITISH. CHURCHILL HAD LEFT THE COUNTRY, HOWEVER, BEFORE THE LETTER REACHED BRITISH HEADQUARTERS AND GEN. RONALD SCOBIE, THE BRITISH COMMANDER IN GREECE, FORWARDED THE LETTER TO LONDON. ITS CONTENTS WERE NOT REVEALED HERE.

THERE WERE INDICATIONS HERE THAT PREMIER GEORGE PAPANDREOU HAD SUBMITTED HIS RESIGNATION AND THAT THE RIGHT WING LIBERAL LEADER. THEMISTOKLES SOPHOULIS, HAD BEEN ASKED TO FORM A NEW CABINET.

IN NORTHWESTERN GREECE, MEANWHILE, THE FORCES OF GEN. NAPOLEON ZERVAS, HARD-PRESSED BY THE ELAS, WERE REPORTED EVACUATING TO THE ISLAND OF CORFU WHICH IS HELD BY BRITISH TROOPS AND FORCES FRIENDLY TO ZERVAS' FACTION.

SOURCES IN ATHENS ESTIMATED THE FORCES OF GEN. ZERVAS HAD DIMINISHED FROM 12,000 TO BETWEEN 2,000 AND 3,000 THROUGH CASUALTIES AND DESERTIONS.

THE BRITISH SAID LARGE NUMBERS OF PRISONERS CAPTURED BY THE ELAS HAD BEEN STRIPPED OF THEIR CLOTHING AND HAD BEEN FORCED TO ENDURE THE BITTER WINTER WEATHER IN ONLY THEIR UNDERCLOTHING. THE ELAS ALSO HAVE REFUSED TO ALLOW RED CROSS PARCELS TO BE DISTRIBUTED TO THE PRISONERS REPORTED TO NUMBER 17,000 MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN. MOST, THE BRITISH STATEMENT SAID, HAD BEEN TAKEN TO THE ISLAND OF THEBES.

THE ELAS ON THE OTHER HAND CHARGED GREEK POLICE WITH MISTREATING CAPTURED ELAS MEN.

A HIGH SWISS OFFICIAL SAID AS MANY AS 50 HAVE VISITED SWITZERLAND. THIS GAVE RISE TO REPORTS RECENTLY THAT AN AMERICAN BUSINESS MISSION WAS HERE. THE SWISS NO LONGER WANT TO ACCEPT FROZEN AMERICAN DOLLARS, WHICH THEY CAN NOT USE AT PRESENT FOR PURCHASES TO BE SHIPPED TO SWITZERLAND BECAUSE OF A MILITARY BAN ON TRANSPORT ACROSS FRANCE.
THE SWISS ALSO WANT ASSURANCES THAT THEY WILL BE ABLE TO RENEW THEIR SUPPLIES OF RAW MATERIALS.
THE GOODS THE AMERICANS WANT ARE AVAILABLE, AT LEAST ON APPROXIMATELY THE SAME BASIS AS PRIOR TO 1940 WHEN THE GERMANS CLOSED TRANSPORT ROUTES BETWEEN SWITZERLAND AND THE ALLIED NATIONS.
THE ALLIES HALTED TRUCK TRANSPORT ACROSS FRANCE OCT.14. THE SWISS ARGUE THAT IF THEY ARE TO SUPPLY GOODS THEY SHOULD HAVE THE RIGHT TO TRUCK OTHER GOODS TO AND FROM OTHER NEUTRAL COUNTRIES--SPAIN AND PORTUGAL-- IN RETURN.
A NUMBER OF SWISS INDUSTRIALISTS FEAR THAT THEY WILL LOSE OUT IN COMPETITION FOR POST-WAR ECONOMIC ADVANTAGES BECAUSE OF ALLIED RESTRICTIONS ON TRADE AND FINANCE.
ONE GREAT CONCERN IS THE IMPORT OF FOOD. WHILE THERE IS PLENTY TO EAT, THE MILITARY CHANGES SINCE D-DAY ALSO HAVE GREATLY CHANGED SWITZERLAND'S FOOD PICTURE. ORANGES AND LEMONS ARE NO LONGER AVAILABLE. MEAT AND COFFEE RATIONS HAVE BEEN REDUCED FOR JANUARY.
ACCORDING TO OFFICIAL FIGURES 300,000 TONS OF FOODSTUFFS INTENDED FOR SWITZERLAND ARE LYING NOW IN SPANISH OR PORTUGUESE PORTS. THE SWISS WANT THE RIGHT TO BRING THEM IN WITH THEIR OWN TRUCKS AND GASOLINE.
AT THE OUTSET AN EFFORT WAS MADE TO KEEP THE AMERICAN NEGOTIATIONS SECRET BUT LATER SOME OF THE VISITORS TALKED OPENLY ABOUT THEM IN BERN AND GENEVA RESTAURANTS. SO FAR AS IS KNOWN THE SWISS GOVERNMENT DID NOT SPONSOR THE VISITS BUT DID ACT QUICKLY TO ADMIT THE AMERICANS DESPITE THEIR [illegible] AND RECEIVED THEM CORDIALLY.

THE SWITCH IN THE GOVERNMENT POSITION WAS PRECEDED THIS WEEK BY A DEMAND FROM THE NATIONAL YOUTH CONGRESS, REPRESENTING 51 ORGANIZATIONS, FOR THE RESIGNATION OF DE LA GUARDIA FROM THE OFFICE WHICH IT SAID HE NOW "ARBITRARILY HOLDS" AND A MINORITY REVOLT AMONG ASSEMBLYMEN AGAINST CONTINUANCE OF HIS RULE.

THE ASSEMBLY ISSUE WAS THIS:

1--THE 1941 CONSTITUTION ORDERED THAT THE ASSEMBLY ELECT THREE VICE-PRESIDENTS WITHIN 10 DAYS AFTER CONVENING, THE FIRST OF THESE BEING DESIGNATED AS PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSOR.

2--TWO YEARS AGO THE ASSEMBLY ABSTAINED FROM ELECTING THE VICE-PRESIDENTS. HOLDING IT WOULD BE UNWISE TO CHANGE EXECUTIVES AT THAT TIME DUE TO THE WAR.

3--THE GOVERNMENT RECENTLY SAID IT WAS ASSURED THAT THE SAME ARRANGEMENT WOULD APPLY NEXT JANUARY, WHICH WOULD PERMIT DE LA GUARDIA TO HOLD OFFICE UNTIL FEBRUARY, 1947. BUT 15 OF THE 32 DEPUTIES WERE LINED UP THURSDAY AGAINST THIS, AND DE LA GUARDIA'S POSITION APPEARED INSECURE.

A GENERAL STRIKE IN OPPOSITION TO CALLING OF THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY WAS URGED BY THE NATIONAL YOUTH CONGRESS.

FIRST LEAD TRANSPORTS
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

JAPANESE PROPAGANDA BROADCASTS TODAY CLAIMED THAT ALL BUT EIGHT OR TEN OF SOME 30 U.S.TRANSPORTS WERE SUNK BY JAPANESE PLANES AS THE BIG CONVOY PASSED THROUGH PHILIPPINES WATERS TO MINDORO ISLAND.

AN EARLIER JAPANESE IMPERIAL COMMUNIQUE CLAIMED THAT FOUR MORE BIG TRANSPORTS WERE SUNK--MAKING A TOTAL OF TEN--AS THE CONVOY "STEAMED TOWARD MINDORO ISLAND BY WAY OF THE SULU SEA."

BOTH REPORTS WERE RECORDED BY THE FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION. NEITHER HAD THE SLIGHTEST CONFIRMATION FROM AMERICAN SOURCES.

FIFTEEN DAYS AGO TOKYO REPORTED A BIG CONVOY OFF MINDORO, SIMULTANEOUSLY WITH THE ACTUAL INVASION OF THE COASTLINE 150 MILES SOUTH OF MANILA. SUBSEQUENTLY REPORTING OTHER CONVOYS IN THE AREA ENEMY PROPAGANDA BROADCASTS PREDICTED NEW INVASIONS IN THE PHILIPPINES.

IN REPORTING THIS SATURDAY'S COMMUNIQUE, THE DOMEI NEWS AGENCY ANNOUNCED THE JAPANESE HIGH COMMAND NOW CLAIMS THAT ATTACKING PLANES HAVE SUNK TEN TRANSPORTS AND A PT BOAT, AND DAMAGED FOUR TRANSPORTS, A CRUISER AND A DESTROYER.

QUOTING IMPERIAL HEADQUARTERS YESTERDAY, DOMEI SAID THAT SIX TRANSPORTS HAD BEEN SUNK TOGETHER WITH THE DAMAGING OF FOUR TRANSPORTS, ONE CRUISER AND ONE DESTROYER IN TWO ATTACKS ON THE CONVOY, DEC. 28, THURSDAY, JAPANESE TIME. (WEDNESDAY U.S. TIME).

THE U.S. CONVOY, SAID DOMEI, CONSISTED OF "30 TRANSPORTS ESCORTED BY 20-ODD CRUISERS AND DESTROYERS."

TOKYO RADIO IN A BROADCAST DIRECTED TO EUROPE IN ITALIAN SAID THE CONVOY HAD REACHED MINDORO.

DEC 31 1944

THIS BROADCAST, ALSO RECORDED BY FCC, CLAIMED THAT ONLY "8 OR 10" TRANSPORTS OUT OF THE ORIGINAL "SOME 30" REMAINED IN THE CONVOY WHEN IT REACHED THE MINDORO COAST.

"THUS WE CAN SAY," IT DECLARED, "THAT 70 PER CENT OF THE CONVOY HAS BEEN SUNK BY OUR HEROIC ACTIVITY."

IN ANOTHER UNCONFIRMED RADIOED DISPATCH, DOMEI CLAIMED THAT JAPANESE PLANES RAIDED THE "NORTH" AIRFIELD ON MINDORO ISLAND AT DAWN TODAY (JAPANESE TIME) "DESTROYING TWO GROUNDED ENEMY PLANES."

THE TRANSPORT CONVOY, SAID DOMEI, STEAMED TO MINDORO ISLAND THROUGH THE MINDANAO SEA AND THEN TURNED NORTH THROUGH THE SULU SEA.

UNDATED KING GEORGE OF GREECE
BY MARC PURDUE
OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FOREIGN DESK
GEORGE 11 OF GREECE, WHO CONSENTED TO ESTABLISHMENT OF A REGENCY REPLACING HIM AS THE ACTUAL HEAD OF THE GOVERNMENT YET LEAVING HIM WITH THE TITLE, HAS HAD A CAREER AS FULL OF UPS AND DOWNS AS ANY ROYAL FIGURE IN RECENT EUROPEAN HISTORY.
EVEN BEFORE HE ASCENDED THE THRONE, HE WAS FOCCED TO FLEE THE COUNTRY WITH HIS FATHER, KING CONSTANTINE. THEN, WHEN HE FINALLY SUCCEEDED HIS FATHER, WHO MEANWHILE HAD BEEN REINSTATED AS MONARCH, GEORGE HIMSELF WAS FORCED TO ABDICATE AND SPEND LONG YEARS IN EXILE.
ARCHBISHOP DAMASKINOS WILL BE THE SECOND REGENT TO RULE IN GEORGE'S ABSENCE. THE FIRST WAS GEORGE KONDYLIS, A VIRTUAL DICTATOR, WHO LATER BROUGHT GEORGE BACK TO GREECE AND THE ROYAL PALACE IN 1935 FOR HIS SECOND TERM AS KING.
GEORGE WAS FORCED TO LEAVE AGAIN WHEN THE NAZIS INVADED GREECE IN 1941.
THROUGHOUT HIS CAREER HE HAS BEEN OPPOSED BY A SI ABLE PORTION OF THE POPULATION OF GREECE, REPUBLICANS WHO BITTERLY HAVE RESISTED HIS GOVERNMENT'S POLICIES. WHEN RETURNED BACK TO THE THRONE IN 1935 THE REPUBLICANS ADDRESSED A MANIFESTO TO HIM STATING, YOU ARE ONLY THE LEADER AND TOOL OF A GANG OF TERRORISTS."
GEORGE IS THE SON OF CONSTANTINE AND PRINCESS SOPHIA OF PRUSSIA, SISTER OF THE LATE KAISER WILHELM. HE IS RELATED TO THE BRITISH ROYAL FAMILY, BEING A GREAT-GRANDSON OF QUEEN VICTORIA ON HIS MOTHER'S SIDE, BUT IS OF MIXED DANISH, GERMAN AND RUSSIAN BLOOD WITHOUT ANY GREEK BLOOD IN HIS VEINS.
THE DYNASTY WAS FOUNDED IN 1863 WHEN THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY ELECTED AS KING GEORGE 1, A DANISH PRINCE OF THE SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN-SONDERBURG-GLUCKSBURG FAMILY, WHO HAD BEEN DESIGNATED BY BRITAIN AFTER A REVOLT AGAINST THE OLD KING OTHO.
GEORGE 1 STILL WAS ON THE THRONE WHEN GEORGE 11 WAS BORN, BUT HE WAS ASSASSINATED IN 1913 AT SALONIKA AND CONSTANTINE BECAME KING. IN THE FIRST WORLD WAR, CONSTANTINE AND HIS SON WERE ACCUSED OF BEING PRO-GERMAN. IN 1917 CONSTANTINE WAS DEPOSED BY A PRO-ALLIED GOVERNMENT LED BY ELEUTHERIOS VENIZELOS AND FLED FROM GREECE WITH THE QUEEN AND GEORGE. HIS SECOND SON, ALEXANDER, BECAME THE PRO-ALLIED KING.
ALEXANDER DIED IN 1920 FROM AN INFECTION CAUSED BY A MONKEY BITE AND THE GREEKS OVERTHREW THE VENIZELOS GOVERNMENT. A PLEBISCITE RETURNED CONSTANTINE TO THE THRONE.
HE DID NOT REMAIN FOR LONG, HOWEVER, SINCE IN 1922, A REVOLUTIONARY COMMITTEE, LED BY GEN.NICHOLAS PLASTERAS WHO STILL IS A FIGURE IN GREEK POLITICS, INSISTED ON HIS ABDICATION AND GEORGE BECAME KING, HURRIEDLY TAKING THE OATH FROM THE PRIEST OF THE CHURCH NEXT DOOR TO HIS HOME. CONSTANTINE DIED IN 1923.
ABOUT A YEAR LATER, THE PARTY OF VENIZELOS, WHO WAS STILL IN EXILE, SCORED A GREAT VICTORY AT THE POLLS AND GEORGE AND HIS QUEEN, DAUGHTER OF KING FERDINAND AND QUEEN MARIE OF ROMANIA, WERE ADVISED TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY. THEY WENT TO BUCHAREST, BUT THE KING REFUSED TO ABDICATE.

B48
IN 1924 THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY PROCLAIMED A REPUBLIC IN GREECE AND DEPOSED THE DYNASTY, FORBIDDING ITS MEMBERS TO RESIDE IN THE COUNTRY. THAT BEGAN GEORGE'S FIRST LONG EXILE.
HE LIVED IN COPENHAGEN, PARIS AND LONDON. HE WAS A WELCOME GUEST OF BRITISH NOBILITY AND AT ONE TIME WAS REPORTED CONSIDERING OFFERS TO APPEAR ON THE STAGE IN NEW YORK. HE AND THE QUEEN WERE DIVORCED.
THEN WAR MINISTER KONDYLIS ORGANIZED AN ARMY COUP IN 1935 AND PROCLAIMED GREECE ONCE MORE A MONARCHY WITH HIMSELF AS REGENT. IN NOVEMBER OF THAT YEAR A PLEBISCITE VOTE WAS HELD ON GEORGE'S RETURN.
AFTER SOME 800 REPUBLICAN AND COMMUNIST LEADERS HAD BEEN SENT TO CONCENTRATION CAMPS, THEIR FOLLOWERS BOYCOTTED THE POLLS. THE ROYALISTS COUNTED THE VOTES AND ANNOUNCED THAT 98 PER CENT WERE FOR GEORGE'S RETURN.
GEORGE CAME BACK PROMISING AMNESTY FOR HIS POLITICAL FOES WHO HAD FALLEN AFOUL OF KONDYLIS AND, WHEN THE LATTER OPPOSED SUCH A MOVE, DISMISSED HIM AS CHIEF OF THE GOVERNMENT. HE WON THE SUPPORT OF THE VENIZELISTS WITH HIS PROMISES OF AMNESTY AND HIS AVOWED PRO-BRITISH FOREIGN POLICY. IN THE ELECTIONS WHICH FOLLOWED, THE VENIZELISTS, OR LIBERALS, BECAME THE ASSEMBLY'S STRONGEST PARTY.
THE RIGHTIST KONDYLIS FORCES STILL COMMANDED CONSIDERABLE STRENGTH, HOWEVER, AND NO GOVERNMENT COULD BE FORMED. GEORGE SENT FOR THE MONARCHIST FRIEND OF HIS FATHER, JOHN METAXAS, AND HAD HIM FORM A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT.
THAT AS THE EGINNIN

DEC 31 1944

THAT WAS THE BEGINNING OF THE METAXAS DICTATORSHIP.
THERE WAS OPPOSITION, BUT THE POWER OF THE ARMY WAS BEHIND METAXAS AND GEORGE.
EVEN AFTER THE ITALIANS INVADED THE COUNTRY IN 1940, THE METAXAS GOVERNMENT MAINTAINED RELATIONS WITH GERMANY.
THE ITALIANS PROVED UNABLE TO DEAL WITH THE GREEK ARMY, AND THE NAZIS TOOK OVER IN 1941. GEORGE FLED THE COUNTRY AGAIN AND HAS BEEN WITH THE GREEK GOVERNMENT IN EXILE AT CAIRO OR IN LONDON MOST OF THE TIME SINCE.
THROUGHOUT THE OCCUPATION OF GREECE BY THE GERMANS, THERE WERE REPEATED REPORTS FROM THE UNDERGROUND THAT THE GREEKS WOULD NOT WELCOME THE RETURN OF THEIR KING, EVEN THOUGH HE PROMISED THAT A PLEBISCITE ON THE CROWN SHOULD BE HELD WITHIN SIX MONTHS AFTER THE LIBERATION OF GREECE AND THAT FREE AND FAIR ELECTIONS WOULD BE HELD IN THE FUTURE.

Full-Scale Offensive Launched

Hammer Out Gains Of As Much As One Mile.

ADVANCE DESPITE COUNTER DRIVE

Yank Armies Strike From Two Directions In Furious Drive To Regain Remaining Area.

By James M. Long

PARIS, Monday, Jan. 1 (AP)—The U. S. Third Army has launched a full-scale offensive west and northeast of the Belgian town of Bastogne and hammered out gains of as much as a mile, it was disclosed today, despite a desperation-born German counter-assault with elements of seven divisions struggling to cut off the American Bastogne salient.

As 1944, a year in which many persons had thought the European war would end—wound into history, the American armies were striking from two directions in a furious effort to regain the remaining two-thirds of the area which the German counter-offensive had taken since Dec. 16.

Patton Takes Initiative

A front-line dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Edward D. Ball said the Third Army of hard-charging Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., had wrested the initiative from wily Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt in an offensive begun Saturday at noon, and that the German commander might abandon his dearly-won gains in Belgium in favor of assaults elsewhere.

Von Rundstedt, however, apparently regarded Bastogne as the key to his entire counteroffensive and threw in forces estimated to include elements of seven divisions, according to Wes Gallagher, Associated Press correspondent also on that front.

Third Army, Gains

The Third Army nevertheless gained against the dug-in German positions between the Bastogne corridor and the southern flank of the German bulge in Belgium, and as the new year arrived it was announced that Patton's forces were making progress to the northeast.

The dispatch, from Associated Press correspondent Edward D. Ball, located the drive northeast of Bastogne, but reports here stressed an assault by Patton's tanks and troops midway between Bastogne St. Hubert, 15 miles west, along strongly-fortified enemy line.

Little else was disclosed of this blow from the south except that it had made "some progress" in a northeasterly direction, was believed to be in considerable strength and was on a fairly wide front.

Just west of Bastogne, the Germans aimed three more counter-attacks at the Third Army lines stretching north of epic Bastogne, but they were beaten off, just as the bold bid by three enemy divisions to sever the Bastogne corridor had been smashed previously.

First Army Progresses

The U. S. First Army, hammering away to the west, recaptured Saturday the highway center of Rochefort at the tip of the German wedge in Belgium 25 miles west of Bastogne. The doughboys outflanked the fiercely-defended town by crossing the Homme River to the north.

Today von Rundstedt's supply lines were under heavy assault from more than 3,000 Allied planes while swarming British and American fighterbombers ripped at the heart of his Belgian and Luxembourg positions ahead of the charging Third Army.

An Associated Press correspondent with American forces in Belgium said it was estimated that the neck of the German salient above Bastogne had been squeezed to 12 or 14 miles by a noose-like squeeze from north and south.

Von Rundstedt May Try Elsewhere

Field dispatches said some quarters believed the Nazi commander, defeated in his attempt at a quick breakthrough to the Meuse or Liege, would be forced to withdraw and try an attack elsewhere.

The enemy was thrown back on the defense all along the bulge.

30.24 —— 21677

reports up to Saturday morning disclosed, but the rising tempo of enemy feeler thrusts from Holland and Alsace suggested the Germans may strike elsewhere to take advantage of the diversion of Allied forces.

The German communique declared that half of all the forces on the western front now were engaged in the winter battle between the Maas and the Moselle and said the focal points of fighting were around Bastogne and Rochefort.

Graveyard of German Hopes

Rochefort, graveyard of German hopes for a break-through to the Meuse, fell at mid-day yesterday after sanguinary fighting in which both sides poured artillery and mortar fire into each other's battle lines. The Germans suddenly pulled out of the town under American pressure.

Turned back three miles from the Meuse the Germans had fallen back 12 miles east to this once-famous spa resort and dug in.

The three-division German attack on the Bastogne corridor, which has bee ndriven into the heart of their salient fro mthe south, cost the Germans 57 tanks, 25 of the mknocked out by doughboys who held firm as the Germans hammered at them from both the east and west.

Bastogne Corridor Bolstered

Now the Bastogne corridor is being rapidl ybolstered by the drive of the Third Army against the center of the Belgian-Luxembourg bulge.

Clear weather today sent packs of Allied warplanes hunting for skulking German troops and armor in the center of the bulge more than 800 British planes hammered at enemy troops and armor at the big concentration point of Houffalize, nine miles north of Bastogne in the center of the bulge.

British and American fighters and fighterbombers were blazing away with the same sore of close support which yesterday knocked out 32 enemy tanks, mainly around Bastogne and undoubtedly took much of the sting out of the German counterattack.

Through the fifth day without a German gain, the Americans kept up the blows yesterday which now have brought them up against the dug-in enemy defense line at points where a week ago Von Rundstedt's divisions were rampaging through Belgium and Luxembourg.

As the battle shaped up into a slugging match, the Germans stabbed speculatively across the Roer river north of Aachen and into the U. S. Seventh army lines in the northeast corner of France.

Another Attack Not Unlikely

It was no secret here that some new German attack in relative forces is likely any place from the Maas in Holland to the Rhine. Such assaults would be logical "holding attacks" to keep Allied forces tied down or to exploit any shifts in strength which were made to meet the German offensive in Belgium.

Considerable German movement was noticed yesterday along the Maas river.

One German feeler attack was in two-company strength at dawn Saturday against Tripsrath, two miles north of Geilenkirchen on the Cologne plain.

The enemy in an almost suicidal attack captured the village, but British tommies rallied, drove the Germans out, then repelled a second counterblow. In the twin assaults two enemy companies were captured and more than 50 prisoners taken.

Only Enemy Patrlos Out

A late dispatch said the Germans stayed in their own lines today but some of their patrols were out along the sector farther south.

Nearly 150 miles to the south in northern France, the enemy plowed into American lines near the Maginot fortress town of Bitche and was thrown back with severe losses.

A smaller attack was repulsed in the German Palatinate east of Bitche above Wissembourg. German planes bombed and strafed all the way from Wissembourg 30 miles south to Strasbourg.

The positions up to Saturday morning on the Belgian-Luxembourg front found the initiative still definitely in Allied hands.

The Germans, in addition to the losses in the futile battering at the Eastogne corridor, suffered a severe setback when Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's troops swept them from their last positions on the Arlon highway leading south out of Bastogne.

The Germans fought hard for their last highway toehold at Remofosse, two and a half miles south of Bastogne.

Dhen that position was overrun, they pulled back quickly and the doughboys pushed on a mile and a half northeast, seizing Marvie, a mile east of the highway and a mile and a half southeast of Bastogne.

Hack Deeper Into Germans

Hacking deeper into the German line running 15 miles westward from Bastogne to St. Hubert, the doughboys neared Senonchamps, two and a half miles west of Bastogne.

x x x Southeast of Bastogne

Around Moircy, four and a half miles southeast of St. Hubert, the American ran into strong German fixed positions supported by tanks and guns.

East of Bastogne, the Third Army was stedily pushing the enemy from the northern party of the Duchy of Luxembourg.

One force driving east of the Bastognie corridor edged into the southeast outskirts of Harlance, five and a half miles southeast of Bastogne.

Whether the Americans already had reached the key German-held town of Wiltz, 10 miles east of Bastongne and 25 miles north of the Luxembourg capital, was not known.

Associated Press Correspondent Lewis Hawkins, in a censor-delayed disptach dated Dec. 29, said troops of the 26th infantry division had pressed to within a mile of the town, which was overwhelmed early in Von Rundstedt's Winter offensive.

Germans Dispersed By Artillery

The Supreme Headquarters communique covering progress up to Saturday morning, reported only the capture of the hamlet of Nothum, two and a half miles southwest of Wiltz.

Southwest of Wiltz, the Germans counter-attacked with infantry and three tanks, but were dispersed by artillery fire.

Farther east, the Third Army had seized a 12-mile stretch of the right bank of the Sure river between Diekirch and Echternach, 18 miles northeast of Luxembourg's capital, except for one small pocket. This was about midway between the towns northwest of Bigelbach.

The north flank of the Belgian front was described as relatively stable and increasingly quiet, with the Americans doing the only attacking.

Almost one-third of the original German gains had been wrested back by the start of the third week of battle in which the German Army came out into the open and stopped the Allied winter offensive with a single, terrific breakthrough bid.

The Elite Grossdeutschland troops, reported previously only on the Russian front, have been identified in von Rundstedt's salient. A unit of Grossdeutschland was credited with foiling the alleged bombing plot against Hitler.

FROZEN ROADSAVED OUR ST. VITH UNITS

7th Armored Division's Battle That Kept Nazis Split for Week an Epic of War

Vanbrugh

WITH THE UNITED STATES SEVENTH ARMORED DIVISION, Dec. 30 (AP) (Delayed)—The Battle of St. Vith—the Belgians call it "San Veet" but Americans when they tell their grandchildren about it will call it "Saint Vith"—would never have had so happy an outcome if a road had not frozen up at just the right time.

As it turned out the seven-day-long battle, fought from hour to hour in the utmost confusion, goes down as one of the most remarkable feats of American arms.

Contrary to reports given out at the height of the conflict St. Vith never was encircled by the Germans. The American positions were maintained in the shape of a horseshoe that opened to the west.

At St. Vith the German drive was split, its continuity was broken and the great bulk of our men and machines were withdrawn and saved to fight another day.

Other U. S. Units Were in Fight

This mainly is the story of what was accomplished by the Seventh Armored Division, which was thrown into the battle just when the Germans were crashing down upon St. Vith itself. Other American forces were involved and they performed noble deeds. But of the several units involved only the Seventh Armored has been identified at this time. It was the only unit there in full strength and it did by far the biggest part of the job.

The Seventh Armored is commanded by Brig. Gen. Robert W. Hasbrouck, 48, West Pointer from Kingston, N. Y., and a tall, courtly specialist in field artillery.

No. 2 in command, but No. 1 as the man on the spot with direct responsibility for a quick decision where communications were uncertain or non-existent, was Brig. Gen. Bruce Cooper Clarke, another West Pointer of Syracuse, N. Y.

The Germans launched their attack on Saturday, Dec. 16. General Clarke arrived at St. Vith on Sunday, Dec. 17 when the situation already had become critical, and from then on for the seven days he was the man who directed the defense, making little bits go a long way.

When the crisis came up the Seventh Armored was in Germany preparing to leave the next day for a rest area. Two days after withdrawing from St. Vith with nearly all of its vehicles intact, it was in action again on another sector of the front far away.

The Seventh Armored could never have been withdrawn if the certain five-mile stretch of forest road had not frozen just in time. The road ran from Commanster in the center of the horseshoe to Vielsalm on the upper or northern heel.

Another factor was the supply train commanded by Col. Andrew J. Adams of Auburn, Ala., which performed the almost impossible task of sending up ammunition by roundabout routes. At times farranging Germans were battled off by supply clerks, cooks, truck drivers and mechanics. One sergeant made three trips through the German lines for truckloads of shells that saved the day for more than one artillery battalion.

Sgt. John N. F. Jones who was about to be broken to a private for a minor infraction, turned up at the height of the battle with 100 men under his command and asked for and got a position from which to make a counter-attack.

Most of the battle was fought, not in St. Vith, but on the perimeter of the horeshoe, which extended about ten miles east to west and was about eight miles across at the center from north to south.

When the Seventh Armored arrived at St. Vith German infantry was closing in on the town and the only defenders were two courageous companies of engineers of another division.

On Wednesday, Dec. 20, the Germans subjected the sector immediately east of St. Vith to a heavy artillery bombardment and followed it with a strong infantry attack, which was stopped. That night the enemy attacked in strength on the northeast and southeast, and as Gen. Clarke said, "things got tough."

Thursday evening the Nazi's broke through on the west side of St. Vith. At 8 o'clock they attacked heavily along the entire line. At 10 P. M. General Clarke ordered the line withdrawn slightly west of St. Vith. The Germans came into the town immediately and American artillery plastered it. The night was extremely dark and it was snowing.

Friday the German drive slowed, but General Clarke decided his new line was untenable and he pulled back again.

Since Tuesday he had been sending back all unessential vehicles and he had them out of the way when the crucial time for the dash came Saturday morning, Dec. 23. Roads had been repaired to the rear to aid the withdrawal.

"The books said it couldn't be done—a daylight withdrawal like this," said Lieut. Col. John P. Wemple of Shreveport, La. "But we did it."

The Seventh Armored had taken over an enormous American supply dump that had been abandoned by another unit at St. Vith and left burning. But the fire had done little damage and scores of the division's vehicles even came out of the battle loaded with these supplies.

5 Months Of Silence Is Broken

Does Not See End Of War Before 1946 Except By Nazi Victory.

ADDRESS "FROM HEADQUARTERS"

Says People Are Resolute To Fight The War To Victory Despite All.

By Richard Kasischke

LONDON, Monday, Jan. 1 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, breaking a silence of more than five months early today, told the German people that "the end of the war will not come before 1946 unless by a German victory, because Germany will never capitulate."

In a radio address which the German radio said was delivered "from his headquarters," the Fuehrer without his usual shouting declared that "our people are resolute to fight the war to victory under any and all circumstances," and threatened death to those who faltered.

Hitler's Voice

Most veteran London monitors agreed that it indeed was Hitler's voice, but some speculated it might have been a recording.

It was delivered faster than usual and without rhetorical pauses, lasted but a half-hour in contrast to his wonted long harangues, and seemed to some listeners to come from a large empty room.

A ghost voice broke frequently into the broadcast.

It was the first time the world had heard Hitler's voice since the night of July 20 when he hurried to the microphone and told the people of a bombing attempt on his life.

Early in his address he mentioned that hectic night and said events since "have compelled me to dedicate my whole attention to the single work for which I have been living — the struggle for the fate of my people."

Capping Germany's most disastrous year with a heavy-voiced speech, Hitler threatened dissenters within his besieged and invaded country by asserting:

"We are going to destroy everybody who does not take part in the common effort for the country or who makes himself a tool of the enemy."

Fight for Life or Death

In a New Year's order of the day to the German army Hitler also declared that the Germans were waging a "fight for life and death," said the war had passed its climax, and asserted that in the coming year Germany would break the Allies with counter-strokes.

He referred to the suggested Allied plan of giving Poland parts of eastern Germany by saying:

"He (Prime Minister Churchill) banished population problems by expressing the hope that he may succeed by killing through bomb terror yet another six or more million German men, women and children.

"His protege, de Gaulle, on the other hand demands that western Germany is to come under French sovereignty and that the rest of Germany is to be dissolved.

"This corresponds exactly to the programmatical declarations made by Stalin's Jewish companion, (Ilya) Ehrenburg, who goes a step further and announces that the German people has to be smashed and destroyed.

Morgenthau Attacked

"Here we have the aim, which we find an American minister, the Jew Morgenthau, has made his postwar plan."

Hitler said the war was "a merciless struggle for existence," and told the army that "both Bolshevism in the east and Jewish capitalism in the west are one and the same in their lust to annihilate."

He admitted in his talk to the people that 1944 had been "the year of heaviest tribulations in this gigantic struggle."

Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering issued an order of the day to the battered German air force which said:

"On the threshold of the New Year we look to the future full of hope and confidence. Already the first fruits of the dogged endeavors of the German air force are maturing.

"We have new squadrons in the air, our parachutist troops are exemplary, our flak gunners eager for battle.

"With the help of the German labor service and male and female auxiliaries and the Air Signal Corps our air arm will show in the future that it can fight with its customary force and determination."

Hitler in his lengthy order of the day blamed his military reverses on the desertion of Germany by her allies, and said "I have lived onl yfor the preparation, sooner or later, to be able to reverse our purely defensive warfare and go over to the offensive."

He referred again to the July 20 assassination attempt against him, said that those responsible were "knocked down in a couple of hours," and declared that that would be the last attempt on his life.

He admitted, however, that this series of events, including the assassination attempt, had shaken in the camps of "both friend and foe' 'a belief in Germany's ability to carry on.

The German leader appealed to his troops to never relax for a moment and to make the Allies pay dearly in lives for ever mile's advance against the Reich.

Hitler, who last spoke publicly in a radio address immediately after the unsuccessful July 20 bombing attempt on his life, declared, "a people has to defend its dignity with its last drop of blood."

Preceded By March Music

The German leader's speech, just after midnight, was preceded by a quarter-hour of march music.

Hitler said he was issuing a New Year appeal to the German people, asserting, "only the change of the year prompted me to speak. The time demanded more from me than speeches. The months after July 20 demanded from me a dedication of myself to a single task—the fate of my people."

Hitler, still speaking in a restrained voice, belabored democracies and the Jews.

"Public opinion in the democratic countries is directed by the Jews," he said. "Our enemies are purposely misinforming public opinion. The peoples on the other side don't know the National Socialist regime.

Would Bring Germany To Slavery

"We know the democratic statesmen, the Bolshevists and Jews want to bring Germany to slavery, despoil our youth and let millions starve.

"Because we know the aims of our enemies and we know the fate that awaits us if we lose this war, we are fighting for our fatherland, for survival of the German people, for our culture and for our posterity."

Hitler, still speaking quietly, promised the German people that the Nazis would rebuild all the war's destruction in the Reich.

He sneered at democracy, declaring, "in all countries, so-called democracy has proved barren," and "to all countries of Europe democracies have brought catastrophe."

Hitler noted that "Finland, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary collapsed in the year 1944," and asserted:

"It was the corrupt democratic civilization which brought treachery to these countries."

Millions by Magic

Hitler boasted that Germany had produced "millions of new soldiers and artillery corps as if by magic" and added that "this will be recognized as a miracle of the twentieth century."

He said such people who could produce this "miracle" would "never perish but will come stronger out of it."

"At the end of this year," Hitler told the German people, "I want to beg you to continue to trust German leadership.

"I speak to you less now, not because I cannot speak," the mysteriously secluded and long-silent Fuehrer continued, "but because my work is taking every hour of my time.

"Unshakably, we shall fulfill our task also in the new year," he concluded, in a resolute tone which he maintained throughout the broadcast.

Goebbels Asks a Question

German Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels in a broadcast preceding Hitler's address asked the German people: "If the past year could not shake us, what in the world can shake us?"

Goebbels claimed the Allies "expected to sign a Christmas armistice in London" but were foiled by "a German miracle which at tihs hour has sent us over to the offensive on the western front and pushed us deep into Allied lines."

The propaganda minister then launched into praise of Hitler, declaring that Germany "has a man worthy of the time who, in the end, will also master it—Adolf Hitler."

He indicated that Germany hoped to win the war by attrition when he said "our enemies will pay the price in the blood and lives of many men until they understand that we cannot be beaten and that we therefore are destined for victory."

"We will not for a moment be shaken in the New Year," Goebbels said. "The German people will only lay down their arms when victory has been won. We have become active again in all fields of warfare. Our latest efforts have shown what we can do if we remain unshaken by the boasts of our enemies."

Louis Lochner Doubts Voice Was Hitler's

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Chief of the Former Associated Press Bureau in Berlin

LONDON, Monday, Jan. 1 (AP)—To anyone who has heard Adolf Hitler's voice for years, as I have, his early morning performance awakened grave doubts whether it really was the Fuehrer.

If he was, Hitler is a totally changed man. The delivery, while imitating the Hitler of olden days, was apathetic and completely lacking in the old Hitler passion.

Reached No Peaks of Fire

At no point did the speaker reach the peaks of oratorical fire. The speech itself seemed to be a blending of earlier Hitler utterances with pet phrases of Propaganda Minister Goebbels.

The speech was most likely not delivered at the time the world heard the voice. At one point, he spoke of the closing hour of the year when he in fact was supposedly speaking at the beginning of a new year. This would indicate the speech was recorded before midnight.

Bears Out One Theory

This would seem to bear out a theory of those who hold that since the attempt on his life last July Hitler has been able to concentrate only for certain periods.

In one such lucid period the speech may have been recorded by Hitler, but even in that case the effort appeared to be that of a feeble man who was rather inarticulate, and indifferent.

Lublin Poles Set Up Rival Government

Break Finally With Exiles in London, Who Open Fight on New Regime

To Ask Recognition By U. S. and Britain

Quick Russian Approval Seen; Peasant Party Meeting Cheers News

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP). — The Soviet-sponsored Polish Committee of National Liberation at Lublin proclaimed itself today the provisional government of liberated Poland after deciding "to break forever with the Polish government now in exile" at London.

The step, widely expected after repeated failures to bring the London Poles and the Soviet government together again, was announced by the Lublin radio.

The action was challenged immediately by the London Polish government, which charged that "the Polish nation will never recognize any authority or any totalitarian forms imposed on Polish national territory, and will not cease to stand for the genuine independence of Poland." It said: "The Polish government protests emphatically this attempt against the sovereign rights of the Polish nation."

Decision to form the provisional regime was taken by the National Council. Its president, Boleslaw Berut, appointed Edward Osubka-Morawski to be Premier and Foreign Secretary. Osubka-Morawski is president of the Committee of National Liberation and leader of the Polish Socialist party. (The Polish National Council and the Committee of National Liberation are organizational units of the Lublin group.)

Russian Action Seen

Wladislaw Gomolka, hitherto secretary-general of the Communist Polish Workers' party, was named First Deputy Premier and Stanislaw Janusz, vice-chairman of the Polish Peasant party, as Second Deputy.

Early Soviet recognition of the provisional government is expected. What action will be taken by Great Britain and the United States, which recognize the Polish government in London, remained to be seen.

Other ministers included National Defense, General Mihail Rola-Zymierski, who also is commander in chief; Home Affairs, Joseph Maslanka, Peasant party leader; Public Security, Stanislaw Radzkiewicz, of the Polish Workers party; Finance, Konstantin Dombrowski, Socialist party member; Justice, Edmund Zalewski; Agriculture and Agrarian Reform, Edward Beriold of the Peasant Party; public works, Viktor, Trojanowski, Socialist Party; information, Stefan Matuszewski, Socialist Party secretary-general.

Other Portfolios

Other portfolios were left unchanged as in the National Committee of Liberation, the Lublin radio said.

The government consists of five members from the Polish Socialist and Peasant Parties, four of the Polish Workers Party, two Democratic Party members, and one non-party, Gen. Rola Zymierski.

News of the government's formation was taken to the Polish Peasant Congress meeting in Lublin municipal theatre, the broadcast added, and some 1,500 deelgates cheered.

Proposals were made that the new government—whose announced aim is "leading liberated Poland into a new and better future based on the principles of true democracy"—should seek an immediate alliance with the Soviet Union.

The National Council of Poland was formed a year ago in German-occupied Warsaw, while the Liberation Committee was set up in July 1944, to be in charge of liberated areas of Poland.

Friendly Relations

Berut told the session he hoped the new government soon would establish close, friendly relations with the United States and Britain. Soviet and French representatives attended the meeting.

The London Polish government's statement violently attacked the Liberation Committee, declaring:

"In the part of Poland cleared of German occupation, there exists neither freedom of speech, association, nor assembly. The press, radio and all officially recognized political and social organizations are only instruments of the Committee of National Liberation in Lublin x x x

"Polish peasants, workers and intellectuals are carrying on the struggle against the German invader at home and abroad. Direction of the struggle rest in the hands of the Polish government. After the clearing of the whole territory from German occupation and after the evacuation of all foreign armed forces from Poland, the Polish people will be able in a free democratic election to choose the political system for their country, and elect a government in accordance with their own will."

Red Troops Occupy Two-thirds Of Buda

Last Enemy In Pilis Hills Crushed—Germans Swept Out Of Northeastern Hungary—Four-fifths Of Nation Conquered By Soviets.

By W. W. Hercher

LONDON, Monday, Jan. 1 (AP)—Russian shock troops, battling amid scenes of slaughter unrivalled since Stalingrad, yesterday hurled the Germans out of 300 blocks of houses and buildings in Buda, the western half of Budapest, occupying approximately two-thirds of that rubble-strewn section of the burning Hungarian capital.

Last Enemy Remnants

Simultaneously other Russian troops to the north crushed the last enemy remnants trapped in the Pilis hills in the Danube loop and threw the last Germans out of northeastern Hungary into Slovakia on a 200-mile front between the mouth of the Ipoly river and the frontier town of Satoraljaujhely. The Russians now have conquered about four-fifths of Hungary.

Soviet field dispatches said the enemy's main fortified line in Buda had been smashed as the Russians steadily pressed the surrounded enemy back against the Danube in the heart of the city.

A midnight Soviet bulletin also announced the killing of 3,700 Axis troops during the New Year's Eve battle, making a 48 hour toll of 7,300—or more than two Germans killed every minute of the vicious struggle. Twenty-two guns and 30 tanks and self-propelled guns were captured.

The Russians were blowing up fortified buildings in the hills of Buda, burying the fanatical German defenders. "Fierce struggles are taking place for every building," the communique said.

5,390 Captured

Moscow said that a total of 5,390 Germans and Hungarians were captured in eliminating the pocket in the Danube loop along with great quantities of equipment. The number of enemy slain was not given.

The Russians also plunged to within six miles southeast of the Slovak rail junction of Losonc (Lucenec), 55 miles northeast of Budapest, with the capture of Bozita, and penetrated further into central Slovakia southwest of Losonc.

While the great struggle raged inside Budapest a Berlin report said that other Soviet units had made a new crossing of the Hron river at two points west of Leva (Levice), in Hungarian-annexed Slovakia, 55 miles northwest of Budapest. In this sector the Russians were only 64 miles from Bratislava, Slovak capital, and 93 east of Vienna.

German military commentators also told of Russian preparations for a big Winter offensive. They said the Red army was massing men and material on the approaches to Krakow, southern Polish stronghold which is the gateway to German Silesia, and were probing German lines in East Prussia.

Overrun Buda

Soviet front dispatches disclosed that the Russians had overrun nearly two-thirds of Buda, and said that Soviet spearheads also had thrust as deep as three miles inside Pest, the part of the city on the east bank of the Danube.

Both sides were suffering staggering losses, Berlin said, and the Russians reported a 24-hour toll of 3,600 Germans killed.

The Germans, making a suicidal stand to delay the Red army's strides toward Vienna, were being worn down by Russian shock battalions which Berlin said outnumbered them five to one.

Fierce combat, often hand-to-hand, raged in the streets, squares and parks of the once beautiful city and also on Csepel Island as the Russians sent in waves of flame-throwing tanks against German street barricades and fortified buildings.

A Pravda war map published in Moscow disclosed that a four and one-half mile stretch of riverside in southern Buda was in Russian hands, and that two mile-deep Soviet penetrations had been made in western and northern Buda.

Still Holding

The enemy still clung, however, to a two and one-half mile northern tip of Csepel Island in the Danube. This portion includes the industrial district of Csepel, a radio station, and many wharves.

The map showed that the enemy line in Buda had been narrowed to less than two miles in width and five and one-half miles in length, extending from a point opposite the northern end of upstream Margaret Island down to a point near Csepel Island.

The Pest district still was largely under enemy control. Enemy forces were scattered thickly through the area, more than 12 miles in length on the east bank of the river, and extending inland as much as nine miles. Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine Army units fighting in Pest were encountering thousands of mines and electrically-charged barbed wire.

Russian mortar crews moved within range of the Royal Palace on 770-ft. Buda Hill, overlooking the Danube. Time-fused shells burst blackly over German trenches in the park flanking the massive Parliament building on the Pest side of the river.

On nearby St. Margaret's island, a mile and half-long wooded spa with fashionable hotels and sport grounds, German artillery concentrations were shelled heavily by self-propelled Red Army guns.

It appeared likely that one of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's wedges might quickly reach the Buda side of the wrecked Margaret bridge at the south end of the little island. His Third Ukraine Army men literally were dynamiting their way forward, blowing up buildings where cellar-entrenched machine-guns had street intersections under a withering cross-fire.

Enemy Positions

Enemy positions on the Buda side ran roughly from old Fortress hill behind the famous tourist hotel, St. Gellert, on the Danube, northward to Roszadom, fashionable knoll clustered with modernistic apartment houses of glass and steel.

Some Russian infantry was reported fighting around the little Buda park, Vermezo, "field of blood," where the Turks and Magyars battled in the 16th century. Buda, at the high tide of the Ottoman empire's conquests, was a Turkish stronghold dominating the surrounding region. Even in the days of modern warfare, where tankists have replaced swordsmen, its high ground is needed by the Russians in order to gain strategic control over the Pest lowlands across the river.

Whether any of the big Danube bridges linking Pest and Buda still are intact has not been disclosed by late front dispatches which told of further demolitions by the enemy.

Most of Budapest's Jews, estimated to number 400,000 before the war, lived in the tightly packed inner district of Pest near the Royal Opera House. This district is where the enemy, under present circumstances, might fight the longest.

Public Utilities

With public utilities destroyed and food stocks unreplenished Budapest's remaining civilian population crouched in terror in basement sehlters while the gunfire thundered incessantly and the fighting surged through the streets.

Saturday's disclosure that on Friday the enemy shot two Russian emissaries carrying a white truce flag in order to deliver a Soviet surrender ultimatum spurred the Russian shock teams in Budapest's wrecked streets.

The rejected Russian terms closely resembled those finally accepted by Marshal Von Paulus' Nazi Sixth army at Stalingrad with the exception that Hungarian soldiers were promised freedom to return home after questioning.

This Russian leniency toward the Hungarians was influenced by the energetic action of Premier-Col. Bela Miklos' provisional Hungarian government at Debrecen which now has officially declared war on Germany and asked the Allies for an armistice.

The Soviet-sponsored Hungarian regime has promised to mobilize Hungarian forces against the Germans, and a Brussels radio report staid that the Red Army also had been reinforced with two more Romanian divisions, making a total of 14 Romanian divisions fighting the Germans.

The Rusisans were moving up more guns and men west of Jelgava, Berlin said of this sector about which Moscow has remained silent.

BERLIN BLASTED BY BIGGEST RAF MOSQUITO FLEET

JAN 1 1945

3000 British and U. S. Planes Hammer Other Targets in Reich

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP)—The RAF bombed Berlin tonight with the strongest force of Mosquito planes ever to strike the German capital. The raid followed up heavy British and American daylight air blows at the Reich and the German front lines in closing out history's greatest year of aerial warfare.

Big RAF Lancasters during the night also attacked the railway yards at Osterfeld, in the Rhineland near Duisburg.

During the day more than 3000 British and American heavy bombers and fighters were hurled against widespread German targets.

The American Flying Fortresses and British Halifaxes and Lancasters, with their escorts of Mustangs, Spitfires and Thunderbolts, hit German oil refineries, communications in support of the Allied ground armies.

Just before midday a squadron of RAF Mosquitoes bombed Gestapo headquarters in Oslo, Norway, the Air Ministry announced. A Stockholm dispatch, quoting reports from the Norwegian capital, said a great many persons were killed.

RAF Spitfire bombers in another operation attacked V-2 installations in the center of a Dutch town diving through storms of flak to pinpoint the targets. They also attacked V-2 storage and maintenance sites in the same area.

Eighth Air Force

With yesterday's operations the U. S. Eighth Eighth Air Force alone dropped 42,000 tons of bombs on enemy targets. Last year in December their bomb total was 11,000 tons.

The American raids on strategic targets were followed up during the afternoon by an RAF assault with some 1,000 heavy bombers and escorting Mustangs and Spitfires on a railyard at Vohwinkel, almost due north of Solingen.

Although snow and fog hampered air activity in the battle zone, Allied strategic and tactical air forces flew well over 4,000 sorties against scores of targets on the enemy's front and rear sectors during the day. At least 23 tanks were reported knocked out.

Allied bombers attacked Oslo at noon today dropping several bombs in the center of the Norwegian capital, news agencies in Stockholm reported from Oslo through Quisling censorship.

The reports quoted an authority as saying a great many persons were killed and that many still are buried in the debris. Windows were smashed throughout the center of Oslo. One bomb hit a tram and two others landed on the castle grounds.)

The U. S. Eighth Air Force sent more than 1,300 Flying Fortresses and Liberators escorted by upwards to 700 fighters over the Reich for the ninth consecutive day of operations.

4,000 Tons Dropped

More than 4,000 tons of bombs were dropped on these targets.

Oil refineries at Hamburg, Harburg and Misburg near Hannover; u-boat yards at Hamburg; a Messerschmidt airplane factory and airfields at Wenzendorf, near Hamburg; two railway yards in the southwest Ruhr; six railway bridges over the Rhine, Moselle and other rivers opposite the battle area and four detraining points and communications centers handling traffic for German forces.

The heavy daylight attack by the American planes followed a powerful assault during the night by RAF Halifaxes on railroad marshaling yards at Cologne. Hanover also was attacked and in the early morning darkness Lancasters of the RAF bomber command blasted German troops and armor concentrated in and around a road junction at Houffalize 10 miles northeast of Bastogne in the Ardennes pocket.

RAF night fighters and intruder aircraft supported the big British bombers. Some 800 planes were involved in the various British attacks and the air ministry reported the loss of two planes.

One flying fortress formation was hopped on by 100 Nazi planes attacking one at a time, over Coblenz Liberators reported a dozen German fighters took out after them.

Hamburg Area

Anti-aircraft fire was reported intense over the Hamburg area. Elsewhere pilots said it was meager to moderate. The bombing was visual at Hamburg, Harburg and Misburg.

Photographs showed good bombing results at Misburg, Hamburg and Harburg as well as on the Messerschmitt factory and air fields. This plant where jet planes are built and tested was hit last Oct. 6.

JAN 1 1945

The Rhenania Ol Refinery at Harburg was subjected to its 10th assault. Three small oil refineries and the Blohm & Voss U-boat work which turn out about 200 40-foot subs a year were the targets at Hamburg.

Fortresses striking in the battle area dropped their bombs within 10 miles of the Siegfried Line. Liberators blasted railroad bridges in the Coblenz area near the Rhine and Moselle. Saturday American planes in about the same number attacked bridges and railyards in western Germany with the loss of eight bombers and three fighters. The Luftwaffe failed to show up.

Statistics for the year's operations by British and American air forces have not been completed, but 1944 saw Berlin struck with devastating blows; aerial support of the invasion of France; and the systematic destruction of German war plants.

One of the biggest accomplishments of the Eighth in the point of show of strength, was putting 2,000 bombers in the air on a single mission a week ago.

8TH AIR FORCE CLAIMS 7,000 PLANES IN 1944

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP) — More than 7,000 German planes were destroyed in 1944 by the United States Eighth Air Force, headquarters of that force reported today.

Eighth Air Force fighter pilots shot down 3,895½ craft and destroyed 1,044 on the ground. Bomber gunners bagged 2,234.

The Eighth's losses for the year were announced at 2,632 bombers and 1,446 fighters.

The announcement said that the total planes claimed destroyed did not include those that may have been wrecked by bombs on airfields.

The Eighth flew 357,272 combat sorties, 196,314 by heavy bombers and 160,958 by fighters. Nearly 2,000,000,000 pounds of high explosives and incendiary bombs were dumped on enemy targets.

In addition to blows at the German air force, Eighth fighter pilots took this toll of the enemy's war potential:

Locomotives, 3,300 disabled, 2,295 damaged; railroad cars, 6,675 destroyed, 21,143 damaged; motor vehicles, 4,014 destroyed, 3,037 damaged; armored vehicles, 128 destroyed, 138 damaged; tanks, 41 destroyed, 107 damaged; gun positions and flak towers, 245 silenced, 473 damaged; ammunition and fuel dumps, 67 destroyed, 79 damaged.

Call For Fight

LONDON, Monday, Jan. 1. (AP)—Declaring that the new year probably will be a decisive one in the history of the Polish nation, President Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz tonight called on all Poles "to rally round the rightful government" of Poland and "spare no effort in supporting it."

Diplomatic observers interpreted Raczkiewicz's statement, which was broadcast to Poland in a New Year's message, as a call for an all-out fight with the Lublin committee for home support.

Raczkiewicz said men who recently arrived in London from Poland had been given the "highest offices in service for Poland," and added that "to us democracy means the possibility of free organization of the nation in accordance with the will of the majority, of will freely expressed without compulsion and pressure."

J. Masaryk Urges Neighbors To Play Ball With U.S.S.R.

LONDON, Dec. 31, (AP)—Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovak foreign minister, today advised his country's neighbors—Poland, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Austria and Romania—to play ball with Russia.

Outlining his country's foreign policy in a New Year's message broadcast to his homeland, Masaryk said this policy would be based "on the solid, unalterable and massive foundation of our agreement and neighborhood with the Soviet Union."

"We want a democratic and strong Poland but only a Poland who will collaborate with the Soviet Union," he said.

"We want a decent and Democratic Hungary who will let us live in peace, and again only a Hungary which will collaborate with the Soviet Union.

The same goes for Yugoslavia, Austria and Romania."

NAZIS SAY SUBS SANK 6 ALLIED TRANSPORTS

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Berlin radio claimed today that Nazi U-boats sank six Allied transports, aggregating 25,600 tons, off the British coast in the last few days.

Steel Mesh Protects Airmen

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP).—Manganese steel mesh curtains are replacing heavy plating in American bombers these days and are affording better individual protection for crewmen. They also lessen the weight of the aircraft.

Hitler Announces Death Of Marshal Kesselring

JAN 1 1945

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Brussels radio today quoted what it said was an order of the day from Adolf Hitler, dated November 27, announcing the death of Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, commander of German troops in Italy.

A report from Bern, Switzerland, on November 2, said Kesselring was wounded in Italy when an Allied plane machine-gunned his automobile near Bologna.

The order announced the death of a large number of Nazi party members and state personalities and Army commanders who have been killed or wounded, the Brussels radio said.

It quoted Hitler as saying in part: "I announce the deaths of Stormtroop Leader Littel, Maj.

Gen. Kiehl and Marshal Kesselring."

There was no further explanation.

British Brides of GI's Learn How to Get Along in America

By BARBARA WACE

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP)—From 12,000 to 15,000 British girls married to American soldiers applied for visas to the United States in 1944.

There will be thousands of English brides setting up house in America in the next few years, aided by a digest of "Bride's Guide to the U. S. A.," published in Good Housekeeping magazine. The guide was compiled by the magazine in conjunction with the Office of War Information.

Squarely facing national differences in eating habits, manners and ideas, the booklet points out how to avoid the most likely pitfalls.

Don't Change Accent

On the American language the booklet says, "Change your pronunciation if it causes misunderstanding—otherwise don't."

To take care of any British snobbiness the digest says frankly: "Most British brides will arrive in America entirely unknown. No one knows who you were at home and in most cases no one cares very much to dig into your past. Practically no American is able to 'place' you by your accent. It is what you are that is important. If they like you, they like you, and if they don't like you a good address in London is of no help."

"Listen, look around and take your time," the article advises. It goes on to explain that American humor is different and must be taken calmly.

"The kidding perhaps is harder to get used to, but you have to learn to take it. It may consist of mimicking to see if you can take it," is the advice.

Dress Your Smartest

The earnest little English miss anxious to impress her "in-laws" was advised to "dress your smartest for your first interview, and remember that, except in the smallest villages, lipstick is expected."

One section tells what to read to learn about America. Another how to make friends and entertain in a small town or a big city.

Above all, the British girl was warned that in America practically every housewife does her own work. She was told how to budget her income.

The English bride was warned not to put on airs.

"No matter what your income is it never pays to show off or live beyond your means. You and your husband will be judged not so much by what you spend as by whether you are pleasant company and seem to be on the way up."

HENDERSON ARRIVES IN PARIS FOR SURVEY

PARIS, Dec. 31 (AP)—Leon Henderson arrived here today, reportedly to make a survey of the condition and possible dispositions of German industry in the postwar period. He also will study the present state of French industry and its possible contribution to the Allied war effort.

2 German Officials Stay In a Freed French Town

By The Associated Press.

FRENCH FIRST ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Dec. 31—A rare case of collaboration in reverse came to light with the recent capture of a Vosges mountain town by French troops.

The soldiers found that they had liberated not only the native French population but also two German civilian officials of the Nazi occupation forces. The two men had been ordered to retreat with the Wehrmacht, but had remained. The local leader of the resistance movement asked special treatment for them.

It turned out that the two Germans had been quietly collaborating with the French during the whole occupation. They had helped French workers evade Nazi attempts to round them up for shipment to German war factories and had aided the townspeople in circumventing all kinds of Nazi restrictions.

Both men have offered to assist the Allied Military Government in Germany.

YANKS RETAr TOWN IN ITALY

Germans Claim Allied Coastal Landing Repulsed With Heavy Losses

ROME, Dec. 31 (AP)—U. S. 5th Army troops have reoccupied Barga, captured by the Nazis in their abortive push down the Searchio Valley near the Italian west Coast, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Germans knocked American troops from Barga, 19 miles inland, last week. Headquarters did not mention any fighting in reoccupation of the town, and the Germans may have withdrawn without a battle.

Substantial enemy troop movements had been reported earlier along the coastal area, but headquarters made no mention of them today. Snow was falling in the Apennines, limiting visibility.

(The German communique declared an Allied attempt to land with small forces below Massa, at the coast 17 miles west of Barga, had been repulsed with many Allied casualties in dead and captured. There was no Allied confirmation.)

At the other end of the 5th Army front, Lt. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott's British troops sent patrols across the upper stretches of the Senio River near Rivola, seven miles below Imola on the highway to Bologna. The crossing drew heavy German fire and later attempts to send other units over were unsuccessful.

The Senio was crossed four miles west of Cuffia where patrols on the British Army's left flank also probe enemy lines behind the stream.

Tank Gunners

Tank gunners joined in a heavy artillery duel west of Bagnacavallo, near the east coast 14 miles northeast of Imola. Big German guns laid down steady fire. Tank gunners shot up an enemy strongpoint in a sugar factory along the east bank of the Naviglio Canal.

Weather curtailed air activity, but Allied fighter-bombers pounded enemy rearline communications, mediums hit bridges on the Brenner Pass railline, and an ammunition dump near Bologna. A Brazilian Thunderbolt Squadron participated with U. S. 12th Air Force Thunderbolts and RAF South African fighters in wrecking or damaging 52 motor vehicles, six locomotives, 90 railway cars and 42 buildings.

A naval communique disclosed the U. S. Destroyer Woolsey had shot down a bridge during frequent bombardments of the Italian Riviera by Allied ships. Other vessels in these bombardments were the U. S. destroyers Gleaves and Benson, and the French destroyers L'Alcyon, Le Fortune, and Trombe.

Honored as Assault Boat Hero

ROME, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Navy Cross has been presented to Lieut. Henry Francis Murphy of 140 Prospect Street, Bristol, Conn., for heroism when, an assault boat, which was taking part in the first wave of landings in southern France last August, hit a mine and was demolished. Lieutenant Murphy was dazed by the explosion, which killed and injured most of the boat's occupants, but swam to another boat and directed the rescue of the survivors. Then he directed other landing craft away from the mines. He is a graduate of Catholic University in Washington.

Greek Govt. Quits Office; Regent App.

Settlement Of Conflict Appears In Sight—Fighting Continues.

ATHENS, Monday, Jan. 1—(AP)—Archbishop Damaskinos of Athens took the oath of office as regent of Greece last night following the resignation of Premier George Papandreou and the entire Greek cabinet.

The regent said, "I swear in the name of the Holy and Indivisible Trinity to be loyal to the king, protect the religion of the Greek nation, maintain the constitution and preserve national independence," adding that he would remain vigilant to guard the historic rights of the nation.

Meanwhile, fighting continued in Athens and the port of Piraeus although the visit of an Elas delegation to British Commander Lt. Gen. R. M. Scobie to discuss a truce and surrender terms was reported reliably last night.

Svolos Returns

Alexander Svolos, former Eam finance minister, returned from Elas territory and said he the left-wing group was conciliatory concerning the formation of a new cabinet, insisting that the ministries of war and the interior be given to persons of common confidence. The Eam, Svolos, reported, also named George Kafandaris as a candidate for the premiership.

(A long delay in dispatches from Greece was caused when warring left-wing Elas cut the cables and knocked out the Pelini transmitter 15 miles outside Athens. Press dispatches were relayed through the British war office in London.)

Although a settlement of the Greek internal conflict appeared in sight as a result of these political moves developing from the visit of Prime Minister Churchill to Athens last week, fighting continued in Athens and the port of Piraeus.

Accept "In Principle"

This was despite the fact that the Elas were reported to have accepted "in principle" the peace terms of British Commanded Lt. Gen. R. M. Scobie.

(A note to the Elas by Gen. Scobie, made public by the British foreign office in London Sunday, said the Elas had accepted the "basic points" of Gen. Scobie's memorandum of Dec. 12 and Dec. 18 but demanded formal assurances on two specific points.

("If the central committee of Eam/Elas will confirm their acceptance of these two conditions and will send an officer or officers with full power to this headquarters arrangements can be made forthwith for the execution of these conditions and the cessation of hostilities," the note added.

(The conditions previously laid down by Scobie were that the Elas, armed militia of the left-wing Eam political movement, obey his orders and evacuate Attica, and that the Elas in Athens and Piraeus surrender their arms and cease resistance.

Elas Accept

("There is nothing to justify continuance of the fight inasmuch as the left had accepted the basic points of General Scobie's memoranda," the note said, but, it continued, "it had not been made clear by the Elas central committee, either in previous correspondence with Gen. Scobie or at recent conferences, that the Elas had accepted the two conditions which the general had made public in his memoranda of Dec. 12 and Dec. 18.")

Papandreou's action gave Damaskinos freedom call someone else to form a new government. There was no immediate indication of his choice but speculation centered on former EAM Finance Minister Alexander Svolos.

British troops continued to clean out Elas forces in the Athens-Pireaus area and reported Elas forces had landed on Meganisi island and were concentrating on the mainland opposite the island of Levkas. Gen. Napoleon Zerves, leader of the Rightist forces, continued to evacuate his remaining troops to Corfu from Prevesa, which is just north of Levkas.

Quits Army

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 31, (AP)—President Carl Gustaf Mannerheim formally resigned command of Finland's armed forces in a New Year's order of the day today in Helsinki and appealed to the nation for "unity and calmness" in order to weather the country's difficulties. The 77-year-old Finnish president and field marshal declared the people of the world were impatiently waiting the day when all nations could be united in harmony on a foundation of peaceful work and mutual understanding.

Heart of Oslo Reported Hit by Allied Bombers

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 31 (AP).—Allied bombers attacked Oslo at noon today dropping several bombs in the center of the Norwegian capital, news agencies reported from Oslo through Quisling censorship.

The reports quoted an authority as saying a great many persons were killed and that many still are buried in the debris. Windows were smashed throughout the center of Oslo. One bomb hit a tram and two others landed on the castle grounds.

GERMANS SEIZE BARON AS ANTI-NAZI LEADER

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 31 (AP)—German secret police recently arrested Baron Von Wilmowsky, a representative of the Krupp steel works, on charges of organizing anti-Nazi party cells, a traveler from Germany said today. He said Von Wilmowsky and several others were seized in Hamburg because their group was regarded as a center of defeatism.

Swedish Coastal Ship Sunk

Goes Down Under Mysterious Circumstances With 19 of Crew

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 31 (AP).—The Swedish steamship Venersborg, engaged in coastal traffic, was sunk mysteriously near Karlskrona, an official announcement today said. Missing since Dec. 29, the 1,550 t Venersborg went down with all but one of its crew of twenty while en route to Denmark.

The circumstances recalled the sinking of the Swedish steamship Hansa in October, with loss of nearly 100 lives, soon after the Germans had declared parts of the Baltic Sea a combat area in which ships were liable to be sunk without warning. The Germans denied responsibility for the sinking of the Hansa.

Allies Begin Lifting Trade Restrictions In Middle-East Area

CAIRO, Dec. 31. (AP)—The first step toward freeing trade from wartime restrictions by lifting import controls from a wide range of goods was announced today jointly by British and American authorities.

Improvement in the supply situation was given as the reason.

The announcement said the Middle East Supply Command will continue to control imports on commodities such as cereals and fertilizers, which require large amounts of shipping space, and over such articles as tires, trucks and textiles, of which there still is a world shortage. Import licenses for all other articles no longer will be required.

Middle East governments will be kept constantly informed of the amount of shipping space available. Individual countries henceforth may make their arrangements directly with exporters for those commodities on which controls were removed. The statement said control progressively will be withdrawn from all categories of goods as supply and shipping conditions improve.

Pravda Attacks Pope's Message As an Apologia for Nazi Crimes

MOSCOW, Dec. 31 (AP)—Charging that Pope Pius XII is against recognition of the people's will, the Communist party newspaper Pravda today declared the Pontiff's Christmas message "was characterized by a policy aimed at the protection of Hitlerite Germany and its delivery from responsibility for crimes."

"As for the problems of an international organization for peace and security, the Pope adopted an attitude of equality toward both vanquishers and vanquished," the newspaper said. "That means an attitude of equality toward both peace-loving countries and Fascist aggressors."

"If the Hitlerite barbarians found no word of blame in the Pope's message," Pravda continued, "then there is something else—the Pope's main attack was directed against the broad masses of people and their demands for real democracy."

Asserting that the moral and political uprooting of fascism in Europe is a "much longer task than mere expulsion of Germans," the Communist paper said, "Pope Pius XII is against recognition of the people's will and attempts to prove that 'in countries ruled by the will of the masses,' freedom becomes tyranny.

"This conception is alien to the experience of peoples who have passed through the sufferings and atrocities of Hitlerite prison camps, and it violates the vital interests of people and real democracy," Pravda said.

The newspaper declared that the most important results of 1944, when the Red army, together with the armies of the Allies, inflicted decisive, crushing blows at the fascist "new order" in Europe, would be written in golden letters in the history of mankind.

Pravda said "two dominant trends emerge from the liberation of peoples from Hitlerite enslavement. First, a growth of national conscience and the deep patriotism of the masses; second, a stubborn, insistent desire by the broad masses of the liberated population to reconstruct their internal life and prevent any rebirth of a fascist or semi-fascist barbarian order."

Chiang Offers China Constitutional Govt.

Promises "As Soon As Military Situation Stabilized" People's Congress Should Be Convened To Transfer Power To People.

By Spencer Moosa

CHUNGKING, Dec. 31 (AP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in a momentous New Year's message to the Chinese people today promised them a constitutional government before the end of the war instead of within one year after the end of hostilities.

"We must prepare for the convening of a peoples' congress within this year (1945) to adopt and promulgate a constitution," the Chinese leader said, adding:

"I am ready immediately to propose to the central executive committee of the Kuomintang that as soon as the military situation has become so stabilized as to enable us to launch a counteroffensive with greater assurance of victory, we should convene a peoples' congress to adopt a constitution which would enable the Kuomintang to transfer the power of government to the people."

"Therefore," the generalissimo added. "We must in this year, 1945, employ our entire strength to beat back the enemy and also to introduce a constitutional government with the entire nation solidly bound together."

Expressing "deepest regrets" that this had not been possible earlier, Chiang said, "I feel a revolutionist should lay emphasis on working, not on talk. Therefore, I do not usually vainly talk much about democracy. But I have not for one single day forgotten the need for a realization of constitutional democracy."

Not Necessary to Wait

Declaring that the first Mukden incident in 1931, and then the outbreak of full-fledged war in July, 1937, had prevented the introduction of constitutional government, the generalissimo said, "through nearly eight years of armed resistance the three peoples' principles have sunk into the hearts of the people generally, and their sense of civil responsibility has been much heightened. Therefore, I do not feel it is necessary to wait until the end of the war to call a peoples' congress."

(Convening of a people's congress by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek apparently would be a step toward ironing out friction which has existed throughout the war between an estimated 80,000,000 Chinese in the North China Communist areas and the Kuomintang, or central government. Such a congress would seem to entail Communist representation.

Considerable Concern

(There has been considerable concern in some circles in America and Britain over the failure of the Communists to be given a voice in Chungking affairs, and criticism has been raised that part of the Chinese army has been deployed to "watch" the Communist forces in the north — forces which Communist spokesmen claim are eager to fight against the Japanese.)

Stating that the first emphasis in Chinese efforts in 1945 must be placed on military affairs "for redemption of past failures and for the speeding up of victory," the generalissimo said, "we must adapt all our political and economic programs to military needs."

He urged the Chinese to work harder and give more to the war, and asked landowners and other wealthy families not to miss their last chance for national service.

Great Trial and Danger

Describing the year 1944 as a great trial and danger for the Chinese nation, Chiang said not since the battle of Hankow in 1938 had so much territory been lost, nor had the people suffered such hardship and misery as during the past eight months.

"The enemy knows full well he cannot escape final doom," the Chinese leader said. "His only hope is to prevent China from achieving a clear-cut victory, thereby making the triumph of the United Nations incomplete and indecisive and winning for himself a chance to resume aggressive warfare.

"With this object in mind the enemy took full advantage of the all-out Allied offensive and preoccupation in Europe to drive boldly into interior China in hope of knocking out our striking power and bringing about our collapse.

"But today we are still secure on our own feet and the entire nation remains solidly behind the policy of fighting to the end. The foundation of our war effort has in no way been shaken."

Asserting that the enemy would continue the struggle in 1945, Chiang told his people "we should be prepared for even more violent attacks. We should strengthen our forces, realize the initiative and fight back in co-ordination with our Allies."

Japanese Raid Mindoro

ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, on Leyte, Monday, Jan. 1 (AP)—The Japanese pressed their air attacks on shipping and installations at Mindoro Island Saturday but lost fourteen of thirty-two raiding planes, General MacArthur reported today.

Eight Japanese planes were shot down the previous night in an attack on an American convoy in the same area, bringing the two-day total to twenty-two.

Today's communiqué made no mention of American casualties, shipping or other losses.

[Japan's Domei news agency claimed in a broadcast that thirteen more transports and three additional cruisers had been sunk or damaged, bringing the total to thirty-three American ships sunk or damaged on their way to Mindoro. The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said "only fourteen" battered American ships were now "observed in the Mindoro sector."]

Air attacks from newly-won fields on Mindoro and Leyte Island against Japanese-held Luzon continued. Patroling Liberators sank a freighter-transport in Lingayen Gulf, north of Manila. Medium bombers raided Tuguegarao airdrome in northeastern Luzon and Legaspi on the Bicol Peninsula.

The total enemy dead in the campaign for Leyte, where organized Japanese resistance was declared ended Christmas Day, reached 117,997. This included 1,191 more Japanese killed in the 24 hours ended Dec. 29.

Fighting to mop up the remaining Japanese in northwestern Leyte has developed into American Indian style warfare. General MacArthur's troops were moving rapidly by night and striking hard at dawn against groups of 200 or 300 Japanese marooned on the peninsula north of Palompon and west of Carigara.

Enemy Bands Roam Hills

No longer able to put up an organized stand against the Americans, who now control the Ormoc Valley and all main roads, small bands of Japanese are roaming the hill country, foraging and destroying what they cannot use.

Medium bombers destroyed five enemy planes and a fuel dump on Negros Island, in the central Philippines, while light naval units sank four luggers off the north coast.

Medium bombers raided installations and shipping at Davao, Mindanao.

Patrol planes bombed airdrome hangars, oil refineries and shipping on and around Borneo. They sank a small freighter and three coastal vessels.

Airdromes, supply depots and small shipping were struck with fifty-eight tons of bombs near Manado, Celebes.

Fighter and medium bombers dropped sixty-nine tons of bombs on airdromes, bivouacs and small shipping in the Moluccas and Lesser Sundas.

Heavy bombers hit anti-aircraft positions at Wewak, New Guinea, with thirty-six tons of bombs.

Medium and fighter bombers raided Rabaul, New Britain; Kavieng, New Ireland; and southeastern Bougainville.

Iwo Is Attacked Again

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 31 (AP)—Airstrips on Iwo Island in the Volcano Islands were hammered by Liberator bombers Thursday and Friday. This made the twenty-second and twenty-third bombings of the tiny island during December alone.

The raids were announced today by Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

Mitchell bombers hit targets in the northern Kurile Islands Friday and Marine Corsairs bombed and strafed supply dumps and other objectives at Babelthuap in the Palu group the same day.

Rocket-firing Mitchells attacked shipping between the Volcano and Bonin Island groups Wednesday and Thursday in assaults on the enemy's supply lines to western Pacific islands.

In the Carolines, Marine and Army fighter planes strafed barges at Woleai. Wake Island was hit along with remaining Japanese bases in the Marshalls to the south.

Britain's Role In Pacific War Pleases Nimitz

Admiral Says British Fleet Will Team With U. S. in '45 to Squeeze the Foe

ABOARD ADMIRAL HALSEY'S 3D FLEET FLAGSHIP, in the Western Pacific, Dec. 25 (Delayed) (AP).—A picture of joint American-British operations against Japan in 1945, with fighting growing more violent as the enemy is squeezed tighter and tighter, was drawn by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz today.

"The war to come will consist of obtaining bases closer and closer to the Japanese empire from which we can reach the enemy with all the weapons we have," Nimitz said at a press conference. "But the war will be far from won even when we cross the Pacific—at that time the war enters its toughest phase for us."

He spoke with obvious pleasure of recent conferences with Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander of the British Pacific Fleet.

"The British Fleet is not coming over here for any pacific purpose," said Nimitz. "They will carry their share of the load and they will be plenty aggressive.

"The British Fleet will operate in the Pacific under the control of the theater commander to which they have been assigned.

"I look forward to seeing the British working in close co-ordination with the United States Pacific Fleet."

Admiral Nimitz, whose strategy in 1944 cost Japan a Pacific Ocean empire in area as large as the United States, received correspondents aboard Admiral William F. Halsey's flagship. He said he had come to the western Pacific to express to Halsey and the fleet's officers his pride in their accomplishments.

"They have continued to press westward in the Pacific, defeating and knocking out the Japanese, and they have done a fine job," Nimitz added.

"I stopped at Guam en route and I was tremendously impressed with the development there since I was last there in August. Then the fighting was still going on and the place was a shambles.

But Guam now is taking the place it should have had always, and it will be of great value to the United States for all time to come. Whatever may have been its shortcomings before the war, those of us in responsible positions will leave no stone unturned to develop Guam to the ultimate."

Washington Embassy Says New Government Wins Sympathy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP).—Order prevails throughout the Republic of Panama and that nation has received "with sympathy" the new government which President Ricardo Adolfo de la Guardia formed early today, the Panamanian Embassy has declared tonight.

In a statement signed by Ambassador Don Enrique A. Jimenez, the Embassy denied by implication the report from Panama that President de la Guardia had faced a crisis yesterday with political leaders demanding his resignation.

B-29'S HERALD 1945 TO JAPANESE CITIES

Tokyo Reports Millions Alerted in Yokohama and Capital —Nagoya Fired

The first New Year's sleep of tens of millions of Japanese was interrupted by the drone of high-flying United States Superfortresses, The Associated Press reported.

Tokyo radio raid warnings, intercepted by the Federal Communications Commission Sunday (United States time) kept a wide belt across heavily populated Honshu, main Japanese home island, on the alert intermittently from 4:30 P. M. Sunday (Japanese time) to dawn, New Year's Day.

Incendiary bombs started two fires in Nagoya, said the Tokyo radio. The more dangerous, it said, "was put under control before it developed into a large conflagration."

The air-raid warnings aroused sleepers and fire-fighters in densely populated Tokyo; near-by industrial Yokohama; the busy Tokyo naval station at Yokosuka, and both the east and west coasts of Honshu.

As the old year drew to a close Radio Tokyo alerted first the west region of Honshu Island, warning: "A lone plane is coming from the west to the Tokyo-Yokohama region."

This was followed by the alarm: "Several planes are arriving from the southeast" heading for Tokyo.

Bombing of Tokyo Reported

In all, the radio reported through the night the course of four Superfortresses—two over the Tokyo area, one over Nagoya and one over "central Japan."

In a German-language broadcast beamed to Europe, Tokyo said that the two Superforts flying over Tokyo dropped incendiary bombs "over the capital of Japan and environs" before dawn but made no mention of results.

This broadcast said that a Japanese interceptor plane had "scored a direct hit" on one of the raiders.

There was no Allied confirmation of any of the enemy broadcasts.

To cope with future B-29 raids the Japanese Government specifically ordered managers of "concrete and steel buildings not to refuse the utilization of the buildings" as emergency air-raid shelters, according to a domestic radio broadcast intercepted by FCC.

In addition, air-defense authorities have drawn up new "regulations for air defense and lookout personnel" on "conditions of falling bombs and how to judge the direction of approaching enemy planes and their altitude," the broadcast said.

The service regulations, added the broadcast, were "an attempt to correct the direction of the air defense."

U. S. Working For Unity Among Allies

First Half Of 1945 Regarded As Most Critical Period Of War In Diplomatic Field—Pattern For International Affairs To Be Determined.

JAN 1 1945

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP) — Strenuous efforts to achieve Allied diplomatic unity in the closing months of the war are being charted at the White House and State Department.

Critical Period

The first half of the new year is regarded as probably the most critical period of the war in this respect. It is expected to be a time of great decision fixing the pattern of international affairs—for peaceful cooperation or strife and conflict—for generations to come.

President Roosevelt will have opportunity to outline the course of action he and Secretary of State Stettinius are developing in his message to the new Congress probably late this week. Officials look to the message for the most comprehensive statement of American foreign policy in almost a year.

It is considered certain to reflect any modifications made to meet developments in Soviet-Anglo-American relations since former Secretary Hull's foreign policy speech last April. It may also give some clues as to the President's hopes for an early meeting with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

Important Gathering

That meeting, now tentatively expected in February soon after Mr. Roosevelt's fourth term inauguration January 20, is easily the most important of various international gatherings projected for the first half of the new year.

Others include a conference of American foreign ministers, probably at Mexico City in February or early March, and a United Nations meeting also in early spring, to consider establishing the Dumbarton Oaks organization for world security.

President Roosevelt's leadership toward a peaceful and secure postwar world, which rose to a high peak both at home and abroad when he was reelected for a fourth term two months ago, will be put to the test in all these international gatherings as well as in the new Congress.

His greatest task, according to diplomatic authorities here, will be to gain broad compromises between the ideals and interests of the United States and those of Britain and Russia, which will be acceptable in this country. In accomplishing this task, it is said, lies his best hope of winning Senate approval of full United States participation in the projected world organization.

Problems Increase

The nearer Allied armies close in on Germany and the more European countries are liberated the more numerous will become the problems requiring settlement.

Even in those countries liberated during 1944 there remain explosive conidtions. For instance, France, according to information in official quarters here, will soon need huge quantities of raw materials to keep her factories going and employment high.

Allied shipping is so tight as to furnish little prospect of meeting the need there and in other freed countries, although if it is not met unrest is almost certain to follow.

Announced United States policy for liberated Europe is to let the people work out their own political destinies, even though in some instances it may mean at the outset control by leftist or communists minorities. Announced British policy is to intervene in the interest of maintaining British-recognized authorities where necessary.

The Russians have not disguised their intention of bordering their frontiers with friendly governments and of compelling whatever territorial changes they considered justified historically or for their own security.

New Congress Begins Heavy Program Soon

Legislative Issues Include Peacetime Draft.

Social Security Expansion, Taxes, Wartime Financing, Price Control, Congressional Reorganization, Treaties.

JAN 1 1945

By Douglas B. Cornell

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Courting world peace but squaring off for some heavy home front slugging, legislators will ring the gong Wednesday for a new Congress.

Dozen Problems

Stacked in front of them are a dozen or so problems, many touching the lives of all Americans, all of them capable of exploding into blazing legislative issues. They carry such labels as:

Universal military training, social security expansion, taxes, wartime financing, price control, congressional reorganization, international treaties.

It may be months before the Senate is asked to ratify a treaty for peace machinery growing out of the Dumbarton Oaks conference. But vehement debate on the subject, and on international issues in general, is ready to boil up any moment.

And right at the start of the new session, Congress will take a couple of Saturdays off to clean up some political chores left over from the 1944 election. Senate and House will count electoral votes jointly next Saturday to nobody's surprise, announce Presdient Roosevelt's election to a fourth term, 432 to 99.

For Inauguration

Then, two weeks later, they are invited down to the White House lawn with a few hundred other folk to watch the inauguration.

And while the Democrats picked up some strength in the November voting that offers no guarantee of smooth sailing for all the administration's legislative program in the 79th Congress.

Even on extending social security coverage to additional millions, there may be some trouble. Although both major political parties endorsed expansion during the campaign, there are divergent ideas on financing and on what classes of people should be brought into the system.

Mr. Roosevelt has promised to give his own views to Congress shortly.

In the more immediate picture, however, are his annual message to Congress and the budget for the next fiscal year. Probably he will deliver neither in person.

Their timing will be decided when the President meets Tuesday with Democratic leaders of the Senate and House.

Military Training

Compulsory military training for American youth in peacetime may be one of the earliest and toughest issues.

The chief executive has let it be known he wants some type of universal service. He said he would leave it to Congress to decide how much of the training should be military. On that, legislators have thought up hot arguments.

While studies looking toward erection of a sound postwar tax structure have been under way for months, it may be many additional months before any tax cuts are approved even for the future. Tied in with the question is the whole problem of financing a war that costs upwards of a hundred billion dollars a year.

The next budget, tentatively, was cut below this year's but indefinite prolnogation of Germany's lease on life could upset all the government's financial hopes.

Peacetime Jobs

Congressmen naturally will be wondering how the administration can assure the 60,000,000 peacetime jobs announced as the presidential goal. Already, however, they have authorized some stand-by highway and flood control projects. They may work up a housing program and probably they will try to get together on some river and harbor improvements.

To put their own house in order and modernize it for handling issues of peace and war, they have told a committee on congressional reorganization to report back by April 1 with some recommendations.

And along about that time they will have to begin thinking about the price control act — always a touchy subject — which expires at the end of June.

Yet all these issues, important as they may be, will assume sideshow status once the international compacts on which the world pins its hopes for lasting security are ready for action. Probably there will be fighting over methods of attaining peace. For senators who have to ratify treaties have no unanimity of opinion, and House members who can do not more than watch from the sidelines want to be dealt in, too.

MORGENTHAU FINISHES 11 YEARS IN TREASURY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Henry Morgenthau, Jr., completes 11 years tomorrow as Secretary of the Treasury.

After serving a month and a half as undersecretary, he was appointed to the post January 1, 1934, and confirmed by the Senate a week later.

He has been Secretary longer than any other man except Albert Gallatin, who served nearly 12 years early in the 19th century.

F. D. R. APPROVES ELK HILL OIL SALE

JAN 1 1945

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Navy announced today that President Roosevelt had approved contracts for sale of approximately 8,000,000 barrels of crude oil from the Navy's Elk Hills (Calif.) reserve.

The oil will be refined for naval and military needs.

The contracts, executed by Acting Secretary of the Navy Ralph A. Bard, are with the Union Oil Company of California, the Texas Company, Richfield Oil Corporation, the Mohawk Petroleum Corporation, Shell Oil Company, and General Petroleum Corporation of California.

The 8,000,000 barrels will be the estimated total production for the Navy's account from the Elk Hills reserve for the six months ending June 30, 1945, the Navy said.

Today's announced sale is the second sale of crude oil from the reserve under the contract signed between the Navy and the Standard Oil Company of California on June 19, 1944.

Production from the Elk Hills field was authorized by joint resolution of Congress, and approved by the President June 17, 1944, to supply military needs.

REP. CLARE LUCE BACK FROM TOUR OF FRONTS

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (AP)—Rep. Clare Booth Luce (R., Conn.) arrived at LaGuardia Field today aboard a transatlantic Air Transport Command plane terminating a tour of European battlefronts as a member of the House Military Affairs Committee.

The plane, which ATC officers said had been delayed by weather, landed at 4 A. M. Mrs. Luce left the airport for her Greenwich (Conn.) home. She said she would go to Washington on January 3. The Congresswoman's return trip took her from Rome to North Africa and then across the Atlantic, the ATC said.

COL. HOBBY, WAC HEAD, GIVEN ARMY MEDAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Col. Oveta Culp Hobby, director of the Women's Army Corps, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, third highest Army decoration, the War Department announced today.

She is the first woman in the Army to receive this recognition, although six civilians were so decorated after World War I for outstanding service in the war effort.

LONDON, DEC. 31-(AP)-EUROPE'S MILLIONS LOOKED TONIGHT FOR THE SIXTH TIME IN THIS WAR INTO THE PROMISE OF A NEW YEAR AND HOPED FOR PEACE DESPITE MILITARY DISAPPOINTMENTS AND POLITICAL DISILLUSIONS.

PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL CALLED THE NEW YEAR ONE "THAT SHOULD BRING US VICTORY IN EUROPE" IN A SPEECH TO THE CONSERVATIVE PRIMROSE LEAGUE OF WHICH HE IS GRAND MASTER.

ON THE EAST FRONT, THE LONG-DORMANT POLISH PLAIN MAY SOON SEE THE PROMISED RUSSIAN DRIVE ROLLING TOWARD BERLIN.

THE FINAL LIQUIDATION OF ENCIRCLED GERMAN FORCES WENT AHEAD IN LATVIA. THE LAST AXIS RESISTANCE WAS CRUMBLING IN BITTERLY-DEFENDED BUDAPEST, AND THE RED ARMIES SURGED ON TOWARD AUSTRIA.

IN ITALY, AMERICAN AND BRITISH FORCES WERE LABORIOUSLY DIGGING THE GERMANS FROM THEIR MOUNTAIN DEFENSES.

NO. 1 ON THE LIST WAS THE FORMATION OF A WORLD SECURITY ORGANIZATION TO KEEP A PEACE PAID FOR WITH MILLIONS OF LIVES.

THE DISPATCHES SAID THAT THE MEN, MASSACRED IN COLD BLOOD ON DEC. 17, MOSTLY WERE FROM A FIELD ARTILLERY UNIT CAPTURED NEAR MALMEDY, BELGIUM. THEY HAD LEFT THEIR TRUCKS TO SEEK SHELTER WHEN THE GERMAN TANKS APPEARED.

JAN 1 1945

ROUNDED UP IN A FIELD, THE GERMANS SEARCHED THEM AND TOOK THEIR CIGARETTES AND VALUABLES. A GUARD SUDDENLY OPENED FIRE WHICH THE TANKS JOINED FROM 40 YARDS AWAY. THE SHOOTING CONTINUED UNTIL ALL FELL.

THE GERMANS THEN WALKED UP AND DOWN SHOOTING ALL THE FALLEN MEN SHOWING SIGNS OF LIFE, IT WAS STATED. ABOUT 25 AMERICANS, MOST OF THEM WOUNDED, FLED BUT ONLY 15 ESCAPED.

LONDON, MONDAY, JAN. 1-(AP)-ADOLF HITLER'S DISREGARD FOR THE TRUTH WAS DISPLAYED AGAIN TODAY IN HIS NEW YEAR'S ORDER OF THE DAY TO THE GERMAN ARMY IN WHICH HE QUOTED PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL AS EXPRESSING THE HOPE THAT "YET ANOTHER SIX OR MORE MILLION GERMAN MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN" WILL BE KILLED BY AIR RAIDS.

CHURCHILL, IN A SPEECH ON POLAND DEC. 15 WHICH HITLER QUOTED, ACTUALLY SAID, "SIX OR SEVEN MILLION GERMANS HAVE BEEN KILLED ALREADY IN THIS DREADFUL WAR INTO WHICH THEY DID NOT HESITATE FOR A SECOND TIME IN A GENERATION TO PLUNGE ALL EUROPE AND THE WORLD. X X X WE MAY EXPECT THAT MANY MORE GERMANS WILL BE KILLED IN THE FIGHTING WHICH WILL OCCUPY THE SPRING AND SUMMER."

RP1248AEW

LONDON, MONDAY, JAN 1-(AP)-THE TEXT OF ADOLF HITLER'S NEW YEAR'S ORDER OF THE DAY TO THE GERMAN ARMY, AS BROADCAST BY DNB AGENCY:

THE HISTORIC SIGNIFICANCE OF THIS WAR IN WHICH WE ARE ENGAGED IS TODAY CLEAR TO THE GERMAN PEOPLE--A MERCILESS STRUGGLE FOR EXISTENCE, A FIGHT OF LIFE AND DEATH.

BOTH BOLSHEVISM IN THE EAST AND JEWISH CAPITALISM IN THE WEST ARE ONE AND THE SAME IN THEIR LUST TO ANNIHILATE. FREE PEOPLES ARE TO BE MADE SLAVES. HERR CHURCHILL DECLARES THAT THE WHOLE OF EASTERN GERMANY IS TO BE CEDED TO POLAND WHICH WOULD MEAN IN REALITY TO SIVIET RUSSIA, AND THIS EASTERN GERMANY COMPRISES NOT ONLY EAST PRUSSIA AND DANZIG BUT POMERANIA AND SILESIA.

HE BANISHES POPULATION PROBLEMS BY EXPRESSING THE HOPE THAT HE MAY SUCCEED BY KILLING THROUGH BOMB TERROR YET ANOTHER SIX OR MORE MILLION GERMAN MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN. HIS PROTEGE, DE GAULLE, ON THE OTHER HAND DEMANDS THAT WESTERN GERMANY IS TO COME UNDER FRENCH SOVEREIGNTY AND THAT THE REST OF GERMANY IS TO BE DISSOLVED.

THIS CORRESPONDS EXACTLY TO THE PROGRAMMATICAL DECLARATIONS MADE BY STALIN'S JEWISH COMPANION (ILYA) EHRENBURG, WHO GOES A STEP FURTHER AND ANNOUNCES THAT THE GERMAN PEOPLE HAS TO BE SMASHED AND DESTROYED.

HERE WE HAVE THE AIM WHICH WE FIND AN AMERICAN MINISTER, THE JEW MORGENTHAU, HAS MADE HIS POSTWAR PLAN.

FOR MORE THAN FIVE YEARS WE NOW HAVE ENGAGED IN THIS BATTLE FOR OUR EXISTENCE. ITS DEMANDS MAY BECOME PERHAPS YET HARDER IN THE SIXTH YEAR OF WAR BUT DESPITE THIS IT HAS PASSED ITS CLIMAX.

"UP TO THIS DAY IN SPITE OF MANY CRISES AND REVERSES THE GERMAN PEOPLE AND ITS ARMY HAVE SUCCESSFULLY OPPOSED THE STRANGULATION ATTEMPTED BY OUR ENEMIES. IN THE COMING YEAR TOO WE WILL WARD OF THE ENEMY'S ATTACKS AND IN THE END WE SHALL BREAK HIM BY OUR COUNTER-STROKES.

IF WE HAVE NOT BEEN SPARED SEVERE REVERSES IN THIS STRUGGLE WHICH WILL DETERMINE THE FATE NOT ONLY OF GERMANY BUT OF ALL EUROPE THEN THE FAULT DOES NOT LIE WITH THE GERMAN PEOPLE AND ITS ARMY BUT WITH OUR ALLIES IN EUROPE.

BEGINNING WITH THE COLLAPSE OF THE ROMANIAN-ITALIAN-HUNGARIAN FRONT ON THE DON AND ITS SUBSEQUENT COMPLETE DISSOLUTION, THE SABOTAGE OF OUR COMMON WEAR EFFORT BY THE ROYAL HOUSE OF ITALY TO THE PUTSCH AGAINST THE FASCIST ITALY OF IL DUCE WHICH STOOD BY OUR SIDE, IT WAS ONE CLEAR ROAD OF TREACHERY.

IT CONTINUED WITH THE MISERABLE CAPITULATION OF THE LEADERS OF THE FINNISH STATE, THE BETRAYAL OF THE ROMANIAN KING AND HIS ENTOURAGE, THE SURRENDER OF BULGARIA AND THE SHAMEFUL ATTITUDE OF THE FORMER HUNGARIAN REGENT. ALL THIS HAD SEVERAL REPERCUSSIONS ON OUR POLITICAL AND MILITARY STRATEGY.

ON TOP OF ALL THAT THERE CAME LAST YEAR A STAB IN THE BACK BY CRIMINALS AT HOME, WHO, IT IS TRUE, WERE KNOCKED DOWN IN A COUPLE OF HOURS AND HAVE SINCE BEEN LIQUIDATED RUTHLESSLY.

YET THE 20TH OF JULY NEVERTHELESS BROUGHT ABOUT AT THE FRONTS SAD MILITARY CONSEQUENCES AND I AM AFRAID IT HAS HELPED TO SHAKE THE BELIEF IN GERMANY'S STRENGTH OF RESISTANCE BOTH IN THE CAMPS OF FRIEND AND FOE. NEVERTHELESS THE DAY HAS BECOME A TURNING POINT IN GERMANY'S DESTINY BECAUSE THE ATTEMPT TO ANNIHILATE THE GERMAN PEOPLE'S SOCIAL STATE BY A PLOT HATCHED AT A PERIOD OF THE MOST BITTER STRUGGLE HAS FAILED ONCE AND FOR ALL AND I AM IN A POSITION TO ASSURE YOU THAT THIS WAS THE LAST ATTEMPT OF ITS KIND. I REITERATE MY DECLARATION OF SEPT. 1, 1939, THAT IN THIS WAR THE GERMAN PEOPLE CANNOT E BROUGHT TO THEIR KNEES BY STRENGTH OF ARMS NOR THAT THERE WILL AGAIN BE A 9TH OF NOVEMBER.

AFTER JULY 20 MORE THAN EVER I HAVE LIVED ONLY FOR THE PRE ARATION, SOONER OR LATER, TO BE ABLE TO REVERSE OUR PURELY DEFENSIVE WARFARE AND GO OVER TO THE OFFENSIVE. BUT WE WERE UNDER NO ILLUSION THAT THE FORTRESS OF EUROPE IN ITS FORMER EXTENT CANNOT BE DEFENDED BY GERMAN FORCES ALONE. WE WERE THEREFORE FORCED, AS VICTIMS OF OUR ALLIES' BETRAYAL, TO ABANDON WHOLE FRONT LINE AND SHORTEN OTHERS, BUT HAVE NOT TAKEN A SINGLE STEP BACK WITHOUT RESISTING TO THE UTMOST.

LET OUR ENEMIES KNOW THAT EVERY MILE OF THEIR ADVANCE AGAINST GERMANY MEANS A MOUNTING TOLL OF LIFE AND THAT THEY CAN NEVER EXPECT A RELAXING, LET ALONE ABDNONMENT, OF OUR RESISTANCE.

MEN WHO HAVE WON SUCH VICTORIES AS YOU HAVE, WHO WERE NEVER BROKEN BY TERRIBLE REVERSES, A PEOPLE WHO SUFFER AND ENDURE SO HEROICALLY, WHO WORK SO INDUSTRIOUSLY AS OUR PEOPLE AT HOME DO, ARE NOT DESTINED TO PERISH, BUT WILL LIVE.

WORLD POWERS HAVE FOR YEARS MADE VAIN EFFORTS TO ENCOMPASS THE COLLAPSE OF THE GERMAN REICH. THE COUNTRIES ONCE ALLIED TO THEM BUT TODAY BETRAYED BY THEM BEGIN TO REALIZE THAT LIFE OR DEATH HANGS IN THE BALANCE AND THAT NO NATION THEREFORE CAN AVOID MAKING A CLEARCUT DECISION.

WHERE OUR ENEMIES ENTER A COUNTRY ORDER GOES TO PIECES AND CHAOS SETS IN. DEMOCRACY IS INCAPABLE OF SOLVING EVEN THE SMALLEST PROBLEM OF THE CONTINENT AND POLITICAL ANARCHISM IS SOON FOLLOWED BY ECONOMIC LOSS AND ITS COMPANION, MISERY.

THE "LIBERATED" AREAS OF EUROPE ARE AT BEST LOSING GERMAN ORDER BUT IN RETURN THEY ARE GAINING INTERNATIONAL UNEMPLOYMENT ACCOMPANIED BY HUNGER AND MISERY. THIS MOST DENSELY-PEOPLED CONTINENT CAN ONLY SURVIVE IF ALL ITS ENERGIES ARE USED IN A PLANNED SCHEME AND IF THE EGOISTIC INSTINCTS ARE UTTERLY SUPPRESSED. ONLY TWO LEADERS IN EUROPE HAVE HAVE HONESTLY TACKLED THIS PROBLEM--THE NAZIS IN GERMANY AND THE FASCISTS IN ITALY. TO WHAT EXTENT WE HAVE SUCCEEDED IN A SOLUTION OF THESE PROBLEMS IN GERMANY IS BEST PROVED BY THE ORDER WHICH WE ENJOY EVEN IN THE SIXTH YEAR OF WAR AND UNDER THE HEAVIEST BURDENS.

THE YEAR 1945 WILL EXACT FROM US THE UTMOST COURAGE AND INITIATIVE. BUT IT WILL ALSO BE A YEAR OF A HISTORIC TURN OF EVENTS. SOLDIERS FROM EUROPE, ALLIED TO US, WHO TODAY ARE MARCHING IN OUR RANKS, ARE CELLS OF RECONSTRUCTION OF THE CONTINENT WHICH IS THE HOMELAND OF ALL OF US. WHICH IS THE SOIL WHERE OUR FOREFATHERS LIVED AND STRUGGLED FOR THOUSANDS OF YEARS AND WHICH IS DEFENDED TODAY UNTO DEATH.

LONDON, MONDAY, JAN. 1-(AP)-A TRANSLATION OF THE TEXT OF ADOLF HITLER'S NEW YEAR SPEECH AS BROADCAST BY THE GERMAN RADIO AND HEARD BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS IN LONDON:

GERMAN PEOPLE, NATIONAL SOCIALIST MEN AND WOMEN!

ONLY THE TURNING OF THE YEAR PROMPTS ME TO SPEAK TO YOU TODAY.

THE TIMES HAVE DEMANDED MORE FROM ME THAN TO SPEAK TO YOU. EVENTS OF THE 12 MONTHS WHICH WE HAVE NOW LEFT BEHIND, ESPECIALLY THE INCIDENT OF JULY 20, HAVE COMPELLED ME TO DEDICATE MY WHILE ATTENTION TO THE SINGLE WORK FOR WHICH I HAVE BEEN LIVING--THE STRUGGLE FOR THE FATE OF MY PEOPLE.

IT IS TRUE THAT OUR ENEMIES HAVE PROMISED OUR COLLAPSE EVERY YEAR, BUT THEY SET PARTICULARLY STRONG HOPES ON THE YEAR 1944.

VICTORY NEVER SEEMED SO NEAR TO OUR ENEMIES AS IN THE AUGUST DAYS OF THE LAST YEAR, WHEN ONE CATASTROPHE FOLLOWED UPON ANOTHER.

IF WE CONTRIVED ONCE AGAIN TO TURN THE COURSE OF FATE, THIS WAS DUE ONLY TO SACRIFICES, TO THE STRUGGLE OF ALL MY VOLKSGENOSSEN (THE PEOPLE, MY COMPANIONS) AT HOME AND ON THE FRONT, AND ALSO TO MY OWN LABOR.

I HAVE ACTED ALONG THE LINES I PUT FORWARD IN THE MEMORABLE REICHSTAG SITTING OF SEPT. 1, 1939, WHEN I SAID THAT NEITHER FORCE OF ARMS NOR TIME WOULD KNOCK GERMANY FROM HER FEET IN THIS STRUGGLE.

I SAID THEN THAT NOVEMBER, 1918, WOULD NEVER RECUR AGAIN IN THE HISTORY OF THE GERMAN REICH. THE INTERNATIONAL JEWISH CONSPIRACY LIVED ON HOPES ONLY FROM THE VERY FIRST DAY OF THIS WAR. ALWAYS WHEN THEIR PEOPLES HAVE BEGUN TO MISTRUST THESE PROMISES OF OUR ENEMIES, THEY USED CERTAIN AGITATIONAL TRICKS, HOPES AND PROPHESIES TO CONVINCE THE BROAD MASSES. THEIR PROPAGANDA USED TWO KINDS OF METHODS.

HOWEVER, LIES ARE SHORT-LIVED (LITERALLY, LIES HAVE SHORT FEET). ON ONE SIDE, THE IMPATIENCE OF THE MASSES IN THE ALLIED COUNTRIES WAS SOOTHED BY GIVING THEM DATES WHEN THE GERMAN COLLAPSE WOULD CERTAINLY COME ABOUT. THE OTHER METHOD USED TO FOOL THE MASSES IN ALLIED COUNTRIES WAS TO SPEAK ONLY ABOUT THE PROBLEMS WHICH WOULD CROP UP AFTER GERMAN DEFEAT.

ALREADY AT THE VERY BEGINNING OF THIS WAR, THE BRITISH STATED THAT A COMMON FRANCO-BRITISH DECLARATION OF WAR WOULD EITHER BRING REVOLUTION OR AT LEAST COLLAPSE THE GERMAN PEOPLE WITHIN FROM SEVEN TO TEN DAYS. IN THE WINTER, SPRING, SUMMER AND AUTUMN OF THE FOLLOWING YEAR AND SOMETIMES IN BETWEEN, NEW ASSURANCES CAME FROM OUR ENEMIES THAT NOW AN UNCONDITIONAL GERMAN COLLAPSE WOULD COME ABOUT. ALREADY IN THE AUTUMN OF 1939 ONE SUCH ASSURANCE FOLLOWED UPON THE OTHER.

ONE GENERAL AFTER ANOTHER WAS SUPPOSED TO BRING DEFEAT FOR GERMANY. SUCH ALLIED DECLARATIONS HAVE BEEN PRODUCED IN LARGE QUANTITIES, ESPECIALLY IN THE YEAR 1940. THEN THEY SAID THAT IF THE ALLIED NATIONS ONLY WOULD HOLD OUT TWO OR THREE MONTHS, GERMAN COLLAPSE INEVITABLY WOULD BE BROUGHT ABOUT IN THE SPRING OF 1941. THEN SUMMER AND FINALLY THE WINTER OF 1941. WITH THE CERTAINTY OF A SOMNAMBULIST, ALLIED PROPAGANDA SET THE DATE FOR UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER IN AUGUST, 1944.

NAY. A MEETING OF ALLIED STATESMEN IN BERLIN WAS DECIDED UPON BEFORE CHRISTMAS. THEN JANUARY, THEN MARCH WERE SET AS DATES. NOW THAT WE HAVE APPROACHED THESE MONTHS, OUR ALLIED STATESMEN HAVE BECOME MORE PRUDENT. IT WOULD BE IN AUGUST. IN JULY THEY CERTAINLY WILL SPEAK OF THE WINTER OF 1946, UNLESS THE WAR SHOULD TAKE AN END IN REALITY BEFORE THAT DATE. THIS END, HOWEVER, WILL NOT MEAN A GERMAN CAPITULATION. THIS OUR ENEMIES WILL NEVER GET. THE WAR WILL BE TERMINATED ONLY BY GERMAN VICTORY.

PARALLEL WITH THIS, TO STRENGTHEN THE PROBABILITY OF THESE PROMISES, EVER NEW FICTITIOUS COMMISSIONS ARE BEING SET UP WHICH SHOULD INVESTIGATE EUROPEAN QUESTIONS AFTER THIS WAR, NEW SOCIETIES ARE FOUNDED TO REGULATE FOOD SUPPLIES AFTER THE GERMAN COLLAPSE. COMMERCIAL TREATIES ARE BEING SIGNED, AIRLINES BEING PLANNED, AND LAWS FOR THE GERMAN PEOPLE ARE BEING DRAWN UP. THESE LAWS ARE REALLY IDIOTIC.

ALWAYS THEY WERE BUILT UP ON THE HYPOTHESIS THAT THE WAR ALREADY WAS WON FOR THE ALLIES, AS IF THEY COULD ALREADY NOW RACK THEIR BRAINS ABOUT MEASURES WITH WHICH EUROPE WILL BE RULED, BY STATES WHICH, I ADMIT, OFFER A SORRY SIGHT OF HOW PEOPLES SHOULD NOT BE RULED.

IF, HOWEVER, THERE EXISTED ONE ISOLATED STATESMAN IN THE WESTERN DEMOCRATIC COUNTRIES WHO WOULD REALLY BELIEVE HIMSELF WHAT HE WAS TELLING HIS PEOPLE, THEN THERE WOULD BE ONLY THREE REASONS WHICH WOULD EXPLAIN THIS:

(1) THAT ALLIED STATESMEN DO NOT AT ALL KNOW OUR PEOPLE, THAT THEY DO NOT KNOW THAT THE LAST 300 YEARS OF GERMAN HISTORY DO NOT REFLECT THE TRUE NATURE OF THE GERMAN PEOPLE, BUT WERE ONLY CONSEQUENCES OF INNER POLITICAL SPLITS. THAT THEY DO NOT KNOW THAT THIS GERMAN PEOPLE HAS BEEN NOT ONLY ONE OF THE MOST DECISIVE, BUT THE MOST DECISIVE FACTOR IN EUROPEAN HISTORY, AND THEREWITH OF WORLD HISTORY AS A WHOLE, THAT THE GERMAN PEOPLE STILL REMAINS THE MOST DECISIVE FACTOR TODAY, AND WILL RETAIN THIS POSITION IN THE FUTURE.

(2) THAT THEY HAVE NO KNOWLEDGE WHATSOEVER ABOUT THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST STATE, THAT THEY HAVE NO INKLING OF THE TRUE NATURE OF THIS PEOPLE, THAT MOST OF THE PEOPLES AROUND US REMAINED IGNORANT OF THE ACHIEVEMENTS CONTRIVED BY THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST REGIME UNDER THE MOST DIFFICULT CIRCUMSTANCES.

HOWEVER, THESE ACHIEVEMENTS HAD REMAINED A SECRET TO THEM, AS THE INSTRUCTION OF PUBLIC OPINION IN THESE COUNTRIES IS UNDER THE CONTROL OF JEWS ONLY. THIS INSTRUCTION THEREFORE IS DISTORTED AND MENDACIOUS. APPARENTLY, THEY DO NOT KNOW EVEN NOW THAT THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST STATE WILL BE SUCCEEDED NEITHER BY BOLSHEVISM, OR BY JEWISH PLUTOCRATIC IDEOLOGY, INSOFAR AS SUCH AN IDEOLOGY CAN BE SAID TO EXIST.

BOTH THESE IDEOLOGIES HAVE PROVED IMPOTENT IN GERMANY ITSELF. THE ACHIEVEMENTS OF BOLSHEVISM AND PLUTOCRATIC JEWISH IDEOLOGY CAN BE SEEN ONLY TOO CLEARLY IN THE ALLIED OCCUPIED COUNTRIES.

(3) IN THE ALLIED COUNTRIES, THE PEOPLES KNOW SOMETHING WHICH THE GERMAN PEOPLE DOES NOT KNOW: A SMALL BUNCH OF ARMCHAIR POLITICIANS AND ARMCHAIR GENERALS, WHO, IGNORANT OF THEIR OWN LACK OF IMPORTANCE, IN SPIRITUAL, POLITICAL, MILITARY, AND INDEED ANY FIELDS, TRYING TO CONVINCE THE WORLD THEY WILL ONE DAY COME TO POWER THROUGH A COUP D'ETAT. THEY WILL THEN OFFER CAPOTULATION TO THE ALLIES IN THE SAME MANNER AS IN ITALY, FINLAND, HUNGARY, ROMANIA AND BULGARIA.

THE LESS OUR ENEMIES KNEW OF THE TRUE NATURE OF THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST STATE, THE MORE THEY BUILT HOPES ON ASSURANCES. THESE SPINELESS INDIVIDUALS BELIEVED THEIR FANTASTIC THOUGHTS, AND PAID THEM NOT ONLY WITH CONFIDENCE, BUT ALSO WITH CASH.

JAN 1 1945

ON THE OCCASION OF THE NEW YEAR, I WANT TO REFUTE THESE ASSERTIONS OF OUR ENEMIES AND BRING PROOF THIS PEOPLE AND THIS STATE,

30.24 — 21689

AND ABOVE ALL, ITS LEADING STATESMEN, ARE UNSHAKEABLE IN THEIR WILL AND THEIR FANATIC RESOLUTION TO FIGHT THE WAR TO VICTORY UNDER ALL CIRCUMSTANCES, AND THAT THEY WILL TAKE INTO ACCOUNT ALL FREAKS OF FATE AND ALL DEFEATS WE MAY SUFFER. THEREFORE, I WANT TO STATE ONCE AGAIN WHAT THE PAST AND THE PRESENT HAVE BROUGHT TO US AND WHAT ALL SHOULD KNOW FOR THE FUTURE:

(1) WE KNOW THE AIMS OF OUR ENEMIES FROM PAST AND PRESENT. WHAT FUTURE BRITISH AND AMERICAN STATESMEN HAVE IN STORE FOR THE GERMAN REICH, WHAT MEASURES THE BOLSHEVIK RULERS AND INTERNATIONAL JEWS WHO ARE ALWAYS FOUND BEHIND BOTH, ARE KNOWN TO US. THEIR SUCCESSFUL EXECUTION OF THESE AIMS WOULD MEAN COMPLETE PARTITION OF THE GERMAN REICH, DEPORTATION OF 20 MILLION GERMANS, ENSLAVEMENT OF THE REMNANT OF OUR PEOPLE, THE CORRUPTION OF GERMAN YOUTH, AND STARVATIONS OF OUR MILLIONS OF MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

ONLY TWO ALTERNATIVES ARE LEFT TO US: TO LIVE IN FREEDOM OR DIE IN SLAVERY.

THESE TRUTHS ARE ONCE ASSAILED AS NATIONAL SOCIALIST PROPAGANDA THESES.

JAN 1 1945

BUT TODAY, BY DECLARATIONS OF LEADING STATESMEN AND THE PRESS, THE JEWS OF ALLIED COUNTRIES ARE ADMITTING THESE AIMS QUITE OPENLY, THE VERY PROCLAMATIONS OF ENEMY GOVERNMENTS ARE CONFIRMATION OF THESE TRUTHS.

WE951PEW

THE WORLD MUST KNOW THAT THE GERMAN STATE NEVER WILL CAPITULATE. AS MANY OTHER PEOPLES BEFORE THEM, THE GERMAN PEOPLE HAVE BEEN EXPOSED TO DEFEATS ON THEIR WAY.

GERMAN LEADERSHIP PARTICIPATES IN THE SORROWS AND SUFFERINGS OF THE PEOPLE BUT NEVER WILL CAPITULATE BECAUSE OF THESE SORROWS AND SUFFERINGS. GERMAN LEADERSHIP WILL MEET EVERY CRISIS. WITH STILL GREATER EFFORTS, IT WILL REGAIN BY ITS ZEAL WHAT IT LOST BY NEGLIGENCE. GERMAN LEADERSHIP IS GIVING ASSURANCE TO EVERY GERMAN CITIZEN WHO IS CARRYING OUT HIS DUTY THAT HIS CONTRIBUTION WILL NOT BE FORGOTTEN. GERMAN LEADERSHIP IS PLEDGED TO DESTROY EVERY GERMAN CITIZEN WHO WILL ATTEMPT TO SHIRK THIS CONTRIBUTION.

IT WILL DESTROY THOSE GERMANS WHO ATTEMPT TO PLAY THE HUMILIATING ROLE OF AN INSTRUMENT TO OUR ENEMIES. BECAUSE WE KNOW THE AIMS OF OUR ENEMIES, BECAUSE THEIR PROPAGANDIST CHATTER AND STATEMENTS OF THEIR STATESMEN AND JOURNALISTS OFFER US THE NECESSARY KNOWLEDGE. THE ENTIRE GERMAN PEOPLE KNOWS THE FATE WHICH WOULD BE IN STORE FOR IT IF IT EVER LOST THIS WAR. THEREFORE, THE GERMAN PEOPLE WILL NOT LOSE THE WAR BUT MUST AND WILL WIN IT.

EXCEPT FOR THE JEWS, NOBODY IN THE ALLIED CAMP KNOWS FOR WHAT HE IS FIGHTING. BUT THE AIMS FOR WHICH WE ARE FIGHTING ARE CLEAR TO ALL OF US. IT IS THE SURVIVAL OF THE GERMAN PEOPLE, IT IS OUR FATHERLAND, IT IS OUR 2,000 YEAR OLD CULTURE, IT IS THE CHILDREN AND THE GRANDCHILDREN OF OUR PEOPLE. IT IS ALL THE VALUES WHICH LIFE HAS TO OFFER.

THE REASON FOR THE MANY HARDSHIPS WHICH OUR PEOPLE HAVE HAD TO ENDURE LIES IN THE AIMS OF OUR ENEMIES. THEY ALREADY ARE TRYING THEIR METHOD OF TREATING THE GERMAN PEOPLE IN THE MIDST OF WAR BY USING MEANS OF WAGING WAR WHICH CIVILIZED HUMANITY NEVER DREAMED OF. BY DESTROYING OUR CITIES, THEY HOPE NOT ONLY TO KILL OUR WOMEN AND CHILDREN BUT ALSO TO EFFACE ANY TRACE OF DOCUMENTS OF OUR CULTURE WHICH IS THOUSANDS OF YEARS OLD--BECAUSE THEY HAVE NO EQUAL ACCOMPLISHMENTS TO SET AGAINST THIS CULTURE.

THIS WAS ALSO THE REASON OF THE DESTRUCTIVE WAR ON THE CULTURAL CITIES OF ITALY. THIS IS ALSO THE DEEPER INTENTION WHICH UNDERLIES THEIR PRESENT STRUGGLE IN FRANCE, BELGIUM AND THE NETHERLANDS. LIKE A PHOENIX FROM THE ASHES. THE GERMAN SPIRIT HAS RISEN OUT OF THESE RUINS AND HAS BEEN RESURRECTED.

B76 (E) Q

WHEN THIS SORROWFUL TIME WILL BE OVER, EVERY GERMAN WILL BE PROUD TO BE RECOGNIZED AS A MEMBER OF SUCH A PEOPLE. THE TIME WILL COME WHEN THE PROFANATION OF CULTURE WHICH OUR ENEMIES ARE CARRYING OUT WILL BURN IN OUR MEMORY BUT WILL BEAR DOWN ON THEM AS THEIR SHAME.

THERE IS SCARCELY ONE HUMAN BEING IN ANY LARGE COUNTRY WHO KNOWS HIS PEOPLE AND THEIR FATHERLAND AS WELL AS I KNOW GERMANY. I HAVE BEEN NEAR ALL THOSE GERMAN CITIES AND VILLAGES--

£8' ,95 9,)6 5£497&£

JAN 1 1945

BEEN NEAR ALL THOSE GERMAN CITIES AND VILLAGES--NOT ONLY THROUGH HISTORICAL STUDIES BUT PERSONALLY.

I WAS BOUND TO THEM FOR YEARS, NOT ONLY THROUGH HISTORICAL, CULTURAL AND HUMAN LOVE, BUT WAS THE CLOSEST PARTICIPANT IN THEIR FATE, IN THEIR FUTURE DEVELOPMENT. IT IS JUST THIS INTIMATE KNOWLEDGE WHICH LIGHTENS THE BURDEN OF THESE SORROWS ON MY SHOULDERS AS I KNOW MORE THAN ANY OTHER MAN, THAT ON THE RUINS OF THESE GERMAN CITIES, NEW ONES WILL ARISE AGAIN AND GROW TO NEW TREASURES OF GERMAN ARCHITECTURAL GENIUS.

OUR TOWNS WILL BE MORE IMPOSING AND MORE BEAUTIFUL THAN THEY EVER WERE BEFORE. SHATTERED HOMES WILL BE REPLACED BY SANATORIUMS. OUR SOCIAL AND CULTURAL DEMANDS WILL BE GIVEN MORE ATTENTION THAN WAS POSSIBLE TO GIVE THEM UP TO NOW. IN SPITE OF THIS, WE HAVE LOST MANY IMMORTAL, CULTURAL AND ARTISTIC DOCUMENTS, WE WILL NEVER BE ABLE TO RESTORE THEM. BUT, ABOVE ALL, WE SHALL NEVER BE ABLE TO RESTORE THE SACRIFICES OF INNUMERABLE MEN AND WOMEN DEAR TO US. WE SHALL NEVER BE ABLE TO RECOVER THE INTIMATE RECOLLECTIONS THEY HAVE GIVEN DURING THEIR LIFETIMES.

THE YEAR 1944 WAS THE YEAR OF HEAVIEST BURDENS IN THIS GIGANTIC STRUGGLE. IT WAS THE YEAR IN WHICH CAME FINAL PROOF OF THE INCAPACITY OF BOURGEOIS SOCIETY TO WEATHER STORMS OF PRESENT OR FUTURE TIMES.

ONE STATE ANOTHER UNABLE TO FIND THE WAY TO TRUE SOCIAL RECOVERY WILL TAKE THE PATH TO CHAOS. THE LIBERAL AGE BELONGS TO THE PAST. THE DEMOCRATIC HALF-SOLUTIONS ARE AS CHILDISH AS METTERNICH'S METHODS WERE WHEN COMPARED WITH THE STRIVINGS OF UNITY WHICH CONQUERED AFTER ALL IN THE 19TH CENTURY. THE CONSEQUENCE OF THE ABSENCE OF TRULY SOCIAL AIMS AND PERSPECTIVES IS THE ABSENCE NOT ONLY OF THE WILL TO RESIST NOT ONLY IN THE ALLIED PEOPLES BUT ALSO THE ABSENCE OF THE MORAL POWER OF RESISTANCE IN THEIR LEADERS.

JAN 1 1945

IN ALL COUNTRIES WE ARE SEEING PROOF THAT THE ATTEMPT OF THE RENAISSANCE OF DEMOCRACY HAS PROVED COMPLETELY BARREN. THE ALTERNATIVE FOR THE EUROPEAN CONTINENT, THE MOST DENSELY POPULATED OF THE WORLD, IS EITHER TO LIVE IN AN ORDER WHICH TAKES INTO ACCOUNT THE INDIVIDUAL CAPACITIES OF ITS PEOPLE AND GUARANTEES THE HIGHEST ACHIEVEMENTS OR TO LIVE IN STATES WHICH ARE INCAPABLE OF LIFE AND DOOMED TO PERISH.

IN THIS YEAR, FINLAND, ROMANIA, BULGARIA AND HUNGARY FOLLOWED THE EXAMPLE OF ROYAL ITALY AND COLLAPSED. THIS COLLAPSE PRIMARILY WAS DUE TO THE COWARDICE AND LACK OF RESOLUTION OF LEADERS. THE VERY ACTIONS OF THESE LEADERS CAN BE UNDERSTOOD ONLY WHEN ONE UNDERSTANDS THE SOCIALLY CORRUPT AND AMORAL ATMOSPHERE OF THE BOURGEOIS WORLD. THE HATE WHICH MANY STATESMEN OF ALLIED COUNTRIES NOURISH AGAINST THE GERMAN PEOPLE IS NOTHING ELSE THAN AN EXPRESSION OF THEIR BAD CONSCIENCE. IT IS AN EXPRESSION OF THEIR INFERIORITY COMPLEX. THEY FEEL THAT WHEN THEY CONFRONT A HUMAN COMMUNITY WHICH THEY CANNOT UNDERSTAND BECAUSE IT SUCCESSFULLY ACHIEVES ITS AIMS. THESE AIMS, HOWEVER, ALLIED STATESMEN CANNOT ACHIEVE BECAUSE OF THEIR ECONOMIC EGOISM AND CONSEQUENT POLITICAL SHORTSIGHTEDNESS.

B80 JAN 1 1945

FOR US, HOWEVER, THIS IMPLIES ONLY AN OBLIGATION TO RECOGNIZE THAT OUR LIFE OR DEATH IS AN ISSUE WHICH DEPENDS ON THE CONSISTENT CONSTRUCTION OF OUR PEOPLES' STATE. ALL THE UNLIMITED SACRIFICES OF OUR PEOPLE ARE ONLY COMPREHENSIBLE WHEN SEEN ON THE BASIS OF A SOCIAL ORDER WHICH ELIMINATED ALL PRIVILEGES, IN WHICH EVERY CITIZEN HAS NOT ONLY THE SAME DUTIES BUT THE SAME RIGHTS.

RECOGNITION OF THE MORAL VALUE OF THIS CONVICTION AND THE PERSPECTIVE WHICH FLOWS FROM IT GIVE US ALL AND PARTICULARLY TO ME PERSONALLY THE STRENGTH TO CONTINUE THIS STRUGGLE IN THE MOST DIFFICULT HOURS WITH MOST UNSHAKEABLE FAITH AND CONFIDENCE.

THIS FAITH HAS SECURED A POSITIVE RESPONSE TO THE APPEAL WHICH I HAD TO ADDRESS TO THE GERMAN PEOPLE WITH PARTICULAR INSISTENCE THIS YEAR. GERMANS OF ALL PROFESSIONS AND WAYS OF LIFE, MEN, WOMEN, BOYS, AND GIRLS, AND EVEN CHILDREN, HAVE TACKLED THE SPADE AND SHOVEL AND ARE NOW WORKING.

THOUSANDS OF VOLKSSTURM BATTALIONS WERE CREATED AND ARE BEING CREATED. ONE DIVISION AFTER ANOTHER WAS RESTORED. PEOPLE'S ARTILLERY FORMATIONS, INFANTRY FORMATIONS AND TANK FORMATIONS WERE PRODUCED MAGICALLY, AS IF THEY HAD FALLEN FROM HEAVEN. FIGHTER FORMATIONS WERE REGROUPED AND PROVIDED WITH NEW MACHINES AND, ABOVE ALL, GERMAN WORKERS HAVE ACHIEVED A UNIQUE PERFORMANCE IN THE FACTORIES.

WHATEVER OUR ENEMIES DESTROYED WAS RECONSTRUCTED WITH SUPERHUMAN ZEAL AND HEROIC COURAGE. AND THIS WILL CONTINUE UNTIL THE DAY WHEN AN END WILL BE PUT TO THE ACTIVITIES OF OUR ENEMIES. GERMAN SPIRIT AND GERMAN WILL WILL BRING THIS ABOUT. THIS ACHIEVEMENT WILL BE REMEMBERED AS THE MIRACLE OF THE 20TH CENTURY.

A PEOPLE WHICH IS ACHIEVING THE UNACHIEVABLE AT HOME AND ON THE FRONT, APEOPLE WHICH BEARS SUCH TERRIBLE BURDENS, WILL ARISE AGAIN OUT OF THIS FURNACE OF TRIALS, STRONGER THAN EVER BEFORE IN ITS HISTORY.

HOWEVER THE POWER WHICH HAS BROUGHT US ALL THESE MISFORTUNES, THE INTERNATIONAL JEWISH WORLD ENEMY, WILL NOT ONLY FAIL IN ITS ATTEMPT TO DESTROY EUROPE AND UPROOT ITS PEOPLES, BUT WILL PAY FOR IT WITH ITS EXTERMINATION. ON THIS NEW YEAR'S EVE, I WANT TO THANK THE INNUMERABLE MILLIONS OF GERMAN PEOPLE FROM THE BOTTOM OF MY HEART.

AS SPOKESMAN OF OUR NATION AND LEADER OF OUR FATE, I WANT TO THANK THEM FOR ALL THE SUFFERINGS THEY TOOK UPON THEMSELVES, OUR MEN AND WOMEN, AND EVEN OUR CHILDREN IN THE HITLER YOUTH, IN TOWNS AND MARKET PLACES, IN VILLAGES AND IN THE COUNTRY.

I WANT TO ASK THEM NOT TO FLINCH IN THE FUTURE BUT TO TRUST THE LEADERS OF OUR MOVEMENT AND FIGHT OUR THIS HEAVY STRUGGLE FOR THE FUTURE OF OUR PEOPLE WITH FANATICISM.

I AM NOW SPEAKING LESS NOT BECAUSE I DO NOT WANT TO SPEAK OR BECAUSE I AM NOT ABLE TO SPEAK, BUT BECAUSE MY WORK WILL NOT PERMIT ME TO SPEAK MUCH AND BECAUSE I BELIEVE THAT I AM PLEDGED TO SET ALL MY STRIVINGS IN THE PRESENT HOUR BEHIND THE TASK OF INCREASING THE POWER OF RESISTANCE TO OUR ARMIES, INTRODUCE BETTER WEAPONS, SET UP NEW FORMATIONS AND MOBILIZE ALL THE POSSIBLE FORCES OF MY NATION.

PERHAPS MY ENEMIES ALREADY HAVE COME TO UNDERSTAND BY NOW THAT I HAVE NOT SLEPT THROUGHOUT ALL THIS TIME. MOREOVER, I WANT TO REASSURE YOU, MY VOLKSGENOSSEN, JUST AS I DID IN THE YEARS OF STRUGGLE FOR POWER THAT MY FAITH IN THE FUTURE OF OUR PEOPLE IS UNSHAKEABLE.

MY ONLY CARE, THEREFORE, IS TO STRIVE WITH ALL MY POWER IN ORDER TO CARRY THE GERMAN PEOPLE THROUGH THIS EPOCH OF MISFORTUNES, AND TO OPEN THE GATES TO A BETTER FUTURE, IN WHICH WE ALL BELIEVE, FOR WHICH WE ARE ALL STRUGGLING AND WORKING. I CANNOT CLOSE THIS APPEAL WITHOUT THANKING PROVIDENCE, WHICH ALWAYS BROUGHT TOGETHER THE PEOPLE WITH THEIR LEADERS.

B82 JAN 1 1945

I WANT TO THANK IT FOR THE FORCE WHICH IT HAS GRANTED US AND FOR THE POWER TO BE STRONGER THAN MISFORTUNE AND DANGER.

IF I THANK THE LORD ALSO FOR MY OWN LIFE, IT IS ONLY BECAUSE I AM HAPPY TO BE ABLE TO CONTINUE TO PLACE IT AT THE DISPOSAL OF MY PEOPLE.

IN THIS HOUR, I WANT, THEREFORE, AS SPOKESMAN OF GREATER GERMANY, TO PLEDGE MYSELF BEFORE THE ALMIGHTY THAT WE SHALL FULFILL LOYALLY AND UNSHAKABLY OUR DUTY ALSO IN THE NEW YEAR, IN THE BELIEF, AS FIRM AS A ROCK, THAT THE HOUR WILL COME IN WHICH HE WILL GRANT VICTORY TO THE POWER WHICH HAS PROVEN THE WORTHIEST OF HIM: TO THE GREATER GERMAN REICH.
